7 The sicke man answered him, Sir, I haue no man when the water is troubled, to put mee into the poole: but in the meane time, while I am about to come, another steppeth downe before mee.

8 Iesus sayth vnto him, Rise, take vp thy bed, and walke.

9 And immediatly the man was made whole, and tooke vp his bed and walked. And on the same day was the Sabboth.

*10 The Iewes therefore sayd vnto him that was made whole, It is the Sabboth day, * it is not lawfull for thee to carrie thy bed.* Iere.17.1.

11 Hee answered them, Hee that made mee whole, sayd vnto mee, Take vp thy bed, and walke.

12 Then asked they him, What man is that which sayde vnto thee, Take vp thy bed, and walke?

13 And hee that was healed, wist not who it was: for Iesus had gotten himselfe away, because that there was preasse of people in that place.

14 Afterward Iesus findeth him in the Temple, and sayd vnto him, Behold, thou art made whole: sinne no more, lest a worse thing come vnto thee.

15 The man departed, and tolde the Iewes that it was Iesus which had made him whole.

16 And therefore did the Iewes persecute Iesus, and sought the meanes to slay him, because hee had done these things on the Sabboth day.

17 Iesus answered them, My father worketh hitherto, and I worke.

18 Therefore the Iewes sought the more to kill him, not only because he had broken the Sabboth, but sayd also that God was his father, and making himselfe equall with God.

19 Then answered Iesus and said vnto them, Verely verely I say vnto you, The sonne can doe nothing of himselfe, but that he seeth the father doe: for whatsoeuer he doeth, that also doeth the sonne likewise.

20 For the father loueth the sonne, and sheweth him all things that he himselfe doeth: and he will shew him greater workes then these, because ye should maruel.

21 For likewise as the father raiseth vp the dead, and quickeneth them: euen so the sonne quickeneth whom he will.

22 Neither iudgeth the father any man: but hath committed all iudgement vnto the sonne,

23 Because that all men should honour the sonne, euen as they honour the father. Hee that honoureth not the sonne, the same honoureth not the father which hath sent him.

24 Verely,

24 Amen, amen I say to you, that he which heareth my word, and beleeueth him that sent me, hath life euerlasting. And he commeth not into iudgement, but ‖ shall passe from death into life.

THE GOSPEL vpon Allsoules day.

25 Amen, amen I say to you, that the houre commeth, and now it is, whē the dead shall heare the voice of the Sonne of God, and they that haue heard, shall liue.

26 For as the Father hath life in himselfe: so hee hath giuen to the Sonne also to haue life in himselfe:

27 And he hath giuen him power to doe iudgement also, because hee is the Sonne of man.

28 Maruell not at this, because the houre commeth wherein all that are in the graues, shall heare his voice,

29 And they ỳ haue ‡ done good things, shall come forth into the resurrection of life: but they that haue done euill, into the resurrection of iudgement. ☙

30 I cannot of my selfe doe any thing. As I heare, so I iudge: and my iudgement is iust. because I seeke not my will, but the will of him that sent me.

31 If I giue testimonie of my selfe, my testimonie is not true.

32 There is another that giueth testimonie of me: and I know that the testimonie is true which he giueth of me.

35 Hee was the lampe burning and shining. And you would for a time reioyce in his light.

36 But I haue a greater testimony then Iohn. For the workes which the Father hath giuen me to perfit them: the very workes themselues which I doe, giue testimonie of me, that the Father hath sent me.

37 And the Father that sent me, himselfe Mt3,17. hath * giuen testimonie of me. neither haue you heard his voice at any time, nor seene his shape, 38 And his word you haue not remaining in you: because whom he hath sent, him you beleeue not.

43 I am come in the name of my Father, & you receiue me not: if ‡ another shal come in his owne name, him you will receiue.

24 Verely, verely I say vnto you, Hee that heareth my worde, and beleeueth on him that sent me, hath euerlasting life, and shall not come into damnation: but is escaped from death vnto life.

25 Verely, verely I say vnto you, The houre is comming, and now is, when the dead shall heare the voice of the sonne of God: and they that heare, shall liue.

26 For as the father hath life in himselfe: so likewise hath he giuen to the sonne to haue life in himselfe:

27 And hath giuen him power also to iudge, because he is the sonne of man.

28 Maruel not at this: for the houre is comming, in the which all that are in the graues, shall heare his voice,

*29 And shall come foorth, * they that haue done good vnto the resurrection of life, and they that haue done euill, vnto the resurrection of damnation.* Matt.25.46.

30 I can of mine owne selfe doe nothing: as I heare, I iudge: and my iudgement is iust, because I seeke not mine owne will, but the will of the Father which hath sent me.

35 Hee was a burning and a shining light: and yee would for a season haue reioyced in his light.

36 But I haue greater witnesse then the witnesse of Iohn: for the workes which the father hath giuen me to finish, the same workes that I doe, beare witnesse of me, that the father hath sent me.

*37 And the father himselfe which hath sent mee, * hath borne witnesse of mee. Yee haue not heard his voice at any time, * nor seene his shape.* Matt.3.17. and 17.5. Deut.4.12.

38 And his word haue ye not abiding in you: for whom he hath sent, him ye beleeue not.

39 Search the Scriptures, for in them yee thinke yee haue eternall life: and they are they which testifie of mee.

40 And yet will ye not come to mee, that yee might haue life.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. V.

RHEM. 4. 2. A pond.) *This is as great a wonder and worke as was in the old Lawe, yet neuer recorded in the Scripture before: the conditions and circumstances of the same much to be distinctly weighed against the Miscreants of this time for many causes. First, that God without derogation to his honour, yea to the great commendation of it, doth giue vertue of miracles, and cure to water, or other creatures. Secondly that hee giueth such vertues to these creatures specially which be by vse and occupying in sacred functions or otherwise, as it were sanctified: for this pond was it wherein the carcasses of sheepe (therfore called Probatica) and other beasts to be sacrificed, were first washed, to which being alwaies red (as S. Hierom saith) with the blood of hostes, this force was giuen for the commendation of the sacrifices of the Law there offred. How much more may we acknowledge such workes of God miraculously done in or about the Sacrifice or Sacraments of the new Testament, which faithles men wholy reiect and condemne for fables, because they know not the Scriptures nor the power of God. Thirdly, that this operation was giuen more at one time then at an other, and rather on great festiual daies then other vulgar times (for this was the feast of Pasche or Pentecost) as dayes more sanctified, and when the people made greater concourse: which sheweth that we should not wonder to see great miracles done at the Memories and feasts of Martyrs or other great Festiuities, more then at other places and times. Fourthly, that the Angels or some speciall Saints are Presidents or Patrones of such places of miracle, and workers also vnder God of the effects that there extraordinarily be done which ought to make Christians lesse doubt, that the force of diuers waters in the world is iustly attributed by our forefathers and good stories to the prayers and presence of Saints, which prophane incredulous men referre only to nature, vntruly pretending that God is more glorified by the workes of nature, which be of his ordinary prouidence, then by the graces of Miracle giuen by his Saints or Angels by his extraordinary prouidence. Fifthly, that miracles be not wrought on men by their faith onely and as well by their presence in spirit as in body, or vpon the parties desire or deuotion onely, according to the Heretikes pretext that God is alike present by his power and grace to euery man and place: and therfore that men need not to go from their owne houses or countries to seeke holines or health at the places of Christs or his Saints birth, death, memories: for none could haue benefite of this water but he that could touch it, and be in it corporally, and at that iust time when the water was in motion by the Angell. Yea sixtly, we may consider that in such cases to make the matter more maruelous, rare, and more earnestly to be sought for, and to signifie to vs that God hath al such extraordinary operations in his own wil and commandemẽt, without al rules of our reasons and questioning thereon, none could be healed but that person who first could get into the pond after the Angel came and stirred the same. Seuenthly, that these graces of corporall cures giuen to this water, * prefigure the like force of the Sacrament of Baptisme for the cure of soules, though wee neede not seeke the correspondence thereof to the figure in euery point. Lastly, Christ by his power of excellencie and prerogatiue could and did heale this poore man that could get no body to helpe him into the watey, because hee earnestly and long desired the remedie by God appointed, but was excluded by necessitie: as our Lord saueth all such as die without Baptisme, if they in their owne persons earnestly intended, desired, and sought for the same.* Hier. de loc. Hebr. post med.

1 Vertue of miracles giuen to creatures.
2 The same giuen specially to sanctified creatures.
3 Miracles doe at one time more then at another, specially in greater solemnities.
4 Angels and Saincts patrones and workers in places of miracles.
5 Miracles in certaine places, and wrought vpon them that corporally visit the same. See S. Augustine ep. 137.
6 Al reasoning in these matters must yeeld to Gods pleasure.
7 This water is a figure of baptisme.
8 Christ extraordinarily healeth & saueth without creatures.

FVLKE. 4. All miracles that God did from the beginning, are not recorded in the Scripture, but so many as are necessary for the confirmation of the Church in faith to attaine eternall life. And now concerning your obseruations, I say it is not proued by this place, that God giueth vertue of miracles and cure to water, for then it should haue bene alike medicinable at all times. Secondly, the text calleth not the pond probatica, but sayth, that at or neere probatica, which was the sheepe gate, there was a pond called Bethesda, Neh. 3. 1. & 32. And albeit the sheepe appointed for sacrifice were washed therein for commendation of the sactifices (which is not proued) yet we may not conclude, that therefore miracles are wrought about the Sacraments of the new Testament, otherwise then we read in the Scripture of the gifts of the holy Ghost, bestowed on the that were baptized. For the Sacraments haue sufficient credit of the word of Christ, and neede not dayly to be confirmed by miracles. Thirdly, the text doth not teach that this miracle was wrought on festiuall dayes, but at a certaine time when it pleased God. As for the miracles done at the memories and feasts of saints, when we see them, and Miracles. Miracles needelesse about the sacraments. Festiual dayes.

and haue examined them by the Scriptures, we will admit them. Fourthly, it is not proued that Angels, much lesse special Saincts, are patrons or workers of miracles, in certaine places. For who can say that one Angell was alwayes appointed ouer this pond? and though he were, yet it followeth not, that God vseth the ministerie of mens soules to such purposes. As for the force of diuers waters, superstitiously attributed to the prayers of presence of Saincts, which both stories & experience sheweth to be natural, hath no ground out of this place. Fiftly, pilgrimage is still idolatrous gadding about, for any warrant it hath out of this place, except the Papists first can proue that any such miracles are wrought at such places, as the Scripture testifieth of this: secondly, if any false miracles bee there wrought to maintaine idolatrie and false worshipping of God, contrary to the Scriptures, they are to be condemned with the workers of them. August. De vtilit. Pœnit. cap. 16. Sixtly, we grant that mans reason in miracles knowne to be done by him, must yeeld to Gods pleasure. Seuenthly, whether this pond were a figure of Baptisme, wee will not contend. Eightly, if vpon so weake a collection, you can promise saluation without Baptisme, to men that desire it and cannot haue it, much rather you might acknowledge the same grace of Christ to pertaine to infants, which are excluded from Baptisme by necessitie, without any fault of theirs, if they appertaine to Gods election.

Miracles of Saincts.

Necessitie of Baptisme.

RHEM. 5 14. Sinne no more.) Wee may gather hereby that this mans long infirmitie was for punishment of his sinnes, and that men often attribute their sicknes to other naturall defects, and seeke for remedies of the world in vaine, when the sinne for which it was sent, remaineth, or is not repented of: and therefore that in al infirmities men should first turne to God and goe to their Ghostly father, and then call for the worldly Physitions afterward.

Sinne the cause of sicknes and infirmities.

FVLKE. 5 God is our ghostly Father, to whom wee must goe by repentance for release of his fatherly correction, and not to any Popish priest.

RHEM. 6 34. I receiue not.) Our Maister meaneth that mans testimonie is not necessary to him, nor that the trueth of his Diuinitie dependeth on worldly witnesses or mens commendations: though to vs such testimonies be agreeable and necessary. and so for our instruction he vouchsafed to take the testimonies of Iohn the Baptist and Moyses and the Prophets: and departing out of this world, to send forth al his Apostles, and in them al Bishops and Lawful Pastors to be his witnesses from Hierusalem to the ends of the world.

FVLKE. 6 The testimonies of Iohn, Moses, and the Prophets, are not the testimonies of men, but of God, speaking by men. So of his Apostles, Bishops, and pastors, testifying of him out of the Scriptures, which are the worde of God, and not of man.

RHEM. 7 39. Search the Scriptures.) He reprehendeth the Iewes, that reading dayly the Scriptures and acknowledging that in them they should finde life and saluation, they yet looked ouer them so superficially that they could not finde therein him to be CHRIST their King, Lord, life, and Sauiour. For the special maisters and Scribes of the Iewes then, were like vnto our Heretikes now, who bee euer talking and turning and shuffling the Scriptures, but are of all men most ignorant in the deepe knowledge thereof. And therefore our Maister referreth them not to the reading onely or learning them without booke, or hauing the sentences thereof gloriously painted or written in their Temple, houses, or coates: but to the deepe searche of the meaning and mysteries of the Scriptures, which are not so easily to be seen in the letter.

Neither Iewes nor Heretikes finde the trueth, because they search not the Scriptures deepely, but read superficially.

FVLKE. 7 We confesse, that the Scriptures are not onely to be read, written, or painted on walles, but diligently to be searched, and deepely to be studied, in which wee know eternall life is to be found, without all addition of Popish doctrine which is not to be found in holy Scriptures. Chrysostome vpon this text saith, Hom. 39. in Ioan. Christ sendeth vs to the testimony of the Scriptures. By this example let vs take from them armour against heretikes. The whole Scripture inspired of God is profitable to teach, to reproue, to correct, to instruct in iustice, that the man of God may be perfit, furnished to euery good worke: Not that he may abound in some things, and in other things be wanting, for such an one is not perfect.

The 3. part. HIS ACTES in Galilee, and in Iewrie, about the third Pasche and after.

THE GOSPEL vpon Midlent Sunday. Mt. 14, 13. Mar. 6, 32. Lu. 9, 10.

AFter these things IESVS went beyond the sea of Galilee, which is of Tiberias:

2 And a great multitude folowed him, because they sawe the signes which hee did vpon those that were sicke.

3 IESVS therfore went vp into the moũtaine, and there he sate with his Disciples.

4 And the Pasche was at hand, the festiual day of the Iewes.

5 When IESVS therfore had lifted vp his eies, & saw that a very great multitude commeth to him, hee saith to Philippe, Whence shal we bie bread: that these may eate?

6 And this he said, tempting him. for him selfe knew what he would doe.

7 Philippe answered him, Two hundred penie worth of bread is not sufficient for them, that euery man may take a litle peece.

8 One of his Disciples, Andrew the brother of Simon Peter, saith to him,

9 There

AFter these things, Iesus went his way ouer the sea of Galilee, which is the sea of Tiberias:

2 And a great multitude followed him, because they saw his miracles which he did on them that were diseased.

3 And Iesus went vp into a mountaine, and there he sate with his disciples.

*4 And the Passeouer, a feast of the Iewes, was nigh. Leuit. 23, 2. deut. 16. 1.

*5 When Iesus then lift vp his eies, and saw a great company come vnto him, he saith vnto Philip, Whẽce shal we buy bread, that these may eat? Matth. 14. 16. marke 6. 38, luke 9. 13.

6 (This he said to proue him: for he himselfe knew what he would do.)

7 Philip answered him, Two hundred penie worth of bread are not sufficient for them, that euery man may take a litle.

8 One of his disciples, Andrew, Simon Peters brother, saith vnto him,

9 There is a boy here that hath fiue barley loaues, and two fishes: but what are these among so many?

10 IESVS therefore saith, Make the men to sit downe. And there was much grasse in the place. The men therefore sate downe, in number about fiue thousand.

11 IESVS therfore tooke the loaues: and when he had giuen thankes, he distributed to them that sate, in like maner also of the fishes as much as they would.

12 And after they were filled, he saide to his Disciples, Gather the fragments that are remaining, lest they be lost.

13 They gathered therefore, and filled twelue baskets with fragments of the fiue barley loaues, which remained to them that had eaten.

14 Those men therefore when they had seen what a signe IESVS had done, said, That this is the Prophet in deede that is to come into the world.

15 IESVS therefore when hee knew that they would come to take him, and make him King, * hee fled againe into the mountaine him selfe alone.

Mt.14,23. Mr.6,46.

16 And when euen was come, his Disciples went downe to the sea.

17 And when they were gone vp into the ship, they came beyond the sea into Capharnaum. and now it was darke, and IESVS was not come vnto them.

18 And the sea arose, by reason of a great winde that blew.

19 When they had rowed therfore about fiue and twentie or thirtie furlongs, they see IESVS walking vpon the sea, and to drawe nigh to the ship, and they feared.

20 But hee saith to them, It is I, feare not.

21 They would therefore haue taken him into the shippe: and foorthwith the ship was at the land to which they went.

22 The next day, the multitude that stood beyond the sea, saw that there was no other boate there but one, and that IESVS had not entred into the boate with his Disciples, but that his Disciples onely were departed:

23 But other boates came in from Tiberias beside the place where they had eaten the bread, our Lord ‡ giuing thankes.

‡ These words do plainely import, that the giuing thankes was an effectual blessing of the bread and working the multiplication thereof.

24 When therefore the multitude sawe that IESVS was not there, nor his Disciples, they went vp into the boates, and came to Capharnaum seeking IESVS.

25 And when they had found him beyond the sea, they saide to him, Rabbi, when camest thou hither?

26 IESVS answered them, & said, Amen, amen I say to you, you seeke me not because you haue seene signes, but because you did eate of the loaues, and were filled.

27 ‖Worke

9 There is a little lad here, which hath fiue barley loaues, and two fishes: but what are they among so many?

10 And Iesus saide, Make the people sit downe. There was much grasse in the place. So the men sate downe, in number about fiue thousand.

11 And Iesus tooke the bread, and when he had giuen thankes, he distributed to the disciples, and the disciples to them that were set downe, and likewise of the fishes, as much as they would.

12 When they were filled, hee saide vnto his disciples, Gather vp the broken meate that remaineth, that nothing be lost.

13 And they gathered it together, and filled twelue baskets with the broken meate of the fiue barley loaues, which broken meate remained vnto them that had eaten.

14 Then those men, when they had seene the miracles that Iesus did, saide, This is of a trueth the same Prophet that shoulde come into the world.

15 When Iesus therefore perceiued that they woulde come and take him vp by force, to make him King, hee departed againe into a mountaine himselfe alone.

*16 And when euen was now come, his disciples went downe vnto the sea, Matth.14,23. marke 6,47.

17 And gate vp into a ship, and went ouer the sea towards Capernaum: and it was nowe darke, and Iesus was not come to them.

18 And the sea arose with a great winde that blew.

19 So when they had rowed about fiue and twentie, or thirtie furlongs, they sawe Iesus walking on the sea, and drawing nigh vnto the ship: and they were afraide.

20 But he saith vnto them, It is I, bee not afraide.

21 And they would haue receiued him into the ship, & immediatly the ship was at the land whither they went.

22 The day following, when the people which stood on the other side of the sea, sawe that there was none other ship there, saue that one wherein to his disciples were entred, and that Iesus went not in with his disciples into the ship, but that his disciples were gone away alone:

23 Howbeit, there came other ships from Tiberias, nigh vnto the place where they did eate bread, after that the Lord had giue thankes.

24 When the people therefore sawe that Iesus was not there, neither his disciples, they also tooke shipping, and came to Capernaum, seeking for Iesus.

25 And when they had found him on the other side of the sea, they saide vnto him, Rabbi, when camest thou hither?

26 Iesus answered them, and said, Verily, verily I say vnto you, Ye seeke mee, not because yee saw the miracles, but because yee did eate of the loaues, and were filled.

28 They saide therefore vnto him, What shall we doe that we may worke the workes of God?

29 IESVS answered, and saide to them, This is the worke of God, that you beleeue in him whom he hath sent.

30 They said therfore to him, What signe therefore doest thou, that wee may see, and may beleeue thee? what workest thou?

33 For the bread of God it is that descendeth from heauen, and giueth life to the world.

34 They saide therefore vnto him, Lord, giue vs alwayes this bread.

35 And IESVS saide to them, I am the bread of life, hee that commeth to mee, shall not hunger: and he that beleeueth in me, shal neuer thirst.

36 But I saide to you that both you haue seen me and you beleeue not.

THE GOSPEL in the Anniuersarie of the dead. 37 All that the Father giueth mee, shall come to me: and him that commeth to me I will not cast forth.

38 Because I descended from heauen, not to doe mine owne will, but the will of him that sent me.

39 For this is the will of him that sent mee, the Father: that all that hee hath giuen mee I leese not thereof, but raise it in the last day.

40 And this is the will of my Father that sent me: that euery one that seeth the Sonne, and beleeueth in him, hath life euerlasting, and I will raise him in the last day. ☞

41 The Iewes therfore murmured at him, because hee had saide, I am the bread which descended from heauen:

42 And they saide, Is not this IESVS the sonne of Ioseph, whose father and mother we know? How then saith he, That I descended from heauen?

43 IESVS therefore answered and saide to them, Murmure not one to an other:

THE GOSPEL vpon Inher Wednesday in Whitsonweeke. 44 No man can come to mee, vnlesse the Father that sent mee, ‖ drawe him: and I will raise him vp in the last day.

Esa.54.13. 45 It is written in the Prophets, And all shall be docible of God. Euery one that hath heard of the Father, and hath learned, commeth to me.

46 Not that any man hath seen the Father,

27 Labour not for the meate which perisheth, but for that meate which endureth vnto euerlasting life, which meate *the Sonne of man shall giue vnto you: * for him hath God the Father sealed.* Matth.3.17. and 17.3. iohn 1 32.

28 Then saide they vnto him, What shall we doe, that we might worke the workes of God?

29 *Iesus answered, & said vnto them, * This is the worke of God, that ye beleeue on him whom he hath sent.* 1.Iohn 3.23.

30 They said therefore vnto him, What signe shewest thou then, that wee may see, and beleeue thee? What doest thou worke?

31 *Our fathers did eate Manna in the desert, as it is written, * He gaue them bread from heauen to eate.* Exod.16.14. num.11.7. psal.78.24. wisd.16.20.

32 Then Iesus said vnto them, Verily, verily I say vnto you, Moses gaue you not that bread from heauen, but my Father giueth you the true bread from heauen.

33 For the bread of God, is hee which commeth downe from heauen, and giueth life vnto the world.

34 Then said they vnto him, Lord, euermore giue vs this bread.

35 *And Iesus sayde vnto them, I am the bread of life: he that commeth to mee, shall not hunger in any wise: * and hee that beleeueth on me, shall neuer thirst.* Eccl.24.19.

36 But I say vnto you, that ye also haue seene me, and yet ye beleeue not.

37 All that the Father giueth me, shal come to mee, and him that commeth to mee, I will in no wise cast out.

38 For I came downe from heauen, not to doe mine owne will, but the will of him that sent mee.

39 And this is the Fathers will which hath sent mee, that of all which hee hath giuen mee, I shall loose nothing, but raise it vp againe at the last day.

40 And this is the will of him that sent me, that euery one which seeth the Sonne, and beleeueth on him, may haue euerlasting life: and I will raise him vp at the last day.

41 The Iewes then murmured at him, because he said, I am the bread of life which came downe from heauen.

42 *And they said, * Is not this Iesus the sonne of Ioseph, whose father and mother wee knowe? How is it then that he saith, I came downe from heauen?* Matth.13.55.

43 Iesus answered, & said vnto them, Murmure not among your selues.

44 No man can come to mee, except the Father, which hath sent mee, drawe him: and I will raise him vp at the last day.

45 *It is written in the Prophets, * And they shall bee all taught of God. Euery man therefore that hath heard, and hath learned of the Father, commeth vnto me.* Esai 54.13. iere.31.33.

46 Not that any man hath seene the Father, ther, but he which is of God: this hath seene the Father.

47 Amen, amen I say to you, hee that beleeueth in me, hath life euerlasting.

48 I am the bread of life.

49 Your fathers did eate ‖ Manna in the desert: and they died.

50 This is the bread that descendeth from heauen: that if any man eate of it, hee die not.

THE GOSPEL in a dayly Masse for the dead. Mt. 26,26. Mr. 14,22. Luc. 22, 19. 1.Cor.11,24.

51 I am the liuing bread, that came downe from heauen. If any man eate of this bread, hee shall liue for euer: and * the bread which I will giue, is my flesh for the life of the world.

52 The Iewes therefore stroue among them selues, saying, ‖ How can this man giue vs his flesh to eate?

53 IESVS therefore said to them, Amen, amen I say to you, ‖ Vnles you eate the flesh of the Sonne of man, ‖ and drinke his bloud, ‖ you shall not haue life in you.

54 He that eateth my flesh, and drinketh my bloud, hath life euerlasting: and ‖ I will raise him vp in the last day.

THE GOSPEL vpon CORPVS CHRISTI day.

55 For my flesh is ‖ meate in deede: and my bloud is drinke in deede.

56 He that eateth my flesh, and drinketh my bloud, abideth in me, and I in him.

57 As the liuing Father hath sent me, and I liue by the Father: and hee that eateth me, the same also shal liue by me.

58 This is the bread that came downe from heauen. Not as your fathers did eate Manna, and died. ‖ He that eateth this bread, shall liue for euer.

59 These things hee saide teaching in the Synagogue, in Capharnáum.

60 Many therefore of his disciples hearing it, saide, this saying is hard, and who can heare it?

61 But IESVS knowing with himselfe that his Disciples murmured at this, he saide to them, Doth this scandalize you?

Io.3,13. 62 ‖ If then you shall see * the Sonne of man ascend where he was before?

63 It is the spirite that quickeneth, ‖ the flesh profiteth nothing. The wordes that I haue spoken to you, be spirit and life.

64 But there be certaine of you ‖ that beleeue not. For IESVS knew from the beginning who they were that did not beleeue, and who he was that would betray him.

65 And he said, Therfore did I say to you, that no man can come to me, vnlesse it be giuen him of my Father.

66 After this many of his disciples ‖ went backe: and nowe they walked not with him.

67 IESVS therefore saide to the Twelue, What, wil you also depart?

68 Simon ‖ Peter therfore answered him, Lord, *saue hee which is of God, the same hath seene Matth.11.27. the Father.

47 Verily, verily I say vnto you, Hee that putteth his trust in me, hath euerlasting life.

48 I am that bread of life.

49 *Your fathers did eate * Manna in the Exod.16.15. wilderneſſe, and are dead.*

50 This is that bread which commeth downe from heauen, that if any man eate thereof, hee should not die.

51 I am that liuing bread, which came down from heauen. If any man eate of this bread, hee shall liue for euer, and the bread that I will giue, is my flesh, which I will giue for the life of the world.

52 The Iewes therfore stroue amongſt themselues, saying, Howe can this fellow giue vs that flesh of his to eate?

53 Then Iesus saide vnto them, Verily, verily I say vnto you, Except yee eate the flesh of the Sonne of man and drinke his blood, yee haue no life in you.

54 Who so eateth my flesh, and drinketh my 1.Cor.11.27. blood, hath eternall life, and I will raise him vp at the last day.

55 For my flesh is meate in deed, and my blood is drinke in deede.

56 He that eateth my flesh, and drinketh my blood, dwelleth in me, and I in him.

57 As the liuing Father hath sent me, and I liue by the Father: Euen so, he that eateth mee, shall liue by the meanes of me.

58 This is that bread which came downe from heauen: not as yours fathers did eate Manna, and are dead: hee that eateth of this bread, shall liue euer.

59 These things said he in the Synagogue, as he taught in Capernaum.

60 Many therefore of his disciples when they had heard this, saide, This is an hard saying, who can abide the hearing of it?

61 When Iesus knew in himselfe that his disciples murmured at it, he said vnto them, Doeth this offend you?

62 What *and if ye shall see the Sonne of man ascend * vp thither where he was before?* Iohn 3.13.

63 It is the spirite that quickeneth, the flesh profiteth nothing: The wordes that I speake vnto you, are spirit and life.

64 But there are some of you that beleeue not. For Iesus knewe from the beginning, which they were that beleeued not, and who shoulde betray him.

65 And he said, Therefore said I vnto you, that no man can come vnto mee, except it were giuen vnto him of my Father.

66 From that time many of his disciples went backe, and walked no more with him.

67 Then saide Iesus vnto the twelue, Will yee also goe away?

68 Then Simon Peter answered him, Lord,

to

Lord, to whom shall we goe? thou hast the wordes of eternal life.

69 And wee beleeue and haue knowen that thou art Christ the Sonne of God.

70 IESVS answered them, Haue not I chosen you the Twelue: and of you one is a deuil?

71 And he meant Iudas Iscariot, Simons sonne: for this same was to betray him, whereas he was one of the Twelue.

to whom shall wee goe? Thou hast the wordes of eternall life:

*69 And wee beleeue and are sure that thou art that Christ, the Sonne of the liuing God. Matth.16.16.

70 Iesus answered them, Haue not I chosen you twelue, and one of you is a deuil?

71 Hee spake of Iudas Iscariot the sonne of Simon: for hee it was that should betray him, being one of the twelue.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. VI.

RHEM. 1 27. Worke not the meate.) By their greedy seeking after him for meate of the body, hee taketh occasion to draw them to the desire of a more excellent foode which he had to giue them, and so by litle to open vnto them the great meate and mysterie of the B. Sacrament: which (as hee proueth) doeth not onely farre passe their ordinary bread or his marueilous multiplied loaues, but Manna it selfe, which they thought came from heauen, and so much wondered at it.

FVLKE. 1 The Sacrament (saith S. Augustine) is of some receiued vnto destruction: but the matter it selfe, whereof it is a Sacrament, is receiued of euery man to life, of no man to destruction, whosoeuer shall be partaker of it. In Ioan. Tr. 26. Therefore these wordes of Christ, are not of the Sacrament, but of the matter of the Sacrament, which is his flesh and blood, to be eaten spiritually by faith, whereof also S. Augustine saith: Why prepares thou thy teeth and belly? Beleeue, and thou hast eaten it. Tr. 25. Wicked men receiue not the body and blood of Christ.

RHEM. 2 32. The true bread.) *Though the person of Christ incarnate, euen out of the Sacrament also, be meant vnder the Metaphores of bread and drinke from heauen: and our beleefe in him, be signified by eating and feeding: yet the causes why they should be recommended vnto vs in such termes, were, that he was to be eaten and drunken in deed in the formes of bread and wine: for the which cause his body on the Crosse is called * his bread: and his blood shed on the Crosse, * the blood of the grape: no doubt because the same body and blood were in Holy Sacrament to be eaten and drunken. In which speaches, either of Christes person generally, or peculiarly of the same as in the B. Sacrament,* the true bread is not taken properly and specially for that substance which is of corne, and called with vs bread: but generally for foode or meate, and therefore it hath ioyned with it lightly a terme signifying a more excellent sort of sustenance: as, the true bread, the bread of heauen, the bread of life, Supersubstantiat bread, in which sort the holy Sacrament which is Christs body, is both here, and in S. Luke and S. Paul also, often called bread, euen after consecration: not onely for that it was made of bread, but because it is bread more truely, and by more excellent property and calling, then that which ordinarily is named bread. Why Christ is called bread: and beleeuing, eating. Ierem. 11, 19. Gen. 49, 11. What signifieth, The true bread. Luc. 24, 35. Acts. 2, 42 20, 7. 1. Cor. 10. The B. Sacrament called bread.

FVLKE. 2 The true bread here signifieth, the true foode of eternall life. But thereof it followeth not, that the Sacramentall bread, is called bread in the Scripture in the same sense, as though it were not materiall bread made of corne after consecration, but onely spirituall foode. For seeing it was materiall bread, before consecration, there is no word of Scripture, to proue, that it is not so still. But contrarywise, the cup is called the fruit of the vine, after consecration, which is wine, saith Chrysost. In Mat. Hom. 83. Therefore, the bread is likewise bread made of cornes, and so S. Cyprian saith it is. Lib. 1. Ep. 6. Magno. As for the doctrine of Transubstantiation, was not heard of in the Church, for more then sixe hundred yeeres after Christ. See Arnot. in Matt. 26. Sect. 8. The places of Ier. 11. and Gen. 49. though of some ancient writers, they be referred to Christ, yet if they be rightly considered, pertaine not vnto him. The former is, of the aduersaries of Ieremie, who conspired to famish him in prison, and said, Let vs destroy him with wood in stead of bread. The other place is, of the abundance of wine, that should grow in the land of the tribe of Iuda. But if we follow the olde writers exposition, they make nothing for Transubstantiation. Transubstantiation.

RHEM. 3 44. Draw him.) The Father draweth vs and teacheth vs to come to his Sonne, and to beleeue these high and hard mysteries of his incarnation and of feeding vs with his owne substance in the Sacrament: not compelling or violently forcing any against their will or without any respect of their consent, as Heretikes pretend: but by the sweete internal motions and persuasions of his grace and spirit he wholy maketh vs of our owne will and liking to consent to the same. God draweth vs without free will. Aug. cont. duas Ep. Pel. li. 1. c. 19. & Ser. 2. de verb. Ap. c. 2.

FVLKE. 3 Without force or violence, of vnwilling he maketh vs willing, by changing our will to embrace Christ gladly, and otherwise we neuer taught. Yet our will by corruption of nature, is bond to sinne, and not free, before it be altered by Gods Spirit. The wordes of Augustine In cont. 2. Ep. Pel. lib. 1. cap. 19. be these, How many enemies of Christ euery day, by the secret grace of God are suddenly drawne to Christ? Which word if I had taken out of the Gospel, how many things would this Pelagian heretike haue said of mee for it, when euen now he wrestleth not against mee, but against him which cryeth, No man can come vnto mee, except the Father which sent mee shall drawe him. For he doeth not say shall leade him, that we might by any meanes thinke that his will doeth goe before. Who is drawne if he were willing before? and yet no man commeth except hee be willing. Therefore hee is drawne by marueilous meanes, that hee may be willing by him which knoweth to worke within, euen in the hearts of men, Not that men, (which can not be) should beleeue against their will, but that of vnwilling they may be made willing. In the other place his wordes are, That hee might teach vs that euen to beleeue is of gift, not of merite, As I said vnto you, saith he, no man commeth to mee but hee to whom it is giuen of my Father. And where our Lord said this, if wee remember the Gospel before, wee shall finde that he said also: No man commeth to mee, except the Father which sent mee shall draw him. Hee sayde not, shall leade him, but, shall draw him. This violence is done to the heart, not to the flesh. Why then doest thou marueile? Beleeue and thou commest: Loue and thou art drawne. Thinke not that this is a sharpe and grieuous violence, it is sweete, it is pleasant, Sweetenesse it selfe doeth draw thee. These sayings we allow better then yoo, which maintaine Free-will in part, with the Pelagians. Slander. Free will.

RHEM. 4 49. Manna, and died.) The Heretikes holding the fathers of the old Testament to haue eaten of the same meate, and to haue had as good Sacraments as we, be here refuted: Christ putting a plaine difference in the very substance thereof, and in the graces and effects much more at large. Manna was onely a figure of the B. Sacrament, though a very excellent figure thereof for many causes. It came in a sort from heauen, our Sacrament more: it was made by God miraculously, our Sacrament more: it was to be eaten for the time of their peregrination, our Sacrament more: it was to euery man what he liked best, our Sacrament more: a litle thereof serued and sufficed as well as much, our Sacrament more: it was reserued for such dayes as it could not be gathered, and our Sacrament much more: it was kept for a memorial in the arke of the Testament, our Sacrament much more: the discontented and incredulous murmured and gainsaide it, at our Sacrament much more: it sustained their bodies in the desert, our Sacrament both body and soule much more. The manifold preeminences of the B. Sacrament aboue Manna.

FVLKE. 4 They that did eate Manna, as corporall food onely, and not as ſpirituall meate by faith, died both body and ſoule, as they that eate the bleſſed Sacrament vnworthily. But they that did eate Manna by faith, worthily, did eate the fleſh of Chriſt ſpiritually, and dranke his blood ſpiritually, for they dranke of the ſpirituall rocke which folowed them, and that rocke was Chriſt, 1. Cor. 10 4. Where the Apoſtle ſaith expreſly, that our Fathers were all baptized, and did all eate the ſame ſpirituall meate, that we doe, and all dranke the ſame ſpirituall cup, for they dranke of the rocke, which was Chriſt, as we do. Só doth S. Auguſtine vnderſtand the place, ſaying, Qui. cunque in Manna, &c. Whoſoeuer vnderſtood Chriſt in Manna, did eate the ſame ſpirituall meate which we do. But whoſoeuer ſought onely to fill their bellies of Manna, which were the fathers of the vnfaithfull, they haue eaten and are dead. So alſo the ſame drinke. For the rocke was Chriſt. They dranke therefore the ſame drinke that we doe, but ſpirituall drinke, that is, which was receiued by faith, not which was drunke in with the body. De veritate Pœnitent. cap. 1. Chriſt therefore putteth no difference betweene the ſpirituall ſubſtance of Manna, and his fleſh and blood: but betweene the corporal food, which being receiued into the belly, and not into the heart by faith, had no power of eternall life in it. And Manna was not a figure of the Sacrament, but of the body and blood of Chriſt, which is the heauenly or ſpiritual matter of the Sacrament. For all that receiue the Sacrament, doe die naturally, as all they that did eate Manna, and as many as receiue it vnworthily, deſerue alſo to die ſpiritually, as they did that receiued Manna vnworthily. The compariſon you make, becauſe it ſpeaketh confuſely of the Sacrament, and of the matter of the Sacrament, and hath alſo many obſcure applications, had need to be more plainely ſet downe, before we can admit it, or wholly reiect it. Specially, you muſt declare, how the Sacrament is to euery man, what he liketh beſt. Item whether the arke in which it is reſerued, for a perpetuall memorial, be the Pixe. Item whether there be any dayes, in which it can not be receiued, as of the Sabboth day, and ſuch like.

The Fathers of the old Teſtament did eate the body of Chriſt as we do ſpiritually.

RHEM. 5 55. How can this man?) It came not to their minde that nothing was impoſſible to God, that wickedly ſaid, How can this man giue vs his fleſh? but we may make great profite of their ſinne, beleeuing the Myſteries, and taking a leſſon, neuer to ſay or once thinke, How? for it is a Iewiſh word and worthy all puniſhment. ſo ſaith S. Cyril lib. 4. c. 13. in Io. Neuertheleſſe if one asked onely for deſire to learne in humilitie, as our Lady did touching her hauing a childe in her virginitie, then he muſt take the Angels anſwere to her, That it is of the Holy Ghoſt. ſo ſaith S. Damaſcene li. 4. c. 14.

In the B. Sacrament, Hem, is a Iewiſh word.

FVLKE. 5 The Iewiſh (how) was not of enquiring the maner, as the virgin Maries (how,) but of denying, and not beleeuing the matter. Therefore ſaith Cyrillus in the next chap lib. 4. cap. 14. in Ioan. Oportebat igitur fidei primum &c. It had bene meete therefore, firſt, that they had ſet the rootes of faith in their minde, and then to haue enquired thoſe things, which are to be enquired. But they before they beleeued, enquired out of ſeaſon. For this cauſe our Lord did not expound, how that thing might be brought to paſſe, but exhorteth that it be ſought by faith. So to his diſciples which beleeued, he gaue peeces of bread, ſaying: Take ye, and eate ye, this is my body. Likewiſe he gaue the cup about and ſaid: drinke ye all of this, This is the cup of my bloud, which ſhall be ſhed for many, vnto remiſſion of ſinnes. Thou ſeeſt plainely, that to them which enquire without faith he hath not expounded the maner of the myſterie: but to them which beleeued, although they enquired not, hee hath ſet it forth. By this place it is euident, that beleeuing Chriſts wordes to be true, wee may enquire in what ſenſe they are true, and after what maner, ſpiritually, or corporally, the fleſh of Chriſt is to be eaten, and his blood drunken. Alſo, in that Chriſt gaue pieces of bread, we are taught, that it is not by tranſubſtantiation, but after a ſpiritual maner, that the fleſh of Chriſt is to be receiued: namely by faith, through the mighty working of the holy Ghoſt, not onely in the Sacrament, but alſo without it.

Faith.

Tranſubſtantiation.

RHEM. 6 53. Vnles you eate.) Chriſt commending the Sacrament of the faithfull vnto vs, ſaide, Except you eate, &c. you can not haue life in you. So the life ſaith of life, and to him that thinketh the life to be a lier, this meate ſhall be death and not life to him. Auguſt. Ser. 2. de verb. Ap. c. 1. And S. Leo thus, Becauſe our Lord ſaith, except you eate, &c. let vs ſo communicate, that we nothing doubt of the trueth of Chriſtes body and bloud: for that is receiued with mouth, which is beleeued in heart: and they anſwere Amen in vaine, that diſpute againſt that which they receiue.

Ser. 8. de iejun. menſ.

The real preſence.

FVLKE. 6 This place proueth inuincibly, that the fleſh of Chriſt is truely eaten without the Sacrament, therefore ſpiritually, aſwell without it, as in it. For els all that die without participation of the Sacrament, ſhould be voyd of eternal life. Concerning the place of Auguſtine: he declareth in the ſame Sermon, the maner of the eating of Chriſtes fleſh, and drinking his blood to be ſpirituall. Tunc autem &c. Then ſhall this be, that is, the body and blood of Chriſt ſhall be life to euery one, if that which is taken in the Sacrament viſibly, be eaten ſpiritually in the trueth it ſelfe. The words of Leo be againſt the Eutychian heretikes, which did not beleeue the trueth of the body of Chriſt, and therefore could not rightly receiue the Sacrament of his body and blood, when they did not beleeue, that he had a very true body and blood.

The fleſh of Chriſt is eaten ſpiritually, not corporally.

RHEM. 7 53. And drinke.) Thus the Proteſtants alleage for the neceſſitie of receiuing in both kindes: but in reſpect of them ſelues (who lightly hold all this chapter to pertaine nothing to the Sacramental receiuing, but to ſpiritual feeding on Chriſt by faith onely) it can make nothing for one kinde or other. And in reſpect of vs Catholikes, who beleeue Chriſts whole perſon both humanitie and Diuinitie, both fleſh and bloud to be in either forme, and to be wholy receiued no leſſe in the firſt, then in the ſecond or in both, this place commandeth nothing for both the kindes.

Receiuing in both kindes not neceſſarie.

FVLKE. 7 Although theſe wordes are not proper of the Sacrament, but of the matter of the Sacrament, yet the argument is good to proue the neceſſitie of drinking, as well as of eating, ſeeing Chriſt hath giuen the viſible Sacrament of both. And it is ſtrong againſt the Papiſts, who vnderſtand it onely of the Sacrament. For although by their fond conceite of concomitance, they holde the blood to be in the body, yet they doe not drinke it according as Chriſt requireth, who addeth not that word ſuperfluouſly, but to expreſſe that his fleſh and blood is a perfect nouriſhment, which conſiſteth (as Iuſtinus ſaith) as well of dry as of moyſt nouriſhment, to be eaten and drunken.

Communion in one kinde.

Dial cum Typhon.

RHEM. 8 53. You ſhall not haue life.) Though the Catholikes teach theſe wordes to bee ſpoken of the Sacrament, yet they meane not (no more then our Sauiour here doeth) to exclude all from ſaluation, that receiue not actually and Sacramentally vnder one or both kindes. For then children that die after they bee baptized and neuer receiued Sacramentally, ſhould periſh: which to holde, were hereticall. Neither did S. Auguſtine meane, applying theſe wordes to infants alſo, that they could not be ſaued without receiuing ſacramentally, as not onely the Heretikes, but Eraſmus did vnlearnedly miſtake him: but his ſenſe is that they were by the right of their Baptiſme ioyned to Chriſtes body Myſtical, and thereby ſpiritually partakers of the other Sacrament alſo of Chriſtes body and bloud. As all Catholike men that bee in priſon, ioyning with the Church of God in heart and deſire to receiue and be partakers with the Church of this Sacrament, and thoſe ſpecially that deuoutly heare Maſſe and adore in preſence the body and bloud of Chriſt, ioyning in heart with the Prieſt, all theſe receiue life and fruite of the Sacrament, though at euery time they receiue not ſacramentally in one or both kindes. And although in the Primitiue Church the holy Sacrament in the ſecond kinde were often giuen euen to infants to ſanctifie them,

The Sacramental receiuing of Chriſts body, not alwayes neceſſary to ſaluation.

The true meaning of S. Auguſtines words touching infants receiuing of the B. Sacrament.

Li. 1. de pec. mer. & rem. c. 20.

them, yet (as the holy Councell hath declared) it was neuer minisired vnto them with opinion that they could not be saued without it. and therefore the heretikes do vntruely charge the Church and the Fathers with that errour. Conc. Trid. Sess. 21. c. 4.

FVLKE. 8 This is monstrous impudencie, to grant the premisses, and to denie the conclusion. For if these wordes be proper to the Sacrament, it followeth of necessitie, by these wordes, that whosoeuer doth not eat and drinke the Sacrament, is excluded from life. Contrariwise, if whosoeuer receiueth not the Sacrament, be not excluded from life, then these wordes are not proper of the Sacrament, and sacramentall eating and drinking of the flesh and bloud of Christ. But further (you say) S. Augustine applying these wordes to infants, did not meane, that they could not be saued, without receiuing sacramentally: as the heretikes and Erasmus did vnlearnedly mistake him. To say nothing of vs, whom you count heretikes, (as heretikes haue alwayes counted true Catholikes) Erasmus had more learning then all the rable of Rhemists, and had read as much of the ancient Fathers, as all the Prelates in the Chapter of Trent, that haue inuented a new meaning of Augustine, which can neuer be gathered out of his wordes, but is directly contrary to the same. The wordes of Augustine, euen in the place by you quoted, are these: Dominum audiamus (inquam) non quidem hoc de Sacramento lauacri dicentem, sed de Sacramento sanctæ mensæ suæ, quo nemo rite nisi baptizatus accedit. Nisi manducaueritis &c. I say, let vs heare our Lord, not speaking this of the Sacrament of Baptisme, but of the Sacrament of his holy Table, whither no man rightly commeth, but he that is baptized. Except you shall eate my flesh, and drinke my bloud, you shall haue no life in you. What seeke we any further? What can they answere to this, except stubburnesse will bend their striuing sinewes against the constancy of trueth? Or is there any body that will dare to say thus also, that this sentence pertaineth not to little children, and that they may haue life in them without the participation of this body and bloud, because he sayth not, he that shall not eat, as of Baptisme, he that shall not be borne againe, but sayth, if you shall not eat, as it were speaking to them which could heare and vnderstand, which in deed little children can not doe? But he that sayth this, doth not marke, that except this sentence doe binde all men, that they can not haue life without the body and bloud of the Sonne of man, the elder age also in vaine taketh care for it. Slander. The ancient Church with the B. of Rome erred. What can be more plaine, then that S. Augustine meaneth here, as hee speaketh, of the Sacrament and sacramentall receiuing at the holy Table, and that this Sacrament of the Lords body (in his opinion) was as necessary for infants, as the other of Baptisme: neither is there any one word, to insinuate your pretended sense, in all that Chapter, or in any other place, where he speaketh to the same effect, as in the foure and twentieth Chapter of the same booke, Optimi Punici Christiani &c. The Christians of Africa, doe very well call Baptisme it selfe, nothing els but saluation, and the Sacrament of the body of Christ, nothing els but life. Whereupon? but (as I thinke) of an ancient and Apostolike tradition, which they holde, as a thing ingraffed into the Church of Christ, that no man without baptisme and participation of the Lords table, can come, not onely to the kingdome of God, but neither to saluation nor eternall life. And a little after: What other thing also doe they, which call the Sacrament of the Lords table, life, but that which is sayd, I am the bread of life, which came downe from heauen, and the bread which I will giue, is my flesh, for the life of the world, and except you eat the flesh of the sonne of man, and drinke his bloud, you shall not haue life in you. If then so many, and so great diuine testimonies, doe agree, neither saluation, nor life eternall is to be hoped for to any man, without baptisme and the body and bloud of our Lord, in vaine it is promised to little children without these. Moreouer, if nothing but sinnes doe separate a man from saluation and eternall life, nothing is loosed in little children, by these Sacraments, but the guiltinesse of sinne.

Innocentius bishop of Rome, was of the same opinion, as is manifest in his Epistle to the bishops of Numidia, cited by S. Augustine Cont. duas ep. Pel. lib. 2. cap. 4. & lib. 4. c. 4 cont. Iul. lib. 1. cap. 2. Ep. 106. Bonifacio cont. Pelag. Hypognost. li. 5. ep. 23. Bonif. where he writeth of the Sacrament giuen to an infant: which custome you confesse, yet was it erronious, because this Sacrament ought not to be receiued, but of them that examine themselues, which infants can not doe. 1. Cor. 11. 28. And therefore your Popish Chapter of Trent, although it were true, that the Fathers held not opinion of the necessitie of this Sacrament for infants, (as the contrary is manifest) yet can not excuse the Church and Fathers of that time, from a grosse errour, if they onely thought it was lawfull to giue the Communion to infants.

RHEM. 9 Cyrill. 4. c. 14, 15. 54. I will raise him.) As the Sonne liueth by the Father, euen so doe we liue by his flesh, saith S. Hilarie. li 8. de Trin. And S. Cyril againe thus, Though by nature of our flesh we be corruptible, yet by participation of life we are reformed to the property of life. For not onely our soules were to be lifted vp by the holy Ghost to life euerlasting, but this rude grosse terrestriall body of ours is to be reduced to immortality, by touching, tasting, and eating this agreeable food of Christs body. And when Christ saith, I will raise him vp, he meaneth that this body which he eateth, shall raise him. Our flesh (saith Tertullian) eateth the body and bloud of Christ, that the soule may also be fatted, therefore they shall both haue one reward at the Resurrection. And S. Irenæus, How do they affirme that our bodies be not capable of life euerlasting, which is nourished by the body and bloud of our Lord? Either let them change their opinion, or els cease to offer the Eucharist. S. Gregory Nysse also sayth, That liuely body entring into our body, changeth it and maketh it like an immortall. The effects of the B. Sacrament both in our body and soule. Tertul. de resur. carnis. n. 7. li. 4. c. 34. Nissen orat. catech. magna.

FVLKE. 9 By participation of the flesh and bloud of Christ, which is the matter of the Sacrament, we are made partakers of eternall life both of body & soule, whereof the Sacrament is a liuely seale, and certeine assurance. But without the Sacrament also, we may eat the body and drinke the bloud of Christ spiritually by faith, the holy Ghost in vnspeakeable maner feeding vs therewith, as he doeth infants, which are not to be receiued to the Lords table. And this is the true sense of all the Doctours words alledged in this section, which we acknowledge, except where they thought the Sacrament to be necessary for infants also.

RHEM. 10 55. Meat in deed.) Manna, was not the true meat: nor the water of the rocke, the drinke in deed: for they did but driue away death or famine for a time and for this life. But the holy body of Christ is the true food nourishing to life euerlasting, and his bloud the true drinke that driueth death away vtterly, for they be not the body and bloud of a meere man, but of him that being ioyned to life is made life: and therefore are we the bodie and members of Christ, because by this benediction of the mysterie we receiue the Sonne of God himselfe. So saith S. Cyrill. lib 4. c. 16. in Io. The B. Sacrament is the true Manna and water of the rocke.

FVLKE. 10 This saying of Cyril, is true of Manna and the water taken for corporall food only: but as they were the Sacraments of the body and bloud of Christ, they were the same spirituall meat and drinke that we receiue, as testifieth Augustine cited before, sect. 4.

RHEM. 11 Conc. Trid. Sess. 21. c. 1. 58. He that eateth this bread.) By this place the holy Councell prooueth that for the grace and effect of the Sacrament, which is the life of the soule, there is no difference whether a man receiue both kindes or one. because our Sauiour who before attributed life to the eating and drinking of his body and bloud, doth here also affirme the same effect, which is life euerlasting, to come of eating onely vnder one forme. Therefore the heretikes be seditious calumniatours that would make the people beleeue, the Catholike Church and Priests to haue defrauded them of the grace and benefit of one of the kindes in the Sacrament. Nay, it is they that haue defrauded the world, by taking away both the reall substance of Christ, and the grace from The whole grace and effect thereof in one kinde, and therefore the people not defrauded.

The Church doth onely (by the wiſedome of Gods Spirit and by inſtruction of Chriſt and his Apoſtles, according to time and place, for Gods moſt honour, the reuerence of the Sacrament, and the peoples moſt profit thereby) diſpoſe of the maner and order, how the Prieſt, how the people ſhall receiue, and all other particular points. Which himſelfe (ſaith S. Auguſtine) did not take order for, that he might commit that to the Apoſtles, by whom he was to diſpoſe his Churches affaires, *though both he and the Apoſtles and the Fathers of the Primitiue Church left vs example of receiuing vnder one kinde. Receiuing in one or both kinds, according to the holy Churches appointment.

Authority of Scriptures & the Primitiue church for receiuing in one kinde.

Whereby the Church being warranted and in the ruling of ſuch things fully taught by Gods ſpirit, aſwell for the reproouing of certeine hereſies, that Chriſt God and man was not whole and all in euery part of the Sacrament, as ſpecially for that the Chriſtian people being now enlarged, and the communicants often ſo many at once, that neither ſo much wine could be conueniently conſecrated, not without manifold accidents of ſhedding or abuſing be receiued (whereof the Proteſtants haue no regard, becauſe it is but common wine which they occupie, but the Church knowing it to be Chriſtes owne bloud, muſt haue all dreadfull regard) therefore I ſay ſhe hath decreed & for ſome hundred yeres put in vſe, that the Prieſt ſaying Maſſe, ſhould alwayes both conſecrate and alſo receiue both kinds, becauſe he muſt expreſſe liuely the Paſſion of Chriſt, and the ſeparation of his bloud from his body in the ſame, and for to imitate the whole action and inſtitution aſwell in ſacrificing as receiuing, as to whom properly it was ſayd, Do this, for that was ſpoken onely to ſuch as haue power thereby to offer and conſecrate. But the Laymen, and the Clergie alſo when they do not execute or ſay Maſſe themſelues, ſhould receiue in one kinde, being thereby no leſſe partakers of Chriſtes whole perſon and grace, then if they receiued both. For (as S. Paul ſayth) He that eateth the hoſtes, is partaker of the altar. He that eateth, ſayth he: for though there were drinke-offerings or libaments ioyned lightly to euery ſacrifice, yet it was enough to eat onely of one kinde, for to be partaker of the whole.

The cauſes of the churches practiſe and ordinance concerning one kinde.

The Prieſts that ſay Maſſe, muſt receiue both kindes. Lu. 22, 19. 1. Cor 11.

1. Cor, 10, 18.

FVLKE. II Contrarie to the expreſſe commandement of Chriſt in the inſtitution of the Supper, The Chapter of Trent vainly goeth about to prooue out of this place, which ſpeaketh not of the Sacrament, but of the matter of the Sacrament, that the one halfe of the Sacrament is not neceſſary. Albeit, ſeeing that eating and drinking is ſo often ioyned in this Chapter, they might well know, that drinking is heere to be vnderſtood, though it be not expreſſed, and that by eating of this bread, is meant a full participation of Chriſt, which is both meat and drinke vnto vs. And that Chriſt by this bread, meaneth not the Sacrament in forme of bread (as they call it) is manifeſt by this argument. Whoſoeuer eateth this bread, ſhall liue for euer, but whoſoeuer eateth the Sacrament, ſhall not liue for euer: therefore whoſoeuer eateth the Sacrament, eateth not this bread. Againe the words are generall, both of Prieſts and people, whereupon you may aſwell conclude, that the Prieſt need not conſecrated, but in one kinde of bread, as that the receiuing in one kinde is ſufficient. Neither doth S. Auguſtine ſay, that the Church hath authority to alter Chriſtes inſtitution, but to diſpoſe of circumſtances which are accidentall, as of time, place, and ſuch like, which perteine not to the ſubſtance of Chriſtes inſtitution. Now for receiuing in both kindes, he tooke as good order as could be, both inſtituting the Sacrament in both kindes, and giuing expreſſe commandement, that all ſhould drinke of it. But thou art not aſhamed to ſay, that both Chriſt and his Apoſtles, beſide the ancient Fathers of the Primitiue church, left you example of receiuing vnder one kinde. For Chriſtes example you quote Luke 24. 35. But in expounding the ſame text, you dare not affirme it to be the Sacrament, and if it were, you might thereof proue, that Chriſt did conſecrate in one kinde alſo, which you holde to be an abſurdity.

Communion in one kinde.

Authoritie of the Church.

Secondly, if it were the Sacrament, (as ſome of the Fathers holde) Chryſoſtome telleth you, that he vſed wine at the ſame table, in Math. Hom. 83. vpon his promiſe to drinke the fruit of the vine anew in the kingdome of God. For his Apoſtles, you note Act. 2. 42. where either you muſt grant the figure Synecdoche, that is, that the part is named for the whole, or els you muſt ſay, that the Apoſtles who brake the bread to them, did alſo conſecrate in bread onely: for it is not ſaid, They continued in receiuing of bread, but in breaking. But it is moſt like, that the Euangeliſt meaneth, of their mutuall feaſts of loue, which more at large is expreſſed verſ. 46. which after the Hebrew or Syrian language, were by Synecdoche, called breaking of bread. That the Primitiue Church gaue the bloud onely to children, you quote Cyprian de Lapſis. nu. 10. where mention is of the cup giuen to a childe, but no word to proue, that the cup onely was giuen, except you will ſay that the blood onely was giuen to olde folkes, aſwell as to children. For the words are, Vbi vero, &c. But when the ſolemnities being fulfilled, the Deacon began to offer the cup to them that were preſent, and the reſt receiuing it, her place was come. Next is Tertullian, for reſeruing the body onely. lib. 2. ad vxorem: where mention is made of a ſuperſtitious cuſtome, that women had to reſerue the Sacrament, and receiue it dayly before other meat: but nothing to prooue, that they reſerued not the one kinde aſwell as the other. The like I ſay to the place of Cyprian, where a woman kept the Sacrament in her cheſt, which he calleth, Sanctum Domini, The holy Sacrament of the Lord: Why ſhould we not vnderſtand both kindes aſwell as one? although if a ſuperſtitious cuſtome of one kinde onely were proued, what lawfull practiſe can be proued? the reſeruation was vnlawfull, and if it were in one kinde, it was more vnlawfull. That the ſicke perſon was houſelled in one kinde, it is contrary to that which Euſebius hath, if you doe vnderſtand it. The Prieſt being ſicke, ſo that he could not come to Serapion that ſent for him, gaue to the boy his meſſenger, a little of the Euchariſt, and teaching him how to vſe it for the ſicke mans caſe that was readie to die, bale him wet it, and drop it into the olde mans mouth: whereby it appeareth, he gaue him of both kinds, and ſo the childe did, ἐπιῤῥάνας ὁ παῖς τὸ ἐκχυθὲν τῷ γέροντι. The boy did moiſten it, and withall, did powre into his mouth: and after he had ſwallowed a little, he gaue vp the ghoſt: but if he had giuen him onely of the cuppe, what needed theſe two Verbs to expreſſe the deliuery thereof. In that fragment of the Epiſtle of Baſil to Cæſarea Patricia, there is no word to proue, that the Eremites receiued the Communion in one kinde, or reſerued it in one kind onely. The cauſes of your practiſe proceed of Antichriſtian pride, in that you will ſeeme wiſer then Chriſt, who inſtituted the Sacrament in both kindes, then the Apoſtles and Fathers of the Primitiue Church, who gaue it in both kindes, and yet knew what belonged to the reuerent vſe of the Sacrament, better then you. And for the ſame cauſe that you ſay, the Prieſt muſt conſecrate in both kindes, the people alſo ought to receiue in both kindes. For they in eating and drinking, ought to ſhew the Lords death, and the ſeparation of his bloud from his body, or his bloud ſhedding, vntill he come. 1. Cor. 11. 26. But it is a fine reaſon that you gather of S. Pauls words, 1. Cor. 10. 18. They that eat of the ſacrifices, are partakers of the altar: therefore it was enough to eate onely of one kinde, to be partakers of the whole. But who will grant you this concluſion? or that it was lawfull to abſteine from the drinke offerings, becauſe by eating, the were made partakers of the altar? They were made partakers of the altar, which tooke no benefit therof, although they obſerued the whole inſtitution institution of God, much leſſe ſpirituall benefit ſhoulde they obteine, that brake the ordinance of God, and were partakers but of one kinde onely.

RHEM. 12 62. If you ſhall ſee.) Our Sauiour ſeemeth to inſinuate, that ſuch as beleeue not his wordes touching the holy Sacrament, and thinke it impoſſible for him to giue his body to be eaten in ſo many places at once, being yet in earth, ſhould be much more ſcandalized and tempted after they ſaw or knew him to be aſcended into heauen. Which is proued true in the Capharnaits of this time, whoſe principall reaſon againſt Chriſtes preſence in the Sacrament is, that he is aſcended into heauen: yea, who are ſo bolde as to expound this ſame ſentence for themſelues thus, It is not this body or fleſh I will giue you, for that I will cary with me to heauen. Whereby if they meant onely that the condition and qualities of his body in heauen ſhould be other then in the Sacrament, it were tolerable: for S. Auguſtine ſpeaketh ſometime in that ſenſe, but to deny the ſubſtance of the body to be the ſame, that is wicked.

Chriſt inſinuateth that faithles men ſhall not beleeue his preſence in ỹ B. Sacrament, becauſe he is aſcended.

FVLKE. 12 This inſinuation, is your owne imagination, without ground of the text, or teſtimony of ancient Fathers. Chriſt by theſe words doth remoue the offence, which they tooke of his baſe condition in the fleſh, and therefore could not ſee his diuine power, whereby he was able to giue his fleſh and bloud to be eaten, and drunken, which his diuine power was manifeſted in his glorious aſcenſion. And yet the aſcenſion of his body from the earth, and placing thereof in heauen, is a ſufficient argument to proue, that he giueth not his fleſh and bloud to be receiued after a bodily maner, in what ſhape or forme ſoeuer diſguiſed, but after an heauenly, diuine, and ſpirituall maner, by the vnſpeakeable working of the holy Ghoſt. Which vniteth his naturall body and bloud to vs, though diſtant as farre from vs in place, as heauen is from earth: ſo that we are truely made fleſh of his fleſh, and bone of his bone, and liuely members of his myſticall body: not onely in this Sacrament, but alſo in baptiſme, and by ſpirituall communication through faith, by which Chriſt dwelleth in our hearts. Galat. 3. 27 Eph. 3. 17. And S. Auguſtine doth rightly vſe the argument of Chriſtes aſcenſion, to proue that Chriſt giueth not his body, as carnally preſent in the Sacrament, but to be receiued ſpiritually by faith. Auguſt. in Io. Tract. 27. 30. 31. and ſpecially Tract. 50. he ſaith of his naturall body: Aſcendit in cœlum, & non eſt hic. He aſcended into heauen, and he is not here. with much more to that effect. Againe De verbis Apoſt. ſer. 2. vpon this text he ſayeth: What if you ſhall ſee the Sonne of man aſcend where he was before? What meaneth it, doth this offend you? Thought you that I would make parts of this body which you ſee, cut my members in pieces and giue them to you? What then if you ſhall ſee the Sonne of man aſcend where he was before? Verily he that could aſcend whole, could not be conſumed. Therefore he hath giuen vs an wholeſome refection of his body and bloud, and hath briefly ſoluted ſo great a queſtion of his integrity. Let them therefore eat which eat, and drinke which drinke: let them hunger and thirſt: let them eate life, let them drinke life. That to eat is to be fed, but ſo to be fed, that it faileth not whereof thou art fed. That to drinke, what is it but to liue? Eat life, drinke life, thou ſhalt haue life, and life is ſtill whole. For then this thing ſhall be, that is the body and bloud of Chriſt ſhalbe life to euery one, if that which is taken viſibly in the Sacrament be ſpiritually eaten, and ſpiritually drunken in the truth it ſelfe. See Matth. 26. ſect. 4.

Reall preſence.

RHEM. 13 63. The fleſh profiteth nothing.) If this ſpeech were ſpoken in the ſenſe of the Sacramentaries, it would take away Chriſtes incarnation, manhood, and death, no leſſe then his corporall preſence in the Sacrament. for if his fleſh were not profitable, all theſe things were vaine. Therefore CHRIST denieth not his owne fleſh to be profitable, but that their groſſe and carnall conceiuing of his words, of his fleſh, and of the maner of eating the ſame, was vnprofitable. Which is plaine by the ſentence following, where he warneth them, that his wordes be ſpirit and life, of high myſticall meaning, and not vulgarly and groſly to be taken, as they tooke them. And it is the vſe of the Scripture to call mans naturall ſenſe, reaſon, and carnall reſiſting or not reaching ſupernaturall trueths, fleſh or bloud, as, Fleſh and bloud reuealed not this to thee, &c. Matth. 16.

The Capharnaits groſſe vnderſtanding of Chriſtes fleſh to be giuen or eaten. And howe his fleſh doth profit, and not profit. Auguſt De doct. Chri. li. 3. c. 13.

This carnality then of theirs, ſtood in two points ſpecially: firſt, that they imagined that hee would kill himſelfe, and cut and mangle his fleſh into parts, and ſo giue it them raw or roſt to be eaten among them. Which could not be meant, ſayth S. Auguſtine: for that had conteined an heinous and barbarous fact, and therefore they might and ſhould haue beene aſſured, that he would command no ſuch thing: but ſome other ſweet ſenſe to be of his hard, myſticall, or figuratiue words, and to be fulfilled in a Sacrament, myſtery, and a maruellous diuine ſort, otherwiſe then they could comprehend. Secondly, they did erre touching his fleſh, in that they tooke it to be the fleſh of a meere man, and of a dead man alſo, when it ſhould come to be eaten: of which kinde of fleſh Chriſt heere pronounceth, that it profiteth nothing. Whereupon S. Cyril ſaith, This body is not of Peter or Paul, or any other like, but of Chriſt IESVS who is the life it ſelfe: and therefore this body giueth life, the very fulneſſe of the Diuinity dwelling in it. And the holy Councell of Epheſus in the 11. Anathematiſme expounded alſo by the ſayd S. Cyril: The Euchariſt is not the body of any common perſon, (for the fleſh of a common man could not quicken) but of the WORD it ſelfe. But the heretike Neſtorius diſſolueth the vertue of this myſtery, holding mans fleſh onely to be in the Euchariſt. Thus there. And S. Ignatius cited of Theodoret, and many other Fathers haue the like. Whereby we may ſee that it commeth of the Diuinity and Spirit (without which Chriſtes fleſh can not be) that this Sacrament giueth life.

Chriſtes fleſh giueth life becauſe it is the fleſh of God and man. Lib. 4. c. 23. in Io.

Ignatius apud Theod. dial. 3.

FVLKE. 13 The fleſh of Chriſt ſeparated from his diuine and quickening ſpirit whereof it hath power of life (as the Caparnaites did imagine it) profiteth nothing. But being vnited to his diuine ſpirit, according to the ſayings of Hilarie, Cyril, and the reſt that are here cited, it is not onely profitable, but alſo neceſſarie for our ſaluation, in his incarnation, ſacrifice, and feeding of vs therewith, either in the Sacrament, or without it. Neither doe we teach otherwiſe. But the Papiſts holde this errour of the Caparnaites, of his fleſh ſeparated from the quickening vertue and power that it hath of the word vnited to it, when they teach, that the body and bloud of Chriſt, may be verily and truely, and not onely ſacramentally eaten and drunken of the wicked, to whom it giueth no life, contrary to the expreſſe wordes of Chriſt, ſo often repeated in this Chapter, and the conſent of the ancient Fathers. Hoc eſt ergo manducare &c. This is therefore (ſaith S. Auguſtine) to eate that meat, and to drinke that drinke, for a man to abide in Chriſt, and to haue Chriſt abiding in him. And by this, he that abideth not in Chriſt, and in whom Chriſt abideth not, out of doubt he neither eateth his fleſh, nor drinketh his bloud ſpiritually, though carnally and viſibly, he preſſe with his teeth, the Sacrament of the body and bloud of Chriſt: but rather he eateth and drinketh the Sacrament of ſo great a thing to his condemnation. Tract. 26. in Ioan. Againe, of wicked men he ſayth, It is not to be ſayd, that they eat the body of Chriſt, becauſe they are not to be counted among the members of Chriſt. And that I ſpeake not of other things, they cannot be both the members of Chriſt, and the members of an harlot. Finally, he himſelfe ſaying, he that eateth my fleſh, and drinketh my bloud, abideth in me, and I in him, ſheweth what it is, not onely in Sacrament or ſacramentally, but in very deed, to eat the body of Chriſt, and to drinke his bloud. De ciuit. lib. 21. cap. 21. In declaring in what points the carnalitie of the Capernaites conſiſted, you confeſſe with S. Auguſtine De doct. Chriſt. lib. 3. cap. 16. that theſe wordes of Chriſt, Except you eat the fleſh of the Sonne of man, &c. be figuratiue. Wherein then ſtandeth the figure? in the wordes, Fleſh and bloud, or in the words, Eating and drinking? Verily our Sauiour Chriſt doth ſo plainely affirme, The bread which he will giue to be his fleſh, which he will giue for the life of the world, that we must must needs vnderstand his body crucified, and his bloud shed for vs, or his humanitie sacrificed for vs: then it remaineth, that the figure be in eating and drinking, and so the whole question is of the maner of eating and drinking which is either literall and without figure, (as Papists take it) receiuing into the mouth and bodie, or els spirituall and figuratiue, (as S. Augustine there teacheth) by communicating with the passion of Christ, and by sweet and profitable recording, that his flesh was crucified and wounded for vs. Which communication by faith and the working of Gods spirit, is the eating and drinking of his very body and bloud, either in the Sacrament or without it, and which giueth eternall life to all that receiue the body and bloud of Christ, either in the Sacrament or without it.

RHEM. 14 64. That beleeue not.) It is lacke of faith, you see heere, that causeth men to spurne against this high trueth of the Sacrament: as also it may be learned heere, that it is the great and mercifull gift of God that men doe against their senses and carnall reasons, beleeue and submit themselues to the humble acknowledging of this mystery: lastly, that it may well * by Christs insinuation of Iudas, be gathered, that he specially spurned against our Masters speeches of the holy Sacrament.

Iudas the chiefe of them that beleeue not the reall presence. * verse 64.

FVLKE. 14 It is want of faith in the Papists, that they thinke our Sauiour Christ cannot giue vs his flesh and bloud, to be eaten and drunken of vs, except it be receiued with the mouth into the body, and to beleeue that which they beleeue contrary to the word of God (though it be neuer so contrary to sense) it is no true faith, but a false perswasion of lies. Finally, though Iudas did not beleeue the doctrine of Christ, yet it is not like that he shewed any outward token of vnbeliefe, seeing it is sayd, that the twelue continued with him.

Popish infidelitie.

RHEM. 15 66. Went backe.) It can be no maruell to vs nowe that so many reuolt from the Church, by offence or scandall vniustly taken at Christes body and bloud in the Sacrament, seeing many of his Disciples that sawe his woonderfull life, doctrine, and miracles, forsooke Christ himselfe, vpon the speech and promise of the same Sacrament. for the mystery of it is so supernaturall and diuine in it selfe, and withall so lowe and base for our sakes, by the shew of the formes of these terrene elements vnder which it is, and we eate it: that the vnfaithfull and infirme doe so stumble at Christ in the Sacrament, as the Iewes and Gentiles did at Christ in his humanity. For, the causes of contradictions of the Incarnation and Transubstantiation be like. And it may be verily deemed, that whosoeuer now can not beleeue the Sacrament to be Christ, because it is vnder the formes of bread and wine, and is eaten and drunken, would not then haue beleeued that Christ had beene God, because he was in shape of man, and crucified. To conclude, it was not a figure nor a mystery of bare bread and wine, nor any Metaphoricall or Allegoricall speech, that could make such a troupe of his Disciples reuolt at once. When he sayd he was a Doore, a Vine, a Way, a Pastour, and such like (vnto which kinde of speeches the Protestants ridiculously resemble the wordes of the holy Sacrament) who was so mad to mistake him, or to forsake him for the same? For the Apostles at the least would haue plucked them by the sleeues, and sayd, Goe not away my masters, he speaketh parables. The cause therefore was their incredulity, and the height of the mystery, for that they neither knew the meanes how it might be present, nor would beleeue that he was able to giue his flesh to be eaten in many places. And euen such is the vnbeliefe of the heretikes about this matter at this day.

Heretikes beleeue not there all presence, because they see bread and wine as the Iewes beleeued not his Godhead because of the shape of a poore man.

The disciples reuolting at Christs words, proue that he spake not metaphorically, as other times.

FVLKE. 15 In the 13. section, you confesse the wordes of Christ to be figuratiue: now forgetting your selfe, you say the Disciples reuolting, proueth that he spake not metaphorically, vpon a fond imagination, that his Apostles would haue plucked them by the sleeues, &c. which we neuer reade that they did at any time. But in deed the cause of their reuolt, was for that they vnderstood literally, that which hee spake of eating and drinking figuratiuely. Which is one cause also, that the Papists long since haue reuolted from the Church of Christ, and the faith of the ancient Fathers, who vnderstood the wordes of the institution of the Supper, as these also of the spirituall or heauenly matter of the Supper, to be figuratiue. For if Christ had spoken here of eating and drinking literally (as the elements are receiued in the Sacrament) how was it possible that they could haue vnderstood him, before the Sacrament was instituted? for their infidelity had then bene excusable. But when he had said verse 47. he that beleeueth in me, hath eternall life, they might (if they had not bene obstinate) haue vnderstood, that the maner of eating and drinking of his flesh and bloud to haue eternall life, was by faith and beleeuing in him: and not after any grosse maner, as they imagined, and the Papists likewise: whereby they destroy the trueth of his naturall body, in taking from it the essentiall properties of a body, as quantitie, place, shape, and such like.

The words of Christ figuratiue,

RHEM. 16 68. Peter answered.) Peter answereth for the Twelue, not knowing that Iudas in heart was already naught, and beleeued not Christes former wordes touching the B. Sacrament, but was to reuolt afterward aswell as the other. * Wherein Peter beareth the person of the Church and all Catholike men, that for no difficulty of his word, nor for any reuolt (be it neuer so generall) of schismatikes, heretikes, or apostates, either for this Sacrament or any other Article, will euer forsake Christ. And when company draweth vs to reuolt, let vs say thus: Lord, whither or to whom shall we go, when we haue forsaken thee? to Caluin, Luther, or such: and forsake thee and thy Church with the vnfaithfull multitude? No, thou hast the words of life, and we beleeue thee, and thy Church will not nor can not beguile vs. Thou hast (sayth S. Augustine) life euerlasting in the ministration of thy body and bloud. And a little after, Thou art life euerlasting it selfe, and thou giuest not in thy flesh and bloud but that which thy selfe art.

As Iudas of all vnbeleeuing heretikes, so Peter beareth the person of all beleeuing Catholikes namely in the Sacrament. * Cypr. ep. 63. nu. 3.

Tract. 27. in Euang. Io.

FVLKE. 16 Peter worthily beareth the person of all true members of the Church, when for no cause he wil reuolt from Christ, who only hath the words of eternall life, from which if Caluin, Luther, or an Angel from heauen would draw vs, we must holde him accursed. To the saying of Augustine, Tr. 27. in Ioan. we must adde that which he sayth in the same place, as the conclusion of the whole matter. Hoc ergo totum ad hoc &c. Let all this (welbeloued) auaile thus much vnto vs, that we eate not the flesh of Christ, and drinke the bloud of Christ onely in Sacrament, which many euill men doe, but let vs eat and drinke vnto the participation of the spirit, that we may abide in the Lordes body as members, that wee may be quickened by his spirit, and not be offended, although many doe eate and drinke the Sacraments temporally, which in the end shall haue eternall torments.

The wicked eat not the body of Christ nor drink his bloud.

CHAP. VII.

The Iewes (of Ierusalem) seeking his death, he walketh in Galilee: where he signifieth to his brethren, that not in this feast Scenopegia, but in another (to wit, Pasche following) the Iewes should kill him: that is, not when they would, but when he will. 10 Insomuch that at this feast he teacheth openly in the Temple, and conuerteth many, 14 both in the middle day 37 and the last day thereof, without any hurt, though also the Rulers send to apprehend him.

THE GOSPEL vpon Tuesday in Passion weeke.

AFter these things IESVS walked ‖ into Galilee, for he would not walke ‖ into Iewrie: because the Iewes sought to kill him.

‖ in Galilee. ‖ in Iurie.

AFter these things, Iesus went about in Galilee: for hee would not goe about in Iurie, because that the Iewes sought to kill him.

2 And the feſtiuall day of the Iewes, *‡ Scenopégia, was at hand,

3 And his brethren ſayd to him, Paſſe from hence, and goe into Iewrie: that thy diſciples alſo may ſee thy works which thou doeſt.

4 For no man doeth any thing in ſecret, and ſeeketh himſelfe to be in publike. If thou doe theſe things, manifeſt thy ſelfe to the world.

5 For neither did his brethren beleeue in him.

6 IESVS therfore ſaith to them, My time is not yet come: but your time is alwayes readie.

7 The world can not hate you, but me it hateth: becauſe I giue teſtimonie of it, that the works thereof are euill.

8 Go you vp to this feſtiuall day: ‖ I go not vp to this feſtiuall day: becauſe my time is not yet accompliſhed.

9 When he had ſayd theſe things, himſelfe taried in Galilee.

10 But after his brethren were gone vp, then he alſo went vp to the feſtiuall day, not openly, but as it were in ſecret.

11 The Iewes therfore ſought him in the feſtiuall day, and ſaid, Where is he?

12 And there was much murmuring in the multitude of him. For certeine ſaid, That he is good. And others ſaid, No, but he ſeduceth the multitudes.

13 Yet no man ſpake openly of him for feare of the Iewes.

THE GOSPEL vpon Tueſday in the fourth weeke of Lent.

14 And when the feſtiuitie was nowe halfe done, IESVS went vp into the temple, and taught.

15 And the Iewes maruelled, ſaying, How doth this man know letters, whereas he hath not learned?

16 IESVS anſwered them, and ſayd, My doctrine is not mine, but his that ſent me.

17 If any man ‡ will doe the will of him, he ſhall vnderſtand of the doctrine whether it be of God, or I ſpeake of my ſelfe.

18 ‡ Hee that ſpeaketh of himſelfe, ſeeketh his owne glory. But he that ſeeketh the glory of him that ſent him, he is true, and iuſtice in him there is not.

19 Did not Moyſes giue you the law, and none of you doth the law?

20 * Why ſeeke you to kill me? The multitude anſwered, and ſaid, ‡ Thou haſt a deuil, who ſeeketh to kill thee?

4 For there is no man that doeth any thing in ſecret, and he himſelfe ſeeketh to be knowen openly: If thou doe ſuch things, ſhew thy ſelfe to the world.

5 For neither his brethren beleeued in him.

6 Then Ieſus ſayd vnto them, My time is not yet come: but your time is alway ready.

7 The world can not hate you, but me it hateth, becauſe I teſtifie of it, that the workes thereof are euill.

*8 Goe yee vp vnto this feaſt: I goe not vp yet vnto this feaſt, * for my time is not yet full come.* Iohn 8.20.

9 When he had ſaid theſe words vnto them, he abode ſtill in Galilee.

10 But when his brethren were gone vp, then went he alſo vp vnto the feaſt, not openly, but as it were priuily.

11 Then ſought him the Iewes at the feaſt, and ſaid, Where is he?

12 And much murmuring of him was there among the people: For ſome ſayd, Hee is good: Other ſayd, Nay: but hee deceiueth the people.

13 Howbeit, no man ſpake openly of him, for feare of the Iewes.

14 Nowe when halfe of the feaſt was done, Ieſus went vp into the temple, and taught.

16 Ieſus anſwered them, and ſayd, My doctrine is not mine, but his that ſent me.

17 If any man will doe his will, hee ſhall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I ſpeake of my ſelfe.

18 He that ſpeaketh of himſelfe, ſeeketh his owne glorie: but hee that ſeeketh his glorie that ſent him, the ſame is true, and no vnrighteouſnes is in him.

CHAP. VIII.

Againe in the Temple (absoluing an aduoutresse after his mercifull maner, and yet withall declaring against his enemies that he is not a fauourer of sinne, no more than Moyses) 12 he teacheth openly, and is not for all that apprehended. telling them both of his Godhead, 21 and of their reprobation, 28 of his exaltation also by their crucifying of him, 31 exhorting the beleeuers to perseuere: 33 and shewing them that seeke his death, that they are neither free, 39 nor of Abraham, 41 nor of God, 44 but of the Diuel. 45 but that himselfe is of God, 52 and greater and ancienter then Abraham. 59 For the which they go about to stone him, but in vaine.

THE GOSPEL vpon Saturday the third weeke of Lent.

AND IESVS went into the Mount-oliuet:

2 And early in the morning againe he came into the Temple, and the people came to him, and sitting he taught them.

3 And the Scribes and Pharisees bring a woman taken in aduoutrie: and they did set her in the mids,

4 And said to him, Maister, this woman was euen now taken in aduoutrie.

Leu.20.10. 5 And * in the law Moyses commanded vs to stone such. What sayest thou therfore?

IESVS went out vnto mount Oliuet:

2 And early in the morning hee came againe into the Temple, and all the people came vnto him, and he sate downe, and taught them.

3 And the Scribes and Pharisees brought vnto him a woman taken in adulterie, and when they had set her in the mids,

4 They say vnto him, Master, this woman was taken in adulterie, euen as the deede was a doing.

*5 * Moyses in the Law commanded vs that such should be stoned: but what sayest thou?* Leuit.20.10.

6 This they sayde, tempting him, that they might accuse him. But Iesus stouped downe, and with his finger wrote on the ground.

*7 So when they continued asking him, hee lift vp himselfe, and sayd vnto them, * Let him* Deut.17.7.

‡ He that is without ſinne of you, let him firſt throw the ſtone at her.

8 And again bowing himſelfe, he wrote in the earth.

9 And they hearing, went out one by one, beginning at the ſeniours: and IESVS alone remained, and the woman ſtanding in the mids.

10 And IESVS lifting vp himſelfe, ſayde to her, Woman, where are they that accuſed thee? hath no man condemned thee?

11 Who ſaid, No man, Lord. And IESVS ſaid, ‡ Neither will I condemne thee. Goe, and now ſinne no more.

12 [b] Againe therefore IESVS ſpake to them, ſaying, I am the light of the world. he that followeth me, walketh not in darkneſſe: but ſhall haue the light of life.

13 The Phariſees therefore ſaide to him, Thou giueſt teſtimony of thy ſelfe: thy teſtimony is not true.

14 IESVS anſwered, & ſayd to them, Although I doe giue teſtimony of my ſelfe, my teſtimony is true: becauſe I know whence I came, and whither I goe: but you know not whence I come, or whither I go.

15 You iudge according to the fleſh: I doe not iudge any man.

16 And if I doe iudge, my iudgement is true: becauſe I am not alone, but I and hee that ſent me, the Father.

17 And in your law it is written, that * the teſtimony of two men is true.

18 I am hee that giue teſtimonie of my ſelfe: and he that ſent me, the Father, giueth teſtimonie of me.

19 They ſaid therefore to him, Where is thy father? IESVS anſwered, Neither me do you know, nor my Father. If you did know mee: perhaps you might knowe my Father alſo.

20 Theſe words IESVS ſpake in the treaſury, teaching in the temple: and no man apprehended him, becauſe his houre was not yet come.

21 Againe therefore IESVS ſaid to them, I goe, and you ſhall ſeeke me, and ſhall die in your ſinne. Whither I go, you can not come.

22 The Iewes therfore ſaid, Why, will he kill himſelfe, becauſe he ſaith, Whither I goe, you can not come?

23 And hee ſaid to them, You are from beneath, I am from aboue. you are of this world, I am not of this world.

24 Therefore I ſaid to you that you ſhall die in your ſinnes. for if you beleeue not that I am he, you ſhall die in your ſinne.

25 They ſaid therefore to him, Who art thou? IESVS ſaid to them, ‡ The beginning who alſo ſpeake to you.

26 Many things I haue to ſpeake & iudge of you. but he that ſent me, is true: and what I haue that is among you without ſinne, firſt caſt the ſtone at her.

8 And again, he ſtouped downe, and wrote on the ground.

9 And when they heard this, being accuſed of their owne conſciences, they went out one by one, beginning at the eldeſt, euen vnto the laſt: and Ieſus was left alone, and the woman ſtanding in the mids.

10 When Ieſus had lift vp himſelfe, and ſaw no man but the woman, he ſaid vnto her, Woman, where are thoſe thine accuſers? hath no man condemned thee?

11 She ſayd, No man, Lord. And Ieſus ſaid, Neither doe I condemne thee: Goe, and ſinne no more.

*12 Then ſpake Ieſus againe vnto them ſaying, * I am the light of the world: He that followeth me, ſhall not in any wiſe walke in darkeneſſe, but ſhall haue the light of life.* Iohn 1.5. and 9.5.

13 The Phariſees therefore ſaid vnto him, Thou beareſt record of thy ſelfe, thy record is not true.

*14 Ieſus anſwered, and ſayde vnto them, * Though I beare record of my ſelfe, yet my record is true: for I know whence I came, & whither I go: but ye can not tell whence I come, and whither I go.* Iohn 3.32.

15 Ye iudge after the fleſh, I iudge no man.

16 And if I iudge, my iudgement is true: for I am not alone, but I and the Father that ſent me.

*17 * It is alſo written in your law, that the teſtimonie of two men is true.* Deut. 17.6. & 19.15. matth. 18.16. 2. cor. 13. 1. heb. 10. 28.

18 I am one that beareth witneſſe of my ſelfe, and the Father that ſent me, beareth witneſſe of me.

19 Then ſaid they vnto him, Where is thy father? Ieſus anſwered, Ye neither know me, nor yet my Father: if ye had knowen me, ye ſhould haue knowen my Father alſo.

20 Theſe words ſpake Ieſus in the treaſurie, as he taught in the temple: and no man laid hands on him, for his houre was not yet come.

21 Then ſayde Ieſus againe vnto them, I goe my way, and ye ſhall ſeeke mee, and ſhall die in your ſinnes: Whither I goe, thither can yee not come.

22 Then ſaid the Iewes, Will he kill himſelfe, becauſe he ſaieth, Whither I goe, thither can yee not come?

23 And he ſaid vnto them, Ye are from beneath, I am from aboue: ye are of this world, I am not of this world.

24 I ſayd therefore vnto you, that ye ſhall die in your ſinnes. For if ye beleeue not that I am he, ye ſhall die in your ſinnes.

25 Then ſaid they vnto him, Who art thou? And Ieſus ſaith vnto them, Euen the very ſame thing that I ſaid vnto you from the beginning.

THE GOSPEL vpon Munday in the ſecond weeke of Lent.

‡ So read S. Cyril, S. Ambroſe, & S. Auguſtine: expounding it of Chriſtes perſon, that he is the beginning or cauſe of all creatures.

I haue heard of him, these things I speake in the world.

27 And they knewe not that hee sayd to them that his Father was God.

28 IESVS therefore said to them, When you shal haue exalted the sonne of man, then you shall know that I am he, and of my selfe I doe nothing, but as the Father hath taught me, these things I speake:

29 And he that sent me, is with me: and he hath not left me alone, because the things that please him I do alwayes.

30 When hee spake these things, manie beleeued in him.

31 IESVS therefore said to them that beleeued him, the Iewes: If you ‡ abide in my word, you shalbe my disciples in deed.

32 And you shal know the truth, and the truth shall make you free.

33 They answered him, We are the seed of Abraham, and we neuer serued any man: how sayest thou, You shalbe free?

34 IESVS answered them, ‖ Amen, amen I say to you, that * euery one which committeth sinne, is the seruant of sinne. Ro.6,16. 2.Pet.2,19.

35 And the seruant abideth not in the house for euer: the sonne abideth for euer.

36 If therefore the sonne make you free, you shalbe ‡ free in deed.

37 I know that you are the children of Abraham: but you seeke to kill mee, because my word taketh not in you.

38 I speake that which I haue seene with my Father: and you doe the things that you haue seene with your father.

39 They answered, and sayd to him, Our father is Abraham. IESVS saith to them, If you be the children of Abraham, ‡ doe the works of Abraham.

40 But now, you seeke to kill me, a man that haue spoken the trueth to you, which I haue heard of God. this did not Abraham.

41 You do the works of your father. They sayd therefore to him, We were not borne of fornication. we haue one father, God.

42 IESVS therefore said to them, If God were your father, verely you would loue me. for from God I proceeded, and came: for I came not of my selfe, but he sent me:

43 Why doe you not know my speech? Because you can not heare my word.

44 You are of your father the Diuel, and the desires of your father you will do. he was a ‡ man-killer from the beginning, and hee stoode not in the veritie: because veritie is not in him. when he speaketh a lie, he speaketh of his owne, because he is a liar, and the father thereof.

45 But because I say the veritie, you beleeue me not.

46 Which of you ‖ shal argue me of sin? If I say the verity: why do you not beleeue me?

to the world those things which I haue heard of him.

27 Howbeit, they vnderstood not that hee spake to them of his Father.

28 Then said Iesus vnto them, When ye haue lift vp on high the Sonne of man, then shall yee know that I am he, and that I doe nothing of my selfe: but as my Father hath taught mee, euen so I speake these things.

29 And he that sent me, is with me: the Father hath not left mee alone: for I doe alwayes those things that please him.

30 As hee spake those words, many beleeued on him.

31 Then sayd Iesus to those Iewes which beleeued on him, If ye continue in my word, then are ye my very disciples.

32 And yee shall know the trueth, and the trueth shall make you free.

33 They answered him, We be Abrahams seed, and were neuer bond to any man: how sayest thou then, Ye shalbe made free?

*34 Iesus answered them, Verily, verily I say vnto you, * That whosoeuer committeth sinne, is the seruant of sinne.* Rom.6.16,20. 2.pet.2,19.

35 And the seruant abideth not in the house for euer: but the Sonne abideth for euer.

36 If the Sonne therefore shall make you free, then ye shalbe free in deed.

37 I know that ye are Abrahams seed, but ye seeke meanes to kill me, because my word hath no place in you.

38 I speake that which I haue seene with my Father: and ye do that which ye haue seene with your father.

39 They answered, and said vnto him, Abraham is our father. Iesus sayeth vnto them, If ye were Abrahams children, ye would do the works of Abraham.

40 But now ye go about to kill me, a man that hath tolde you the trueth, which I haue heard of God: this did not Abraham.

41 Ye doe the deeds of your father. Then said they to him, We be not borne of fornication, wee haue one father, euen God.

42 Iesus said vnto them, If God were your father, truely yee would loue mee, for I proceeded forth, and came from God: neither came I of my selfe, but he sent me.

43 Why doe ye not know my speech? euen because ye can not heare my word.

*44 * Ye are of your father the deuill, and the lusts of your father will ye do: he was a murderer from the beginning, and abode not in the trueth, because there is no trueth in him. When he speaketh a lie, he speaketh of his owne: for he is a liar, and the father of it.* 1.Iohn 3.8.

45 And because I tell you the trueth, therefore ye beleeue me not.

*46 * Which of you rebuketh mee of sinne? If I say the the trueth, why doe yee not beleeue me?* Iohn 4.6.

THE GOSPEL vpon PASSION Sunday.

47 He that is of God, heareth the words of God. Therefore you heare not, because you are not of God.

48 The Iewes therefore answered, and said to him, Do not we say well that thou art a Samaritane, and hast a diuell?

49 IESVS answered, ‡I haue no deuill: but I doe honour my Father, and you haue dishonoured me.

50 But I seeke not mine owne glorie. there is that seeketh and iudgeth.

51 Amen, amen I say to you, If any man keep my word, he shal not see death for euer.

52 The Iewes therfore said, Now we haue knowen that thou hast a deuill. Abraham is dead, and the Prophets: and thou sayest, If any man keepe my word, hee shall not taste death for euer.

53 Why, art thou greater then our father Abraham, who is dead? and the Prophets are dead. Whom doest thou make thy selfe?

54 IESVS answered, If I doe glorifie my selfe, my glory is nothing. it is my father that glorifieth me, whom you say that he is your God.

55 And you haue not knowen him, but I know him. And if I shall say that I know him not: I shall bee like to you, a liar. But I doe know him, and do keepe his word.

56 Abraham your father reioyced that he might see my day: and he saw, and was glad.

57 The Iewes therfore said to him, Thou hast not yet fiftie yeeres, and hast thou seene Abraham?

58 IESVS said to them, Amen, amen I say to you, before that Abraham was made, I am.

59 They tooke stones therefore to cast at him. But IESVS hid himselfe, and went out of the temple.

47 He that is of God, heareth Gods wordes: Ye therefore heare them not, because yee are not of God.

48 Then answered the Iewes, and sayd vnto him, Say we not well that thou art a Samaritane, and hast a deuill?

49 Iesus answered, I haue not a deuill: but I honour my Father, and ye do dishonour me.

50 I seeke not mine owne glorie, there is one that seeketh, and iudgeth.

51 Verily, verily I say vnto you, If a man keepe my saying, he shall neuer see death.

52 Then sayde the Iewes vnto him, Nowe knowe wee that thou hast a deuill. Abraham is dead, and the Prophets: and thou sayest, If a man keepe my saying, hee shall neuer taste of death.

53 Art thou greater then our father Abraham, which is dead? and the Prophets are dead: whom makest thou thy selfe?

54 Iesus answered, If I glorifie my selfe, my glorie is nothing: It is my Father that glorifieth mee, which yee say, that bee is your God:

55 And yet yee haue not knowen him, but I know him: and if I say that I know him not, I shall be a liar like vnto you: but I know him, and keepe his saying.

56 Your father Abraham was glad to see my day: and he saw it, and reioyced.

57 Then sayd the Iewes vnto him, Thou art not yet fiftie yeeres olde, and hast thou seene Abraham?

58 Iesus sayd vnto them, Verily, verily I say vnto you, Before Abraham was, I am.

59 Then tooke they vp stones to cast at him: but Iesus was hid, and went out of the Temple.

CHAP. IX.

To shew that by his baptisme (being the Sacrament of illumination or faith) he will take away the blindnesse of the world, he giueth with strange ceremonies sight to one borne blinde, 8 By which woonderfull miracle (the attestation of the party himselfe and of his parents concurring) first the neighbours, then also the Pharisees themselues are plainely confounded. Yet so obstinate they are, that because it was the Sabboth when he wrought it, they inferre that he is not of God: yea and throw out of their Synagogue the party for confessing him. 35 But our Lord receiueth him: 39 and foretelleth by this occasion, the excaecation of the Iewes (because of their wilfull obstinacy) and illumination of the Gentiles who confesse their owne blindnesse.

THE GOSPEL vpon Wednesday in the fourth weeke of Lent.

AND IESVS passing by, saw a man blind from his natiuity:

2 And his Disciples asked him, Rabbi, who hath sinned, this man, or his parents, that he should be borne blinde?

† Though many infirmities fall for sinne, yet not all. Some comming for probation, & some sent that God by the cure thereof may be glorified,

3 IESVS answered, †Neither hath this man sinned, nor his parents: but that the works of God may be manifested in him.

4 I must worke the workes of him that sent me, whiles it is day. The night commeth, ‡ when no man can worke.

5 As long as I am in the world, I am the light of the world.

6 When he had said these things, he spit on the ground, and ‖ made clay of the spettle, and spred the clay vpon his eyes,

‡ This was a figure of baptisme, c which all men borne in sinne & blindnes are sent for health and sight. Amb. li. 3. c. 1. de Sacramen.

7 And sayde to him, Goe, [c] wash in the poole of Siloé, which is interpreted, Sent. He went therefore, and washed: and hee came seeing.

8 Therefore the neighbours, and they which had seene him before, that hee was a begger, said, Is not this he that sate, and begged? Others said, That this is he.

9 But others, No, not so, but hee is like him. But he said, That I am he.

10 They said therfore to him, How were thine eyes opened?

11 He answered, That man that is called IESVS, made clay: and anointed mine eyes, and said to me, Go to the poole of Siloé, and wash. And I went, and washed, and saw.

12 And they sayd to him, Where is hee? He saith, I know not.

13 They bring him that had beene blind to the Pharisees.

14 And it was the Sabboth when IESVS made the clay, and opened his eyes.

15 Againe therefore the Pharisees asked him, how he saw. But he said to them, He put clay vpon mine eies, and I washed: and I see.

16 Certaine therefore of the Pharisees saide, This man is not of God, that keepeth not the Sabboth. But others sayd, How can a man that is a sinner doe these signes? And there was a schisme among them.

17 They say therfore to the blind againe, Thou, what sayest thou of him that opened thine eies? And he said, That he is a Prophet.

18 The Iewes therefore did not beleeue of him, that he had bene blinde and saw: vntill they called the parents of him that saw,

19 And asked them, saying, Is this your sonne,

AND as Iesus passed by, he saw a man which was blinde from his birth.

2 And his disciples asked him, saying, Master, who did sinne, this man, or his parents, that he was borne blinde?

3 Iesus answered, Neither hath this man sinned, nor yet his parents: but that the works of God should be made manifest in him.

4 I must worke the workes of him that sent me, while it is day: The night commeth, when no man can worke.

*5 As long as I am in the world, * I am the light of the world.* Ioh. 1. 9. and 8. 12. and 12. 35.

6 When hee had thus spoken, hee spat on the ground, and made clay of the spittle, and hee anointed the clay vpon the eyes of the blinde,

7 And said vnto him, Goe wash thee in the poole of Siloe (which by interpretation is as much to say, as Sent.) He went his way therefore, and washed, and came againe seeing.

8 The neighbours therefore, and they that had seene him before when he was blinde, sayd, Is not this he that sate and begged?

9 Some said, This is he: Other said, He is like him. He himselfe said, I am euen he.

10 Therefore said they vnto him, Howe were thine eyes opened?

11 He answered, & said, The man that is called Iesus, made clay, and anointed mine eyes, and said vnto me, Go to the poole Siloe, and wash: and when I went and washed, I receiued my sight.

12 Then said they vnto him, Where is he? He sayd, I can not tell.

13 They brought to the Pharisees him, that a little before was blinde.

14 And it was the Sabboth day when Iesus made the clay, and opened his eyes.

15 Then againe the Pharisees also asked him how he had receiued his sight. He said vnto them, He put clay vpon mine eies, & I washed, & do see.

16 Therfore said some of the Pharisees, This man is not of God, because hee keepeth not the Sabboth day. Other said, How can a man that is a sinner do such miracles? and there was a ‖ strife among them. ‖ Or, schisme.

17 They say vnto the blinde man againe, What saiest thou of him, because he hath opened thine eies? He said, He is a Prophet.

18 But the Iewes did not beleeue the man how that hee had beene blinde, and receiued his sight, vntill they called the parents of him that had receiued his sight.

19 And they asked them, saying, Is this your sonne, whome you say that hee was borne blinde: how then doth he now see?

20 His parents answered them, and sayd, We know that this is our sonne, and that hee was borne blinde:

21 But how he now seeth, we know not, or who hath opened his eyes, we know not, aske himselfe: he is of age, let himselfe speake of himselfe.

22 These things his parents said, because they feared the Iewes. for the Iewes had now conspired, that if any man should confesse him to be CHRIST, he should be ‖ put out of the Synagogue.

23 Therefore did his parents say, That he is of age, aske himselfe.

24 They therefore againe called the man that had been blinde, and said to him, ‡ Giue glorie to God. wee know that this man is a sinner.

25 He therefore said to them, whether he be a sinner, I knowe not: one thing I knowe, that whereas I was blinde, now I see.

26 They said therefore to him, What did he to thee? how did he open thine eyes?

27 He answered them, I haue now tolde you, and you haue heard: why wil you heare it again? wil you also become his disciples?

28 They reuiled him therefore and sayd, Be thou his disciple: but we are the disciples of Moyses.

29 Wee knowe that to Moyses God did speake: but this man wee know not whence he is.

30 The man answered and said to them, For in this it is maruellous that you know not whence he is, and he hath opened mine eyes.

31 And we know that sinners God doth not heare. but if a man be a seruer of God, and do the will of him, him he heareth.

32 From the beginning of the world it hath not been heard that any man hath opened the eyes of one borne blinde.

33 Vnles this man were of God, he could not doe any thing.

34 They answered, and said to him, Thou wast wholly borne in sinnes, and doest thou teach vs? And they did cast him forth.

35 IESVS heard that they cast him forth: and when he had found him, he said to him, Doest thou beleeue in the sonne of God?

36 Hee answered, and sayd, Who is hee Lord, that I may beleeue in him?

37 And IESVS sayd to him, Both thou hast seen him: and he that talketh with thee, he it is.

38 But he sayd, I beleeue Lord. And falling downe he adored him.

39 And IESVS sayd to him, For iudgement came I into this world: ‡ that they that see not, may see: and they that see, may become blinde.

‡ By this we see that this miracle was not onely maruellous and beneficial to the blinde, but also significatiue of taking away spirituall blindnes.

sonne, whom ye say that he was borne blinde? how doth he now see then?

20 His parents answered them, and said, We know that this is our sonne, and that he was borne blinde, 21 But by what meanes he now seeth, we can not tell, or who hath opened his eyes, can not wee tell, he is of age, aske him, he shall speake for himselfe.

22 Such wordes spake his parents, because they feared the Iewes: for the Iewes had agreed alreadie, that if any man did confesse that he was Christ, hee should be excommunicate out of the Synagogue.

23 Therefore sayd his parents, Hee is of age, aske him.

24 Then againe called they the man that was blinde, and sayd vnto him, Giue God the praise, we know that this man is a sinner.

25 He answered, and sayd, Whether he be a sinner or no, I cannot tell: one thing I am sure of, that whereas I was blinde, now I see.

26 Then said they to him againe, What did he to thee? How opened he thine eyes?

27 He answered them, I tolde you yer while, and ye did not heare: wherefore would you heare it againe? Will ye also be his disciples?

28 Then rated they him, and sayd, Thou art his disciple: we are Moyses disciples.

29 Wee are sure that God spake vnto Moyses: as for this fellow, wee know not from whence he is.

30 The man answered, and sayd vnto them, This is a maruellous thing, that yee wote not from whence he is, and yet he hath opened mine eyes.

31 For we be sure that God heareth not sinners: but if any man be a worshipper of God, and doth his will, him heareth he.

32 Since the world beganne was it not heard that any man opened the eyes of one that was borne blinde:

33 If this man were not of God, he could doe nothing.

34 They answered, and said vnto him, Thou art altogether borne in sinne, & doest thou teach vs? And they cast him out.

35 Iesus heard that they had excommunicated him: and when he had found him, he sayd vnto him, Doest thou beleeue on the Sonne of God?

36 He answered and said, Who is he, Lord, that I might beleeue on him?

37 And Iesus sayd vnto him, Thou hast both seene him, and it is hee that talketh with thee.

38 And hee said, Lord, I beleeue: and hee worshipped him.

*39 And Iesus said vnto him, * I am come vnto iudgement in this world, that they which see not, might see: and that they which see, might be made blinde.* Iohn 3.17. and 12.47.

40 And

40 And certaine of the Phariſees that were with him, heard: and they ſaid to him, Why, are we alſo blinde?

41 IESVS ſaid to them, If you were blind, you ſhould not haue ſinne. but now you ſay, That we ſee. Your ſinne remaineth.

40 And ſome of the Phariſees which were with him, heard theſe wordes, and ſaid vnto him, Are we blinde alſo?

41 Ieſus ſaid vnto them, If ye were blinde, ye ſhould haue no ſinne, but now ye ſay, Wee ſee: therefore your ſinne remaineth.

MARGINAL NOTES. CHAP. IX.

RHEM. 1 5. When no man.) The time of working, and meriting, is in this life: after death wee can deſerue no more by our deedes, but muſt onely receiue good or ill, according to the difference of workes here.

FVLKE. 1 The text ſpeaketh of working: meriting and deſeruing are a curſed gloſe beſide the text.

RHEM. 2 24. Giue glory.) So ſay the Heretikes when they derogat from miracles done by Sainctes or their Relikes, phariſaically pretending the glory of God. As though it were not Gods glory, when his Sainctes doe it by his power and vertue. yea his greater glory, that doeth ſuch things by his ſeruants, and by the meaneſt things belonging to them, as Peters ſhadow Act. 5. and Paules napkin. Act 9.

FVLKE. 2 We grant not your Popiſh miracles, (as you would inſinuate,) but ſay of them, as S. Auguſtine ſayd of miracles of the Donatiſtes, Remouentur iſta vel figmenta mendacium hominum, vel portenta fallacium ſpirituum, &c. Away with theſe miracles, which are either fables of lying men, or wonders of deceiuing ſpirits, for either thoſe things, are not true, which are reported, or if Heretikes haue any miracles, we are the rather to take heed of them. But true miracles that God worketh by his Sainctes, to confirme the trueth taught in the Scriptures, wee imbrace and acknowledge to the glory of God. Miracles.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. IX.

RHEM. 3 6. Made clay.) Chriſt that could haue cured this man by his onely wil or word, yet vſed certaine creatures as his inſtruments in working, and diuers circumſtances and ceremonies, clay, water, anoynting, waſhing, &c. No maruel then that he and his Church vſe ſuch diuerſities of Sacraments and ceremonies externall in curing our ſoules. External ceremonies.

FVLKE. 3 We marueile not, that Chriſt and his Church vſeth ſuch Sacraments, and externall ceremonies in curing our ſoules, as be of Chriſtes inſtitution. But wee marueile howe any man dare make medicines for curing of ſoules, that they neuer learned of the heauenly phiſition. Superſtitious preſumption.

RHEM. 4 22. Put out of the Synagogues.) The Heretikes vntruely tranſlate here (& v. 35.) Excommunicate: to make the ſimple conceiue the Churches Excommunication to be no other, or no better, or no more rightly vſed againſt them, then this caſting out of the Synagogue of ſuch as confeſſed our Sauiour. They might as well haue tranſlated for Synagogue, Church: for the Old Teſtament, the new: for Law, grace: for fleſh, ſpirit: for Moyſes, Chriſt. For no leſſe difference is there betweene caſting out of the Synagogue, and Excommunication. Beſides that, not euery one which was not of the Iewes Synagogue, was therefore out of the communion of the Faithful, many true beleeuers being in other parts of the world not ſubiect to the Iewes Synogogue, Law, nor Sacraments. And therefore it was not all one to be out of the Synagogue, and to be excommunicated. as now, whoſoeuer is out of the Churches communion, either by his owne will, or for his iuſt deſerts thruſt out of it by the ſpiritual Magiſtrate, he is quite abandoned out of all the ſocietie of Sainctes in heauen and earth, ſo long as he ſo continueth. Heretical tranſlation. Caſting out the Synagogue. The Churches excommunication. See in the Annot. Matt. 18, 17.

As for the cauſe of thruſting this poore man and ſuch other out of the Synagogue, and excommunicating Heretikes, there is as great oddes as betwixt heauen and hell he being vſed ſo for folowing Chriſt and his Church, theſe for forſaking Chriſt and his Church. Some more agreement there is betweene that corrupt ſentence of the Iewes againſt the followers of Chriſt, and the pretended excommunication executed againſt Catholike men by our Heretikes. although in trueth there is no great reſemblance. For, the Iewes though they abuſed their power ſometimes, yet had they authoritie in deede by Gods Lawe ſo to puniſh contemners of their Law, and therefore it was feared and reſpected euen of good men. But the excommunication vſed by Heretikes againſt Catholikes or any offenders, is not to bee reſpected at all, being no more but a ridiculous vſurpation of the Churches right and faſhion of the ſame, for, out of their Synagogues all faithful men ought to flee, and not tary to be thruſt out: according to the warning giuen againſt Core and Dathan. Bee ye ſeparated from their tabernacles, leſt you be wrapped in their ſinnes. The Heretikes ridiculous Excommunication.

FVLKE. 4 Many wordes to litle purpoſe. Our tranſlation hath not ſimply excommunicate, but adding, out of the ſynagogue. And the Iewes before Chriſt, had the ſame diſcipline that the Church now hath, of caſting them out of the fellowſhip of the faithfull, that for their diſobedience deſerued it. The true Church onely hath true excommunication, the heretical aſſemblies, ſuch as the Popiſh Church is, counterfeit cenſures: Whoſe bleſſings God curſeth, and bleſſeth their curſings. As the ſtate of England which the Pope hath curſed, God hath euer ſince wonderfully bleſſed. And the Spaniſh Nauie being the power of all Papiſtrie, which the Pope bleſſed, had the curſe of God following it vntil it was almoſt all deſtroyed.

CHAP. X.

He continueth his talke to the Phariſees, ſhewing that they and all other that wil not enter in by him, are Wolues: and that they which heare them, are not the true ſheepe. 11 But that him ſelfe is the good Paſtor, and therefore to ſaue the ſheepe from theſe wolues, he will yeelde his life: which otherwiſe no might of theirs could take from him: foretelling alſo his Reſurrection, and vocation of the Gentiles. 22 Againe an other time, he telleth theſe Iewes openly, that they are not of his ſheepe, and that no might of theirs ſhall take from him his true ſheepe, becauſe hee is God, euen as his Father is God. 31 Which by his miracles and by Scripture he ſheweth to be no blaſphemy: and they in vaine ſeeking to ſtone and to apprehend him, 40 he goeth out to the place where Iohn Baptiſt had giuen open witneſſe of him.

FVLKE. 1 Caluine and Luther had lawfull calling both of God and the Church. But the lineall ſucceſſion of Catholike Biſhops in euery countrey, is not neceſſary. For many heretikes haue ſucceeded good Biſhops, many good Biſhops haue ſucceeded heretikes in line and place, but not in doctrine. It is the ſucceſſion of doctrine therefore, that is to be regarded; and not of place or perſons: and that is the true meaning of all the doctors which you quote. Irenæus ſpeaketh of continuance of doctrine, from the Apoſtles vnto his time, againſt the new heretikes Valentinus and Marcion. So doeth Tertullian againſt the ſame, and all other heretikes that were before his time. Cyprian ſpeaketh againſt them which without lawfull calling, thruſt themſelues into the office of Biſhops. S. Thankeſgiuing to God, for reſtitution of the Temple, after the horrible prophanation thereof, is a thing approued by Gods Lawe: but a memorial thereof, is an indifferent ceremonie, which was not inſtituted by Ezechias, after the prophanation of the Temple by Achaz and Vrias, not by Ioſias, after the ſame was moſt horribly polluted by Manaſſes and Amon, nor by Zorobabel and Ieſus, Eſdras or Nehemias, after it was reedified, when it had bene vtterly deſtroyed by the Chaldees. As for your Popiſh halowing of Churches hath nothing like vnto it but the name, the vaine ſhadow whereof pleaſeth you ſo much, that contrary to your cuſtome and profeſſion, you are bold to tranſlate the Greeke Encænia (which your vulgar Latine text reteineth) Dedication, and durſt not tranſlate Scenopegia, cap. 7. the feaſt of Tabernacles. 6 As he heard therfore that he was ſicke, then

A Certaine man was ſicke, named Lazarus, of Bethanie, the towne of Mary and her ſiſter Martha.

2 (It was that Mary which anointed the Lorde with ointment, and wiped his feete with her haire, whoſe brother Lazarus was ſicke.)

3 Therefore his ſiſter ſent vnto him, ſaying, Lorde, beholde, hee whom thou loueſt is ſicke.

4 When Ieſus heard that, hee ſaide, This infirmitie is not vnto death, but for the glory of God: that the Sonne of God might bee glorefied thereby.

5 Ieſus loued Martha and her ſiſter, and Lazarus.

6 When he had heard therefore that he was ſicke, then he taried in the ſame place two dayes.

7 Then after this he ſaith to his Diſciples, Let vs goe into Iewrie againe.

8 The Diſciples ſay to him, Rabbi, nowe the Iewes ſought to ſtone thee: & goeſt thou thither againe?

9 IESVS anſwered, Are there not twelue houres of the day? If a man walke in the day, he ſtumbleth not: becauſe he ſeeth the light of this world:

10 But if he walke in the night hee ſtumbleth, becauſe the light is not in him.

11 Theſe things he ſaid: and after this he ſaith to them, Lazarus our friende ſleepeth: but I goe that I may raiſe him from ſleepe.

12 His diſciples therefore ſaid, Lord, if he ſleepe, he ſhal be ſafe.

13 But IESVS ſpake of his death: & they thought that hee ſpake [c] of the ſleeping of ſleepe.

14 Then therefore IESVS ſaide to them plainely, Lazarus is dead:

15 And I am glad for your ſake, that you may beleeue, becauſe I was not there. but let vs goe to him.

16 Thomas therefore, who is called Didymus, ſaide to his condiſciples, Let vs alſo goe, to die with him.

17 IESVS therefore came, and found him now hauing bene foure dayes in the graue.

18 (And Bethánia was nigh to Hieruſalem about fiftene furlongs.)

19 And many of the Iewes were come to Martha and Marie, to comfort them concerning their brother.

20 Martha therefore when ſhe heard that IESVS was come, went to meete him: but Marie ſate at home.

21 Martha therefore ſaid to IESVS, Lord if thou hadſt been here, my brother had not died, 22 But now alſo I know that what things ſoeuer thou ſhalt aske of God, God will giue thee.

23 IESVS ſaith to her, Thy brother ſhall riſe againe.

24 Martha ſaith to him, I knowe that hee ſhal riſe againe in the reſurrection, in the laſt day.

25 IESVS ſaid to her, I am the reſurrection and the life: he that beleeueth in mee, although he be dead, ſhal liue.

26 And euery one that liueth, and beleeueth in mee, ſhall not die for euer, Beleeueſt thou this?

27 She ſaith to him, Yea Lord, I haue beleeued that thou art CHRIST the Sonne of God that art come into this world.

28 And when ſhe had ſaide theſe things, ſhe went, & called Marie her ſiſter ſecretely, ſaying, The Maiſter is come, and calleth thee.

29 She, ſicke, hee abode two dayes ſtill in the ſame place where he was.

7 Then after that, ſaith hee to his diſciples, Let vs goe into Iurie againe.

8 His diſciples ſay vnto him, Maſter, the Iewes lately ſought to ſtone thee, and goeſt thou thither againe?

9 Ieſus anſwered, Are there not twelue houres in the day? If any man walke in the day, he ſtumbleth not, becauſe he ſeeth the light of this world.

10 But if a man walke in the night, he ſtumbleth, becauſe there is no light in him.

11 Theſe things ſaide hee, and after that hee ſaith vnto them, Our friende Lazarus ſleepeth, but I goe, that I may awake him out of ſleepe.

12 Then ſaid his diſciples, Lord, if he ſleepe, he ſhall doe well ynough.

13 Howbeit, Ieſus ſpake of his death: but they thought that hee had ſpoken of taking of reſt in ſleepe.

14 Then ſaid Ieſus vnto them plainely, Lazarus is dead:

15 And I am glad for your ſakes that I was not there (becauſe ye may beleeue:) Neuertheleſſe, let vs goe vnto him.

16 Then ſaid Thomas, which is called Didymus, vnto his fellowdiſciples, Let vs alſo goe, that we may die with him.

17 Then when Ieſus came, he found that hee had lien in his graue foure dayes already.

18 (Bethanie was nigh vnto Hieruſalem, about fifteene furlongs off:)

19 And many of the Iewes came to Martha and Mary, to comfort them ouer their brother.

20 Martha, as ſoone as ſhee heard that Ieſus was comming, went and met him: but Mary ſate ſtill in the houſe.

21 Then ſaide Martha vnto Ieſus, Lorde, if thou haddeſt bene here, my brother had not died.

22 But euen nowe I knowe, that whatſoeuer thou wilt aske of God, God will giue it thee.

23 Ieſus ſaith vnto her, Thy brother ſhal riſe againe.

*25 Ieſus ſaid vnto her, I am the reſurrection, and the * life: hee that beleeueth on mee, yea, though he were dead, yet ſhall hee liue.* Iohn 6.35.

26 And whoſoeuer liueth, and beleeueth on me, ſhall neuer die. Beleeueſt thou this?

27 Shee ſaith vnto him, Yea Lorde, I beleeue that thou art Chriſt the Sonne of God, which ſhould come into the world.

28 And when ſhee had ſo ſaide, ſhee went her way, and called Mary her ſiſter ſecretly, ſaying, The Maſter is come, and calleth for thee.

29 As

29 She, when she heard, riseth quickely, and commeth to him.

30 For IESVS was not yet come into the towne: but hee was yet in that place where Martha had mette him.

31 The Iewes therefore that were with her in the house and did comfort her, when they saw Marie that she rose quickly & went forth, folowed her, saying, That she goeth to the graue, to weepe there.

32 Marie therefore when shee was come where IESVS was, seeing him, fel at his feet, and saith to him, Lorde, if thou hadst been here, my brother had not died.

33 IESVS therfore when he saw her weeping, and the Iewes that were come with her, weeping, he groned in spirit, and troubled himselfe, 34 And said, Where haue you layd him? They say to him, Lord, come and see.

35 And IESVS wept.

36 The Iewes therfore said, Behold how he loued him.

37 But certaine of them saide, Could not he that * opened the eyes of the blinde man, make that this man should not die? Ioh.9,6.

38 IESVS therefore againe groning in him self, commeth to the graue. and it was a caue: and a stone was laid ouer it.

39 IESVS saith, Take away the stone. Martha the sister of him that was dead, saith to him, Lord, now he stinketh, for he is now of foure dayes.

40 IESVS saith to her, Did not I say to thee, that if thou beleeue, thou shalt see the glorie of God?

41 They tooke therefore the stone away And IESVS lifting his eyes vpward, saide, Father, I giue thee thankes that thou hast heard me.

42 And I did knowe that thou doest alwayes heare me, but for the people that standeth about, haue I saide it, that they may beleeue that thou hast sent me.

43 When he had said these things, he cried with a loude voice, Lazarus, come forth.

44 And forthwith he came forth that had been dead, bound feete and hands with winding bands, and his face was tied with a napkin. IESVS said to them, ‡ Loose him, and let him goe.

45 Many therfore of the Iewes that were come to Marie and Martha, and had seen the things that IESVS did, beleeued in him.

46 And certaine of them went to the Pharisees, and tolde them the things that IESVS did.

30 Iesus was not yet come into the towne: but was in that place where Martha met him.

31 The Iewes then which were with her in the house, and comforted her, when they sawe Mary that she rose vp hastily, and went out, followed her, saying, Shee goeth vnto the graue, to weepe there.

32 Then when Mary was come where Iesus was, and saw him, she fell downe at his feete, saying vnto him, Lorde, if thou haddest bene here, my brother had not bene dead.

33 When Iesus therefore sawe her weeping, and the Iewes also weeping which came with her, hee groned in the spirit, and was troubled in himselfe, 34 And said, Where haue ye layd him? They say vnto him, Lord, come, and see.

35 Iesus wept.

36 Then said the Iewes, Beholde howe he loued him.

*37 And some of them saide, Could not this man, * which opened the eyes of the blinde, haue* Ioh.9,6. caused that this man also should not haue died?

38 Iesus therefore againe groning in himselfe, commeth to the graue: It was a caue, and a stone layd on it.

39 Iesus said, Take ye away the stone. Martha, the sister of him that was dead, saith vnto him, Lord, by this time he stinketh: for hee hath bene dead foure dayes.

40 Iesus saith vnto her, Said I not vnto thee, that if thou wouldest beleeue, thou shouldest see the glory of God?

41 Then they tooke away the stone from the place where the dead was layd. And Iesus lift vp his eyes, and said, Father, I thanke thee that thou hast heard me.

42 Howbeit, I knowe that thou hearest mee alwayes: but because of the people which stande by, I said it, that they may beleeue that thou hast sent me.

43 And when he thus had spoken, hee cried with a loud voyce, Lazarus, come forth.

44 And hee that was dead, came foorth, bound hand and foote with graue clothes: and his face was bounde about with a napkin. Iesus saith vnto them, Loose him, and let him goe.

45 Then many of the Iewes which came to Marie, and had seene the things which Iesus did, beleeued on him.

46 But some of them went their wayes to the Pharisees, and told them what Iesus had done.

47 Then gathered the high Priestes and the Pharisees a councell, and said, What doe we? for this man doeth many miracles.

48 If wee let him scape thus, all men will beleeue in him: and the Romanes wil come,& ‡ take away our place and nation.

49 But one of them named Caiphas, being the high priest of that yere, said to them, You know nothing.

50 Neither doe you consider that it is expedient for vs that one man die for the people, and the whole nation perish not.

51 And this he said not of himselfe: but ‖ being the high priest of that yeere, he prophesied that IESVS should die for the nation:

52 And not onely for the nation, but to gather into one the children of God that were dispersed.

53 From that day therefore they deuised to kill him.

54 IESVS therefore walked no more openly among the Iewes, but hee went into the countrie beside the desert vnto a citie that is called Ephrem, and there hee abode with his Disciples.

55 And the Pasche of the Iewes was at hand: and many of the countrie went vp to Hierusalem before the Pasche to sanctifie themselues.

56 They sought IESVS therefore: & they communed one with another, standing in the temple, What thinke you, in that hee is not come to the festiuall day? And the chiefe Priests and Pharisees had giuen commandement, that if any man should know where he was, he should tel, that they might apprehend him.

leeue on him, and the Romanes shall come, and take away both our roome, and the people.

49 And one of them, named Caiaphas, being the high Priest that same yeere, said vnto them, Ye perceiue nothing at all,

*50 * Nor consider that it is expedient for vs, that one man should die for the people, and not that all the nation perish.* Iohn 14.8.

51 This spake he not of himselfe: but being high Priest that same yeere, hee prophesied that Iesus should die for that nation:

52 And not for that nation onely, but that also he should gather together in one the children of God that were scattered abroad.

53 Then from that day forth, they tooke counsell together for to put him to death,

54 Iesus therefore walked no more openly among the Iewes: but went his way thence vnto a countrey nigh to a wildernesse, into a citie which is called Ephraim, and there continued with his disciples.

55 And the Iewes Easter was nigh at hand, and many went out of the countrey vp to Hierusalem before the Easter, to purifie themselues.

56 Then sought they for Iesus, and spake among themselues, as they stoode in the temple, What thinke yee, seeing hee commeth not to the feast day?

57 Both the high Priests and the Pharisees had giuen a commaundement, that if any man knew where he were, he should shew it, that they might take them.

RHEM. 2 51. Being the high Priest.) *Maruell not that Christ preserueth his trueth in the Church as well by the vnworthy as the worthy Prelates thereof: the gifts of the Holy Ghost following their Order or office, so we see here in Caiphas, and not their merits or person. And if this man being many wayes wicked, and in part an vsurper, and the Law and Priesthood being to decline and to giue place to Christs new ordinance, had yet some assistance of God for ministerance of trueth which himself meant not, nor knew not: how much more may we be assured, that Christ will not leaue Peters seate, * whose faith he promised should neuer faile, though the persons which occupie the same, were as ill as the blasphemous and malitious mouthes of Heretikes doe affirme?* The priuiledge of the office and order, though in a wicked person. Luc. 22. 31.

FVLKE 2 Peters seate hath no priuiledge by Christ his prayer, for diuers bishops of Rome, Antioch and Alexandria haue bene heretikes. As many high priests were idolaters and Sadduces, as this Cayaphas was. But God would haue this saying of that high priest to bee prophetical, that the Iewes should haue lesse excuse of their obstinate incredulity, when the cause and vertue of his death was vttered by their owne high priest, though he spake in another meaning. But this is a miserable argument: Cayaphas prophesied once by speciall direction of the holy Ghost, which touched his mouth (sayth Chrysostome) not his heart: Ergo the Romish Cayaphas cannot ere. But for the priuiledge of Peter, see Luc. 22. sect. 11. Peters seate.

47 And if any man heare my wordes, and keepe them not: I doe not iudge him, for I came not to iudge the world, but to saue the world.

48 He that despiseth mee, and receiueth not my wordes, hath that iudgeth him. the word that I haue spoken, that shall iudge him in the last day.

49 Because of my selfe I haue not spoken, but the Father that sent me, he gaue me commaundement what I should say, and what I should speake.

50 And I knowe that his commaundement is life euerlasting. The things therefore that I speake: as the Father sayd to me, so doe I speake.

*might be fulfilled, which he spake, * Lorde, who hath beleeued our saying? and to whom hath the arme of the Lord bene declared?* Esa.53.1. rom.10.16.

39 Therefore could they not beleeue, because that Esaias sayd againe,

*40 * He hath blinded their eyes, and hardened their hart, that they should not see with their eyes, and lest they should vnderstand with their heart, and should be conuerted, and I should heale them.* Esa.6.9. matth.13.14. marke 4.12. luke 8.11. actes 28.26.

41 Such things sayd Esaias, when he saw his glory, and spake of him.

42 Neuertheless, among the chiefe rulers also many beleeued on him: but because of the Pharisees they did not confesse him, lest they should be put out of the Synagogue.

*43 * For they loued the praise of men, more then the praise of God.* Iohn 5.44.

44 Iesus cried, and sayd, He that beleeueth on me, beleeueth not on mee, but on him that sent mee.

45 And hee that seeth me, seeth him that sent me.

*46 I am come, a * light into the worlde, that whosoeuer beleeueth on mee, should not abide in darkenesse.* Iohn 8.12. and 9.39.

*47 * And if any man heare my wordes, and beleeue not, I iudge him not: For I came not to iudge the world, but to saue the world.* Iohn 3.17.

*48 He that refuseth mee, and receiueth not my wordes, hath one that iudgeth him: * the word that I haue spoken, the same shall iudge him in the last day.* Marke 16.16.

49 For I haue not spoken of my selfe: but the Father which sent mee, hee gaue mee a commandement what I should say, and what I should speake.

50 And I knowe that his commaundement is life euerlasting: Whatsoeuer I speake therefore, euen as the Father bade mee, so I speake.

CHAP. XIII.

At his last supper, to giue his farewell, and that in most wonderfull louing manner, 4 he washed his Disciples feete, 6 beginning with Peter, 8 (shewing how necessary it is for vs to be washed by him in Baptisme, and needefull also after Baptisme) 12 and by this example teaching them all humilitie one toward another. 21 Then he foretelleth, that (notwithstanding his exceeding loue toward them) one euen of them will betray him, meaning Iudas, 22 as to Iohn hee secretly sheweth. After whose going out, he reioiceth and sayth that euen now the houre is come, 34 commendeth vnto them to loue together, as a new commandement, 36 and foretelleth Peter who presumed too much of his owne strength, that euen this night he will denie him thrise.

MAVNDY THVRSDAY. Mt. 26, 1. Mt. 14, 1. Luc. 22, 1.

AND before the festiual day of Pasche, IESVS knowing that his houre was come that he should passe out of this worlde to his Father: whereas he had loued his that were in the worlde, vnto the ende he loued them.

2 And when ‡ supper was done, whereas the deuill now had put into the hart of Iudas Iscariot the sonne of Simon to betray him:

3 Knowing that the Father gaue him all things into his hands, and that he came from God, and goeth to God.

4 He riseth from supper, and laieth aside his garments, and hauing taken a towel, girded himselfe.

5 After that, he put water into a bason, and ‖ began to wash the feete of the Disciples, and to wipe them with the towel wherwith he was girded.

6 He commeth therfore to Simon Peter. And Peter sayth to him, Lord, doest thou wash my feete?

7 IESVS answered and said to him, That which I doe, thou knowest not now, hereafter thou shalt know.

8 Peter saith to him, Thou shalt not wash my feete for euer. IESVS answered him, If I wash thee not, thou shalt not haue part with me.

9 Simon Peter saith to him, Lord, not only my feete, but also hands, and head.

10 IESVS saith to him, He that is washed, needeth not but ‖ to wash his feete, but is cleane wholy. And you are cleane, but not al.

11 For he knewe who he was that would betray him, therefore hee sayd, Yee are not cleane all.

12 Therefore, after he had washed their feete, & taken his garments, being set down, againe hee said to them, Knowe you what I haue done to you?

13 You call me, Master, and Lord: and you say well, for I am so.

14 If then I haue washed your feete, Lord and Master, you also ought to wash one an others feete.

‡ By supper, hee meaneth the eating of the Paschall lambe. for, the institution of the B. Sacrament was after this.

BEfore the feast of the Passeouer, when Iesus knewe that his houre was come that hee should depart out of this world vnto the Father, when he loued his owne which were in the world, vnto the end he loued them.* Matth. 26. 1. marke 14. 1. luke 22. 1.

2 † And when it was now supper (after that the deuill had put in the heart of Iudas Iscariot Simons sonne to betray him) † Some reade, And when supper was ended.

3 Iesus knowing that the Father had giuen all things into his handes, and that he was come from God, and went to God:

4 He riseth from supper, and layeth aside his vpper garments: and when he had taken a towel, he girded himselfe.

5 After that, he powreth water into a bason, and began to wash the disciples feete, and to wipe them cleane with the towel wherewith hee was girded.

6 Then commeth he to Simon Peter: and Peter sayth vnto him, Lord, doest thou wash my feete?

7 Iesus answered, and sayd vnto him, What I doe, thou wotest not nowe: but thou shalt knowe hereafter.

8 Peter sayth vnto him, Thou shalt neuer wash my feete. Iesus answered him, If I wash thee not, thou hast no part with me.

9 Simon Peter sayth vnto him, Lorde, not my feete onely, but also my handes, and my head.

10 Iesus saith to him, He that is washed, needeth not saue to wash his feete, but is cleane euery whit: And ye are cleane, but not all.

11 For hee knewe who it was that should betray him: therefore saide hee, Ye are not all cleane.

12 So after hee had washed their feete, and receiued his clothes, and was set downe againe, he said vnto them, Wote you what I haue done to you?

13 Ye call me Master, and Lord, and ye say well: for so I am.

14 If I then your Lord and Master haue washed your feete, ye also ought to wash one anothers feete.

15 For I haue giuen you an example, that as I haue done to you, so you doe also.

16 Amen, amen I say to you, a seruant is not greater then his lord, neither is an Apostle greater then he that sent him.

17 If you know these things, you shall be blessed if you doe them.

18 I speake not of you all: I know whom I haue chosen. But that the Scripture may be fulfilled, He that eateth bread with me, shall lift vp his heele against me. Ps.40,10.

19 From this time I tell you, before it come to passe: that when it shall come to passe, you may beleeue, that I am he.

20 Amen, amen, I say to you, he that receiueth any that I send, receiueth mee: and he that receiueth me, receiueth him that sent me.

21 When IESVS had sayd these things, he was troubled in spirit: and hee protested, and sayd: * Amen, amen I say to you: that one of you shall betray me. Mt.26,18. Mr.14,16. Luc.22,21.

22 The disciples therfore looked one vpon another, doubting of whom he spake.

23 There was therfore one of his disciples leaning in the bosome of IESVS, hee whom IESVS loued.

24 Therefore Simon Peter beckeneth to him, and sayd to him, Who is it of whom hee speaketh?

25 He therefore leaning vpon the breast of IESVS, saith to him, Lord, who is he?

26 IESVS answered: He it is to whom I shall reach the dipped bread. And when he had dipped the bread, he gaue it to Iudas Iscariot Simons sonne.

27 And after the morsell, then Satan entred into him. And IESVS saith to him, That which thou doest, doe it quickly.

28 But no man knew of those that sate at table to what purpose he said this vnto him.

29 For certaine thought, because Iudas had the ‡ purse, that IESVS had said to him, Bie those things which are needefull for vs to the festiuall day: or that hee should giue some thing to the poore.

‡Christ had some prouision before hand giuen him by the Collections of the faithfull, which was vsed both in his owne necessities, & bestowed vpon the poore.

30 He therfore hauing receiued the morsel, incontinent went forth. And it was night.

31 When he therefore was gone foorth, IESVS said, Now the Sonne of man is glorified, and God is glorified in him.

32 If God be glorified in him, God also will glorifie him in himselfe, and incontinent will he glorifie him.

33 Little children, yet a little while I am with you. You shall seeke me, and * as I said to the Iewes, Whither I goe, you cannot come: to you also I say now. Io.7,34.

17 If ye know these things, happie are ye if ye doe them.

*18 I speake not of you all, I knowe whom I haue chosen: but that the Scripture may be fulfilled, * He that eateth bread with mee, hath lift vp his heele against me.* Psal.41.10.

19 Now tell I you before it come, that when it is come to passe, yee might beleeue that I am hee.

*20 Verely, verely I say vnto you, he that receiueth whomsoeuer I sende, receiueth me: and hee that receiueth me, receiueth him that sent mee. Matth.10.40. luke 10.16.

*21 When Iesus had thus sayd, he was troubled in spirit, and testified, and sayd, Verely, verely I say vnto you, that one of you shall betray mee. Matth.26.21. mark.14.18. luke 22.21.

22 Then the disciples looked one on another, doubting of whom he spake.

23 There was one of Iesus disciples leaning on Iesus bosome, euen hee whom Iesus loued.

24 To him beckened Simon Peter therefore, that he should aske who it should be of whom hee spake.

25 He then, when he leaned on Iesus breast, sayd vnto him, Lord, who is it?

26 Iesus answered, He it is to whom I shall giue a sop, when I haue dipped it. And when hee had dipped the sop, hee gaue it to Iudas Iscariot the sonne of Simon.

27 And after † the sop, Satan entred into him. Then sayd Iesus vnto him, That thou doest, doe quickely. †he had taken 29 Some of them thought, because Iudas had the bagge, that Iesus had sayd vnto him, Buy those things that wee haue needs of against the feast: or that hee should giue some thing to the poore.

30 As soone then as he had receiued the sop, he went immediatly out: and it was night.

31 Therefore, when he was gone out, Iesus sayd, Now is the Sonne of man glorified: and God is glorified in him.

32 If God bee glorified in him, God shall also glorifie him in himselfe, and shal straightway glorifie him.

*33 Little children, yet a little while am I with you. * Yee shall seeke mee: and as I sayd vnto the Iewes, Whither I goe,* thither can yee not come: to you also say I now. Iohn 7.34.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. XIII.

RHEM. 1 5 Began to wash.) This lotion was not onely of curtesie, such as the Iewes vsed toward their ghests, nor only for example of humilitie: but for mystery and signification of the great purity that is required before we come to receiue the holy Sacrament, which straight after this washing was to be instituted and giuen to the Apostles. Ambros. li. 3. de Sacra. c. 1. Bernard. de cœna Domini Serm. 1.

Puritie required to the receiuing of the B. Sacrament.

FVLKE, 1 The doctrine is very true, yet not so aptly gathered out of the text.

RHEM. 2 10 To wash his feete.) The foulnesse of the feete, when all the rest is cleane, signifieth the earthly affections and relikes of former sinnes remitted: which are to be cleansed by deuout actes of charitie and humilitie, as S. Ambrose lib. 3. de Sacra. cap. 1. and S. Augustine epist. 108. & tract. 56. in Io. doe note. And because this was onely a ceremonie, and yet had such force, both nowe and afterward vsed of the Apostles, that it purged smaller offences and filthinesse of the soule, as S. Ambrose and Saint Bernard gather, it may not seeme strange that holy water and such ceremonies may remit veniall sinnes.

Veniall sinnes taken away by sacred ceremonies.

Aug. & Ber. loc. citat.

FVLKE. 2 That the reliques of former sinnes remitted, are to be clensed by deuout actes of charitie and humilitie, none of the fathers whom you cite, doe teach in any one worde. Ambrose contendeth for a ceremonie of washing the feete, of them that are newly baptized, which the Church of Rome did not obserue in that time. And answering this obiection why the feete neede to be washed, when all sinne is washed away in Baptisme, he saith: Because Adam was supplanted by the deuill, and poison was shed vpon his feete, therefore thou washest thy feete, that in the same part, in which the serpent deceiued, greater aide of sanctification may be added, that he may not supplant thee afterward. Therefore thou washest thy feete, that thou mayest wash away the poyson of the serpent. Also it profiteth vnto humilitie, that we should not be ashamed in a mysterie, of that we doe not disdaine in obedience. This saith Ambrose to maintaine the ceremonie of washing of feete after Baptisme. August. epist. 198. gathereth no more of this text, but that Peter was baptized, and denieth that he did penance, as they which were called penitents vsed to doe for hainous offences: but as all Christians had neede to repent, or to doe penance daily for their daily sinnes and transgressions, which he proueth by the ordinary vse of fasting, almes, and prayer, in which wee say, forgiue vs as we forgiue, thereby manifesting that we haue sinnes to be forgiuen, and with these wordes humbling our selues, we cease not after a sort, to doe daily penance: but of clensing of sinnes remitted he speaketh not. Tr. 56. in Ioan. he saith: that in Baptisme a man is washed wholly, feete and all. But when he liueth afterward among men, he treadeth on the earth, therefore humane affections, without the which in this mortalitie we liue not, are as it were feete, when we are affected with humane matters, and so affected, that if we say we haue no sinne, we deceiue our selues, and there is no truth in vs. Therefore he washeth our feete daily, which maketh intercession for vs. and that we haue neede daily to wash our feete, that is, to direct the waies of spirituall steps, we confesse euen in the Lords prayer when we say, forgiue vs our debts, as we forgiue our debters: for if we acknowledge our sinnes as it is written, verily he which washed his disciples feete, is faithfull & iust to forgiue vs our sinnes, and to clense vs from all sinne, that is, euen to our feete, in which we are conuersant on the earth. What impudent merchants are these, to quote these places for clensing of sinnes remitted? And if this ceremonie had bene vsed of the Apostles for purging of small offences and filthinesse of the soule (which is false) yet why should holy water and such ceremonies, as the Apostles neuer knew, remit veniall sinnes as they call them? What Ambrose saith you haue heard before, but if Bernards authority in this case be sufficient, you must make ablution of feete the eight Sacrament. For he affirmeth and endeuoureth to proue, that it is a Sacrament, as Ambrose doth, that it is a ceremonie meete to be reteyned, and continually to be vsed after baptisme.

Satisfaction for sinne.

Holy water and like ceremonies.

The 8. Sacrament.

RHEM. 3 14 You also ought.) Our Master neuer spake plainer, nor seemed to command more precisely, either of Baptisme or the Eucharist or any other Sacrament: and yet by the Churches iudgement directed by the holy Ghost, we know this to be no sacrament nor necessarie ceremonie, and the other to be. And why doe they beleeue the Church in this, and doe not credite her affirming the chalice not to be necessary for the communicants?

The Church defineth which are Sacraments and which not &c.

FVLKE. 3 Not onely by the Churches authoritie, which neuer accepted this ceremonie for a sacrament, but by the Scripture it selfe, we know that it is none: because it is no seale of Gods grace, nor hath any promise annexed vnto it, as Baptisme and the Lords Supper hath. Therefore it was onely an example of humilitie, as the plaine words of Christ are, although by occasion of that example, other doctrine was inferred of our spiritual washing by Christ, once wholy vnto regeneration, and daily of our feete for our daily transgressions. Wherefore there is no reason why we should beleeue the Popish church, that the cup is not necessarie for the communicants contrary to the manifest institution of Christ, and the practise of the Apostles expressed in the Scriptures.

The authoritie of the Church.

RHEM. 34 A new commandement) The commandement of mutuall loue was giuen before, but manifoldly misconstrued, and abridged by the Iewes to friends onely, to this life onely, for earthly respects onely: but Christ reneweth it and enlargeth it after the forme of his owne loue toward vs, and giueth grace to fulfill it.

CHAP. XIIII.

They being sad, because he said that he must goe from them, he comforteth them many wayes, as putting them in hope to follow him vnto the same place. So that they keepe his commandements. He teacheth them that himself is the way thither according to his Humanitie, and also the end according to his Diuinitie, no lesse then his Father, because he is consubstantiall.

15 promising also to send vnto them, (that is, to his Church) the holy Ghost to be after his departure with them for euer.

20 That day shall ye knowe, that I am in my father, and you in me, and I in you.

21 He that hath my commaundements, and keepeth them, the same is he that loueth me: and

And

he

And he that loueth me, shall be loued of my father: and I will loue him, and wil manifest my selfe to him.☞

22 Iudas saith to him, not that Iscariote, Lorde, what is done, that thou wilt manifest thy selfe to vs, and not to the world?

THE GOSPEL vpon Whitsunday, And in a votiue Masse of the holy Ghost.

23 IESVS answered, and said to him, If any loue me, he will keepe my worde, and my father will loue him, and wee will come to him, and will make abode with him.

24 He that loueth mee not, keepeth not my wordes. And the worde which you haue heard, is not mine: but his that sent mee, the Fathers.

25 These things haue I spoken to you abiding with you.

26 But the Paraclete the holy Ghost, whom the Father will send in my name, hee shall ‡ teach you all things, and suggest vnto you all things whatsoeuer I shall say to you.

‡ See the Annot. vpon the 16. chap. vers. 12. and 13.

27 Peace I leaue to you, my peace I giue to you. not as the world giueth, doe I giue to you. Let not your heart be troubled, nor feare.

28 You haue heard that I saide to you, I goe and I come to you. If you loued me, you would be glad verily, that I goe to the Father: becausé the ‖ Father is greater then I.

29 And nowe I haue tolde you before it come to passe: that when it shall come to passe, you may beleeue.

30 Now I will not speake many thinges with you. for the Prince of this world commeth. and in me he hath not any thing.

31 But that the world may knowe that I loue the Father: and as the Father hath giuen me commandement, so doe I: ☜ Arise, let vs goe hence.

he that loueth me shalbe loued of my father, and I will loue him, and will shewe mine owne selfe to him.

22 Iudas saith vnto him, not Iudas Iscariot, Lord, what is done, that thou wilt shewe thy selfe vnto vs, and not vnto the world?

23 Iesus answered, and saide vnto him, If a man loue me, he will keepe my sayings. and my father will loue him, and we wil come vnto him, and make our dwelling with him.

24 He that loueth mee not, keepeth not my sayings, and the word which ye heare, is not mine, but the fathers which sent me.

25 These things haue I spoken vnto you, being yet present with you.

26 But the comforter which is the holy Ghost, whom the father will sende in my name, he shall teach you all things, and bring all things to your remembrance, whatsoeuer I haue saide vnto you.

27 Peace I leaue with you, my peace I giue vnto you: not as the worlde giueth, giue I vnto you: let not your heart be troubled, neither let it feare.

28 Yee haue heard howe I saide vnto you, I goe away, and come againe vnto you, If yee loued me, ye would verily reioyce, because I said, I goe vnto the father: for the father is greater then I.

29 And nowe haue I shewed you before it come to passe, that when it is come to passe, yee might beleeue.

30 Hereafter will I not talke many wordes vnto you: for the prince of this world commeth, and hath nothing in me.

31 But that the world may knowe that I loue the father: and as the father gaue me commandement, euen so doe I: Rise, let vs goe hence.

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. XIIII.

RHEM. 1 14 Loue mee, keepe my commandements.) It is then possible both to loue Christ, and to keepe his commaundements.

FVLKE. 1 It is possible to loue Christ, and to keepe his commandements by his grace, but not perfectly, because hee giueth to no man perfection of strength in this frailtie, Rom. 7. 18. &c. Gal. 5. 17. &c. It is not possible to keepe the law perfectly.

RHEM. 2 16 Paraclete, that he may.) Paraclete by interpretation is either a comforter, or an aduocate: and therefore to translate it by any one of them onely, is perhaps to abridge the sense of this place.

FVLKE. 2 If you will not translate any words that haue diuerse significations, you must leaue fiue hundred more vntranslated then you haue done.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. XIIII.

RHEM. 3 12 Greater then these.) *S. Chrysostome in a whole booke against the Pagans proueth that this was fulfilled not only in Peters shadow, and Pauls garments, which as we read in the * Acts, healed infirmities: but also by the Relikes and monuments of Saincts, namely of S. Babylas, of whom he there treateth: thereby inferring that Christ is God, who could and did performe these wonderfull wordes, by the very ashes of his seruants. The Protestants cleane contrary, as patrones of the Pagans infidelitie, as though our Sauiour had promised these and the like miraculous workes in vaine, either not meaning or not able to fulfill them, so doe they discredite all the approued histories of the Church concerning miracles wrought by Saincts, namely that* S. Gregorie Thaumaturgus  remoued a mountaine, the miracles of* S. Paul the eremite and S. Hilarion written by S. Hierom, the miracles of S. Martin written by Seuerus Sulpitius, the miracles testified by S. Aug. de ciuit. Dei, the miracles approued by S. Gregoric in his Dialogues, the miracles reported by S. Beda in his Ecclesiasticall storie and liues of Saincts: and all other miracles neuer so faithfully recorded in Ecclesiasticall writers. In all which things aboue their reach of reason and nature, they are as litle perswaded and haue no more faith then had the Pagans, against whom S. Chrysostome in the foresaid booke, and S. August. de ciuit. Dei lib. 22. c. 8. and other Fathers heretofore haue written. No man therefore needeth to marueil that the very Image of our Lady, & the like do miracles, euen as Peters shadow did: nor wonder, if such things seeme stranger and greater then those which Christ himselfe did: whereas our Sauiour to put vs out of doubt, saith expressly, that his Saincts shall doe greater things then himselfe did.

We may & must easily beleeue the miracles of Saincts and of their relikes, whē Christ himselfe foretelleth they shall doe such wonderfulthings. lib. de Babyla mart. To. 5.

* Act. 5, 15. 19, 12.

* See Annot. Mat. 17, 20.

The Heretikes vnfaithfulnesse in this point, as the old Pagans.

FVLKE. 3 All miracles that serue to confirme the doctrine deliuered in the holy Scriptures, we receiue and admit, although we be not bound to beleeue any mans report of miracles, but onely the writings of the Apostles and Euangelists. Miracles.

Euangelists. But all miracles that serue to maintaine false doctrine or superstition, which is not taught in the Scriptures, we esteeme as Augustine did of the miracles of the Donatists, that either they were fables, or illusions of euill spirits, by what man soeuer they be recorded, or written. de vnit. Eccl. cap. 16. As for miracles which you affirme to be done by images, if they were not most impudent forgeries (as hath often beene discouered) yet seeing they tend to maintaine idolatrie forbidden expresly by Gods commandement, they ought to moue no Christian man, but so much the more to abhorre those idoles, and that Antichristian sect of Popery that maintaineth them. No man neede to marueile (say you) if they doe miracles. Indeede miracles done by them are not maruels. No marueile if they sweate, when their paper heads be smeared on the inside with hote oyle. No marueile if they bleed at the nose, when blood is powred in at the toppe of their heads. No marueile if they moue their eyes and lips, when a false knaue behinde pulleth the wyers fastened to those deuises by which they moue. No marueile if they speake when a deuilish wretch speaketh in a trunke behinde them. These and such like miracles done by them no man neede to marueile at.

RHEM. 4 16 For euer.) If the holy Ghost had bene promised onely to the Apostles, their successors and the Church after them could not haue chalenged it. but it was promised them for euer. Whereby we may learne, both that the priuileges and promises made to the Apostles were not personall, but pertaining to their offices perpetually: and also that the Church and Pastors in all ages had and haue the same holy Ghost to gouerne them, that the Apostles and Primitiue Church had. The HOLY GHOST is promised to the CHVRCH for euer.

FVLKE. 4 The holy Ghost shall euer remaine with the Church, and with euery true member thereof: Yet not euery true member of the Church, nor euery minister thereof, which is a successor of the Apostles, may challenge all priuileges, that the Apostles had, necessary for conuersion of the world, but not for the perpetuall gouernment of the Church. The Church and ministers therof may erre.

RHEM. 5 17 The spirit of trueth.) They had many particular gifts and graces of the holy Ghost before, and many vertues by the same, as all holy men haue at all times: but the holy Ghost here promised to the Apostles and their successors for euer, is to this vse specially promised, to direct them in all trueth and veritie: and is contrary to the spirit of error, heresie and falshood. And therefore the Church cannot fall to Apostasie or Heresie, or to nothing, as the Aduersaries say. The Spirit of trueth shall stil the CHVRCH alwayes.

FVLKE 5 The true Church of Christ can neuer fall vnto Apostasie, Heresie, or to nothing, but therefore it is an impudent slander, to affirme that we say so. Yet many of the visible Church, shall fall from the faith, into Heresie and Apostasie, 2. Thes. 2. 1. Tim. 4. Slander.

RHEM. 6 28 Father greater then I.) There is no place of Scripture that seemeth any thing so much to make for the Sacramentaries, as this and other in outward shewe of word, seemed to make for the Arians, who denied the equalitie of the Sonne with the Father. Which words yet in deede rightly vnderstood after the Churches sense, make nothing for their false sect, but onely signifie that Christ according to his Manhood was inferior indeed, and that according to his Diuinitie he came of the Father. And if the Heresie or disease of this time were Arianisme, we should stand vpon these places and the like against the Arians, as we now doe vpon others against the Protestants, whose sect is the disease and bane of this time. The Arians alleage as plaine Scripture as the Protestants.

FVLKE. 6] This place is true of the humanitie of Christ, which the Arians blasphemously applied to his diuinitie: which in many other places is proued most plainely, to be equall with his father. So conference of Scriptures, (if the Papists would giue ouer their preiudicate opinions,) would end all controuersies betweene vs: As well, that of the corporall maner of presence of Christ in the Sacrament, as other. For these words, This is my body, must be so vnderstood, as they be not contrary to other places of Scripture, that auouch the truth of Christs humanitie, which cannot stand with their transubstantiation and carnall maner of presence. Conference of Scripture.

CHAP. XV.

He exhorteth them to abide in him (that is, his Church, being the true vine, and not the Synagogue of the Iewes any more) 9 and in his loue, louing one another, and keeping his commandements: 13 shewing how much he accounteth of them, by this that he dieth for them, 15 and reuealeth vnto them the secrets of heauen, 17 and appointeth their fruite to be perpetuall: 18 confirming them also against the persecutions and hatred of the obstinate Iewes.

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. XV.

HEM. I 2 Branch in me.) Chriſt hath ſome branches in his body myſticall that be fruitleſſe, therefore ill liuers alſo may be members of Chriſt and the Church.

Wicked

FVLKE. 1 Wicked men may be members of the visible Church for a time, and so of Christ, being engrafted to Christ Sacramentally, but not indeede. He that bringeth no fruit, cannot be in the Vine (saith Chrysostome) Hom. 75. in Ioan. Although by faith he seemeth to be ioyned to Christ. Euthym. in 15. Ioan. S. Augustine vnderstandeth these branches in respect of the humanitie of Christ. The vine and branches (saith he) be of one nature. Therefore when he was God, of which nature we are not, he was made man, that his humane nature might be a vine whereof we men might be branches. In Ioan. Tr. 80. Wicked men no true members of Christ and his Church.

RHEM. 2 2 That it may bring.) Man may continually increase in iustice and sanctification, so long as he liueth.

FVLKE. 2 The true members of Christ may continually encrease by his grace in the fruites of faith, which are holinesse and righteousnesse.

RHEM. 3 3 Word which I haue.) S. Augustine expoundeth it of the Sacramentall word of Baptisme, and not as Heretikes do, of preaching onely. Tract. 80. in Io.

FVLKE. 3 S. Augustine doth not so expound it, but sheweth how water doth clense in Baptisme, namely by vertue of the word. His words are these, Quare non ait mundi estis, &c. Why doth he not say you are cleane for Baptisme, wherein you are washed? but he saith for the word which I haue spoken vnto you, but because euen in the water, the worde doth clense. Take away the word, and what is the water but water? The word commeth to the element, and it is made a Sacrament, euen the same as it were a visible word, &c. Opus operatum Worke wrought.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. XV.

RHEM. 4 4 Vnlesse you abide.) These conditionall speeches, If you remaine in the vine, If you keepe my commandements, and such like, giue vs to wit that we be not sure to persist or persuere, nor to be saued, but vnder conditions to be fulfilled by vs. August. de corrept. & gra. c. 13. No man sure of perseuerance.

FVLKE. 4 S. Augustine saieth not, that no man can be sure of perseuerance, but that these speeches are vsed by him which knoweth who shall perseuere, that no man through securitie fall into pride or presumption. But of perseuerance he affirmeth, Cap. 12. Primo itaq; homini, &c. To the first man, which in that good in which he was made right, had receiued that he might not sinne, that he might not die, that he might not forsake that good, an aide of perseuerance was giuen, not whereby it should come to passe that he should perseuere, but without the which he could not perseuere by free will. But now, vnto the Saincts predestinated by the grace of God vnto the kingdome of God, not only such an aide of perseuerance is giuen, but such, that euen perseuerance it selfe, is giuen to them, not only that they cannot perseuere without this gift, but also that by this gift they are not but perseuerant. For he not onely said: without me ye can doe nothing, but also he said: You haue not chosen me, but I haue chosen you, and haue appointed you that you may goe and bring forth fruit, and that your fruit may abide. By which words he shewed, that he had giuen them not only iustice, but also perseuerance in it. For when Christ so appointeth them that they goe and bring forth fruit, and that their fruit should abide, who dare be bold to say, peraduenture it shall not abide? All Christians therfore, ought to be assured that they shal remaine in the Vine, keepe his commandements and such like conditions as be required of them. For as S. Augustine saith, He that maketh men good, maketh them also to perseuere in good. Certaintie of saluation.

RHEM. 5 4 Vnlesse it abide.) Whosoeuer by Heresie or Schisme or for any other cause is cut off or separated from the Church, he can doe no meritorious worke to Saluation.

FVLKE. 5 Whosoeuer is not a liuely member of Christ, can doe no good worke, but meritorious to saluation (which is the gift of Gods grace) no man can doe any thing. Merits.

RHEM. 6 10 Keepe my precepts.) This carefull and often admonition of keeping his commandements, proueth that a Christian mans life is not onely or principally in faith, but in good workes. Not only faith.

FVLKE. 6 The iust man, (such as the true Christian man is) shall liue by faith, that is, shalbe iustified before God vnto eternal life by faith only. Which faith, throughout the course of his temporall life, cannot be vnfruitful of good workes, and is neuer alone or solitarie, although a man be iustified before God by faith without workes, Rom. 3. Iustification by faith only.

RHEM. 7 24 If I had.) If the Iewes had not sinned by refusing Christ, in case he had not done greater miracles then any other: then were it a great folly of Catholikes to beleeue Luthers or Caluins new opinions without any miracles at all.

FVLKE. 7 So farre foorth as Luther and Caluine teach nothing but that Christ taught, the Papists are as deepely in sinne in not beleeuing them, as the Iewes, though they worke no miracles: seeing the doctrine they teach, is already confirmed by all the miracles of Christ and his Apostles. Miracles.

RHEM. 26 Whom I will send.) The holy Ghost is sent by the Sonne, therfore he proceedeth from him also, as from the Father: though the late Schismaticall Greekes thinke otherwise.

RHEM. 8 27 You shall giue.) He vouchsafeth to ioyne together the testimonie of the holy Ghost, and of the Apostles: that we may see the testimonie of truesh ioyntly to consist in the holy Ghost and in the Prelats of the Church.

FVLKE. 8 Prouided alwayes, that the Prelats of the Church teach nothing but that which is agreeable to the holy Scriptures, inspired by the holy Ghost.

CHAP. XVI.

The cause why he foretelleth them their persecution by the Iewes is, that they be not afterward scandalized thereat. 6 Though they thinke this heauie newes, it is for their vantage that he departeth, because of the great benefits that they shall receiue by the comming then of the holy Ghost, who shall also be his witnesse against his enemies. 16 Although in this worlde they shall so be persecuted, yet to his heauenly Father they and their prayers made in his name, shall be most acceptable. and at length the childe (that is Christ in all his members) being borne, their ioy shall be such as no persecutor can take from them. 31 Howbeit at this instant of his apprehension, they will all forsake him.

THese things haue I spoken to you, that you be not scandalized.

2 Out of the synagogues they will ‡ cast you: but the houre commeth, that euery one which killeth you, shall thinke that he doeth seruice to God.

3 And these things they will doe to you: because they haue not knowen the Father, nor me.

4 But these things I haue spoken to you: that

THese things haue I said vnto you, because ye should not be offended.

2 They shall put you out of their synagogue: yea, the time commeth, that whosoeuer killeth you, will thinke that he doeth God seruice.

3 And such things will they doe vnto you: because they haue not knowen the father, nether yet me.

4 But these thinges haue I tolde you, that when that when the houre ſhall come, you may remember them, that I told you.

5 But I tolde you not theſe things from the beginning, becauſe I was with you. And now I goe to him that ſent me, and none of you asketh me: Whither goeſt thou?

10 But of iuſtice: becauſe I goe to the Father: and now you ſhall not ſee me.

11 And of iudgement: becauſe the prince of this world is now iudged.

12 ‖Yet many things I haue to ſay to you: but you cannot beare them now.

23 And when the time ſhall come, ye may remember then that I tolde you: Theſe thinges ſaide I not vnto you at the beginning, becauſe I was preſent with you.

5 But nowe I goe my way to him that ſent mee, and none of you asketh mee, Whither goeſt thou?

6 But becauſe I haue ſaide ſuch things vnto you, ſorow hath filled your hearts.

7 Neuertheleſſe I tell you the trueth, it is expedient for you that I goe away: For if I goe not away, that Comforter will not come vnto you: but if I depart, I will ſend him vnto you.

8 And when he is come, he will † rebuke the world of ſinne, and of righteouſneſſe, and of iudgement. † Or, conuince.

9 Of ſinne, becauſe they beleeued not on me.

10 Of righteouſneſſe, becauſe I goe to my father, and ye ſee me no more.

11 Of iudgement, becauſe the prince of this world is iudged already.

12 I haue yet many things to ſay vnto you, but ye cannot beare them away now.

13 Howbeit, when he is come which is the ſpirit of truth, he wil leade you into all trueth. He ſhall not ſpeake of himſelfe: but whatſoeuer hee ſhall heare, that ſhall he ſpeake: and he will ſhewe you things to come.

14 He ſhall glorifie me, for he ſhall receiue of mine, and ſhall ſhew vnto you.

15 All things that the father hath, are mine: therfore ſaid I vnto you, that he taketh of mine, and ſhall ſhew vnto you.

16 After a while, and ye ſhall not ſee me: and againe after a while, and ye ſhall ſee me: for I goe to the father.

17 Then ſaid ſome of his diſciples betweene themſelues, What is this that he ſaith vnto vs, After a while, and ye ſhal not ſee me, and againe, After a while, and ye ſhall ſee me: and, That I goe to the father,

18 They ſayd therefore, What is this that he ſaith, After a while? wee can not tell what hee ſaith.

19 Ieſus perceiued that they would aske him, and ſaide vnto them, Doe yee enquire among your ſelues of that I ſaide, After a while, and ye ſhal not ſee me: and againe, After a while, and ye ſhall ſee me?

20 Verily, verily I ſay vnto you, that yee ſhall weepe and lament, but the world ſhall reioyce: ye ſhall ſorow, but your ſorow ſhalbe turned to ioy.

21 A woman, when ſhe trauaileth, hath ſorowe, becauſe her houre is come: but as ſoone as ſhe is deliuered of the childe, ſhe remembreth no more the anguiſh, for ioy that a man is borne into the world.

22 And ye now therefore haue ſorow: but I will ſee you againe, and your hearts ſhall reioyce, and your ioy no man taketh from you.

THE GOSPEL vpon the 5. Sunday after Easter.

23 And in that day me you shall not aske any thing. Amen, amen I say to you, if you aske the Father any thing ‡ in my name, hee will giue it you.

24 Vntill nowe you haue not asked any thing in my name. Aske & you shall receiue: that your ioy may be full.

25 These things in prouerbes I haue spoken to you. The houre commeth when in prouerbes I will no more speake to you, but plainely of the Father I will shew you.

26 In that day you shal aske in my name: and I say not to you, that I will aske the Father for you.

27 For the Father himselfe loueth you, because you haue loued me, and haue beleeued that I came forth from God.

28 I came forth from the Father, & came into the world: againe I leaue the world, and I goe to the Father.

29 His disciples say to him, Behold now thou speakest plainely, and saiest no prouerbe.

30 Now we know that thou knowest all things, and thou needest not that any man aske thee. in this we beleeue that thou camest forth from God.

31 IESVS answered them, Now doe you beleeue?

Mt.26,31. Mr.14,27.

32 * Behold the houre commeth, and it is now come, that you shall be scattered euery man into his owne, and me you shall leaue alone: and I am not alone, because the Father is with me.

33 These things I haue spoken to you, that in me you may haue peace. In the world you shall haue distresse: but haue confidence, I haue ouercome the world.

*23 And in that day shall ye aske me no question: * Verily, verily I say vnto you, What soeuer ye shall aske the father in my Name, he will giue it you.* Matt.7.7.

24 Hitherto haue yee asked nothing in my Name: aske, and ye shall receiue, that your ioy may be full.

25 These things haue I spoken vnto you by prouerbes: the time commeth when I shall no more speake vnto you by prouerbes, but I shall shew you plainely of my father.

26 At that day shall yee aske in my name: and I say not vnto you that I will pray vnto my father for you:

27 For the Father himselfe loueth you, because yee haue loued me, and haue beleeued that I came out from God.

28 I went out from the Father, and came into the world: againe, I leaue the world, and goe to the Father:

29 His disciples say vnto him, Lo, now talkest thou plainely, and speakest no prouerbe.

30 Nowe are we sure that thou knowest all things, and needest not that any man should aske thee any question; therefore beleeue wee that thou camest from God.

31 Iesus answered them, Doe yee now beleeue?

*32 * Beholde, the houre draweth nigh, and is alreadie come, that yee shall bee scattered, euery man to his owne, and shall leaue me alone: and yet am I not alone, for the Father is with mee.* Matth.26,31. mar.14,27.

33 These wordes haue I spoken vnto you, that in me ye might haue peace, for in the world ye shall haue tribulation: but be of good cheere, I haue ouercome the world.

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. XVI.

RHEM. 1 2 Cast you.) The Heretikes translate, Excommunicate you. See what corruption this is, and the reason thereof, Annot.c.9,22.

FVLKE. 1 The translation of Geneua which so translateth, hath in the margent, or put you out of the Synagogues. The one in effect is as much as the other.

RHEM. 2 13 He shall teach.) If he shal teach all truth, and that for euer (as before c.14,16:) how is it possible, that the Church can erre, or hath erred at any time or in any point?

FVLKE. 2 The Church can neuer erre in any point necessary to saluation, nor any true member thereof, to continue therein. For this promise is to euery one of the Apostles, and so to euery Christian man and woman, to their comfort, vnto eternall saluation. Yet were the Apostles deceiued for a time in some things, as in the calling of the Gentiles: and true Christian men may erre, but not finally to their damnation. Therefore the full accomplishment of this promise, S. Augustine referreth vnto the life to come: I think (saith he) that this cannot be fulfilled in any mans minde in this life, for who liuing in this bodie, which is corrupted and weigheth downe the soule, can know all trueth, When the Apostle saith, We know but in part. Tract.96.in Ioan. How the Church and true Christians may erre.

RHEM. 3 23 In my name.) Vpon this the Church concludeth all her prayers, Per Christum Dominum nostrum, euen those also that be made to Saincts.

FVLKE. 3 To aske of Saincts in the name of Christ, is to make Christ a mediator betweene vs and the Saincts: But Christ saith, What soeuer you aske the father in my name, he will giue it you, not whatsoeuer you aske of Saincts in my name, the Father or the Saincts shall giue you. We may see vpon what ground the Popish faith is builded. And yet you say vntruely of all your prayers to Saincts, for many in your Portice conclude not, with per Christum Dominum nostrum: By Christ our Lord. For example among a great number, take a few. In that office which you call Seruitium beatæ Mariæ, There be three lessons which be all praiers to the virgin Marie, which begin, Sancta Maria virgo virginum &c. Sancta Maria piarum piissima &c. Sancta Dei genetrix &c. In which this conclusion is not. And yet no lesse is asked of her, then eternall life. And because they be very blasphemous, it shall not be amisse, for the ignorant in the Latine tongue to translate them. The first is, Holy Marie virgine of virgins, mother and daughter of the king of all kings: bestowe thy comfort vpon vs, that by thee, we may deserue to haue the reward of eternall life, and to reigne with the elect of God for euer. The second, Holy Marie, of all godly women most godly, make intercession for vs, of all godly women the most godly, that by thee oh virgin, he may receiue our prayers, which being borne Invocation of Saincts.

borne for vs of thee, reigneth aboue the heauen, that by his loue our offences may be put out. The third, Holy mother of God, which worthily hast deserued to conceiue him whom the whole world could not comprehend, by thy godly intervention wash away our sinnes, that being redemed by thee, we may be able to clime to the seate of eternall glorie, where thou remainest with thy sonne without end of time. And what call you this but a praier? By the blood of Thomas which for thee he did spend, make vs Christ to clime, whether Thomas did ascend. The Popish Poet forgat per Christum dominum nostrum, or els it needed not, when the blood of Thomas was added to the blood of Christ. Againe, Per te Thoma post lauc munera amplexetur nos Dei dextera. By thee Thomas after the gifts of the left hand, let the right hand of God embrace vs, left the enemie, the world, or the workes of the flesh doe carie vs away captiue to hell. Againe, Opem nobis: &c. O Thomas reach thy helpe vnto vs, rule them that stand, lift vp them that lie, correct our maners, actes, and life, and direct vs into the way of peace. Moreouer in a praier to S. Osmund: &c. Confessor domini. Thou confessor of our Lord, helpe the people with thy prayers, that being voide of vices, they may be associate vnto thee, and whom thou findest preuenting thy solemnities, thou teacher of people, cause that they may accompanie thee. To S. Anne: Thou that wast happy, being conceiued with such a virgin, make vs in the last houre to die without sinne. Againe, Anne, thou healthfull mother, make vs to liue to Christ. To S. Katherine. Haile virgine worthy of God, haile sweete and gentle virgine, obtaine for vs the ioyes, which thou dost possesse with glorie. By these few, among a shamefull rable of Popish praiers, you may see how true it is, that their Church concludeth all her prayers, Per Christum dominum nostrum, euen those also that be made to Saincts.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. XVI.

RHEM. 4 12 Yet many things.) This place conuinceth that the Apostles and the faithfull be taught many things, which Christ omitted to teach them for their weakenesse: and that it was the prouidence of God that Christ in presence should not teach and order all things, that we might be no lesse assured of the things that the Church teacheth by the holy Ghost, then of the things that himselfe deliuered. Christ left many things to be taught by the Church.

FVLKE. 4 Though the infirmitie of the Apostles, could not yet beare, that he had to say to them, it followeth not that those things are not conteined in the holy Scriptures. S. Augustine vpon this place saith: Quum ipse tacuerit, &c. When he himselfe hath not vttered these things, which of vs can say, these and these they are? Or if he dare be bold to say, how doeth he proone it? Yea he proceedeth further and saith: If we had read any of these things in the bookes established by Canonicall authoritie, which were written after the Ascension of our Lord, it were not sufficient to haue read it there, except it were also read there, that the same is one of these things, which our Lord would not then tell his disciples, because they could not beare them. By this saying of S. Augustine you come short, to tell vs of any thing, that is not conteined in the Scriptures, that it is in the number of those things, which Christ would not tell his disciples. Leo comparing 15. Ioan. 15. with this vers. ser. 2. de Pentecost. sayth: Non itaq; alia erat infirmanda veritas, nec alia prædicanda doctrina: sed oportebat capacitatem eorum qui docebantur augeri, & multiplicari constantiam illius charitatis, qua omnem formidinem foras mitteret & furorem persequentium non timeret. The sufficiencie of the Scriptures.

RHEM. 5 23 The spirit of trueth.) Euer note that the holy Ghost in that he is promised to the Church, is called the Spirit of truth, which holy Spirit for many other causes is giuen to diuers priuate men and to all good men, to sanctification: but to teach all trueth and preserue in truth and from error, he is promised and performed chiefly to the Church and the chiefe Gouerner and generall Councels thereof. The spirit of truth

FVLKE. 5 The spirit of trueth is promised to all the Church, and to euery member thereof, for whom our Sauiour Christ praieth, saying, Sanctifie them in thy trueth, thy word is the trueth Ioan. 17. 17. and is not restrained to any one gouernour (which is not ordeined by Christ,) nor yet to generall Councels, which if they erre from the word of trueth, are not led by the spirit of truth. And yet are generall Councels, a good meane, in matters of question, where the ministers of the Church, which haue the speciall giftes of knowledge and vnderstanding, in the Scriptures, may by mutuall conference of the word of God, find out the certaine trueth, as in the Councell of the Apostles. Act. 15. Councels may erre

CHAP. XVII.

After his Sermon of farewell, he prayeth to his Father, that seeing he hath now finished his worke, he will giue him his appointed glorie, for the conuersion of all nations, 6 and preserue his Apostles, and his Church after them in vnitie and veritie (that is, from Schisme and Heresie:) finally also glorifie them with him in heauen.

THE GOSPEL vpon the Ascension tue.

THese things spake IESVS and lifting vp his eyes into heauen, he said, Father the houre is come, ‡ glorifie thy sonne, that thy sonne may glorifie thee.

‡ The Father glorifieth the Sonne by raising him from death, exalting him vp to his right hand, making all creatures to bow downe at his name, and giuing him all power and iudgement. The Sonne againe glorifieth the Father, by making his honour, which onely in a maner was in Iewrie before, now known to all Nations.

2 As thou hast giuen him power ouer all flesh that all which thou hast giuen him, to them he may giue life euerlasting.

3 And this is ‖ life euerlasting that they know thee, the onely true God, and whom thou hast sent IESVS CHRIST.

4 I haue glorified thee vpon the earth: I haue consummated the worke which thou gauest me to doe:

5 And nowe glorifie thou mee O Father with thy selfe, with the glory which I had before the world was, with thee.

6 I haue manifested thy name to the men who thou gauest me out of the world. Thine they were, and to me thou gauest them: and they haue kept thy word.

7 Now they haue knowen that all things which thou gauest me, are from thee:

8 Because

THese wordes spake Iesus, and lifted vp his eyes to heauen, and said, Father, the houre is come, glorifie thy sonne, that thy sonne also may glorifie thee:

*2 * As thou hast giuen him power ouer all flesh, that he should giue eternall life to as many as thou hast giuen him.* Matt. 28. 18.

3 This is the life eternall, that they might knowe thee the onely true God, and Iesus Christ whom thou hast sent.

4 I haue glorified thee on the earth: I haue finished the worke which thou gauest mee to doe.

5 And now glorifie thou me, O father, with thine owne selfe, with the glorie which I had with thee before the world was.

6 I haue declared thy name vnto the men which thou gauest mee out of the world: thine they were, and thou gauest them me, and they haue kept thy word.

*7 * Now they haue knowen that all thinges whatsoeuer thou hast giuen me, are of thee:* Iohn 16. 27.

8 Because the wordes which thou gauest me, I haue giuen them: and they haue receiued, and knowen in very deede that I came forth from thee, and haue beleeued that thou didst send me.

9 For them doe I pray: Not for the world doe I pray, but for them whom thou hast giuen me:

10 Because they bee thine: and all my things be thine, and thine bee mine: and I am glorified in them. And now I am not in the world, and these are in the worlde, and I come to thee.

THE GOSPEL in a Votiue Masse against Schisme. ‡ His petition is specially to keepe the Apostles and his Church in vnitie and from Schismes. Io.18,9. Psal.40,10. 108,8.

11 Holy father,‡ keepe them in thy name, whom thou hast giuen me: that they may be one, as also we.

12 When I was with them, I kept them in thy name, Those *whom thou gauest me, haue I kept: and none of them perished, but the sonne of perdition, that the *scripture may be fulfilled.

13 And nowe I come to thee: and these things I speake in the world, that they may haue my ioy filled in themselues.

14 I haue giuen them thy word, and the world hath hated them, because they are not of the world: as I also am not of the world.

15 I pray not that thou take them away out of the world, but that thou preserue them from euill.

16 Of the world they are not: as I also am not of the world.

17 ‖ Sanctifie them in trueth, Thy word is trueth.

18 As thou didst send me into the world, I also haue sent them into the world.

19 And for them I doe ‡ sanctifie my selfe: that they also may bee sanctified in trueth.

20 And not for them only do I pray, ‖ but for them also that by their word shal beleeue in me:

21 That they all may be one, as thou (Father) in me, and I in thee, that they also in vs may be one: that the worlde may beleeue that thou hast sent me.

22 And the glory that thou hast giuen me, haue I giuen to them: that they may be one, as we also are one.

23 I in them, and thou in me: that they may bee consummate in one: and the worlde may knowe that thou hast sent me, and hast loued them, as mee also thou hast loued.

24 Father, whom thou hast giuen mee, I will, that where I am, they also may be with me: that they may see my glory which thou hast giuen me, because thou hast loued mee before the creation of the world.

25 Iust Father, the world hath not knowen thee. but I haue knowen thee: and these haue knowen, that thou didst send me.

26 And

8 For I haue giuen vnto them the wordes which thou gauest me, and they haue receiued them, and haue knowen surely that I came out from thee, and they haue beleeued that thou diddest send me.

9 I pray for them, I pray not for the world: but for them which thou hast giuen me, for they are thine.

10 And all mine, are thine. and thine, are mine: and I am glorified in them.

11 And now am I not in the world, and they are in the world, and I come to thee. Holy father, keepe through thine owne name them, which thou hast giuen me, that they may also be one, as we are.

*12 While I was with them in the worlde, I kept them in thy name: those that thou gauest me, haue I kept, and none of them is lost, but that lost childe: * that the scripture might be fulfilled.* Psal.109.8.

13 Nowe come I to thee, and these words speake I in the world, that they might haue my ioy fulfilled in themselues.

14 I haue giuen them thy worde, and the worlde hath hated them, because they are not of the worlde, euen as I also am not of the world.

15 I pray not that thou shouldest take them out of the worlde, but that thou shouldest keepe them from the euill.

16 They are not of the world, as I also am not of the world.

17 Sanctifie them through thy trueth: thy word is the trueth.

18 As thou diddest send me into the world: euen so haue I also sent them into the world.

19 And for their sakes sanctifie I my selfe, that they also might bee sanctified through the trueth.

20 Neuertheless, I pray not for them alone: but for them also which shall beleeue on me through their preaching:

21 That they all may be one, as thou father art in me, and I in thee, and that they also may be one in vs: that the worlde may beleeue that thou hast sent me.

22 And the glory which thou gauest me, I haue giuen them: that they also may be one, as we also are one.

23 I in them, and thou in me, that they may be made perfect in one, and that the worlde may know that thou hast sent me, and hast loued them, as thou hast loued me.

*24 * Father, I will that they which thou hast giuen mee, be with me where I am, that they may see my glory which thou hast giuen mee: for thou louedst me before the foundation of the world.* Iohn 12.16.

25 O righteous father, the world also hath not knowen thee: but I haue knowen thee, and these haue knowen that thou hast sent me.

26 And

26 And I haue notified thy name to them, and will notifie it: that the loue where with thou hast loued me may be in them, and I in them.

26 And I haue declared vnto them thy name, and will declare it: that the loue where-with thou hast loued me, may be in them, and I in them.

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. XVII.

RHEM. 1 19 Sanctifie my selfe.) To sanctifie himselfe, is to sacrifice himself, by dedicating his holy body and blood to his Father, both vpon the Crosse, and in the holy Sacrament.

FVLKE, 1 Christ offered not his bodie and blood in the Sacrament to his Father, but to his disciples in remembrance of his only once oblation thereof to his Father, by which he perfected for euer his Saincts. Heb. 10. 14.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. XVII.

RHEM. 3 Life euerlasting.) Both the life of glorie in heauen, and of grace here in the Church, consisteth in the knowledge of God: that, in perfect vision: this, in faith working by charitie. for, knowledge of God without keeping his commandements, is not true knowledge, that is to say, it is an vnprofitable knowledge. 1. Io. 2. True knowledge of God.

RHEM. 2 17 Sanctifie them.) Christ prayeth that the Apostles, their successors, and all that shall be of their beleefe, may bee sanctified in trueth, which is as much to say, as to desire that the Church may euer haue the Spirit of truth, and be free from error. which prayer of Christ had not beene heard, if the Church might erre. The Church can not erre.

FVLKE. 2 The Chrurch cannot erre, nor any faithfull man finally, in matters necessary to perpetuall saluation. But if the Church or any man depart from the word of truth, they must needes erre. Though in matters necessary to saluation, the true Church, and euery true Christian, be preserued from erring finally. S. Augustine interpreteth, sanctifying in the trueth, to be sanctified in Christ, which is the word and the trueth. Tr. 108. in Ioan. Where-of it followeth, that neither the true Church, nor any Christian man, can fall finally from Christ.

RHEM. 3 20 But for them.) He expresseth (and it is a great comfort) that he praieth not onely for the Apostles, but for the whole Church after them, that is, for all beleeuers. And all this profound and diuine prayer is resembled in the holy Canon of the Masse before the consecration, as here it was made before his visible sacrifice on the Crosse. The Canon of the Masse.

FVLKE. 3 The Canon of the Masse, is too base to be matched with this diuine prayer of our Sauiour Christ, which yet followed his Supper, and not went before it as the Popish Canon beginneth before consecration.

CHAP. XVIII.

Being gone to the place that Iudas the Traitor did know, 4 he offereth himselfe to the band of his enemies, sheweth his Diuine might in ouerthrowing them all with a word, and in saiuing his Apostles from them also with a word. 10 rebuketh Peter that would defend him from them: 12 and so being apprehended, is brought bound to Annas and Caiphas, where he is striken by a seruant, and thrise denied of Peter. 28 Againe in the morning he is by them brought to Pilate. 29 Who demaunding their accusation, whereas they would oppresse him with their authoritie, 33 and examining the point of his kingdome, pronounceth him innocent: yet they cry rather to haue a theeues life saued.

THVRSDAY night. The PASSION according to Iohn in these two Chapters, is the Gospel at Masse vpo Good friday. So the PASSION is read in holy weeke 4. times, according to the foure Euangelists, as S. Augustine appointed also in his Church at Hippo. Ser. 144. de tempore. Mt. 26. 36. Mr. 14. 32. Lu. 22. 39. Mt. 26. 47. Mr. 14. 43. Lu. 22. 47.

WHen IESVS had said these thinges, he went forth with his disciples beyond the Torrent-Cedron, where was a garden, into the which he entred and his Disciples.

2 And Iudas also, that betraied him, knew the place: because IESVS had often resorted thither together with his disciples.

3 * Iudas therefore hauing receiued the band of men, and of the chiefe Priests and the Pharisees, ministers, commeth thither with lanternes and torches and weapons.

4 IESVS therfore knowing all things that should come vpon him, went forth, and said to them, Whom seeke ye?

5 They answered him, IESVS of Nazareth. IESVS saith to them, I am he. And Iudas also that betraied him, stood with them.

6 As soone therefore as he saide to them, I am he: they went backward, and fell to the ground.

7 Againe therefore hee asked them, Whom seeke yee? And they said, IESVS of Nazareth.

8 IESVS answered, I haue told you that I am he. if therefore you seeke me, let these go their wayes.

9 That the word might be fulfilled which he said, * That of them whom thou hast giuen me, I haue not lost any.

*WHen Iesus had spoken these wordes, * he went foorth with his disciples ouer the brooke Cedron, where was a garden, into the which he entred and his disciples.* Matt. 26. 36. mar. 14. 32. luke 22. 39.

2 Iudas also which betrayed him, knew the place: for Iesus oft times resorted thither with his disciples.

*3 * Iudas then, after he had receiued a band of men, and officers of the high Priests and Pharisees, commeth thither with lanternes, and torches, and weapons.* Matt. 26. 47. mar. 14. 43. luke 22. 47.

4 And Iesus knowing all things that should come on him, went foorth, and saide vnto them, Whom seeke yee?

5 They answered him, Iesus of Nazareth. Iesus saith vnto them, I am he. Iudas also which betrayed him, stood with them.

6 As soone then as he had saide vnto them, I am hee, they went backeward, and fell to the ground.

7 Then asked he them againe, Whom seeke ye? They said Iesus of Nazareth.

8 Iesus answered, I haue told you that I am he: If ye seeke me therefore, let these goe their way.

*9 That the saying might be fulfilled which he spake, * Of them which thou gauest mee haue I not lost one.* Ioh. 17. 12.

10 Simon

10 Simon Peter therfore hauing a ſword, drew it out: and ſmote the ſeruant of the high prieſt: and cut off his right eare. And the name of the ſeruant was Malchus.

11 IESVS therefore ſaid to Peter, Put vp thy ſword into the ſcabbard. The chalice which my father hath giuen mee, ſhall not I drinke it?

12 The band therefore and the Tribune and the miniſters of the Iewes apprehended IESVS, and bound him:

13 And they brought him to Annas firſt, for he was father in law to Caiphas, who was the high prieſt of that yeere.

Io.11,49. Mt.26,58. Mr.14,54. Lu.22,54.

14 And *Caiphas was he that had giuen the counſel to the Iewes, That it is expedient that one man die for the people.

15 *And Simon Peter followed IESVS, and an other diſciple. And that diſciple was knowen to the high prieſt, and went in with IESVS into the court of the high prieſt.

16 But Peter ſtood at the doore without. The other diſciple therfore that was knowen to the high prieſt, went foorth, and ſpake to the portreſſe, and brought in Peter.

17 The wench therefore that was portreſſe, ſaith to Peter, Art not thou alſo of this mans diſciples? He ſaith to her, ‡ I am not.

‡ It is all one for a man to deny Chriſt, and that he is a diſciple of Chriſt or a Catholike, or a Chriſtian man, when he is demaunded. Aug. tract. 113. in Io. for ſo Peter here denieth Chriſt, in denying himſelfe to be his Diſciple.

18 And the ſeruants and miniſters ſtood at a fire of coles, becauſe it was cold, & warmed themſelues. And with them was Peter alſo ſtanding, and warming himſelfe.

19 The high prieſt therfore asked IESVS of his diſciples, and of his doctrine.

20 IESVS anſwered him, I haue openly ſpoken to the world: I haue alwayes taught in the ſynagogue, and in the temple whether all the Iewes reſort together: and in ſecret I haue ſpoken nothing.

21 Why askeſt thou mee? aske them that haue heard what I haue ſpoken vnto them: behold they knowe what things I haue ſaid.

22 When he had ſaide theſe things, one of the miniſters ſtanding by, gaue IESVS a blowe, ſaying, Anſwereſt thou the high prieſt ſo?

GOOD FRIDAY.

28 * They therefore bring IESVS from Caiphas into the Palace. And it was morning: and they went not in into the Palace, that they might not bee contaminated, but that they might eate the Pasche.

29 Pilate therefore went foorth to them without, and sayd, What accusation bring you against this man?

30 They answered and sayd to him, If he were not a malefactour, we would not haue deliuered him vp to thee.

31 Pilate therfore said to them, Take him you, and according to your lawe iudge him. The Iewes therfore said to him, It is not lawfull for vs to kill any man.

32 * That the word of IESVS might bee fulfilled which hee sayde, signifying what death he should die.

33 * Pilate therfore went into the Palace againe, and called IESVS, and sayd to him, Art thou the king of the Iewes?

34 IESVS answered, Sayest thou this of thy selfe, or haue others told thee of me?

35 Pilate answered, Why, am I a Iewe? ‡ Thy nation, and the chiefe Priests haue deliuered thee vp to me, what hast thou done?

36 IESVS answered, My kingdome is not of this world. if my kingdome were of this world, my ministers verily would striue that I should not be deliuered to the Iewes. but now my kingdome is not from hence.

37 Pilate therfore said to him, Art thou a king then? IESVS answered, Thou saiest, that I am a king. For this was I borne, and for this came I into the world: that I should giue testimony to the truth. Euery one that is of the truth, heareth my voice.

38 Pilate saith to him, What is truth? And when he had said this, he went forth againe to the Iewes, and sayth to them, I finde no cause in him.

39 * But you haue a custome that I should release one to you in the Pasche: will you therefore that I release vnto you the king of the Iewes?

40 They al therefore cried againe, saying, Not him but Barabbas. And Barabbas was a theefe.

31 Then sayd Pilate vnto them, Take yee him, and iudge him after your owne lawe. The Iewes therefore sayd vnto him, It is not lawfull for vs to kill any man.

35 Pilate answered, Am I a Iewe? Thine owne nation and high priests haue deliuered thee vnto me: what hast thou done?

36 Iesus answered, My kingdome is not of this world: if my kingdome were of this worlde, then would my seruants surely fight, that I should not bee deliuered to the Iewes: but nowe is my kingdome not from hence.

37 Pilate therefore sayd vnto him, Art thou a king then? Iesus answered, Thou sayest that I am a king: For this cause am I borne, and for this cause came I into the world, that I should beare witnesse vnto the trueth: and all that are of the trueth heare my voice.

38 Pilate sayeth vnto him, What is trueth? And when hee had sayd this, hee went out againe vnto the Iewes, and sayth vnto them, I finde in him no fault at all.

CHAP. XIX.

The Iewes are not satisfied with his scourging and irrision. 8 Pilate hearing them say that he made himselfe the Sonne of God, is more afraid. 12 Yet, they urging him with his loyaltie toward Cæsar, and professing that themselues wil no king but Cæsar, he yeeldeth vnto them. 17 And so Christ carying his owne Crosse, is crucified betweene two theeues. 19 Pilate writing notoriously the onely cause of his death to be, for that he is their king or Christ. 23 His garments be so vsed, euen as the Scriptures foretold. 25 He hath speciall care of his mother to the end. 28 Hee signifieth all that was written of his Passion, to be fulfilled, and so yeeldeth vp his ghost. 31 Then by the Iewes meanes also other Scriptures about his legs and side, are fulfilled. 38 And finally, he is honourably buried.

Mt 27,27. Mr 15,16.

THen therefore Pilate tooke IESVS, and scourged him.

2 And the souldiers platting a crowne of thornes, put it vpon his head: and they put about him a purple garment.

3 And

THen Pilate tooke Iesus therefore, and scourged him.

3 And they came to him, and sayd, Haile king of the Iewes, & they gaue him blowes.

4 Pilate went foorth againe, and saith to them, Beholde I bring him foorth vnto you, that you may know that I finde no cause in him.

5 IESVS therefore went forth carying the crowne of thornes, and the purple vestiment. And hee saith to them, Loe the man.

6 When the chiefe priests therefore and the ministers had seene him, they cried, saying, Crucifie, crucifie him. Pilate saith to thē Take him you, and crucifie him. for I find no cause in him.

7 The Iewes answered him, We haue a Law: and according to the Law hee ought to die, because hee hath made himselfe the sonne of God.

8 When Pilate therefore had heard this saying, he feared more.

9 And hee entred into the Palace againe: and hee sayth to IESVS, Whence art thou? But IESVS gaue him no answere.

10 Pilate therefore saith to him, Speakest thou not to me? knowest thou not that I haue power to crucifie thee, and I haue power to release thee?

11 IESVS answered, Thou shouldest not haue any power against me, vnlesse it were giuen thee from aboue. Therefore hee that hath betrayed mee to thee, hath the greater sinne.

12 From thenceforth Pilate sought to release him. But the Iewes cried, saying, If thou release this man, thou art not Cæsars friend. euery one that maketh himselfe a king, speaketh against Cæsar.

13 But Pilate when hee had heard these wordes, brought foorth IESVS: and he sate in the iudgement seate, in the place that is called Lythóstrotos, and in Hebrew Gábbatha.

14 And it was the Parasceue of Pasche, about the ‡ sixt houre, & he saith to the Iewes, Loe your king.

THE GOSPEL in a white Maſſe of the Paſſion.

Pſal.68.22.

Then the ſouldiers, when they had crucified Ieſus, tooke his garments, (and made foure parts, to euery ſouldier a part) and alſo his coate: the coate was without ſeame, wouen from the top throughout. Matt.27.35. marke 15.24. luke 23.33.

*They ſayd therefore among themſelues, Let vs not diuide it, but caſt lottes for it, whoſe it ſhall bee: that the Scripture might be fulfilled, ſaying, * They parted my raiment among them, and for my coate did they caſt lottes. And the ſouldiers did ſuch things in deede.* Pſal.22.19.

There ſtoode by the croſſe of Ieſus, his mother, and his mothers ſiſter, Mary the wife of Cleophas, and Mary Magdalene.

When Ieſus therefore ſaw his mother and the diſciple ſtanding by, whom he loued, he ſayth vnto his mother, Woman, behold thy ſonne.

Then ſayth he to the diſciple, Beholde thy mother. And from that houre the diſciple tooke her vnto his owne houſe.

*After theſe things, Ieſus knowing that all things were nowe perfourmed, * that the Scripture might be fulfilled, he ſayth, I thirſt.* Pſal.69.22.

So there ſtoode a veſſell by, full of vineger. Therefore when they had filled a ſponge with vineger, and put it vpon hyſope, they offred it to his mouth.

When Ieſus therefore had receiued the vineger, hee ſayd, It is finiſhed, and when hee had bowed his head, he gaue vp the ghoſt.

The Iewes therefore, becauſe it was the preparing of the Sabboth, that the bodies ſhould not remaine vpon the croſſe on the Sabboth day (for that Sabboth day was an high day) beſought Pilate that their legges might be broken, and that they might be taken downe.

Then came the ſouldiers, and brake the legges of the firſt, and of the other which was crucified with him.

But when they came to Ieſus, and ſawe that hee was dead already, they brake not his legges.

But one of the ſouldiers with a ſpeare thruſt him into the ſide, and foorthwith came there out blood and water.

And he that ſaw it, bare record, and his record is true, and he knoweth that he ſaith true, that ye might beleeue alſo.

For theſe things were done that the Scripture

Exo.12,46. Scripture might bee fulfilled, You shall not breake a bone of him.

37 And againe an other scripture saith, They shall looke on him whom they pearced.

Zac.12,10. *Mt.27,57. Mr.15,42. 38 And after these things *Ioseph of Arimathæa (because hee was a disciple of IESVS, but secret for feare of the Iewes) desired Pilate that he might take away the body of IESVS. And Pilate permitted. He came therfore, and tooke away the body of IESVS.

Lu.23,50. Io.3,1.7,50. 39 *Nicodemus also came, he that at the first came to IESVS by night, bringing a mixture of myrrhe and aloes, about an hundred poundes.

40 They tooke therfore the body of IESVS, and bound it in linnen clothes with the spices, as the manner is with the Iewes to burie.

41 And there was in the place where he was crucified, a garden: and in the garden a new monument, wherein no man yet had bene layd.

42 There therefore because of the Parasceue of the Iewes, they laid IESVS, because the monument was hard by.

Num.9.12. Exod.12.46. *Scripture should be fulfilled, A bone of him shall not be broken.

Zach.12,10. 37 And againe another scripture sayth, They shall looke on him whom they pearced.*

Matth.27.57. mark.15.42. luke 23.15. *38 After this, Ioseph of Arimathæa (being a disciple of Iesus, but secrete for feare of the Iewes,) besought Pilate that he might take down the body of Iesus, and Pilate gaue him licence. he came therefore, and tooke the body of Iesus.

39 And there came also Nicodemus, which at the beginning came to Iesus by night, and brought of myrrhe and aloes mingled together, about an hundred pound waight:

40 Then tooke they the body of Iesus, and wound it in linnen clothes, with the odours, as the maner of the Iewes is to burie.

41 And in the place where he was crucified there was a garden, and in the garden a new sepulchre, wherein was neuer man yet layd.

42 There laid they Iesus therefore, because of the preparing of the Sabboth of the Iewes, for the sepulchre was nigh at hand.

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. XIX.

RHEM. 1. 20. Hebrew, in Greeke, and in Latin.) These three tongues being for other cause, most famous before in all the world, are now also dedicated to God in the triumphant title of the Crosse of Christ, and in them the holy Scriptures are more conueniently written, taught, and preserued. All tongues sanctified.

FVLKE. 1 The tongues of al nations are sanctified by the holy Ghost, to vtter the great and magnifical things of God. Act.2.11. The writing of Pilate, to the derision of Christ, is a vaine reason of the sanctifying of these three tongues. For by Hebrew it is most like the Euangelist meaneth the Syrian language, which then was the vulgar tongue of the Iewes: and in Latin was no part of the holy scripture first written.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. XIX.

RHEM. 2 15. His owne crosse.) This crosse, for that it was the instrument of our redemption, and as it were the altar of the supreme sacrifice, highly sanctified by the touching, bearing, & oblation of the sacred bodie and blood of our Lord, is truely called the HOLY CROSSE: and hath been endued with vertue of miracles, both the whole and euery little peece thereof. For the which causes, and specially for the most mere memorial of Christs Passion, it hath bene visited in Pilgrimages, honoured by festiuall dayes and otherwise, reserued and reuerenced of the ancient fathers, with all deuotion: as contrariwise it hath been abused of Pagans, Apostates, and Heretikes, seeking in vaine to deface and destroy it. See S. Cyril. l.6. & 10. Iulian. S. Hierom ep.17. S. Paulinus ep.11. Ruffinus li.1.c.7. & 8. Euagr. histo. li.4.c.25. Sulcer ep.72. & ser.de Passione. Paulus Diac. li.18. The Holy Crosse.

FVLKE 2 The Scripture neuer calleth the crosse whereon Christ died, holy, but rather cursed. For S. Paul prooueth that Christ became accursed for vs, by that he suffered on the crosse, according to the Scripture: Cursed is euery one that hangeth on a tree. Gal 3.13. And for many hundred yeeres after Christ, there was no mention or regard what became of it. But when superstition began to grow, it was said to be found in Constantines time by Helena his mother, which it is not like that Eusebius would haue omitted in the life of Constantine, writing of Helena, matters of lesse importance then that inuention, if it had bene soon deed. But howsoeuer it was, it was credited in the later times, and much esteemed, not without some spot of superstition. For if there had belonged any religious care of it to the Church of Christ, the Apostles would haue procured the keeping of it, and not suffered the Church to haue bene three hundred yeeres without it. For it had bene an easier suite for Ioseph and Nicodemus to obtaine of Pilate, then the bodie of Iesus himselfe. But in the later times, as superstition did more and more increase, and miracles were feined vnto it, the crosse also was multiplied in number, and the pieces were made thereof so many as would lade a ship, if they were layd together, as Erasmus saith. Which also is defended to bee possible by the suspected authoritie of Paulinus B. of Nola ep.11. where he sayth: Crux illa &c. That crosse holding a liuing force in matter void of sense, doth since the time it was found, so lend the wood of it to the innumerable desires of men almost dayly, that it sustaineth no diminishing, and entreth as if it had neuer bene touched, men dayly taking part of it, and yet worshipping is still whole. But the incorruptible vertue and soliditie, that cannot be consumed, it did drinke in truely of the blood of that flesh, which hauing suffered death saw no corruption. But this is so grosse a fable, that the Censors appointed according to the Counce of Trent in the low countries, for shame haue commaunded their ind. expurg. to be put out of the booke of Iohannes Sartorius, who alleageth it to iustifie the byberbolical saying of Erasmus. But let vs see what is alleaged out of the ancient writers concerning it. First Cyril speaketh of the signe of the crosse, which doeth put men in remembrance of many good things against Iulian, which slandered the Christians, that they worshipped the wood of the crosse, by painting the image of it in their forhead and before their houses. S. Hierome being in Iewrie, writeth in the person of Paula and Eustochium to Marcella, of the memories of Christs birth, life, death and buriall, that were in those places, among which he reckoneth Crucis lambere lignum, to licke or kisse the wood of the crosse, whereby it seemeth they were perswaded that the crosse was there, and yet it may be the wordes The Crosse of Christ.

be allegoricall, as many other in that Epistle: Videre exire Lazarum &c. To see Lazarus come foorth bound with clothes. Meaning to be in the place where Lazarus was raised, and to remember his comming foorth. Leo epist. 72. writing to the bishop of Ierusalem, sheweth that he may bee put in mind of both the natures of Christ, by the places where his miracles are wrought, and his passion suffered. Hoc tibi ipsa crux indesinenter loquitur. This thing the very crosse it selfe doth speake to thee vncessantly: by which wordes it could not be prooued, that Leo was perswaded, that the crosse it selfe on which Christ died, was then at Ierusalem: but that in the end hee sayth: Particulam Dominicæ crucis, cum eulogijs dilectionis vestræ veneranter accepi: I receiued reuerently a little peece of our Lords crosse, with your commendations. Ho. 8. de passion. he speaketh magnifically of the crosse, that it was the altar of the world, in time of the passion of Christ. That Christ caried the trophee of his triumph, and on the shoulders of his inuincible patience, he brought into all kingdoms the signe of saluation to be honoured, as though euen then, by the very similitude of his worke, he confirmed all his followers, and sayd, he that taketh not vp his crosse and followeth me, is not worthy of me. In which saying, except you grate vpon the words, signum saluis adorandum, the signe of saluation to be had in reuerence or honoured, is nothing sounding towards your superstition. Although in the words following, Leo expoundeth his meaning, how it is to be honoured, by admonishing men of their conformitie vnto Christs death and passion. Euagrius a writer in a more superstitious time, telleth a miracle of Christ, that was shewed when Thomas bishop of Apamea, caried the crosse wheron Christ died, about the church to be worshipped of men which earnestly desired to see it, at such time as he vsed not to shew it, because Chosroes hauing lately destroyed Antioche, they thought it should be the last time that they should see it. For they were next in danger, which they escaped for that present time, and an image of that miracle was hanged vp in the church, which soone after with all the city was consumed with fire by the Persians. In which story (if it be true) it is to be noted, that the crosse was supposed then to be at Apamea, where soone after, by all likelihood it was burned with the church in which it was kept. Paulus Diaconus a late writer also telleth how Tiberius Constantinus found a great treasure hidden in the earth vnder a marble crosse, which he caused to be taken vp: saying, Doe wee tread vnder our feete our Lords crosse wherewith we ought to defend our forhead and brest? In which storie, the iudgement of Tiberius Constantinus which would not tread vpon it, is no more to be esteemed, than the iudgement of many Emperours before him, which had seene it in their palace, and suffered it to lie, or of him (whosoeuer he was) that did hide the treasure vnder it. Now come we to the epistle of Paulinus, and the storie of Ruffinus, in which, mention is made of the inuention of the crosse. And first concerning the credit of that epistle lately brought to light, the reader must be admonished, that the stile rather sauoreth some monkish character, then that Paulinus, whose epistles vnto Augustine haue long bene read and knowen, and the popish censors (as wee haue shewed before) are ashamed of it But admitting it to be authenticall, let vs see what credit it deserueth. First he sendeth to Seuerus a part of a little peece of the wood of the diuine crosse, and that his relique might be the better esteemed, he telleth the whole storie of the inuention of the crosse by Helena. In which story it is worthy to be considered, how well the writers thereof agree, that we may verely thinke it was forged. Seeing Eusebius, who writeth the life of Constantine, and in the same rehearseth the acts and buildings of Helena in Iewrie, maketh no mention of any such matter. Therefore that breefe note in the chronicle, bearing the name of Eusebius, is doubtlesse an adiection of some later writer. S. Ambrose then is the most ancient writer, that maketh mention of that inuention: De obitu Theodos. And he saith plainly, that three crosses being found, the crosse of Christ was knowen by the title that Pilate fastened vnto it. Titulo patuit crux salutaris. The healthfull crosse was knowen by the title. Ruffinus saith, the title could not bewray the crosse of Christ. Sozomenus and Nicephorus say, the letters were worne out. Soz. lib. 2. c. 1. Niceph. lib 8. c. 29. Paulinus saith: The way to discerne it, was reuealed chiefly to Helena her selfe. Ruffinus ascribeth the deuise to Macarius bishop of Ierusalem: so doth Sozomenus, Theodoret, and Socrates. Paulinus saith it was knowen by raising vp a dead man to life. Ruffinus saith it was discerned by restoring a sicke woman to health, with whom agree Socrat. lib. 1 cap. 17. Theodoret. lib. 1. cap. 18. Sozomen addeth, that it was reported also of a dead man to be restored to life. Paulinus saith the crosse remaineth whole at Ierusalem, but yet so, that albeit innumerable peeces bee dayly cut off at the request of men, it is nothing diminished, but remaineth as though it had neuer bene touched. Ruffinus saith that Helena left part of it at Ierusalem, the rest she sent to Constantinople, which as all the inhabitants of Constantinople affirmed, Constantinus inclosed in his owne image, and there it was in the time of Socrates. Howe it came to Apamea, let Euagrius tell. Sir Iohn Mandeuill saith, it was whole at Constantinople in his time, although the Monkes of a certaine abbey in Cypres, affirmed that they had a part of it to get an offring. Paulinus saith, that the bishop of Ierusalem yeerely at Easter, bringeth it foorth to be adored, himselfe being the principall of the worshippers. S. Ambrose saith, that to worship it, it is an heathenish error and vanitie of vngodly men. For these are his wordes: Inuenit ergo titulum, regem adorauit, non lignum vtique, quia hic gentilis est error, & vanitas impiorum. Sed adorauit illum qui pependit in ligno, scriptus in titulo. She found the title, she adored the king, not the tree verely, for that is an heathenish error, and vanity of the vngodly. But she adored him that had hanged vpon the tree, which was written in the title. Therefore if the inuention of the crosse were not a forged matter, as by the diuersitie of reports, it seemeth to be, yet by the iudgement of S. Ambrose agreeable to the holy Scripture, the crosse cannot be worshipped without heathenish error, and vaine impietie. Finally, the placing of Mary and Iohn (for so you call those blocks) by the roode in the popish church, hath no more warrant in the word of God then the roode it selfe, for any thing we can see in this chapter.

The roode with Marie and Iohn.

HEM. 26. To his mother.) The maruelous respect that Christ had to his mother, vouchsafing to speake to her, and to take order for her euen from the crosse in the middes of his infinite anguishes and mysteries a working for mankind.

By this you see why in Catholike Churches MARIE and Iohn stand by the Roode.

27. To the Disciple.) A great honour to Iohn and charge, to haue that blessed iewel in keeping: and an vnspeakable comfort, that from that day forward the one was to the other mother and sonne, Virginem virgini commendauit, sayth S. Hierom, He commended the Virgin to a virgin.

HEM. 34. Blood and water.) This pearsing of Christs side, though on the souldiers part it was done blindly and insolently, yet by Gods ordinance it conteined great mysteries, and was prefigured by Moyses striking the rocke with his rodde: as this streame of blood and water drawen miraculously out of his dead body, running in the Sacraments of the Church after the people of God, was signified by the water of the same rocke following the Israelites in the desert. Out of this side (saith S. Augustine) issued the Sacraments. Hence (saith S. Chrysostom) the great mysteries haue their beginning, *Who warneth vs, that when we come to drinke of the holy chalice, we should so approch, as though we drew the blood out of Christs side. And both blood and water apart did flow foorth, to shew vs the fountaine of two principall Sacraments, and their seuerall matters, Baptisme and the Eucharist, springing to life euerlasting in the Church. The fathers also say that the Church who is Christs spouse and his coadiutrice in applying the blood and water to the benefit of the Faithfull, was here formed, builded, and taken out of this holy side of Christ sleeping on the Crosse, as * Eue was of Adams side, when he was cast asleepe in Paradise.*

The Sacraments issued out of Christs side, and thence haue their vertue.

The CHVRCH builded of Christs side, as Eue of Adams.

By

FVLKE. 3. By those sayings of S. Augustine and Chrysostome, it might be rightly gathered, that those fathers acknowledged but those only two sacraments, in that sense and kinde of Sacraments and mysteries, baptisme and the Eucharisty, which flowed out of the side of our Saniour Christ.

CHAP. XX.

Vpon Easter day his body is missed in the Sepulchre, first by M. Magdalene, 3 secondly by Peter also and Iohn, the wind-ye clothes yet remaining. 11 Then to M. Magdalene, after she had seene two Angels, IESVS also himselfe appeareth. 18 She hauing told to the Disciples, he appeareth to them also the same day, and sendeth them as himselfe was sent, giuing them the Holy Ghost to remit and to reteine sinnes. 26 Againe vpon low Sunday he appeareth to them, letting Thomas see, that he might beleeue, and commending such as not seeing yet doe beleeue. 30 The effect of this booke.

THE GOSPEL vpon Saturday in Easter weeke. EASTER DAY. Mt. 28,1. Mr. 16,1. Lu. 24,1.

AND the ‡first of the Sabboth, Marie Magdalene commeth early, when it was yet darke, vnto the monument: and she sawe the stone taken away from the monument.

‡ That is, the first day of the weeke, as some interpret it, taking Sabboth (as sometime it is) for a weeke.

2 She ranne therfore and commeth to Simon Peter, and to the other disciple whome IESVS loued, and saith to them, they haue taken our Lord out of the monument, and wee know not where they haue laid him.

This is our Sunday, called Dies Dominica, because of our Lords resurrection. See the marg. annot. Luc. 24,1. Luc. 24,13.

3 Peter therfore went forth & that other disciple, and they came to the monument.

4 And both ranne together, and that other disciple did out-runne Peter, and came first to the monument.

5 And when he had stouped downe, hee saw the linnen clothes lying: but yet hee went not in.

6 Simon Peter therefore commeth, following him, and went into the monument, and saw the linnen clothes lying,

7 And the napkin that had beene vpon his head, not lying with the linnen clothes, but apart, wrapped vp into one place.

8 Then therefore went in that other disciple also which came first to the monument: and he saw, and beleeued.

9 For as yet they knew not the Scripture, that he should rise againe from the dead.

10 The Disciples therefore departed againe to themselues.

THE GOSPEL vpon Thursday in Easter weeke. Mt. 28,1. Mr. 16,5. Luc. 24,4.

11 But * Marie stood at the ‡ monument without, weeping. Therfore as she was weeping, shee stouped downe, and looked into the monument:

12 And she saw two Angels in white, sitting, one at the head, and one at the feete, where the body of IESVS had been laid.

13 They say to her, Woman, why weepest thou? She sayth to them, Because they haue taken away my Lord, and I know not where they haue put him.

14 When shee had said thus, shee turned backward, and saw IESVS standing: and she knew not that it is IESVS.

15 IESVS sayth to her, Woman, why weepest thou? whom seekest thou? She thinking that it was the gardiner, sayth to him, Sir, if thou hast caried him away, tell mee where thou hast laid him: and I wil take him away.

16 IESVS sayth to her, Marie. Shee turning saith to him, Rabboni (which is to say, Master.)

17 IESVS

THE first day of the Sabboths, commeth Mary Magdalene early, when it was yet darke, vnto the sepulchre, and seeth the stone taken away from the graue. Matth. 16,1. luke 24,1.

2 Then she runneth, and commeth to Simon Peter, and to the other disciple whom Iesus loued, and saith vnto them, They haue taken away the Lord out of the graue, and we cannot tell where they haue laied him.

3 Peter therefore went forth, and that other disciple, and came to the sepulchre.

4 They ran both together, and the other disciple did outrunne Peter, and came first to the sepulchre.

5 And when he had stouped downe, he sawe the linen clothes lying, yet went he not in.

6 Then commeth Simon Peter following him, and went into the sepulchre, and seeth the linen clothes lie,

7 And the napkin that was about his head, not lying with the linnen clothes, but wrapped together in a place by it selfe.

8 Then went in also that other disciple which came first to the sepulchre, and hee saw, and beleeued.

9 For as yet they knew not the Scripture, that he should rise from death.

10 Then the disciples went away againe vnto their owne house.

*11 * Mary stoode without at the sepulchre, weeping: so as shee wept, shee bowed her selfe into the sepulchre,* Matth. 28,1. marke 16,1.

12 And seeth two Angels clothed in white, sitting, the one at the head, and the other at the feete, where the body of Iesus was laid.

13 They say vnto her, Woman, why weepest thou? She saith vnto them, For they haue taken away my Lord, and I wote not where they haue layd him.

14 When she had thus sayd, shee turned her selfe backe and saw Iesus standing, and knew not that it was Iesus.

15 Iesus saith vnto her, Woman, why weepest thou? Whom seekest thou? She supposing that it had bene the gardiner, sayth vnto him, Sir, if thou haue borne him hence, tell mee where thou hast laied him, and I will fetch him.

16 Iesus sayth vnto her, Mary. Shee turned her selfe, and sayd vnto him, Rabboni, which is to say, Master.

17 Iesus

17 IESVS saith to her, Do not touch me, for I am not yet ascended to my Father: but goe to my brethren, and say to them, I ascend to my Father and your Father, my God and your God.

18 Marie Magdalene commeth and telleth the disciples, That I haue seen our Lord, and thus he said vnto me.

THE GOSPEL vpon Dominica in albis or Low Sunday. Mat.16,14. Luk.24,36. 1.Cor.15,5.

19 Therfore when it was * late that day, the first of the Sabboths, and ‖ the doores were shut, where the disciples were gathered together for feare of the Iewes, IESVS came and stood in the middes, and saith to them, Peace be to you.

20 And when he had said this, he shewed them his hands and side. The disciples therefore were glad when they saw our Lord.

‡ Though he gaue them his peace had before, yet now entring to a new diuine action, to prepare their hearts to grace and reuelation, he blesseth them againe.

21 Hee saide therefore to them againe, ‡ Peace bee to you. ‖ As my Father hath sent me, I also do send you.

22 When he had saide this, ‖ he breathed vpon them: and he saith to them, Receiue ye the holy Ghost:

23 ‖ WHOSE SINNES YOV SHAL FORGIVE, THEY ARE FORGIVEN THEM: AND WHOSE YOV SHAL RETEINE, THEY ARE RETEINED.

THE GOSPEL vpon S. Thomas the Apostles day, Iohn.21.

24 But Thomas one of the Twelue, who is called Didymus, was not with them when IESVS came.

25 The other Disciples therefore said to him, We haue seen our Lord. But he said to them, Vnles I see in his handes the print of the nailes, and put my finger into the place of the nailes, and put my hand into his side: I wil not beleeue.

LOVV SVNDAY.

26 And after eight dayes, againe his disciples were within: and Thomas with them. IESVS commeth ‡ the doores being shut, and stoode in the middes, and saide, Peace be to you.

‡ See the annotation on the 19. verse of this Chapter.

27 Then hee saith to Thomas, Put in thy finger hither, and see my handes, and bring hither thy hand, and put it into my side: and be not incredulous but faithful.

28 Thomas answered, and saide to him, My Lord, and my God.

29 IESVS saith to him, Because thou hast seen me, Thomas, thou hast beleeued: ‡ blessed are they that haue not seen and haue beleeued.

‡ They are more apte that beleeue without visible argument or sight, then such as be induced by sense and reason to beleeue.

30 * Many other signes also did IESVS in the sight of his Disciples, which are not written in this booke.

22 And when he had said those wordes, he breathed on them, and saith vnto them, Receiue ye the holy Ghost.

23 * Whosoeuer sinnes yee remit, they are remitted vnto them, and whosoeuer sinnes yee retaine, they are retained. Matth.28.18.

24 But Thomas, one of the twelue, which is called Didymus, was not with them when Iesus came.

25 The other disciples therefore saide vnto him, Wee haue seene the Lord. But he said vnto them, Except I shall see in his handes the print of the nailes, and put my finger into the print of the nailes, and thrust my hande into his side, I will in no wise beleeue.

26 *And after eight dayes, againe his disciples were within, and Thomas with them: Then came Iesus, * the doores being shut, and stoode in the middes, and said, Peace be vnto you.* * The Greeke is both here and verse 19. After the doores were shut.

27 After that saith hee to Thomas, Bring thy finger hither, and see my hands, and reach hither thy hande, and thrust it into my side, and bee not faithlesse, but beleeuing.

28 Thomas answered, and saide vnto him, My Lord, and my God.

29 Iesus saith vnto him, Thomas, because thou hast seene mee, thou hast beleeued, blessed are they that haue not seene, and yet haue beleeued.

30 * And many other signes truely did Iesus before the eyes of his disciples, which are not written in this booke. Iohn 21.25.

31 These are written, that yee might beleeue that Iesus Christ is the Sonne of God, and that in beleeuing, yee might haue life through his Name.

REM. 11. Monument without.) The Sepulchres of Martyrs (saith S. Hierom. ep. 17.) we do honour euery where, and putting their holy ashes to our eyes, if we may, we touch it also with our mouth: and be there some that thinke the monuments wherein our Lord was laid, is to be neglected: where the Diuel and his Angels, as often as they are cast out of the possessed be- fore the said monument, tremble and roare as if they stood before the iudgement seate of Christ.

FVLKE. 1 Howsoeuer Hierome, in the persons of those two women, in whose name he wrote that Epistle, esteemed of the monument, the Apostles made smal accompt of it, nor the Church before the time of Constantinus, which was about 300. yeeres. ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. XX.

RHEM. 2 19. The doores were shut.) Such Heretikes as deny Christs body to be or that it can be in the B. Sacrament, for that it is in heauen, and cannot be in two places at once, nor without the natural maner of the quantitie, space or place agreeable to the condition of his humanitie, be inuincibly refuted by Christes entering in to the Disciples, the doores shut: and by that that his true natural body, whole and perfect in al his limmes, length, bredth, and thicknes, distinct and diuers from the substance and corpulence of the wood, was in the same proper place that the wood was in, and passed through the same: as hee also came out of his mothers wombe, the clausure not sturred: and passed through the stone, out of his Sepulcher. By al which the Heretikes being plainely reproued, and conuinced of infidelitie, they boldly deny the plaine Scriptures, or so fondly shift themselues from the euidence thereof, that their impudeneie is specially to be marked in this point. The being of Christs body in the B. Sacrament without space or quantitie correspondent thereunto, is proued by other examples in Scripture. Heretical shifts to auoid plaine Scripture.

Some say, that he came in at the window: some, that the doore opened of it selfe to let him in: some, that to come in, the doores being shut, signifieth no more, but that hee came in late in the euening, at what time men vse to shut their doores: and such other slights to defend falshood, against expresse Scriptures, and against the Apostles testimony, who therefore tooke him to be a Spirit, because they saw him stand sodenly in the middes of them, al the house being close shut. And the Fathers al confesse that he went in, the doores being shut. See S. Ambrose li. 10. in Lucam c. 24. S. Augustine ep. 3. ad Volusian & li. 22. de ciuit. c. 8. and S. Cyril, in Io. li. 12. c. 53. and S. Hiero. li. 1. cont. Iouinianum. c. 21. We know it is the natural course of Gods ordinance, that euery body should haue but one and his owne proper place fitted to the lineaments, quantitie, termes and limites of the same: without which naturally the bodies were no where, and consequently not at al, as S. Augustine saith ad Dardanum. but that God supernaturally and miraculously can not by his omnipotencie dispose otherwise of his owne body, then the natural forme or quantitie or qualitie thereof require, that is great incredulitie, seeing we must beleeue that he can doe so with any other body of mere men or other creatures, the Scriptures being plaine that he can make a camel passe through a needles eye, continuing in his natural figure and quantitie stil: and S. Augustine telleth of a woman whose ring fel from her girdle, both being fast and whole: and Rupertus of a Religious man, whose girdle fast buckled fel downe before him from his body. De. off. Eccl. Therfore it is to much vnfaithfulnes, by rules of place to embarre Christ of his wil or wisdom to be in the Sacrament how him selfe list, and in as many altars or places as he liketh. we detest for al that, the wicked heresie of certaine Protestants, holding quite contrary to the Zuinglians, that Christ according to his humanitie is in euery place where the Diuinitie is: which is both against faith, and the common rules of nature and diuinitie. Augustin. 3. 1. Christ can dispose of his own body and other al one nature. Mat. 19. Aug. li. 22. de ciu. Dei. Vbiquetarians. Brentiani.

FVLKE. 2 It can neuer be proued, that Christs body came either through the wood of the doores, or through the stone of the Sepulchre, or through the clausure of his mothers wombe. And concerning the last, the Scripture is euident to the contrary, where it is saide, that our Sauiour Christ was presented to the Lorde, according as it is written: Euery male that first openeth the matrix, &c. Luc. 2, 29. The same affirmeth S. Hierom Cont Pelag. li. 2 saying, Clausas portas vuluæ virginalis aperuit, He opened the gates of the Virgines wombe, that were shut. For the immaculate virginitie of Marie, consisted not, in that the clausure was not stirred, but in that, shee was free from the company of man. What he writeth against Heluidius of such things as do accompany a naturall birth, which he acknowledgeth to haue bene in the birth of Christ, and rightly saith not to be more shameful then the crosse of Christ, I had rather that they should read in Latine, then I expresse in English. Solus est masculus adaperiens vuluam, qui in veritate sanctus vocaretur. Vuluam quippe matris eius non concupiscentia mariti concumbentis, sed omnipotentia filij nascentis aperuit. Ful. de in car. & gra. f. c. 13. Againe I cannot see how it can stand with the article of his natiuitie, that hee came out of his mothers wombe the clausures not sturred, when such a comming cannot properly be called a birth: whereas the Scripture speaking of his natiuitie, vseth the termes that are commonly spoken in the birth of all men. Matth. 1. 21. & 25. Luc. 2. 6. & 7. & 11, &c. Whether all parts after his birth remained as close as before (as diuers ancient Fathers thinke) I wil not contend. It is sufficient to know so much as the Scripture teacheth, that Christ was truely borne of a Virgin. Leo saith, It was an error of the Manichees to deny that he was borne corporally of the virgin Mary, in Mat. ser. 4. Therfore we must so acknowledge that he was borne of a virgine, that we doe not deny that he was borne corporally. Neither is it said, that Christ came through the doores being shut, but after the doores were shut, which yet at his entrie were opened miraculously, as to the Apostles the prison doores, Acts. 5. 19. & 12. 10. So I say of the stone, if he arose before the Angel remoued the same. Mat. 28. You say, that some say, he came in at the window, yet are you able to name none of vs, that so saith or thinketh. But where we say, the doore opened vnto him miraculously, or that hee came in late, after the doores were shut, you say they be flights to defend falshod against expresse Scriptures: but wee may wel say, you haue nothing but brasen faces, to oppose against the manifest truth. For where haue you any expresse Scriptures, that he came through the wood of the doores being shut, the expresse wordes of the Euangelist are, after the doores were shut. But you adde, that our exposition is against the Apostles testimony, who therfore tooke him to be a spirit, because they saw him stand sodenly in the midst of them, al the house being close shut. Which is a weake testimony, that he came through the wood & yron of the doores. They thought him to be a spirit when he walked on the waters, Mat. 14, 20. Yea it is no certaine testimony, that he came in miraculously, for it might be, the doore was opened vnto him by some of the house, vnknowing to them. But admitting that he came in miraculously, your grosse imagination is contrary to the testimony and argument of Christ himselfe, when to remoue that false suspition out of their minds, he saith, handle, and see me, for a spirit hath not flesh & bones, as you see me haue, Luc. 24. Which argument, had bene altogether insufficient, to proue the truth of his bodily presence, and resurrection in body, if they had bene perswaded that (after your fantasie,) he came through the bordes of the doore: or that their senses, concerning his body, could haue bene so greatly deceiued, that deliuering them bread to the iudgement of all their senses, hee had deliuered in the same compasse and shape of bread, not bread, but his naturall body sitting still in their sight. If therefore the Apostles had vnderstood the wordes of the Supper, as Papistes doe, they coulde not haue bene perswaded by the arguments of their senses, which Christ offereth, of the trueth and certaintie of the resurrection of his body from death to life. But all the Fathers (you say) confesse, that he went in, the doores being shut. That hee came in miraculously, the most doe thinke, and so doe wee, but not that his body came through the wood of the doores S. Ambrose saith, Thomas had cause to wonder, when hee saw, that after all bodies were shut, the ioynts not hurt, his body gotten in, through places enclosed, where no way was. And therefore it is marualle, how the bodily nature, through an impenetrable body did passe, his comming being inuisible, his presence visible, he being easie to be touched, hard to be deemed. This hee speaketh of the Apostles error: but his The body of Christ.

resolution vpon the wordes of Christ, handle mee, &c. is this. Therefore not by an vnbodily nature, but by qualitie of bodily resurrection, he passed through the places shut, where no vsuall way was. For that which is touched is a body, that which is handled is a body, and we shall rise againe in the body. For it is sowen a naturall body, it riseth againe a spirituall body. In these wordes it appeareth, that Ambrose esteemed the qualitie of Christes body, after his resurrection, to bee the same, which shall be of our bodies after they be risen againe. Therefore except you will ascribe a perillous error vnto him, you must acknowledge, that he meaneth no more, but a miraculous entrance without passing of his body through the substance of other bodies, except you will acknowledge the same passage, to be the qualitie of all glorified bodies. S. Augustine Ep. 3. saith: The same vertue of his diuinitie, brought forth his body being an infant, through the virgines bowels of his immaculate mother, which after brought in his body being a yong man, through the doores, that were shut. That is, he was borne miraculously by his diuine power, hee entred in miraculously by his diuine power, when the doores were shut, the trueth of his body still remaining, to which, (as hee saith els where,) he gaue immortalitie, he tooke not from it the nature. Ep. 57. De Ciuit. 22. Cap. 8. After he had told the miracle of the ring, that fell from the womans girdle, being both fast and whole, he saith: They beleeue not this, which beleeue not, that our Lord Iesus Christ was borne of the virgines wombe of his mother being whole, and entred in to his disciples after the doores were shut. But let them enquire of this, and if they finde this to be true, let them beleeue the other. Admitting this miracle of the ring to be true, (as Augustine was perswaded it was,) vpon the report of the noble woman, from whom it fell, yet it followeth not, that the substance of the ring, went through the substance of the girdle, but that the one substance, giuing place for the time, returned againe when the other was passed. Some incredulous Iew, seeing that the eare of Malchus was so soone healed, would not beleeue, that Peters sworde went betweene it and his head, as we are sure it did. So we say of the birth of Christ, & of his entrie, the doores being shut. The place through which his body passed, might be whole and shut before and after he passed, but not in the instant of his passing, because that is contrary to the nature of a true body, such as his was. Cyrillus saith, Our Lord entred vnto his disciples suddenly by his omnipotencie, after the doores were shut, ouercomming the nature of things, with more wordes to the same effect, arguing nothing but that hee came in after a wonderfull maner, which we doe acknowledge: yet not altering the nature of his body, but subduing the nature of other things to himselfe, as he sheweth, in his walking vpon the water. Which Hierome also alledgeth, to proue the miraculous entring of Christ. But though he entred after the doores were shut, which the nature of humane bodies doth not suffer, therefore we shall deny both Peter and our Lord, to haue had true bodies, because they walked vpon the waters, which is against nature. By this it appeareth, hee meaneth a marueilous maner of entring, but yet such, as taketh not away the trueth of Christs body, from which, if you take distance of place, (as Augustine saith,) you take the body cleane away: Or if you take the bodies from the qualities of bodies, (he meaneth essential qualities) there shal be no place where they may be, and if they be no where, they be not at all. This saith S. Augustine of the nature of Christes body, agreeable to the nature of all true bodies. Ep. 57. Leo saith, Ideo & clausis ad discipulos ostij's introibat, & flatu suo dabat Spiritum sanctum, & dato intelligentiæ lumine sanctarum Scripturarum occulta pandebat, & rursus idem vulnus lateris, fixuras clauorum, & omnia recentissimæ passionis signa monstrabat, dicens, Videte manus meas & pedes quia ego sum. Palpate & videte quia spiritus carnem & ossa non habet, sicut me videtis habere. Vt agnosceretur in eo proprietas diuinæ humanæque naturæ individua permanere, & ita sciremus verbum non hoc esse, quod carnem, & vnum Dei filium, & verbum confiteremur & carnem. Now, what God is able to doe if he wil, we doubt not: but when we know his wil by his word, concerning the trueth of our Sauiour Christs humane body, wherein he was made like vnto vs, in all things. Heb 2, 17. &c. we can not admit such miracles, as be contrary to his will reueiled in his word, vpon pretence of his Almighty power. And if you detest the heresie of the Vbiquetaries, as contrary to faith, and the common rules of nature and diuinitie, for the same reasons, you should leaue your heresie, of the body of Christ being in many places at once, and yet without the due space of place, whereby according to S. Augustines rule, it is made to bee in no place, and consequently, to be no body at all.

RHEM. 3 21. As my Father.) As when he gaue them commission to preach and baptize through the world, he made mention of his owne power therein: so here before he institute the Sacrament of penance, and giue them authority to remit sinnes, lest the wicked should aske afterward, by what right they do such great functions, he sheweth his Fathers commission giuen to him selfe, and then in plaine termes most amply imparteth the same to his Apostles: that whosoeuer deny the Apostles and their successors, the priests of Gods Church, to haue right to remit sinnes, should deny cõsequently Christ as man to haue authority to do the same.

Christ sheweth his commission and so giueth the Apostles power to remit sinnes.

FVLKE. 3 In the wordes of Christ, is no institution of any Sacrament, because there is no visible element, whereunto the word may be added to make a Sacrament. But he renueth the commission granted before to his Apostles, and to their successors, by declaring the pleasure of God to pronounce sentence of forgiuenes of sinnes to all that are truly penitent, and of the reteining of them to the obstinate and impenitent. And this is the auctoritie that the Apostles, and all Ministers of the word and Sacraments their successors haue, to forgiue and reteine sinnes. Tunc vera est absolutio Præsidentis, &c. saith Gregory B. of Rome. Then the absolution of the President, or ouerseer is true, when it followeth the pleasure of the eternall Iudge. Hom. 26. in Euang.

No Sacrament of Penance inſtituted by Christ.

RHEM. 4 22. He breathed.) Hee giueth the holy Ghost in and by an external signe, to his Apostles, not visibly and to al such purposes as afterward at Whitsuntide, but for the grace of the Sacrament of Orders, as S. Augustine saith, and that none make doubt of the Priestes right in remission of sinnes, seeing the Holy Ghost is purposely giuen them to do this same. In which case if any bee yet contentious, he must deny the Holy Ghost to be God, and not to haue power to remit sinnes. It is not absurd (saith S. Cyril) that they forgiue sinnes, which haue the Holy Ghost. For when they remit or reteine, the Holy Ghost remitteth or reteineth in them, and that they doe two wayes, first in Baptisme, and then in Penance. As S. Ambrose also (li. 1 c. 7. de pœnitentia) refelling the Nouatians (a Sect of old Heretikes which pretending Gods glory as our new Sectaries do, denied that Priestes could remit sinnes in the Sacrament of Penance) asketh, why it should be more dishonour to God, or more impossible or inconuenient for men to forgiue sinnes by Penance then by Baptisme, seeing it is the Holy Ghost that doeth it, by the Priests office and ministery in both.

FVLKE. 4 He giueth the holy Ghost by a visible signe, to assure them of the auctoritie which he gaue them, which was by preaching the Gospel to remit, and reteine sinnes, for which purpose, he opened their mind, that they might vnderstand the Scriptures. Luc. 24, 45. &c. That you adde he did it for the grace of the Sacrament of orders, as S. Augustine saith, it is an impudent vntrueth: for neither that counterfeit Augustine whom you quote first, nor the true Augustine. Cont. ep. Parm. l. 2. c. 11. doth once name the Sacrament of orders. For of the power or grace that is giuen to them that are ordeined ministers of the Church, the question is not now: but whether there be any Sacrament of orders: and whether this power be absolute, or folowing the iudgement of God: to be executed by preaching and declaring the wil of God out of his word, or by ceremonie onely. Concerning which matter, S. Augustine saith in the place by you alleaged, that Christ by giuing the holy Ghost, when hee gaue power of remission of sinnes. Satis ostendit, &c. Doeth shew sufficiently, that they doe it not, but the holy Ghost verely by them, as is said said in another place. For it is not you that speake, but the holy Ghost which is in you. And the holy Ghost is so in the gouernour or Minister of the Church, that if he be not an hypocrite, the holy Ghost worketh by him, both to his owne reward, vnto eternall health: and to the regeneration or edification of them, which by him, are either consecrated, or haue the Gospel preached vnto them. These words declare, what maner of auctoritie, the Ministers of the Church haue, in remission of sinnes, either when they minister the Sacrament of Baptisme, or when they preach the Gospel. S. Cyril also in the place noted, is of the same iudgement with vs. Et certè scimus, &c. And certainely it pertaineth to the onely true God, that he be able to loose men from sinnes. For to what other person is it lawfull, to deliuer the transgressors of the Lawe from sinne, but to the auctor of the Lawe it selfe? For so we see it to be done in mens affaires. For no man without punishment refuseth the Lawes of Kings, but the Kings themselues, in whom the crime of transgression hath no place. For it is wisely saide, that he is vngodly, which will say to a King, thou doest vniustly. How then hath our Saniour giuen to his Disciples, the dignitie and power of the diuine nature? Certainely, because it is not against reason, that sinnes can be forgiuen, by them which haue the holy Ghost in them. For when they remit or reteine, the spirit which dwelleth in them, remitteth or reteineth. And that shall be by them as I thinke by two meanes, by Baptisme, and by repentance. For either they bring men that beleeue and are approued for holines of life, vnto Baptisme, and diligently keepe the vnworthy from it, or when the children of the Church offend, they rebuke them, and pardon them when they repent. As Paul sometimes deliuered the fornicator among the Corinthians, vnto the destruction of the flesh, that his spirit might be saued, and receiued him againe, that he should not be ouerwhelmed with greater sorrow. S. Ambrose hath none other meaning, nor any worde of the Sacrament of penance: but reasoneth against the Nouatians, which denied that sinnes could be forgiuen after Baptisme, by the ministerie of men, wherein you doe impudently belie vs, to match vs with them. His wordes are these: Quid interest, &c. What skilleth it whether the Priestes doe challenge this auctoritie, giuen vnto them, by repentance, or by Baptisme? there is one ministery in both. But thou wilt say, that in Baptisme the grace of the mysteries doeth worke, what in repentance, doth not the Name of God worke? By these wordes it appeareth, that S. Ambrose acknowledgeth no Sacrament of penance or repentance. For then he would haue said: Doth not the same grace of the mysteries worke in penance? Are they not both Sacraments alike? But he saith, doeth not the Name of God worke? meaning that the grace of remission of sinnes, which is granted in the Name of God to the penitent, is as effectual without a Sacrament, as in a Sacrament.

The Popish Sacrament of orders.

Remission of sinnes by the Ministers.

The Popish Sacrament of penance, Slander.

RHEM. 5 23. Whose sinnes.) *Power to offer Sacrifice, which is the principal function and acte of Priesthood, was giuen them at the institution of the B. Sacrament: the second and next special faultie of Priesthod, consisting in remitting sinnes, is here bestowed on them. And with al the holy Sacrament of Penance implying Contrition, Confession, and Satisfaction in the Penitent, and absolution on the Priests part, is instituted. for in that, that expresse power and commission is giuen to Priests to remit or reteine al sinnes: and in that, that Christ promiseth, whose sinnes soeuer they forgiue, they be of God forgiuen also: and whose sinnes they reteine, they be reteined before God: it followeth necessarily, that wee be bound to submit our selues to their iudgement for release of our sinnes. For, this wonderful power were giuen them in vaine, if none were bound to seeke absolution at their hands. Neither can any rightly seeke for absolution of them, vnles they confesse particularly as least al their mortal offences, whether they be committed in minde, hart, wil and *cogitation onely, or in word, and worke. for, Gods Priests being in this Sacrament of Penance constituted in Christs steede as iudges in causes of our conscience, can not rightly rule our cases without ful and exact cognition and knowledge of al our sinnes, and the necessary circumstances and * differences of the same. Which can not otherwise be had of them being mortal men, then by our simple, sincere, and distinct vtterance to them of our sinnes, with humble contrite hart, ready to take and to doe penance according to their iniunction. For that authoritie to reteine sinnes, consisteth specially in enioyning satisfaction and penitential workes of praying, fasting, almes, and such like. Al which Gods ordinance whosoeuer condemneth or contemneth, as Heretikes doe, or neglecteth, as some careles Catholikes may perhaps doe: let them be assured they can not be saued. Neither must any such Christian man presend or looke to haue his sinnes after Baptisme, remitted by God only, without this Sacrament: (which was the old Heresie of the Nouatians* Amb. li. 1. de pœnit. c. 2, Socrat. li. 7. Ec. hist. c. 25.) more then any may hope to be saued or haue his original or other sinnes before Baptisme, forgiuen by God without the same Sacrament. Let no man deceiue himselfe, this is the second table or borde after shipwracke, as S. Hierome calleth it. Whosoeuer take not holde of it, shal perish without al doubt, because they contemne Gods counsel and order for their saluation. And therefore S. Augustine (ep. 180.) ioyning both together, saith it is a pitiful case, when by the absence of Gods Priests, men depart this life, aut non regenerati, aut ligati. that is, either not regenerated by Baptisme, or fast bound, and not absolued by the Sacrament of Penance and reconciliation: because they shalbe excluded from eternal life, and destruction foloweth them. And S. Victor (li. 2. de persecut. Vandalica) telleth the miserable lamentation of the people, when their Priests were banished by the Arian Heretikes. Who (say they) shal baptize these infants? Who shal minister Penance vnto vs, and loose vs from the bands of sinnes? &c. And therefore S. Cyprian very often (namely ep. 54.) calleth it great crueltie, and such as Priestes shall answere for at the latter day, to suffer any man that is pœnitent of his sinnes, to depart this life without this reconciliation and absolution: because (saith he) the Lawmaker him selfe (Christ) hath granted, that things bound in earth, should also be bound in heauen: and that those things might there be loosed, which were loosed before here in the Church. And it is a world to see, howe the Heretikes wrastle with this so plaine a commission of remitting sinnes, referring it to preaching, to denouncing Gods threates vpon sinners, and to we cannot tell what els. though to our English Protestants this authoritie seemeth so cleere, that in their order of visiting the sicke, their Ministers acknowledge and chalenge the same, vsing a formal absolution according to the Churches order, after the speciall confession of the partie. But to conclude the matter, let euery one that list to see the true meaning of Christes wordes, and the Priestes great power and dignitie giuen them by the same wordes and other, marke well these wordes of S. Chrysostome. For, saith he, they that dwell on the earth, and conuerse in it, to them is commission giuen to dispense those things that are in heauen, to them is it giuen to haue the power which God would not to be giuen neither to Angels nor Archangels. for, neither to them was it saide, Whatsoeuer you shall binde in earth, shall bee bound in heauen: and whatsoeuer you shall loose in earth, shall be loosed in heauen. The earthly Princes in deede haue also power to binde, but the bodies onely: but that bond of Priestes which I speake of, toucheth the very soule it selfe and reacheth euen to the heauens: in so much that whatsoeuer the Priests shall doe beneath, the selfe same God doeth ratifie aboue, and the sentence of the seruants of the Lord doeth confirme. for in deede what els is this, then that the power of all heauenly things is granted them of God? Whose sinnes soeuer, saith he, you shall reteine, they are reteined. What power (I beseech you) can be greater then this one? The Father gaue al power to the Sonne: but I see the same power altogether deliuered by the Sonne vnto them. And as this concerneth the Priests high authoritie to absolue, so thereupon concerning confession also to be made vnto them, the ancient Fathers speake in this sort. S. Cyprian de Lapsis nu. 11. They (saith he) that haue greater faith and feare of God, though they did not fall in persecution, yet because they did onely thinke it in their minde, this very cogitation they confesse to Gods Priestes sorowfully and plainely, opening their conscience, vttering and discharging the burden of their minde, and seeking holsome medicine for their wounds though but small and Secret or auricular Confession. Mat. 18.

In vita D. Amb. prope finem.

LUKE. 5 At the institution of the holy Sacrament of our Lords Supper, there was no word of sacrifice or power of sacrificing giuen to Priestes. But where you say, the second faculty of Priesthood, consisting in power to remit sinnes, is here instituted: you confesse they were made but halfe priests before. But how I pray you could they baptise or minister the Lords Supper, without power of remission of sinnes vnto the penitent? Therefore here is no sacrament of penance instituted, but the auctoritie of their Apostleship, confirmed and reuiued vnto them and their successors, ministers of the Church. Moreouer, you shall neuer be able to proue, that the power of remission of sinnes doeth emply confession to a priest, or satisfaction of worke: neither is there any word in the holy Scriptures, to declare these two partes necessary to repentance. Neither doth it follow of any necessitie, that men are bound to submit themselues to the iudgement of priests, if they haue auctoritie to forgiue sinnes. Neither were their power giuen in vaine, if none were bound to seeke absolution at their hands: for they are bound to offer it to all true penitent sinners, although they seeke it not at their hands, yea to exhort and to desire men to be reconciled vnto God by their ministerie, 2. Cor. 5. 20. Luke 24. 47. Againe, men may seeke absolution at their hands, though they be not bound to submit themselues to their iudgement, nor yet to confesse all or any of their particular mortall sinnes vnto them. And where you quote Cyprian de Lapsis, hee speaketh not one word of the necessitie of confession of all sinnes to a priest, but of them that had openly fallen to idolatrie, who were bound openly to acknowledge their sinne, before they could be receiued into the communion of the faithfull: commending them also, which although they had not openly fallen, yet hauing but onely thought to yeeld to Idolatrie, being pricked in conscience confessed the same to the priest, and sought comfort and holsome medicine, though it were but for small wounds, in comparison of them that had yeelded in acte. S. Hierome saith, That as in the Lawe the Priest maketh the leper cleane or vncleane, so here also the Bishop or priest bindeth or looseth, not them that are innocent or guiltie, but according to his office, when hee heareth the diuersities of sinners, hee knoweth who is to be bound, and who to be loosed. Here is no word of the necessitie of Confession, but onely he sheweth that the Bishop or priest, hath none other power of binding and loosing, then the priest of the Lawe had in making cleane or vncleane, which he did none otherwise, but by declaring and pronouncing who was cleane, and who was vncleane: so the minister of the Church, hearing that there be sinners penitent and vnpenitent, knoweth to binde the one, and loose the other.

The Popish sacrament of penance.

Moreouer where you say, the auctoritie to reteine sinnes, consisteth specially in enioyning satisfaction &c. it is altogether without the testimony of the holy Scriptures, yea contrary to the same, which teach that all penitent sinners are by the ministerie of the Church, to be assured of remission of their sinnes freely through the redemption of Christ, Rom. 3. 24. 25. 1. Ioh. 2. 1. and 2. &c. For by the death of Christ, is made a full satisfaction to the iustice of God for our sinnes, and not by any workes of ours. Christian men therefore looke to haue remission of their sinnes in the Church, and by the ministery thereof after baptisme, contrary to the heresie of the Nouatians, but not by any sacrament of penance. For neither Ambrose, Socrates, or Hierome, doe once name the sacrament of penance in the places noted: but shew that the ministers of the Church haue auctoritie aswell to loose, as to binde, to forgiue sinnes, as to reteine: whereas the Nouatians granted the one, and denied the other. S. Augustine ioyning reconciliation of them that are bound to Baptisme, doeth not thereby acknowledge a sacrament of the one, aswell as of the other. The like is to be said of the lamentation described by Victor Vticensis: and the complaint of Cyprian Ep. 54: for the necessitie of reconciliation by the ministery of the Church, of those that are bound by the same, doeth not proue a sacrament of penance, which is the matter we stand vpon. That the power here giuen, is exercised by preaching & denouncing the promises or threats of God, either publikely or priuately, you know not what it meaneth: but euen the Fathers whom you haue cited, do testifie the same, as appeareth by their sayings before remembred. That confession may be made profitably, when a mans conscience cannot otherwise be satisfied, wee deny not: but that it is alwayes necessary for obteyning remission of sinnes, we vtterly deny. The saying of Chrysostom we acknowledge, vnderstanding this power to be giuen to the ministers of the Church, as Embassadors of Christ, whose sentence being vttered in earth according to their commission, is ratified in heauen. But how this power is exercised, Chrysostome also sheweth cap. 6. of the same booke, οὐ μόνον διδάσκων μόνον, &c. not onely by teaching and admonishing, but also by prayer. And concerning the necessitie of Confession to the Priest, what Cyprian saith in his booke de Lapsis, I haue shewed before. The former place is a commendation of them which confessed, euen their purpose of defiling themselues with idolatrie, though they did not accomplish it in acte, in comparison of other that would be restored to the fellowship of the Church, without any confession when they had actually and openly fallen: which doeth not argue any necessitie of confession in the same or in any such. In the second place he vrgeth open confession and satisfaction to the Church which by their fall was offended, of them that had openly fallen into Idolatrie. So the place nothing proueth the necessitie of confession of all sinnes, not satisfaction to the iustice of God. Cyril also, or Origen, in Leu. lib. 2. speaketh of hard discipline and open penance for open and heinous sinnes: the wordes are these. Est adhuc & septima, &c. There is yet a seuenth way of remission of sinnes, although hard and laborious, remission of sinnes by repentance, when the sinner washeth his bed with teares, and his teares are made his bread day and night, when he is not ashamed to declare his sinne to the Lords priest, and to seeke medicine according to him which saith, I said I will confesse mine vnrighteousnesse against my selfe, and thou hast remitted the impietie of my heart. You must remember there are sixe other wayes of remission of sinnes, in which no confession vnto the Priest is required, neither is it here required as necessary, but in case of that hard and labourous kinde of repentance, which was appointed to open and notorious offenders. And yet by the text of the Prophet, which he citeth, it may seeme he meaneth by the Priest of God, our Saviour Christ: for the Prophet speaketh of confession to God onely. Tertullian in his booke de pœnitentia, speaketh onely of publike confession of them that had openly fallen. S. Hierom in Eccles. 10. saith, Si quem serpens &c. If the serpent the deuil hath bitten any man priuily, and without any mans knowledge hath infected him with the poyson of sinne, if he that is stricken doth hold his peace, and doe not repent, nor wil confesse his wound to his brother and master, the master which hath a tongue to cure him, cannot easily profite him: for if the sicke man be ashamed to confesse his wound to the Physition which hee knoweth not, medicine or physicke heale not. This place doth not inferre a necessitie of confession, but where the conscience is especially troubled, nor to the priest, but to any learned brother, which by comfortable exhortation may cure him. S. Basil saith, The confession or declaration of sinnes, is after the same maner as the shewing of the passions of the body. Therefore as men doe not open the passions of their body to all men, nor to any kinde of men, but to those that are skilfull to cure them, so the confession of sinnes ought to be made, to them that are able to heale them, as it is written: you that are able, beare the infirmities of the weake, that is, take them away by carefull looking to them. These words do not affirme, that all our sinnes must of necessitie be confessed to a priest, but that choise must bee made of a godly learned physition of the soule, when we do make declaration of any of them, whether he be priest or no, that is able to minister spiritual medicine vnto them. Whereby it may rightly be gathered, that in vaine men make their confession to many Popish priests, which be altogether vnlearned, and vnskilful. Basil speaketh for the instruction of them that liued in monasteries in his time, among whom many were learned and able to giue good counsell that were no priests. But Leo you say nameth priests Ep. 80. he doeth so in deed, and secret confession as sufficient against them, that required open confession as necessary: yet saith hee not, that confession to the priest of all sinnes, is alwayes necessary. For that it is expedient in some cases, for men to confesse their sinnes to their pastor, we denie not, but you haue not yet proued, that it is alwayes necessary. The wordes of Hierome be as I haue declared before. Cum peccatorum audierit varietates, when he hath heard the diuersities or diuers kindes of sinnes, hee knoweth who is to be bound, or who to be loosed: namely, the penitent to be loosed, the impenitent to be bound. Which hee cannot do, by hearing the varietie of sinnes: for all sinnes are to be pardoned to them that repent, and no sinne is to be remitted to the impenitent. That Ambrose heard sometimes secret confessions, and kept them secret, wee giue credite to Paulinus: but that confession of all sinnes to a priest, is necessary to obteine remission of sinnes, neither Ambrose nor Paulinus, nor any ancient godly Father doeth tel vs. S. August. ho. 49. speaketh of open penance for them that had openly committed adulterie, as it appeareth by the example of Theodosius the Emperour, which he bringeth to perswade them, saying, God would haue the Emperour Theodosius to doe open penance in the sight of the people, specially because his sinne could not be kept close, and is the Senator ashamed, of that the Emperour was not ashamed? I haue answered before to S. Ambrose, and S. Cyprian, that neither of them speaketh a word for the necessitie of confession of all sinnes to a priest. The auctor of the booke, de vera & falsa pœnitentia writeth against S. Augustine by name, and by the stile sheweth himselfe to be a late writer in comparison of S. Augustine. Yet he thinketh not confession to a priest to be so necessary, but that if a priest be wanting, a man may confesse to his neighbour, and shal haue pardon, as the lepers that went to shew their faces to the Priests, were healed before they came to them. But that confession of secret sinnes is not necessary to be made to any man, but onely to God, Chrysostome sheweth Hom. de pœnitent. & confessione: It is not necessary to confesse in the presence of witnesses, let examination of thine offences be made in thought, let this iudgement be without a witnes, let God only see thee making thy confession: God which casteth not thy sinnes in thy teeth, but looseth thy sinnes for thy shame. Againe in Ep. ad Heb. hom. 31. I say not to thee, that thou oughtest to bewray thy selfe abroade, nor that thou shouldest accuse thy selfe before other men. But I will haue thee obey the Prophet saying, Reueile thy way to the Lord, confesse thy sinnes therefore before God. The like saying he hath in Ps. 50. hom. 2. and in many other places of his workes. For more ful triall of this case, I referre the Reader to my Confutation of D. Allens bookes, written specially to maintaine Popish shrift, part 1. from the 10. Chapter to the ende. Chap. 15.

RHEM. 1 Appearing againe in Galilee, where Peter was fishing with his fellowes: and causing them after they had al night taken none, to catch a great multitude, which Peter draweth to land, where he also dineth with them: 15 He (expressing what this fishing signified) maketh Peter his Vicar, committing vnto him the feeding of his lambes and sheepe: 18 and reuealeth vnto him, that he also shall be crucified to the glory of God, 20 and admonishing him rather to minde that, rather then to be curious about Iohns death.

FVLKE. 1 Christ maketh not Peter his Vicar generall, more then euery one of his Apostles, who had euery one a generall charge of all the flocke of Christes sheepe.

THE GOSPEL on wednesday in Easter weeke.

AFter IESVS manifested him selfe againe at the sea of Tiberias. And he manifested thus:

2 There were together Simon Peter and Thomas who is called Didymus, and Nathanael which was of Cana in Galilee, and the sonnes of Zebedee, and two others of his disciples.

3 Simon Peter saith to them, I go to fish. They say to him, Wee also come with thee. And they went foorth and got vp into the boat: and that night they tooke nothing.

4 But when morning was nowe come, IESVS stood on the shore: yet the disciples knew not that it was IESVS.

5 IESVS therfore saith to them, Children, haue

AFterward did Iesus shewe him selfe againe to his disciples at the sea of Tiberias, and on this wise shewed he himselfe.

2 There were together Simon Peter, and Thomas, which is called Didymus, and Nathanael of Cana in Galilee, and the sonnes of Zebedee, and two other of his disciples.

3 Simon Peter saith vnto them, I goe a fishing. They say vnto him, Wee also goe with thee. They went their way, and entred into a shippe immediatly, and that night caught they nothing.

4 But when the morning was now come, Iesus stood on the shore: neuertheless, the disciples knew not that it was Iesus.

5 Iesus saith vnto them, Children, haue yee any haue you any meat? They answered him, No.

6 He saieth to them, Cast the net on the right side of the boate: and you shall finde. They therefore did cast it: and nowe they were not able to draw it for the multitude of fishes.

7 That his disciple therefore whom IESVS loued, saith to Peter, It is our Lord. ‡Simon Peter when hee had heard that it is our Lord, girded his coate vnto him (for hee was naked) and cast himselfe into the sea.

8 But the other Disciples came in the boat (for they were not farre from the land, but as it were two hundred cubits) drawing the net of fishes.

9 Therefore after they came downe to land, they saw hote coales lying, and fish laid thereon and bread.

10 IESVS saieth to them, Bring hither of the fishes that you tooke now.

11 Simon Peter went vp, and drewe the net to the land, ful of great fishes, an hundred fiftie three. And although they were so many, the net was not broken.

12 IESVS saith to them, Come, dine. And none of [u] the disciples. thē that sate at meat, durst aske him, Who art thou? knowing that it is our Lord.

13 And IESVS commeth and taketh the bread and giueth them, and the fish in like maner.

14 This now the ‡ third time IESVS was manifested to his disciples, after he was risen from the dead.

15 Therfore when they had dined, IESVS saith to Simon Peter, Simon of Iohn, louest thou me more then these? He sayeth to him, Yea Lord: thou knowest that I loue thee. he saith to him, FEED MY LAMBS.

16 Hee sayeth to him againe, Simon of Iohn, louest thou me? he sayeth to him, Yea Lord, thou knowest that I loue thee. He saith to him, [c] FEED MY LAMBS.

17 He sayeth to him the third time, Simon of Iohn, louest thou me? Peter was stroken sad, because hee sayd vnto him the third time, Louest thou me? And hee sayd to him, Lord, thou knowest all things: thou knowest that I loue thee. He saith to him, ‖ FEED MY SHEEPE.

18 Amen, amen I say to thee, when thou wast yoonger, thou didst gird thy selfe, and didst walke where thou wouldest. but when thou shalt be olde, thou shalt stretch foorth thy hands, and ‖ an other shall gird thee, and leade thee whither thou wilt not.

19 And this hee sayd, signifying by what death he should glorify God. And [b] when he had said this, he saith to him, Follow me.

20 Peter turning, saw the disciple whom IESVS loued, following, * who also leaned at the supper vpon his breast, and sayd, Lord who is he that shall betray thee?

any meat? They answered him, No.

6 And hee sayeth vnto them, Cast out the net on the right side of the shippe, and yee shall finde. They cast out therefore, and anon they were not able to draw it for the multitude of fishes.

7 Then sayd the disciple whom Iesus loued, vnto Peter, It is the Lord. When Simon Peter heard that it was the Lord, hee girded his coat vnto him (for hee was naked) and did cast himselfe into the sea.

8 The other disciples came in a litle shippe, (for they were not farre from the lande, but as it were two hundred cubits) drawing the net with fishes.

9 Assoone then as they were come to land, they saw hote coales, and fish layed thereon, and bread.

10 Iesus sayeth vnto them, Bring of the fish, which ye haue now caught.

11 Simon Peter went vp, and drewe the net to the land full of great fishes, an hundred and fiftie and three, and for all there were so many, yet was not the net broken.

12 Iesus sayeth vnto them, Come, and dine. And none of the disciples durst aske him, Who art thou? knowing that it was the Lord.

13 Iesus then commeth, and taketh bread, and giueth them, and fish likewise.

14 This is nowe the third time that Iesus appeared to his Disciples, after that hee was risen from death.

15 So when they had dined, Iesus saith to Simon Peter, Simon † Ioanna, loueſt thou me more then these? He sayth vnto him, Yea, Lord, thou knowest that I loue thee. Hee sayth vnto him, Feed my lambs. † Or, sonne of Iona.

16 He saieth to him againe the second time, Simon Ioanna, louest thou me? he saith vnto him, Yea Lord, thou knowest that I loue thee. He saith vnto him, Feed my sheepe.

17 He sayd vnto him the third time, Simon Ioanna, louest thou me? Peter was sory, because he sayd vnto him the third time, Louest thou mee? And he sayd vnto him, Lord, thou knowest all things, thou knowest that I loue thee: Iesus saith vnto him, Feed my sheepe.

18 Verily, verily I say vnto thee, when thou wast yoonger, thou diddest gird thy selfe, and walke whither thou wouldest: but when thou shalt be olde, thou shalt stretch foorth thy handes, and another shall gird thee, and carie thee whither thou wouldest not.

19 This spake hee, signifying by what death he should glorifie God. And when he had spoken this, he sayth vnto him, Follow me.

*20 Peter turning about, seeth the Disciple whom * Iesus loued, following, which also leaned on his breast at supper, and said, Lord, which is he that betrayeth thee?* Ioh. 13. 23.

21 When

21 Him therefore when Peter had seene, he saith to IESVS, Lord, and this man what?

22 IESVS sayeth to him, [c] So I wil haue him to remaine till I come, what to thee? follow thou me.

23 This saying therefore went abroad among the brethren, that that disciple dieth not. And IESVS did not say to him, he dieth not: but, So I will haue him to remaine till I come, what to thee?

24 This is that disciple which giueth testimonie of these things, and hath written these things: and we know that his testimonie is true.

25 But there * are many ‡ other things also which IESVS did: which if they were written in particular, neither the world it selfe I thinke were able to conteine these books that should be written.

21 When Peter therefore saw him, he sayeth to Iesus, Lord, what shall he do?

22 Iesus sayeth vnto him, If I will haue him to tarie till I come, what is that to thee? Follow thou me.

23 Then went this saying abroad among the brethren, that that disciple should not die: Yet Iesus sayd not vnto him, He shall not die: but, If I will that hee tarie till I come, what is that to thee?

24 The same disciple is he which testifieth of these things, and wrote these things, and we know that his testimonie is true.

25 * There are also manie other things which Iesus did, the which if they should be written euery one, I suppose the world coulde not conteine the bookes that should be written. Amen. Ioh.20.30

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. XXI.

RHEM. 2 7. Simon Peter.) See in S. Augustine tract. 122. in Io. the great mystery hereof concerning the CHVRCH, and in S. Gregory hom. 24. in Euang. and S. Bernard li. 2. c. 8. de consid. Peters PRIMACY here mystically signified.

FVLKE, 2 S. Augustine in that allegorie, doth not in one word signifie the preferment of Peter before the rest of the Apostles. If Gregorie himselfe a bishop of Rome, and so neere the open manifestation of Antichrist in that see, that he prophesied of the forerunner, gather some thing for Peters primacie, it is no maruell: yet it is litle that he sayth in this Hom. 24. for the Popes supremacie. His words are these: Iam credo, &c. I thinke your charity doeth already consider what it is that Peter draweth the net to the land. For to him the holy Church was committed, to him it is sayd specially, Simon Iohannis, louest thou me? Feed my sheepe. That which is afterward opened in voice is now signified in worke. Therefore, because a preacher of the Church doeth separate vs from the wayes of this world, surely it is necessary that Peter draw to land the net full of fishes. For he draweth the fishes to the stedfastnesse of the shore, because by the voice of holy preaching he sheweth to the faithfull the stedfastnesse of their eternall countrey. This he did by words, this he did by epistles, this he doth dayly by signes of miracles. So often as by him we are conuerted to the loue of eternall rest: so often as we are separated from the tumults of earthly things: what are wee els, but sent into the net of faith, as fishes, and drawen to the shore? In these words, there is no more granted to Peter, then was true of all the Apostles, yea, then is true of euery preacher of the Gospel. Bernard is so late a writer, that in these cases, we deferre nothing to his authoritie. Peters preeminence or primacy.

RHEM. 3 25. Other things also.) How few things are written of Christes acts and doctrine in comparison of that which he did and spake, and yet the heretikes will needs haue all in Scripture, trusting not the Apostles owne preaching, or report of any thing that our Master did or sayd, if it be not written.

FVLKE, 3 There is written sufficient, that we may beleeue that Iesus is Christ, and that beleeuing we may haue life in his name, Ioh. 20. 31. therefore all things necessarie to saluation are conteined in the Scriptures. The Euangelist sayeth not, that any thing is omitted of his doctrine, but of his acts: For though he spake more words then be expressed, yet all the doctrine that he vttered in those words, is conteined in the Scriptures of the olde and new Testament. The Apostles preached nothing but that which was conteined in the Scriptures. Act. 17. 11. and 26. 22. Rom. 1. 2. Gregorius Bæticus Hibertanæ sedis episcopus ad Gallam Placidiam: Adoptione, inquit Christus filius Dei est, & non verus filius. Omnia legantur Euangelia & nusquam scriptum est quòd Christus adoptione sit filius & non verus filius. Et bene quod Ioannes illi, Ioannes recubans supra pectus Domini, causam scripti Euangelij posuit, & dixit, multa quidem &c. Efine opus adhuc apertiùs explanare? Multa inquit & alia signa fecit Iesus, & licet non sint omnia scripta, quia nec scribi poterant infinita rerum varietate, tamen hæc ipsa ideò scripta sunt, vt sciamus quòd Iesus est Christus filius Dei: & vt fidem singulorum prouocaret, ostendit & præmium dicens vt credentes &c. Si verò adoptione esset filius Dei, & non natura, si sola nuncupatione, & non etiam quod in nuncupationis intelligentia est, nusquam magis hoc ipsum explanasset quam in vltimo scriptionis, ne fides in ambiguo derelicta vitam æternam perderet per credulitatis incertum. The sufficiencie of the holy Scriptures.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. XXI.

RHEM. 4 17. Feed my sheepe.) As it was promised him Math. 16, that the Church should be builded vpon him, and that the keyes of heauen should be giuen him, so here it is performed, and he is actually made the generall pastor and gouernour of all Christs sheepe. For though the other ten (as Matthias and Paul also afterward) were Apostles, Bishops, Priests, and had authority to binde and loose, to remit and reteine, to preach, baptize, and such like, aswell as he: Yet in these things and all other gouernment, Christ would haue him to be their head, and they to depend of him as head of their College, & consequently of the whole flocke of Christ: no Apostle nor no Prince in earth (if he acknowledge himselfe to be a sheepe of Christ) exempted from his charge. And that Christ maketh a difference betwixt Peter and the rest, and giueth him some greater preeminence and regiment then the rest, it is plaine by that he is asked whether he loue our Lord more then the other Apostles do: Where, for equall charge no difference of loue had bene required. To Peter (sayth S. Cyprian) our Lord after his Resurrection sayd, Feed my sheepe, and builded his Church vpon him alone, and to him he giueth the charge of feeding his sheepe. For although after his Resurrection he gaue his power alike to all, saying, As my Father sent me, so I send you, take the holy Ghost, if you remit to any their sinnes, they shalbe remitted, &c. Yet to manifest vnitie, he constituted one Chaire, and so disposed by his authority that vnity should haue origine of one. The rest of the Apostles were that Peter was, in equall fellowship of honour and power, but the beginning commeth of vnity: the primacy is giuen to Peter, that the Church of Christ may be shewed to be one, and one Chaire. S. Chrysostome also sayth thus: Why did our Lord shed his bloud? truly to redeeme those sheepe, the cure of which he committed both to Peter and also to his successours. And a litle after, Christ would haue Peter indued with such Peter is here made the generall Pastour, and the Church is builded vpon him, Libro 2. de Sacerd.

The Protestants otherwise doing this preeminence of Peter, yet to vphold their Archbishops, do accompt it against the Puritans.

Peters successors succeed him in vniuersall authoritie.

such authoritie, and to be farre aboue all his other Apostles: for he saith: Peter, doest thou loue me more then all these doe? Whereupon our Master might haue inferred, If thou loue me Peter, vse much fasting, sleepe on the hard floore, watch much, be patron to the oppressed, father to the orphans, and husband to the widowes: but omitting all these things, he saith, Feed my sheepe. For, all the foresayd vertues certes may be done easily of many subiects, not onely men but women: but when it commeth to the gouernment of the Church, and committing the charge of so many soules, all women kinde must needs wholly giue place to the burthen and greatnesse thereof, and a great number of men also. So writeth he.

And because the Protestants would make the vnlearned thinke, that S. Gregory deemed the Popes supremacy to be wholly vnlawfull and Antichristian, for that he condemneth Iohn of Constantinople for vsurping the name of vniuersall Bishop, resembling his insolence therein to the pride of Antichrist: note well the words of this holy Father in the very same place and Epistle against the B. of Constantinople, by which you shall easily see that to deny him to be vniuersall Bishop, is not to deny Peter or the Pope to be head of the Church, or supreme gouernour of the same, as our aduersaries fraudulently pretend. It is plaine to all men, saith he, that euer read the Gospel, that by our Lords mouth the charge of the whole Church was committed to S. Peter Prince of the Apostles. for to him it was sayd, Feed my sheepe: for him was the prayer made that his faith should not faile: to him were the keyes of heauen giuen and authority to binde and loose: to him the cure of the Church and principality was deliuered: and yet he was not called the vniuersall Apostle. This title indeed was offered for the honour of S. Peter Prince of the Apostles, to the Pope of Rome by the holy Councell of Chalcedon: but none of that See did euer vse it or consent to take it. Thus much S. Gregory. * Who though he both practised iurisdiction thorowout all Christendome, as other of that See haue euer done, and also acknowledged the principality and soueraignty to be in Peter and his successours: yet would he not for iust causes vse that title subiect to vanity and misconstruction. But both hee and all the Popes since haue rather called themselues, Seruos seruorum Dei, the seruants of Gods seruants: though the word, Vniuersall Bishop, in that sense wherein the holy Councell of Chalcedon offered it to the See of Rome, was true and lawfull. For that Councell would not haue giuen any Antichristian or vniust title to any man. Onely in the B. of Constantinople and other, which in no sense had any right to it, and who vsurped it in a very false and tyrannicall meaning, it was insolent, vniust, and antichristian. See also the Epistles of S. Leo the Great concerning his practise of vniuersall iurisdiction, though he refused the title of vniuersall Bishop. And S. Bernard (that you may better perceiue that the generall charge of Christs sheepe was not onely giuen to Peters person, but also to his successours the Popes of Rome, as S. Chrysostome also before alledged doth testifie) writeth thus to Eugenius, Thou art he to whom the keyes of heauen are deliuered, and to whom the sheepe are committed. there be other Porters of heauen, and other Pastours of flocks: but thou hast inherited in more glorious and different sort. For they haue euery one their particular flocke, but to thee all vniuersally, as one flocke to one man, are credited: being not onely the Pastour of the sheepe, but the one Pastour of all the Pastours themselues. but thou wilt aske me how I proue that? euen by our Lords word. for to whom of all, I say not onely Bishops, but Apostles, were the sheepe so absolutely and without limitation committed? If thou loue me Peter, feed my sheepe. He sayth not, the people of this kingdome or that city, but, my sheepe, without all distinction. So S. Bernard. And hereunto may be added that the second feed, is in Greeke a word that signifieth withall to gouerne and rule, as Psa.2. Mich.5. Mat.2. Apoc.2. and therefore it is spoken of Dauid also, and other temporall gouernours (as the Hebrew word answering thereunto) in the * Scriptures very often, and the Greeke in profane writers also.

S. Gregory though hee misliked the title of Vniuersall Bishop, yet is most plaine both in his writings & doings for the Popes supremacy, as also S. Leo the Great.

The title of vniuersall Bishop refused, but vniuersall iurisdiction alwayes acknowledged and practised.

The Pope is Pastour of all Pastours.

1. Reg.c.5. Psal.77.

As Mat.16. the Church was promised to be builded none otherwise vpon Peter, then vpon all the Apostles, and that the keyes of heauen should be giuen to him, no more then to all the Apostles: so Peter here is made no more generall Pastour and gouernour of Christs flocke, then all and euery one of the Apostles is. Nor all the Logicke in the world can otherwise conclude out of the words of the text. Neither doe the Protestants to vpholde their Archbishop against the Puritans (as you call them) auouch or proue any such preeminence of Peter aboue the rest of the Apostles, that he should be their head, and they to depend of him, nor acknowledge any primacy of Peter, but a primacy of order (as the ancient Fathers do) not of authority. The Archbishops authority for externall gouernment of the Church, hath better arguments to vphold it, then the fained supremacy of Peter. Your onely reason to prooue a difference of preeminence betwixt Peter and the rest, is, that Christ asked Peter whether he loued him more then the rest. Where for equall charge, no difference of loue had bene required. This is nothing but a foolish sophisme, where that is taken for the cause, which is not the cause indeed. For the cause why Peter was bound to loue Christ more then the rest, was, for that Christ had forgiuen him more then the rest, according to the parable, Luke 7. For hauing thrise denied him, he causeth him thrise to confesse that hee loued him, and willeth him to declare his greater loue, by more diligent and painfull feeding of his flocke. Wherefore Peters greater loue prooueth not any greater authority giuen vnto him, but that he is bound to greater duety and seruice in the Church of Christ. And this is the vniforme consent of the most ancient writers vpon this text. S. Augustine finding no supremacy of Peter in this Scripture, proueth thereby the duety of all shepheards to feed the flocke of Christ, for the loue of Christ. Sed prius Dominus, &c. Our Lord doth first aske that which he knew, and that not once, but twise and thrise: Whether Peter doeth loue him: neither doth he heare any thing of Peter so many times, but that he loueth him: neither doth he commend any thing to Peter so many times, but that his sheepe should be fed. There is rendred to a threefolde denying a threefold confession, lest his tongue should be lesse seruiceable to loue, then it was to feare, and lest death approching should seeme to haue expressed more of his voice, then life present. Let the duety of loue be to feed the Lords flocke, if it were a token of feare to deny the shepheard. They which feed the sheepe of Christ with this minde, that they would haue them to be their sheepe and not Christs, are conuinced to loue themselues and not Christ, of desire of glorying, or ruling, or gaining, not of loue of obeying, of helping and pleasing God. Against these men therefore doeth the voice of Christ watch, so often repeated, whom the Apostle lamenteth, to seeke their owne, and not the things of Christ. Tract.123. in Ioan.

Peters supremacy.

Slander.

S. Cyril finding as litle for Peters supremacy, hath these words, Nam quoniam &c. For seeing Peter which with the rest was adorned by Christ himselfe with the name of Apostleship, denied him thrise in the time of his Passion, there is now of right required of him a triple confession of loue, that thrise denying, might be recompensed with an equall number of confessing. So that which was committed in words, is cured with words. Now he asked of him if he loued more then the rest. For he that had experience of the greater mercy of our Lord toward him, ought of right to be affected with greater loue. For though all the disciples generally were stricken with great feare when our Lord was betrayed, yet Peters offence was greater, who in a very short time denied Christ thrise. Forsomuch therefore as by the mercy of our Sauiour he obteined forgiuenesse of a greater sinne, there is iustly demanded of him greater loue. For to whom more is remitted, he ought to loue more, as he sayth elswhere. Hereof the Church receiueth a rule of asking them thrise, which come to baptisme, that by thrise confessing of Christ, they may be numbred among the faithfull. The teachers of the Church also do learne, that they cannot otherwise be ioyned to Christ, except they study with all care and diligence, that the reasonable sheepe may be well fed, and be in good helth. And a litle after. Therefore by thrise confession of Peter, the crime of thrise denying is auoided. And he sayth, Feed my lambes, ye- nuing vnto him the dignity of Apostleship, left by his denaill that happened by humaine infirmity, it might be thought to haue bene weakened. Lib.12.c.46. in Io.

Chrysostome, though not so plainly, yet sufficiently expresseth the same sense. Multa quidem alia sunt, &c. There are in deed many other things which cause vs to haue trust in God, and which doe declare vs to be noble and approued. But that which doth most of all procure vnto vs the loue of God, it is the loue of our neighbour, which Christ exacteth of Peter: for when they had ended their meat, Iesus sayth to Simon Peter, &c. But wherefore omitting the rest, doth he speake to Peter? He was the mouth of the Apostles, and principall. Wherefore Paul also went to see him, beside the rest, and withall to shew him, that now he was to be trusted: for as though he had forgotten his denial, he doth commit the care of his brethren vnto him, neither mentioneth his denying, nor casteth it in his teeth, he onely sayth, If thou loue me, take care of thy brethren, and that loue which thou hast shewed in all things, and wherein I delight, & thy life which thou diddest say thou wouldest lay downe for me, deliuer it for my sheepe. And a little after he addeth, Ter interrogat, &c. He asketh thrise, and alwayes commandeth the same thing, that he might shew how great care he hath of his sheepe, and that is the greatest argument of loue. And lest you should thinke he ascribed greater authority to Peter, then to the rest of the Apostles, for that he sayth in the same homily, that Christ committed to Peter the charge of the whole world: He sayth the same of Peter and Iohn together: Cum essent orbis terrarum curam suscepturi, Seeing they were to take vpon them the charge of the whole world. In Io. hom 87. Therefore his meaning is, that Peter as first in order, was the mouth of the Apostles, to testifie of all their loue, and that was spoken to him of feeding the sheepe of Christ, belongeth equally to all the Apostles. Beda agreeth in words fully with S. Augustine. Now to the places which you cite out of the ancient Fathers: First I say the place of Cyprian is falsified by Pamelius, contrary to the ancient edition in print and many written copies yet remaining, yea contrary to the citation thereof by Gratian in the Decrees. c.24.q.1.c. Loquitur. in which is no mention of the primacy of Peter, and the very argument of the place is directly contrary vnto it. The very wordes of Cyprian be these: Et eidem post resurrectionem suam dicit, Pasce oues meas. Et quamuis apostolis omnibus post resurrectionem suam parem potestatem tribuat ac dicat: Sicut misit me pater, & ego mitto vos, accipite Spiritum sanctum: Si cui remiseritis peccata, remittentur illi. Si cui tenueritis tenebuntur: tamen vt vnitatem manifestaret, vnitatis eiusdem originem, ab vno incipientem, sua authoritate disposuit. Hoc erant vtique & cæteri Apostoli, quod fuit Petrus, pari consortio præditi, & honoris & potestatis, sed exordium ab vnitate proficiscitur, vt ecclesia vna monstretur. To the same Peter he sayth after his resurrection, Feed my sheepe. And although after his resurrection he giueth equall power to all his Apostles, and sayth: As my father sent me, I also send you, receiue the holy Ghost, whose sinnes you shall remit, they shall be remitted vnto him, whose you shall reteine, they shall be retained: yet that he might manifest vnity, he disposed by his authority, the originall of the same vnity, beginning of one. Verely the rest of the Apostles were the same thing that Peter was, endued with equall fellowship, both of honour and power, but the beginning proceeded from one, that the Church may be declared to be one. By this true allegation of Cyprian, which maketh altogether against Peters supremacy, you may see what is shamefully foisted in by the Papists, which now a dayes haue none other shift to keepe their credit with their sottish scholars, but to corrupt and falsifie the writings of the ancient Fathers and others, as appeareth by their Index expurgatorius lately printed to their shame perpetuall, which they determined to haue bene kept in secret. And that Cyprians meaning is, that all bishops haue equall authority, these words in the same booke do plainly conuince: Episcopatus vnus est, cuius à singulis in solidum pars tenetur. The bishops office is but one, part whereof is holden in whole of euery seuerall bishop. So that euery one hath the whole authority for his part. Rabanus Maurus de instit. Cler. lib.1. cap.4. Cæteri Apostoli cum Petro pari consortio honoris & potestatis effecti sunt.

But that the vile practise of the Papists may be layed open, not only in falsifying the writings of the Fathers, but also in wilfull peruerting their meaning against their owne knowledge and conscience, it shall not be amisse to set downe their owne words, namely the iudgement of the Vniuersitie of Doway, approued by the censors according to the decree of the Councell of Trent, concerning the booke of Bertram. The title, Vt liber Bertrami, &c. How the booke of Bertram Priest of the body and bloud of our Lord being amended may be tolerated. Index expurg. B. pag.11.

Although we make no great account of this booke, and therefore we would not greatly care if either it were no where extant or vtterly lost: yet seeing it hath bene already often times reprinted, and hath bene read of most men, and being prohibited by name, hath bene made knowen to all men: seeing also the heretikes doe know of the prohibition thereof by diuers Catalogues, and that he was a Catholike Priest and a Monke of the Abbey of Corbei, and was welbeloued and reuerenced not so much of Carolus Magnus, as of Carolus Caluus, and doth helpe the story of that age: and seeing that in other Catholike ancient writers, we beare very many errours, & extenuate them, excuse them, and very often times by deuising some preety shifts we deny them, and do faine some commodious sense vnto them, when they are opposed against vs in disputations or in conflicts with the aduersaries: we do not see, why Bertram doth not deserue the same equity and diligent recognition, lest the heretikes should iangle against vs, that we burne vp and prohibit antiquity which maketh for them, and therefore it is no maruel that so few things seeme to make for them, when we Catholikes do so vnreuerently hisse out & destroy antiquity, which but in shew dissenteth from vs. Moreouer, we feare lest this booke not only by heretiks, but also by vnruly Catholiks (by meanes of the prohibition thereof) may be read more greedily, alleged more odiously, and do more hurt being inhibited, then if it were permitted. Excogitata Comment.

Vpon these considerations they take order, and shew how this booke at the next printing shalbe falsified, by adding, putting out, changing of the words and sentences, and by peruerting the whole scope and meaning of the authour. Out vpon you antichristian heretikes void of all trueth and honesty, as your owne words and deeds declare.

The sayings of Chrysostome be shamefully wrested to maintaine the Popes supremacie, which he vttered to shew the dignitie of euery Priest, or Minister in the Church. For they are spoken to comfort Basile, whom he set forward to be Priest, when he auoided it himselfe. Wherfore Basile in the beginning of this booke, complaineth that he was deceiued by him, and asketh what he should gaine by this office that he might be perswaded that he was not deceiued. Chrysostome answereth: What greater gaine can there be, then when it is certaine you do those things which Christ himselfe sayd to be arguments of loue towards himselfe. For speaking to the chiefe of the Apostles, he sayd: Peter doest thou loue me, &c. And so proceedeth in all the discourse, shewing out of this text, the great dignitie of the Church Ministers, to whom Christ hath committed the charge of that he loued best, and in exercising of which charge, he would haue our loue towards him, specially to appeare. So in the former place by you cited, he meaneth not by Peters successors only the bishop of Rome, but all good Ministers of the Church. His words are, ἐ τοῖς μετ' ἐκεῖνον, &c. He committed his sheepe to Peter, and to them that come after him. For it had perteined nothing to Basil, if he had spoken of the dignitie and prerogatiue proper to the bishops of Rome. In the second place he sayth, ἐν τῷ, &c. Wilt thou still quarrell with vs, that thou hast not bene well deceiued, when thou shalt be made ruler ouer all the substance of God, and when thou doest the same things, which when Peter did, he would haue him to be of power, and to excell the rest of the Apostles: for he sayth, Peter doest thou loue me more then these, &c. It is manifest Iudex. Bp.

that he meaneth that Basile being called into the ministery of the Church, was made equall with Peter in dignity, if he would indeuour to be equall with him in loue? And that the matter wherein Christ would haue Peter to excell, was in loue and diligent feeding of his sheepe: The charge whereof, is not to be committed but vnto chosen men, such as afterward Chrysostome describeth: and not to the bishop of Rome onely.

Now concerning Gregorie, which condemneth the name of vniuersall bishop as antichristian, we goe not about to cleere him from all vsurpation of iurisdiction more then to his See apperteined. For the mysterie of iniquitie preparing to the open manifestation of Antichrist, long before did worke in the See of Rome. And yet all that he ascribeth to Peter, doeth not make Peter or the Pope, such a supreme gouernour, as you would haue him. That he saith of the Councell of Chalcedon, (seeing it appeareth not in the acts of the Councell, but a contrary decree, wherein the Councell made the bishop of Constantinople equall with the bishop of Rome, notwithstanding all the labour that Leo then bishop of Rome could make by himselfe and his deputies) deserueth no credit. His predecessours alleged a counterfet Canon of the Councell of Nice for their prerogatiue, but the forgerie was discouered in the Councell of Africa, cap. 105. Where you say, the Councell of Chalcedon would not giue any vniust title to any man, you acknowledge the dignity of the See of Constantinople equall to the See of Rome in all things, (seniorities except) to be iust, which was granted and concluded in the last session, Act. 16. And whereas you say, the title of vniuersall bishop offered to the bishop of Rome, (I know not in what sense) was true and lawfull, and onely in the bishop of Constantinople and other which had no right to it, it was insolent, vniust, and antichristian, you speake cleane contrary to Gregories minde, who condemned it as simply vnlawfull in any man, and sayth, That none of his predecessors would vse that so prophane title, although it was offered by the Councell of Chalcedon, lib. 4 ep. 80. ep. 36. and a name of proud appellation, being giuen to himselfe, lib. 7. ep. 30. In the same epistle he denieth, that he commanded the bishop of Alexandria, and saith that such proud termes proceeded from the root of vanity, which ought to be far from his hearing. Whereby it is manifest, that although he thought too highly of the dignity of his See of Rome, yet he was farre from the antichristian pride, of the most that succeeded him. Finally, the reason that he vseth in condemning the name of Vniuersall bishop, and why he refuseth it, doe plainely declare, that it can not be iust or lawfull in any bishop, or in any sense.

Moreouer, we denie not but Leo the Great tooke too much vpon him, as some of his predecessours had done before him, yet did he neuer arrogate halfe so much as the Popes doe at this time. The authority of Bernard, who liued in the time of Antichrists chiefe exaltation, and was in many points deceiued with his errours, is not to be regarded in this controuersie. The Greeke Verbe signifying to gouerne as a shepheard ruleth his sheepe, addeth no more authority to Peter, then to any other bishop or elder of the Church, to whom it is also vsed, Acts 20 28.

18. Another shall gird thee.) *He propheseth of Peters martyrdome, and of the kinde of death which he should suffer, that was, crucifying. which * the heretikes fearing that it were a step to proue he was martyred in Rome, deny: whereas the Fathers and ancient writers are as plaine in this, as that he was at Rome.* Origen apud Euseb. li. 3. c. 1. Euseb. li. 2. c. 24. Hist. Ec. Tertul. de præscript. nu. 14. Aug. tract 123. in Ioan. Chrysost. Beda in hunc locum. Peter crucified at Rome. Beza in hunc locum.

That Peter was martyred, may be concluded out of this place: but that he was crucified, it can not be proued out of the words of this text. And least of all that he was crucified at Rome. And although many of the ancient writers affirme that he died at Rome, yet it may be doubted of, seeing other parts of their report (as of Peters sitting fiue and twenty yeeres at Rome) are confuted by the Scriptures. Beza in this place doth not absolutely deny Peters being at Rome, nor yet his crucifying there; but that most impudent fable of the passion of Peter, bearing the name of Linus, by which it might be concluded, that Peter was iustly condemned for drawing mens wiues from their husbands, but the fable is worthy of no credit. Whether Peter died at Rome. Slander.

		2		Christ is presented in the Temple: where Simeon and Anna prophesie of him.
2				Ioseph with the childe and his mother, fleeth into Egypt: and returneth to Nazareth.
		2		Iesus being sought of his parents, is found in the Temple among the Doctours.
3	1	3		Iohn the Baptist preacheth and baptizeth, preparing all to receiue Christ: and among other, Christ is baptised of him.
4	1	4		Christ fasteth fortie dayes, and is tempted in the wilderneſſe.
			1	Iohn giueth testimonie of Christ to the Legates of the Iewes, to the people, and to his owne disciples.
			2	Christ worketh his first miracle, turning water into wine at a mariage.
			2	In the feast of Pasche he casteth out the buyers and sellers in the Temple, insinuating to the Iewes his death and resurrection.
			3	He teacheth Nicodemus by night: and baptizeth in Iurie by the ministerie of his disciples. whereupon a question is moued to Iohn about their two baptismes.
14	6	3		Iohn Baptist is put into prison for reprehending Herods incestuous aduoutry.
4			4	After Iohns imprisonment, Christ returning into Galilee by Samaria, talketh with the Samaritan woman.
			4	He healeth a lords sonne of an ague.
4	1	4		He preacheth in Galilee, and waxeth very famous.
4	1	5		He calleth foure disciples out of the boat, and they follow him.
	1	4		He healeth one possessed of a diuell, in the Synagogue.
8	1	4		He cureth Simon Peters mother in law, and many sicke persons.
8		9		He refuseth three that offer to follow him.
8	4	8		He appeaseth the tempest on the sea.
8	5	8		He healeth two possessed of diuels in the countrey of the Gerasens, and permitteth the diuels to enter into swine.
9	2	5		He healeth the sicke of the palsie, being let downe thorow the tiles.
				He calleth Matthew from the Custome house, and disputeth with Iohns disciples and the Pharisees of fasting.
9	5	8		He raiseth the Archisynagogues daughter, and cureth her that had a fluxe of bloud.
9				He healeth two blinde, and one possessed.
			5	He healeth him on the Sabboth day that lay at the Probatica, & had bene diseased eight and thirty yeeres.
12	3	6		He confuteth the Pharisees being offended that his disciples bruised the eares of corne on the Sabboth.
12				He refelleth the Pharisees being offended because he cured the withered hand on the Sabboth.
5.6	3	6		He chuseth the 12 Apostles: and maketh that diuine sermon called Sermo Domini in monte. The sermon of our Lord in the mount, conteining the paterne of a Christian mans life.
8	1	5		He cureth a leper.
8		7		He healeth the Centurions seruant.
		7		He raiseth the widowes sonne at Naim.
11		7.9		Iohn sendeth out of prison his disciples vnto Christ.
		7		He forgiueth M. Magdalens sinnes, preferring her much before the Pharisee that despised her.
12	3	11		He healeth him that had a deafe & dumbe diuel, and refuteth the blaspheming Pharisees.
12	3	11.8		He preferreth the obseruers of Gods word before carnall mother and brethren.
13	4	8		The parable of the sower.
13	4			The parables of the cockle, of the seed growing when men sleepe, of the mustard seed, and of the leauen.
13				The parables of the treasure hid in the field, of the precious stone, and of the net.
13	6	4		Teaching in Nazareth, he condemneth it of incredulitie.
9.10	6	8		He sendeth the twelue Apostles to preach.

Iohn

Mt.	Mr.	Luc.	Io.
14	6	9		Iohn is beheaded, and the fame of Ieſus commeth to Herods eares.
14	6	9	6	He feedeth fiue thouſand men with fiue loaues.
14	6	9	6	He walketh vpon the ſea, and ſo maketh Peter alſo to do.
			6	He reaſoneth of Manna, and of the true bread from heauen.	THE 3. PASCHE.
15	7			He reprehendeth the Phariſees for cauilling at his diſciples becauſe they did eat with vnwaſhed hands.
				He healeth the daughter of the woman of Canaan.
	7			He cureth a man that was deafe and dumbe.
15	8			He feedeth foure thouſand with ſeuen loaues.
16	8			He reiecteth the Phariſees that asked a ſigne, and biddeth his diſciples beware of their leauen.
	8			He healeth a blinde man in Bethſaida.
16	8	9		The time that he will paſſe out of this world, now drawing nigh, he maketh Peter, for confeſſing him to be Chriſt, the Rocke vpon which he will build his Church, promiſing to giue him the keyes of heauen, and withall foretelleth, that he muſt ſuffer in Hieruſalem, and that all muſt be ready to ſuffer with him.	THE 4. PART, frō the time that he began (Mat. 16.21.) to foretell to his Diſciples that he muſt goe and ſuffer in Hieruſalem.
17		9		The transfiguration.
				He caſteth out the deuill which his diſciples could not caſt out, commending vnto them faſting and prayer.
17	9			He payeth the didrachmes for him and Peter, after that Peter had found a ſtater in the fiſhes mouth.
18	9	9		His diſciples contending for ſuperiority, he teacheth humility.
18	9			He threatneth the ſcandalizers of litle ones.
18				He teacheth vs to forgiue our brother ſinning againſt vs.
19	10	9	7	Leauing Galilee he goeth into Iurie, and the Samaritans will not receiue him.	THE 5. PART, of his going into Iewrie toward his Paſſion.
		17		In that iourney he healeth the ten lepers.
			7	He teacheth in the Temple in the feaſt of Scenopégia, that is, of Tabernacles.
			8	He abſolueth the woman taken in aduoutry, teacheth in the Temple, and goeth out of their hands that would haue ſtoned him.
			9	He reſtoreth ſight to him that was borne blinde.
			10	He reaſoneth of the true Paſtour and his ſheepe.
		10		He ſendeth the 70 diſciples, and they returne. The parable of the Samaritane and the wounded man. Martha entertaineth Ieſus.
		11		He teacheth the maner and force of prayers, and reprehendeth the prepoſterous cleanneſſe of the Phariſees.
		12		He teacheth not to feare them that kill the body onely, to caſt away the care of riches, by the parable of him that thought his barnes too litle, and that the faithfull ſeruant will alwayes expect the comming of his lord and maſter.
		13		He threatneth them, vnleſſe they doe penance, ſhewing Gods patience by the fruitleſſe figtree that was ſuffered to ſtand one yere more. He healeth the crooked woman, teacheth the way to heauen to be narrow.
		14		He healeth him that had a dropſie, on the Sabboth: and teacheth them to renounce all things in compariſon of him.
			10	In the feaſt of Dedication he goeth out of their hands that would haue ſtoned him.
		15		The parables of the loſt ſheepe, of the groat, and of the prodigall ſonne.
		16		The parable of the vniuſt bailife.
19	10	16		Of the indiſſolubility of matrimony.
		16		The rich glutton and Lazarus.
		17		Woe to ſcandalizers. The force of faith euen to the mouing of trees with a word.
		18		Of the Phariſee and the Publicane that went to pray.

20	10	19		He foretelleth his death, and denieth the requeſt of Zebedees two ſonnes, asking the two chiefe places about him.
		18		He healeth a blinde man before his entring into Iericho.
		19		Zachæus the Publicane entertaineth Chriſt. The parable of the ten pounds deliuered to ten ſeruants.
20		10		He healeth two blinde men as he goeth out of Iericho.
26	14	12		At a ſupper in Bethania, Mary powred ointment vpon him.
21	11	19	12	Riding vpon an aſſe he entreth glorioufly into Hieruſalem.	PALME Sunday.
21			12	He healeth the lame and the blinde, and the Gentiles deſire to ſe him.
21	11	19		He curſeth the figtree, and caſteth the buyers and ſellers out of the Temple.	THE 6 PART, conteining the holy weeke of his Paſſion in Hieruſalem.
21	11	19		To his enemies the Iewes, he auoucheth his power by Iohns baptiſme which was of God,
		20		and foretelleth their reprobation, with the Gentiles vocation in their place, by parables: as the parable of the two ſonnes, the one promiſing to doe, the other doing his fathers commande ment.
21	12	20		The parable of the vineyard let out to husbandmen that killed both the ſeruants and the ſonne ſent to require fruit.
22				The parable of the king that made a mariage for his ſonne, inuiting gheſts to the feaſt, and they would not come.
22	12	20		He anſwereth their queſtion of paying tribute to Cæſar, and the Sadducees queſtion of the Reſurrection.
22	12			He anſwereth the Phariſees queſtion, of the greateſt commandement

Mt.	Mr.	Luc.	Io.
22	12	20		He putteth them to ſilence with this queſtion concerning CHRIST, how he could be Dauids ſonne.
23	12	20		He biddeth them do as the Scribes teach, but not as they do.
	12	21		He extolleth and preferreth the poore widowes offering.
24	13	21		He foretelleth to ſome of his diſciples the deſtruction of the Temple and of Hieruſalem: and by that occaſion, what things ſhall be before the conſummation of the world, and Antichriſt in the conſummation, and then incontinent Domeſday, warning vs to prepare our ſelues againſt his comming.	TVESDAY night.
25				By the parable of the ten Virgins, and the parable of the talents, he ſheweth, how it ſhall be at Domeſday with the faithfull that prepare, and that prepare not themſelues: and without parables, that they which do not good works, ſhalbe damned.
26	14	22		Iudas bargaineth with the Iewes to betray him. and two of his diſciples prepare the Paſchal lambe.	TENEBRE Wedneſday.

THE

THE ARGVMENT OF THE ACTES OF THE APOSTLES.

THE Goſpel hauing ſhewed, how the Iewes moſt impiouſly reiected Chriſt (as alſo Moyſes and the Prophets had foretolde them:) and therefore deſerued to be reiected themſelues alſo of him: now followeth this booke of The Actes of the Apoſtles (* written by S. Luke in Rome the fourth yere of Nero, Ann. Dom. 61.) and ſheweth, how notwithſtanding their de'erts, Chriſt of his mercy (as the Prophets alſo had foretolde of him) offered himſelfe vnto that vnworthy people, yea after that they had crucified him, ſending vnto them his twelue Apoſtles to moue them to penance, and ſo by baptiſme to make them of his Church: and whiles all the Twelue were ſo occupied about the Iewes: how of a perſecuting Iew he made him an extraordinary Apoſtle (who was S. Paul) and to auoid the ſcandall of the Iewes (to whom onely himſelfe likewiſe for the ſame cauſe had preached) ſent him, and not any of his Twelue by and by, who were his knowen Apoſtles, vnto the Gentiles, who neuer afore had heard of Chriſt, and were worſhippers of many Gods, to moue them alſo (for, that likewiſe the Prophets had foretolde) to faith and penance, and by baptiſme to make them of his Church: and how the incredulous Iewes euery where reſiſted the ſame Apoſtle and his preaching to the Gentiles, perſecuting him and ſeeking his death, and neuer ceaſing vntill he fell into the hands of the Gentiles: that ſo (as not onely he euery where, but alſo the Prophets afore him, and Chriſt had foretolde) the Goſpel might be taken away from them, and giuen to the Gentiles: euen from Hieruſalem (whoſe reprobation alſo by name had bene often foretolde) the head city of the Iewes, where it began, tranſlated to Rome the head city of the Gentiles. All this will be euident by the parts of the booke: which may be theſe ſixe. Hier. in Catal. Act. 13.46 18,6. 19.9.28,28. Mat. 21,43. Eſa. 1. Luc. 13.33.

Firſt, how Chriſt aſcending in the ſight of his Diſciples, promiſed vnto them the holy Ghoſt, foretelling that of him they ſhould receiue ſtrength, and ſo begin his Church in Hieruſalem: and from thence dilate it into all that countrey, that is into all Iury: yea and into Samaria alſo, yea into all nations of the Gentiles, be they neuer ſo farre off. You ſhall receiue (ſayth he) the vertue of the holy Ghoſt comming vpon you: and you ſhalbe witneſſes vnto me in Hieruſalem, and in all Iury, and Samaria, and euen to the vttermoſt of the earth. Chap 1.

Secondly, the beginning of the Church in Hieruſalem, accordingly. Chap. 2.

Thirdly, the propagation of it conſequently into all Iury, and alſo to Samaria. Chap. 8.

Fourthly, the propagation of it to the Gentiles alſo. Chap. 10.

Fifthly, the taking of it away from the obſtinate Iewes, and giuing of it to the Gentiles, by the miniſtery of S. Paul and S. Barnabee. Chap. 13.

Sixthly, of taking it away from Hieruſalem it ſelfe, the head city of the Iewes, and ſending it (as it were) to Rome the head city of the Gentiles, and that, in their perſecuting of Paul ſo farre, * that he appealed to Cæſar, and ſo deliuering him after a ſort vnto the Romans: as they had * before deliuered to them alſo Chriſt himſelfe. whereas S. Peters firſt comming thither, was vpon another occaſion, as ſhall be ſayd anon. Of which Romans and Gentiles therefore, the ſame S. Paul being now come to Rome (the laſt Chapter of the Actes) foretelleth the obſtinate Iewes there, ſaying: Et ipſi audient. You will not heare, but, they will heare. that ſo the prediction of Chriſt aboue rehearſed might be fulfilled: And euen to the vttermoſt of the earth. And there doth S. Luke end the booke, not caring to tell ſo much as the fulfilling of that which our Lord had foretold (Act. 27,24) to S. Paul, Thou muſt appeare before Cæſar. becauſe his purpoſe was no more but to ſhew the new Hieruſalem of the Chriſtians, where Chriſt would place the chiefe ſeat of his Church, as alſo in deed the Fathers and all other Catholiks haue in all ages looked thither, when they were in any great doubt: no leſſe then the Iewes to Hieruſalem, as they were appointed in the olde Teſtament. Deut. 17,8. Act. 25,11. Luc. 23,2. Act. 28,28.

And ſo this booke doth ſhew the true Church, as plainly, as the Goſpel doth ſhew the true Chriſt vnto all that do not wilfully ſhut their owne eyes, to wit, this to be the true Church, which beginning viſibly at Hieruſalem, was taken from the Iewes, and tranſlated to the Gentiles (and namely to Rome) continuing viſibly, and viſibly to continue hereafter alſo, vntill the fulneſſe of the Gentiles ſhall be come in: that then alſo all Iſrael may be ſaued. and then is come the end of the world. For ſo did Chriſt moſt plainly foretell vs: This Goſpel of the Kingdome ſhall be preached in the whole world, for a teſtimony to all nations, and then ſhall come the conſummation. For the conuerſion of which nations and accompliſhing of the fulneſſe of all Gentiles, the foreſayd Church Catholike, being mindfull of her office, to be Chriſtes witneſſe euen to the vttermoſt of the earth, *doth at this preſent (as alwayes) ſend preachers to conuert and make them alſo Chriſtians: whereas the Proteſtants and * all other heretikes do nothing els but ſubuert ſuch as before were Chriſtians.* Rom. 11,25. Mat 24,14. Tertul. de præſc.

And this being the ſumme and ſcope of this booke, thus to giue vs hiſtorically a iuſt ſight of the fulfilling of the Prophets and Chriſtes prediction about the Church: it is not to be marueiled at, why it telleth not of S. Peters comming to Rome, conſidering that his firſt comming thither, was not, as S. Pauls was, by the Iewes deliuery of him, working ſo to their owne reprobation, but vpon another occaſion, to wit, to confound Simon Magus. Euſ. hiſt. li. 2. c. 13. 13. For who alſo ſeeth not, that it maketh no mention of his preaching to any Gentiles at all, thoſe few onely Act. 10 excepted, who were the firſt, and therefore (leſt the Gentiles ſhould ſeeme leſſe cared for of God, then the Iewes) Peter being the head of all, was elected of God, to incorporate them into the Church, as before he had done the Iewes. God (ſayth he) among vs choſe, that by my mouth the Gentiles ſhould heare the word of the Goſpel, and beleeue. and S. Iames thereupon: Simon hath tolde how God firſt viſited to take of the Gentiles a people to his name. But otherwiſe (I ſay) here is no mention of Peters preaching to any Gentiles: no nor of the other eleuen Apoſtles. will any man therefore inferre, that neither Peter, nor the other eleuen preached to any nation or city of the Gentiles? No. the meaning of the holy Ghoſt was not to write all the Actes of all the Apoſtles, no nor the preaching of Peter and his, to the Gentiles, but onely to the Iewes: thereby to ſet out vnto the world, the great mercy of Chriſt toward thoſe vnworthy Iewes, and conſequently their moſt worthy reprobation for contemning ſuch grace and mercy, as alſo on the other ſide to ſhew, how readily the Gentiles in ſo many nations, were conuerted by one Act. 15.7. Act. 15,14. Rom 15,19.

Apoſtle onely, who from Hieruſalem euen to Illyricum repleniſhed the Goſpel of Chriſt. And this parting of the worke ſo made by S. Peter with the reſt, doth S. Paul himſelfe touch: That we vnto the Gentiles, and they vnto the Circumciſion. Neuertheleſſe before his comming to Rome, not only was the Church come to Rome (as it is euident Acts the laſt chapter) there planted by S. Peter and others (as likewiſe by S. Peter it was planted in the firſt Gentils, before that S. Paul began the taking of it away from the multitude of the Iewes, and the tranſlating of it to the multitude of the Gentiles) but alſo ſo notable was the ſame Church of Rome, that S. Paul writing his Epiſtle to the Romanes, before he came thither, ſaith: Your faith is renowmed in the whole world. and therefore they with the reſt of the Gentiles, be that Nation whereof Chriſt tolde the Iewes, ſaying: The kingdome of God ſhalbe taken away from you, and ſhall be giuen to a Nation yeelding the fruits thereof. Rom.1,8. Mat.21,43.

FVLKE. It is needleſſe to write any thing againſt the ſcope of this Preface, when there is none ſo ſottiſhly addicted to Popery, but if he haue the vnderſtanding of a naturall man, he may eaſily perceiue how wretchedly you go about, to wring out of the hiſtorie of the Actes of the Apoſtles, an vſurped title of headſhip, for the citie of Rome. The prerogative of the citie of Rome. Firſt you ſay, it declareth the Goſpel to be tranſlated from Ieruſalem the head city of the Iewes, to Rome the head city of the Gentiles. Which is vtterly falſe in both parts. For neither was the Goſpel tranſlated from Ieruſalem, at that time where the hiſtory of the Actes recordeth that Paul came to Rome, for then the Church flouriſhed there vnder S. Iames, and many tenne thouſands of the Iewiſh nation, were beleeuers, Act.21.20. Neither doeth S. Luke in the Actes, ſo much as in one word inſinuate, how the Goſpel was firſt brought to Rome, for it had continued there many yeeres before Paul came thither, as appeareth by his Epiſtle to the Romans. Except that he maketh mention of Aquila and Priſcilla, lately come from Rome to Corinth, vpon the commandement of Claudius, by which Aquila (perhaps) the Goſpel was firſt brought to Rome. But heereof wee will not contend. Certaine it is, that the Goſpel was not taken from Ieruſalem, nor ſent (as it were) to Rome when Paul was deliuered to the Romans. For it was there long before, the Church, as you confeſſe, being planted there by Peter himſelfe. Againe, what blaſphemous impudencie is it to ſay? That S. Luke cared not to tell the appearing of Paul before Cæſar, becauſe his purpoſe was no more, but to ſhew the new Ieruſalem of the Chriſtians, where Chriſt would place the chiefe ſeat of his Church: when it is certaine that he ended his ſtorie before Paul did appeare. For vpon his appearance, he was deliuered, as he teſtifieth himſelfe, 1.Tim. 4.17. And as for that, which you make his onely purpoſe, what antichriſtian preſumption is it to affirme, that to be his onely purpoſe, which he doth not in any word ſignifie? Whereas his purpoſe is ſufficiently to be gathered out of the Preface vnto his Goſpel, whereunto he ioyneth this ſecond booke of the Acts, to declare the doctrine and doings of the Apoſtles, conformable to the deeds and doctrine of their Maſter, for the certaintie and aſſurance of the faith of Theophilus, and of the whole Church. Againe it is falſe, that you ſay, The Fathers and all Catholikes, haue alwayes looked to Rome, as the Iewes did to Ieruſalem. For although, while the Church flouriſhed there, they had ſome reſpect vnto it, becauſe it was the chiefe city of the Empire, to which and from which, might be moſt conuenient concourſe, and recourſe: Yet did they not ſo regard the Church of Rome, that they would be alwayes ruled by it.

Polycarpus comming to Rome, would not giue place to the Church of Rome, nor to Anicetus biſhop thereof, in the celebration of Eaſter. Euſeb.lib.5. cap.26. When Victor Biſhop of Rome, about the ſame queſtion, would haue excommunicated the biſhops of Aſia, he was countermanded by them, and was rebuked by Irenæus, Polycrates and other. Euſeb.lib.5. cap.25. Cyprian and the biſhops of Africa, would not yeeld to Stephanus, in the queſtion of the baptiſme of heretikes. Epiſt. ad Pomp. & Conc. Aph. Firmilianus and the Biſhops of the Eaſt, ſtood againſt him in the ſame cauſe, Apud Cyp. Ep.75. Euſeb.lib.7.cap.4. The Councell of Nice made all the Patriarks equall with the Biſhop of Rome, cap.6. The biſhops of Africa forbade the ambitious titles which began to be giuen to the biſhops of Rome. Conc. Carth.3.cap.36. They forbad appeales to Rome. Conc. Mileuit.cap.22. Aphrican.cap.92. The generall Councell of Chalcedon regarded not the negatiue voice of Leo biſhop of Rome, or of his Legats. Act. 16. The Church of Rauenna in Italie hard vnder the Popes noſe, for many yeeres together, would not acknowledge his ſuperioritie. Platina in Don.1. Yea it is ſo farre off, that the Fathers eſteemed Rome to be Ieruſalem of the Chriſtians, that they iudged it to be Babylon of Antichriſt. Tertull.cont.Marc.li.3. Aug.de Ciuit.lib.16.cap.17.& lib.18.cap.2.& 22. Hiero. Algaſ.queſt.11. & in Eſa.lib.13.cap.4. Præfat.in Didym.&c. To conclude, S. Luke writeth no more of Peter and the reſt of the Apoſtles, then he knew certainly to be true. Of Paul he wrote more at large, becauſe he kept him companie in all his peregrination, and was preſent at the moſt matters, whereof he writeth.

THE ACTES OF THE APOSTLES.

CHAP. I.

RHEM. 1 *Christ now ready to ascend, biddeth the Apostles to expect the Holy Ghost which he had promised, foretelling where (being strengthened by him) they should beginne his Church, and how farre they should carry it. 9 After his Ascension they are warned by two Angels to set their mindes vpon his second comming. 14 In the dayes of their expectation, 15 Peter beginneth to execute his * Vicarship, giuing instruction and order, by which Mathias is elected Apostle in the place of Iudas.*

FVLKE. 1 Peter executeth no Vicarship of authoritie, but a primacie of order, which is necessarie in euerie companie, to auoid confusion. Peters primacie.

2 Vntill the day wherein ‖ giuing commandement by the holy Ghost to the Apostles whom hee chose, he was assumpted.

3 To whom he shewed also himselfe aliue after his Passion in many arguments, for forty dayes appearing to them, and speaking of the kingdome of God.

4 And eating with them, * he commanded them, that they should not depart from Hierusalem, but should expect the promise of the Father, which you * haue heard (saith he) by my mouth:

5 For Iohn in deed baptized with ‡ water, but * you shalbe ‡ baptized with the holy Ghost after these few dayes.

6 They therefore that were assembled, asked him, saying, Lord, whether at this time wilt thou restore the kingdome to Israel?

7 But he said to them, ‖ It is not for you to knowe times or moments, which the Father hath put in his owne power.

8 But you shall receiue the * vertue of the holy Ghost comming vpon you, and you shalbe witnesses vnto me in Hierusalem, and in all Iewrie, and Samaria, and euen to the vtmost of the earth.

9 And * when he had said these things, in their sight hee was eleuated: and a cloude receiued him out of their sight.

10 And when they beheld him going into heauen, beholde two men stoode beside them in white garments,

11 Who also sayd, Ye men of Galilee, why stand you looking into heauen? This IESVS which is ‖ assumpted from you into heauen, shall so come as you haue seene him going into heauen.

12 Then they returned to Hierusalem frō the mount that is called Oliuet, which is by Hierusalem, distant a Sabboths iourney.

13 And when they were entred in, they wēt vp into an vpper chamber, where abode ‡ Peter

¶ The Translation of the Church of England.

THE former booke haue I made, O Theophilus, of all that Iesus began both to doe and to teach,

2 Vntill the day in which he was taken vp, after that he through the Holy Ghost had giuen commaundements vnto the Apostles, whom he had chosen.

3 To whome also hee shewed himselfe aliue after his Passion, and that by many tokens, appearing vnto them fourty dayes, and speaking of the kingdome of God.

4 And gathering them *together, commaunded them that they shoulde not depart from Hierusalem, but wait for the promise of the Father, * whereof, sayeth he, ye haue heard of me.* Luke 24.49. iohn 14.25.

*5 * For Iohn truly baptized with water, but yee shall be baptized with the holy Ghost, after these few dayes.* Matth. 3.11. marke 1.8. luke 3.12. iohn 1.26.

6 When they therfore were come together, they asked of him, saying, Lord, wilt thou at this time restore againe the kingdome of Israel?

7 And he sayd vnto them, It is not for you to know the times or the seasons, which the Father hath put in his owne power.

*8 * But ye shall receiue power after that the holy Ghost is come vpon you, and yee shall be witnesses vnto mee, both in Hierusalem, and in all Iurie, and in Samaria, and euen vnto the worlds end.* Acts 2.1.

*9 * And when he had spoken these things,* Luke 24.51. while they beheld, he was taken vp on high, and a cloud receiued him vp out of their sight.

10 And while they looked vp stedfastly toward heauen, as he went, beholde, two men stood by them in white apparell, 11 Which also sayd, Ye men of Galilee, why stand yee gazing vp into heauen? This same Iesus which is taken vp from you into heauen, shall so come, euen as yee haue seene him goe into heauen.

12 Then returned they vnto Hierusalem, from the mount that is called Olinet, which is from Hierusalem a Sabboth dayes iourney.

13 And when they were come in, they went vp into a parlour, where abode both Peter, and

* THE EPISTLE vpon S. Mathias day. Febr. 24.

‡ Peter and Iohn, Iames and Andrew, Philip and Thomas, Bartholomew and Mathew, Iames of Alphæus and Simon Zelótes, and Iude of Iames.

14 All these were perseuéring with one minde in prayer with the ‡ women and ‖ MARY the mother of IESVS, and his brethren.

15 [a] In those daies ‖ Peter rising vp in the mids of the brethren, sayd: (and the multitude of persons together, was almost an hundred and twentie.)

16 You men, brethren, the * Scripture must be fulfilled which the holy ghost spake before by the mouth of Dauid concerning Iudas, who was the * captaine of them that apprehended IESVS:

17 Who was numbred among vs & obteined the lot of this ministery.

18 And he in deed hath possessed a * field of the reward of iniquitie, and being hanged he burst in the mids, and all his bowels gushed out.

19 And it was made notorious to all the inhabitants of Hierusalem: so that the same field was called in their tongue, Hacel-dema, that is to say, The field of blood.

20 For it is written in the Booke of Psalmes. Be their habitation made desert, and be there none to dwell in it. And his bishoprike let another take.

21 Therefore, of those men that haue assembled with vs, all the time that our Lord IESVS went in and went out among vs, 22 Beginning from the baptisme of Iohn vntil the day wherein he was assumpted from vs, ‡ there must one of these bee made a witnesse with vs of his resurrection.

23 And they appointed two, Ioseph, who was called Barsabas, who was surnamed Iustus: and Mathias.

24 And praying they sayd, Thou Lorde that knowest the hearts of all men, shew of these two, one, whom thou hast chosen,

25 To take the place of this ministery and Apostleship, from the which Iudas hath preuaricated that hee might goe to his owne place.

26 And they gaue them ‖ lots, and the lot fel vpon Mathias, and he was numbred with the eleuen Apostles. [b]

Psl.40,9. Io.13,18. Lu.22,47. Io.18,3. Mt.27,5.7. Psa.68,27. Psa.108,8.

‡ No small mysterie, that the number of the twelue Apostles must needes be made vp againe.

Iames, and Iohn, and Andrew, Philip, and Thomas, Bartholomew, and Matthew, Iames the sonne of Alphæus, & Simon Zelotes, and Iudas the brother of Iames.

14 These all continued with one accorde in prayer and supplication with the women and Mary the mother of Iesus, and with his brethren.

15 And in those dayes Peter stood vp in the middes of his Disciples, and sayde, (the number of names together, were about an hundred and twentie.)

*16 Ye men and brethren, this Scripture must needs haue beene fulfilled, * which the holy ghost by the mouth of Dauid spake before of Iudas, which was guide to them that tooke Iesus:* Psal.41.9. Iohn 13.18.

17 For he was numbred with vs, and had obteined fellowship in this ministerie.

*18 * And the same hath owne purchased a field, with the reward of iniquitie, and when hee was hanged, he burst asunder in the mids, and all his bowels gushed out.* Matth.27.5

19 And it is known vnto all the dwellers at Hierusalem, insomuch that the same field is called in their mother tongue, Aceldema, that is to say, The field of blood.

*20 For it is written in the Booke of Psalmes, * Let his habitation bee desert, and no man dwelling therein: * and his bishoprike let another take.* Psal.69.25. Psal.109.8.

21 Wherefore of these men which haue companied with vs all the time that the Lord Iesus went out and in among vs, 22 Beginning from the baptisme of Iohn, vnto that same day that hee was taken vp from vs, must one be ordeined to be a witnesse with vs of his resurrection.

23 And they appointed two, Ioseph which is called Barsabas, whose surname was Iustus, and Matthias.

24 And when they had prayed, they sayde, Thou Lorde, which knowest the hearts of all men, shewe whether of these two thou hast chosen,

25 That hee may take the roome of this Ministerie and Apostleship, from which Iudas by transgression fell, that hee might goe to his owne place.

26 And they gaue foorth their lots, and the lot fell vpon Matthias, and he was counted with the eleuen Apostles.

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. I.

RHEM. 2 1. All things.) Not all particularly, (for the other Euangelists write diuers things not touched by him) but all the principall and most necessary things.

FVLKE. 2 Yet sufficient for assurance of Christian faith. As the same Euangelist testifieth Luke 1.4.

RHEM. 3 5. Water.) Iohns baptisme gaue not the holy Ghost.

FVLKE. 3 The ministerie of man giueth not the holy Ghost, but Christ by mans ministerie aswell in the baptisme of Iohn, (wherewith he himselfe was baptized and receiued the holy Ghost) as also in the baptisme of his disciples. S. Hierom sayth that our Sauiour Christ receiued the holy Ghost immediatly after his baptisme: Vt nobis &c. That it might be declared vnto vs that it is a true baptisme whither the holy Ghost commeth. Cont. Lucif. Iohns baptisme.

RHEM. 4 14. Women.) The heretikes, some in the text, other in the margent translate Wiues, to wit, of the Apostles, most impudently, knowing in their consciences that he meaneth the Maries and other holy women that followed Christ, as Lu.8,2.24, 10. See Beza and the Engl. Bible 1579.

FVLKE. 4 Their wiues are cõprehended, aswel as other women, for it were inconuenient to thinke the Apostles would exclude their owne faithfull wiues, and remaine shut vp with other women. And it was expedient that their wiues The Apostles wiues.

wiues also should be confirmed by the holy Ghost, who were partly to be companions of the painefull peregrination of their husbands, partly to remaine patiently without them. And if you had not forgotten your note immediatly before giuen (vpon the 13. verse) you would not haue excluded them out of this company, except you would deny them to haue bene true members of the visible Church.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. I.

RHEM. 2 Giuing commandement.) He meaneth the power giuen them to preach, to baptize, to remit sinnes, and generally the whole commission and charge of gouernment of the Church after him and in his name, stead and right. the which Regiment was giuen them together with the Holy Ghost to assist them therein for euer.

RHEM. 5 7. It is not for you.) It is not for vs, nor needfull for the Church, to know the times and moments of the world, the comming of Antichrist, and such other Gods secrets. This is ynough in that case, to be assured that Christs faith shall be preached, and the Church spred throughout al Nations, the holy Ghost concurring continually with the Apostles and their Successors for the same. The times and moments of things to come pertaine not to vs.

FVLKE. 5 It is for vs to know the comming of Antichrist, so farre foorth as God hath reuealed in the holy Scriptures. But you the ministers of Antichrist, would haue no enquirie to be made of him, lest hee should be found in the See of Rome, the Westerne Babylon, as S. Augustine doth call that cite. Antichrist.

RHEM. 6 11. Assumpted from vou.) By this visible Ascending of Christ to heauen, and like returne from thence to iudgement, the Heretikes do incredulously argue him not to be in the Sacrament. But let the faithful rather giue care to S. Chrysostome saying thus: O miracle, he that sitteth with the Father in heauen aboue, at the very same time is handled of men beneath. Christ ascending to heauen, both hath his flesh with him, and left it with vs beneath. Elias being taken vp, left to his Disciples his cloke onely: but the Sonne of man ascending left his owne flesh to vs. Li 3. de Sacerd. Ho. 2. ad po. Ant. in fine. Ho. de diuit. & paup. in fine. Christ is ascended, and yet really in the B. Sacrament.

FVLKE. 6 We beleeue that Christs flesh is verily eaten, both in that sacrament, and otherwise in baptisme, and without both by faith, after a spiritual maner, for so doth Chrysostom meane, notwithstanding his ascension. But his ascension and sitting at the right hand of God in heauen, vntil he come to iudgement, is a sufficient argument against the corporal presence of Christ in the Sacrament, or any where els vsed by S. Augustine Tr. 27. in Ioan. & Tr. 50. You shall not eate (saith S. Augustine) this body which you see, nor drinke that blood which they shal shed, that shall crucifie me, I haue commended vnto you a certaine sacrament, which being spiritually vnderstood, shall giue you life. In Ps. 98. If Iesus died not, of whom is this sacrifice a token and figure. Chrysost. in Matth. Hom 83. The real or corporal presence.

RHEM. 7 14. MARIE the mother of IESVS.) Thus is the last mention that is made in holy Scripture of our Lady. for though she were ful of al diuine wisedom, and opened (no doubt) vnto the Euangelists and other writers of holy Scriptures, diuers of Christs actions, speaches, and mysteries, whereof she had both experimental and reuealed knowledge: Yet for that she was a woman, and the humblest creature liuing, and the paterne of al order and obidience, it pleased not God that there should be any further note of her life, doings, or death in the Scriptures. She liued the rest of her time with the Christians (as here is peculiarly named and noted among them) and specially with S. Iohn the Apostle, to whom our Lord recommended her. who prouided for her al necessaries, her spouse Ioseph (as is may be thought) being deceased before. The common opinion is that she liued 63. yeeres in al. At the time of her death, (as S. Denys first, and after him S. Damascene de dormit. Deiparæ, writeth) al the Apostles then dispersed into diuers nations to preach the Gospel, were miraculously brought together (saue S. Thomas who came the third day after) to Hierusalem, to honour her diuine departure and funeral, as the said S. Denys witnesseth. who saith that himselfe, S. Timothee, and S. Hierotheus were present: testifying also of his owne hearing, that both before her death and after for three dayes, not only the Apostles and other holy men present, but the Angels also and Powers of heauen did sing most melodious Hymnes. They buried her sacred body in Gethsemani. but for S. Thomas sake, who desired to see and reuerence it, they opened the sepulchre the third day, and finding it voyd of the holy body, but exceedingly fragrant, they returned, assuredly deeming that her body was assumpted into heauen, as the Church of God holdeth, being most agreable to the singular priuilege of the mother of God, and therefore celebrateth most solemnly the day of her Assumption. And that is consonant not only to the said S. Denys, and S. Damascene, but to holy Athanasius also, who auoucheth the same, Serm. in Euang. de Deipara. of which Assumption of her body, S. Bernard also wrote 5 notable sermons extant in his workes. Our B. LADY. Her life. Io. 19. 26. 27. Her death. Dionys. ep. ad Timotheum. Her ASSVMPTION.

But neither these holy fathers, nor the Churches tradition and testimony, doe beare any sway now a dayes with the Protestants, that haue abolished this her greatest feast of her Assumption. who of reason should at the least celebrate it as the day of her death, as they doe of other Saincts. For though they beleeue not that her body is assumpted, yet they will not (we trow) deny that she is dead, and her soule in glory: neither can they aske Scriptures for that, no more then they require for the deaths of Peter, Paul, Iohn, and other, which be not mentioned in Scriptures, &c. yet we still celebrated by the Protestants. But concerning the B. Virgin MARIE, they haue blotted out also both her Nasiuitie, and her Conception: so as it may be thought the Diuel beareth a special malice to this woman whose seed brake his head. For as for the other two dayes of her Purification and Annunciation, they be not proper to our Lady, but the one to Christ. Conception, the other to his Presentation. so that shee by this meanes shall haue no festiuitie at all. The Protestants haue no feast of her at all, as they haue of other Saincts.

*But contrarywise, to consider how the ancient Church and Fathers esteemed, spake, and wrote of this excellent vessel of grace, may make vs detest these mens impietie, that cannot abide the praises of her * whom all generations should call blessed, and that esteeme her honours a derogation to her Sonne. Some of their speaches wee will set downe that all men may see, that neither praise her, nor pray to her, more amply then they did. S. Athanasius in the place alleaged, after he had declared how al the Angelical spirits and every order of them honoured and praised her with the* AVE, wherewith S. Gabriel saluted her: we also, saith he, of al degrees vpon the earth extoll thee with deuote voyce, saying, Aue gratia plena, &c. Haile full of grace, our Lord is with thee, pray for vs O Maistresse, and Lady, and Queene, and mother of God. Most holy and auncient Ephrem, also in a speciall oration made in praise of our Lady, saith thus in diuers places thereof, Intemerata Deipara, &c. Mother of God vndefiled, Queene of all, the hope of them that despaire, my lady most glorious, higher then the heauenly spirits, more honourable then the Cherubins, holier then the Seraphins, and without comparison more glorious then the supernal hostes, the hope of the Fathers, the glory of the Prophets, the praise of the Apostles. And a litle after, Virgo ante partum, in partu, & post partum. by thee we are reconciled to Christ my God, thy Sonne: thou art the helper of sinners, thou the hauen for them that are tossed with stormes, the solace of the world, the deliuerer of the imprisoned, the helper of orphans, the redemption of captiues. And afterward, Vouchsafe me thy seruant to praise thee. Haile lady MARIE full of grace, haile Virgin most blessed among women. And much more in that sense which were too long to repeate. How the Primitiue Church and ancient Fathers honoured our B. Lady. * Lu. 1. 48. S. Athanasius. S. Ephrem.

S. Cyrill hath the like wonderfull speaches of her honour. hom. 8. contra Nestorium. Praise and glory be to thee O holy Trinitie: to thee also be praise, holy mother of God, for thou art the precious pearle of the world, thou the candel of vnquencheable light, the crown of Virginitie, the scepter of the Catholike faith. By thee the Trinitie is glorified and adored in al the world: by thee heauen reioyceth, Angels and Archangels are glad, diuels S. Cyril.

Likewise the Greeke Liturgies or Masses of S. Iames, S. Basil, and S. Chrysostome, make most honorable mention of our B. Lady, praying vnto her, saluting her with the Angelicall hymne,* Aue Maria, and vsing these speaches, Most holy, vndefiled, blessed aboue all, our Queene, our Lady, the mother of God, MARIE, a virgin for euer, the sacred arke of Christs Incarnation, broader then the heauens that didst beare thy creator, holy mother, of vnspeakable light, we magnifie thee with Angelical hymnes. al things passe vnderstanding, al things are glorious in thee ô mother of God. by thee the mysterie before vnknowen to the Angels, is made manifest and reuealed to them on the earth. thou art more honourable then the Cherubins, and more glorious then the Seraphins. to thee, O ful of grace, al creatures, both men and Angels doe gratulate and reioyce: glory be to thee, which art a sanctified temple, a spiritual paradise, the glorie of virgins, of whom God tooke flesh and made thy wombe to be his throne, &c.

The Greeke Liturgies of S. Iames, S Basil, S. Chrysostome.

And S. Augustine, Serm. 18. de Sanctis, to. 10: or (as some thinke) S. Fulgentius: O blessed MARIE, Who can be able worthily to praise or thanke thee, receiue our prayers, obtaine vs our requests, for thou art the *speciall hope of sinners, by thee we hope for pardon of our sinnes, and in thee, ô most blessed, is the expectation of our rewards. And then follow these wordes now vsed in the Churches seruice: Sancta Maria succurre miseris, iuua pusillanimes, refoue flebiles, ora pro populo, interueni pro clero, intercede pro deuoto fœmineo sexu. Sentiant omnes tuum iuuamen, quicunque celebrant tuam commemorationem. Pray thou continually for the people of God, which didst deserue to beare the redeemer of the world, who liueth and reigneth for euer. S. Damascene also ser. de dormitione Deiparæ. Let vs crie with Gabriel, Aue gratia plena, Haile full of grace, Haile sea of ioy that cannot be emptied, haile the *onely ease of greefes, haile holy virgin, by whom death was expelled, and life brought in. See S. Irenæus li. 3. c. 33. and li. 5. circa medium, and S. Augustine de fide & Symbolo. de agone Christiano. where they declare how both the sexes concurre to our saluation, the man and the woman, Christ and our Lady, as Adam and Eue both were the cause of our fall, though Adam farre more then his wife, and so Christ farre more excellently and in an other sort then our Lady: who (though his mother) yet is but his creature and handmaid, himselfe being truly both God and man. In al which places alleaged and many other like to these, if is please the reader to see and read, and make his owne eyes witnesses, he shall perceiue that there is much more said of her, and to her, then we haue here recited, and that the very same or the like speaches and termes were vsed then, that the Church useth now, in the honour and inuocation of the B. Virgin: to the confusion of al those that wilfully will not vnderstand in what sense al such speaches are applied vnto her. to wit, either because of her prayer and intercession for vs, whereby she is our hope, our refuge, our aduocate &c. or because she brought forth the author of our redemption and saluation, whereby she is the mother of mercy and grace, and life, and what soeuer goodnes we receiue by Christ.

FVLKE, 7 For the assumption of the virgin Mary, there is nothing brought but counterfect stuffe, Denis, Damascene, Athanasius. For in that sermon entituled to Athanasius, the auctor doth so distinctly expresse in plaine termes, that which was concluded in generall Councels long after his death, that it may easily appeare, to haue bene written many hundred yeeres after his death. For although the trueth of the two natures, and one person of Christ, was knowen and acknowledged of Athanasius before the heresies of Nestorius, Eutyches, and the Monothelites did spring: yet hee did not speake so expressly against their subtilties, as the auctor of this Sermon doeth. For that which is alleaged of Dionyse, there is nothing extant, but the report of one Iuuenalius in the saide oration of Damascene, who citeth the whole matter out of the stories of Euthymius, which by all likelyhood is that Euthymius that wrote vpon the Gospels, the Psalmes and Panoplia which are now extant, in the dayes of Alexius the Emperour of Constantinople, long after the daies of Damascene. Beside this, the very maner of the narration, argueth it to be fabulous. Euthymius reporteth that Iuuenalius bishop of Ierusalem, being demanded of Pulcheria the Empresse concerning the body of the Virgin Mary, which was beleeued to be buried at a Church in Gethsemani, which the Empresse desired to be translated to Constantinople, to a Church which she had builded in Blachernis the thirde yeere of Martianus the Emperor: the said Iuuenalius answered thus. Out of the auctority of the holy books, there is nothing written of those things which pertaine to the departure of the blessed virgin, only out of an ancient & most true fame we haue receiued, &c. And so setteth downe the maner of her death and assumption, and proceeding in his tale to shew that Timothy & Dionysius were there, he reherseth a large discourse out of an epistle of Dionysius to Timotheus, forgetting that a litle before he said, he had nothing but onely by fame. And if you wil needs haue this history to be true, we must needs affirme that the lessons which you reade on the Assumption day (taken also out of a counterfect Hierome as the stile bewraieth) *are false and vntrue. For in them the auctor saith, that he did write this treatise, that Paula and Eustochium might haue a Latine gift, to keepe the solemnitie of this feast. Ne forte si venerit, &c. Lest peraduenture, if there come in your hands that Apocryphal writing of the passage hence of the blessed virgin, you should receiue doutful things in stead of certain. Which in desire of reading thereof, many of the Latines through loue of pietie, do embrace more derely, specially seeing of these matters no other thing can be proued, but that the glorious virgin, as this day departed out of her body. And her sepulchre is shewed to vs which see it vnto this present time, in the midst of the valley of Iosaphat, which valley is placed betweene the mount Silo and the mount Oliues, which also you ô Paula, haue seene with your eyes, where in honour of her is built a Church of marueilous workemanship of stone, in which (as you may know) it is reported there of all men that shee was buried, but now her tombe is shewed to be emptie, to them that see it. These things I haue said to this end, because many of vs doubt whether she were assumpted together with her body: or els died leauing her body behinde. But how, or at what time, or by what persons her most holy body was taken away, or where it is layde, or whether shee be risen againe, it is vnknowne. Although some would affirme that she is already raised vp to life, and clothed with blessed immortalitie in heauen with Christ. Many also affirme that S. Iohn the Euangelist, the minister of the blessed virgine is risen againe: because nothing is found in his sepulchre but Manna. But what of these things may be iudged most true, we are vncertaine. Yet better we do commit the whole matter to God, to whom nothing is impossible, then that we would rashly define any thing by our authoritie, which we do not proue.

The assumption of Mary.

*The fable vnder the name of Melito epist. Sardensis.

If this auctorite be good, which being read in your Popish seruice maketh the story of her Assumption Apocryphal, and the matter it selfe doubtfull: then is the other story which you haue set downe false, that maketh it certaine. If that which you haue set downe be true, then is that false which you reade solemnly in your Church seruice. Beside this, compare their reports of the place of her buriall, and the one auctor conuinceth the other of falshood. Your Church lesson out of a counterfect Hierome, saith, the Church and place of her buriall standeth in the middest of the valley of Iosaphat. Iuuenalius bishop of Ierusalem, in your fable out of Damascen, saith, the Church and sepulchre is in Gethsemane, which according to the Gospels of S. Matthew, Marke, and Luke, is in mount Oliuet, and after S. Iohns Gospel, on the other side of the brooke Cedron. Whereas the valley of Iosaphat is betweene the city and the brooke, and betweene the city and the mount Oliuet, as the the other auctor truely ſaith. Are you not aſhamed therefore, to auouch that bodily aſſumption, which your owne Church doeth not affirme, and for proofe of it, to allege ſuch fabulous forgeries as are conuinced to be falſe by your owne ſeruice booke? Nowe concerning your quarell againſt vs for abolishing of the feſtiuities of the Aſſumption, Natiuitie, and Conception of the Virgine Mary, by which meanes (as you ſay) ſhe ſhall haue no feſtiuitie at all. Firſt know ye, that we haue no religion in any feſtiuities of creatures, neither doe wee celebrate any of their feaſtes in worſhip of them, for (as Auguſtine ſaith) we haue no religion of men that are dead, for if they liued godly, they are not accounted ſuch, that they would ſeeke ſuch honours, but they will haue him to be worſhipped of vs, by whoſe illumination, they reioyce that we be fellow ſeruants of their degree or dignitie. Therefore they are to be had in honour for imitation, not to be worſhipped for Religion: De vera religione cap. 55. Secondly, theſe are aboliſhed in our Church, becauſe their inſtitution was moſt ſuperſtitious: the one for a fained aſſumption of her body, whereof your owne writers are vncertaine, as Durand, and the auctor of your Mattens leſſons: the other for to mainteine the hereſie of the Franciſcane friers, that ſhe was conceiued and borne without ſinne, which is contrary to the Scriptures. Finally, as in a thing indifferent, wee make choiſe of dayes and times for the aſſembly of the Congregation, beſides the Lordes day, ſuch as are thought moſt expedient, according to that libertie which the Church hath in matters of indifferencie, without eſteeming the dignitie of Saincts by the number of feſtiuities, as you doe. And therefore wee rather reteine the feaſtes of the Purification and Annunciation of Mary, becauſe they may be more proper to Chriſt, in whoſe honour, and not in the honour of his ſeruants, we keepe all ſuch ſolemnities and feſtiuities.

Borchardus ſaith the Sepulchre is but a ſtones caſt from the ſheepes gate, although the brooke doe now run vnder it, the courſe being turned by the Romanes which filled vp the vale of Ioſaphat.

The feſtiuities of Saincts.

Where you ſay, we cannot abide the praiſes of the bleſſed Virgine Mary, it is a lewd ſlander, for we doe very well allowe all praiſe that may be giuen to her, without diſhonour of God, and Chriſt her Sonne and ſauiour. And whereas you call to witneſſe the ancient writers, as though they aſcribed vnto her ſuch blaſphemous praiſes as you doe, you abuſe the Reader greatly, for all in a maner that you allege is counterfect, and forged by auctors much later then thoſe whom you name. As that homily of Athanaſius, whereof I haue ſpoken before, thoſe liturgies bearing the name of S. Iames, Baſile, and Chryſoſtome, whoſe groſſe forgeries haue bene long ſince diſcouered. To theſe adde the ſermons fathered vpon S. Auguſtine De ſanctis, whereto if any credite be to be giuen, remember that in the 39. Sermon, he doubteth of the Aſſumption of Mary, which is an ancient approued trueth with you: yet there it is ſaide, that no Catholike ſtory doeth declare it, and moreouer, that the Catholike Church doeth not knowe it. And for a good proofe that S. Auguſtine is not auctor of theſe homilies, he allegeth the teſtimonie of Iſidorus, who liued about 200. yeeres after S. Auguſtine. Yet if it mainteine any peece of Poperie, it is authenticall with you, and either it muſt be S. Auguſtine, or at leaſt Fulgentius. But the alleging of Iſidorus prooueth that it is neither of both. As for moſt holy and ancient Ephrem, if we admit that ſpeciall oration that you cite vnder his name for authentical, yet hee muſt be vnderſtood as Cyrillus. That in regarde of the great honour that God vouchſafed her, to haue Chriſt borne of her, thoſe praiſes are aſcribed to her, not as a meritorious or principall efficient cauſe of our redemption, but as an holy veſſell and inſtrumentall cauſe of the conception and birth of Chriſt, by whoſe onely merite and worthineſſe our redemption and ſaluation is perfected, as by a proper and principall onely meritorious efficient cauſe thereof. That which Irenæus, Auguſtine, and other doe write of the concurring of both ſexes to our ſaluation, is not to make the bleſſed Virgine Mary a meritorious or proper efficient cauſe of our ſaluation, as Eue was of our condemnation, but onely to ſhew, that as by a woman ſinne entred into the worlde, through the ſuggeſtion of the ſerpent, ſo by the ſeed of a woman the ſerpents head is bruiſed, God vſing the faith of Mary for the conception of Chriſt, as the deuil vſed the incredulitie of Eue, to the deception of Adam.

Slander.

The praiſe of the B. Virgine.

Concerning the tragedie of Gregory Nazianzene, whither you ſend vs in the margent, it ſeemeth you make no great account of that teſtimony, being yet in apparance of wordes very rancke for your purpoſe. But either you know that it is falſly aſcribed to that ancient father, which was written by an auctor of much later time, or elſe you acknowledge, that in ſuch poetical ſpeeches is ſmall force to proue matters in controuerſie. In deede (as they that be learned in the Greeke tongue doe obſerue) the auctor of that tragedie, neither in wordes nor ſentences commeth neere to the ſtile of Gregorie Nazianzene, nor yet keepeth the lawe of the Iambich verſe, which Gregorie in that kinde of poetrie doeth preciſely obſerue. Moreouer he affecteth ſome praiſe, by imitation of Euripides, which as it is not like that the graue father Nazianzene would haue done: ſo if he had attempted the matter, he would haue better deſerued it, then this writer doeth. Finally, in this place he attributeth to the Virgine Mary in his poeticall vaine, that which you deny to bee the meaning of ſuch titles and praiſes, as are giuen vnto her: and in other partes of that poeme, hee hath many things, which I am ſure you will not allow for good diuinitie. Among which let this example ſuffice, that in one place he bringeth in the ſame bleſſed Virgine, condemning her ſelfe of greateſt and moſt extreme folly. Finally, your ſophiſticall interpretation of the meaning of the titles and termes giuen to the Virgine Mary, cannot excuſe you of blaſphemie, any more then the ſame pretences may excuſe a man of treaſon, that giueth the proper titles of the kingdome to a Kings mother, vnder colour that ſhee is an interceſſor for him to the King, and brought foorth the perſon of the King into the worlde. And yet ſome of your prayers vnto her, can be excuſed by neither of both the ſhifts, as theſe: Command the Sonne, By the authoritie of a mother commaund thy Sonne, Compell God to bee mercifull: and ſuch other. See the notes vpon Iohn 16. Sect. 3. Beſide the honouring of Mary with the title of Queene of heauen, and ſuch like is condemned by Epiphanius for an hereſie. Hær. 78 & 79. And there is no cauſe, why ſuch titles ſhould be giuen her in reſpect that ſhee was the mother of Chriſt. For as S. Auguſtine ſaith, De ſancta virg. cap. 3. She was more happy in that ſhee conceiued the faith of Chriſt, then in conceiuing the fleſh of Chriſt. If then theſe titles be vnmeete for her in reſpect that ſhee receiued the faith of Chriſt, which grace is common to all Gods children, then are they more vnfit in reſpect that ſhe conceiued the fleſh of Chriſt.

To conclude therefore with the ſaying of Epiphanius, Hær. 78. Whether the holy Virgine died and was buried, her falling in ſleepe is in honour, her death in chaſtitie, and her crowne in Virginitie: or whether ſhee were ſlaine, as it is written, The ſword ſhall pearſe thy ſoule, her glory is among the Martyrs, and her holy body in praiſe and commendations, by whom the light aroſe vnto the world: or whether ſhee hath remained (for it is not impoſſible for God to doe all things that hee will) for her ende is knowne to no man: wee ought not to honour the Saincts more then is conuenient, but to honour their Lord. Againe Hær. 79. She was in deed a Virgine, and an honourable Virgine, but not giuen to be worſhipped, but ſhee her ſelfe worſhipping him that was borne of her fleſh, and came from heauen from the boſome of his Father. For which of the Prophets hath commaunded any man to be worſhipped, much leſſe a woman? Therefore let Mary be in honour, let the Father, the Sonne, and the holy Ghoſt be worſhipped. Finally the Collyridian heretikes might excuſe their Idolatrie, by ſuch interpretation as you make of their meaning, and by as good reaſon might offer their cakes, as you doe your candles, and other offerings.

15. Peter

RHEM. 8 15. Peter rising vp.) *Peter in the meane time practised his Superioritie in the company or Church, publishing an election to be made of one to supply Iudas roome. Which Peter did not vpon commandement of Christ written, but by Suggestion of Gods spirit, and by vnderstanding the Scriptures of the old Testament to that purpose: the sense whereof Christ had opened to the Apostles before his departure, though in more full maner afterward at the sending of the Holy Ghost. And this act of Peter in prescribing to the Apostles and the rest, this election, and the maner thereof, is so euident for his supremacie, that * the Aduersaries confesse here that he was,* Antistes, the cheefe and B. shop of this whole College and company. Peter beginneth to practise his primacie. Beza in an. 7. Græcol. ex. 1565.

FVLKE. 8 Peter practised no auctority, but only a primacie of order, as Chrysostome sheweth vpon this text, Iam & illud considera, &c. Now consider this also, how Peter doth all things by the common sentence of the disciples, nothing by his owne auctoritie, nothing by commandement. And when Beza calleth him Antistes, the cheefe of the company, hee meaneth in order, not in auctoritie, as though Peter were the Bishop, and the rest of the Apostles onely his chapleines at hand, or at commandement. 16 But this is that was saide by the Prophet Ioël, 17 And it shal bee, in the last daies (saith our Lorde) of my Spirit I wil powre out vpon all flesh: and your sonnes and your daughters shall prophecie, and your yong men shall see visions, and your auncients shal dreame dreames.

18 And vpon my seruants truely, and vpon my handmaides wil I powre out in those dayes of my Spirit, and they shal prophecie:

19 And I wil giue wonders in the heauen aboue, and signes in the earth beneath, bloud, and fire, and vapour of smoke.

20 The sunne shal be turned into darkenes, and the moone into bloud, before the great and manifest day of our Lord doth come.

21 And it shal be, euery one whosoeuer calleth vpon the Name of our Lorde, shal be saued.

22 Ye men of Israël heare these wordes, IESVS of Nazareth a man approued of God among you, by miracles and wonders and signes which God did by him in the middes of you, as you know:

23 This same, ‖ by the determinate counsel and prescience of God being deliuered, you by the handes of wicked men haue crucified and slaine.

24 Whom God hath raised vp ‖ loosing the sorowes of hell, according as it was impossible that he should be holden of it.

25 For Dauid saith cõcerning him, I foresaw the Lord in my sight alwayes: because he is at my right hand that I be not moued.

26 For this, my hart hath been glad and my tongue hath reioyced: moreouer my flesh also shal rest in hope.

27 Because thou wilt not leaue ‖ my soule ‡ in hel, nor giue thy Holy one to see ‡ corruption.

28 Thou hast made knowen to me the waies of life: thou shalt make me ful of ioyfulnes with thy face.

29 Ye men, brethren, let me boldly speake to you of the Patriarch Dauid: that * he died and was buried: and his sepulchre is with vs vntil this present day.

30 Whereas therefore he was a Prophet, and knew that by an othe God had sworne to him that of the fruite of his loynes there should sit vpon his seate:

31 Forseeing he spake of the resurrection of Christ, for neither was he left in hel, neither did his flesh see corruption.

32 This

13 Other mocking, said, These men are full of new wine.

14 But Peter standing forth with the eleuen, lift vp his voyce, and saide vnto them, Ye men of Iurie, and all ye that dwell at Hierusalem, be this knowen vnto you, and heare my words, 15 For these are not drunken, as yee suppose, seeing it is but the thirde houre of the day.

16 But this is that which was spoken by the Prophet Ioël,

*17 * And it shall bee in the last dayes (saith God) of my Spirit I will powre out vpon all flesh: and your sonnes and your daughters shall prophecie, and your yong men shall see visions, and your olde men shall dreame dreames:* Ioel.2.28. Esay.44.3.

18 And on my seruants, and on my handmaidens, I will powre out of my Spirit in those dayes, and they shall prophecie:

19 And I will shewe wonders in heauen aboue, and tokens in the earth beneath, blood, and fire, and the vapour of smoke.

*20 * The Sunne shalbe turned into darknes, and the Moone into blood, before that great and notable day of the Lord come.* Ioel 2.32.

*21 * And it shall come to passe, that whosoeuer shall call on the Name of the Lord, shall be saued.* Rom.10.13.

22 Ye men of Israel, heare these words, Iesus of Nazareth, a man approoued of God among you, with miracles, wonders, and signes, which God did by him in the middes of you, as yee your selues also know,

23 Him, after that yee had taken by wicked hands, being deliuered by the determinate counsel and foreknowledge of God, haue yee crucified and slaine:

24 Whom God hath raised vp, hauing loosed the sorowes of death, because it was impossible that he should be holden of it.

*25 For Dauid speaketh of him, * I saw the Lord alwayes set foorth before my face, for he is on my right hand, that I should not be moued.* Psal.16.7.

26 Therefore did my heart reioyce, and my tongue was glad: Moreoner also, my flesh shall rest in hope, 27 Because thou wilt not leaue my soule in hell, neither wilt thou suffer thine Holy one to see corruption.

28 Thou hast shewed mee the wayes of life, thou shalt make mee full of ioy with thy countenance.

*29 Ye men and brethren, let me freely speake vnto you of the * Patriarch Dauid: for hee is both dead and buried, and his sepulchre is with vs vnto this day:* 3.Reg 2.10.

*30 Therefore being a Prophet, and knowing that God had sworne with an othe to him, * that he would raise vp Christ, as concerning the flesh, of the fruite of his loynes, to sit on his seate,* Psal.132.11.

*31 He seeing this before, spake of the resurrection of Christ, * that his soule was not left in hell, neither his flesh did see corruption.* Psal.16.10.

32 This

32 This IESVS hath God raiſed againe, whereof al we are witneſſes.

33 Being exalted therefore by the right hand of God, and hauing receiued of his father the promiſe of the holy Ghoſt, hee hath ‖ this gift which powred out ‖ this whom you ſee and heare.

34 For Dauid aſcended not into heauen: but he ſaith, Our Lord hath ſaide to my Lord,
Pſ. 109,1. ſit on my right hand,

35 Until I make thine enemies the footſtoole of thy feete.

36 Therefore let all the houſe of Iſraël knowe moſt certainly that God hath made him both Lord, and CHRIST, this IESVS, whom you haue crucified.

Contrition. 37 And hearing theſe things, they were compuncte in heart, and ſaid to Peter and to the reſt of the Apoſtles, What ſhall wee doe men, brethren?

38 But Peter ſaid to them, ‡ Do penance, and bee euery one of you baptized in the Name of IESVS CHRIST for remiſſion of ſinnes: and you ſhall receiue the gift of the holy Ghoſt.

39 For to you is the promiſe, and to your children, and to all that are farre of, whomſoeuer the Lord our God ſhal call.

40 With very many other words alſo did he teſtifie, and exhorted them, ſaying, Saue your ſelues from this peruerſe generation.

41 They therfore that receiued his word, were baptized: and there were added in that day about ‡ three thouſand ſoules.

‡ Three thouſand were conuerted at this firſt ſermon, and they were put to the other viſible company and Church.

42 And they were perſeuering in the doctrine of the Apoſtles, & in the communication of ‹ the breaking of bread, and praiers.

43 And feare came vpon euery ſoul: many wonders alſo and ſignes were done by the Apoſtles in Hieruſalem, and there was great feare in al.

44 Al they alſo that beleeued, were together, * and had ‖ al things common.
Act. 4,32.

45 Their poſſeſſions and ſubſtance they ſold, and deuided them to all, according as euery one had neede.

46 Daily alſo continuing with one accord in the temple, & breaking bread from houſe to houſe, they tooke their meat with ioy and ſimplicitie of heart:

47 Praiſing God, and hauing grace with al the people. And our Lord ‖ increaſed them that ſhould be ſaued, daily together.

32 This Ieſus hath God raiſed vp, whereof we all are witneſſes.

33 Then being by the right hand of God exalted, and hauing receiued of the Father the promiſe of the holy Ghoſt, hee hath ſhed foorth this, which ye now ſee and heare.

*34 For Dauid is not aſcended into the heauens, but he ſaith himſelfe, The Lord ſaid vnto my Lord, Sit thou on my right hand, Pſal. 110,1.

35 Untill I make thy foes thy footſtoole.

36 Therefore let all the houſe of Iſrael know for a ſuretie, that God hath made that ſame Ieſus whom yee haue crucified, both Lorde and Chriſt.

37 Now when they heard this, they were pricked in their heart, and ſaid vnto Peter, and to the other Apoſtles, Ye men and brethren, What ſhall we doe?

38 Then Peter ſaid vnto them, Repent ye, and let euery one of you bee baptized in the Name of Ieſus Chriſt, for the remiſſion of ſinnes, and yee ſhall receiue the gift of the holy Ghoſt.

39 For the promiſe was made vnto you, and to your children, and to all that are afarre off, euen as many as the Lord our God ſhall call.

40 And with many other wordes bare hee witneſſe, and exhorted them, ſaying, Saue your ſelues from this vntoward generation.

41 Then they that gladly receiued his word, were baptized: and the ſame day there were added vnto them about three thouſand ſoules.

42 And they continued ſtedfaſtly in the Apoſtles doctrine and fellowſhip, and in breaking of bread, and in prayers.

43 And feare came vpon euery ſoule: and many wonders and ſignes were done by the Apoſtles.

44 And all that beleeued were together, and had all things common,

45 And ſolde their poſſeſſions and goods, and parted them to all men, as euery man had neede.

46 And they continuing dayly with one accorde in the Temple, and breaking bread from houſe to houſe, did eate their meat together with gladneſſe and ſingleneſſe of heart, 47 Praiſing God, and hauing fauour with all the people. And the Lord added to the Church dayly ſuch as ſhould be ſaued.

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. II.

RHEM. 2 14. Peter ſtanding.) Peter the head of the reſt and now newly repleniſhed with al knowledge and fortitude, maketh the firſt Sermon.

FVLKE. 3 The article of Chriſtes deſcending into Hel, is not grounded vpon this text, but vpon other places of Scripture. Vpon thoſe iuſt (ſaith Auguſtine) which were in the boſome of Abraham, when he deſcended into hell, I haue not yet found, what benefit he beſtowed, from whom according to the bleſſed preſence of his Godhead, I ſee that he neuer departed. As euen in the ſame day in which he died, hee promiſed the thiefe, that hee would bee with him in Paradiſe, when hee was to deſcend to looſe the ſorrowes of hell. Epiſt. 99. Deſcent into Hell.

RHEM. 4. 27. Corruption.) As his soule suffered no paines in Hel, so neither did his body take any corruption in the graue.
FVLKE. 4. He suffered nothing in soule after his death, but before his death, he suffered the paines due for our sinnes.
RHEM. 5 38. Doe penance.) Not onely amendment of life, but penance also required before Baptisme, in such as be of age, though not in that sort as afterward in the Sacrament of penance. Aug. de fid & oper. c. 11. & ep. 108.
FVLKE. 5. Amendment of life, requireth of necessitie sorrow for sinne, and departing from the former sinnes, which they that are to be baptized, doe professe, which is that penance whereof S. Augustine speaketh, De fid. & oper. ca. 11. But ep. 108. he sheweth repentance after baptisme. Agunt etiam homines, &c. Men doe also penance, if after baptisme they haue so sinned, that they are worthy to be excommunicated, and afterward to be reconciled, as they doe, which in all Churches are properly called penitents. Againe, he saith, of another kind of repentance. Est enim pœnitentia, &c. For repentance is a dayly punishment of good and humble faithfull men: in which we knocke our breasts, and say, forgiue vs our debts, &c. But of the Sacrament of penance he speaketh not a word. The Popish Sacrament of penance.
RHEM. 6. 42. c The breaking.) This was the B. Sacrament, which the Apostles dayly ministred to the Christians at least in one kinde. See chap 20, 7.
FVLKE. 6. It cannot bee prooued, that this was the blessed Sacrament, and much lesse, that it was ministred in one kinde. See also the answere, chap. 20. Communion in one kind.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. II.

RHEM. 7 1. The dayes of Pentecost.) As Christ our Paschе, for correspondence to the figure, was offered at the Iewes great feast of Paschе, so fifty dayes after (in Greeke, Pentecost) for accomplishing the like figure of the Law-giuing in Mount Sinai, he sent downe the Holy Ghost iust on the day of their Pentecost, which was alwaies on Sunday, as appeareth Leuit. 23, 15. Both which dayes the Church keepeth yerely for memorie of Christs death and Resurrection, and the sending downe of the Holy Ghost: as they did the like for record of their deliuerie out of Egypt, and their Law-giuing aforesayd. the sayd feasts with vs conteining, beside the remembrance of benefits past, great Sacraments also of the life to come. Aug. ep. 119, C. 18. The feastes of Paschе and Pentecost.
FVLKE 7 Augustine calleth the mysteries, which he gathereth out of the numbers 40. and 50. Sacraments. By which you may see, how largely he vseth the terme. And that it is not by and by a Sacrament, as Baptisme and the Lords Supper are, which S. Augustine calleth by the name of a Sacrament or mystery generally. The name of Sacraments.
RHEM. 8. 4. Al replenished.) Though the Apostles and the rest were baptized before, and had thereby receiued the grace of the Holy Ghost to sanctification and remission of sinnes, as for diuers other purposes also: Yet as Christ promised them they should bee further indued with strength and vertue from aboue, so here he fulfilleth his promise, visibly powring downe the Holy Ghost vpon all the company and vpon euery one of them, thereby replenishing the Apostles specially with all trueth, wisdom, and knowledge necessary for the gouernement of the Church, and giuing both to them & to all other present, the grace and effect of the Sacrament of Confirmation, accomplishing, corroborating, and strengthening them in their faith and the confession of the same. And lastly for a visible token of Gods Spirit, he endued them all with the gift of diuers strange tongues: all (I say) there present as well our Lady, as other holy women and brethren, besides the Apostles, though* the Heretikes sondly argue, for the desire they haue to dishonour Christs mother, that neither she nor they were there present, nor had the gift of tongues, contrarie to the plaine text that saith,* They were all together, to wit, all the 120. mentioned before c. 1, 15. Lu. 24, 49. The sending of the holy Ghost on Whitsunday and the effects thereof. Our B. Lady. Beza Annot. in hoc cap. v. 1.
FVLKE. 8 Of the Sacrament of Confirmation here is no word. And it cannot bee proued by the text, that the fierie tongues sate vpon any more, then the Apostles, who were to be Preachers of the Gospel vnto all nations. Although we reade, that the gift of tongues was granted to others also, therfore it is no inconuenience to thinke, that the whole number receiued that gift, but the Apostles specially. Neither doth Beza absolutely denie, that the virgine Marie was present, but derideth the fond picture of the Papists, in which she is painted in the middest of the Apostles, as though she were chiefe of their Colledge. The popish Sacrament of Cõfirmation.
RHEM. 9. 23. By the determinate counsel of God deliuered.) God deliuered him, and he deliuered himselfe, for loue and intention of our saluation, and so the acte was holy and Gods owne determination. But the Iewes and others which betrayed and crucified him, did it of malice and wicked purpose, and their facte was damnable, and not of Gods counsell or causing: though he tolerated it, for that he could and did turne their abominable fact to the good of our saluation. Therefore abhorre those new Manichees of our time, both Lutherans and Caluinists, that make God the author and cause of Iudas betraying of Christ, no lesse then of Pauls conuersion, beside the false translation of Beza, saying for Gods prescience or foreknowledge (in the Greeke, προγνωσις) Gods prouidence. Gods determination that Christ should die, excuseth not ỹ Iewes. Beza.
FVLKE. 9. It is a most impudent slander, that Luther or Caluine euer taught that God was the author of the traiterous sinne of Iudas. And it is a knot in a rush, that you find, when you charge Beza with false translation, where he rendreth the word, Prouidence. For what signifieth prouidence, but foreseeing, and what is foreseeing in God but foreknowledge? Slander.
RHEM. 10. 24. Loosing the sorowes.) Christ was not in paines himselfe, but loosed other men of those dolours of hell, wherewith it was impossible himselfe should be touched. See * S. Augustine. Li.* 12. c. 13. de Gen. ad lit.
FVLKE. 10 Christ suffered nothing in soule after his death, but Augustine in the place, whither you send vs, sayth nothing at all to this purpose.
RHEM. 11 27. My soule in hel.) Where al the Faithful, according to the Creede, euer haue beleeued, that Christ according to his soule, went downe to Hel, to deliuer the Patriarches and al iust men there holden in bondage til his death, and the Apostle here citing the Prophets wordes, most euidently expresseth the same, distinguishing his soule in hell, from his body in the graue: Yet the Caluinists to defend against Gods expresse wordes, the blasphemie of their Master, that Christ suffered the paines of Hell, and that no where but vpon the Crosse, and that otherwise he descended not into hell, most falsely and flatly here corrupt the text, by turning and wresting both the Hebrew and Greeke wordes from their most proper and vsuall significations of Soule, and hell, into body, and graue: saying for, my soule in hell, thus, my body, * life, person, yea (as Beza in his new Testament ann. 1556.) my carcas in the graue, and this later they corrupt almost throughout the Bible for that purpose. But for refelling of both corruptions, it shall be sufficient in this place: first, that all Hebrues and Greekes, and all that vnderstand the tongues, know that the foresaid Hebrue and Greeke words are as proper, peculiar, and vsuall to signifie, soule and hell, as anima and infernus in Latin, yea as soule and hel in English do properly signifie the soule of man, and hel that is oppesite to heauen; and that they are as improperly vsed to signifie body and graue, as to say in English, soule for body, or Hel for graue. Secondly, it doth so mislike the Heretikes themselues, that Castalco one of their fine Translatours refelleth it, and to make it the more sure, he for, in inferno, translateth, in Orco, that is, in hell. Thirdly, Beza himselfe partly recanteth in his latter edition, and confesseth that, Carcas, was no fit word for the body of Christ, and therefore, I haue (saith he) changed it, but I reteine and keepe the same sense still. meaning, that he hath now translated it, soule, but that hee meaneth thereby as before, Christs dead bodie. fourthly, he saith plainely, that translating thus,* Thou shalt not leaue my carkas in the graue, he did it of purpose against Limbus Patrum, Purgatorie, and Christs descending into hel, which hee נפש שאול * Eng. Bible. 1579. * No. Test. an. 1556. annot. in 2. Act. v. 27. & 24. & in 1. Pet. 3, 19.

calleth foul errours, and marueleth, that moſt of the ancient fathers were in that errour: namely of Chriſts deſcending into hell, and deliuering the old fathers. What neede we more? Hee oppoſeth himſelfe both againſt plaine Scriptures and all ancient fathers, peruerting the one, and contemning the other, to ouerthrow that truth which is an Article of our Creede. whereby it is euidently falſe which ſome of them ſay for their defence, that none of them did euer of purpoſe tranſlate falſly. See the Annotation vpon 1. Pet. 3. v. 19.

FVLKE. 11 All the Fathers doe not affirme, that Chriſt went into hell to deliuer the Patriarks and iuſt that were there. Limbus patrum. Firſt, Tertul. cont. Marcion lib. 4. ſayth, Hell is one thing, and Abrahams boſome is another thing. Chryſoſtome ſayth, it was an holy Paradiſe, Ex Luc. 16. Hom. de diuite. S. Auguſtine De geneſi ad lit. lib. 12. cap. 33. ſayth of Abraham, I ſee not how we can beleeue, that he was in hell, and, Cap. 34. How much more after this life, that boſome of Abraham, may be called Paradiſe. Moreouer, where you call it a blaſphemie of Caluine, to ſay that Chriſt ſuffered the paines of hell, on the Croſſe, you bewray greater malice, then wit, or learning. For what diſhonour is it to our Sauiour Chriſt, to ſuffer that which was neceſſarie for our redemption, namely, that torment of hell, which wee had deſerued, and which the iuſtice of God required that he ſhould endure, for our redemption. Or rather, what is more to the honour of Chriſt, then that he vouchſafed, to deſcend into hell for vs, and to abide that bitter paine, which wee had deſerued to ſuffer eternally? and what may rather bee called hell, then the anguiſh of ſoule, which he ſuffered, when he being God, yet complained that he was forſaken of God? Againe, where you ſay, that Caluine ſhould teach that he did not otherwiſe deſcend into hell, it is falſe: for hee acknowledgeth, that the vertue of his death, did ouercome Hell, which in ſome ſenſe, may be called a deſcent into hell. Furthermore, if deſcending into Hell, be taken according to the Hebrue phraſe, for entring into the ſtate of the dead, that are departed this life: Caluine alſo acknowledgeth, that in this ſenſe alſo, Chriſt deſcended into hel. Finally, if Chriſts deſcending into hell, as ſome of the ancient Fathers did expound it, were nothing but his buriall, he confeſſeth that alſo, though it be not the true ſenſe of that article. Yet ſo doth Ruffinus expound it, and teſtifie, that this clauſe of the deſcending into hell, in his time, was neither in the Creede of the Church of Rome, nor in the Creede of the Orientall Churches. Ruff. in ſymb.

Chriſts deſcent into Hell.

Your ſelues in the Creede make a part of the 4. Article, which is of his ſuffering. Slander.

The moſt auncient Creedes who lacke this clauſe of his deſcent, ſhew that it is included in the Article of his buriall, or elſe be imperfect Creedes.

Now concerning the Hebrue wordes, after which the Greeke are vſed, that they be not proper for ſoule and Hell, as you doe more boldly, then wiſely affirme, I referre the Reader to my defenſe of our Engliſh tranſlations, againſt G. Martin, where he ſhall finde the matter of Chriſtes deſcending into hell, throughly diſcuſſed. Firſt, in anſwere to the Preface, ſect. 46. 47. Then cap. 1. ſect. 32. and 33. and cap 7. throughout euery ſection. In which it ſhall appeare, that Beza oppoſeth not himſelfe againſt the Scriptures at all, nor againſt all the ancient Fathers, neither doth tranſlate falſly of purpoſe, but truely, againſt Purgatorie, and Limbus patrum. See alſo the note vpon Luc. 16. ſection 7.

RHEM. 12 44. All things common.) This liuing in common is not a rule or a precept to all Chriſtian men, as the Anabaptiſts falſely pretend: but a life of perfection and counſel, folowed of our religious in the Catholike Church. See S. Aug. in Pſ. 132. in principio, & ep. 109.

Liuing in common.

FVLKE. 12 This liuing in common was neither Anabaptiſticall communitie, nor Papiſticall Monkerie. But ſuch as ought alwayes to be among all Chriſtians. That no man accompt that to be his owne, which the neceſſitie of his brother requireth, to be beſtowed on him. For that the Chriſtians then had propertie in their goods, and might ſo hold it, it is manifeſt by the words of Peter to Ananias, cap. 5. 4. Chryſoſtome ſayth, the Chriſtians were then ſo affected, as the people were in his time, when God ſhaked the citie with an earthquake, where there was no communitie, but in charitable affection. They that liued in Monaſteries, in S. Auguſtines time, were both in religion, and conuerſation, farre differing from popiſh Monkes and Nunnes, who labour not with their hands, as thoſe did, but liue idly of the ſweate of other mens browes, and deuoure that, which ſhould relieue them that be in neceſſitie. Againſt which ſect budding vp in his time, Auguſtine wrote his Booke De opere Monachorum. But of the true ſolitary perſons, hee writeth *De morib. Eccl. CHAP. III.

A miracle, and a Sermon of Peters to the people, ſhewing that IESVS is Chriſt, and exhorting them to faith in him and penance for their ſinnes, and ſo they ſhall haue by him (in Baptiſme) the Benediction which was promiſed to Abraham.

THE EPISTLE vpon S S. Peter and Pauls eue. Iun. 28.

AND Peter and Iohn went vp into the temple, at the ‡ ninth houre of prayer.

2 And a certaine man that was lame from his mothers wombe, was caried: whom they laid euery day at the gate of the temple, that is called Specious, that he might aske almes of them that went into the temple.

3 He, when he had ſeen Peter and Iohn about to enter into the temple, asked to receiue an almes.

4 But Peter with Iohn looking vpon him, ſaid, Looke vpon vs.

5 But he looked earneſtly vpon them, hoping that hee ſhould receiue ſome thing of them.

6 But

NOw Peter and Iohn went vp together into the Temple at the ninth houre of prayer.

2 And a certaine man that was lame from his mothers wombe was brought, whom they layd dayly at the gate of the Temple which is called Beautifull, to aske almes of them that entred into the Temple.

3 Which ſeeing Peter and Iohn about to goe into the Temple, asked almes.

4 And Peter faſtening his eyes vpon him with Iohn, ſayd, Looke on vs.

5 And he gaue heede vnto them, truſting to receiue ſome thing of them.

6 Then

6 But Peter said, Siluer and gold I haue not, but ‖ that which I haue, the same I giue to thee: In the name of IESVS CHRIST of Nazareth arise, and walke.

7 And taking his right hand, he lifted him vp, and foorthwith his feete and soles were made strong.

8 And springing he stoode, and walked: and went in with them into the temple walking, and leaping, and praising God.

9 And all the people saw him walking and praising God.

10 And they knew him, that, it was hee which sate for almes at the Specious gate of the Temple: and they were exceedingly astonied and agast at that that had chanced to him.

11 And as he held Peter and Iohn, all the people ranne to them vnto the porch which is called Salomons, wondring.

12 But Peter seeing them, made answere to the people, Ye men of Israël, why maruel you at this, or why looke you vpon vs, as though ‖ by our power or holinesse we haue made this man to walke?

13 The God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Iacob, the God of our fathers hath glorified his sonne IESVS, whom you in deed deliuered and denied before the face of Pilate, he iudging him to bee released.

14 But you denied the holy and the iust one, * and asked a mankiller to be giuen vnto you.

15 But the author of life you killed, whom God hath raised from the dead, of which we are witnesses.

16 And in the ‡ faith of his name, this man whom you see and knowe, his name hath strengthened: and the faith which is by him, hath giuen this perfect health in the sight of all you.

17 And now (brethren) I know that you did it through ignorãce, as also your Princes.

18 But God who foreshewed by the mouth of al the prophets, that his CHRIST should suffer, hath so fulfilled it.

19 Be Penitent therfore and conuert, that your sinnes may be put out.

20 That, when the times shall come of refreshing by the sight of our Lord, and he shall send him that hath bene preached vnto you IESVS CHRIST.

21 [c] Whom ‡ heauen truely must receiue vntil the times of the restitution of al things, which God spake by the mouth of his holy Prophets from the beginning of the world.

22 Moyses indeede sayd, That a Prophet shall the Lorde your God raise vp to you of your brethren, as my selfe: him you shall heare according to all things whatsoeuer hee shall speake to you.

23 And

6 Then sayd Peter, Siluer and golde haue I none, but such as I haue, giue I thee: In the name of Iesus Christ of Nazareth rise vp, and walke.

7 And he tooke him by the right hand, and lifted him vp, and immediatly his feete and ancle bones receiued strength.

8 And he leaping vp, stood, and walked, and entred with them into the Temple, walking, and leaping, and praising God.

9 And all the people sawe him walking and praising God.

10 And they knewe him, that it was hee which sate for the almes at the beautifull gate of the Temple: and they wondred, and were sore astonied at that which had happened vnto him.

11 And as the lame which was healed held Peter and Iohn, all the people ran together greatly amazed vnto them in the porch, that is called Salomons:

12 And when Peter sawe that, He answered vnto the people, Yee men of Israel, why marueI yee at this? or why looke ye so earnestly on vs, as though by our owne power or godlinesse we had made this man to walke?

13 The God of Abraham, and of Isahac, and of Iacob, the God of our fathers hath glorified his sonne Iesus, whom yee betrayed and denied in the presence of Pilate, when he had iudged him to be loosed.

*14 But you denied the holy and iust, and desired a murderer to be giuen you, Matth.27.20. mar.15.11. luke 23.18.

15 And killed the Lord of life, whom God hath raised from the dead, of the which wee are witnesses. ioh.18.40.

16 And his name, through the faith in his name, hath made this man sound, whom yee see and knowe, and the faith which is by him, hath giuen to this man health in the presence of you all.

17 And nowe brethren, I wote that thorough ignorance yee did it, as did also your Rulers.

18 But those things which God before had shewed by the mouth of all his Prophets, that Christ should suffer, he hath so fulfilled.

19 Repent ye therefore, and conuert, that your sinnes may bee blotted out, when the time of refreshing shall come in the presence of the Lord.

20 And he shall send Iesus Christ, which before was preached vnto you.

21 Whom the heauen must receiue, vntill the time that all things be restored, which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his holy Prophets since the world began.

*22 * For Moses truely sayd vnto the fathers, A Prophet shall the Lord your God raise vp vnto you of your brethren, like vnto me, him shal ye heare in all things whatsoeuer he shall say vnto you.* Deut.18.15. act.7.37.

23 And it ſhall be, euery ſoule that ſhall not heare that Prophet, ſhall be deſtroyed out of the people.

24 And all the Prophets from Samuël and afterward that haue ſpoken, told of theſe dayes.

25 You are the children of the Prophets and of the teſtament which God made to our fathers, ſaying to Abraham, And in thy ſeede ſhall all the families of the earth be bleſſed.

Gen.22,18. 26,4.

26 To you firſt God raiſing vp his ſonne, hath ſent him bleſſing you: that euery one ſhould conuert himſelfe from his naughtineſſe.

23 For the time will come, that † euery ſoule which will not heare that ſame Prophet, ſhall bee deſtroyed from among the people.

24 All the Prophets alſo from Samuel, and they that folowe in order, as many as haue ſpoken, haue likewiſe told you before of theſe dayes.

25 You are the children of the Prophets, and of the couenant which God made vnto our fathers, ſaying vnto Abraham, * Euen in thy ſeed ſhall all the kinreds of the earth be bleſſed.

Gen.12.3.

26 Vnto you firſt, God hauing raiſed vp his Sonne Ieſus, ſent him to bleſſe you, in turning euery one of you from his iniquities.

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. III.

RHEM. 1 1. Ninth houre of prayer.) This maketh for diſtinction of Canonicall houres and diuerſitie of appointed times to pray in. See Annot. c.10,9.

FVLKE. 1 This was the time of the euening ſacrifice, when the religious Iewes reſorted to the temple to pray: But for popiſh canonicall houres which are their morning ſeruice, it maketh nothing at all. Canonicall houres.

RHEM. 2 16. Faith of his name.) This faith was not the faith of the lame man (for he looked onely for almes) nor a ſpeciall faith of the Apoſtles owne ſaluation: but beleefe of Chriſtian Religion.

FVLKE. 2 This faith might be the mans faith in Chriſt, whom he heard them name: or the faith of miracles in the Apoſtles, apprehending only the power of Chriſt, by which this man was healed. Which although in the Apoſtles it was ioyned with the whole beleefe of Chriſtian Religion, yet in ſome it was without that beleefe, which wrought no leſſe miracles in the name of Chriſt then this, Mat.7.22. Faith of miracle.

RHEM. 3 21. Heauen truely.) Some Heretikes foulyly corrupt this place, thus, Who muſt be conteined in heauen, of purpoſe (as they proteſt) to hold Chriſt in heauen, from the B. ſacrament. Beza. As though his preſence there, drewe him out of heauen. Neither can they pretend the Greeke, which is word for word as in the vulgar Latine, and as we tranſlate.

FVLKE. 3 S. Gregorie Nazianzen was ſuch an Heretike, which ſo citeth this place in Greeke, as it cannot otherwiſe be vnderſtood, but that Chriſt muſt be contained in heauen. ορατέον γὰρ: and howſoeuer it bee tranſlated, this ſenſe muſt needes be concluded out of the wordes. For if heauen muſt conteine Chriſt, Chriſt muſt be conteined of heauen, or as you tranſlate it: heauen muſt receiue Chriſt, ergo Chriſt muſt be receiued of heauen. And if this preſence in the ſacrament draw him not from heauen, then is his preſence in the ſacrament not corporal. The real preſence of Chriſts body.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. III.

RHEM. 4 6. That which I haue.) This power of working miracles was in Peter, and Peter properly did giue this man his health, though he receiued that force and vertue of God, and in and by him executed the ſame. Therefore he ſaith, That which I haue, I giue to thee. and the Heretikes are ridiculous that note here, a miracle done by Chriſt by the hands of the Apoſtles, to make the ſimple beleeue that they had no more to doe then a dead inſtrument in the workemans hand. Saints doe miracles and heale, but by the power of God.

RHEM. 5 12. By our power.) When the Apoſtles remitte ſinnes, or doe any other miracles, they doe it not by any humane, proper, or naturall power in themſelues: but of ſupernaturall force giuen them from aboue, to proue that the faith of Chriſt is true and that he is God whom the Iewes crucified, in whoſe name and faith they worke, and not in their owne.

FVLKE. 4.5 These notes doe one of them fight againſt the other: for in the former you ſay this power was in Peter properly, in the latter you ſay, the Apoſtles in ſuch workes, doe it not by any proper power in them. You cauill againſt that we ſay: this was a miracle done by Chriſt by the hands of the Apoſtles, as though they had no more to doe then a dead inſtrument. But who is ſo ſimple, or rather ſenceles, to thinke that the Apoſtles wrought miracles as dead inſtruments? when Chriſt himſelfe ſaith, it is not you that ſpeake, but the ſpirit of your father, which is in you, Matth.10.20. Doth he meane that the holy Ghoſt ſpeaketh in them as in dead inſtruments? or rather is the author and ſuggeſtor of that wiſdome, according to which they make anſwere. So when the Scripture ſayth, that God only doth worke great miracles, pſal.136.4. We muſt ſtil acknowledge God to be the author, and man to be the inſtrument of all wonderous workes, that God worketh by their hands: and ſo the Apoſtles confeſſe themſelues. Miracle.

CHAP. IIII.

The rulers of the Iewes oppoſe themſelues and impriſon Peter and Iohn. 4 But yet thouſands of the people are conuerted: 5 and to the Rulers alſo, Peter boldly auoucheth by the foreſayd miracle, that IESVS is Chriſt, telling them of their heinous fault out of the Pſalmes, and that without him they cannot be ſaued. 13 They though confounded with the miracle, yet proceede in their obſtinacie, forbidding them to ſpeake any more of IESVS, adding alſo threates. 23 Whereupon the Church fleeth to prayer, wherein they comfort themſelues with the omnipotencie of God, and prediction of Dauid, and aske for the gift of boldneſſe and miracles againſt thoſe threates. 31 And God ſheweth miraculouſly that hee hath heard their prayer. 32 The whole Churches vnitie and communitie of life. 36 Of Barnabas byname.

4 And ‡ many of them that had heard the word, beleeued: and the number of the men was made fiue thousand.

5 And it came to passe on the morowe, that their princes, and Ancients, and Scribes were gathered into Hierusalem.

6 And Annas the high priest, & Caiphas and Iohn, and Alexander, & as many as were of the priests stocke.

7 And setting them in the middes, they asked: In what power or in what name haue you done this?

8 Then Peter replenished with the holy Ghost, sayd to them, Ye princes of the people and Ancients:

9 If we this day bee examined for a good deede vpon an impotent man, in what hee hath bene made whole,

10 Be it knowen to all you and to all the people of Israël, that in the name of IESVS CHRIST of Nazareth, whom you did crucifie, whom God hath raised frō the dead, in this same this man stādeth before you whole.

The name of Iesvs. Act. 3.6. & 4.10. Phil. 2.10.

11 This is the stone that was reiected of you the builders: which is made into the head of the corner.

Ps. 118.22.

12 And there is not saluation in any other. for neither is there any other name vnder heauen giuen to men, wherein we must be saued.

13 And seeing Peters constancie and Iohns, vnderstanding that they were men vnlettered, and of the vulgar sort, they marueled, and they knew them that they had bene with IESVS:

The Apostles cōstant learning, and wisdome after the cumming of the holy Ghost, being before idiots, that is, simple vnlearned men and vnknowen before.

14 Seeing the man also that had bene cured, standing with them, they could say nothing to the contrary.

15 But they commanded them to goe aside forth out of the councel: and they conferred together,

16 Saying, What shall wee doe to these men? for a notorious signe in deed hath been done by them, to all the inhabitants of Hierusalem: it is manifest, & we cannot denie it.

17 But that it be no further spred abroad among the people, let vs threaten them, that they speake no more in this name to any man.

18 And calling them, they charged them that they should not speake at all, nor teach in the name of IESVS.

19 But Peter and Iohn answering, said to them, ‡ If it bee iust in the sight of God, to heare you rather then God, iudge ye.

20 For we cannot but speake the things which we haue seene and heard.

21 But they threatning, dimissed them: not finding howe they might punish them, for the people, because all glorified ‡ which had in hold vntill the next day: for it was now euentide.

4 Howbeit, many of them which heard the worde, beleeued, and the number of the men was about fiue thousand.

5 And it came to passe on the morowe, that their rulers, and elders and Scribes,

6 And Annas the chiefe Priest, and Caiaphas, and Iohn, and Alexander, and as many as were of the kinred of the high Priests, were gathered together at Hierusalem.

7 And when they had set them before them, they asked, By what power, or in what name haue you done this?

8 Then Peter full of the holy Ghost, sayd vnto them, Yee rulers of the people, and elders of Israel,

9 If we this day be examined of the good deed done to the sicke man, by what meanes he is made whole,

10 Be it knowen vnto you all, and to all the people of Israel, that by the name of Iesus Christ of Nazareth, whom ye crucified, whom God raysed againe from the dead, euen by him, doeth this man stand here before you, whole.

*11 * This is the stone which was † set nought by of you builders, which is the head of the corner.*

Psal. 118.22. esay 28.16. mat. 21.42.

12 Neither is there saluation in any other: for among men vnder heauen, there is giuen none other name wherein we must be saued.

13 Now when they sawe the boldnesse of Peter and Iohn, and vnderstoode that they were vnlearned, and ignorant men, they marueiled, and they knew them that they had bene with Iesus:

14 And beholding also the man which was healed standing with them, they could not say against it.

15 But when they had commaunded them to goe aside out of the councel, they counselled among themselues,

16 Saying, What shall we doe to these men? for a manifest signe is done by them, and is openly knowen to all them that dwell in Hierusalem, and we cannot denie it.

17 But that it bee noised no farther among the people, let vs threaten, and charge them that they speake henceforth to no man in this name.

18 And they called them, and commanded them, that in no wise they should speake nor teach in the name of Iesus.

19 But Peter and Iohn answered, and sayd vnto them, Whether it bee right in the sight of God, to hearken vnto you more then to God, iudge ye.

20 For wee cannot but speake that, which wee haue seene and heard.

21 So when they had more sharpely threatned them, they let them goe, finding nothing howe to punish them, because of the people: for all men had bene done, in that which was chanced.

22 For the man was more then fourtie yeeres old in whom that signe of health had bene wrought.

23 And being dimissed they came to theirs, and shewed all that the chiefe priestes and Ancients had sayd to them.

24 Who having heard it, with one accord lifted vp their voice to God, and sayd, Lorde, thou that didst make heauen and earth, the sea, and all things that are in them,

25 Who in the holy Ghost by the mouth of our father Dauid thy seruant hast said, Why did the Gentiles rage, and the people meditate vaine things? Psa.2.1.

26 The kings of the earth stand vp, and the princes assemble together against our Lord, and against his CHRIST?

27 For there assembled in deede in this citie against thy holy childe IESVS whome thou hast anointed, Herod, and Pontius Pilate, with the Gentiles and the people of Israël, 28 To do what ‡thy hand and thy counsell decreed to be done.

29 And nowe Lorde looke vpon their threatnings, and giue vnto thy seruants with all confidence to speake thy word,

30 In that, that thou extend thy hand to cures and signes and wonders to bee done by the name of thy holy sonne IESVS.

31 And when they had prayed, the place was moued wherin they were gathered: and they were al repleniſhed with ỹ holy Ghost, and they spake the worde of God with confidence.

32 And the multitude of beleeuers had one hart and one soule: neither did any one say that ought was his owne of those things which he possessed, but all things were common vnto them.

33 And with great power did the Apostles giue testimonie of the resurrection of IESVS CHRIST our Lord: and great grace was in all them.

34 For neither was there any one needie among them. For as many as were owners of lands or houses ‡ sold and brought the prices of those things which they sold,

35 And layed it before the feete of the Apostles. And to euery one was diuided according as euery one had neede.

36 And Ioseph who was surnamed of the Apostles Barnabas (which is by interpretation the sonne of consolation) a Leuite, a Cyprian borne.

37 Whereas he had a peece of land, sold it, and brought the price, and laied it ‖ before the feete of the Apostles.

‡Note the ardent charitie and contempt of worldly things in the first Christians: who did not only giue great almes, but sold al their lands to bestow on the Apostles and the rest that were in necessitie, according to Christes counsel. glorified God, because of that which was done.

22 For the man was aboue fourtie yeeres olde, on whome this miracle of healing was shewed.

23 Then assoone as they were let goe, they came to their fellowes, and shewed all that the high Priests and elders had sayd vnto them.

24 And when they heard that, they lifted vp their voices to God with one accord, and said, Lord, thou art God which hast made heauen and earth, the sea, and all that in them is,

*25 Which by the mouth of thy seruant Dauid hast said, Why did the heathen rage, and the people imagine vaine things? Psal.2.1.

26 The kings of the earth stoode vp, and the rulers came together against the Lord, and against his Christ.

27 For of a truth against thy holy childe Iesus, whom thou hast anointed, both Herod, and also Pontius Pilate, with the Gentiles, and the people of Israel, gathered themselues together, 28 For to doe whatsoeuer thy hand and thy counsell determined before to be done.

29 And now Lord, behold their threatnings, and grant vnto thy seruants, that with all boldnesse they may speake thy word, 30 So that thou stretch forth thine hand, that healing, and signes and wonders bee done by the name of thy holy childe Iesus.

31 And as soone as they had prayed, the place mooued where they were assembled together, and they were all filled with the holy Ghost, and they spake the word of God boldly.

32 And the multitude of them that beleeued, were of one heart, and of one soule: Neither said any of them, that ought of the things which hee possessed was his owne, but they had all thinges common.

33 And with great power gaue the Apostles witnesse of the resurrection of the Lord Iesus, and great grace was with them all.

34 Neither was there any among them that lacked: For as many as were possessors of lands, or houses, sold them, and brought the price of the things that were sold,

35 And laied it downe at the Apostles feet: And distribution was made vnto euery man according as he had neede.

36 And Ioses, which was also called of the Apostles Barnabas (that is to say, if yee interprete it, The sonne of consolation) being a Leuite, and of the countrey of Cypres, 37 Hauing lande, solde it, and brought the money, and layed it downe at the Apostles feete.

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. IIII.

RHEM. I. 19. If it be iust.) Their constancie and courage after their confirmation, being so weake before. And if any Magistrate commaund commaund against God, that is to say, forbid Catholike Christian men to preach or serue God, this same must be their answere, though they be whipped and killed for their labour. See cap. 5. ver. 29.

FVLKE. 1 The confirmation of the Apostles was nothing like popish confirmation, which they that receiue are neuer the better for it. True Catholike Christians, if they be forbidden by enemies of the Church, ought to answere as the Apostles did, But papists that be counterfect Catholikes, if they do not obey the Christian magistrates, or gouernours of the Church, are iustly punished. Popish confirmation.

RHEM. 2 28 Thy hand and thy counsell.) Christs death, as needefull for mans redemption, was of Gods determination: but as of the malice of the Iewes, it was not his act otherwise then by permission.

FVLKE. 2 The malice of the Iewes was of the deuill, and of themselues: but God did not onely permit, but also vse their malice most holily and iustly, to bring his purpose to effect.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. IIII.

RHEM. 3 37 Before the feete.) He, as the rest, did not onely giue his goods as in vulgar almes, but in all humble and reuerent maner as things dedicated to God, he laid them downe at the Apostles holy feete, as S. Luke alwaies expresseth, and gaue them not into their hands. The Sunamite fell downe and embraced Eliseus feete. Mary that asked benefits of Christ (as the woman sicke of the bloodie fluxe) fell downe at his feete. and Mary kissed his feete. Such are signes of due reuerence done both to Christ and to other sacred persons, either Prophets, Apostles, Popes, or others representing his person in earth. See in S. Hierom of Epiphanius Bishop in Cypres, how the people of Hierusalem of all sorts flocked together vnto him, offring their children (to take his blessing) kissing his feete, plucking the hemmes of his garment, so that he could not moue for the throng. Ep. 61. c 4. cont. errо. Io. Hierosol. Reuerence to holy persons. 4. Reg. 4. 27. Luk. 8. 47. Luk. 7. 38. Kissing their feete.

FVLKE. 3 The rest also brought the price, and laid it at the Apostles feete: but of kissing their holy feete, is here no mention. And although Mary kissed the feete of Christ, it is no warrant for the Pope to offer his feete to bee kissed, euen of Kings and Emperors. When Cornelius fell downe at Peters feete, Peter would not suffer him, Act. 10. 15. The people of the East countrey, were full of ceremoniall reuerence, in falling downe, kissing, and such other externall rites of humiliation, and the rather to Epiphanius, because he was an aduersary to Heretikes, and opposed himselfe against the proud Bishop of Hierusalem, which fauoured some Heresies. But the dutie of all men is euill gathered of that immoderate zeale of the people, which Epiphanius himselfe did not allowe. For he was forced by the throng to suffer such things, and did not willingly, and of purpose stay in one place, to receiue such honor of the people, as the enuious Bishop of Ierusalem did falsly obiect vnto him, as it followeth immediatly in S. Hierome. But if such kissing of feete be commendable, how commeth it to passe, that the Pope onely hath holy feete to be kissed, and not other Bishops and Clergie men as well as he? Kissing the Popes feete.

CHAP. V.

RHEM. 1 Ananias and his wife Saphira, for their sacrilege, at Peters word fall downe dead, to the great terror of the rest. 12 By the Apostles miracles, not onely the number, but also their faith so increaseth, that they seeke in the streetes to the very shadow of Peter, the townes also about bring their diseased to Hierusalem. 17 The Rulers againe oppose themselues, but in vaine. 19 For out of prison an Angel deliuereth them, bidding them preach openly to all: 27 and in their Councell Peter is nothing afraid of their bigge wordes: 34 Yea Gamaliel being one of them selues casteth a doubt among them, left the matter be of God, and therefore impossible to be dissolued. 40 Finally, the Apostles being scourged by them, count it an honour, and cease no day from preaching.

FVLKE. 1 The text saith they were punished so seuerely, for lying to the holy Ghost in defrauding of the price, and tempting the spirit of God.

BVt a certaine man named Ananias, with Saphira his wife solde a peece of land,

2 And ‖ defrauded of the price of the land, his wife being priuie thereto: and bringing a certaine portion, laide it at the feete of the Apostles.

3 And ‖ Peter saide, Ananias, why hath Satan tempted thy heart, that thou shouldest lie to the holy Ghost, and defraude of the price of the land?

4 Remaining, did it not remaine to thee: and being solde, was it not in thy power? Why hast thou put this thing in thy heart? Thou hast not lyed ‖ to men, but to God.

5 And Ananias hearing these wordes, fell downe, and gaue vp the ghost. And there came great feare vpon all that heard it.

6 And yong men rising vp, remoued him, and bearing him forth buried him.

7 And it was the space as it were of three houres, and his wife, not knowing what was chaunced, came in.

8 And Peter answered her, Tell me woman, whether did you sell the lande for so much? But she said, Yea, for so much.

9 And Peter vnto her, Why haue you agreed

BVt a certaine man named Ananias, with Saphira his wife, sold a possession,

2 And kept away part of the price, his wife also being of counsel, and brought a certaine part, and laide it downe at the Apostles feete.

3 But Peter saide, Ananias, how is it that Satan hath filled thine heart, to lie vnto the holy Ghost, and keepe away part of the price of the land?

4 Whiles it remained, was it not thine owne? and after it was solde, was it not in thine owne power? why hast thou conceiued this thing in thine heart? thou hast not lyed vnto men, but vnto God.

5 Ananias hearing these wordes, fell downe, and gaue vp the ghost: and great feare came on all them that heard these things.

6 And the young men rose vp, and put him apart, and caried him out, and buried him.

7 And it came to passe, that as it were about the space of three houres after, his wife came in, not knowing that which was done.

8 And Peter saide vnto her, Tell me, solde ye not the land for so much? And she said, Yea, for so much.

9 Then Peter saide vnto her, Why haue yee agreed agreed together to tempt the Spirit of our Lord? Beholde, their feete that haue buried thy husband, at the doore, and they shall beare thee foorth.

10 Forthwith she fell before his feet, and gaue vp the ghost. And the yong men going in, found her dead: and caried her forth, and buried her by her husband.

13 But of the rest none durst ioyne themselues vnto them: but the people magnified them.

14 And the multitude of men and women that beleeued in our Lord, was more increased:

15 So that they did bring forth the sicke into the streetes, and laide them in beds and couches, that when Peter came, ‖ his shadow at the least might ouershadow any of them, and they all might be deliuered from their infirmities.

16 And there ranne together vnto Hierusalem the multitude also of the cities adioyning, bringing sicke persons and such as were vexed of vncleane spirits: who were all cured.

17 And the high priest rising vp, and all that were with him, which is the heresie of the Sadduces, were repleniſhed with zeale:

18 Laide handes vpon the Apostles, and put them in the common prison.

An Angel leadeth them out of prison.

19 But an Angel of our Lorde by night opening the gates of the prison, and leading them forth, said, 20 Goe: and standing speake in the temple to the people all the words of this life.

21 Who hauing heard this, early in the morning entred into the temple, and taught. And the high priest comming, and they that were with him, called together the Councell and all the auncients of the children of Israel: and they sent to the prison that they might be brought.

22 But when the ministers were come, and opening the prison, found them not: returning they told,

23 Saying, The prison truely we founde shut with all diligence, and the keepers standing before the gates: but opening it, wee found no man within.

24 And as soone as the Magistrate of the tẽple & the chiefe priests heard these words, they were in doubt of thẽ, what would befal.

25 And there came a certaine man and told them, That the men, loe, which you did put in prison, are in the temple standing, and teaching the people.

26 Then

agreed together, to tempt the ſpirit of the Lord? beholde, the feete of them which haue buried thy huſbande, are at the doore, and ſhall carrie thee out.

10 Then fell ſhee downe ſtraightway at his feet, and yeelded vp the ghoſt: And the yong men came in, and found her dead, and caried her out, and buried her by her huſband.

12 And by the handes of the Apoſtles, were many ſignes and wonders ſhewed among the people. (And they were all together with one accord in Solomons porch.

13 And of other durſt no man ioyne himſelfe to them: neuertheleſſe, the people magnified them.

14 The number of them that beleeued in the Lorde, both of men and women, grew more and more.)

15 Inſomuch that they brought the ſicke into the ſtreetes, and layde them on beddes and couches, that at the leaſt way the ſhadowe of Peter when hee came by, might ſhadowe ſome of them.

16 There came alſo a multitude of the cities rounde about vnto Hieruſalem, bringing ſicke folkes, and them which were vexed with vncleane ſpirites: and they were healed enery one.

17 Then the chiefe Prieſt roſe vp, and all they that were with him (which is the ſect of the Sadducees) and were full of indignation, 18 And laide handes on the Apoſtles, and put them into the common priſon.

19 But the Angel of the Lord by night opened the priſon doores, and brought them foorth, and ſaid, 20 Goe, and ſtand and ſpeake in the Temple to the people all the wordes of this life.

21 And when they heard that, they entred into the Temple early in the morning, & taught: but the chiefe Prieſt came, and they that were with him, and called a councell together, and all the elders of the children of Iſrael, and ſent to the priſon to fetch them.

22 But when the officers came, and found them not in the priſon, they returned, and told,

23 Saying, The priſon truely found we ſhut with all diligence, and the keepers ſtanding without before the doores, but when we had opened, we found no man within.

24 Then when the chiefe Prieſt, and the captaine of the Temple, and the high Prieſtes heard theſe things, they doubted of them whereunto this would growe.

25 Then came one and ſhewed them, ſaying, Beholde, the men that yee put in priſon, are ſtanding in the Temple, and teaching the people.

26 Then

26 Then went the Magistrate with the ministers, and brought them without force, for they feared the people least they should be stoned.

27 And when they had brought them, they set them in the Councel. And the high priest asked them,

Act.4.18. 28 Saying, *Commanding we commanded you that you should not teach in this name: and beholde you haue filled Hierusalem with your doctrine, and you will bring vpon vs the blood of this man.

29 But Peter answering & the Apostles, said, God must be obeyed, rather then men.

30 The God of our Fathers hath rayſed vp IESVS, whom you did kill, hanging him vpon a tree.

31 This Prince and Sauiour God hath exalted with his right hande, to giue *repentance to Israël, and remission of sinnes.

*Gr. Here they translate the Latin word penitentia repentance, which elsewhere commonly they call penance.

32 And we are witnesses of these words, and the holy Ghost, whom God hath giuen to all that obey him.

33 When they had heard these things, it cut them to the heart, and they consulted to kill them.

34 But one in the Councell rising vp, a Pharisee named Gamaliel, a doctor of lawe honorable to all the people, commanded the men to be put forth a while.

35 And he said to them, Ye men of Israël, take heede to your selues touching these men what you meane to doe.

Theudas 36 For before these daies there rose Theódas, saying he was some bodie, to whom consented a number of men about foure hundred, who was slaine: and all that beleeued him, were dispersed, and brought to nothing.

37 After this fellow there rose Iudas of Galilee in the daies of the Enrolling, & drew away the people after him, and he perished: and as many as consented vnto him, were dispersed.

38 And now therfore I say to you, depart from these men and let them alone: for if this counsell or worke be of men, it will be dissolued:

†it, 39 But if it be of God, you are not able to dissolue † them, lest perhaps you be found to resist God also. And they consented to him.

40 And calling in the Apostles, after they had scourged them, they charged them that they should not speake in the name of IESVS, and dimissed them.

41 And they went from the sight of the counsell reioycing, because they were accounted worthy to suffer reproche for the name of IESVS.

42 And euery day they ceased not in the temple and from house to house to teach and euangelize Christ IESVS.

26 Then went the captaine of the Temple with the officers, and brought them without violence: (For they feared the people, lest they should haue bene stoned.)

27 And when they had brought them, they set them before the councel, and the chiefe Priest asked them,

*28 Saying, * Did not we straitly command you that yee should not teach in this name? And beholde, ye haue filled Hierusalem with your doctrine, and intende to bring this mans blood vpon vs.* Act.4.18.

29 Then Peter and the other Apostles answered, and said, We ought more to obey God then men.

30 The God of our fathers raised vp Iesus, whom ye slew, and hanged on tree.

31 Him hath God lifted vp with his right hande, to be a Prince and a Sauiour, for to giue repentance to Israel, and forgiuenesse of sinnes.

32 And we are records of these things which we say, and so is also the holy Ghost, whom God hath giuen to them that obey him.

33 When they heard that, they claue asunder, and sought meanes to slay them.

34 Then stoode there vp one in the councell, a Pharisee, named Gamaliel, a doctour of law, had in reputation among all the people, and commaunded to put the Apostles foorth a litle space, 35 And said vnto them, Ye men of Israel, take heede to your selues, what ye intend to doe as touching these men.

36 For before these dayes rose vp one Theudas, reporting himselfe to be some great man, to whom a number of men, about a foure hundred, ioyned themselues: which was slaine, and they all which †beleeued him were scattered abroad, and brought to nought. †Or, agreed vnto

37 After this man rose vp one Iudas of Galilee, in the dayes of tribute, and drewe away much people after him: he also perished, and all, euen as many as obeyed him, were scattered abroade.

38 And nowe I say vnto you, refraine your selues from these men, and let them alone: for if this councell or this worke be of men, it will come to nought:

39 But and if it be of God, yee can not destroy it, least haplie ye be founde to strine against God.

40 And to him they agreed: and when they had called the Apostles, and beaten them, they commaunded that they should not speake in the name of Iesus, and let them goe.

41 And they departed from the face of the councel, reioycing that they were counted worthy to suffer shame for his name.

42 And daily in the temple, and in euery house, they ceased not to teach and preach Iesus Christ.

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. V.

RHEM. 2 11 Feare in the whole Church.) Hereupon rose great reuerence, awe, and feare of the vulgar Christians towarde the holy Apostles, for an example to all Christian people how to behaue themselues toward their Bishops and Priests.

FVLKE. 2 The feare of God fell vpon the whole Church, and vnfained reuerence towardes Gods Ministers: whom they feared not as tyrants, but loued as fathers. Amari parens & episcopus debet, non timeri. A father and a bishop ought to be loued, not to be feared. Hieron. Ep. 62. ad Theophilum. Bishops not to be feared as tyrants.

RHEM. 3 39 Of God, you.) Time and the euident successe of Christs Church and religion, proue it to be of God: no violence of the Iewes, no persecution of the Heathen Princes, no endeuour of domesticall Aduersaries, heretikes, Schismatikes, or ill liuers, prenailing against it. as on the other side, many attempts haue bene made by Arius, Macedonius, Nestorius, Luther, and the like, who thought themselues some bodie: but after they had plaied their parts a while, their memory is buried, or liueth only in malediction and infamie, and their scholers come to nought. Therefore let no Cath. man be scandalized that this heresie holdeth vp for a time. For the Arians and some others florished much longer then these, and were better supported by Princes and learning, and yet had an end.

FVLKE. 3 When you see the end of that doctrine which Luther preached against you, then boast of the victorie of the Popish Church. We see the fall of Babylon dayly more and more: and the madnesse of them that seeke to vphold her, made daily more and more manifest. But especially we know out of the holy Scriptures, that the Popish rable is the Synagogue of Sathan and kingdome of Antichrist, and that the doctrine which wee teach, is the faith of Christ. The fall of Babylon,

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. V.

RHEM. 4 2 Defrauded.) In that (saith S. Augustine) he withdrew any part of that which he promised, he was guilty at once, both of sacrilege, and of fraud, of sacrilege, because he robbed God of that which was his by promise: of fraud, in that he withheld of the whole gift, a peece. Let now the Heretikes come, and say it was for lying or hypocrisie onely that this fact was condemned: because they be loth to haue sacrilege counted any such sinne, who haue taught men not only to take away from God some peece of that or all that themselues gaue, but plainely to spoile and apply to themselues all that other men gaue. Aug. Serm. 49. appendic. tom. 10. Sacrilege.

FVLKE. 4 S. Augustine is cited out of new found Sermons, which yet haue not obteined credit of Antiquitie. The text is plaine, for what sinne they were punished. Neither can it be proued that they promised the whole, but that they affirmed they brought the whole, when they withdrewe part. Sacrilege is condemned by many other places of Scripture, although it be not by this. And if it be also by this (as some fathers of better credite then you cite doe suppose,) yet the principall cause is manifest by the words of the Apostles, to be lying and hypocrisie. Now what heretikes they be, that teach men to commit sacrilege, you must name more particularly. The Popish clergie in king Henry the 8. time, consented to the suppressing of Monasteries: and some Papists at this day without conscience of sacrilege, doe enioy their lands, and dwell in their houses, peraduenture you meane them. If you meane vs, as we doe vtterly detest sacrilege, so we thinke it not onely lawfull, but necessary to put downe Idolatrie, and to apply to good and godly purposes, things dedicated to maintaine false worship, superstition and Idolatrie. Hesych. lib. 2. cap. 10. in Leuit. Dominus dicit, omne peccatum hominibus dimittitur, blasphemia autem contra Spiritum non relinquetur. Hoc Petrus ipso opere ostendit, quia enim Ananias & Saphira Spiritui sancto mentiti sunt, ait ad eos, Quare tentauit Satanas cor vestrum mentiri Spiritui sancto? Slander.

RHEM. 5 3 Peter said.) S. Peter (as you see here) without mans relation knew this fraud and the cogitations of Ananias, and as head of the College and of the whole Church against which this robbery was committed, executed this leanie sentence of Excommunication both against him, and his wife consenting to the Sacrilege, for it was excommunication by S. Augustines iudgement, (lib. 5. cont. ep. Parm. c. 1. to. 7.) and had this corporall miraculous death ioyned withall, as the Excommunication that S. Paul gaue out against the incestuous and others, had the corporall vexation of Satan incident vnto it. Excommunication ioyned with corporall punishment. 1. Cor. 5.

FVLKE. 5 Euery thing that Peter said or did, with you argueth his Popedome: but either you must bring better arguments, or els children will laugh you to scorne. The punishment laid vpon these hypocrites, was greater then excommunication, the end whereof is entended to be the repentance and amendement of the excommunicate, which was not in this case. Hesych. lib. 2. in cap. 10. Leuit. Tempus pœnitentiæ eis non dedit, sciens quia cor tenacium in transgressione & blasphemia Spiritus habentes pœnitere non patientur. Neither doth S. Augustine iudge (as you say) that it was excommunication, but saieth, that Paul in deliuering the incestuous Corinthian to Satan, sought by destruction of the flesh, to prouide for his spirituall saluation, that either by some punishment, or corporall death: as Ananias and his wife fell downe at the Apostle Peters feete: or else by repentance, for he was deliuered to Satan, that he might slay in himselfe the wicked concupiscence of the flesh. These wordes (as all men may see) proone not that Ananias and his wife were excommunicated, but that Peter of charitable affection vsed this seuerite, wishing (if it were Gods will) the saluation of their soules. That the excommunication of S. Paul, 1. Cor. 5. had the corporall vexation of Satan incident vnto it, cannot be proued by the text. For euery one that is cast out of the Church of Christ, is deliuered into the power of Satan, although he suffer no bodily vexation by Satan. Peters Popedom. Excommunication.

RHEM. 6 4 In thy power.) If it displeased God (saith S. Augustine) to withdraw of the money which they had vowed to God, how is he angry when chastitie is vowed and is not performed? for to such may be saide that which S. Peter said of the money: Thy virginitie remayning did it not remaine to thee, and before thou didst vow, was it not in thine owne power? for, whosoeuer haue vowed such things and haue not payed them, let them not thinke to be condemned to corporall death, but to euerlasting fire. August. Ser. 10. de diuersis. And S. Gregorie to the same purpose writeth thus, Ananias had vowed money to God, which afterward ouercome with diuelish persuasion he withdrew: but with what death he was punished, thou knowest. If then he were worthy of that death, who tooke away the money that he had giuen to God, consider what great perill in Gods iudgement thou shalt be worthy of, which hast withdrawen, not money, but thy selfe from almighty God, to whom thou hadst vowed thy selfe vnder the habite or weede of a Monke. Vow of Chastitie and the breach thereof. Greg. lib. 1. ep. 1.

FVLKE. 6 They that haue a great power to keepe their vow of virginitie aduisedly made, as Ananias had to deliuer the whole price of his land, sinne damnably if they breake it. But if they haue rashly vowed that, which they are not able to performe, they haue sinned in making such an vnaduised vow, but it were better for them to marry, then to liue incontinently out of wedlocke. Hier. ad Demetriad. Epiphan. Haer. 61. Vowes.

RHEM. 7 4 Not to men, but) To take from the Church or from the Gouernours thereof, things dedicated to their vse and the seruice of God, or to lie vnto Gods Ministers, is so iudged of before God, as if the lie were made, and the fraud done to the holy Ghost himselfe, who is the Churches President and Protector.

Not

FYLKE. 7 Not euery one that taketh from the Church, or that lieth to Gods ministers, sinneth against the holy Ghost, as these did, although he sinne against God. For the holy Ghost is not in all Gods Ministers, to knowe things done in secret, as he was in the Apostles, and therefore they tempted the holy Ghost, whom they knew to be in the Apostles after a miraculous maner.

RHEM. 8 15 His shadow.) Specially they sought to Peter the chiefe of all, who not onely by touching, as the other, but by his very shadow cured all diseases. whereupon S. Augustine saith, If then the shadow of his body could helpe, how much more now the fulnesse of power? And if then a certaine little winde of him passing by did profite them that humbly asked, how much more the grace of him now being permanent and remaining? Ser. 29. de Sanctis, speaking of the miracles done by the Saincts now reigning in heauen. Peters shadow and intercession.

FYLKE. 8 God wrought greatly by Peters ministery, that he cured euen those that came vnder his shadowe, but this proueth not the Popedome of Peter, and much lesse that Peter worketh still miracles from heauen: as that counterfect Augustine doth seeme to insinuate, who liued long after Isidorus, that was 200. yeeres after S. Augustine, as it is manifest by citing his saying, as an ancient author. Ser. 35. de Sanct. Peters Popedom. Miracles.

CHAP. VI.

By occasion of a murmur in the Church (whose number now is so growen that it cannot be numbred) Seuen of them being ordered by the Apostles in the holy order of Deacons: 8 one of them, Steuen, worketh great miracles: and is by such as be confounded in disputation, falsely accused in the Councell, of blasphemie against the Temple and rites thereof.

AND in those dayes the number of disciples increasing, there arose a ‖ murmuring of the Greekes against the Hebrues, for that their widowes were despised in the daily ministerie.

2 And the Twelue calling together the multitude of the disciples, said, It is not reason, that we leaue the word of God, and serue tables.

3 Consider therfore brethren, ‖ seuen men of you of good testimonie, full of the holy Ghost and wisdome, whom we may appoint ouer this businesse.

4 But we will be instant in praier and the ministerie of the word.

5 And the saying was liked before all the multitude. And they chose Steuen a man full of faith and of the holy Ghost, and Philippe, and Próchorus, and Nicánor, and Timon, and Pármenas, and Nicolas a ‹ stranger of Antioche.

6 These they did set in the presence of the Apostles: and praying they imposed hands vpon them.

7 And the word of God increased, and the number of the disciples was multiplied in Hierusalem exceedingly: a great multitude also of the ‡ Priests obeyed the faith.

8 ᵇ And Steuen full of grace and fortitude did great wonders and signes among the people.

9 And there arose certaine of that which is called the Synagogue of the Libertines, & of the Cyrenians, and of the Alexandrians, and of them that were of Cilicia and Asia, disputing with Steuen:

10 And they could not resist the wisdome and the Spirit that spake.

11 Then they suborned men, to say they had heard him speake wordes of blasphemie against Moyses and God.

12 They therefore stirred vp the people, and the Auncients, and the Scribes: and running together they tooke him, and brought him into the Councell,

13 And they set false witnesses that said, This

AND in those dayes, when the number of the disciples grewe, there arose a grudge among the Greekes against the Hebrues, because their widowes were despised in the daily ministerie.

2 Then the twelue called the multitude of the disciples together, and saide, It is not good that we should leaue the worde of God, and serue tables.

3 Wherefore brethren, looke yee out among you seuen men of honest report, and full of the holy Ghost, and wisdome, to whom we may commit this businesse.

4 But wee will giue our selues continually to prayer, and to the ministerie of the word.

*5 And the saying pleased the whole multitude: * and they chose Steuen, a man full of faith and of the holy ghost, and Philip, and Prochorus, and Nicanor, and Timon, and Parmenas, and Nicholas a conuert of Antioche.* Act. 21. 8.

6 These they set before the Apostles: and when they had prayed, they laide their handes on them.

7 And the word of God encreased, and the number of the disciples multiplied in Hierusalem greatly, and a great companie of the Priests were obedient to the faith.

8 And Stenen full of faith and power, did great wonders and miracles among the people.

9 Then there arose certaine of the Synagogue, which is called the synagogue of the Libertines, and Cyrenians, and of Alexandria, and of Cilicia, and of Asia, disputing with Stenen:

10 And they could not resist the wisedom and the spirit by the which he spake.

11 Then they priuily prepared men, which said, We haue heard him speake blasphemous words against Moses, and against God.

12 And they moued the people, and the elders, and the Scribes, and came vpon him, and caught him, and brought him to the councell:

13 And brought foorth false witnesses, which said,

This man ceaseth not to speake wordes against the holy place and the Law.

14 For we haue heard him say, that this same IESVS of Nazareth shall destroy this place, and shall change the traditions, which Moyses deliuered vnto vs.

15 And all that sate in the Councell beholding him, saw his face as it were ‡ the face of an Angel.

‡ Such is the face of all constant and cheerefull Martyrs, to their persecutors and iudges.

saide, This man ceaseth not to speake blasphemous wordes against this holy place, and the lawe.

14 For we heard him say, that this Iesus of Nazareth shal destroy this place, and shal change the ordinances which Moses gaue vs.

15 And all that sate in the councell, looking stedfastly on him, sawe his face as it had bene the face of an Angel.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. VI.

RHEM. 1 Murmuring.) It commeth of humane infirmitie, that in euery Societie of men (be it neuer so holy) there is some cause giuen or taken by the weake, of murmure and difference, which must euer be prouided for and staied in the beginning, leste it growe to further schisme or sedition. And to all such defects, the more the Church increaseth in number and diuersitie of men and Prouinces, the more it is subiect. In all which things the spirituall Magistrates, by the Apostles example and authoritie, must take order, as time and occasion shall require. Murmuring and emulation.

RHEM. 1 3 Seuen men.) We may not thinke that these Seuen (here made Deacons) were onely chosen to serue prophane tables or dispose of the Churches meere temporals, though by that occasion onely they may seeme to some nowe elected, no expresse mention being made of any other function. for diuerse circumstances of this same place giue euidence, and so doth all antiquitie, that their office stood not principally about profane things, but about the holy Altar. The persons to be elected, must be full of the holy Ghost and wisedome, they must after publike prayer be ordered and consecrated by the Apostles imposition of hands, as Bishops and Priests were afterward ordered. ep. ad Tim. Where S. Paul also requireth in a maner the same conditions in them as in Bishops. All which would not haue bene prescribed for any seculat stewardship. Yea straight vpon their Ordering here (no doubt by commission of the Apostles, which they had not before their election) they preached, baptized, disputed, and as it may appeare by the wordes spoken of S. Steuen, that he was full of grace and fortitude, they receiued great increase of grace by their Deaconship. The seuen Deacons. 1. Tim. 3. Act. 6.

But S. Ignatius ep. 2. ad Tral. can best witnesse of their Office and the Apostles maner and meaning in such things, who writeth thus: It behoueth also to please by all meanes the Deacons, which are for the ministerie of IESVS CHRIST. For they are not seruiteurs of meate and drinke, but ministers of the Church of God. For what are Deacons but imitatours or followers of Christ, ministring to the Bishop, as Christ to his Father, and working vnto him a cleane and immaculate worke, euen as S. Stephen to Iames &c. S. Polycarpe hath the like in his epistle ad Philippenses. And S. Denys writeth that their office was about the Altar, and putting the holy bread and chalice vpon the same. S. Clement also (Apost. Const. lib. 2. c. 61.) that their office among other things, is to assist the the Bishops, and read the Gospel in the Seruice &c. S. Cyprian in diuers places (ep. 65 & ep. 49. ad Cornel.) calleth Deacons, the Churches and the Apostles Ministers, and their Office, administrationem sacram, an holy administration. S. Hierom affirmeth, in cap. 7. Micheæ. and in epist. 85. ad Euagrium tom. 2, where he checketh some of them for preferring themselues before Priests, and putteth them in remembrance of their first calling, that they be as the Leuites were in respect of the Priests of the olde Law. finally by S. Ambrose lib. 1. Offic. c. 41. and Prudentius in Hymno de S. Laurent speaking of S. Laurence the Deacon, we may see their Office was most holy. See S. Augustine also of the dignitie of Deacons, ep. 148. ad Valerium. Conc. Carthag. 4. can. 37. 38. 39. 41. The Office Deacons. Lib. Eccl. Hie. cap. 3. pars.

FVLKE, 1 The ministerie, whereunto the Deacons were assigned was an holy ministerie, and the tables whereunto they were appointed to serue, were holy tables, neither was their office exercised in prophane things. For the Apostles, although they distinguish the preaching of the word from seruing tables, yet doe they not thereby condemne that seruice of tables which they themselues did exercise before, of prophaneneſſe. For the prouision for the poore members of Christ, is an holy seruice, and no prophane thing. S. Paul appointeth the collection for the poore, to be on the Lords day, which he would not haue done if it were a prophane matter. 1. Cor. 16. 1. 2. And yet it is not denied, but their ministerie was vsed also, to other holy purposes, as teaching, baptizing, and assisting the Apostles and other principall pastors in their spirituall charge and ministerie. But that they were occupied about the Altar, as the popish Deacons are, or had any Office like vnto theirs, neither any of the places which you quote or cite doth shew, nor any testimony of antiquitie doth auow. The Epistles of Ignatius, and Polycarpus, that now goe vnder their names, though they haue nothing for the Popish Deaconship, yet are they not authentike, but gathered out of the Apocryphall constitutions of that counterfect Clemens. Dionysius though not of that antiquitie, which is pretended, yet doth not he name the Deacons (in the place by you quoted) which bring foorth the bread and the cup, for the ministration of the Sacrament, but certaine principall ministers. Although it is no inconuenience, to vnderstand the Deacons, seeing it is certaine by Iustinus, that they were vsed for the distribution of the Lords supper. Finally we acknowledge, that the Deacons office is holy, according to the testimonie of most ancient Fathers, and therefore it is not that prophane and ridiculous order of Popish Deaconrie. Popish Deac

Steuen being permitted to answere, beginning at Abraham, sheweth that God was with their fathers both in other places, and also long before the Temple. 48 and that after it was built, it could not be (as they grosely imagined) a house for God to dwell in. 51 then he inueigheth against their stifneckednes, and telleth them boldly of their traiterous murdering of Christ, as their fathers had done his Prophets afore him. 54 Whereat they being wood, he seeth heauen open, and IESVS there in his Diuine Maiestie. 57 Whereat they become more mad, so that they stone him to death (Saul consenting) he commending his soule to IESVS, and humbly praying for them.

4 Then came he out of the land of the Chaldeans, and dwelt in Charran: and from thence, when his father was dead, he brought him into this land wherein ye now dwell.

5 And he gaue him none inheritance in it, no not the breadth of a foote: and promised that he would giue it him to possesse, and to his seede after him, when as yet he had no childe.

6 God verily spake on this wise, that his seede should sojourne in a strange land, and that they should keepe it in bondage, and intreate them euill foure hundred yeeres,

7 And the nation to whom they shall be in bondage, will I iudge, sayd God: And after that shall they come foorth, and serue me in this place.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. VII.

RHEM. 4 33 Holy ground.) If that apparition of God himſelfe or an Angel, could make the place and ground holy, and to be vſed of Moyſes with all ſignes of reuerence and feare: how much more the corporall birth, abode, and wonders of the Sonne of God in Iewrie, and his perſonall preſence in the B.Sacrament, may make that countrey and all Chriſtian Churches and altars holy? And it is the greateſt blindneſſe that can be, to thinke it ſuperſtition to reuerence any things or places in reſpect of Gods preſence or wonderous operation in the ſame. See S.Hierom.ep.17.18.27. of the holy land.

The holy land.

Holy places.

FVLKE. 4 The ground was holy by the preſence of God in his miniſter the Angel, according to his pleaſure. But that holineſſe continued not after the departure of the Angel. So all places were holy, which it pleaſed our Sauior Chriſt to ſanctifie with his preſence, but not all places or perſons which he touched, for then Iudas and the ſouldiers that crucified Chriſt, ſhould haue bene exceeding holy.

Holy places.

The perſonall preſence of Chriſt in the Sacrament, muſt firſt be prooued before any ſanctification of places in that reſpect can be concluded. And then it muſt alſo be prooued how farre he will haue this holines to proceede. For that preſence in the mouths and ſtomacks of the wicked, doth not ſanctifie them by your owne doctrine, nor I thinke in the belly of a mouſe or other beaſt that happeneth to eate your conſecrated hoſt. To reuerence any place in reſpect of Gods preſence where he hath appointed the ſame, is no ſuperſtition, but to eſteeme the land of Iewrie to be holy, becauſe Chriſt hath ſometime troden vpon it, from whence hee hath withdrawen his preſence, is groſſe ſuperſtition. S.Hierome in the places noted, aſcribeth no holineſſe to the ground, but in reſpect of the liuely remembrance, that men may haue by ſight of thoſe places, in which Chriſt was conuerſant, and wherein he wrought his miracles: otherwiſe, It is no commendation (ſaith Hierom) to haue bene at Hieruſalem, but to haue liued well at Hieruſalem. There is as readie a way to the court of heauen from England, as from Ieruſalem. Ep.13.ad Paulinum.

RHEM. 5 48 Not in houſes.) The vulgar Heretikes alleage this place againſt the corporall being of Chriſt in the B.Sacrament and in Churches: by which reaſon they might haue driuen him out of all houſes, Churches and corporall places, when he was viſible in earth. But it is meant of the Diuinitie onely, and ſpoken to correct the carnall Iewes: who thought God either ſo to be conteined, compaſſed, and limited to their Temple, that he could be no where els, or at leaſt that he would not heare or receiue mens praiers and ſacrifices in the Churches of the Gentiles, or els where out of the ſaid Temple. And ſo as it maketh nothing for the ſacramentaries, no more doth it ſerue for ſuch as eſteeme Churches and places of publike prayer no more conuenient, nor more holy then any other profane houſes or chambers. For though his perſon or vertue be not limited to any place, yet it pleaſeth him condeſcending to our neceſſitie and profite, to worke his wonders and to be worſhipped of vs in holy places rather then profane.

God is not conteined in place yet he will be worſhipped in one place more then in an other.

This

FVLKE. 5 This argument as lightly as you esteeme it, beareth hard against your fantasie of Concomitance, seeing by your corporall being of Christ in the sacrament, you drawe the presence of his godhead to the same place where the sacrament is, not as God is in all places, filling them with his maiestie; but as the fulnesse of the godhead dwelleth in Christ by vnion of person. For although the Godhead dwelleth in the bodie of Christ, as in a temple not made with hands, yet he dwelled not in the temple of Ierusalem, when Christ was present in it, nor in any other house or place into which his body came. For it is one thing to say, the godhead filleth all places, another thing to say he dwelleth here or there. For publike prayer, places appointed are most conuenient, yet all places are consecrated vnto God for prayer. 1. Tim. 2. 8. And Churches are not more conuenient for publike prayers, in respect of their holinesse, but for order and comlinesse sake.

The 3 part. THE propagation of the Church from Hierusalem into all Iewrie and to Samaria.

FVLKE. 1 The Eunuch came not on popish pilgrimage, but to worship God at Ierusalem.

AND the same day there was made a great persecution in the Church, which was at Hierusalem, and all were dispersed through the countries of Iewrie and Samaria, sauing the Apostles.

2 And ‖deuout men tooke order for Steuens funerall, and made great mourning vpon him.

3 But Saul * wasted the Church: entring in from house to house, & drawing men and women, deliuered them into prison.

4 They therfore that were dispersed, passed through, †euangelizing the word.

5 * And Philip descending into the citie of Samaria, preached CHRIST vnto them.

6 And the multitudes were attent to those things which were said of Philip, with one accord hearing, and seeing the signes that he did.

7 For many of them that had vncleane spirits, crying with a loud voice, went out. And many sicke of the palsey and lame were cured.

8 There was made therefore great ioy in that citie.

9 And a certain man named Simon, who before had bene in that citie a Magician, seducing the nation of Samaria, saying himselfe to be some great one:

10 Vnto whom all harkened from the least to the greatest, saying, This man is the power of God, that is called great.

11 And they were attent vpon him, because a long time hee had bewitched them with his magicall practises.

12 But when they had beleeued Philip euangelizing of the kingdom of God, and of the name of IESVS CHRIST, they were baptized, men and women.

13 Then

AND Saul was consenting vnto his death: and at that time there was a great persecution against the Church which was at Hierusalem, and they were all scattered abroad thorow out the regions of Iurie, and Samaria, except the Apostles.

2 And deuout men caried Stenen together to his buriall, and made great lamentation ouer him.

3 As for Saul, he made hauock of the church, entring into euery house, and drawing out both men and women, did put them into prison.

4 Therfore they that were scattered abroad, went euery where preaching the word of God.

5 Then came Philip into the citie of Samaria, and preached Christ vnto them.

6 And the people gaue heed vnto those things which Philip spake, with one accord, hearing and seeing the miracles which he did.

7 For vncleane spirites, crying with loude voyce, came out of many that were possessed with them: and many taken with palsies, & many that halted, were healed.

8 And there was great ioy in that citie.

9 But there was a certaine man called Simon, which before time in the same citie vsed witchcraft, and bewitched the people of Samaria, saying that he was a man that could do great things:

10 To whom they all gaue heed, from the least to the greatest, saying, This man is the great power of God.

11 And him they set much by, because that of long time hee had bewitched them with sorceries.

12 But when they beleeued Philips preaching of the kingdome of God, and of the name of Iesus Christ, they were baptized, both men and women.

13 Then Simon alſo himſelfe beleeued: and being baptized, hee cleaueth to Philip. Seeing alſo ſignes and very great miracles to be done, he was aſtonied with admiration.

29 And ỹ Spirit ſaid to Philip, Go neere, and ioyne thy ſelfe to this ſame charior.

30 And Philip running thereunto, heard him reading Eſay the prophet, and he ſaide: Troweſt thou that thou vnderſtandeſt the things which thou readeſt?

31 Who ſaid, And ‡ how can I, vnleſſe ſome man ſhew mee? and he deſired Philip that he would come vp and ſit with him.

32 And

13 Then Simon himſelfe beleeued alſo: and when he was baptized, he continued with Philip, and wondred, beholding the miracles and ſignes which were done.

14 When the Apoſtles which were at Hieruſalem, heard ſay that Samaria had receiued the word of God, they ſent vnto them Peter and Iohn.

15 Which when they were come downe, prayed for them that they might receiue the holy Ghoſt.

16 (For as yet he was come downe vpon none of them: but they were baptized only in the name of Chriſt Ieſus.)

17 Then laid they their hands on them, and they receiued the holy Ghoſt.

18 And when Simon ſaw that through laying on of the Apoſtles hands, the holy Ghoſt was giuen, he offered them money, 19 Saying, Giue me alſo this power, that on whomſoeuer I put the hands, he may receiue the holy Ghoſt.

20 But Peter ſaide vnto him, Thy money periſh with thee, becauſe thou haſt thought that the gift of God may bee obtayned with money.

21 Thou haſt neither part nor followſhip in this buſineſſe: for thy heart is not right in the ſight of God.

22 Repent therefore of this thy wickedneſſe, and pray God, if perhaps the thought of thine heart may be forgiuen thee.

23 For I perceiue that thou art in the gall of bitterneſſe, and in the bond of iniquitie.

24 Then anſwered Simon, and ſaid, Pray ye to the Lord for mee, that none of theſe things which ye haue ſpoken, fall on me.

25 And they, when they had teſtified & preached the word of the Lord, returned toward Hieruſalem, and preached the Goſpel in many villages of the Samaritanes.

26 And the Angel of the Lord ſpake vnto Philip, ſaying, Ariſe, and goe toward the South, vnto the way that goeth downe from Hieruſalem, vnto Gaza, which is deſert.

27 And he aroſe, and went on: and behold, a man of Ethiopia, an Eunuch, and of great authoritie with Candace, Queene of the Ethiopians, and had the rule of all her treaſure, which came to Hieruſalem for to worſhip.

28 And as he returned home againe, ſitting in his charet, he read Eſaias the Prophet.

29 Then the ſpirit ſaide vnto Philip, Come neere, and ioyne thy ſelfe to this charet.

30 And Philip ran thither to him, & heard him read the Prophet Eſaias, and ſaid, Vnderſtandeſt thou what thou readeſt?

31 And he ſaid, How can I, except ſome man ſhould guide me? And he deſired Philip that he would come vp, and ſit with him.

32 The

32 And the place of the Scripture which he did reade, was this: As a sheepe to slaughter was hee led: and as a lambe before his shearer, without voice, so did he not open his mouth.

33 In humilitie his iudgement was taken away. His generation who shall declare, for from the earth shall his life be taken?

34 And ỹ eunuch answering Philip, said, I beseech thee, of whom doth the Prophet speake this? of himselfe, or of some other?

35 And Philip opening his mouth, and beginning from this scripture, euangelized vnto him IESVS.

36 And as they went by the way, they came to a certaine water: and the eunuch said, Lo water, ‖ who doth let me to be baptized?

37 And Philip said, If thou beleeue with all thy hart, thou mayest. And he answering said, I beleeue that IESVS CHRIST is the sonne of God.

38 And he commaunded the chariot to stay: and both went downe into the water, Philip and the Eunuch, and ‖ hee baptized him.

39 And when they were come vp out of the water, the Spirit of our Lord tooke away Philip, and the eunuch sawe him no more. And he went on his way reioycing.

40 But Philip was found in Azótus, and passing through, he euangelized to all the cities, till he came to Cæsaréa.

*32 The tenor of the Scripture which he read, was this, * He was led as a sheepe to the slaughter, and like a lambe dumbe before the shearer: so opened not he his mouth.* Esa.53.7.

33 In his humilitie, his iudgment is exalted: but who shall declare his generation? For his life is taken from the earth.

34 And the Eunuch answered Philip, and sayd, I pray thee, of whom speaketh the Prophet this? of himselfe, or of some other man?

35 Then Philip opened his mouth, and began at the same Scripture, and preached vnto him Iesus.

36 And as they went on their way, they came vnto a certaine water: and the Eunuch sayd, See, here is water, what doth let me to bee baptized?

37 Philip sayd vnto him, If thou beleeuest with all thine heart, thou mayest. And he answered, and sayd, I beleeue that Iesus Christ is the sonne of God.

38 And he commanded the charet to stand still: and they went downe both into the water, both Philip, and also the Eunuch, and hee baptized him.

39 And as soone as they were come out of the water, the spirit of the Lord caught away Philip, that the Eunuch sawe him no more: and hee went on his way reioycing.

40 But Philip was found at Azotus: and he walked thorowout the countrey, preaching in all the cities, till he came to Cæsarea.

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. VIII.

REM. 2 27. To adore.) Note that this Aethiopian came to Hierusalem to adore, that is, on Pilgrimage. Whereby wee may learne that is is an acceptable acte of religion to goe from home to places of greater deuotion and sanctification.

FVLKE 2 He came as a proselyte, to worship God in the Temple at Ierusalem, according to the Lawe, not on pilgrimage to worship popish idols. But now the time is, and then was, that the true worshippers, should worship God neither in Ierusalem, nor in any other place of greater deuotion and sanctification, but in spirit and trueth. Ioan.4.21. The Temple and the commingvp to Ierusalem to worship, had the expresse word to warrant them: Popish places of deuotion and the pilgrimage to them are superstitious and idolatrous, hauing no warrant of Gods word for their holinesse, but manifest prohibition in Gods Law, Exod.20. Pilgrimage.

REM. 3 31. How can I.) The Scriptures are so written that they cánot be vnderstood without an interpreter, as easie as our Protestants make them. See S. Hierom Ep. ad Paulinũ de omnibus diuinæ historiæ libris, set in the beginning of latin Bibles.

FVLKE 3 All parts of the Scripture are not so written, that an interpreter is necessarie. The holy Ghost hath bountifully and healthfully so moderated the holy Scriptures, that by open or plaine places, he might prouide against famine, and that by darke places he might wipe away lothsomnesse. For nothing almost is found out of those obscurities, which may not bee found in other places, so be vttered most plainely, De doct. Christ. lib. 2. cap. 16. That many things are hard to be vnderstood in the Scriptures, which need an interpreter, we confesse with the Eunuch, and with S. Hierom. The Scriptures not hard to vnderstand in all places.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. VIII.

REM. 4 2. Deuout men.) As here great deuotion was vsed in burying his body, so afterward at the inuention and translation thereof. And the miracles wrought by the same, and at euery little memory of the same, were infinite: as S. Augustine witnesseth, lib. 22. de Ciuit. Dei c. 8. & Sermon. de S. Steph. to. 10. S. Steuens reliques

FVLKE. 4 It was an office of Christian charitie, to burie the body of Steuen, what miracles were afterward wrought at the finding of his body, and at the memories of him, the Scripture telleth not. S. Augustine reporteth much: yet doth he condemne worshippers of sepulchres and pictures. De mor. eccl. cath lib. 1. cap. 34. and testifieth, that some idle monkes in his time, caried about the reliques of martyrs, which might be counterfeit, and no reliques of martyrs. De opere Monach. cap. 28. Miracles. Reliques.

REM. 5 14. Sent Peter.) Some Protestants vse this place to proue S. Peter not to be head of the Apostles, because he and S. Iohn were sent by the Twelue, by which reason they might as wel conclude that he was not equall to the rest. for commonly the Master sendeth the man, and the Superiour the inferiour, when the word of Sending is exactly vsed. But it is not alwayes so taken in the Scriptures, for then could not the Sonne be sent by the Father, nor the holy Ghost frõ the Father and the Sonne: nor otherwise in common vse of the world, seeing the inferior or equal may intrude his friend or superior to do his businesse for him and specially a body Politike or a Corporation may by election or otherwise choose their Head and send him. so may the Citizens send their Maior to the Prince or Parliament, though he be the head of the citie, because hee may be more fit to doe their businesse. also the Superior or equal may be sent by his owne consent or desire. Lastly, the College of the Apostles comprising Peter with the rest (as euery such body implieth both the head and the members) was greater then Peter their head alone. as the Prince and Parliament is greater then the Prince alone. And so Peter might be sent as by authoritie of the whole College, notwithstanding he were the head of the same. That Peter was sent, is no reason against his Primacie.

This

FVLKE. 5 This sending of Peter, is a good argument to proue that Peter was not their superior, as Christs vicar. For then he might haue sent any of them, or gone of his owne accord without sending. Peter was therfore inferior to the rest, and vnder the authority of the whole college of Apostles, though he were equall to euery one, and in primacie of order, first of all. Whereas if Peter had beene superior as Christs vicar, they could no more haue sent Peter then they could haue sent Christ himselfe. That the worde of sending, is not alwayes exactly vsed in the scriptures, you haue no example to bring, but of the sending of the Sonne & the holy Ghost. Whereas all men of meane iudgement know, that the mystery of the holy Trinitie being ineffable, the words are almost all borowed, that are vsed to shew the distinct working, and effects of the persons thereof. But heere, in proper phrase of speaking, the Apostles sent Peter and Iohn: Peter and Iohn therfore were subiect to the Apostles. But you adde, that the word of sending, is not alwayes so taken in the common vse of the world, seeing the inferior or equall, may intreat his friend to doe his businesse for him. I grant that to bee true, but the inferior or equall, that hath intreated his friend, cannot truly say, he hath sent his superior or equall. Neither can a corporation, that is vnder a soueraigne head (such as you would haue Peter to be) send their head, or chuse him to be their foot, to goe for them. Neither can the citizens send their Maior, which is the Princes lieutenant, more then they can send the Prince himselfe. He may goe in deede by his owne consent or desire, but he cannot be sent, except he yeeld vnto the authoritie of the senders. Lastly, you say (belike, for the vttermost refuge) that the college of the Apostles, comprising Peter, was greater then Peter their head alone. This granted, Peters headship was not the soueraigne authority of Christ, neither was Peter head of the Apostles, as Christs vicar. For the whole Church comprising Christ the head thereof, is not of greater authoritie then Christ himselfe. Neither may Christ be sent by authority of the whole Church. No more might Peter haue beene sent by authoritie of the whole college, if he had had the whole authoritie and gouernment ouer the Apostles, as Christ had, and alwayes hath. Neither is this place vsed only of Protestants (as you say) but also of some papists, to proue that the Pope ought to be subiect to the generall Councell representing the whole Church Epist. Syn. Con. Basil. ad inuectiuam sub nomine Eugenij Papæ, cons. syn. Basil. Popes supremacie RHEM. 6, 17. Did they impose.) If this Philip had bene an Apostle (saith S. Bede) he might haue imposed his hands, that they might haue receiued the holy Ghost. but this none can doe sauing Bishops. For though priests may baptize, and anoint the baptized also with Chrisme consecrated by a Bishop: yet he cannot signe his forehead with the same holy oile, because that belongeth only to Bishops, when they giue the holy Ghost to ỹ baptized. So saith he touching the Sacrament of Confirmation in 8. Act. This imposition therefore of hands together with the prayers here specified (which no doubt were the very same that the Church yet vseth to that purpose) was the ministration of the Sacrament of Confirmatiõ. Wherof S. Cyprian saith thus, They that in Samaria were baptized of Philip, because they had lawful and Ecclesiastical Baptisme, ought not to be baptized any more: but only that which wanted, was done by Peter and Iohn, to wit, that by prayer made for them and imposition of hands, the holy Ghost might be powred vpon them. Which now also is done with vs, that they which in the Church are baptized, be by the Rulers of the Church offred, and by our praier and imposition of hand receiue the holy Ghost, and be signed with our Lords seale. So S. Cyprian. But the Heretikes obiect that yet here is no mention of oile. To whom we say, that many things were done and said in the administration of this & other Sacraments, and ul instituted by Christ himself & deliuered to the Church by the Apostles, which are not particularly writte by the Euangelist or any other in the Scripture, among which this is euident by al antiquity & most general practise of the Church, to be one. The Sacrament of Confirmation ministred by Bishops only. Ep. 73. nu. 9. And S. Clement (Apost. Const. li. 7. c. 44.) reporteth certaine constitutions of the Apostles touching the same. * S. Denys reporteth the maner of consecration the same Chrisme to the Apostles instruction. S. Basil li. de Sp. sancto c. 27 calleth it a tradition of the Apostles. And the most ancient Martyr S. And so doth the Author of the booke de vnctione Chrismatis apud D. Which thing the Heretikes can with lesse cause obiect against the Church, seeing they confesse* * that Christ and his Apostles tooke the ceremonie of imposition of hands in this and other Sacraments, from the Iewes maner of consecrating their hostes deputed to sacrifice. Christs Confirmation. Euseb. Hist. li. 6. c. 43. Bede in Act. 6. v. 6.

To conclude, neuer none denied or contemned this Sacrament of Confirmation and holy Chrisme, but knowen Heretikes. S. Cornelius that B. Martyr so much praised of S. Cyprian, ep. ad Fabium apud Euseb. li. 6. c. 35. affirmeth, that Nouatius fell to heresie, for that he had not receiued the holy Ghost by the consignation of a Bishop. Whom all the Nouatians did follow, neuer vsing that holy Chrisme, as Theodorete writeth, li. 3 Fabul. Hær. And Optatus li. 2. cont. Parm writeth that it was the special barbarous sacrilege of the Donatists, to conculcate the holy oile. But all this is nothing to the sauage disorder of Caluinists in this point. Old heretikes gainst confirmation and Chrisme FVLKE. 6 Here you will inforce a sacrament of Confirmation with oile, which neither in this place, nor in any other place of the Scripture, hath either word of institution, or outward element of Christs appointment, which two things must needs concurre in any sacrament. The Apostles here prayed, that the Samaritans, for further confirmation of their faith, might receiue the visible miraculous graces of the holy Ghost, as the gifts of tongues, of prophesie, of healing, and such like: out of which it is impossible to conclude any ordinary or perpetuall sacrament of Confirmation of all that are baptised, and that with oile, whereof there is no mention in all the Scriptures that it was either appointed or vsed for such purpose. Now that you are forsaken of the worde of God, let vs see what testimonie you gather out of men. First you bring Beda, who liued 700. yeeres after Christ, and speaketh of the ceremonie of anointing with oile by the Bishop, as it was vsed in his time. Yet doth he not call it a sacrament, nor say that the Apostles vsed that ceremonie, but that it belonged to them to giue the holy Ghost and not to Philip, as in his time Bishops vsed to anoint with oile and not the Priests, by which vnction they were perswaded the holy Ghost was giuen. Notwithstanding you are bolde to conclude, that this imposition Popish Confirmation.

sition of hands with prayers, was the ministration of the Sacrament of Confirmation: which with all the logike you haue, you can neuer conclude out of the text, nor out of Bedes words: although they be more then can be proued out of the Scriptures. But you are yet more bold to affirme (for you may say what you will without proofe) that the prayers here specified, were no doubt the very same that the popish church vseth to that purpose. The text is plaine what these prayers were, that they might receiue the holy Ghost, which Oecumenius out of the consent of all the Greeke fathers doth expound, the power of working miracles, in Act. cap. 10. The wordes that your popish bishops vse in their confirmation with oyle, are Consignote, &c. I marke thee with the signe of the holy crosse, and confirme thee with the Chrisme of saluation, in the name of the Father, the Sonne, and the holy Ghost, Peace be to thee. What affinitie haue these words with the prayers of the Apostles? But if Beda be too yong, Cyprian is an ancient writer, who belike is a patrone of popish confirmation with the Chrisme of saluation. But that you confesse is left out both by the Euangelist, and by S. Cyprian.

Cyprian in deed sheweth, that those that were baptised in the church, were offered to the gouernours of the church, and by their prayer and imposition of hands, obtained the holy Ghost, and were signed or consummated with the Lords signe (so he calleth the signe of the crosse) we see here prayer and imposition of hands, according to the example of the Apostles to obteine the holy Ghost, but we lacke still yet the chiefest matter to make vp a sacrament, the Chrisme of saluation. To supply that want, you say many things were done and sayd in the administration of this and other sacraments instituted by Christ, which are not particularly written by the euangelists, or in any other scripture. To admit that all things done and said, be not particularly expressed in the scriptures, shall we therefore admit for sacraments such things as haue neither their institution, nor the word, nor the element set forth in the scriptures? Some circumstances not materiall are omitted, but the Chrisme of saluation, if it had bene of Christs institution, and the Apostles practise, should neuer haue bene wholly omitted being a matter of so great importance, as the very name you giue vnto it doth pretend.

But all antiquity (you say) and most generall practise of the church, doth euidently proue that this sacrament was instituted by Christ, and yet not written of in the scriptures. To omit that the testimony of all the world, without the testimonie of the holy Ghost, is too weake a ground for vs to build our faith vpon: It is vtterly false that you say: for neither doth al antiquity testifie of it, neither was it euer generally practised of the church as a sacrament. For in the Greeke church, this sacrament of Confirmation was neuer receiued to this day.

But to examine your witnesses of antiquitie seuerally. First Dionysius is not of such antiquitie as you pretend, for if he had bene, his writings could not haue bene vnknowen to Eusebius, S. Hierome, and Gennadius, who continued the catalogue of principall writers of the church for 500. yeeres after Christ. But wee must take him in such order as you offer him. This Dionyse speaketh of an vnction vsed to them that were baptized, after which they were admitted to the Eucharist, as he doth of many other ceremonies of vnction, not vsed in the popish church, all which yet he comprehendeth vnder the sacrament or mysterie of vnction.

Tertullian speaketh also of the ceremony of vnction, which was vsed in baptisme, to signifie that the baptised was consecrated as a champion of Christ, to fight against the deuil, the world, and the flesh, which in baptisme he hath renounced and defied. Which he declareth plainly in his booke De baptismo, saying: As soone as we come out of the lauer, we are anointed with the blessed vnction, of an ancient discipline, by which they were wont to be anointed with the oile out of the horne in the priesthood: whereof Aaron was anointed by Moses: whereof Christ is called a Chrismate, which is vnction &c. Dehinc Afterward the hand is layd on, by blessing, calling vpon, and inuiting the holy Ghost &c. All which declare, and the whole discourse of the booke, that he speaketh of ceremonies vsed about baptisme, not of the popish sacrament of Confirmation. Also, that vnction was a ceremonie distinct from imposition of hands. The same thing also doth Cyprian teach, ep. 70. saying, He that is baptised must needs be anointed, that hauing receiued the Chrisme, that is vnction, he may be the anointed of God, and haue in him the grace of Christ. And afterward he speaketh of prayer for him that is baptized, to receiue the holy Ghost with imposition of hands. Likewise ep. 72. where he calleth not vnction, but that which is represented by imposition of hand, a sacrament. For in the epistle he certifieth Stephanus B. of Rome, that they haue concluded in Africa, that they which come from heretikes, must be baptized. Eo quod parum sit eis &c. Because it is litle worth to them to lay the hand vpon them, that they may receiue the holy Ghost, except they receiue also the baptisme of the church. For then at the length they may be sanctified perfectly, and be the sonnes of God, if they be borne of both the sacraments, seeing it is written, Except a man be borne of water and of the spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdome of God. You see plainely, he speaketh of the spirituall birth of water and the spirit, which is testified in baptisme, whereof the element of water and the laying on of hands, were signes, not of a seuerall sacrament of vnction. The decretall epistle of Melchiades (as all the rest of that rable) is a meere counterfeit, in which the author doth not onely in barbarous Latine tell the difference of this popish sacrament from baptisme, but also sheweth how much more worthy it is then baptisme. S. Augustine cont. lit. Pet. lib. 2. cap. 104. saith that Petilian the heretike in the spirituall ointment spoken of by the psa 132. will interpret the sacrament of Chrisme, which truely in the kinde of visible signes is holy, as baptisme it selfe, but it may be in the worst men, in them that spend their life in the workes of the flesh, and shall not possesse the kingdome of heauen, and therfore perteine neither to the beard of Aaron, nor to the edge of his garment &c. How largely S. Augustine vseth the name of sacrament, I haue els where declared Matth. 1. sect. 2. although in this place hee sheweth rather how it was accompted among the Donatists, then among the Catholikes. For the Donatists accompted all them to bee holy brethren, that were baptized and anointed among them: whereby also it appeareth, that this vnction was a ceremony pertaining to baptisme. For of imposition of handes to receiue the holy Ghost, hee sheweth that it was only a prayer: and therefore might be repeated, whereas baptisme that is a sacrament, ministred euen by heretikes, may not be repeated. Manus autem impositio &c. Imposition of hands, is not as baptisme, that cannot be repeated. For what is imposition of hands, but prayer ouer a man? Wherefore you doe fondly, and contrary to the testimony of antiquity, to ioyne those two ceremonies of vnction and imposition of hands vnto one sacrament. Cyril Mystagog. 3. speaketh of vnction immediatly after baptisme, in the forhead, eares and brest, without which, he denieth that men were worthy to be called Christians: or their regeneration perfect, therefore as he attributeth too much to that ceremony, so he sheweth it was differing from the popish sacrament of confirmation. S. Ambrose lib. 3. cap. 2. De Sacrament. hath neuer a worde either of Chrisme, or of imposition of hands, but onely of prayer for the seuenfold grace of the holy Ghost, to bee powred vpon the baptized: and no more, he hath De iis qui myst. init. cap. 7. onely he putteth the baptized in mind, that they haue receiued the diuers gifts of the holy Ghost. But cap. 6. he maketh mention of vnction, the ceremony vsed at baptisme. The epistle of Leo doth also plainely distinguish the ceremonie of imposition of hands from vnction, saying that one is per impositiones &c. by imposition of hands vpon the faithfull to be baptized, or that are conuerted from heresie, to deliuer

the holy Ghoſt. Of the other he addeth nec Chriſma &c. to make Chriſme, and with Chriſme to anoint the foreheads of them that are baptized: which thing with many other, hee maketh vnlawfull for Chorepiſcopi, which he ſayth were but prieſts, yet doth he not call either the one ceremonie or the other a ſacrament, as baptiſme and the Lords ſupper are Sacraments. The councel of Laodicea willeth them that are baptized, to be anointed with Chriſme: the councell of Carthage forbiddeth the prieſt to make that Chriſme. The Arauſicane councell ſpeaketh expreſly of that anointing which was done by euery one that baptized, and is not to bee repeated, therefore cannot ſpeake of the popiſh Sacrament, which is giuen only by the biſhop, after baptiſme. The words are theſe: None of the miniſters that hath receiued the office of baptizing, ought to go abroad any whither without Chriſme, becauſe it is agreed amongſt vs that Chriſme be occupied but once in baptiſme. But concerning him which in baptiſme, by any neceſſitie hath not beene anointed, the prieſt ſhall bee admoniſhed thereof in the confirmation. For among vs the bleſſing of the Chriſme is but one, we ſay not this in preiudice of any, but that the anointing may be counted neceſſary. But contrary to this Canon, the papiſts holde, that the childe muſt bee twiſe annointed, in baptiſme and in confirmation. Now for the author of this ceremony (for ſacrament we finde none) you alleage Dionyſe and Baſill, referring it to tradition of the apoſtles. Wherunto if we muſt giue credit, we muſt acknowledge many of the apoſtolike traditions to be aboliſhed, as it is certaine, of many ceremonies deſcribed by that Dionyſe, by Tertullian and Baſil. Wherfore either we muſt ſay it was not ordeined of the Apoſtles, or els it was ordeined as a remoueable ceremony, as other ceremonies likewiſe fathered vpon the Apoſtles, are long ſince worne out of vſe. The conſtitutions of Clement be meere forgeries, ful of manifeſt lies, as I haue ſhewed els where. The decretal epiſtles of Fabian, be euen as good ſtuffe as the reſt of that ſort. But you doe falſly affirme, that the author of the treatiſe De vnctione Chriſmatis apud Cyprianum, doth ſay that Chriſt did inſtruct his Apoſtles at that time of the inſtitution of the Sacrament, to conſecrate this Chriſme. For hee ſaith not ſo, nor any thing to that effect: though he extoll the ceremonie of making this Chriſme, greatly. And if it muſt be made of balſme (as he and your canon law alſo ſaith) you haue long deceiued the common people with a wrong confection, like falſe apothecaries, for true balſme is a pretious ointment, very hardly or not at all to bee gotten in theſe parts. As for impoſition of handes with prayer, which was the olde and pure ceremonie of confirmation, wee doe not ſpeake againſt it. We acknowledge that the vnction of Chriſme alſo in the ancient church, was a tolerable ceremony for the ſignification thereof, if it were not too highly eſteemed, as of ſome it was, but not to bee matched and preferred before the holy ſacrament of Chriſtes inſtitution, as it is by you.

To conclude, you ſay none but knowen heretikes did euer denie or contemne this ſacrament of confirmation or holy Chriſme. But as yet you haue not proued any ſuch ſacrament, acknowledged by the ancient catholikes, though of old time, there was a ceremonie of anointing, which was omitted in Nouatus, becauſe he was baptized in his bed being very ſicke, and like to die. Whereupon alſo his folowers neglected that ceremonie alſo, as might ſeeme by Theodoret.

Yet doth not Cornelius ſay, that he fell into hereſie, becauſe he had not receiued the holy Ghoſt, by conſignation of a Biſhop, but only ſheweth what maner a man he was, and how that being baptized in his bed, after he recouered, he regarded not the reſt of the ceremonies, of which he ſhould haue bene partaker, according to the rule of the Church, not ſo much as to be ſealed or confirmed by the Biſhop, which hauing not obtained (ſayth he) how could he obtaine the holy Ghoſt? By theſe wordes, it is not proued, that vnction was the ceremonie of Confirmation, but rather one of the ceremonies of Baptiſme, that were omitted, becauſe he was at the point of death. And in ſuch caſe as his was, Confirmation was requiſite, becauſe it might bee doubted, whether after his recouerie, hee would ratifie that which he promiſed in Baptiſme, which he receiued, being in feare of death. For it appeareth afterward, that it was againſt the diſcipline of the Church, that ſuch ſhould be admitted into the Miniſterie, as receiued Baptiſme vpon ſuch neceſſitie. And the Biſhop was faine to intreate the Clergie and people for him, that he might neuertheleſſe be ordained. That which Optatus writeth of the Donatiſts, was not a ſpeciall outrage againſt the holy oyle, but generally againſt any thing that belonged to the Catholikes. For the Donatiſts alſo, had their holy oyle, and did attribute more vnto it, then the Catholikes did to their vnction, as is ſhewed before out of S Auguſtine, Cont. lit. Petil. lib. 2. Cap. 104.

Where you complaine of the ſauage diſorder of the Caluiniſts, in contemning your popiſh ceremonies, we might make anſwere of your deuiliſh diſorder, in burning and defacing the holy Scriptures, yea the bodies of all them that profeſſe the Goſpel of Chriſt. But of all ſauage parts, that euer were practiſed ſince the creation of the world, (al circumſtances conſidered) there is none comparable to the Bartholomew Faire of the French papiſts at Paris, and other places in France.

RHEM. 7 17. And they receiued the holy Ghoſt.) The Proteſtants charge the Catholikes, * that by approuing and commending ſo much the Sacrament of Confirmation, and by attributing to it ſpecially the gift of the holy Ghoſt, they diminiſh the force of Baptiſme, chalenging alſo boldly the ancient Fathers for the ſame. As though any Catholike or Doctor euer ſayd more then the expreſſe wordes of Scripture here and els where plainely giue them warrant for. If they diminiſh the vertue of Baptiſme, then did Chriſt ſo, appointing his Apoſtles and al the Faithful euen after their Baptiſme to expect the holy Ghoſt and vertue from aboue. then did the Apoſtles iniurie to Baptiſme, in that they impoſed hands on the baptized, and gaue them the holy Ghoſt. And this is the heretikes blindnes in this caſe, that they cannot, or will not ſee that the holy Ghoſt is giuen in Baptiſme to remiſſion of ſinnes, life, and ſanctification: and in Confirmation, for force, ſtrength, and corroboration to fight againſt all our ſpirituall enemies, and to ſtand conſtantly in confeſſion of our faith, euen to death, in times of perſecution either of the heathen or of heretikes, with great increaſe of grace. And let the good Reader note here our Aduerſaries great peruerſitie and corruption of the plaine ſenſe of the Scriptures in this point: ſome of them affirming the holy Ghoſt here to be no other but the gift of wiſedom in the Apoſtles and a fewe moe to the gouernment of the Church, when it is plaine that not only the gouernors but all that were baptized, receiued this grace, both men and women. Some, that it was no internall grace, but only the gift of diuers languages: Which is very falſe, the gift of tongues being but a ſequele and an accident to the grace, and an externall token of the inward gift of the holy Ghoſt, and our Sauiour calleth it vertue from aboue. Some ſay, that whatſoeuer it was, it was but a miraculous thing, and dured no longer then the gift of the tongues ioyned thereunto: by which euaſion they denie alſo the Sacrament of Extreme Vnction, and the force of Excommunication, becauſe the corporal puniſhments which were annexed oftentimes in the Primitiue Church vnto it, ceaſeth, and ſo may they take away (as they meane to doe) all Chriſts faith or religion, becauſe it hath not the like operation of miracles as in the beginning. But S. Auguſtine toucheth this point fully. Is there any man (ſayth he) of ſo peruerſe an hart, to deny theſe Children on whom we now impoſed hands, to haue receiued the holy Ghoſt, becauſe they ſpeake not with Tongues? &c. Laſtly, ſome of them make no more of Confirmation or the Apoſtles fact, but as of a doctrine, inſtruction, or exhortation to continue in the faith receiued. Whereupon they haue turned this holy Sacrament * into a Catechiſme. * There are alſo that put the baptized baptized comming to yeres of discretion, to their owne choice whether they will continue Christians or no. To such deuilish and diuers inuentions they fall, that will not obey Gods Church nor the expresse Scriptures, which tel vs of prayer, of imposition of hands, of the holy Ghost, of grace and vertue from aboue, and not of instruction, which might and may bee done as well before Baptisme, and by others, as by Apostles and bishops, to whom only this Holy function pertaineth, in so much that in our Countrey it is called Bishopping. Bishopping.

LUKE 7 The ancient ceremonie of imposition of handes, which is nothing els, as S. Augustine sayth, but prayer ouer a man, to be strengthened and confirmed by the holy Ghost, or to receiue encrease of the gifts of the holy Ghost, as S. Ambrose sayth, we doe not in any wise mislike, but vse it our selues. Neither doe we charge the Papists, for diminishing the force of Baptisme, in saying that men may receiue the gifts of the holy Ghost by faithfull prayers with imposition of handes: but for making their vnction a Sacrament, whereof, neither the word nor the element, is of Christes institution: and for affirming Baptisme to be vnperfect without it, for it is to be vsed say they, Vt pleni Christiani inueniantur, that they may bee found perfect Christians. De Con. dist. 5. cap. omnes. Whereof it is inferred, that Baptisme maketh not perfect Christians. Againe, quod nunquam erit Christianus, nisi in confirmatione Episcopali fuerit chrismatus. And that he shall neuer be a Christian, which is not ointed with chrisme in the Bishops confirmation. De Consecrat. dist. 5. cap. Vt Ieiuni, Whereof it followeth, that Baptisme maketh not a Christian. And in that counterfeit epistle of Melchiades, Confirmatio ad baptismi perfectionem pertinet, Confirmation pertaineth to the perfection of baptisme: Whereof it is inferred that baptisme is imperfect without confirmation. Thirdly, we charge them, because they say, that this their Sacrament is maiore veneratione venerandum, To be reuerenced with greater reuerence then Baptisme, because it can be ministred by none, but by a Bishop. De Consecrat. Dist. 5. cap. 1. De his vero. To these matters of charge, taken out of your Canon Law, you answere nothing, but cauill of the gifts of the holy Ghost obtained by prayer and imposition of hands of the Apostles, which we denie not, impudently accusing vs of great peruersitie, and corruption of the plaine sense of the Scriptures, in this point: First, because some of vs doe affirme, the holy Ghost to be none other, but the gift of wisedome in the Apostles, and a fewe other for gouernement. But this is a slander, for none of vs doth so affirme. Further, you charge some of vs, to affirme that it was no internal grace, but only the gift of diuers languages. But this also is a slander: For we neither denie the internal grace, in all, nor restraine the outward grace only to the gift of tongues. But we affirme, that the holy Ghost, in this place is taken principally, for the visible graces of the holy Spirit, as is manifest, by that saying: The holy Ghost was not yet come vpon any one of them. What (sayth Oecumenius) did not they that were baptized by Philip, receiue the holy Ghost? yes they receiued the holy Ghost vnto remission of sinnes, but they receiued him not, to the working of miracles. Againe, Simon Magus saw, that by imposition of handes, the holy Ghost was giuen, but he could not see the internall grace, therefore it was the grace of working miracles, as of tongues, healing, prophesying, casting out of deuils, and such like: and this was vertue from aboue, in some also that were voide of internall grace, Matth. 7. 22. So sayth Oecumenius, Wee may vnderstand that in the giuing of the holy Ghost, there was some wonderfull thing that was sensible, for otherwise Simon would not haue made this request, except he had seene it. Wee say in deede, that this kinde of imposition of hands to this purpose, endured no longer then the miraculous gifts, as the vnction with oyle to recouer bodily health, named by S. Iames. But there is another kinde of imposition of hands, mentioned, Heb. 6. 2. whereof there may be a perpetuall vse in the Church, which is the same, which S. Augustine calleth, nothing els, but prayer ouer a man, and whereof he speaketh Tract. 6. in Ep. 1. Ioan. But where you say, wee may denie the force of excommunication, because corporall punishment, which was annexed vnto it in the Primitiue Church ceaseth, it is vtterly false. For we haue a plaine commaundement for the vse of excommunication Matth. 18. without any mention of corporall punishment, which was not alwayes ioyned with excommunication in the Primitiue Church, albeit it might be sometimes. Your other slander, (that we meane to take away all Christian religion, because it hath not the like operation of miracles, as in the beginning) because it is without colour, I omit as vnworthy of any answere, onely bewraying the intolerable malice of your lying spirit. Let God be iudge in this case, betwixt you and vs. Last of all, you charge some of vs, to make no more of Confirmation, or the Apostles fact, but as for a doctrine, instruction, or exhortation, to continue in the faith receiued. But this is also false. For we acknowledge imposition of handes with prayer, that they which were so taught, instructed, and exhorted, might receiue strength of Gods Spirit so to continue. And yet againe, where you say, there are among vs, which put the baptized comming to yeeres of discretion, to their owne choice, whether they will continue Christians or no: it is false, as the rest. For when they are required to make confession themselues, of that faith which other men professed in their name at their baptisme, they are not put to their choyce, but put in minde, that they must performe themselues, that by other was promised in their name, or else their baptisme will not auaile them to eternall saluation. Finally, that which the Scripture telleth vs of prayer, imposition of handes, of the holy Ghost, of grace, and vertue from aboue, we acknowledge as well as instruction: but oyle and balme, and the rest of the Popish doctrine, of this counterfeit Sacrament, because it is not found in the holy Scriptures, we renounce it. Slander.

HEM. 18. Offered money.) This wicked sorcerer Simon is noted by S. Irenæus li. 1. c. 20. and others, to haue beene the first Heretike, and father of all Heretikes to come, in the Church of God. He taught, onely faith in him, without good life and workes, to be enough to saluation. he gaue the onset to purchase with his money a spirituall function, that is to be made a Bishop. for, to haue power to giue the holy Ghost by imposition of hands, is to be a bishop: as to bye the power to remit sinnes or to consecrate Christs body, is to bye to bee a Priest, or to bye Priesthood. and to bye the authoritie to minister Sacraments, to preach or to haue cure of soules, is to bye a benefice. and likewise in all other spirituall things, whereof e they to make sale or purchase for money or money worth, is a great horrible sinne called Simonie: and in such as thinke it lawfull (as here Simon iudged it) it is named Simoniacal Heresie, of this detestable man who first attempted to bye a spirituall function or office. D. Greg. apud Ioan. Diac. in vit. lib. 3. cap. 2. 3 4 5. Simonie.

HEM. 8 22. Doe penance.) S. Augustine (epist. 108.) vnderstanding this of the penance done in the Primitiue Church for heinous offences, doth teach vs to translate this and the like places (2. Cor. 12, 21. Apoc. 9, 21.) as we doe, and as it is in the vulgar Latin, and consequently that the Greeke μετανοεῖν doth signifie so much. Yea when he addeth, that very good men doe dayly penance for veniall sinnes by fasting, prayer, and almes, he warranteth this phrase and translation throughout the newe Testament, speciall himselfe also reading so as it is in the vulgar Latine, and as wee translate. Penance.

KE. 8 This place of Augustine, hath bene sufficiently answered before: he speaketh not of satisfaction to Gods iustice, but of outward signes of inward repentance. And if by your terme of doing penance, you meant no more then S. Augustine, or your vulgar interpreter doth by agere pœnitentiam, it were all one with repentance: for so doth he sometimes translate the word μετανοεῖν, Pœnitimini, that you cannot say, doe penance, but be penitent Popish penance satisfaction.

nitent. Mark. 1. 15. Sometimes you are enforced to translate the worde Pœnitentia, repentance, Act. 5. 31. Act. 11. 18. 2. Tim. 2. 25. Therefore if this your translation bee true, why doe you not alwayes vse it? but in steede of repentance, giue vs penance.

RHEM. 9. 22. If perhaps.) You may see, great penance is here required for remission of sinne, and that men must stand in feare and dread lest they be not worthy to be heard or to obtaine mercie. Whereby all men that bye or sell any spirituall function, dignities, offices, or liuings, may specially be warned that the sinne is exceeding great.

FVLKE. 9. For great sinnes, great sorow and most hearty repentance is requisite. And men must pray without doubting, for all things that God hath promised, Iam. 1. 6. Neither is Simon willed to pray with doubting, but Peter seeing him to be still in the bitternes of gall, doubteth whether he will truely repent, and sincerely pray to God for remission of his sinnes. Oecumenius sayth, For Peter foresaw that he was not to be conuerted to repentance, therefore he sayth, if perhaps it may be remitted. Otherwise, we must not feare only, but be altogether certaine, that we are not worthy to be heard, or to obteine mercie, nor to looke vp to heauen, or to be called Gods children of our selues, and therefore must be assured to bee heard and obteine mercie, for the worthinesse of Christ our only Mediatour and Aduocate. Doubting in prayer.

RHEM. 10 24. Pray you for me.) As this Sorcerer had more knowledge of the true religion then the Protestants haue, who see not that the Apostles and Bishops can giue the holy Ghost in this Sacrament or other, which he plainely perceiued and confessed, so surely he was more religious then they, that being so sharply checked by the Apostle, yet blaspheme not as they doe when they be blamed by the Gouernors of the Church, but desired the Apostles to pray for him. Simon Magus more religious then the Protestants.

FVLKE. 10 When the Pope and the Gouernors of your Church, can cause vs to see, that the Sorcerer saw, namely, that those whom you confirme, receiue the power of miracles, it were some reason to vpbraid vs by his example. But when you neither worke miracles, nor teach the doctrine of the Apostles, but cleane contrarie vnto it, looke you that we should desire you to pray for vs, whose prayer we know to bee abominable, because you refuse to obey the law of God? Prouerb. 28. 9. Miracles.

RHEM. 11 27. This is a desert.) Intolerable boldnes of some Protestants, here also (as in other places) against all copies both Greeke and Latin, to surmise corruption or falshod of the text, saying it cannot be so: Which is to accuse the holy Euangelist, and to blaspheme the holy Ghost himselfe. See Beza, who is often very saucie with S. Luke. Beza.

Annot. no. Test. 1556.

FVLKE 11 A lewd slander. Beza saith, that this desert cannot be vnderstoode of the citie of Gaza, which at that time, was a populous citie, but of the way which led vnto it, that was in a desert or waste ground. And so sayth Oecumenius out of the consent of the Greeke Fathers, The way was toward the South and he sayd it was desert that hee should not feare the authoritie of the Iewes. The same in effect sayth Chrysostome in Act Homil. 19. Intolerable both malice and blindnesse of popish Rhemists. Slander.

RHEM. 12 38. He baptized him.) When the heretikes of this time finde mention made in Scripture of any Sacrament ministred by the Apostles or other in the Primitiue Church, they imagine no more was done then there is expressly told, nor scarcely beleeue so much. As if imposition of hands in the sacrament of Confirmation be onely expressed, they thinke there was no chrisme nor other worke or worde vsed. So they thinke no more ceremonie was vsed in the baptizing of this noble man, then here is mentioned. Whereupon S. Augustine hath these memorable words, In that that he saith, Philip baptized him, he would haue it vnderstood that all things were done, which though in the Scriptures for breuitie sake they are not mentioned, yet by order of tradition we know were to be done. The ceremonie of Sacrament done, though not mentioned. De fid. & op.

FVLKE. 12 When we reade of any Sacrament ministred by the Apostles, though al things be not expressed in particular, yet we beleeue that all things were done, that by the institution of that Sacrament were necessary to bee done: which is the thing that Augustine meaneth, where he sayth, Serie traditionis, by the order of the deliuery or institution of Baptisme, namely, the renouncing of dead workes, which is the doctrine of Baptisme, sayth the Apostle, Heb. 6. 2. with the whole confession of Christian faith, mentioned in that place by S. Augustine, which is expressed in the Scripture. But your Sacrament of Chrisme we beleeue not, because we read it no where. Contrariwise, your maner is (to find a miserable coulour, for your horrible sacrilege) where you find bread onely mentioned in some place of the Scripture, you imagine, or at least would haue vs to imagine, that the Apostles ministred the Supper of our Lord in one kind, directly contrary to the institution thereof, and the expresse commandement of our Sauiour Christ. In which places, you should giue credite to this saying of S. Augustine, for the cup, which is written in the institution of that Sacrament, and not for the Sacrament of Chrisme, which is no where instituted, or mentioned in the holy Scriptures. The sufficiencie of Scripture. Tradition. Popish deuise. Communion in one kinde.

CHAP. IX.

Saul not content to persecute so cruelly in Hierusalem, 3 is in the way to Damascus told by our Lord IESVS of his vaine attempt, and miraculously conuerted to be an Apostle: and after great penance, restored to his sight by Ananias, and baptized. 20 And presently he dealeth mightily against the Iewes, proouing IESVS to be Christ, to their great admiration. 23 But such is their obstinacie, that they lay all Damascus to kill him, 26 From thence hee goeth to Hierusalem, and there ioyneth with the Apostles, and againe by the obstinate Iewes his death is sought. 31 The Church being now growen ouer all Iewrie, Galilee and Samaria, Peter visiteth all: and in his visitation, 33 healing a lame man, 36 and raising a dead woman, conuerteth very many.

THE EPISTLE vpon the Conuersion of S. Paul Ian. 25. Act. 22, 4. Gal. 1, 13.

AND Saul as yet breathing foorth threatnings and slaughter against the Disciples of our Lorde, came to the high Priest,

2 And asked letters of him vnto Damascus to the synagogs, that if he had found any men and women of this way, he might bring them bound vnto Hierusalem.

3 And as he went on his iourney, it chanced that hee drew nigh to Damascus: and * sodenly a light from heauen shined round about him. 1. Cor. 15, 8.

4 And falling on the ground, he heard a voice

*AND * Saul yet breathing out threatnings and slaughter against the disciples of the Lord, went vnto the high Priest,* Rom. 9, 3.

2 And desired of him letters to carry to Damascus, to the Synagogues, that if he found any of this way whether they were men or women, hee might bring them bound vnto Hierusalem.

3 And when he iourneyed, it came to passe, that as hee was come nigh to Damascus, suddenly there shined round about him a light from heauen.

4 And hee fell to the earth, and heard a voice, voice saying to him, ‡ Saul, Saul why persecutest thou me?

5 Who saide, Who art thou Lord? And he, I am IESVS whome thou doest persecute. it is hard for thee to kicke against the pricke.

6 And trembling and being astonied he saide, Lorde, what wilt thou haue mee to doe?

7 And our Lord to him, Arise, and goe into the citie, and it shal be told thee what thou must do. But the men that went in companie with him, stood amased, hearing the voice, but seeing no man.

8 And Saul rose vp from the ground, and his eyes being opened, he saw nothing. And they drawing him by the handes, brought him into Damascus.

9 And he was three daies not seeing, and he did neither eate nor drinke.

10 And there was a certaine disciple at Damascus, named Ananias: and our Lorde saide to him in a vision, Ananias. But he saide, Loe, here I am Lord.

11 And our Lord to him, Arise, and goe into the streate that is called Straight: and seeke in the house of Iudas one named Saul of Tarsus. for behold he prayeth.

12 (And he sawe a man named Ananias, comming in and imposing handes vpon him for to receiue his sight.)

13 But Ananias answered, Lorde, I haue heard by many of this man, howe much euil he hath done to thy Saincles in Hierusalem:

14 And here he hath authoritie from the cheefe Priestes to binde al that inuocate thy Name.

15 And our Lord said to him, Goe, for a vessel of election is this man vnto me, to cary my name before the Gentiles, and kings, and the children of Israel.

16 For I wil shew him how great things he must suffer for my Name.

17 And Ananias went, and entred into the house: and imposing hands vpon him, he said, Brother Saul, our Lord IESVS hath sent mee, he that appeared to thee in the way that thou camest: that thou maiest see and be filled with the holy Ghost.

18 And forthwith there fel from his eyes as it were scales, and he receiued sight. and rising he was ‡ baptized.

19 And when hee had taken meate, hee was strengthened. And he was with the disciples that were at Damascus, for certaine dayes.

20 And incontinent entring into the synagogs, he preached IESVS, that this is the Sonne of God.

21 And al that heard, were astonied, and said, Is not this hee that expugned in Hierusalem cutest thou me?

5 And hee said, Who art thou, Lord? And the Lorde sayde, I am Iesus whom thou persecutest: It is hard for thee to kicke against the prickes.

6 And hee both trembling and astonied, said, Lord, what wilt thou haue mee to doe? And the Lorde saide vnto him, Arise, and goe into the Citie, and it shall bee tolde thee what thou must doe.

7 The men also which iourneyed with him, stoode amazed, hearing a voyce, but seeing no man.

8 And Saul arose from the earth, and when his eyes were opened, hee sawe no man: but they ledde him by the hande, and brought him into Damascus.

9 And he was three dayes without sight, and neither did eate nor drinke.

10 And there was a certaine disciple at Damascus, named Ananias: and to him saide the Lord in a vision, Ananias. And he said, Behold, I am here, Lord.

11 And the Lorde sayde vnto him, Arise, and goe into the streete, which is called Straight, and seeke in the house of Iudas, after one called Saul, of Tarsus: for beholde, he prayeth, 12 And hath seene in a vision, a man named Ananias, comming in to him, and putting his handes on him, that hee might receiue his sight.

13 Then Ananias answered, Lorde, I haue heard by many of this man, howe much euill hee hath done to thy saincts at Hierusalem:

14 And here he hath authoritie of the high Priests, to binde all that call on thy Name.

15 The Lord said vnto him, Goe thy way: for he is a chosen vessell vnto me, to beare my Name before the Gentiles, and Kings, and the children of Israel:

16 For I will shewe him how great things hee must suffer for my Names sake.

17 And Ananias went his way, and entred into the house, and put his hands on him, and said, Brother Saul, the Lorde (euen Iesus that appeared vnto thee in the way as thou camest) hath sent me, that thou mightest receiue thy sight, and be filled with the holy Ghost.

18 And immediatly there fell from his eyes as it had bene scales, and he receiued sight forthwith, and arose, and was baptized.

19 And when he had receiued meate, he was comforted. Then was Saul certaine dayes with the disciples which were at Damascus.

20 And straightway hee preached Christ in the synagogues, that he is the Sonne of God.

21 But al that heard him, were amazed, and saide, Is not this hee that destroyed them which rusalem those that inuocated this name: and came hither to this purpose that hee might bring them bound to the chiefe priestes?

22 But Saul waxed mightie much more, and confounded the Iewes that dwelt at Damascus, affirming that this is CHRIST.

23 And when many dayes were passed, the Iewes consulted that they might kil him.

24 But their conspiracie came to Sauls knowledge. And * they kept the gates also day and night, that they might kill him. 2.Cor.11.32.

25 But the disciples taking him in the night, conueied him away by the wal, letting him downe in a basket.

26 And when he was come into Hierusalem, he assaied to ioyne himselfe to the disciples, and al feared him, not beleeuing that he was a disciple,

27 But Barnabas tooke him and brought him to the Apostles, and tolde them how in the way he had seen our Lorde, and that he spake vnto him, and howe in Damascus hee dealt confidently in the name of IESVS.

28 And hee was with them going in and going out in Hierusalem, and dealing confidently in the name of our Lord.

29 He spake also to the Gentiles, and disputed with the Greekes: but they sought to kil him.

30 Which whē the brethren had knowen, they brought him downe to Cæsaréa, and sent him away to Tarsus.

‡ The Church visibly proceedeth still with much comfort and manifold increase euen by persecution.

31 The ‡ CHVRCH truely through all Iewrie and Galilee and Samaria had peace, and was edified, walking in the feare of our Lord, and was repleniſhed with the consolation of the holy Ghost.

32 And it came to passe, that Peter as hee passed through all, came to the Saincts that dwelt at Lydda.

33 And he founde there a certaine man named Aeneas, lying in his bed from eight yeeres before, who had the palsey.

34 And Peter saide to him, Aeneas, our Lord IESVS CHRIST ‖ heale thee: arise, and make thy bed. And incontinent he arose.

35 And all that dwelt at Lydda and Saróna, saw him: who conuerted to our Lord.

36 And in Ioppé there was a certaine disciple named Tabitha, which by interpretation is called Dorcas. This woman was full of ‡ good workes and almes-deedes which she did.

37 And it came to passe in those dayes, that shee was sicke and died. Whom when they had washed, they laid her in an vpper chamber.

38 And whereas Lydda was nigh to Ioppé, the disciples hearing that Peter was in it, they sent two men vnto him, desiring him, Be not loth to come so farre as to vs.

39 And Peter rising vp came with them. And called on this Name in Hierusalem, and came hither for that intent, that he might bring them bound vnto the high Priests?

22 But Saul increased the more in strength, and confounded the Iewes which dwelt at Damascus, proouing † that this is very Christ.

† By conferring one Scripture with another.

23 And after that many dayes were fulfilled, the Iewes tooke counsell together to kill him.

*24 But their laying awaite was knowen of Saul: * and they watched the gates day and night to kill him.* 2.Cor.11.32.

25 Then the disciples tooke him by night, and put him downe by the wall, and let him downe in a basket.

26 And when Saul was come to Hierusalem, he assayed to couple himselfe to the disciples, but they were all afraide of him, and beleeued not that he was a disciple.

27 But Barnabas tooke him, and brought him to the Apostles, and declared vnto them how he had seene the Lorde in the way, and that hee had spoken to him, & how he had preached boldly at Damascus in the Name of Iesus.

28 And he was with them comming in, and going out at Hierusalem,

29 Speaking boldly in the Name of the Lord Iesus, and hee spake and disputed against the Greekes: but they went about to slay him.

30 Which when the brethren knewe, they brought him to Cæsarea, and sent him foorth to Tarsus.

31 Then had the Churches rest thorowout all Iurie, and Galilee, and Samaria, and were edified, and walked in the feare of the Lorde, and multiplied by the comfort of the Holy Ghost.

32 And it came to passe, as Peter walked thorowout al quarters, he came also to the saincts which dwelt at Lydda.

33 And there he found a certaine man named Eneas, which had kept his bed eight yeeres, and was sicke of the palsie.

34 And Peter saide vnto him, Eneas, Iesus Christ maketh thee whole: arise, and make thy bed. And he arose immediatly.

35 And all that dwelt at Lydda and Saron, sawe him, which turned to the Lord.

36 There was also at Ioppa a certaine woman a disciple, named Tabitha, which by interpretation is called Dorcas: the same was full of good workes, and almes deedes, which shee did.

37 And it came to passe in those dayes that shee was sicke, and died: whom when they had washed, they laid her in an vpper chamber.

38 And forasmuch as Lydda was nigh to Ioppa, and the disciples had heard that Peter was there, they sent vnto him two men, desiring him that he would not be grieued to come to them.

39 Then Peter arose, and came with them: when

And when he was come, they brought him into the vpper chamber: and all the widowes stoode about him weeping, ‡ and shewing him the coates and garments which Dorcas made them.

40 And all being put foorth, Peter falling on his knees prayed, and turning to the body he saide: Tabitha, Arise. And she opened her eyes: and seeing Peter, she sate vp.

41 And giuing her his hand, he lifted her vp. And when hee had called the saincts and the widowes, he presented her aliue.

42 And it was made knowen throughout al Ioppe: & many beleeued in our Lord.

43 And it came to passe that hee abode many dayes in Ioppé, with one Simon a tanner.

when he was come, they brought him into the vpper chamber: And all the widowes stoode rounde about him weeping, and shewing the coates and garments which Dorcas made while she was with them.

40 And Peter put them all foorth, and kneeled downe, and prayed, and turned him to the body, and saide, Tabitha, arise. And shee opened her eyes, and when shee sawe Peter, shee sate vp.

41 And Peter gaue her the hand, and lifted her vp: and when he had called the Saincts and widowes, he deliuered her aliue.

42 And it was knowen thorowout all Ioppa, and many beleeued in the Lord.

43 And it came to passe, that he taried many dayes in Ioppa, with one Simon a Tanner.

CHEM. I 4. Saul, Saul why persecutest.) The Heretikes that conclude CHRIST so in heauen, that he can be nowhere els till the day of Iudgement, shall hardly resolue a man that would know where CHRIST was when he appeared here in the way, and spake these wordes to Saul.

LUKE. I We conclude not Christ in heauen, otherwise then of his owne will hee hath appointed to remaine there. But your question is easily answered out of the text, that Christ spake from heauen, from whence the glorious light shined, passing the light of the Sunne. Oecumenius saith, They that accompanied Saul heard not the voice that came from aboue.

CHEM. 2 36. Good workes.) Behold good workes and almes-deedes, and the force thereof reaching euen to the next life.

LUKE. 2 The force of good workes reacheth to the next life, to be rewarded of Gods mercie, and not of mans merit. Merite.

CHEM. 3 39. And shewing him.) The prayers of our Almes-folke and Beads-men may doe vs great good euen after our departure. For if they procured her temporall life, much more may they helpe vs to Gods mercie and to release of punishment in Purgatorie.

LUKE. 3 The text saith not, that her almes folke prayed to God for restitution of her life, and if they did, yet the argument followeth not, that they ought to haue prayed for release of her punishment in Purgatorie. Because the Scripture teacheth no such place of punishment after this life, nor prescribeth any forme of prayer, to obteine mercie for them that are departed, and haue receiued their iudgement: for immediatly after death, followeth euery mans particular iudgement, Heb. 9. 27. Purgatorie.

CHAP. X.

CHEM. I Because the Iewes so much abhorred the Gentiles, for the better warrant of their Christening, an Angel appeareth to Cornelius the deuout Italian. 9 and a vision is shewed to Peter him selfe (the chiefe and Pastor of all) 19 and the spirit speaketh to him, 34 Yea and as he is Catechizing them about IESVS, 44 the holy Ghost commeth visibly vpon them: and therefore not fearing any longer the offence of the Iewes, he commaundeth to baptize them. The 4. part.

LUKE. I There is no word in the text, nor in all the Scriptures, to proue that Peter was pastor of all, otherwise then euery one of the Apostles. THE propagation of the Church to the Gentiles also.

AND there was a certaine man in Cæsarea, named Cornelius, Centurion of that which is called the Italian band.

2 Religious, and fearing God with all his house, ‖ doing many almes-deedes to the people. And alwayes praying to God,

3 Hee sawe in a vision manifestly, about the ninth houre of the day, an Angel of God comming in vnto him, and saying to him, Cornelius.

4 But he beholding him, taken with feare, said, Who art thou Lord? And he said to him, Thy praiers and thy almes-deedes are ascended into remembrance in the sight of God.

5 And now send men vnto Ioppé, and cal hither one Simon that is surnamed Peter.

6 He lodgeth with one Simon a tanner, whose house is by the sea side. he wil tel thee what thou must doe.

7 And when the Angel was departed that spake to him, he called two of his houshold, and a souldiar that feared our Lord, of them that were vnder him.

8 To

THere was a certaine man in Cesarea, called Cornelius, a captaine of the band, called the Italian band,

2 A deuoute man, and one that feared God with all his houshold, which gaue much almes to the people, and prayed God alway.

3 The same sawe by a vision euidently, about the ninth houre of the day, an Angel of God comming in to him, and saying vnto him, Cornelius.

4 And when hee looked on him, hee was afraid, and said, What is it Lorde? And he saide vnto him, Thy prayers and thine almes are come vp into remembrance before God.

5 And now sende men to Ioppa, and call for one Simon, whose surname is Peter.

6 Hee lodgeth with one Simon a Tanner, whose house is by the sea side: Hee shall tell thee what thou oughtest to doe.

7 And when the Angel which spake vnto Cornelius, was departed, he called two of his houshold seruants, and a deuoute souldier of them that waited on him,

8 To whom when he had told all, he ſent them vnto Ioppé.

9 And the next day whiles they were going on their iourney, & drawing nigh to the citie, Peter went vp into the higher parts, ‖ to pray about the ſixt houre.

10 And being hungry, he was deſirous to take ſomewhat. And as they were preparing, there fel vpon him an exceſſe of minde:

11 And he ſaw the heauen opened, and a certaine veſſel deſcending, as it were a great linnen ſheete with foure corners let downe from heauen to the earth,

12 Wherein were al foure-footed beaſts, and that creepe on the earth, and foules of the aire.

13 And there came a voyce to him, Ariſe Peter: kill, and eate.

14 But Peter ſaid, God forbid, Lord: for I did neuer eate any common and vncleane thing.

15 And ‡ a voice came to him againe the ſecond time, That which God hath purified, doe not thou call common.

16 And this was done thriſe. and foorthwith the veſſell was taken vp againe into heauen.

17 And whiles Peter doubted within him ſelfe, what the viſion ſhould be that hee had ſeene, beholde the men that were ſent from Cornelius, inquiring for Simons houſe, ſtood at the gate.

18 And when they had called, they aſked, if Simon that is ſurnamed Peter, were lodged there.

19 And as Peter was thinking of the viſion, the Spirit ſaid to him, Beholde three men doe ſeeke thee.

20 Ariſe therefore, and get thee downe, and goe with them, doubting nothing: for I haue ſent them.

21 And Peter going downe to the men, ſaid, Behold, I am he whom you ſeeke: what is the cauſe, for the which you are come?

22 Who ſaid, Cornelius the Centurion, a iuſt man and that feareth God, & hauing téſtimonie of all the nation of the Iewes, receiued an anſwere of an holy Angel to ſend for thee into his houſe, and to heare wordes of thee.

23 Therefore bringing them in, he lodged them. And the day folowing he aroſe and went with them: and certaine of the brethren of Ioppé accompanied him.

24 And on the morow he entred into Cæſaréa. And Cornelius expected them, hauing called together his kinne, and ſpecial frends.

25 And it came to paſſe, When Peter was come in, Cornelius came to meete him, and falling at his feete ‖ adored.

26 But Peter lifted him vp ſaying, Ariſe, my ſelfe alſo am a man.

27 And

8 And tolde them all the matter, and ſent them to Ioppa.

9 On the morowe as they went on their iourney, and drew nigh vnto the citie, Peter went vp into the higheſt part of the houſe to pray, about the ſixth houre.

10 And when he waxed hungry, hee would haue eaten: But while they made ready, hee fell into a trance,

11 And hee ſeeth heauen opened, and a certaine veſſel come downe vnto him, as it had bene a great ſheete, knit at the foure corners, and let downe to the earth:

12 Wherein were all maner of foure footed beaſts of the earth, and wilde beaſtes, and ſuch as creepe, and foules of the aire.

13 And there came a voyce to him, Riſe, Peter: kill, and eate.

14 But Peter ſayde, Not ſo, Lord: for I haue neuer eaten any thing that is common or vncleane.

15 And the voyce ſpake vnto him againe the ſeconde time, What God hath cleanſed, that † call not thou common.

† Or, leaſt thou pollute.

16 This was done thriſe: and the veſſel was receiued vp againe into heauen.

17 Nowe while Peter doubted in him ſelfe what this viſion which he had ſeen ſhould meane: behold, the men which were ſent from Cornelius, had made enquirance for Simons houſe, & ſtood before the doore,

18 And called, and asked whether Simon, which was ſirnamed Peter, were lodged there.

19 While Peter thought on the viſion, the ſpirit ſaid vnto him, Behold, three men ſeeke thee.

20 Ariſe therefore, and get thee downe, and goe with them, doubting nothing: for I haue ſent them.

21 Then Peter went downe to the men which were ſent vnto him from Cornelius, and ſaid, Beholde, I am hee whom ye ſeeke: what is the cauſe wherefore ye are come?

22 And they ſaid, Cornelius the Captaine, a iuſt man, and one that feareth God, and of good report among all the people of the Iewes, was warned by an holy Angel, to ſende for thee into his houſe, and to heare wordes of thee.

23 Then called he them in, and lodged them: And on the morow Peter went away with them, and certaine brethren from Ioppa accompanied him.

24 And the thirde day after, entred they into Ceſarea: and Cornelius waited for them, and had called together his kinſemen and ſpeciall friendes.

25 And it came to paſſe as Peter came in, Cornelius met him, and fell downe at his feete, and worſhipped him.

26 But Peter tooke him vp, ſaying, Stand vp, I my ſelfe alſo am a man.

27 And

27 And talking with him, he went in, and findeth many that were assembled,

28 And he said to them, You know how abominable it is for a man that is a Iewe, to ioyne, or to approche vnto a stranger: but God hath shewed to me, to cal no man common or vncleane.

29 For the which cause, making no doubt, I came when I was sent for. I demaund therefore, for what cause you haue sent for me?

30 And Cornelius said, Foure daies since, vntill this houre, I was [c] praying the ninth houre in my house, and behold [‡] a man stood before me in white apparell, 31 And saide: Cornelius, thy prayer is heard, and thy almes-deedes are in memorie in the sight of God.

32 Send therefore to Ioppé, and call hither Simon that is surnamed Peter: he lodgeth in the house of Simon a tanner by the sea side.

33 Immediatly therefore I sent to thee: and thou hast done well in comming. Now therefore all wee are present in thy sight, to heare all things whatsoeuer are commanded thee of the Lord.

34 And Peter opening his mouth, saide, In very deede I perceiue that God is not an accepter of persons.

35 But in euery nation, he that feareth him, and [c] worketh iustice, is acceptable to him.

36 The word did God sende to the children of Israel, preaching peace by IESVS CHRIST (this is Lord of all.)

37 [b] You know the word that hath been made through al Iewrie, for* beginning from Galilee, after the baptisme which Iohn preached.

38 IESVS of Nazareth how God anointed him with the holy Ghost & with power, who went through out doing good and healing all that were oppressed of the Deuil, because God was with him.

39 And we are witnesses of al things that he did in the country of the Iewes & in Hierusalem, whom they killed hanging him vpon a tree.

40 Him God raised vp the third day and ‖ gaue him to be made manifest, 41 Not to al the people, but to vs, who did eate and drinke with him after hee rose againe from the dead.

42 And he commaunded vs to preach to the people, and to testifie that it is he that of God was appointed Iudge of the liuing and of the dead.

43 To him al the prophets giue testimonie, that all receiue remission of sinnes by his Name, which beleeue in him.

44 As Peter was yet speaking these words, the holy Ghost fel vpon al that heard the word.

45 And

[c] at the time of prayer specially God sendeth men comfortable visitations. [‡] in ỹ Greeke, fasting and praying.

THE EPISTLE vpon Tuesday in Whitsunweeke.

27 And as he talked with him, he came in, and findeth many that were come together.

28 And he saide vnto them, Ye know how that it is an vnlawfull thing for a man that is a Iew, to company or come vnto one of another nation: but God hath shewed mee, that I should not call any man common or vncleane.

29 Therefore came I vnto you without delay, as soone as I was sent for: I aske therefore for what intent ye haue sent for me?

30 And Cornelius saide, Foure dayes agoe vntill this houre I was fasting, and at the ninth houre I prayed in my house, and beholde, a man stood before me in bright clothing,

31 And said, Cornelius, thy prayer is heard, and thine almes deedes are had in remembrance in the sight of God.

32 Send therefore to Ioppa, and call for Simon, whose sirname is Peter, he is lodged in the house of one Simon a Tanner, by the sea side, who when he commeth, shall speake vnto thee.

33 Then sent I for thee immediatly, and thou hast well done that thou art come. Nowe therefore are wee all here present before God, to heare all things that are commaunded vnto thee of God.

34 Then Peter opened his mouth, and saide, * Of a trueth I perceiue that God hath no regard of persons: Deut.10.17. rom.2.11. 1.pet.1.17. luke 4.14.

35 But in euery nation, he that feareth him, and woorketh righteousnesse, is accepted with him.

36 Touching the word which God sent vnto the children of Israel, preaching peace by Iesus Christ, (he is Lord ouer all.)

37 Ye knowe howe the worde was published thorowout all Iurie, beginning in Galilee, after the baptisme which Iohn preached:

38 Howe God anointed Iesus of Nazareth with the holy Ghost, and with power, who went about doing good, and healing all that were oppressed of the deuill: for God was with him.

39 And we are witnesses of all things which he did in the land of the Iewes, and at Hierusalem, whom they slue, when they had hanged him on a tree.

40 Him God raised vp the third day, and shewed him openly.

41 Not to all the people, but vnto vs witnesses, chosen before of God, euen to vs which did eate and drinke with him after hee rose from the dead.

44 While Peter yet spake these words, the holy Ghost fell on all them which heard the word.

45 And the faithfull of the Circumcision that came with Peter, were astonied, for that the grace of the holy Ghost was poured out vpon the Gentiles also.

46 For they heard them speaking with tongues, and magnifying God. Then Peter answered, 47 Can any man forbid water, that these should not be ‖baptized which haue receiued the holy Ghost as wel as we?

48 And he commanded them to be baptized in the Name of our Lorde IESVS CHRIST. ☜ Then they desired him that he would tarie with them certaine dayes.

45 And they of the Circumcision which beleeued, were astonied, as many as came with Peter, because that on the Gentiles also was powred out the gift of the holy Ghost.

46 For they heard them speake with tongues, and magnifie God. Then answered Peter, 47 Can any man forbid water, that these should not bee baptized, which haue receiued the holy Ghost as well as we?

48 And hee commanded them to be baptized in the Name of the Lord. Then prayed they him to tary certaine dayes.

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. X.

RHEM. 2 15. A voyce came to.) Here God first vttered to Peter that the time was come to preach also to the Gentiles, and to conuerse with them for their saluation, no lesse then with the Iewes, with ful freedom to eate al meats without respect of the prohibition of certaine, made in the old Law.

FVLKE. 2 Before this time God vttered as much to Paul, namely at the time of his conuersion, as hee testifieth, Actes 26, 17. and 18.

RHEM. 3 30. A man stood.) Note these apparitions and visions to S. Peter, Cornelius, and others, in the Scriptures very often, against the incredulitie of our Heretikes, that wil beleeue neither vision nor miracle, not expressed in Scripture: these being beleeued of Christian men euen before they were written.

FVLKE. 3 Peter was not bound to beleeue the report of the vision of Cornelius, before hee was admonished by vision and reuelation himselfe. But the doctrine reueiled in the Scriptures concerning the calling of the Gentiles, he should haue acknowledged before his vision. If we see any miracle or heare it reported by men of as good credite as Peter was, we will beleeue it, though it be not written: but if it tend to mainteine another Gospel then that which is set foorth in the Scriptures, we will not be moued by Peter nor Paul, nor any Angel to leaue the trueth knowen for any miracles, Gal. 1. Vision. Miracles.

RHEM. 4 35. * Worketh Iustice.) Not such as beleeue only, but such as feare God and worke iustice, are acceptable to him.

FVLKE. 4 Such as beleeue onely (as Simon Magus did) and doe not feare God, nor worke righteousnes, are nothing acceptable to God. But such as feare God and worke righteousnes, are accepted of God, not for their workes, but for their faith onely, Rom. 3. 28. Ephes. 2. 8. Faith only.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. X.

RHEM. 5 2. Doing many almes deedes.) He knew God creator of al, but that his omnipotent Sonne was incarnate, he knew not: and in that faith he made prayers and gaue almes which pleased God, and by wel doing he deserued to know God perfectly, to beleeue the mysterie of the Incarnation, and to come to the Sacrament of Baptisme. So saith Venerable Bede out of S. Gregory. And S Augustine thus, li. 1. de Bapt. c. 8. Because whatsoeuer goodnes he had in praiers and almes, the same could not profite him vnles he were by the band of Christian Societie and peace, incorporated to the Church, hee is bidden to send vnto Peter, that by him hee may learne Christ, by him he may be baptized, &c. *Whereby it appeareth that such workes as are done before iustification, though they suffise not to saluation, yet be acceptable preparatiues to the grace of iustification, and such as moue God to mercie, as it might appeare also by Gods like prouident mercifulnes * to the Eunuche. though al such workes preparatiue come of grace also: otherwise they could neuer deserue at Gods hand of congruitie, or any otherwise toward iustification.* Bed in hunc locum. Good workes before faith are preparations to the same, not properly meritorious. Acts, 8.

FVLKE. 5 Whatsoeuer is not of faith, is sinne, Without which it is impossible to please God, Rom. 14. 23. Hebr. 11. 6. Therefore it is certeine that Cornelius had faith, as a true Proselyte in the Messias to come, although he knew not that hee was come, and so saith Beda. Therefore this place proueth not that good workes before faith are preparatiues to it, for no workes are good, but such as are done in faith. And seeing your affirme that workes before faith, are not meritorious, you falsifie Beda & slander Gregory, by translating the verbe promeruit, he deserued, which is commonly vsed of the Fathers, to obteine without respect of merite or desert. But that the Reader may see how impudently you cite this place, to prooue that good workes are preparatiues to faith, I will set downe his whole discourse vpon this text. Non virtutibus ad fidem, sed fide pertingitur ad virtutes, vt beatus Gregorius exponit, &c. Men atteine not to faith by vertues, but to vertues by faith, as S. Gregory expoundeth it. For Cornelius (saith he) whose almes before baptisme, as the Angel witnesseth, are praised, came not by workes to faith, but by faith to workes. For if he had not beleened the true God before baptisme, vnto whom did he pray? or how did Almighty God heare him, if he prayed not to be perfected in good things by him? Therefore he knew God the creator of all things, but that his Almighty Sonne was incarnate he knew not. He had faith, whose prayers and almes could please God. And by good action he obteined to know God perfectly, and to beleeue the mysterie of the incarnation of his onely begotten Sonne, that hee might come to the Sacrament of baptisme. By faith therefore he came to workes, but by workes hee was made strong in faith. S. Augustine also affirmeth, that he had faith before he beleeued in Christ, saying, Hee did not giue almes and prayed without some faith. For how did he call vpon him in whom he beleeued not. De praed. sanct. li. 1. c. 7. The same is to be said of the Eunuche. And how are you not ashamed to say, That good workes before faith, are preparatiues to the same. When S. Augustine saith, Faith goeth before, that good workes may follow, neither are there any good workes, but those that folow faith going before. In ps. 67. Where he saith, that the vngodly man is iustified by faith without the merites of good workes. No good workes but of faith.

RHEM. 6 9. To pray about the sixt houre.) The houre is specified, for that there were certaine appointed times of prayer vsed in the Law, which deuout persons, according to the publike seruice in the Temple, obserued also priuately: and which the Apostles and holy Church afterward both kept and increased. Whereof thus writeth S. Cyprian very notably. In celebrating their prayers, we finde that the three children with Daniel obserued the third, sixt, and ninth houre, as in Sacrament (or mystery) of the holy Trinitie, &c. And a litle after, Which spaces of houres the worshippers of God spiritually (or mystically) determining long since, obserued set times to pray: and afterward the thing became The Canonical houres. De Orat. Dom. ante 15.

came manifest, that it was for Sacrament (or mystery) that the iust so prayed. For at the third houre the holy Ghost descended vpon the Apostles, fulfilling the grace of our Lords promise, and at the sixt houre Peter going vp to the higher roome of the house, was both by voice and signe from God instructed, that all Nations should be admitted to the grace of saluation, whereas of cleansing the Gentiles he doubted before. and our Lord being crucified at the sixt houre, at the ninth washed away our sinnes with his bloud. But to vs (deerely beloued) beside the seasons obserued of old, both the times & sacraments of praying be increased. for we must pray in the morning early, that the Resurrection of our Lord may be celebrated by Morning prayer: as of old the holy Ghost designed in the Psalme, saying, In the morning early will I stand vp to thee, early in the morning wilt thou heare my voice. Toward the euening also when the Sun departeth, and the day endeth, we must of necessity pray againe. Act.2. Act.10. Luc.23. Mattins. Euensong. Psal.5.

S. Hierom also writing of Daniels praying three times in a day, saith: There are three times, wherein we must bow our knees to God. The third, the sixt, & the ninth houre the ecclesiasticall tradition doth well vnderstand. Moreouer, at the third houre the holy Ghost descended vpon the Apostles. at the sixt, Peter went vp into a higher chamber to pray. at the ninth, * Peter and Iohn went to the Temple. Againe writing to Eustochium a virgin and Nonne ep.22.c.16. Though the Apostle bid vs pray alwayes, and to holy persons their very sleepe is praier: yet we must haue distinct houres of prayer, that if perhaps we be otherwise occupied, the very time may admonish vs of our office or duetie. The third, sixt, ninth houre, morning early, and the euening, no man can be ignorant of. And to Demetrius ep 8.c 8. that in the Psalmes and prayer she must keepe alwayes the third, sixt, ninth houre, euening, midnight, and morning. He hath the like ep.7.c.5. And (ep.27.c.10.) he telleth how Paula the holy abbesse with her religious Nunnes sang the Psalter in order, in the morning, at the third, sixt, ninth houre, euening midnight. by midnight meaning the time of Mattins (therefore called Nocturnes) agreeable to S. Cyprian de Orat. Dominum.15. and by the morning, the first houre called Prime: all correspondent to the times and houres of Christs Passion, as in S. Matthew is noted c. 26.17 By all which we see, how agreeable the vse of the Churches seruice is euen at this time to the Scriptures and Primitiue church: and how wicked the Puritan Caluinists be, that count all such order and set seasons of prayer, superstition: and lastly, how insufficient and vnlike the new pretended Church-seruice of England is to the primitiue vse, which hath no such houres of night or day, sauing a litle imitation of the olde Mattins and Euensong, and that in schisme and heresie, and therefore not onely vnprofitable, but also damnable. Dan.6. Act.3.

FULKE. 6 No man denieth but set times of prayers, both publike and priuate, and set formes also are very conuenient. But the Popish seruice, hath nothing but the names of these houres, and not the times themselues obserued in their prayers, which are all finished in the forenoone, when they are sayd or sung (for they are not vsed but at certeine solemne times) whereas the sixt houre is the time of high noone, the ninth houre, is the third houre before the Sunne set. Canonicall houres,

Our Church Seruice, hauing but two times appointed for publike praiers, is not to be misliked for that, seeing there is no necessity of more times prescribed in the Scriptures. Yet priuately all godly persons doe obserue more times of prayers, as the morning at their rising vp, at noone when they take their repast, likewise at night at their repast, and when they go to their rest. And these prayers both publike and priuate, are made in the true faith of Iesus Christ, and in the vnity of his Catholike Church.

REM. 7 25. Adored.) S. Chrysostome, ho.21. in Act. thinketh Peter refused this adoration of humility onely, because euery falling downe to the ground for worship sake, is not diuine worship or due onely to God, * the word of adoration and prostration being commonly vsed in the Scriptures toward men. But S. Hierom adu. Vigil. c.2.to.2. rather thinketh that Cornelius by errour of Gentility, and of Peters person, did go about to adore him with diuine honour, and therefore was lifted vp by the Apostle, adding that he was but a man. * προσκυνῆσαι. Adoration of creatures.

FULKE. 7 The Pope refuseth not, but requireth greater adoration of the greatest Princes, so well he followeth Peters steps. Chrysostome saith, Hoc faciens, &c. This doing he shewed his humility, and taught other, and giueth God thanks, and declareth that although he was commanded, yet he was very ready of himselfe. What then saith Peter, Arise, for I also am a man. Thou seest how aboue other men he teacheth them to thinke no great matter of him, or to haue no great opinion of him. The first words are of Cornelius shewing humility, the later of Peter, teaching that men may not thinke too highly of him: Peter said, I am a man. The Pope can admit other to say to him, Nec Deus es nec homo, quasi neuter es inter vtrumque. Thou art neither God nor man, but as it were a neuter betweene both. But Chrysostomes opinion pleaseth you not so well, as Hieroms aduersus Vigilan. Where either you vnderstand not Hierom aright, or els Hierome doeth iniurie to Cornelius, to charge him with errour of Gentility, and such grosse ignorance, that he thought Peter was God. Of whom what he was, he was instructed by God in a vision. But his errour was, that he thought religious honour to be due to Peter, which Peter acknowledgeth to be due onely to God, and to no man. For ciuill adoration could not be prohibited by this reason, that Peter was a man, for it is due to men, and in some measure was due to Peter. Therefore it was religious worship, such as Papists attribute to Saints, that Peter refused. Athan.cont. Arr.lib.2. *Si Christus vt gloria excellens adoraretur, quicunque præstarent & excellerent, ab inferioribus essent adorandi. Hoc autem non fit. LKE. 8 Christ teacheth vs to receiue instruction vnto faith, and vnto all things necessary to saluation at the hands of his chosen Ministers, but not to take faith it selfe at mens hand, nor to take any instruction of our Superiours without examining the same by the word of God, but to search the Scriptures, as the Berrhæans did, Acts 17.11. The authority of Gods word.

REM. 9 47. Baptized, which haue receiued.) Such may be the grace of God sometimes toward men, and their charity and contrition so great, that they may haue remission, iustification, and sanctification before the externall sacrament of Baptisme, Confirmation, or Penance be receiued, as we see in this example, where at Peters preaching they all receiue the holy Ghost before any Sacrament. but in the same we learne one necessary lesson, that such notwithstanding must needs receiue the Sacraments appointed by Christ, which whosoeuer contemneth, can neuer be iustified. Aug. super Leuit q.84.to 4. They that are iustified before, must not omit the Sacraments.

KE. 9 The seale is not vnprofitable which is of Gods appointment, but the Sacraments of Popish confirmation and penance are not of Christs institution, nor mentioned in S. Augustine in the place which you cite. And if confirmation be a Sacrament of necessity, (as now a dayes you teach) why did not Peter aswell confirme them, as he commanded them to be baptized? Popish Sacraments.

RHEM. 1 The Christian Iewes reprehend the foresayd fact of Peter in baptizing the Gentiles. 4 But he alledging his foresayd warrants, and shewing plainly that it was of God, 18 the like good Catholikes doe yeeld. 19 By their foresayd persecution, the Church is yet further dilated, not onely into all Iewry, Galilee, and Samaria, but also into other countreys: specially into Antiochia Syriæ the increase among the Greekes, is not able, first by the foresayd dispersed, 22 then by Barnabas, thirdly by him and Saul together: so that there beginneth the name of Christians: 27 with perfit vnity betweene them and the Church that was before them at Hierusalem.

FVLKE. 1 The Christians acknowledged not Peter to be Pope, for no man may reprehend him, if he cary innumerable soules to hell with him, by his owne Canons. Distinct. 40. cap. Si Papa. Peters Popedome.

AND the Apostles & brethren that were in Iewrie, heard that the Gentiles also receiued the word of God.

2 And when Peter was come vp to Hierusalem, they that were of the Circumcision reasoned against him, saying,

3 Why didst thou enter in to men vncircumcised, and didst eat with them?

4 But Peter began & declared to them the order, saying:

Act.10,9. 5 *I was in the citie of Ioppé praying, and I saw in an excesse of minde a vision, a certaine vessell descending as it were a great sheete with foure corners let downe from heauen, and it came euen vnto me.

6 Into which I looking considered, and saw foure footed beasts of the earth, and cattell, and such as creepe, and fowles of the aire.

7 And I heard also a voice saying to me, Arise Peter, kill and eat.

8 And I sayd, Not so, Lord: for common or vncleane thing neuer entred into my mouth.

9 And a voice answered the second time from heauen: That which God made cleane, do not thou call common.

10 And this was done thrise: and all were taken vp againe into heauen.

11 And beholde, three men immediatly were come to the house wherein I was, sent to me from Cæsaréa.

12 And the spirit said to me, that I should go with them, doubting nothing. And there came with mee these sixe brethren also: and we went in to the mans house.

13 And he tolde vs, how he had seene an Angel in his house, standing and saying to him, Send to Ioppé, & call hither Simon that is surnamed Peter, 14 Who shal speake to thee words wherin thou shalt be saued and all thy house.

15 And when I had begun to speake, the holy Ghost fell vpon them, as vpon vs also in the beginning.

16 And I remembred the worde of our Act.1,5. Lord, according as he said, Iohn in deed baptized with water, but you shalbe baptized with the holy Ghost.

17 If therefore God hath giuen them the same grace, as to vs also that beleeued in our Lorde IESVS CHRIST: who was I that might prohibit God?

18 Hauing heard these things, they ‡held their peace: and glorified God, saying, God then

AND the Apostles and brethren that were in Iurie, heard that the Heathen had also receiued the word of God.

2 And when Peter was come vp to Hierusalem, they that were of the circumcision contended against him,

3 Saying, Thou wentest in to men vncircumcised, and diddest eat with them.

4 But Peter rehearsed the matter from the beginning, and expounded it by order vnto them, saying,

5 I was in the citie of Ioppa praying, and in a traunce I saw a vision, a certaine vessell descend, as it had bene a great sheet, let downe from heauen by foure corners, and it came euen vntill me.

6 Vpon the which when I had fastened mine eyes, I considered, and saw foure footed beasts of the earth, and wilde beasts, and such as creepe, and fowles of the aire.

7 And I heard a voice, saying vnto me, Arise Peter, slay, and eat.

8 But I said, Not so, Lord: for nothing common or vncleane hath at any time entred in to my mouth.

9 But the voice answered mee againe from heauen, Doe not thou make them common which God hath cleansed.

10 And this was done three times: and all were taken vp againe into heauen.

11 And behold, immediatly there were three men already come vnto the house where I was, sent from Cæsarea vnto me.

12 And the spirit said vnto me, that I should goe with them, nothing doubting: Moreouer, these sixe brethren accompanied me, and we entred into the mans house:

13 And he shewed vs how hee had seene an Angell in his house, which stood and sayd vnto him, Send men to Ioppa, & call for Simon, whose surname is Peter:

14 He shal tell thee words, wherby both thou, and all thy house shalbe saued.

*15 And as I began to speake, the holy Ghost fell on them, * as he did on vs at the beginning,* Acts 2.4

*16 Then remembred I the word of the Lord, how that hee said, * Iohn baptized with water,* Iohn 1.15. acts 1.5. but ye shalbe baptized with the holy Ghost.

17 Forasmuch then as God gaue them the like gift as hee did vnto vs when wee beleeued on the Lord Iesus Christ: what was I that I shoulde haue withstood God?

18 When they heard these things, they held their peace, and glorified God, saying, Then hath God

* Their Latine is Pœnitentiam. then to the Gentiles also hath giuen *repentance vnto life.

Act 8,1. 19 * And they truely that had beene dispersed by the tribulation that was made vnder Steuen, walked thorowout vnto Phœnice and Cypres and Antioche, speaking the word to none, but to the Iewes onely.

20 But certaine of them were men of Cypres and Cyréne, who when they were entred into Antioche, spake to the Greekes, preaching our Lord IESVS.

In Epistam S. Barnabæ. Iun. 11. 21 And the hande of our Lord was with them: and a great number of beleeuers was conuerted to our Lord.

22 And the report came to the eares of the Church that was at Hierusalem, touching these things: and they sent * Barnabas as far as Antioche.

Act 4,36. 23 Who when he was come, and saw the grace of God, reioyced: and he exhorted all with purpose of heart to continue in our Lord:

24 Because he was a good man, and full of the holy Ghost & faith. And a great ‖ multitude was added to our Lord.

Act 9,30. 25 And he went forth to* Tarsus, to seeke Saul:

26 Whome when hee had found, hee brought him to Antioche. And they conuersed there in the Church a whole yeere: and they taught a great multitude, so that the Disciples were at Antioche first named ‖ CHRISTIANS.

The name of Christians, 27 And in these dayes there came Prophets from Hierusalem to Antioche, 28 And one of them rising, named Agabus, did by the Spirit signifie a great famine that should be in the whole world, which fel vnder Claudius.

29 And the Disciples according as eche man had, purposed euery one to send, for to serue the brethren that dwelt in Iewrie:

30 Which also they did, sending to the Auncients by the handes of Barnabas and Saul.

God also to the Gentiles granted repentance vnto life.

*19 * They also which were scattered abroad through the affliction that arose about Steuen, walked thorowout vnto Phœnice, & Cypres, and Antioche, preaching the word to no man, but vnto the Iewes onely.* Acts 8.1.

20 And some of them were men of Cypres and Cyrene, which when they were come to Antioche, spake vnto the Greekes, and preached the Lord Iesus.

21 And the hand of the Lord was with them: and a great number beleeued, and turned vnto the Lord.

22 Then tidings of these things came vnto the eares of the Church which was in Hierusalem: and they sent forth Barnabas, that he should go vnto Antioche.

23 Which when hee came, and had seene the grace of God, was glad, and exhorted them all, that with purpose of heart they would cleaue vnto the Lord.

24 For he was a good man, and full of the holy Ghost, and of faith: and much people was added vnto the Lord.

25 Then departed Barnabas to Tarsus, for to seeke Saul.

26 And when he had found him, he brought him vnto Antioche. And it came to passe, that a whole yeere they had their conuersation with the Church there, and taught much people: insomuch that the disciples of Antioche were the first that were called Christians.

27 And in those dayes came Prophets from Hierusalem vnto Antioche.

28 And there stood vp one of them, named Agabus, and signified by the Spirit, that there should be great dearth thorowout all the world: which came to passe in the dayes of Claudius Cæsar.

29 Then the disciples, euery man according to his abilitie, purposed to send succour vnto the brethren which dwelt in Iurie.

30 Which thing they also did, and sent it to the Elders, by the hands of Barnabas and Saul.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. XI.

RHEM. 3 24. Multitude added.) As before (c.10.) a few, so now great numbers of Gentiles are adioyned also to the visible Church, consisting before only of the Iewes. Which Church hath bene euer since Christs Ascension, notoriously seene and known: their preaching open, their Sacraments visible, their discipline visible, their Heads and Gouernours visible, the prouision for their maintenance visible, the persecution visible, their dispersion visible: the heretikes that went out from them, visible: the ioyning either of men or nations vnto them, visible: their peace and rest after persecutions, visible: their gouernours in prison, visible: the Church prayeth for them visibly, their Councels visible, their gifts and graces visible, their name (Christians) knowen to all the world. of the Protestants inuisible Church we heare not one word. The Church visible.

FVLKE, 3 Vnderstanding Visible, for that which may be seene, there is no doubt, but all Christians were alwayes visible. But if you vnderstand Visible, for that which is seene and knowen to all the world, as you say the name of Christians hath bene euer since Christs ascension, it is not true, that the Church was alwayes visible. For persecutions haue bene so great, that the world saw none of those things. And therefore Diocliſian and Maximian wickedly boasted, that they had vtterly abolished the superstition of Christ, and name of Christians. Inscriptio Salmanticæ in monte Bartholomæi. The like diuelliſh boasting made Nero in his time: Inscriptio in ruinis The Church not alwayes visible.

pagi Macanesar, a place in Spaine. But the Catholike Church of Christ, where of we reioyce to be members, is Ierusalem the heauenly, which is the mother of vs all, and being an article of our faith, is therefore inuisible. Heb. 11.1. Gal. 4.26.

RHEM. 4 26. Christians.) This name Christian, ought to be common to all the faithfull, and other new names of Schismatikes and Sectaries must be abhorred. If thou heare (saith S. Hierom) any where, such as be sayd to be of Christ, not to haue their names of our Lord IESVS CHRIST, but to be called after some other certeine name, as Marcionites, Valentinians, (as now also the Lutherans, Caluinists, Protestants) know thou that they belong not to the Church of Christ, but to the Synagogue of Antichrist. Lactantius also (lib. 7. Diuin. instit. c. 30) sayth also, When Phrygians, or Nouatians, or Valentinians, or Marcionites, or Anthropomorphites, or Arians, or any other be named, they cease to be Christians, who hauing lost the name of Christ, haue done on the names of men. *Neither can our new Sectaries discharge themselues, for that they take not to themselues these names, but are forced to beare them as giuen by their aduersaries. For, so were the names of Arians and the rest of olde, imposed by others, and not chosen commonly of themselues: Which notwithstanding were callings that proued them to be Heretiks. And as for the name of Protestants, our men hold them well content therewith. But concerning the Heretikes turning of the argument against the peculiar callings of our Religious, as Dominicans, Franciscans, Iesuites, Thomists, or such like, it is nothing, except they could proue that the orders and persons so named, were of diuers faiths and sects, or differed in any necessary point of religion, or were not all of one Christian name and Communion: and it is as ridiculous as if it were obiected, that some be Ciceronians, some Plinians, some good Augustine men, some Hieronymians, some Oxford men, some Cambridge men, and (which is most like) some * Rechabites, some * Nazarites.* Hierony. cont. Lucif. c. 7. in fine. Names of sectaries & heretikes. Protestants. Diuers religious orders are not diuers sects. Ierem. 35. Num. 6.

Neither doth their obiection, that we be called Papists, helpe or excuse them in their new names, for, besides that it is by them scornfully inuented (as the name Homousians was of the Arians) this name is not of any one man B. of Rome or elsewhere, knowen to be the authour of any schisme or sect, as their callings be: but it is of a whole state and order of gouernours, and that of the chiefe Gouernours, to whom we are bound to cleaue in religion, and to obey in all things. So to be a Papist, is to be a Christian man, a childe of the Church, and subiect to Christs Vicar. And therefore against such impudent Sectaries as compare the faithfull for following the Pope, to the diuersity of Heretiks bearing the names of new Maisters, let vs euer haue Papists, Catholikes, and true Christians, all one.

to 2. ep. 17. & ep. 18. ad Damasum. in readinesse this saying of S. Hierom to Pope Damasus, Vitalis I know not, Meletius I refuse, I know not Paulinus. Whosoeuer gathereth not with thee, scattereth: that is to say, Whosoeuer is not Christs, is Antichrists. And againe, If any man ioyne with Peters chaire, he is mine. Not to be with the Pope, is to be with Antichrist.

We must here further obserue that this name, Christian, giuen to all beleeuers and to the whole Church, was specially taken to distinguish them from the Iewes and Heathens which beleeued not at all in Christ, and the same now seuereth and maketh knowen all Christian men from Turks and others that hold not of Christ at all. But when heretikes began to rise from among the Christians, who professed Christs name and sundry articles of faith as true beleeuers do, the name Christian was too common to seuer the heretikes from true faithfull men: and thereupon the Apostles by the holy Ghost imposed this name Catholike vpon the beleeuers which in all points were obedient to the Churches doctrine. When heresies were rifen (saith S. Pacianus ep. ad Symphorianum) and endeuoured by diuers names to teare the doue of God & Queene, and to rent her in pieces, the Apostolical people required their surname, wherby the incorrupt people might be distinguished, &c. and so those that before were called Christians, are now surnamed also Catholiks. Christian is my name, saith he, Catholike my surname. And this word, Catholike, is the proper note whereby the holy Apostles in their Creed taught vs to discerne the true Church from the false heretical congregation of what sort soeuer. And not onely the meaning of the word, which signifieth vniuersality of times, places, and persons, but the very name and word it selfe, by Gods prouidence alwayes and onely appropriated to the true beleeuers, and (though sometimes at the beginning of sects challenged) yet neuer obtained by heretikes, giueth so plaine a marke and euidence, that S. Augustine sayd, In the lap of the Church the very name of Catholike keepeth me. cont. ep. fund. c. 4. And againe tract. 32. in Io. We receiue the holy Ghost if we loue the Church, if we be ioyned together by charity, if we reioyce in the Catholike name and faith. And againe de ver. rel. c. 7. to. 1. We must holde the communion of that Church which is named Catholike, not onely of her owne, but also of all her enemies. for, will they nill they, the Heretikes also and Schismatikes themselues, when they speake not with their owne fellowes but with strangers, call the Catholike Church nothing els but the Catholike Church: for they could not be vnderstood vnlesse they discerne it by this name wherewith she is called of all the world. The Heretikes when they see themselues preuented of this name Catholike, then they plainly reiect it & deride the name, as the Donatists did, calling it an humane forgery or fiction, which S. Augustine calleth words of blasphemy, lib. 1. c. 33. cont. Gaudent. and some Heretikes of this time call them scornfully carholiks, and cacoliks. Another calleth it, the most vaine terme Catholike. Beza in præf. no. Test. an. 1565. Another calleth the Cath. like religion, Catholike apostasie or defection, Humfrey in vit. Iuel. pag. 213. Yea and some haue taken the word out of the Creed, * putting Christian for it. But against these good fellowes let vs follow that which S. Augustine de vtil. cred. C. 8. to 6. giueth as a rule to direct a man the right and sure way from the diuersity and doubtfulnesse of all errour, saying, If after these troubles of minde thou seeme to thy selfe sufficiently tossed and vexed, and wilt haue an end of these molestations, follow the way of Catholike discipline, which from Christ himselfe by the Apostles hath proceeded euen vnto vs, and shall proceed from hence to the posterity. See the Annot. 1. Ti. 3. c. 15. The name of CHRISTIANS. The name of CATHOLIKS. CREDO In CLESIAM CATHOLICAM. The Protestants deride the name CATHOLIKE. In § Catechisme of the Lutherans.

FVLKE. 4 We acknowledge no names, but of Christian Catholikes. The names of Caluinists, and Lutherans, &c. are but slanders by you inuented, as the names of Athanasians, Alexandrians, Homusians, were by the Arian heretikes. Neither doe we holde our selues content with the name of Protestants, though it be not so odious, as to be called of any man, when we are the people of God and Christ. Neither did the onely calling of the olde heretiks proue them to be heretiks, but their pernicious opinions, contrary to the holy Scriptures. For Athanasians, Homusians, &c. were true Catholiks, though they were nickenamed by heretiks. The names of Dominicans, Franciscans, Iesuites, and such like, proueth them to be sectaries, because they be of their owne chusing, though they all mainteine one graund heresie of Popery: hauing also there diuers opinions, among them: and eche sect enuying other, and swelling against the other. The name of Papists, you doe not greatly mislike, because it is not the name of any one man. We might answere you the like, of the name of Protestants. But diuers heretikes, haue the name of their heresie, not of their authour, as Patripassians, Collyridians, Apostolici, Cathari, &c. But the name of Papists, is taken both of the authour of your heresie, and of the heresie it selfe. In the saying of Hierome, you omit that which is principall, Ego nullum primum nisi Christum sequens, &c. I following none chiefe, or first, but Christ, am ioyned in communion with thy blessednesse, that is with Peters chaire. While the Bishop of Rome therefore ioyned with Christ, (as then he did in the matter whereof Hierome speaketh, and in all doctrine necessary to saluation) whosoeuer gathered not with the Bishop of Rome, scattered with Antichrist. But when Liberius bishop of Rome, did by subscription openly professe Arianisme, as the same Hierom testifieth in Catal. in Fortunatian. Would Hierome thinke you, or ought any Christian man Slanders. Names. Socrates. Communion with the See of Rome.

to haue gathered with him? When Honorius taught heresie, would the Councell of Constantinople the sixt haue ioined in Communion with him? Did they not iustly accurse him, and condemne him, after he was dead? But now the Pope is not accused & conuicted of single heresie, but openly reuealed to be Antichrist himselfe. That the name of Catholikes was imposed by the Apostles, it is not proued, nor affirmed by Pacianus, but rather the contrary. For these are his words: Sed sub Apostolis &c. But thou wilt say, vnder the Apostles no man was called a Catholike, Admit it was so, yet graunt this, When after the Apostles there were heresies, and they endeuoured to rend in pieces and to diuide with diuers names the doue of God and Queene, did not the Apostolike people require their surname, whereby they might distinguish the vnity of the incorrupted people, &c. Neuertheless the name of Catholike is very ancient, and yet is not this word Catholike, the proper note in the Creed to discerne the true Church, but holy also must be added, except you will expound Catholike as Pacianus doth, for obedience vnto all the commandements of God, which includeth holinesse. But if you take the name without the meaning, it is a weake reason to discerne the true beleeuers. For though heretikes could neuer obteine to be so called by true Christians, yet haue they challenged, and commonly obteined the name of Catholikes, when they were more mighty in the world then true Catholikes, as the Arrians in the dayes of Constantius, when almost all the Bishops both of the East and the West yeelded vnto them, as Vincentius Lirinensis testifieth. Neither doeth S. Augustine say, the onely name of Catholike doth keepe him in the Church, but among many other things, that is one: as in the second place, where he ioyneth the Catholike faith with the name of Catholike, (without which as in Papists) the name of Catholike is a vaine sound, without true sense: and is not giuen to the Popish Church by her aduersaries, as it was to the true Church in S. Augustines time, but vtterly denied vnto her, although she do neuer so malepertly challenge it. And when she hath not the thing it selfe meant by the name, yet boasteth that the very name without the meaning, is a sufficient note of the true Church. Finally we beleeuing and confessing the holy Catholike Church, what can we but acknowledge our selues to be true Catholikes, and deny the Papists to be the same? Neither doth any of vs deride the name of Catholike, when it is rightly applied according to the true meaning thereof, but the vaine vsurpation of that name, in them that be nothing lesse then Christian Catholikes. Such we may well call, Pseudocatholikes, Cartholikes, Cacolikes, Catholike apostates, or any thing rather then true or holy Christian Catholikes, which they are not. But it is notoriously knowen, that the most honourable name of Christians, is in Italy and at Rome (the countrey and See of Antichrist) a name of reproch, and vsually abused to signifie a foole or a dolt, as witnesseth Christ. Franch. Coll. Iesuit. in fine. That some Lutherans haue altered the word of the Creed, & for Catholike put Christian, it is no heresie, though it be not to be allowed. Last of all, the Catholike way of discipline, proceeding from Christ by his Apostles, with S. Augustine we doe gladly follow, protesting that the Papists can neuer proue, that their heresie which they falsly call the Catholike way, did euer proceed from Christ by the Apostles, or that it preuailed in the Church, for many hundred yeres after Christ.

CHAP. XII.

Herod the first king that persecuted the Church, hauing at Hierusalem (when Barnabas and Saul were there with the collation of the Antiochians) killed Iames the Apostle, 3 and to please the Iewes imprisoned Peter with the minde to kill him also, but frustrate by an Angel sent of God at the continuall prayers of the Church made for her chiefe Pastour, 19 being puffed vp with such pride that at Caesarea he refuseth not to be honoured as God: 23 Is miraculously striken of Gods Angel. 24 And so after the persecutours death, the Churches preaching prospereth exceedingly.

Peter was not chiefe pastour of the Church of Ierusalem, where prayers was made for him, but Iames: whom in the last note, you confesse to be Bishop of Ierusalem.

AND at the same time Herod the king set his hands, to afflict certaine of the Church.

2 And hee killed Iames the brother of Iohn with the sword.

3 And seeing that it pleased the Iewes, he added to apprehend Peter also. And it was the dayes of the Azymes.

4 Whom when hee had apprehended, he cast into prison, deliuering him to ‡ foure quaternions of souldiers to be kept, meaning after the Pasche to bring him forth to the people.

5 And Peter indeed was kept in prison. But ‖ prayer was made of the Church without intermission vnto God for him.

6 And when Herod would haue brought him forth, the same night Peter was sleeping betweene two souldiers, bound with ‖ two chaines: and the keepers before the doore kept the prison.

7 And beholde an Angel of our Lord stood in presence: and light shined in the house: and striking Peters side, he raised him, saying, Arise quickely. And the chaines fell from his hands.

8 And the Angel said to him, Gird thee, and

AT the same time Herod the king stretched foorth his handes to vexe certaine of the Church.

2 And he killed Iames the brother of Iohn with the sword.

3 And because he saw it pleased the Iewes, he proceeded further, and tooke Peter also. (Then were the dayes of Sweet bread.)

4 And when he had caught him, he put him in prison also, and deliuered him to foure quaternions of souldiers to be kept, intending after Easter to bring him forth to the people.

5 And Peter was kept in prison, but prayer was made without ceasing of the Church vnto God for him.

6 And when Herod would haue brought him foorth vnto the people, the same night Peter was sleeping betweene two souldiers bound with two chaines, and the keepers before the doore kept the prison.

7 And beholde, the Angel of the Lord was there present, and a light shined in the prison: and hee smote Peter on the side, and stirred him vp, saying, Arise vp quickly. And his chaines fell off from his hands.

8 And the Angel sayd vnto him, Gird thy selfe, and put on thy ſhoes. And he did ſo. And he ſaid to him, Put thy garment about thee, and follow me.

9 And going foorth hee followed him, and hee knew not that it was true which was done by the Angel: but he thought that hee ſaw a viſion.

10 And paſſing thorow the firſt and the ſecond watch, they came to the yron gate that leadeth to the citie, which of it ſelfe opened to them. And going out, they went forward one ſtreet: and incontinent the Angel departed from him.

11 And Peter returning to himſelfe, ſaid: Now I know in very deed that our Lord hath ſent his Angel, and deliuered mee out of Herods hand, and from all the expectation of the people of the Iewes.

12 And conſidering, hee came to the ‡ houſe of Marie the mother of Iohn, who was ſurnamed Marke, where many were gathered and praying.

13 And when hee knocked at the doore of the gate, there came forth a wench to ſee, named Rhodé.

14 And as ſhe knew Peters voice, for ioy ſhe opened not the gate, but running in ſhe told that Peter ſtood before the gate.

15 But they ſayde to her, Thou art mad. But ſhe affirmed that it was ſo. But they ſaid, It is ‖ his Angel.

16 And Peter continued knocking. And when they had opened, they ſaw him, and were aſtonied.

17 And beckning with his hand to them, that they ſhould holde their peace, he tolde howe our Lord had brought him out of priſon, and hee ſaid, ‖ Tell theſe things to Iames and to the brethren. And going foorth hee went ‡ into another place.

‡ Though God had ſo miraculouſly deliuered him, yet he would not tempt God by tarying among his perſecutours, but according to Chriſts commandement fled for a time.

18 And when day was come, there was no litle adoe betweene the ſouldiers, what was become of Peter.

19 And Herod, when he had ſought him, and had not found, making inquiſition of the keepers, commanded them to be led away: and going downe from Iewrie into Cæſarea, there he abode.

20 And hee was angrie with the Tyrians and the Sidonians. But they with one accord came to him, and perſuading Blaſtus that was chiefe of the kings chamber, they deſired peace, for that their countreys were nouriſhed by him.

‡ Princes that take delight in the flatterie and praiſes of the people, ſo much that they forget themſelues to be men, and to giue the honour to God, may bee warned by this example.

21 And vpon a day appointed, Herod being arayed with kingly attire, ſate in the iudgement ſeat, and made an oration to them.

22 And the people made acclamation, The voices of a God, and not of a man.

23 And foorthwith an Angel of our Lord ‡ ſtrooke him, becauſe he had not giuen the honour ſelfe, and binde on thy ſandales. And ſo he did. And he ſaith vnto him, Caſt thy garment about thee, and follow me.

9 And Peter came out, and followed him, and wiſt not that it was trueth which was done by the Angel: but thought hee had ſeene a viſion.

10 When they were paſt the firſt and the ſecond watch, they came vnto the yron gate that leadeth vnto the city, which opened to them by the owne accord: and they went out, and paſſed thorow one ſtreet, and foorthwith the Angel departed from him.

11 And when Peter was come to himſelfe, he ſayd, Nowe I know of a ſuretie that the Lorde hath ſent his Angel, and hath deliuered me out of the hand of Herode, and from all the waiting for of the people of the Iewes.

12 And as he conſidered the thing, he came to the houſe of Marie the mother of Iohn, whoſe ſurname was Marke, where many were gathered together in prayer.

13 As Peter knocked at the entrie doore, a damoſell came foorth to hearken, named Rhoda.

14 And when ſhe knew Peters voice, ſhe opened not the doore for gladneſſe, but ranne in, and tolde how Peter ſtood before the doore.

15 And they ſayd vnto her, Thou art mad. But ſhee affirmed that it was euen ſo. Then ſayd they, It is his Angel.

16 But Peter continued knocking: and when they had opened the doore, & ſaw him, they were aſtonied.

17 And when hee had beckened vnto them with the hand that they might holde their peace, hee tolde them by what meanes the Lorde had brought him out of the priſon: And he ſayd, Goe ſhewe theſe things vnto Iames, and to the brethren. And he departed, and went into another place.

18 Nowe aſſoone as it was day, there was no little adoe among the ſouldiers, what was become of Peter.

19 And when Herode had ſought for him, and found him not, hee examined the keepers, and commanded them to be carried away. And hee deſcended from Iurie to Cæſarea, and there abode.

20 And Herode was diſpleaſed with them of Tyre and Sidon: but they came all with one accord to him, and made interceſſion vnto Blaſtus the kings chamberlaine, and deſired peace, becauſe their countrey was nouriſhed by the kings countrey.

21 And vpon the day appointed, Herod araied him in royall apparell, and ſet him in his ſeat, and made an oration vnto them.

22 And the people gaue a ſhout, ſaying, It is the voice of a God, and not of a man.

23 And immediatly the Angel of the Lorde ſmote him, becauſe hee gaue not God the honour, honour to God: and being consumed of wormes, he gaue vp the ghost.

24 But the word of our Lord increased and multiplied.

nour, and he was eaten of wormes, and gaue vp the ghost.

24 And the word of God grew, and multiplied.

25 And Barnabas and Saul returned to Hierusalem, when they had fulfilled their office, and tooke with them Iohn whose syrname was Marke.

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. XII.

RHEM. 2 4. Foure quaternions.) As Peters person was more notorious then others, and therefore better garded then other, for feare he should escape: so Gods prouidence in preseruing and deliuering him for the longer gouernment of his Church, is very marueilous.

FVLKE. 2 It cannot be gathered out of the text, that Peters person was better guarded, then the person of Iames, and least of all, in respect that he was a more notorious person, but because he was to be kept longer, by reason of the solemne feast. Peters dignitie.

RHEM. 3 12. House of Marie.) It is much for the praise of these good Christians that the assembly to Gods seruice and prayer was kept in their houses in the time of persecution, and that the Apostle came thither streight out of prison, as his first refuge, as now Christian people do much to their commendation, in places where heresie doth reigne.

FVLKE. 3 As in Rhemes, Paris, Antwerpe, Spaine, Italy, &c. For Christian religion and a Prince that maintaineth the same, (God be praised) reigneth in England, as in many other kingdomes and seignories of the world.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. XII.

RHEM. 4 5. Prayer was made.) The Church prayed incessantly for her chiefe Pastour, and was heard of God: and all Christian people are warned thereby to pray for their Bishops and Pastours in prison.

FVLKE. 4 The Church of Ierusalem prayed for Peter as a principall member of the Catholike Church, and a great Apostle of Christ, but not as chiefe Pastour of the whole Church, for that is Christ onely. 1.Pet.5 4. Peters primacie.

RHEM. 5 6. Two chaines.) These chaines are famous for miracles, and were brought from Hierusalem to Rome by Eudoxia the Empresse, wife to Theodosius the yoonger, where they were matched and placed with another chaine that the same Apostle was tied with by Nero, and a Church founded thereupon, named Petri ad vincula, where they are religiously kept and reuerenced vntill this day, and there is a Feast in the whole Church for the same, the first of August, which we call, Lammas day. S.Peters chaines.

FVLKE. 5 It is a maruell, how they were knowen from all the other prisoners chaines that were at Ierusalem & Rome, for three or foure hundred yeres, vntill Eudoxia found them. Besides this, the lessons read vpon Lammas day, in your Mattins, say, that Alexander bishop of Rome, after he had bene imprisoned by Quirinus a Romane, and was deliuered, instituted this feast, and builded this Church, where that only chaine is wherewith he was bound by Nero, knowing nothing of this translation, and building of Eudoxia.

RHEM. 15. His Angel.) If proper Angels (sayth S. Chrysostome) be deputed by our Lord to such as haue onely charge of their owne life, (as one of the iust sayd, * The Angel which hath deliuered me from my youth vpward) much more are supernall spirits at hand to helpe them vnto whom the charge and burden of the world is committed. Chrys. in laud. Pauli. ho.7 to.3. Patronage of Angels. Gen.48,16.

RHM. 6 17. Tell Iames.) He willeth them to shew this to S. Iames Bishop of Hierusalem & to the Christians, that they might see the effect of their prayers for him, and giue God thanks. for S. Iames no doubt published common prayer for S. Peter. Publike prayer for S. Peter the head.

FVLKE. 6 The Church of Ierusalem prayed for Peter, but not as for their head, for Iames was now their bishop, as you affirme your selfe. Peters primacie.

CHAP. XIII.

RHM. 1 The preachers of the Church of Antioch preparing themselues, the holy Ghost, out of them all, chuseth Saul and Barnabas. 3 They being first consecrated Bishops, 4 goe their appointed circuit ouer all the land of Cypres, the Proconsul whereof is also conuerted, seeing the miraculous execution of a Iewe by Paul. 13 Thence, into Pamphylia: 14 and Pisidia, where in Antioch Paul preacheth to the Iewes, shewing that IESVS is Christ, 38 and that in him is saluation, and not in their Law of Moyses: 40 warning them to beware of the reprobation foretold by the Prophets. 44 But the next Sabboth, they blaspheming, he in plaine termes forsaketh them, and turneth to the Gentiles. Whereat the Gentiles be as glad on the contrary side. 50 Finally the Iewes raising persecution, they forsake them, pronouncing them to be obstinate contemners. The fift part. THE taking of the Gospel away from the obstinate Iewes, and giuing of it to the Gentiles by the ministery of Paul and Barnabas.

FVLKE. 1 Paul and Barnabas were not consecrated Bishops, for they neither had dioceese nor prouince assigned them, but were sent of the holy Ghost, and were commended by the Church of Antiochia, with fasting, prayer, and imposition of hands, to the worke which God had appointed them, that is, to preach abroad in many nations, and not to remaine at Antioch.

AND there were in the Church which was at Antioch, Prophets & Doctours, among whom was Barnabas, & Simon that was called Niger, and Lucius of Cyréne, and Manahen who was the foster-brother of Herod the Tetrarch, and Saul.

*THere * was also in the Church that was at Antioch, certaine prophets and teachers: as Barnabas and Simon that was called Niger, and Lucius of Cyrene, and Manahen, which had bene nourished vp with Herod the Tetrarch, and Saul.*

2 And [c] as they were ‖ ministring to our Lord, and fasting, the holy Ghost saied: ‖ Separate me Saul & Barnabas vnto the worke, wherto I haue taken them. Prophetam.

2 As they ministred to the Lord, & fasted, the holy Ghost saied, Separate me Barnabas and Saul, for the worke whereunto I haue called them.

3 Then they fasting and praying, & imposing hands vpon them, dimissed them.

3 And when they had fasted & prayed, and layed their hands on them, they let them go.

4 And they being ‖ sent of the holy ghost, went

4 And they, after they were sent foorth of went to Seleucia, and thence ſailed to Cypres.

5 And when they were come to Salamina, they preached the word of God in the ſynagogues of the Iewes. And they had Iohn alſo in their miniſterie.

6 And when they had walked thorow out the whole iland as farre as Paphos, they found a certeine man that was a Magician, a falſe-prophet, a Iew, whoſe name was [a] Barieu. [a] Bar-ieſu,

7 Who was with the Proconſul Sergius Paulus a wiſe man. He ſending for Barnabas and Saul, deſired to heare the word of God.

8 But Elymas the magician (for ſo is his name interpreted) reſiſted them, ſeeking to auert the Proconſul from the faith.

9 But Saul, otherwiſe Paul, repleniſhed with the holy Ghoſt, looking vpon him,

10 Said: O full of all guile, and all deceit, ſonne of the deuill, enemie of all iuſtice, thou ceaſeſt not to ſubuert the right wayes of our Lord.

11 And now behold the hand of the Lord vpon thee, and thou ſhalt be blinde, not ſeeing the Sunne vntill a time. And foorthwith there fell dimneſſe and darkneſſe vpon him, and going about he ſought ſome body that would giue him his hand.

12 Then the Proconſul, when hee had ſeene that which was done, beleeued, maruelling at the doctrine of our Lord.

13 And when Paul and they that were with him had ſailed from Paphos, they came to Pergè in Pamphylia. And Iohn departing from them, returned to Hieruſalem.

14 But they paſſing thorow Pergè, came to Antioch in Piſidia: and entring into the Synagogue on the day of the Sabboths, they ſate downe.

15 And after the leſſon of the Lawe and the Prophets, the Princes of the Synagogue ſent to them, ſaying, Men brethren, if there be among you any ſermon of exhortation to the people, ſpeake.

16 And Paul riſing vp, and with his hand beckening for ſilence, ſayd, Ye men of Iſraël, and you that feare God, hearken:

17 The God of the people of Iſraël choſe our fathers, and exalted the people when

19 And deſtroying ſeuen nations in the land of Canaan, by lot he deuided their land among them,

Iud. 21 And thenceforth they deſired a king: and the holy ghoſt, departed vnto Selencia, and from thence they ſailed to Cyprus.

5 And when they were at Salamina, they preached the worde of God in the ſynagogues of the Iewes: and they had alſo Iohn to their Miniſter.

6 And when they had gone thorowe the Iſle vnto Paphos, they found a certaine ſorcerer, a falſe prophet, a Iewe, whoſe name was Barieſu:

7 Which was with the Deputie of the countrey, one Sergius Paulus, a prudent man: the ſame when he had called vnto him Barnabas & Saul, deſired to heare the word of God.

8 But Elymas the Sorcerer (for ſo is his name by interpretation) withſtood them, ſeeking to turne the Deputie away from the faith.

9 Then Saul (which alſo is called Paul) being full of the holy Ghoſt, ſet his eyes on him,

10 And ſayd, O full of all ſubtiltie & all miſchiefe, thou child of the deuill, thou enemie of all righteouſneſſe, wilt thou not ceaſe to peruert the right wayes of the Lord?

11 And now beholde, the hand of the Lord is vpon thee, and thou ſhalt bee blinde, not ſeeing the Sunne for a ſeaſon. And immediatly there fell on him a miſt and a darkeneſſe, and he went about, ſeeking them that ſhould lead him by the hand.

12 Then the Deputie, when he ſaw what was done, beleeued, and woondred at the doctrine of the Lord.

13 Now when they that were with Paul, were departed from Paphos, they came to Perga in Pamphylia: and Iohn, when hee departed from them, returned to Hieruſalem.

14 But when they departed from Perga, they came to Antioch in Piſidia, and went into the Synagogue on the Sabboth day, and ſate downe.

15 And after the reading of the Law & the Prophets, the Rulers of the Synagogue ſent vnto them, ſaying, Ye men and brethren, if ye haue any word to exhort the people, ſay on.

16 Then Paul ſtoode vp, and when hee had beckened with the hand for ſilence, ſayde, Men of Iſrael, and ye that feare God, giue audience.

THE EPISTLE vpon Tuesday in Ester weeke.

26 Men brethren, children of the stocke of Abraham, and they among you that feare God, to you the word of this saluation was sent.

27 For they that inhabited Hierusalem, and the princes thereof, not knowing him, nor the voices of the Prophets that are read euery Sabboth, iudging haue fulfilled them, 28 And finding no cause of death in him, * desired of Pilate that they might kill him.

29 And when they had consummated all things that were written of him, taking him downe from the tree, they put him in a monument.

30 But God raised him vp from the dead the third day:

31 Who was * seene for many dayes of them that came vp together with him from Galilee into Hierusalem, who vntill this present are his witnesses to the people.

32 And wee preach vnto you that promise which was made to our fathers:

33 That God hath fulfilled this same ‖ to our children, raising vp IESVS, as in the second Psalme also it is written: My sonne art thou, this day haue I begotten thee.

34 And that hee raised him vp from the dead, not to returne now any more into corruption, thus he sayd, That I will giue you the holy things of Dauid faithfull.

35 And therefore in an other place also he sayeth, Thou shalt not giue thy holy one to see corruption.

36 For Dauid in his generation when he had serued, according to the will of God slept: and he was layd to his fathers and saw corruption.

37 But he whom God hath raised vp, saw no corruption.

38 Be it knowen therefore to you, men brethren, that through him, forgiuenesse of sinnes is preached to you, from all the things from the which you could not be iustified by the law of Moyses.

c Deuout Proſelytes. 43 And when the Synagogue was dimiſſed, many of the Iewes, and of the c ſtrangers ſeruing God, followed Paul and Barnabas: who ſpeaking exhorted them to continue in the grace of God.

44 But the next Sabboth the whole citie almoſt aſſembled to heare the word of God.

45 And the Iewes ſeeing the multitudes, were repleniſhed with enuie, and contradicted thoſe things which were ſayd of Paul, blaſpheming.

46 Then Paul and Barnabas conſtantlie ſayd, To you it behooued vs firſt to ſpeake the word of God: but becauſe ‡ you repell it, and iudge your ſelues vnworthy of eternall life: beholde we turne to the Gentiles.

Eſ.46,6. 47 For ſo our Lord commaunded vs: I haue put thee to be the light of the Gentils: that thou mayeſt be ſalnation vnto the vtmoſt of the earth.

48 And the Gentils hearing it, were glad; & glorified the word of our Lord: and there beleeued as many as were preordinate to life euerlaſting.

49 And the word of our Lord was ſpread thoroweut the whole countrey.

44 And the next Sabboth day came almoſt the whole citie together to heare the worde of God.

45 But when the Iewes ſawe the people, they were full of indignation, and ſpake againſt thoſe things which were ſpoken of Paul, ſpeaking againſt, and railing.

FVLKE. 3 This is a leud ſlander, that we doe boldly turne what text we liſt, and flee from one language to another for our aduantage. For we tranſlate out of the originall tongues, though we may borrow light of other tranſlations, where any thing is ambiguous. But here the Greeke word vſed by the Euangeliſt, ſignifieth to miniſter or ſerue in any publike function, either of the Church or of the Common wealth. So doth S. Paul call the ciuill magiſtrates by a name deriued of this Verbe, or from whence this Verbe is deriued λειτουργοὶ miniſters. Rom.13 6. Therefore Slander.

fore your vulgar translatour hath better translated the participle in this place, generally ministring, then Erasmus doth, by a speciall kinde of ministring, that is sacrificing. You must first proue that the Apostles sayd Masse, before you can translate this word which signifieth generally, their ministery in their publike office, to be saying of Masse: which by the text appeareth to haue beene teaching and preaching, for that is the proper ministery of prophets and teachers: and so doth Chrysostome expound the place himselfe. Quid est Ministrantibus, &c. What is λειτουργοῦντων, ministring? preaching. In act. hom. 37. Howsoeuer Erasmus calleth Chrysostomes liturgy, Chrysostomes masse. So also sayth Oecumenius. Masse.

RHEM. 4 2. Separate me.) Though Paul were taught by God himselfe and specially designed by Christ to be an Apostle, and here chosen by the holy Ghost together with Barnabas, yet they were to be ordered, consecrated, and admitted by men. Which wholly condemneth all these new rebellious disordered spirits, that challenge and vsurpe the office of preaching and other sacred actions from heauen, without the Churches admission. Paul and Barnabas are consecrated by men. Gal. 1.

FULKE. 4 Paul was an Apostle neither of men nor by men, but immediatly from and by Iesus Christ. Gal. 1. 1. Therefore was he not ordered, consecrated, and admitted by men, but sent by the holy Ghost, with the prayers of the Church, to execute his office of Apostleship, farre abroad among the Gentiles. Yet are they to be condemned, which in these dayes vsurpe the office of preaching and other sacred functions as from heauen, without the Churches admission.

RHEM. 5 3. Fasting.) Here of the Church of God vseth and prescribeth publike fasts at the foure solemne times of giuing holy Orders (which are our Imber dayes) as a necessary preparatiue to so great a worke. as S. Leo declareth by this place, naming it also An Apostolicall tradition. See S. Leo Ser. 9 de ieiunio 7. mensis. & Calixtus ep. 1. to. 1 Conc Conc. Magunt. c. 34. 35. to. 3. And this fasting was not fasting from sinne, nor morall or Christian temperance, as the Protestants ridiculously affirme, for such fasting they were bound euer to keepe: but it was abstinence for a time from all meats or from some certaine kindes of meats, which was ioyned with prayer and sacrifice, and done specially at such seasons as the Church prescribed, of all together (as in Lent, the Imber dayes, Friday, Saturday) and not when euery man list, as Aërius and such heretiks did holde.* S. August. hær. 53. Imber dayes. * Leo ep. 81. c. 1. Epipha. in compend. Leo ser. 3. & 4. de tetiu. 7. mensis. Præscript times of fasts.

FULKE. 5 Fasting & prayer are conuenient to be vsed at such times as ministers of the Church are ordeined, and that may be rightly referred to apostolike tradition, because we find it written in the Acts of the Apostles. But your Imber dayes fasting is but a mockery of the ancient discipline of the Church. For you obserue those dayes of necessity, although there be none that take ordets in the dioceese, and at other times, when your bishops are disposed to giue orders, you vse no such preparatiues. Againe you slander vs, when you say, we do ridiculously affirme the fasting here spoken of, to be fasting from sinne, or morall and Christian temperance, which are alwayes to be obserued. For we affirme, that fasting heere signifieth abstinence from all meat and drinke, and not from flesh onely, as you do ridiculously and diuelishly practise it, and when you abstaine from fish also, yet wine, fruits, and spices, and all confections made of them, are a solemne Good-friday fast among you. Imber dayes Popish fasting. Slander.

At times appointed by the Church to fast for speciall purpose, we acknowledge it meet that all men (that for infirmity of body may) ought to abstaine: and not to contemne those times, as Aërius taught. But againe we say, that to appoint ordinary times of necessary and religious fasting without speciall cause, it was of the ancient Church accounted heresie in Montanus. Euseb. lib. 5. cap. 18. Leo ioyneth alwayes the Wednesday fast to Friday and Saturday watching. Epiphanius leaueth out the Saturday, and saith that Wednesday and Friday were appointed by the Apostles to fast on. How truely, let your Church define, which doth not obserue that tradition. As for sacrifice, Epiphanius speaketh of none, but Leo of the sacrifice of almes onely. Tradition.

RHEM. 6 3. Imposing hands.) Because all blessings and consecrations were done in the Apostles time by the externall ceremony of imposition of hands, diuers Sacraments were named of the same, specially Confirmation, as is noted before, and holy ordering or consecrating Bishops, Priests and Deacons, and Subdeacons, as we see here and elswhere. In which though there were many holy words and ceremonies and a very solemne action: yet whatsoeuer is done in those Sacraments, is altogether called Imposition of hands: as whatsoeuer was done in the whole diuine mystery of the B. Sacrament, is named* Fraction of bread. for the Apostles (as S. Denys Eccl. hier. c. 1. in fine writeth) purposely kept close in their open speeches & writings which might come to the hands or eares of Infidels, the sacred words and actions of the Sacraments. And S. Ambrose saith, in 1. Tim. c. 4. The imposition of the hand is mysticall words wherewith the elected is conformed and made apt to his function, receiuing authority (his conscience bearing witnesse) that he may be bolde in our Lords stead to offer sacrifice to God. And S. Hierom, The imposition of hand is the Ordering of Clerks, which is done by prayer of the voice, and imposition of the hand. And this is in some inferiour orders also, but Paul and Barnabas were ordered to a higher function then inferiour Priests, euen to be Bishops thorowout all Nations. Imposition of hands. Holy orders, * Act. 2. 42, Hierom. in c. 58. Esa.

FULKE. 6 There are no Sacraments named of imposition of hands, neither do we see here any ordering or consecrating of bishops, priests, deacons, or subdeacons, neither any ordering of subdeacons, any where els in the Scriptures. And although in the ordeining of ministers of the Church, bishops, elders or deacons, which was with the ceremony of imposition of hands, there were vsed longer formes of prayer then be expressed in the Scriptures, yet the substance and matter of them is conteined and expressed in the Scriptures. Neither must we imagine that all those Popish ceremonies which they vsed in ordeining their Clerks, haue bene vsed by the Apostles, because all the words of their prayer is not expressed. For they are such as were neuer vniuersally obserued in all Churches, yea many of them were neuer heard of in the Primitiue church for many hundred yeeres after Christ. That the blessed Sacrament is called Fraction of bread, you haue not yet proued, but if it be granted vnto you, there is no reason you should exclude the Cup, which is commanded by Christ, because bread onely is named, seeing you alledge it now to proue that such things were vsed in ordering of ministers as the Scripture neuer mentioneth, although only imposing of hands be named. And seeing the sacred words and actions of Baptisme and the Lords supper are published by the Apostles in their open writings, it is a vaine excuse to say, they kept any such things close from the hands or eares of infidels. And if it were a good reason, that the Apostles should keepe such things close, by what authoritie did Dionysius disclose them? Although in truetli the words of Dionysius import not so much, but that the signes were left by the Apostles, partly in writing, and partly without writing, not onely in respect of prophane men, which may not meddle with them: but also because our hierarchy is conteined in signes, hauing need of sensible things to bring vs to a more diuine vnderstanding of things intelligible. So that in truetli he giueth no reason why the Apostles would not write these things, but for what cause they deliuered them, either by writing or without writing. S. Ambrose speaketh not of offering Christ in sacrifice at the Masse, for then he would not haue sayd, Vice Domini, In our Lords place or stead, but that he may be bolde to offer vp Christ himselfe in sacrifice to his Father. But alluding to the maner of sacrificing in the olde Law, he nameth all parts of his office, as prayer, preaching, and ministration of the Sacraments, sacrifice. For hee vseth the name of sacrifice for any seruice that we offer to God, as De virgin. lib. 1. Virgo matris The Popish sacrament of Orders. Communion of the Cup. Tradition of the Apostles vnwritten. Sacrifice of the Masse.

hostia est, cuius quotidiano sacrificio vis diuina placatur. A virgin is the host or oblation of her mother, by whose dayly sacrifice God is pleased. But of the offering of Christ in the celebration of the supper, how it was he declareth offic. li. 1. cap 48. Ante agnus offerebatur &c. Before a lambe was offered, a calfe was offered, now Christ is offered, but he is offered as a man, receiuing passion, and he offereth himselfe as a priest, that he may forgiue our sinnes: here in an image, there in truth: where he maketh intercession for vs, as an aduocate with the Father. Therfore he meaneth that Christ is not truly offered, but in an image or commemoration. Hierom saith the ordination of Clerks is accomplished not onely by words of prayer, but also by imposition of hands: but that you say is in some inferiour orders, where Paul and Barnabas were ordeined to be bishops thorowout all nations. This is new doctrine without all testimony of antiquitie, that the Apostles were made bishops, and that thorowout all nations, and ordered by their inferiours, Simon, Lucius, and Manahen, whereof you are not able to proue that any of them was a bishop. For by your owne stories and report, Peter was bishop now of Antioch. Wherefore, as Chrysostome and Oecumenius write, these Apostles were sent out ad apostolatum, to exercise their function of apostleship, and not ordeined bishops. For all authority of inferiour ministers of the Church was in the Apostles by their apostleship, so that they needed not to be made bishops or priests by other that were of inferiour place and degree in the Church.

RHEM. 4. Sent of the holy Ghost.) Whosoeuer be sent by the Church, are sent of the holy Ghost, though in such an extraordinarie sort it be done. Whereby we see how farre the Officers of our soules in the Church doe passe the temporall Magistrates, who though they be of Gods ordinance, yet not of the holy Ghosts speciall calling. Spirituall offices of our soules.

CHAP. XIIII.

Next in Iconium they preach, where many being conuerted of both sorts, the obstinate Iewes raise persecution. 6 Then in the townes of Lycaonia, where the Heathen first seeing that Paul had healed one borne lame, are hardly perswaded but they are Gods. 18 but afterward by the instigation of the malitious Iewes, they stone Paul, leauing him for dead. 20 And so hauing done their circuit, they returne the same way confirming the Christians, and making Priests for euery Church. 25 And being come home to Antioche in Syria, they report all to the Church there.

AND it came to passe at Iconium that they entred together into the synagogue of the Iewes, and so spake, that a very great multitude of Iewes and of the Greekes did beleeue.

2 But the Iewes that were incredulous, stirred vp & incensed the hearts of the Gentils to anger against the brethren.

3 A long time therfore they abode, dealing confidently in our Lord, who gaue testimonie to the word of his grace, granting signes & wonders to be done by their hands.

4 And the multitude of the citie was diuided: and certaine of them in deede were with the Iewes, but certaine with the Apostles.

5 And when the Gentiles and the Iewes with their princes had made an assault to vse them contumeliously, and to stone them,

6 Vnderstanding it, they fled to the cities of Licaónia, Listra and Derbe, and the whole countrie about, and there they were euangelizing.

7 And a certaine man at Listra impotent of his feete sat there, lame from his mothers wombe, that neuer had walked.

8 This same heard Paul speaking. Who looking vpon him, and seeing that he had faith for to be saued, 9 He sayed with a loud voice, Stand vp right on thy feet. And he leaped and walked.

10 And the multitudes when they had seene what Paul had done, lifted vp their voice in the Lycaónian tongue, saying, Gods made like to men, are descended to vs.

11 And they called Barnabas, Iupiter: but Paul, Mercurie, because he was the chiefe speaker.

[c] Διὸς τῆ ὄντος. 12 The Priest also of [c] Iupiter that was before the citie, bringing oxen and garlands before the gates, would with the people ‖ sacrifice.

13 Which

AND it came to passe in Iconium, that they went both together into the Synagogue of the Iewes, & so spake, that a great multitude both of the Iewes, and also of the Greeks beleeued.

2 But the vnbeleeuing Iewes stirred vp, and corrupted the mindes of the Gentiles against the brethren.

3 Long time therefore abode they there, speaking boldly with the helpe of the Lord, which gaue testimonie vnto the word of his grace, and granted signes and woonders to be done by their hands.

4 But the multitude of the citie was diuided: and part held with the Iewes, and part with the Apostles.

5 And when there was an assault made both of the Gentiles, and also of the Iewes, with their rulers, to doe them violence, and to stone them,

6 They were ware of it, & fled vnto Lystra and Derbe, cities of Lycaonia, and vnto the region that lieth round about.

7 And there were they preaching the Gospel.

8 And there sat a certaine man at Lystra, weake in his feet, being a creeple from his mothers wombe, and neuer had walked.

9 The same heard Paul speake: which beholding him, and perceiuing that he had faith to be whole,

10 Said with a loud voice, Stand vp right on thy feet: And he start vp, and walked.

11 And when the people saw what Paul had done, they lifted vp their voices, saying in the speech of Lycaonia, The gods are come downe to vs in the likenesse of men.

12 And they called Barnabas Iupiter, and Paul Mercurius, because hee was the chiefe speaker.

13 Then Iupiters Priest, which was before their city, brought oxen, and garlands vnto the dore, & would haue done sacrifice with the people.

14 Which

13 Which thing when the Apostles Barnabas and Paul heard, renting their coates, they leaped foorth into the multitudes crying

14 And saying, Yee men, why doe you these things? Wee also are mortal, men like vnto you, preaching to you for to conuert from these vaine things, to the liuing God that made the heauen, and the earth, and the sea, and al things that are in them:

15 Who in the generations past suffred al the Gentils to goe their owne waies.

‡ The Heathen might by the daily benefites of God haue known him at the least to haue bene their Creatour and onely Lord, though the mysterie of our Redemption were not opened to them.

16 Howbeit he left not him selfe ‡ without testimonie, being beneficiall from heauen, giuing raines, and fruitefull seasons, filling our hartes with food and gladnes.

17 And speaking these things, they scarse appeased the multitudes from sacrificing to them.

18 But there came in certaine Iewes from Antioche and Icónium: and perswading the multitudes, and *stoning Paul, they drew him out of the citie, thinking him to be dead.

*2.Cor.11.25.

19 But the disciples cõpassing him round about, he rising vp, entred into the citie, and the next day he went foorth with Barnabas vnto Derbe.

20 And when they had euangelized to that citie, & had taught many, they returned to Lystra and Icónium, and to Antioche:

21 Confirming the harts of the disciples, and exhorting them to continue in the faith, and that by many tribulations we must enter into the kingdom of God.

22 And when ‡ they ‖ had ordained to them ‖ Priests in euery Church, and had praied with fastings, they commended them to our Lord in whom they beleeued.

23 And passing through Pisidia, they came into Pamphylia,

24 And speaking the word of our Lord in Pergé, they went downe into Attalia:

25 And from thence they sailed to Antioche, * whence they had been deliuered to the grace of God vnto the worke which they accomplished.

*Acts.13.4.

26 And when they were come, and had assembled the Church, they reported what great things God had done with them, and that hee had opened a doore of faith to the Gentils.

27 And they abode no litle time with the disciples.

14 Which when the Apostles, Barnabas and Paul heard of, they rent their clothes, and ranne in among the people, crying

*15 And saying, Sirs, Why doye these things? We also are mortall men like vnto you, & preach vnto you the Gospel, that yee should turne from these vanities, vnto the liuing God, * which made heauen and earth, and the sea, and all things that are therein.*

Gene.1.1. psal.146.6. apoc.14.7.

Psal.81.13.

17 Neuertheless, he left not himselfe without witnesse, in that hee shewed his benefits from heauen, in giuing vs raine, and fruitfull seasons, filling our hearts with food and gladnesse.

18 And with these sayings scarse refrained they the people, that they had not done sacrifice vnto them.

*19 Then thither came certaine Iewes from Antioche and Iconium, which when they had perswaded the people, * and had stoned Paule, drew him out of the citie, supposing hee had bene dead.*

2.Cor.11.25.

20 Howbeit, when the disciples stoode round about him, hee rose vp, and came into the citie, and the next day he departed, with Barnabas to Derbe.

21 And when they had preached the Gospel to that citie, and had taught many, they returned againe to Lystra, and to Iconium, and Antioche,

22 And strengthened the disciples soules againe, and exhorted them to continue in the faith, and that we must through much tribulation enter into the kingdome of God.

23 And when they had ordeined them Elders by election in euery Church, and had prayed with fasting, they commended them to the Lord, on whom they beleeued.

24 And when they had gone throughout Pisidia, they came to Pamphylia.

25 And when they had spoken the worde of God in Perga, they descended into Attalia,

26 And thence departed by shippe to Antioche, from whence they were committed vnto the grace of God, to the woorke which they fulfilled.

27 And when they were come, and had gathered the Church together, they rehearsed all that God had done with them, and how he had opened the doore of faith vnto the Gentiles.

28 And there they abode long time with the disciples.

MARGINAL NOTES. CHAP. XIIII.

RHEM. 1 22. They had ordeined.) We see by this, first that SS. Paul and Barnabas were Bishops, hauing here authoritie to giue holy Orders: secondly, that there was euen then a difference betwixt Bishops and Priestes, though the name in the primitiue Church was often vsed indifferently: lastly, that alwayes fasting and praying were preparatiues to the giuing of holy Orders.

VLKE. 1 Euery one of the Apostles had the chiefe auctoritie in gouernment of the Church, but the perpetual order of the Church for externall gouernment and difference of gouernours, is better learned out of other places then this, 1.Corinth.12.28.

ANNO.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. XIIII.

RHEM. 2 12. They would ſacrifice.) This loe is the diuine worſhip, conſiſting in external ſacrifice, and in acknowledging the parties worſhipped to be gods: which may be done to no man nor creature, and therefore the Apoſtles refuſe it with al poſſible diligence, and al the Angels and Saincts in heauen refuſe that adoration by ſacrifice. The Catholike Church ſuffereth no Prieſt nor other ſo to worſhip any Saincte in heauen or earth. She hath but one external Sacrifice, which is in the holy Maſſe, of Chriſts body and bloud: that ſhe offereth to God alone, and* neither to Peter nor to Paul (ſaith S. Auguſtine) though the Prieſt that ſacrificeth, ſtandeth ouer their bodies, and offereth in their memories. But other kinds of honours and dueties, inferior without al compariſon (how great ſo euer they be) to this, we doe, as the Scripture, and Nature teach vs, to al ſuperiors in heauen and earth. according to the degrees of grace, honour, and bleſſednes that God hath called them vnto, from our B. Ladie Chriſts owne mother, to the leaſt ſeruant hee hath in the world. for which the Heretikes would neuer accuſe Chriſtian people of Idolatrie, if they had either grace, learning, faith, or natural affection.

Dulia. Aug. li. 8. de Ciu. c. 27.

FVLKE. 2 Not onely ſacrifice, but all religious ſeruice is due only to God. Matth. 4. 10. Cornelius would not haue worſhipped Peter as God, nor Iohn the Angel as God. Yet the religious worſhip of both is forbidden: of Peter, becauſe he was a man, to whom no religious honour is due: of the Angel, becauſe he was a fellow ſeruant, to whom no religious worſhip apperteineth but vnto God, to whom onely the Angel willeth Iohn to bow with religious affection. Acts 10. 26. Apoc. 22. 9. And ſeeing you confeſſe ſacrifice to be due onely to God, and prayer is a ſacrifice Pſ. 141. 2. and a contrite heart is a ſacrifice to God. Pſal. 51. 19. And praiſe and thankgiuing is more acceptable to God, then the ſacrifice of a bullocke, that hath hornes and hooues, Pſ. 69. 32. 33 it followeth, that none of theſe is to be offred to any creature. And it is moſt brutiſh ignorance, to thinke that ſpirituall or internall ſacrifice of mens ſoules, may be offered to creatures, to whom it is vnlawfull to offer externall ſacrifice of oxen and garlands. But the onely externall ſacrifice of the Church, you ſay, is the ſacrifice of the Maſſe, of which you haue not one worde in the holy Scriptures. The worſhip or honour due to creatures for Gods ſake, is ciuill not religious, of charitie not of religion. The Saincts and Martyrs (ſaith S. Auguſtine honorandi,) are to be honoured for imitation, not to be worſhipped for religion. Againe, We honour them with charitie, (non ſeruitute,) not with ſeruice, (which in Greeke is called Doulia.) Neither doe we build temples vnto them, for they will not be ſo honoured of vs, becauſe they know, that we when we are good, are temples of the higheſt God. De vera religione Cap. 55, And therefore if Papiſts had any feare of God, or ſhame of the world, they would not defend ſuch groſſe idolatrie as they doe, euen for all their diſtinction, giuing the ſeruice which they call Latria, not onely to God, but to Images, and to the Croſſe, as it is manifeſt by *Conc. Nic. 2. Act. 4. Thomas in 3 ſent. Diſt. 2. Marcel arch. Sacrifice of the Maſſe.

RHEM. 3 22. Had ordained.) The Heretikes, to make the world beleeue that al Prieſtes ought to be choſen by the voyces of the people, and that they neede no other Ordering or Conſecration by Biſhops, preſſing the profane vſe of the Greeke worde more then the very naturall ſignification requireth and Eccleſiaſtical vſe beareth, tranſlate thus,* Ordained by election. Whereas in deede this word in Scripture ſignifieth, Ordering by impoſition of hands, as is plaine by other wordes equiualent, Acts. 6, 13. 1. And this to be the Eccleſiaſtical vſe of the word, appeareth by S. Hierome ſaying (as is before alleaged) that* χειροτονία is the Ordering of Clerks or Clergie men by prayer of voice and impoſition of hands.

χειροτονία. Heretical tranſlation againſt holy order. Orders of χειροτονία. Hieron. ad Lu.

FVLKE. 3 Our Tranſlation is true, ordeined by election, and anſwereth the Greeke word, which we tranſlate: not excluding the impoſition of hands by the Apoſtles, as you doe vainely charge vs, but comprehending both that election by the Church, and the ordination by impoſition of hands of the Apoſtles. And although the Miniſters of the Church were choſen in ancient time, by voyces of the Chriſtian people, concurring with the election of the Clergie and gouernours of the Church, yet we doe not hold, that it is of the ſubſtance of their calling, to be choſen by voyces of the people, but onely, (as the Apoſtle ſaith,) that they muſt haue a good teſtimonie of all men, at the leaſt, that they cannot be iuſtly conuinced by any man. 1. Tim. 3. 7. Tit. 1. 7.

Slander,

RHEM. 4 22. Prieſtes.) Euen ſo here alſo, as before, fleeing from the proper, apt, knowen word, and which is moſt preciſely correſpondent to the very Greeke in our tongue and al nations, they tranſlate for Prieſt, Elder, that is, for a calling of Office, a word of age: for a terme of art and by conſent of al the Church and Apoſtolike authoritie and Fathers, appropriated to holy Order, a vulgar, common, and profane terme: With as litle grace, as if they ſhould tranſlate Pontificem, a bridgemaker, the Maior of London, the Bigger of London. And thus you ſee within three wordes compaſſe they flee guilefully from the Latin to the Greeke, and againe guilefully from the Greeke to the vulgar Engliſh. Such corruption of Scriptures their hatred of Prieſthod driueth them vnto. If they had tranſlated it ſo when the Scriptures were firſt written, (at which time the word was but newly receiued into the ſpecial and Eccleſiaſtical ſignification, and when it was yet taken ſometimes in common profane ſort, as 1. Tim. 5. or there onely where our auncient Latin verſion turneth Presbyter into Senior, becauſe the word was not yet wholy and onely appropriated to holy Orders, as afterward by vſe of many hundred yeeres it was and is) their dealing might haue had ſome colour of honeſtie and plaineſſe, which now can not bee but of plaine falſhod and corruption, and that of further purpoſe then the ſimple can ſee. Which is to take away the office of Sacrificing and other functions of Prieſtes, proper in the newe Teſtament to ſuch as the Apoſtles often, and the poſteritie in maner altogether call Prieſtes, Presbyteros. Which word doeth ſo certainely imply the authoritie of ſacrificing, that it is by vſe made alſo the onely Engliſh of Sacerdos, the Aduerſaries themſelues as wel as we, ſo tranſlating is in al the old and newe Teſtament: though they can not be ignorant that Prieſt commeth of Presbyter, and not of Sacerdos: and that antiquitie for no other cauſe applied the ſignification of Presbyter to Sacerdos, but to ſhew that Presbyter is in the new Law, that which Sacerdos was in the olde: the Apoſtles abſtaining from this and other like old names at the firſt, and rather vſing the wordes, Biſhops, Paſtors, and Prieſtes, becauſe they might bee diſtinguiſhed from the Gouernours and ſacrificers of Aarons order, who as yet in the Apoſtles time did their old functions ſtil in the Temple. And this to be true, and that to be a Prieſt, is to be a man appointed to ſacrifice, the Heretikes themſelues calling Sacerdos alwayes a Prieſt, muſt needes be driuen to confeſſe. Although their follie is therein notorious, to apply willingly the worde Prieſt to Sacerdos, and to take it from Presbyter whereof it is properly deriued, not onely in Engliſh, but in other languages both French and Italian. Which is to take away the name that the Apoſtles and Fathers gaue to the Prieſts of the Church, and to giue it wholy and onely to the order of Aaron, which neuer had it before our Prieſthod began. Neuer did there Heretikes ſtand ſo much vpon doubtful deriuations and deſcant of wordes as theſe Proteſtants do, and yet neuer men behaued them ſelues more fondly in the ſame: as whoſoeuer marketh the diſtinction of their Elders, Miniſters, Deacons, and ſuch like, ſhal perceiue.

If Sacerdos were Prieſt, much more Presbyter.

Presbyter. Prieſt. Prebſtre. Preti.

FVLKE. 4 The cauſe why we auoid the name of Prieſts, is becauſe it is by common vſe taken, to ſignifie Prieſts of the Law, whoſe name is neuer in the new Teſtament giuen to Miniſters of the Church: yet is our tranſlation true, and proper to the Greeke worde, which ſignifieth Elders, and therefore of your owne vulgar Interpreter, is often tranſlated Seniores, and of you Ancients, not ſo properly, as of vs Elders, though both be wordes of age. For both

both the Latine and Greeke signifie with comparison, as wee haue translated Elders, but your terme Ancients, is without comparison, as though the Latine were Senes. As for the name Priest, as it is deriued of the Greeke word, we doe not refuse it, but rather wish, that the sacrifices of the Law, had neuer bene called by it. But seeing we are not Lords of mens speach, wee yeeld vnto common vse, to call them Priestes, and translate the Greeke words according to the true etymologie thereof, without all colour of falshood or corruption. For if you translated it alwayes Priests, (as you doe not,) it were a vaine argument to proue your Priestes to be sacrificers, because the sacrificers of the Law are vnproperly so called Priestes. Many in deede of the ancient Fathers, confound the names of Sacerdos and Presbyter, wherein as they are not to bee commended, because they obserue not that distinction of the names which you confesse was alwayes obserued of the Apostles: so can you not proue, that they did it as you say, for none other cause, but to shew that Presbyter in the new law, is the same in sacrificing or in euery other respect that Sacerdos was in the old Law: For there are many things common to both, as publike teaching, praying, and administring of the Sacraments: but offring the sacrifice, was peculiar vnto them, and receiued an ende in the sacrifice of our Sauiour Christ, offered by him once for all. Therefore here is nothing but vaine wrangling and contention for wordes and termes, with impudent slandering vs of corruption, for translating as your owne vulgar Interpreter often doeth: which yet is Catholike in him, and heretical corruption in vs. Of this quarrel you may see at large in my defense of our English translations. 11 But by the grace of our Lord IESVS CHRIST

*AND certaine men which came downe from Iurie, taught the brethren, and said, Except ye be circumcised after the maner of Moses, ye cannot be saued. Galat.5.2.

2 So when there was risen dissention and disputing not a little vnto Paul and Barnabas against them, they determined that Paul and Barnabas, and certaine other of them, should goe vp to Hierusalem vnto the Apostles and Elders, about this question.

3 And after they were brought on their way by the Church, they passed thorow Phœnice and Samaria, declaring the conuersion of the Gentiles: and they brought great ioy vnto all the brethren.

4 And when they were come to Hierusalem, they were receiued of the Church, and of the Apostles, and Elders, and they declared all things that God had done with them.

5 Then rose vp certaine of the sect of the Pharisees which did beleeue, saying, that it was needfull to circumcise them, and to commaund to keepe the Law of Moses.

6 And the Apostles and Elders came together for to consider of this matter.

7 *And when there had bene much disputing, Peter rose vp and said vnto them, Ye men and brethren, ye know how that a good while agoe, God did choose among vs, that the Gentiles by my mouth should heare the word of the Gospel, and beleeue. Acts.10.30. and 11.13.

8 And God, which knoweth the hearts, bare them witnesse, and gaue vnto them the holy Ghost, euen as he did vnto vs:

9 And put no difference betweene vs and them, purifying their hearts by faith.* Acts.10.43. 1.cor.1.1. matth.23.4.

10 Now therefore why tempt ye God, to put on the disciples neckes the yoke, which neither our fathers nor we were able to beare?

11 But we beleeue that through the grace of the

the

CHRIST we beleeue to be ſaued, in like maner as they alſo.

12 And al the multitude held their peace: and they heard Barnabas and Paul telling what great ſignes & wonders God had done among the Gentiles by them.

13 And after they helde their peace, ‖ Iames anſwered, ſaying, Men brethren, heare mee.

14 Simon hath tolde how God firſt viſited to take of the Gentiles a people to his Name.

15 And to this accord the wordes of the prophets, as it is written:

Amos 9.11. 16 After theſe things I will returne, and will reedifie the tabernacle of Dauid which was fallen, and the ruines thereof I will reedifie, and ſet it vp:

17 That the reſidue of men may ſeeke after the Lorde, and all nations vpon whom my name is inuocated, ſaith the Lorde that doeth theſe things.

18 To our Lorde was his owne worke knowen from the beginning of the world.

19 For the which cauſe I ‖ iudge, that they which of the Gentiles are conuerted to God, are not to be diſquieted, 20 But to write vnto them that they refraine themſelues from the contaminations of Idols, and ‖ fornication, and ſtrangled things, and bloud.

21 For Moyſes of old times hath in euery citie them that preach him in the ſynagogs, where he is read euery Sabboth.

22 Then it pleaſed the Apoſtles and Ancients with the whole Church, to choſe men out of them, and to ſende to Antioche with Paul and Barnabas, Iudas, who was ſurnamed Barſabas, and Silas, cheefe men among the brethren, e Other Latin copies and the Greeke read thus: Writing by their hands an epiſtle conteining theſe things.

23 e Writing by their handes. The Apoſtles and Auncients, the brethren, to the brethren of the Gentiles that are at Antioche and in Syria and Cilicia, greeting.

24 Becauſe wee haue heard that certaine ‖ going forth from vs, haue troubled you with wordes, ſubuerting your ſoules, to whom we gaue no commandement:

25 It hath pleaſed vs being gathered in one, to choſe out men and to ſende them vnto you with our deereſt Barnabas and Paul,

26 Men that haue giuen their liues for the name of our Lord IESVS CHRIST:

27 We haue ſent therefore Iudas and Silas, who them ſelues alſo wil in words report vnto you the ſame things.

28 For it hath ſeemed good ‖ to the holy Ghoſt and to vs, to lay no further burden vpon you then theſe neceſſarie things:

29 That you abſteine from the things immolated to Idols, and bloud, and that which is ſtrangled, and fornication, from the which things the Lord Ieſus Chriſt, wee ſhalbe ſaued, euen as they.

12 Then all the multitude kept ſilence, and gaue audience to Barnabas and Paul, which told what ſignes and wonders God had ſhewed among the Gentiles by them.

13 And when they helde their peace, Iames anſwered, ſaying, Men and brethren, hearken vnto me.

14 Simeon tolde howe God at the beginning did viſite, to receiue of the Gentiles a people in his Name.

15 And to this agree the wordes of the Prophets, as it is written,

*16 * After this I will returne, and will build againe the tabernacle of Dauid, which is fallen downe: and that which is fallen in decay of it, will I build againe, and I will ſet it vp:* Amos 9.11.

17 That the reſidue of men might ſeeke after the Lord, and all the Gentiles vpon whom my Name is called, ſaith the Lorde, which doeth all theſe things.

18 Knowen vnto God are all his workes from the beginning of the world.

19 Wherefore my ſentence is, that wee trouble not them, which from among the Gentiles are turned to God:

20 But that wee write vnto them, that they abſtaine themſelues from filthines of Idoles, and from fornication, and from ſtrangled, and from blood.

21 For Moſes of olde time hath in euery city them that preach him in the ſynagogues, when he is read euery Sabboth day.

22 Then pleaſed it the Apoſtles and Elders, with the whole Church, to ſende choſen men of their owne company to Antiocha, with Paul and Barnabas: That is, Iudas, whoſe ſurname was Barſabas, and Silas, which were chiefe men among the brethren, 23 And wrote letters by them after this maner. The Apoſtles, and Elders, and brethren, ſend greeting vnto the brethren, which are of the Gentiles in Antiochia, Syria, and Cilicia.

24 For as much as wee haue heard that certaine which departed from vs, haue troubled you with wordes, and cumbred your minds, ſaying, Ye muſt be circumciſed, and keep the Law, to whom we gaue no ſuch commandement:

25 It ſeemed therefore to vs a good thing, when we were come together with one accord, to ſend choſen men vnto you, with our beloued Barnabas and Paul,

26 Men that haue ieoparded their liues for the Name of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt.

27 Wee haue ſent therefore Iudas and Silas, which ſhall alſo tel you the ſame things by mouth.

28 For it ſeemed good to the holy Ghoſt and to vs, to lay vpon you no greater burden then theſe neceſſary things.

29 That is to ſay, That yee abſteine from things offered to idoles, and from blood, and from ſtrangled, things keeping your selues, you shal do wel. Fare ye wel.

30 They therefore being dimissed went downe to Antioche: and gathering the multitude, deliuered the epistle.

31 Which when they had read, they ‖ reioyced vpon the consolation:

32 But Iudas and Silas, them Selues also being prophets, with many wordes comforted the brethren, and confirmed them.

33 And hauing spent some time there, they were with peace dimissed of the brethren vnto them that had sent them.

34 But it seemed good vnto Silas to remaine there: and Iudas departed alone:

35 And Paul and Barnabas taried at Antioche, teaching and euangelizing with many others the word of our Lord.

36 And after certaine dayes, Paul said to Barnabas, Let vs returne and ‡ visite our brethren in al cities wherein we *haue preached Act.13,14. the word of our Lord, how they doe.

37 And Barnabas would haue taken with them Iohn also that was surnamed Marke.

Act.13,13. 38 But Paul desired that he (as who * had departed from them out of Pamphylia, and had not gone with them to the worke) might not be receiued.

39 And there rose a ‖ dissention, so that they departed one from an other, and that Barnabas in deede taking Marke sailed to Cypres.

40 But Paul chosing Silas departed, being deliuered of the brethren to the grace of God.

41 And he walked through Syria and Cilicia, confirming the Churches: ‡ commanding them to keepe the præcepts of the Apostles and the Auncients.

strangled, and from fornication: from which if ye keepe your selues, ye shall doe well. So fare yee well.

30 Nowe therefore, when they were departed, they came to Antioche: and when they had gathered the multitude together, they deliuered the Epistle.

31 Which when they had read, they reioyced of the consolation.

32 And Iudas and Silas, being Prophets also them selues, exhorted the brethren with many wordes, and strengthened them:

33 And after they had taried there a space, they were let go in peace of the brethren vnto the Apostles.

34 Notwithstanding, it pleased Silas to abide there still.

35 Paul also and Barnabas continued in Antioche, teaching and preaching the word of the Lord, with other many also.

36 But after a certaine space, Paul said vnto Barnabas, Let vs goe againe and visite our brethren in euery citie where wee haue vttered the worde of the Lorde, and knowe and see howe they doe.

37 And Barnabas gaue counsel to take with them Iohn, whose surname was Marke.

38 But Paul would not take him vnto their company, which departed from them from Pamphylia, and went not with them to the worke.

39 And the contention was so sharpe betweene them, that they departed asunder one from the other: and so Barnabas tooke Marke, and sailed vnto Cypres.

40 And Paul chose Silas, and departed, being committed of the brethren vnto the grace of God.

41 And he went thorow Syria and Cilicia, stablishing the Churches.

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. XV.

RHEM. 2 36. Visite our brethren.) Hereof our Catholike Bishops tooke vp the necessary vse of often visiting their flockes and cures committed to their charge, for confirmation in faith and vertue, and reformation of maners both of cleargie and laitie.

FVLKE. 2 It is to be feared, and it hath bene often complained of, among Papists themselues, that Popish Bishops haue visited oftener for a fleece, then for the benefite of their flocke. And when their meaning was best, they were farre from the doctrine, and therefore from the example of the Apostles. Popish visitations.

RHEM. 3 41. Commaunding them.) Not onely the things commaunded by Christes expresse word, or written in the Scriptures (as our Heretikes holde) but whatsoeuer the Apostles and Rulers of the Church commaund, is to bee kept and obeyed. See these wordes repeated againe cap. 16, 4. and that in the Greeke, left any man cauil, because here the Greeke hath them not.

FVLKE. 3 All things necessary to saluation, are expressed in the holy Scriptures, yet other things not particularly expressed, but agreeable to the generall rules of Scriptures, being commaunded by the lawfull gouernours of the Church, for order, comelinesse, and charities sake, are to be obserued and kept, though not as things necessary to saluation. For no mortall men haue auctoritie to commaund any such things, which are not expressed in the holy Scriptures that are able to make vs wise vnto saluation by faith in Christ, 2. Tim. 3. 15. The sufficiencie of the Scripture.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. XV.

RHEM. 4 1. Appointed.) We learne by this example, what is to be done when any controuersie ariseth in religion betweene the teachers or other Christian people. We see it is not ynough to contend by allegations of Scriptures or other proofes seeming to make for either part: for so of contentious part taking there should be no ende, but the more writing, wrestling, striuing there were, euery one for his owne fancie, cloking it with the title of Gods word and Scripture, the more Schismes, Sectes, and diuisions would fall, as we see specially in the restles Heresies of our time. Whose fautors admitting no iudges, stand to no triall of mortall men, to no tribunall of Pope, Councels, Bishops, Synodes, but eche man to his owne phantasticall spirite, his owne sense of Scriptures, and his owne wilful obdurate rebellion against Gods Church and his Superiors in the same. But here we see S. Paul and Barnabas, men that were Apostles and ful of the Spirit of God, and the other parties, though neuer so much partial to the ceremonies of their Law by their former long vse and education therein, yet not to stand stiffy to their owne opinion on either side, The way to end dissension in religion, is to commit it to a Councel.

side, but to condescend to referre the whole controuersie and the determination thereof to the Apostles, Priests, or Auncients of Hierusalem, that is to say, to commit the matter to be tried by the heads and Bishops and their determination in Counce. This is Gods holy and wise prouidence among other iudgements in his Church, to keepe the Christian people in trueth & vnitie, and to condemne sectes and false teachers and troublers of the Church. By which iudgements and order, whosoeuer will not or dare not be tried in all their doctrine and doings, they shew them selues to mistrast their owne cause, and to flee from the light, and ordinance of God. Without which order of appeasing all differences in faith and constructions of the Scriptures, the Church had bene more defectuall and insufficient, then any Common wealth or Societie of men in the world: none of which euer wanteth good meanes to decide all disorders and dissension arising among the subiects and citizens of the same.

FVLKE. 4 Wee acknowledge there is great vse of godly Councels both generall and prouinciall, for deciding of controuersies by the Scriptures, and we doe willingly submit our selues to be ordered by them, so that all controuersies may be determined as this was, by the word of God written. But that the Pope and his Clergie, who are the parties accused by vs of Heresie, should be the only iudges, it is against all equitie and reason. Not we therefore, but the Pope and the Papists, refuse the trial by a generall and free Councell, to be gathered of the chiefe learned Bishops and pastors out of all Christendome, if it might be, or of a free nationall Councell out of all Europe, which hath often bene required of vs, but neuer yeelded vnto by the Papists, who will bee the onely iudges in their owne cause, as in their late Chapter of Trent, or els they will acknowledge no Councel. Councels. The Pope is no competent iudge.

RHEM. 5 6. Apostles and Auncients.) The Heresies of our Protestants which would haue all men to giue voyce, or to be present in Councels, and of others that would haue none but the holy or elect to be admitted, are refuted by this example, where we see none but Apostles, and Priestes, or Auncients assembled to dispute of the matter, though many deuoute people were in the citie the same time. Neither did euer any other in the Auncient Councels of the Church assemble to debate and define the matter, but such, though many other for other causes be euer present. Secular men or women, be their gifts neuer so great, cannot be iudges in causes of faith and religion. If any thing, saith God, be hard and doubtfull, thou shalt come to the Priestes of the Leuitical stocke, and thou shalt follow their sentence. Againe, The lippes of the Priest shall keepe knowledge, and the Lawe thou shalt require of his mouth. Againe, Aske the Lawe of the Priest. Much more must wee referre all to our Bishops and Pastors, whom God hath placed in the regiment of the Church with much larger priuilege, then euer he did the old Priests ouer the Synagogue. to whom it is said, He that despiseth you, despiseth me. And it is to bee noted that the Bishops so gathered in Councel, represent the whole Church, haue the authoritie of the whole Church, and the Spirit of God to protect them from error, as the whole Church: S S. Paul and Barnabas come hither for the definition of the whole Church. The sentence of a plenarie or generall Councell (saith S. Augustine) is the consent of the whole Church. And so it must needes be in the Church, because the Magistrates, Senate, Councell or deputies of al common-wealthes, represent the whole body: and to haue it otherwise (as the Churches Rebels wish) were to bring all to hell and horrour, and them selues to be perpetually, by the seditious and popular persons, vpholden against Law, reason, and religion, in their wickednesse. Of what power a Councel consisteth. Deut.17. Mal.2.7. Agge.2.12. Luke 10.16. Ii.1.c.18. de bapt. A generall Councell representeth the whole Church.

FVLKE. 5 You slander vs, in saying we would haue all men to giue voice in a Councel, or that none but the holy or elect should be admitted. That all men should be present at a generall or prouinciall Councel, it is impossible, yet more may be present, then doe debate the matter, as it appeareth by the text, that the whole Church gaue their consent to the decree, & ioyned in the Epistle, though your vulgar interpreter omit the coniunction. Also, more may debate the matter, then are meet to define it. And so were ancient Councels celebrated in presence of the Emperours, and many other of the people. Yea it is memorable, that in the Councel of Nice, a learned Philosopher that troubled all the Bishops, was confuted and conuerted by a simple godly lay man. Ruffin.li.1. cap.3 hist.tripar.lib.2.cap.31. Finally, we would not haue any Heretike excluded, but that he may alledge what he can in defence of his errors, that he may be either conuerted or confounded by the power of trueth, reueiled out of the holy Scriptures, as it appeareth in this example. But the Heresie of the Papists is refuted, that alloweth none to giue voyces but Bishops, and them of their owne sect, whereas it is manifest by the text, and your owne interpretation, that the Elders or priests, concurred with the Apostles, not onely to consider of the matter, but also in determining thereof. But albeit the ministers of the Church so gathered together, represent the whole Church, yet haue they not the promise of Gods Spirit to direct them, but so farre foorth as they do humbly submit them selues to his word, which if the greater part refuse to do, they may erre, as many Councels haue done, both generall and prouincial. The Papists them selues doe not admit the decree of the Chalcedon Councel, which was against the supremacie of the Bishop of Rome: yet all the Councell agreed vnto it, except the Bishop of Romes Legates. And the same decree was made in the first generall Councel of Constantinople, when neither the Bishop of Rome, nor any man for him did gainesay it. Constant.1.cap.2. Chalcedon. Action.16. The second Councel of Nice agreed that Angels and mens soules, are bodily, and circumscriptible, Act 5. which the Papists themselues cannot deny to be an error. Neither did S. Paul come to the Councel for the definition of the Church, as though hee doubted of the matter. For before this time, hee had openly reprehended Peter and Barnabas, erring and dissembling in this question. Gal.2.11.&c. Paul and Barnabas came therefore to seeke the definition of the whole Church, for satisfaction of them that were troubled with that doubt in Antioch, and not for their owne resolution. Slander. Councels may erre.

RHEM. 6. Assembled.) A Councell was called to discusse the matter, which Councell was the more easily gathered, because the Christian Bishops and countries were not yet so many, but that the principall Gouernours of the Church being not farre dispersed, and as many learned men as were necessary, might be in Hierusalem, or easily called thither. And it was not a Prouincial Councel or Synode onely, but a generall Councel, consisting of the cheefe Apostles and Bishops that then were, though the number was nothing so great as afterward vsed to assemble, when the Church was spred into al nations. The first Councell at Hierusalem.

RHEM. 6 7. Peter rising vp.) S. Peter as the head of the Church speaketh first, as his Successors haue euer had, not onely in their personal presence, but in their absence by their Legates and substitutes, the cheefe voyce in al Councels general, none euer receiued into authoritie and credite in the Church without their Confirmation. And therefore the Councels of the Arians and of other Heretikes, were they neuer so great, wanting the Popes assent, assistance, or Confirmation, did shamefully erre, as Ariminense for the Arians, and Ephesinum secundum for the Nestorians, and such like condemned Assemblies. Peter head of the Councel, and his succession in him.

FVLKE. 6 S. Peter speaketh not first, for there was great debating before he spake. Neither were his successors, or their substitutes, presidents in any of the foure first general Councels, that were after the Apostles times. For of Nice was president and principal auctor of the Canons, Alexander Bishop of Constantinople, of Constantinople Nectarius Bishop of the same See, of Ephesine Cyrillus of Alexandria, of Chalcedon Anatolius of Constantinople. Isidorus in præfat.con.tom.1. Yet Eusebius saith, that Eustathius B. of Antioch, was president at Nice. Ioannes Antiochen. Patriarch, opusc. suo in Concil. Basil saith, In plurib. antiquis conciliis &c. In many auncient Councels, the Pope was not president, as appeareth in those, in which the Bishops of Rome did not make the definitions, but the Councel, saying, it hath pleased the Councel. And of this councel he saith, Concilium &c. The Councel of the Apostles, Acts. 15. S. Peters primacie. The Pope not president of generall Councels. De vit. Conſt.

Peter

Peter alone did not call together, but the 12. Apostles: neither did Peter pronounce the sentence, but Iames, and they ordained the decretall epistle, not in the name of Peter, but of the Apostles and Elders. And where you say, that no councell was euer receiued into authoritie and credit, without the Bishop of Romes confirmation, it is false. For the councels of Mileuit and African, that decreed against the Bishop of Romes authoritie, were receiued into authoritie and credit in the Church. So was the Councel of Chalcedon euen in that point of the Bishop of Romes primacie, wherein it was not confirmed by the Bishop of Rome, obtained authority and credit in the Church as testifieth Liberatus, cap. 13 beside many prouinciall Councels, whereunto the B. of Romes consent was neuer required. And the councels of Arrians and other heretikes, did not therefore erre, because they wanted the Popes assent, assistance or confirmation, but because they determined contrary to the trueth expressed and contained in the holy Scriptures. As those Councels which hauing the Bishop of Romes assent determined truely, were not priuiledged from error by the Bishop of Romes assent, but by following the word of God: for the Bishop of Romes assent, assistance or confirmation, cannot make error to be trueth. Liberius after he had subscribed to heresie, gaue his assent to the Councel, that Constantius held ad Rome, with Vrsatius and Valens, and other Arrians, wherein Fœlix a Catholike Bishop was depriued, and he himselfe now an heretike, or a dissembler with heretikes was restored: as testifieth Damasus himselfe B. of Rome in Pontificali: Yet was that Councel for all his consent and confirmation wicked, and blasphemous. If Honorius had liued when he was condemned and accursed in the Councel of Constantinople the 6. for an heretike, would hee haue giuen his assent, assistance or confirmation? And if he had gathered a Councel of Monothelites, such as hee was, would he not haue confirmed that councel, determining against the Catholike faith?

RHEM. 7 8. Chose that by my mouth.) Though Paul were called and appointed specially to be the Apostle of the Gentiles, yet that was S. Peters special priuilege by Gods owne choice, that the first Gentiles should be called by his mouth, and that he first should vtter to the Church that trueth of the admission of the Gentiles himselfe, for that he was Christs Vicar, being notwithstanding (as his Master was) Minister Circuncisionis, that is, Apostle of the Iewes, Christ differring all preeminence vnto him in that point also.

Peters preeminence both toward Iewes and Gentiles. Ro. 15, 8. Gal. 2, 7.

FVLKE. 7 The text saith not, that the first Gentiles were called by S. Peters mouth: and the Scripture is euident to the contrary. S. Paul was sent to the Gentiles, euen at his conuersion, Act. 26. 17. Neither did he slacke the time, but immediatly preached in Arabia, and saw not Peter vntill three yeeres after. All which time, it is not like that he neglected his calling. Beside your owne vulgar translation saith expresly, that he spake to the Gentiles, and disputed with the Greekes cap. 9. 29. before Peter was sent to Cornelius. Therefore it seemeth that the aduerbe πρῶτον in the speech of S. Iames, is not referred to the time of the conuersion of Cornelius, but to the order of S. Peters speach, which was first of Gods visitation of the Gentiles in calling them to be his people: which S. Iames confirmeth by authoritie of Scripture, and then concludeth as Peter did. Therefore you can proue no preeminence in this point granted to Peter.

Peters preeminence.

RHEM. 8 13. Iames.) S. Iames because he was an Apostle and also Bishop of Hierusalem, gaue his sentence next. for the speach interposed of S S. Paul and Barnabas, was but for their better information in the decision of the matter, and for confirmation of S. Peters sentence, thought they being Apostles and Bishops, had voices in the Councel also: as many moe had, though their sentences be not here reported. And where S. Iames in his speach saith, I iudge, it is not meant that he gaue the principall definitiue sentence: for he (as all the rest) folowed and allowed the sentence of S. Peter, as it is plaine in the text, the whole assembly for reuerence of his person and approbation of his sentence, holding their peace. All the multitude (saith S. Hierome) held their peace, and into his sentence Iames the Apostle and all the Priests did passe together. For though S. Iames did particularise certaine points incident to the question debated, as of eating strangled meates &c. yet the proper controuersie for which the Councel assembled, was Whether the Gentiles conuerted were bound to obserue the Law of Moyses. and it was concluded, that they were not bound, nor ought not to be charged with Moyses Lawe or the Sacraments and ceremonies of the same. this is the substance and principall purpose of this Councels decree, which doth bind for euer: and Peter (saith S. Hierome in the same place) was Prince or author of this decree. the matter of fornication and Idolothytes being but incident to the question or resolution, and the forbidding of eating strangled and blood, but a temporal prohibition, which by the consent of the Church or otherwise afterwarde was abrogated, the Church of God hauing the true sense of difference of times, places, and persons, when and how far such things are to be obserued, and when not. And in such things as these, and in other like which according to circumstances require alteration, it is, that S. Augustine sayth, lib. 2. de bapt. cap. 3. tom. 7. The former generall or plenarie Councels may be amended by the later.

S. Iames and the rest folow S. Peters sentence. Hiero. to. 2. ep. 89 ad August. ca. 2.

The principall question.

Incident questions.

How later Councels alter the former.

FVLKE. 8 Your whole drift in this place, is to denie the primacie of order vnto Iames, whom all antiquitie except Hierome, allowed to be the principal person in this Councel, as he was at this time, the Bishop or chiefe ouerseer of the Church at Ierusalem, and therfore is named before Peter by Paul, Gal. 2. 9. Clemens disposition li. 6. cited by Eusebius, translatione Ruffini saith, that Iames was constituted Bishop of the Apostles. Chrysostom vpon this place saith, Et vide post Petrum Paulus loquitur &c. And see that after Peter Paul doth speake, and no man stoppeth his mouth, Iames heareth it, and doth not goe backe, to him was the principalitie or chiefe place committed. Againe he saith of Iames. Ab initio quidem &c. At the beginning truely, Peter spake more vehemently, but this man more mildly. So they must alwayes doe that are in great authoritie, that they permit things burdenous to other men, and they themselues deale more gently, in Act. Hom. 33. Thus you see he ascribeth plainely the chiefe place and power to Iames. Hierome in deede defending S. Peters simulation against S. Paul, endeuoureth to proue out of this place, that Peter was not ignorant of the trueth, whereof he had bene a principal setter forth in the Councel. But the matter is so euident by the circumstances of the text, and the iudgement of ancient writers, that the author Opusculi tripartiti con. tom. 2. cap. 9. saith, that when Iames gaue sentence, it was not yet fully ordained concerning the preeminence of Peter aboue the rest of the Apostles, and of the fulnes of his power aboue all Churches. Finally, where S. Augustine saith, that the former generall Councels may be amended or corrected by the latter, hee speaketh not of alteration in matters of indifferencie, for then he would not haue vsed the word amending or correcting, but some other word, that signifieth altering or changing: for amending and correcting, is of errors, and so the words going before and after, doe make manifest that he meaneth. For before he saith, that only the Canonicall scriptures haue soueraigne authoritie, so that it is not lawfull to doubt, whether any thing written in them be true or right, but that all later writings of Bishops may be lawfully reprehended, either by other learned writings, or by Councels, if they haue erred from trueth, and that prouinciall councels must giue place to generall Councels, and that the former generall councels may bee corrected by the later, Cum aliquo experimento &c. When by any triall of matters, that is opened which before was shut, and that is knowen which before was hidden: so that he speaketh manifestly of correction of errors, not alteration of things indifferent, writing against the Donatists, that maintained the authoritie of the council of Carthage, holden by S. Cyprian against the trueth.

Iames president of the Councel.

Councels may erre.

RHEM. 9 20. Fornication.) Fornication and contamination with Idoles, are of themselues mortall sinnes, and therefore can neuer be lawfull: yet because the Gentiles by custome were prone to both, and of fornication made very small account, it pleased the holy Ghost to forbid both specially. Concerning the other points of abstaining from blood and stiffled meates, they were things of their owne nature indifferent, in which for a time the Iewes were to be borne withall, and the Gentiles to be a little exercised to obedience. By which we may see the great authoritie of Gods Church and Councels, which may command for euer, or for a time, such things as be fitte for the state of times and nations, without any expresse Scriptures at all, and so by commandement make things necessarie that were before indifferent.

The Churches authoritie in making Decrees.

FVLKE 9 The Church hath no authoritie to command any thing necessarie to saluation, but that which may be proued vndoubtedly out of the holy Scripture: otherwise in matters of indifference, wee yeeld to your obseruation. To abstaine from blood and strangled, was not necessary to saluation, but for charitie to beare with the weakenes of the Iewes for a season.

The authoritie of the Church and of the Scriptures.

RHEM. 28. Going forth from vs.) A proper description or note of Heretikes, Schismatikes, and seditious teachers, to go out from their spirituall Pastors and Gouernours, and to teach without their commission and approbation, to disquiet the Catholike people with multitude of wordes and sweete speaches, and finally to ouerthrowe their soules.

Going out, a marke of heretikes.

RHEM. 10 28. To the Holy Ghost and to vs.) By this first we note, that it is not such a fault as the Heretikes would make it in the sight of the simple, or any incongruitie at all, to ioine God and his creatures, as the principall cause and the secondarie, in one speach, and to attribute that to both, which though diuersly, yet proceedeth of both. God and you, say good people commonly: God and our Lady, Christ and S. Iohn: We confesse to God and to Peter and Paul. as, * God and his Angel, To our Lord, and Gedeon, the sworde of our Lord and of Gedeon, Our Lord and Moyses, Christ and his Angels. Our Lord and all Saints. ep ad Philem. S. Paul and our Lord. 1. Thes. 1, 6. All these speaches being partly Scriptures, partly like vnto the Scriptures speaches, are warranted also by this Councel, which saith boldly, and hath giuen the forme thereof to all other Councels lawfully called and confirmed to say the like, It hath pleased the holy Ghost and vs. S. Cyprian ep. 54. nu 2. reporting the like of a Synode holden in Afrike, sayth, It hath pleased vs by the suggestion of the holy Ghost.

God and our Lady, and the like speaches.

* Gen. 18, 15. 16. Iud. 7, 18. 20. Exod. 14. 31. 1. Tim 5. 21. VTSVM EST Spsancto & nobis.

Secondly we note, that the holy councels lawfully kept for determination or cleering of doubts, or condemning of errours and Heresies, or appeasing of Schismes and troubles, or reformation of life, and such like important matters, haue euer the assistance of Gods spirit, and therefore cannot erre in their sentences and determinations concerning the same, because the Holy Ghost cannot erre, from whom (as you see here) iointly with the Councel the resolution proceedeth.

The holy Ghost assistant in all lawful Councels to the worldes end, and that by Christs promise. Io. 16, 13.

Thirdly we learne, that in the holy Councels specially (though otherwise and in other Tribunals of the Church it be also verified) Christs promise is fulfilled, * that the holy Ghost should suggest them and teach them all trueth, and that not in the Apostles time onely, but to the worlds ende, for so long shall Councels, the Church, and her Pastours haue this priuilege of Gods assistance, as there be either doubts to resolue, or heretikes to condemne, or trueths to be opened, or euill men to be reformed, or Schismes to be appeased. for which cause S. Gregory li. 1. ep. 24. sub fin. reuerenceth the foure generall Councels (Nicen, Constantinop. Ephes. Chalced.) as the foure bookes of the holy Gospel, alluding to the number: and of the fifth also hee saith that he doth reuerence it alike: and so would he haue done moe, if they had been before his time, who saith of them thus, Whiles they are concluded and made by vniuersall consent, himselfe doth he destroy, and not them, whosoeuer presumeth either to loose whom they bind, or to bind whom they loose.

S. Gregory reuerence of General Councels.

S. Gregory therefore reuerencing all fiue alike, it may be marueled whence the heretikes haue their fonde difference betwixt those foure first and other latter: attributing much to them, and nothing to the rest. Whereas in deede the latter can erre no more then the first foure, being holden and approued as they were, and hauing the holy Ghost as they had. but in those first also when a man findeth any thing against their heresies (as there be diuers things) then they say plainely that they also may erre, and that the holy Ghost is not tyed to mens voyces, nor to the number of sentences: Which is directly to reproue this first Councel also of the Apostles, and Christs promise of the holy Ghosts assistance to teach all trueth. Yea that you may knowe and abhorre these heretikes throughly, heare you what a principall Sect master with his blasphemous mouth or pen vttereth, saying, that In the very best times such was partly the ambition of Bishops, partly the foolishnesse and ignorance, that the very blind may easily perceiue, Satan verily to haue bene president of their assemblies. Good Lord deliuer the people and the world from such blasphemous tongues and bookes, and giue men grace to attend to the holy Scriptures and Doctors, that they may see how much, not onely S. Augustine and other fathers attribute to all generall Councels specially, (to which they referre themselues in all doubts among themselues and in all their controuersies with heretikes:) but to which euen S. Paul himself (so specially taught by God) and others also yeelded themselues. Notorious is the saying of S. Augustine concerning S. Cyprian, who being a blessed Catholike Bishop and Martyr, yet erred about the rebaptizing of such as were Christened by heretikes. If he had liued (sayth S. Augustine lib 2 de bapt. cap. 4.) to haue seen the determination of a plenarie Councel, which hee saw not in his life time, hee would for his great humilitie and charitie straightway haue yeelded, and preferred the generall Councell before his owne iudgement and his fellow bishops in a Prouinciall Councel only. Whereby also we learne, that Prouinciall Councels may erre, though many times they doe not, and being conformable to the generall Councels, or confirmed and allowed by them or the See Apostolike, their resolutions be infallible as the others are.

The Protestants fonde difference betweene the 4. first and the later Councels.

Beza blasphemie against the first general Councels. Beza in pref. Test. No. An. 1565.

What the Fathers attribute to Councels, and namely S. Augustine.

Prouincial councels.

If any here aske what neede so much disputing, study, and trauail in Councels to find out and determine the trueth, if the holy Ghost infallibly guide them? We answere that such is the ordinary prouidence of God in this case, to assist them when they doe their indeuour, and vse all humane meanes of industry, and not els. And so (though somewhat otherwise) God assisted the Euangelists and other writers of the holy Scriptures, that they could not erre in penning the same, but yet they did and ought to vse all possible humane diligence to knowe and learne out the histories and trueth of matters, as is plaine in the beginning of S. Lukes Gospel: els the holy Ghost would not haue assisted them. Euen so in this Councel of the Apostles, though they had the holy Ghost assistant, Yet the text saith, cum magna conquisitio fieret, When there was great disputation, search and examination of the case, then Peter spake &c. If againe it be demaunded, what neede is there to expect the Councels determination, if the Popes or See Apostolikes iudgement be infallible and haue the assistance of God also, as the Catholikes affirme? We answere, that for the Catholike and peaceable obedient children of the Church it is a comfort to haue such various meanes of determination, triall, and declaration of the trueth, and that it is necessary for the recouery of heretikes, and for the contentation of the weake, who not alwayes giuing ouer to one mans determination, yet will either yeelde to the iudgement of all the learned men and Bishops of all Nations, or els remaine desperate and condemned before God and man for euer. And as I sayd before, this assistance of the holy Ghost promised to Peters See, presupposeth humane meanes of searching out the trueth, which the Pope alwayes hath vsed, and will, and must vse in matters of great importance, by calling Councels, euen as here you see S S. Peter and Paul themselues and all the Apostles, though indued with the holy Ghost, yet thought it notwithstanding necessary for further triall and cleering of trueth and maintenance of vnity, to keepe a Councell.

Notwithstanding the holy Ghosts assistance, yet humane meanes must be vsed to search the trueth. Luk. 1. 3.

Though the See Apostolike did haue the same assistance, yet Councels be also so necessary for many causes.

Lastly it is to be noted, that as Christ and the Holy Ghost be present by his promise, to all such assemblies as gather in the obedience and vnity of the Church, with full mind to obey whatsoeuer shall be determined, whereby the assembled though of of diuers iudgements before doe most peaceably yeelde to trueth, and gree in one vniforme determination of the same: so all such as gather out of the Church, without humilitie or intention to yeelde one to another, or to any Superior, man or Counsell, or what els so euer, but chalenge to themselues learning, spirit, and wee cannot tell what: such, how many meetings so euer they make, being destitute of the holy Ghost the author of trueth and concord, are further of and further out, then euer before: as God hath shewed by the successe of all Heresticall Colloquies, Synodes, and Assemblies in Germanie, France, Poole, and other places in our dayes. Reade a notable place in S. Cyprian, that the promise of Christ, that he would be in the middes of two or three gathered in his name, pertaineth not to them that assemble out of the Church. Hereticall or Schismatical assemblies. De vnit. Ec. nu. 7.

FVLKE 10. When any of Gods creatures are by him appointed to be inferiour causes or ministers vnder him, it is no fault to ioyne them: as the sword of the Lord, and of Gedeon. But where God hath not appointed his creatures to be ioyned with him in cause, there it is blasphemous to match them with him in effect: as when you say, God and our Ladie hath holpen me, thanks to God and our Ladie, our Lord and his saints be praised &c. These speaches are neither Scriptures, nor Scripture like, nor warranted by this Councel. Neither hath this Councel giuen the forme of the speach here vsed to all other Councels, how lawfully soeuer called and confirmed with the B. of Romes assent, except their determination may be warranted as this was by the holy scriptures. Cyprian with the fathers of Africa, doe declare vnto Cornelius Bishop of Rome, vpon what authority of Scriptures their determination was grounded, and are bold to say, It hath pleased vs by the suggestion of the holy Ghost, before their Councel receiued confirmation of the Bishop of Rome, yea before he once heard of it. Neither doe they in that Epistle, require his assent, but onely report what they had done, and for what causes, and vpon what ground. God and our Lady, &c.

Secondly you note, that holy Councels haue euer the assistance of Gods Spirit, and therefore cannot erre, where you play the Sophisters kindly: for if it be prooued that any doe erre in that point, they are not holy, But if by holy Councels you meane lawfull Councels, as you say in the margent, or as you seeme to explane holy Councels, such as are lawfully kept for determination or clearing of doubts, &c. there is no doubt but they may erre, if they follow not the direction of Gods word, against which, in vaine they may boast of the direction of Gods spirit. S. Cyprian, and all the Bishops of Africa, gathered a Councell as lawfull as any they did before, no doubt but of good intent for determination and clearing of a doubt that was mooued among them, whether such as came from Heresies, were to be baptized againe: and with a purpose to condemne errors, and Heresies, and to appease schisme and troubles: yet did they erre in their sentence and determination, concerning the same doubt, and all through ignorance of the Scriptures, and not of any peruerse or hereticall affection. Whereupon S. August. as is before declared, doubteth not to affirme that all men and all Councels, both prouincial and generall may erre, and that the certaintie of trueth is to be found only in the Canonical Scriptures. Quis autem neſciat (saith he) ſanctam ſcripturam canonicam, &c. And who can be ignorant, that the holy Canonical scripture, aswel of the old, as of the new testament, is conteined within her certaine limits, and thus is in so preferred before all later writings of Bishops, that it cannot in any wise be doubted or disputed of it, whether it be true, or whether it be right, whatsoeuer, it is certaine to be written in it: But that the writings of Bishops which haue bene written, or which are now written after the Canon is confirmed, may be lawfully reprehended, both by the more wise speach, perhaps of any man that is more skilfull in that matter, and also by the more graue authoritie, and more learned prudence of other bishops, and by Councels, if any thing in them perhaps haue strayed from the trueth. And euen Councels themselues, which are gathered in euery region, or prouince, (without all doubt) must giue place to the authoritie of generall Councels, which are gathered out of all the Christian world: And that of ten times the former generall Councels themselues, may be corrected by the later, when by any triall of matters, that is opened which was shut, and that is knowen which was hidden, without any swelling of sacrilegious pride, without any stiffenecke of puffing arrogans, without any contention of cankred enuie, with holy humility, with Catholike peace, with Christian charitie. Concerning your third obseruation, there is no doubt but Christs promise shall be performed vnto the ende, but the priuilege of Gods assistance, perraineth onely to them which folowe the direction of his holy word in councels or other sentences of the Church. For the Spirit of God must not be sacrilegiously separated from the word of God. Therefore the determination of the foure generall councels is to bee reuerenced as the foure Gospels, because it was taken out of the foure Gospels, which teach the trueth of the diuinitie and humanitie of Christ, and of the diuinitie of the holy Ghost: not because it was so agreed by authoritie of so many bishops gathered in those councels. Neither doe wee make any such fond difference of the councels as you dreame of, but receiue the fist and sixt, as well as the first foure, for the matters of faith and doctrine concluded in them, agreeable to the holy Scriptures: and further wee receiue none. You say there bee diuers things in the first foure councels that you find against our heresies, yet are you able to shew none. But we shew against you the 6. Canon of Nice councel, declaring the bishop of Alexandria to be equall to the Bishop of Rome, & generally euery Metropolitane in his prouince. We shew the 27. canon of Chalcedon, wherin is declared the determination aswel of that councel, as of the first of Constantinople, that the See of Cõstantinople should haue equall priuileges of dignitie and authoritie with the See of Rome. We shew the words of the councel of Ephesus in their Epistle to Nestorius that Peter and Iohn were of equall dignitie because they were both Apostles and holy disciples: By which words, the supremacie of the Pope pretended frõ Peter is ouerthrowen. So we shew the 4. first General councels, all against the Popes supremacie. Likewise the 5. confirming all that was decreed in the 4. and the 6. of Constantinople Can. 36. we shew, confirming the equalitie of priuileges of the bishop of Constantinople with the bishop of Rome, according to the former determinations of the councels of Constantinople the first, and of Chalcedon. When we say that councels may erre, and that the holy Ghost is not tied to the voices of men, nor to the number of sentences, you affirme, that it is directly to reproue this first Councel also of the Apostles, and Christs promise of the holy Ghost. But by what Logike you gather this conclusion, we cannot perceiue, except it be this: Councels may erre, ergo this councell of the Apostles did erre. Or els thus, Christ promised the holy Ghost, ergo he tied the holy Ghost to the voices of men, or to the number of mens sentences. If these be good conclusions, I referre me to all that haue but one crumme of right reason, or naturall Logike. That you report of Beza is a most detestable slander, for he speaketh not a word against the first General councels, but against the assemblies of proud and vnlearned light headed bishops of Greece, which liued in those best times, whereof it is manifest by the church stories, that many of them were hereticall and blasphemous, hauing not the holy Ghost, but the deuill himselfe to be President of their meetings. This Logike is like the former: Beza saith, there were wicked bishops in the best times, ergo he blasphemeth against the first generall councels. The father of lies and slanderer of the Saints, will welcome you for this Logike, except you repent in time. What Augustine ascribeth to general Councels, you heard before his owne words: how he acknowledgeth that they may erre, because they may be amended or corrected, that some thing may be shut vp and hidden from them, which afterward may be opened and knowen. Slander. Slander.

The ende of Councels is to search out the trueth, and therefore you say well, they must not presume of the holy Ghost, if they neglect ordinarie meanes to come to the knowledge of the trueth, and much lesse if they be not directed by the word of God, which is the rule of trueth, and trueth it selfe, as our Saviour Christ saith in his prayer, Sanctifie them in thy trueth, thy word is the trueth. Ioan. 17. 17. But if the Pope cannot erre, it is certaine that Councels are not necessary. For your first reason proueth them to be only conuenient, your second reason numbreth them among humane meanes of searching the truth, by which it may be inferred, that the Pope out of Councel may erre. For if humane meanes of searching the trueth be necessary thoothe Pope doth not erre, (as you must needes confesse) because you say: the assistance of the holy Ghost promised to Peters See, presupposeth humane meanes, and calling of Councels is an humane meane, therefore calling of Councels is necessarie that the Pope doeth not erre. Whereby it seemeth you take vpon you to decide that question, which though it hath hitherto bene decided by two general Councels of Constance and Basil, that the Councel is aboue the Pope, which may erre out of the Councel, yet is it not agreed of among all Papists at this time. For the more part hold, and so doe you elsewhere, that the Pope is aboue the Councel, and that the Councel may erre, if it be not confirmed by the Pope. Yet the Councel of Constance was confirmed in that point by Iohn 23. before his resignation, Sess. 12. and in the ende thereof, all things concluded in that Councel. Conciliariter, that is, as in forme of a Councel, were confirmed by Pope Martin the 5. Sess. 45. That Christ is not present with heretikes and schismatikes, it is out of doubt: but seeing in many of the Synods, and Councels holden in Germanie, France, Poole, England and other places, the trueth hath bene concluded out of the holy Scriptures, it is certaine that Christ was present in those assemblies by his holy Spirit, and that in such things as they haue determined according to the word of God, they are not to be reputed for heretikes or schismatikes, but for true Christian Catholikes.

RHEM. 11 31. Reioiced vpon the Consolation.) Straight vpon the intelligence of the Councels determination, not onely the Gentiles, but euen the Maisters of the former troubles and dissension, were at rest, and all tooke great comfort that the controuersie was so ended. And so should all Christian men doe, when they see the sedts of our time condemned by the like authority and most graue iudgement of the holy Councel of Trent. Against which the heretikes of our time make the like friuolous exceptions and false cauillations, as did the Heretikes heretofore against those Councels that specially condemned their errors. The Pope and Bishops (say they) are a party, and they ought not to be our iudges: they are partial and come with preiudicate minder to condemne vs, and we accuse them all of Idolatrie and other crimes, and we will be tried by Gods word onely, and we will expound it according to another rule, that is to say, as we list. So say they against this Councel, and the like say the Arians against the first Nicene Councel, and all such like against those Councels, namely that condemned their heresies. And so say all theeues against their correctors and punishers, and would both say and doe more against temporal tribunals, Iudges, Iustices, and Iuries, if they had as much licence and libertie in those matters, as men haue now in religion. All good Christians rest vpon the determination of a generall Councel.

All Heretikes make exception against the Councels that condemne them.

FVLKE 11 When the Papists themselues doe not acknowledge the authoritie of the Tridentine assembly, for both the Emperour and the French king protested against it, and it is not at this day receiued of the popish Church of France, there is no reason that we should be subiect vnto it, although wee haue many other arguments to oppose against it. And where you say in the margent, that all good Christians rest vpon the determination of a generall Councell, you condemne your selues to be no good Christians, because you doe not trust vpon the determination of the general Councel of Constance & Basil, in the question of the Popes supremacie aboue the Councel. You condemne the popish Church of France, which accepteth not your Tridentine chapter, for a generall Councel, in which there were scarce 40. bishops, and they for the most part Italians and Spaniards. That al heretikes make exceptions against Councels that condemne them, it proueth not all to bee heretikes that are condemned by Councels. The Catholikes also condemned by the Councels of heretikes, tooke exceptions against those Councels. The exceptions that we make are most reasonable. For it is against all equitie that they which are parties, that are partial, that are accused, should be the only iudges. Neither could the Arians iustly say so against the Nicene Councel, or other heretikes against the Councels that condemned them: neither can all theeues iustly say so against their punishers. For their iudges are neuer parties, seldome partiall, neuer accused in that offence, whereupon they sit as iudges. That we would be tried onely by Gods word, it is true, but that we wil expound it as we list, it is false. For we wil and do by Gods grace expound it sufficiently to confute your heresies, according to the plaine and natural sence therof, and in doubtfull places, according to plaine places, and according to the exposition of the most antient and best approued fathers of the Primitiue Church, in the most and chiefe of the controuersies that are betweene you and vs. Authoritie of Councels.

RHEM. 12 37. Dissension.) Such occasions of differences fall out euen among the perfect men often, without any great offence. And this their departing fell out to the great increase of Christians. And therfore it is very ridiculously applied to excuse the disagreeing of the heretikes among themselues in the principall points of religion, namely the Sacrament.

FVLKE. 12 It cannot be alleaged to iustifie any dissension, but to shew that for dissentions sake in matters of externall policie, and discipline of the Church, specially, as this of the Apostles was, the substance of the doctrine is not to be misliked, nor the Church or teachers thereof to be vtterly reiected: it is rightly alleaged. The dissention that is among many true Christians in the Sacrament of the Supper, doth no more conuince either part to be no member of the Church, then the like dissention that was betweene Cyprian and the bishops of Africa, and Cornelius with the bishops of Europe, about the Sacrament of Baptisme, doth denie either of them to haue bene true members of the Church, and yet the one party erred from the trueth. Euery dissension is not a schisme.

CHAP. XVI.

Paul hauing for his part visited the Churches of Syria, Cilicia, and Lycaonia, deliuering vnto them withall to keepe the Decrees of the Councel: 6 beginneth a new iourney, ouer Phrygia, Galatia, Mysia: 8 Troa into Europe also he passeth, admonished by a vision, and commeth into Macedonia, 12 and there he beginneth the Church of the Philippians, working miracles, and suffering persecution.

16 And it came to passe as wee went to prayer, a certain wench hauing a Pythónical spirit, met vs, that brought great gaine to her maisters by diuining.

17 This same folowing Paul and vs, cried saying, ‡These men are the seruants of the high God, which preach vnto you the way of saluation.

18 And this shee did many dayes. And Paul being sorie: and turning, said to the spirit, I commaund thee in the name of IESVS CHRIST to goe out from her. And he went out the same houre.

24 Who when he had receiued such commandement, cast them into the inner prison, and made their feete fast in the stockes.

25 And at mid-night, Paul and Silas praying, did praise God. And they that were in prison, heard them.

26 But sodenly there was made a great earthquake, so that the foundations of the prison were shaken. And foorthwith all the doores were opened: and the bandes of all were loosed.

27 And the keeper of the prison waked out of his sleepe, and seeing the doores of the prison opened, drawing out his sword, would haue killed himselfe, supposing that the prisoners had bene fled.

28 But Paul cried with a loud voice, saying, Do thy self no harme, for we are all here.

29 And calling for light, he went in, and trembling fel down to Paul and Silas at their feete:

30 And bringing them forth, he said, Masters, what must I doe that I may be saued?

‡ It is no other faith that saueth but that which worketh by charitie, Aug. Enchirid. c. 67. 31 But they said, ‡Beleeue in our Lord IESVS: and thou shalt be saued and thy house.

32 And they preached the worde of our Lord to him with all that were in his house.

c Happy Gailers that doe mercie toward their godly prisoners, and receiue againe by them such spirituall benefits. 33 And he taking thē in the same houre of the night, c washed their wounds: and himselfe was baptized and all his house incontinent.

34 And when he had brought them into his owne house, he laid the table for them, & reioyced with al his house, beleeuing God.

35 And when day was come, the magistrates sent the sergeants, saying, Let those men goe.

36 And the keeper of the prison told these wordes to Paul, That the magistrates haue sent that you should be let goe. now therfore departing, goe ye in peace.

37 But Paul said to them, Being whipped openly, vncondemned, men ỹ are Romanes, they haue cast vs into prison: and nowe doe they send vs out secretly? Not so, but let them come, and let vs out themselues.

38 And ỹ sergeants reported these words to

Silas, and drew them into the market place, vnto the rulers,

20 And brought them to the officers, saying, These men being Iewes, doe exceedingly trouble our citie:

21 And preach ordinances, which are not lawfull for vs to receiue, neither to obserue, seeing we are Romanes.

22 And the people ranne against them, and the officers rent their clothes, and commaunded 2.Cor.11.25. 1.thes.2.2.  to beate them with rods.*

23 And when they had layde many stripes vpon them, they cast them into prison, commanding the iailour of the prison to keepe them diligently.

24 Which when hee had receiued such commaundement, thrust them into the inner prison, and made their feete fast in the stockes.

25 And at midnight, Paul and Silas prayed and landed God: and the prisoners heard them.

26 And sodainly there was a great earthquake, so that the foundation of the prison was shaken: and immediately all the doores opened, and euery mans bands were loosed.

27 When the keeper of the prison waked out of his sleepe, and saw the prison doores open, hee drewe out his sworde, and would haue killed himselfe, supposing that the prisoners had bene fledde.

28 But Paul cried with a loud voice, saying, Doe thy selfe no harme, for we are all here.

29 Then hee called for a light, and sprang in, and came trembling, and fell downe before Paul and Silas, 30 And brought them out, and sayd, Sirs, what must I doe to be saued?

31 And they sayd, Beleeue on the Lorde Iesus Christ, and thou shalt bee saued, and thy household.

32 And they spake vnto him the word of the Lord, and to all that were in his house.

33 And hee tooke them the same houre of the night, and he washed their wounds, and was baptized himselfe, and all they of his housholde straightway.

34 And when he had brought them into his house, he set meate before them, and ioyed that he with all his household beleeued on God.

35 And when it was day, the officers sent the sergeants, saying, Let those men goe.

36 And the keeper of the prison told this saying to Paul, The officers haue sent worde to loose you: Nowe therefore, get you hence, and goe in peace.

37 Then sayd Paul vnto them, They haue beaten vs openly vncondemned, being Romanes, and haue cast vs into prison, nowe doe they thrust vs out priuily? Nay verely: but let them come themselues, and fetch vs out.

CHAP. XVII.

How in other parts of Macedonia he planted the Church, and namely at Thessalonica, 5 where the obstinate Iewes are so malicious, that they pursue him also into Berœa, 14 From whence being conducted into Greece, he preached at Athens both to the Iewes and Gentiles, disputing with the Philosophers, 19 and in Areopagus, perswading them from their Idols vnto one God and IESVS CHRIST raised from the dead.

AND when they had walked through Amphipolis and Apollonia, they came to Thessalonica, where there was a synagogue of the Iewes.

2 And Paul according to his custome entred in vnto them and three Sabboths he discourſed to them out of the Scriptures,

3 Declaring & insinuating that it behoued CHRIST to suffer & to rise againe from the dead: and that this is IESVS CHRIST, whom I preach to you.

4 And certaine of them beleeued and were ioyned to Paul and Silas, and of the Gentiles that serued God a great multitude, and noble women not a few.

5 But the Iewes ‡enuying, and taking vnto them of the rascall sort certaine naughtie men, and making a tumult, stirred the citie: and besetting Iasons house, sought to bring them forth vnto the people.

6 And not finding them, they drew Iason and certaine brethren to the Princes of the citie, crying, That these are they that stirre vp the world, and are come hither,

7 Whom Iason hath receiued, & all these doe against the decrees of Cæsar, saying that there is another king, IESVS.

8 And they mooued the people, and the princes of the citie hearing these things.

9 And taking a satisfaction of Iason and of the rest, they dimissed them.

10 But the brethren forthwith by night sent away Paul and Silas vnto Bercea. Who when they were come, entred into the synagogue of the Iewes.

11 (And these were more noble then they that are at Thessalonica, who receiued the word with all greedinesse, dayly ‖ searching the scriptures, if these things were so.

12 And many surely of them beleeued, and of honest women Gentiles, and men not a few.)

13 And when the Iewes in Thessalonica vnderstoode, that at Bercea also the word of God was preached by Paul, they came thither also, mouing and troubling the multitude.

14 And

AS they made their iourney thorow Amphipolis, and Apollonia, they came to Thessalonica, where was a Synagogue of the Iewes.

2 And Paul, as his maner was, went in vnto them, & three Sabboth dayes disputed with them out of the scriptures,

3 Opening and alleaging, that Christ must needes haue suffered and risen againe from the dead: and that this is Christ Iesus which I preach vnto you.

4 And some of them beleeued, and ioyned with Paul and Silas, and of the deuout Greekes a great multitude, and of the chiefe women not a few.

5 But the Iewes which beleeued not, moued with enuie, tooke vnto them certaine vagabonds, and euill men, and gathered a companie, and set all the citie on a rore, and made assault vnto the house of Iason, and sought to bring them out to the people.

6 And when they found them not, they drew Iason and certaine brethren vnto the heads of the citie, crying, These that haue troubled the world, are come hither also,

7 Whom Iason hath receiued priuily: and these all doe contrarie to the decrees of Cæsar, saying that there is another king, one Iesus.

8 And they troubled the people, and the officers of the citie, when they heard these things.

9 And when they had taken sufficient suretie of Iason, and of the other, they let them goe.

10 And the brethren immediatly sent away Paul and Silas by night vnto Berœa: which when they were come thither, they entred into the synagogue of the Iewes.

11 These were the noblest of birth among them of Thessalonica, which receiued the worde with all readinesse of mind, and searched the scriptures daily, whether those things were so.

12 Therefore many of them beleeued: also of honest women which were Greekes, and of men not a few.

13 But when the Iewes of Thessalonica had knowledge that the word of God was preached of Paul at Berœa also, they came thither, and moued the people.

14 And

14 And then immediatly the brethren ſent away Paul, to goe vnto the ſea: but Silas and Timothee remained there.

15 And they ỳ conducted Paul, brought him as farre as Athens, and receiuing commaundement of him to Silas and Timothee, that they ſhould come to him very ſpeedily, they departed.

16 And when Paul expected them at Athens, his ſpirit was incenſed within him, ſeeing the citie giuen to Idolatrie.

17 He diſputed therfore in the ſynagogue with the Iewes, and them that ſerued God, & in the market-place, euery day with them that were there.

18 And certaine Philoſophers of the Epicures and the Stoikes diſputed with him, and certaine ſaid, What is it ỳ this [b] word-ſower would ſay? But others, He ſeemeth to be a preacher of new [c] gods. becauſe he preached to them IESVS and the reſurrection.

16 While Paul waited for them at Athens, his ſpirit was moued in him, when he ſawe the citie giuen to worſhipping of idoles.

17 Therefore diſputed he in the Synagogue with the Iewes, and with the deuout perſons, and in the market dayly with them that came vnto him by chance.

18 Then certaine Philoſophers of the Epicures, and of the Stoikes, diſputed with him: and ſome ſaid, What wil this babbler ſay? Other ſome, He ſeemeth to be a ſetter foorth of new Gods: becauſe he preached vnto them Ieſus, and the reſurrection.

19 And they tooke him, and brought him into the ſtreete of Mars, ſaying, May wee know what this new doctrine whereof thou ſpeakeſt, is?

20 For thou bringeſt certaine ſtrange things to our eares: we would know therefore what theſe things meane.

21 (For all the Athenians and ſtrangers which were there, had leaſure to nothing els, but either to tell or to heare ſome new thing.)

22 Then Paul ſtoode in the middes of the ſtreete of Mars, and ſaid, Ye men of Athens, I perceiue that in all things yee are too ſuperſtitious.

23 For as I paſſed by, and beheld the maner how ye worſhip your gods, I found an altar wherein was written, Vnto an vnknowen God. Whom yee then ignorantly worſhip, him ſhewe I vnto you.

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. XVII.

RHEM. 1 ‡ Enuying, Zelantes.) This is the zeale of Heretikes, and a lively patern of their dealing at this day against Catholike Priests and preachers and the good Iasons that receiue them.

FVLKE, 1 This is rather a liuely paterne of the dealing of Papists in Queene Maries time, against the Christian Catholikes, and of the godly men, which in that time did receiue them. Slander.

RHEM. 2 23 * Idols, I found, &c.) * The Aduersaries (in the new Test. 1580.) translate, your deuotions, most corruptly against the nature of the Greeke word (2. Thess. 2. 4.) and most wickedly against the laudable deuotion of good Christians, calling the Pagans idolatrie and superstition, their deuotions.

FVLKE. 2 The auctors of this note, shew themselues to be ignorant in the Greeke tongue, for the Greeke word doth signifie whatsoeuer men doe reuerence for religions sake. The Dictionaries say, it signifieth the formes of worship, or deuotions, as well as the thing worshipped. Now the word deuotion, is indifferent either to true or false deuotion, and so is the Greeke word. Therefore the deuotions of good Christians, is no more touched by this terme, then true religion by the terme of religion, when it is applied to false religion. Cauilling.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. XVII.

RHEM. 3 11 Searching the Scriptures.) The Heretikes vse this place to proue that the hearers must trie and iudge by the Scriptures, whether their teachers and preachers doctrine be true, and so reiect that that they find not in the Scriptures, as though here the sheepe were made iudges of their Pastors, the people of the Priests, and men and women of all sorts, euen of S. Pauls doctrine it selfe: which were the most foolish disorder in the world. And they did not therefore read the Scriptures of the old Testament (for none of the new were yet extant commonly) to dispute with the Apostle, or to trie and iudge of his doctrine, or whether they should beleeue him or no: for they were bound to beleeue him and obey his word, whether he alleaged Scriptures or no, and whether they could read or vnderstand the Scriptures or no. but it was a great comfort and confirmation for the Iewes that had the Scriptures, to finde euen as S. Paul said, that Christ was God, crucified, risen, and ascended to heauen: which by his preaching and expounding they vnderstood, and neuer before, though they read them, and heard them read euery Sabboth. As it is a great comfort to a Catholike man, to heare the Scriptures declared and alleaged most euidently for the Churches truth against Heretikes, in Sermons or otherwise. And it doth the Catholikes good & much confirmeth them, to vew diligently the places alleaged by the Catholike preachers. Yet they must not be iudges for all that, ouer their owne Pastors, whom Christ commandeth them to heare and obey, and by whom they heare the true sense of Scriptures. The people may not iudge of the sense of Scriptures. The comfort of Christian men by hearing or reading the Scriptures.

FVLKE. 3 This place is rightly vsed, to proue that the hearers ought to examine by the Scriptures, whether the teachers doctrine be true, and to reiect whatsoeuer they find not proued by the Scriptures. Yet are not the sheepe made iudges of the shepheards, people of the Priests, &c. but the word of God is made iudge of all doctrine, whether it be true or false. And these men searched the Scriptures, to trie whether those things were so as the Apostle preached. For they hauing receiued the Scriptures in credit before, were not bound to beleeue him except his doctrine were consonant vnto the holy Scriptures, as he himselfe testifieth Gal. 1 8. That if he preached any other Gospel then he had preached before, they should hold him accursed. And the Gospel which he preached before, was that which God had promised before by the Prophets in the holy Scriptures. Rom. 1. 2. And although they could not read the Scriptures, yet they heard the Scriptures read and were brought to vnderstand them by his preaching. Wherefore their searching of the Scriptures, was not only to confirme them being before throughly perswaded, but to perswade them being not throughly brought to the faith, vntill they found the Scriptures to be manifestly agreeable to the Apostles preaching. And yet it followeth not that the sheepe must be iudges of their pastors, but that they must heare them, obey them, and be ordered by them, which they will doe more cheerefully when by searching the Scriptures, they find their pastors doctrine to be the doctrine of the holy Ghost: and not the inuention or tradition of men. The authoritie & sufficiencie of the Scriptures.

RHEM. 4 22 Superstitious.) S. Paul calleth not them superstitious for adoring the true and onely God with much deuotion on many ceremonies or in comely prescribed order, or for doing due reuerence to holy Sacraments, to Saints and their memories, Images, or Monuments: or for keeping the prescribed lawes, daies and fasts of the Church, or for fulfilling vowes made to God, or for blessing with the signe of the Crosse, or for capping or kneeling at the name of IESVS, *or for religiously vsing creatures sanctified in the same name, or any other Christian obseruation, for which our new Maisters condemne the Catholike people of Superstition: themselues wholy voide of that vice by all wise mens iudgement, because they haue in maner taken away all religion, and are become Epicureians and Atheists. who are neuer troubled with superstition, because it is a vice consisting in excesse of worship or religion, whereof they are voide. but the Apostle calleth them superstious for worshipping the Idols and goddes of the Heathen, and * for the feare that they had, lest they should leaue out any God that was vnknowen to them. for thus their Altar was inscribed:* Diis Asiæ, Europæ, & Lybiæ, Deo ignoto & peregrino. that is, To the gods of Asia, Europe, and Lybia: to the vnknowen and strange God. This superstition (saith S. Augustine) is wholy taken away from the Church by Christs incarnation, and by the Apostles preaching, and by Martyrs holy life and death. Neither doth the Catholike Church allow this or any other kind of superstitious obseruation. Onely we must take heede that we beleeue not her Aduersaries definition of superstition, for they would imply therein all true religion. The Protestants call deuotion, superstition. The Apostle speaketh of the Heathens superstition. The Catholike Church alloweth no superstition.

Though

FVLKE. 4 Though S. Paul in this place, doeth not expresly reproue any true deuotion, nor a great number of Popish superstitions, that you name, yet are your superstitions manifestly conuinced by other testimonies of holy Scripture. Not as any excesse of worship, or religion (as you seeme to define superstition,) but as a will worship, supra statutum more then is appointed by the law of God. And so doeth Isidorus giue the Etymologie of the word: Orig.l.8.c.3. For in zeale of true religion and worship of God, keeping his law as a rule thereof, we can not exceede. That you discharge vs of superstition, we accept your testimonie, as the witnesse of our aduersaries: but where you charge vs to be voide of religion, the Lord be iudge betweene you and vs. The Greeke word, which the Apostle vseth against the heathen, is abused also by the heathen against the Apostle and Christian religion. Act.25.19. and therefore superstition is not onely worshipping of Idoles, and gods of the heathen. For although heathenish superstition be taken away as S. Augustine saith: Yet other as cuill superstition, is come in the place among the vngodly, that will not be directed by Gods word in religion, but follow their owne imaginations. S. Augustine himselfe condemneth worshippers of sepulchres and pictures, of superstition. Now you shall see (saith he) what difference there is betweene the Mermaides of superstition, and the lapses of religion. Gather not vnto me the professors of the name of Christ, neither knowing, nor shewing the force or vertue of their profession. Follow ye not the multitudes of the vnskilfull, which euen in true religion are superstitious, or so giuen to their lusts, that they haue forgotten what they haue promised to God. I know there are many worshippers of sepulchres and pictures. De moribus eccles. Cath.c.34. S. Ambrose calleth it an heathenish error, to worship the Crosse whereon Christ died. De obitu Theodosij. Gelasius Bishop of Rome, calleth it superstition to abstaine from the cup in the Lords supper. De consec.dist.2.C.Comperimus. Celestinus Bishop of Rome reproueth certaine Priests for superstitious apparell. Ep.2. ad Gallię Episcopos. But the superstition of Papists, hath not only all these points but many more, which they would perswade the ignorant to be high points of true religion. You see by these few testimonies we call that superstition, which the ancient Fathers before vs haue so termed, and that we doe not so define superstition, as we would employ all true religion, but onely those things that are not prescribed by the word of God. Wherin notwithstanding, Papists doe place by these words, all true religion.

Superstition.

Slander.

RHEM. 5 29 The Diuinitie to be like.) Nothing can be made by mans hand of what forme or sort so euer, that is like to Gods essence, or to the forme or shape of his Godhead or Diuinitie, therefore howsoeuer the heathens did paint or graue their Idols, they were nothing like to God. And this also is impertinently alleaged by Heretikes against the Churches images: Which are not made, either to be adored with godly honour, or to be any resemblance of the Diuinitie or any of the three persons in Godhead but only in Christ as he was in forme of man, who in that respect may be truely expressed, as other men by their portraits: and of the holy Ghost, not as he is in himselfe, but as he appeared in firy tongues or in the similitude of a dooue, or such like. And so to paint or graue any of the three persons as they appeared visibly and corporally, is no more inconuenient or vnlawfull then it was vndecent for them to appeare in such formes. And therfore to paint or portraite the Father also being the first person, as he hath shewed himselfe in vision to any of the Prophets of the olde or newe Testament (namely to Daniel as an olde man) or the three Angels representing the three Persons to Abraham, or the one Angel that wrastling with Iacob bare our Lords Person, no such thing is any where forbidden, but is very agreeable to the peoples instruction. In which sort the Angels were commonly pourtered (and namely the Cherubins ouer the Propitiatorie) as they be now in the Church, not in their naturall forme, but with corporall wings (as the Seraphins appeared to Esay the Prophet) to expresse their qualitie and office of being Gods Angels, that is, Messengers: and God the Father with the world in his hand, to signifie his creation and gouernement of the same, and such like: Whereof the people being well instructed may take much good, and no harme in the world, being now through their faith in Christ farre from all fond imagination of the false gods of the Pagans. And therefore S. Gregorie saith of the Churches Images, That which scripture or writing doth to the readers, the same doth the picture to the simple that looke thereupon. for in it euen the ignorant see what they ought to follow, in it they doe read, that know no letters. Where he calleth it a matter of antiquity and very conuenient, that in holy places Images were painted to the peoples instruction, so they be taught that they may not be adored with diuine honour, and he in the same place sharpely rebuketh Serenus the Bishop of Massilia, that of indiscrete zeale he would take away Images, rather then teach the people how to vse them.

How there may be Images or resemblances of the three persons in Trinitie, and of Angels.

Dan.7.22. Gen.18,2. Gen.33.24. Exo.37.7. Esa.6,2.

Images are for the peoples instruction.

Greg.li.9.ep.9.

FVLKE. 5 In your blasphemous Images of God the Father, and of the holy Trinitie, you doe transforme the glory of the mortall God, to the Image of a mortall man, or fethered foule. Rom.1.23. Yea of a monster which is worse. And where you say, they are not made to be adored with godly honour, you say vntruely, for all religious honour is due to God onely, and it is concluded in that Idolatrous councel of Nice 2. and defended by Thomas and other Papists, that the Image of God is to be worshipped, with the same worship that is due to God himselfe. Your other excuse, that they are not made to be any resemblance of the Diuinitie, or of the three persons in the Godhead is also false, for to what end els should any Image of the Trinitie be made? The Gentiles said as much of their Idols. That they knew they were not Gods, nor like to gods, being voide of sense and life, neither did they worship them as gods, but they worshipped the inuisible godhead, and the same that we call angels, the vertues and ministeries of the great God, but all in vaine as S. Augustine sheweth in Psal.96. Because they worshipped as you do, those that haue eies and see not, mouths and speake not, hands & handle not. &c. Neither can you make the image of Christ, as he was in forme of man: for you can make no image but of his bodily shape, & not as he was God in the forme of man. And that image which you make of his bodily shape, is no more the image of Christ, then of any other man. When Epiphanius sawe in a Church at Anablatha, an image painted in a vaile, as it were of Christ, or some Saint, he affirmeth that it was contrary to the authority of the scriptures, that any image of a man should hang in the Church of Christ. Epiph. ep. ad Ioan. How much more the image of the holy Trinitie, and of the holy Ghost? But you say boldly, to paint or graue any of the three persons, or the three persons, as they appeared visibly and corporally, is no more inconuenient or vnlawfull, then it was vndecent for them, to appeare in such formes. Thus these senseleese Idolaters controll the law of God, which expresly forbiddeth any such image, of any similitude or shape of any thing in heauen, in earth, in the waters to be made. Exod.20. Accusing the maiestie of God of vndecencie, if he hath appeared in any visible shape, which he hath forbidden to be made of him. And yet in giuing the law, God would not appeare in any visible shape, least the people should abuse that shape, to make an image of God after it. As the Lorde himselfe declareth expresly, Deut.4.15.&c. Therefore, though it be not simply vnlawfull, to expresse in painting the visible shapes that were shewed in visions to the Prophets, yet to make those shapes for any vse of religion, or seruice of God, it is abhominable idolatrie. You streine very much to finde the image of God the father, when you say. he shewed himselfe to Daniel as an old man. For although Daniel in vision saw an old man, how proue you that the said shape of an old man represented the person of the father, rather then of the sonne, who is as old as his father, or then the whole godhead? As for the Cherubins ouer the propitiatory, when you can shew as good warrant for your images, as we find in the scripture for them, namely an expresse commaundement to make them, we will will yeelde them vnto you to be lawfully made. Thou shalt not make to thy selfe (saith the Lord) that is of thy priuate authoritie or motion, reseruing to himselfe power to command what images he thought necessary to be made for the vse of his religion. Where you talke of the images of angels with their wings, you might haue alleaged the authoritie of the 2 Nicene councel, which defineth, that they haue bodies and are circumscriptible, Act. 5. but that you are ashamed of the grosse error of that Idolatrous councell. The image of God the father with the world in his hand, you commend highly, to signifie his creation and gouernment in the same, whereof the people being well instructed, may take much good and no harme in the world. But first you must remember that these images haue bene and are where the people are not instructed at all. Secondly, that if they be truely instructed of the creation and gouernment of the world, This is a lying image, & doctrine of vanitie, as the Prophet calleth all images, Abac. 2. 18. because it maketh the creation and gouernment of the world to seeme proper to the person of the father, which is common to the whole godhead. Finally, where you say the people through their faith in Christ, are farre from all fond imagination of false gods, it is most vntrue. For your popish ignorant people, be as fond in their imaginations as the heathen were. S. Augustine saith, worshippers of pictures, though they professe the name of Christ, neither know nor shew foorth the vertue or force of their profession. And of all worshippers of images, or before images, S. Augustine saith, Quis autem adorat vel orat intuens simulachrum, &c. And who doth worship, or pray beholding an image, which is not so affected, that he thinketh he is heard of it, and hopeth that to be performed by it, which he desireth. In Psal. 113. Gregory in deed contrary to the saying of the Prophet, Ab. 2. alloweth images to be lay mens bookes, but he forbiddeth all kind of worshipping of them. And as for the antiquitie of them, it was not long before his time that they were tollerated in Churches. Epiphanius rent the image that he found in the Church, because it was there (as he saith) contrary to the authority of the Scriptures. Ep. ad Ioan. &c. The councell of Eliberis before him decreed that pictures should not be in the Church, lest that which is worshipped or adored, should be painted on the wals. Behold, the councell feared that which afterward by the negligence of the bishops came to passe, least the image of God who onely is to be worshipped, should be painted on the wals, and esteemed that to be most detestable, which you defend to be conuenient and lawfull. So wel you agree with the doctrine of the ancient fathers and councels.

Rhem. 6 34 Dionysius Areopagita.) This is that famous Denys that first conuerted France, and wrote those notable and diuine workes De Ecclesiastica & cælesti hierarchia, de diuinis nominibus, and others, in which he confirmeth and proueth plainely almost all things that the Church now vseth in the ministration of the holy Sacrament, and affirmeth that he learned them of the Apostles, giuing also testimony for the Catholike faith in most things now controuersed, so plainely, that our Aduersaries haue no shift but to deny this Denys to haue bene the author of them, fayning that they be an others of later age. Which is an old flight of Heretikes, but most proper to these of all others. Who seeing all antiquitie against them, are forced to be more bold or rather impudent then others in that point. S. Dionysius Areopagita is all for the Catholikes.

Rhem. 6 That Dionysius Areopagita was author of those bookes which now beare his name, you bring no proofe at all. We alleage that Eusebius, Hierome, Gennadius neuer heard of his writings, for if they had heard, Dionysius Areopagita should haue bene registred by them among ecclesiasticall writers. And further whosoeuer shall read those bookes of his, shall find in deede many ceremonies, but as vnlike to the ceremonies of the popish church, as they are to ours. The rest, of the flight of heretikes, and that we see all antiquitie against vs, is but vaine iangling without proofe, and contrary to manifest proofe in our all writings against the papists, and namely in confutation of these popish notes. S. Denys.

CHAP. XVIII.

At Corinth in Achaia, he worketh with his owne hands, preaching IESVS to be CHRIST, vnto the Iewes vpon their Sabboths. 6 But they being obstinate and blaspheming, he in plaine termes forsaketh them, and turneth to the Gentils, among whom according to a vision that he had to embolden him, he planteth the Church in great numbers. 12 the obstinate Iewes in vaine soliciting the Proconsul against him. 18 From thence at length departing he returneth 19 by Ephesus (where he promiseth the Iewes to returne to them) 22 and so to Antioch in Syria (from whence he began his iourney, Act. 15.) 23 but not resting, by and by he goeth againe to visit the new Churches that he planted Act. 16. in Galatia and Phrygia: 24 Apollo in his absence mightily confounding the Iewes at Ephesus, 27 and afterward at Corinth.

AFter these thinges, departing from Athens, he came to Corinth.

2 And finding a certaine Iewe, named Aquila, borne in Pontus, who of late was come out of Italie, and Priscilla his wife (because Claudius had commanded al Iewes to depart from Rome) he came to them.

3 And because he was of the same craft, he remained with them, and wrought, (and they were tentmakers by their craft.)

4 And he disputed in the synagogue euery Sabboth, interposing the name of our Lord IESVS, and he exhorted the Iewes and the Greekes.

5 And when Silas and Timothee were come from Macedonia, Paul was instant in preaching, testifying to the Iewes that IESVS is CHRIST.

6 But they contradicting & blaspheming, he shaking his garments, said to them, Your blood vpon your owne head: I being cleane, from henceforth will go to the Gentiles.

7 And

AFter these things, Paul departed from Athens, and came to Corinth,

2 And found a certaine Iew named Aquila, borne in Pontus, lately come from Italie with his wife Priscilla, (because that Claudius had commanded all Iewes to depart from Rome) and he came vnto them.* Rom. 16. 3.

3 And because he was of the same craft, he abode with them, and wrought (for by their occupation they were Tent makers.)

4 And he disputed in the Synagogue euery Sabboth, and exhorted the Iewes, and the Greekes.

5 And when Silas and Timotheus were come from Macedonia, Paul was constrained by the spirit to testifie to the Iewes that Iesus was Christ.

*6 And when they saide contrary, and blasphemed, * he shooke his rayment, and sayd vnto them, Your blood bee vpon your owne heads: from henceforth will I goe blameless vnto the Gentiles.* Matt. 12. 14. acts 13. 51.

7 And

7 And departing thence, hee entred into the house of a certaine man, named Titus Iustus, one that serued God, whose house was adioyning to the synagogue.

8 And Crispus the prince of the Synagogue beleeued our Lord, with all his house: and many of the Corinthians hearing beleeued, and were baptized.

9 And our Lord said in the night by a vision to Paul, Doe not feare, but speake, and hold not thy peace,

10 For because I am with thee: and no man shall set vpon thee to hurt thee: for I haue much people in this citie.

11 And he sate there a yere and sixe moneths, teaching among thē the word of God.

12 But Gallio being Proconsul of Achaia, the Iewes with one accord rose vp against Paul, & brought him to the iudgement seat, 13 Saying, That this man contrary to the Law perswadeth men to worship God.

14 And Paul beginning to open his mouth, Gallio said to the Iewes, If it were some vniust thing, or an heinous fact, O you men Iewes, I should by reason beare you.

15 But if they be questions of word and names, & of your law, your selues looke vnto it: I will not be iudge of these things.

16 And he droue them from the iudgement seate.

17 And all apprehending Sósthenes the prince of the synagogue, strooke him before the iudgement seate: and Gallio cared for none of those things.

18 But Paul when he had staied yet many dayes, taking his leaue of the brethren, sailed to Syria, (and with him Priscilla and Aquila,) who had shorne his head in Cenchris. for he had * a vow.

Num.6,18. Act.21,24.

19 And he came vnto Ephesus, and them he left there. But himselfe entring into the synagogue, disputed with the Iewes.

20 And when they desired him, that he would tarie a longer time, he consented not,

21 But taking his leaue, and saying, I wil returne to you againe God willing, he departed from Ephesus.

22 And going downe to Cæsaréa, hee went vp, and saluted the Church, and came downe to Antioch.

23 And hauing taried there a certaine time, he departed, walking in order through the countrey of Galatia and Phrygia, confirming all the disciples.

Apollo.

24 And a certaine Iewe, named Apollo, borne at Alexandria, an eloquent man, came to Ephesus, mighty in the scriptures.

25 This man was taught the way of our Lord: and being feruent in spirit he spake, and taught diligently those things that pertaine to IESVS, knowing only the baptisme of Iohn.

26 This

7 And he departed thence, and entred into a certain mans house, named Iustus, a worshipper of God, whose house ioyned hard to the Synagogue.

*8 And one Crispus, the chiefe ruler of the Synagogue, beleeued on the Lorde with all his household: and many of the Corinthians hearing, beleeued, and were baptized. 1.Cor.1.14.

9 Then spake the Lorde to Paul in the night by a vision, Be not afraide, but speake, and holde not thy peace.

10 For I am with thee, and no man shall inuade thee, to hurt thee: For I haue much people in this citie.

11 And he continued there a yere & six moneths, teaching the word of God among them.

12 And when Gallio was the deputie of Achaia, the Iewes made insurrection with one accord against Paul, and brought him to the iudgement seate, 13 Saying, This fellow counselleth men to worship God contrary to the law.

14 And when Paul now was about to open his mouth, Gallio said vnto the Iewes, If it were a matter of wrong, or an euill deede, O ye Iewes, reason would that I should beare with you:

15 But if it be a question of words & names, or of your law, looke ye to it your selues: for I will be no iudge of such matters.

16 And he draue them from the iudgement seate.

17 Then all the Greekes tooke Sosthenes the chiefe ruler of the Synagogue, and smote him before the iudgement seate: and Gallio cared for none of those things.

18 And Paul after this taried there yet a good while, and then tooke his leaue of the brethren, and sailed thence into Syria, (Aquila and Priscilla accompanying him.) And he shore his head in Cenchrea: for he had a vow.

19 And he came to Ephesus, and left them there: but hee himselfe entred into the Synagogue, and reasoned with the Iewes.

20 When they desired him to tary longer time with them, he consented not:

*21 But bade them farewell, saying, I must needes at this feast that commeth, be in Hierusalem, but I will returne againe vnto you, * if God will: And he sailed from Ephesus.* 2.Cor.4.19. Iames 4.16.

22 And when he was come vnto Cesarea, and ascended vp, and saluted the Church, he went to Antioch.

23 And when he had taried there a while, he departed, and went ouer all the countrey of Galatia and Phrygia by order, strengthening all the disciples.

*24 * And a certaine Iewe, named Apollos,* 1.Cor.1.12. borne at Alexandria, came to Ephesus, an eloquent man, and mightie in the scriptures.

25 The same was informed in the way of the Lord, and being feruent in the spirit, he spake and taught diligently the things of the Lord, knowing onely the baptisme of Iohn.

26 And

26 This man therefore beganne to deale confidently in the synagogue. Whom when Priscilla and Aquila had heard, they tooke him vnto them, and expounded to him the way of our Lord more diligently.

27 And whereas he was desirous to goe to Achaia, the brethren exhorting wrote to the disciples to receiue him. Who, when he was come, profited them much that had beleeued.

28 For hee with vehemencie conuinced the Iewes openly, shewing by the scriptures, that IESVS is CHRIST.

26 And the same began to speake boldly in the Synagogue: Whom when Aquila and Priscilla had heard they tooke him vnto them, and expounded vnto him the way of God more perfectly.

27 And when he was disposed to goe into Achaia, the brethren wrote, exhorting the disciples to receiue him: Which when he was come, helped them much which had beleeued through grace.

28 For he ouercame the Iewes mightily and that openly, shewing by the scriptures that Iesus was that Christ.

CHAP. XIX.

How Paul began the Church of Ephesus, first in 12 that were baptized with Iohns baptisme, 8 then preaching three moneths in the Synagogue of the Iewes, vntill for their obstinacie and blaspheming, he forsooke them, disputing afterward in a certaine schoole for two yeeres space to the maruelous increase of the Church, specially through his great miracles also, in healing diseases with the touch of his clothes, and expelling diuels, 13 who yet contemned the Exorcists of the Iewes, 18 How the Christians there confesse their acts, and burne their vnlawfull bookes: 21 and how he foretold that after he had bene at Hierusalem, he must see Rome. 23 and what a great sedition was raised against him at Ephesus, by them that got their liuing of working to the idolatrous Temple of Diana.

The Epistle vpon Whitsun eue.

AND it came to passe when Apollo was at Corinth, that Paul hauing gone through the higher partes came to Ephesus, and found certaine disciples:

2 And he said to them, Haue you receiued the holy Ghost, beleeuing? But they said to him, Nay, neither haue we heard whether there be a holy Ghost.

3 But he said, In what then were you baptized? Who said, [c] In Iohns baptisme,

4 And Paul said: * Iohn baptized the people with the baptisme of penance, saying: That they should beleeue in him that was to come after him, that is to say, [c] in IESVS.

Mat.11. Mar.1. Luc.3.16.

5 Hearing these things, they were baptized in the name of our Lord IESVS.

6 And when Paul had ‡ imposed handes on them, the holy Ghost came vpon them, and they spake with tongues, and prophecied.

7 And all the men were about twelue.

8 And entring into the Synagogue, he spake confidently for three moneths, disputing and exhorting of the kingdome of God.

9 But when certaine were indurate, and beleeued not, il-speaking the way of our Lord before the multitude, departing from them, he separated the disciples, daily disputing in the schoole of one Tyrannus.

10 And this was done for the space of two yeeres, so that all which dwelt in Asia, heard the worde of our Lord, Iewes and Gentils.

11 And God wrought by the hande of Paul miracles not common:

12 So that there were also brought from his body ‖ napkins or handkerchefs vpon the sicke, and the diseases departed from them, and the wicked spirits went out.

AND it came to passe, that while Apollos was at Corinth, Paul passed thorow the vpper coastes, and came to Ephesus, and found certaine disciples,

2 And said vnto them, Haue ye receiued the holy Ghost since ye beleeued? And they said vnto him, We haue not heard whether there be any holy Ghost or no.

3 And he said vnto them, Vnto what then were yee baptized? And they saide, Vnto Iohns baptisme.

4 Then saide Paul, Iohn verily baptized with the baptisme of repentance, saying vnto the people, that they should beleeue on him which should come after him, that is, on Christ Iesus.

*5 * When they heard this, they were baptized in the name of the Lord Iesus.*

FVLKE. The Greeke is ἀκούσαντες δὲ. and they which heard him were baptized, &c.

6 And when Paul had laied his handes vpon them, the holy Ghost came on them, and they spake with tongues, and prophecied.

7 And all the men were about twelue.

8 And hee went into the synagogue, and spake boldly for the space of three moneths, disputing and perswading those thinges that appertaine to the kingdome of God.

9 But when diuers waxed hardhearted, and beleeued not, but spake euill of the way of the Lord, and that before the multitude, he departed from them, & separated the disciples: & he disputed daily in the schoole of one called Tyrannus.

10 And this continued by the space of two yeeres, so that all they which dwelt in Asia, heard the worde of the Lorde Iesus, both Iewes and Greekes.

11 And God wrought speciall miracles by the hands of Paul:

12 So that from his bodie were brought vnto the sicke, napkins, and partlets, and the diseases departed from them, and the euill spirits went out of them.

13 And

13 And certaine alſo of the Iudaicall exorciſts that went about aſſaied to inuocate vpon them that had euill ſpirits, the name of our Lord IESVS, ſaying, I adiure you by IESVS whom Paul preacheth.

14 And there were certaine ſonnes of Sceua a Iewe, chiefe Prieſt, ſeuen, that did this.

15 But the wicked ſpirit anſwering, ſayd to them, IESVS I know, and ‖ Paul I know: but you, what are ye?

16 And the man in whom the wicked ſpirite was, leaping vpon them, and maſtring † both, preuailed againſt them, ſo that they fled out of that houſe naked and wounded.

17 And this was made notorious to all the Iewes and the Gentiles that dwelt at Epheſus: and feare fell vpon all them, and the name of our Lord IESVS was magnified.

18 And many of them that beleeued, came confeſſing and declaring ‡ their deeds.

19 And many of them that had folowed ‖ curious thinges, brought together their ‖ bookes, and burnt them before all: & counting the prices of them, they found the money to be fiftie thouſand pence.

20 So mightily increaſed the worde of God and was confirmed.

21 And when theſe things were ended, Paul purpoſed in the Spirit, when hee had paſſed through Macedonia and Achaia, to goe to Hieruſalem, ſaying, After I ſhall haue beene there, I muſt ſee ‡ Rome alſo.

22 And ſending into Macedonia two of them that miniſtred vnto him, Timothee and Eraſtus, himſelfe remained for a time in Aſia.

23 And at that time there was made no litle trouble about the way of our Lord.

24 For one named Demetrius, a ſiluerſmith, that made ſiluer ᶜ temples of Diana, procured to the artificers no ſmall gaine:

ᶜ Naoi.

25 Whom calling together and them that were the ſame kinde of workemen, he ſaid, Sirs, you know that our gaine is of this occupation:

26 And you ſee, and heare that this ſame Paul by perſwaſion hath auerted a great multitude not only of Epheſus, but almoſt of all Aſia, ſaying, That they are not gods which be made by hands.

27 And not onely vnto vs is this part in danger to be reproued, but alſo the temple of great Diana ſhal be reputed for nothing, yea and her maieſtie ſhall begin to be deſtroied, whom all Aſia and the world worſhippeth.

28 Hearing theſe things, they were repleniſhed with anger, and cryed out ſaying, Great is Diana of the Epheſians.

29 And the whole citie was filled with confuſion, and they ranne violently with one

13 Then certaine of the vagabond Iewes, exorciſtes, tooke vpon them to call ouer them which had euill ſpirits, the name of the Lord Ieſus, ſaying, We adiure you by Ieſus whom Paul preacheth.

14 And there were ſeuen ſonnes of one Sceua a Iewe, and chiefe of the prieſts which did ſo.

15 And the euill ſpirite anſwered and ſaide, Ieſus I know, and Paul I knowe, but who are ye?

16 And the man in whom the euill ſpirit was, ran on them, and ouercame them, and preuailed againſt them, ſo that they fled out of that houſe naked and wounded.

17 And this was knowen to all the Iewes and Greekes alſo which dwelt at Epheſus, and feare came on them all, and the name of the Lord Ieſus was magnified.

18 And many that beleeued, came, and confeſſed, and ſhewed their workes.

19 Many alſo of them which vſed curious craftes, brought their bookes, and burned them before all men: and they counted the price of them, and found it fiftie thouſand pieces of ſiluer.

20 So mightily grewe the word of God, and preuailed.

21 After theſe thinges were ended, Paul purpoſed in the ſpirit, when he had paſſed ouer Macedonia and Achaia, to goe to Hieruſalem, ſaying, After I haue beene there, I muſt alſo ſee Rome.

22 So ſent he into Macedonia two of them that miniſtred vnto him, Timotheus and Eraſtus, but he himſelfe remained in Aſia for a ſeaſon.

23 And the ſame time there aroſe no litle a doe about that way.

24 For a certaine man, named Demetrius, a ſiluer ſmith, which made ſiluer ‖ ſhrines for Diana, miniſtred no ſmall gaine vnto the craftſmen:

‖ Or, temples coigne ſo called like to S. Ieins heads and other ſuperſtitious toyes, vſed in places of papiſt pilgrimage.

25 Whom he called together, with the workemen of like occupation, and ſaid, Sirs, ye knowe that by this craft we haue aduantage.

26 Moreouer, ye ſee and heare, that not alone at Epheſus, but almoſt throughout all Aſia, this Paul hath perſuaded and turned away much people, ſaying that they be no gods which are made with hands.

27 So that not onely this our craft commeth into perill to bee ſet at nought: but alſo that the temple of the great goddeſſe Diana ſhould be deſpiſed, and her magnificence ſhould be deſtroyed, whom all Aſia and the world worſhippeth.

28 And when they heard theſe ſayings, they were full of wrath, and cried out, ſaying, Great is Diana of the Epheſians.

29 And all the citie was on a rore, and they ruſhed into the common hall with one aſſent, and caught one accord into the theatre, touching Gaius and Aristarchus Macedonians, Paules companions.

30 And when Paul would haue entred in to the people, the disciples did not permit him.

31 And certaine also of the Princes of Asia that were his frendes, sent vnto him, desyring that he would not aduenture himselfe into the theatre.

32 And others cried an other thing, For the assembly was confuse, and the more part knew not for what cause they were assembled.

33 And of the multitude they drew forth Alexander, the Iewes thrusting him forward. But Alexander with his hand desiring silence, would haue giuen the people satisfaction.

34 Whom as soone as they perceiued to be a Iew, there was made one voice of all, almost for the space of two houres crying out, Great is Diana of the Ephesians.

35 And when the Scribe had appeased the multitudes, he saieth, Ye men of Ephesus, for what man is there that knoweth not the citie of the Ephesians to be a worshipper of great Diana, and [a] Iupiters child?

36 Forasmuch therefore as these thinges cannot be gainesaid, you must be quieted, and doe nothing rashly.

37 For you haue brought these men, being neither sacrilegious, nor blaspheming your Goddesse.

38 But if Demetrius & the artificers that are with him, haue matter to say against any man, there are Courts kept in the common place, and there are Proconsuls, let them accuse one another.

39 And if you aske any other matter: it may be resolued in a lawfull assemblie.

40 For we are in danger also to be accused for this dayes sedition: whereas there is no man guilty by whom we may giue an account of this concourse. And when he had said these things, he dimissed the assemblie.

[a] Sibonie.

caught Gaius and Aristarchus, men of Macedonia, Paules companions.

30 When Paul would haue entred in vnto the people, the disciples suffered him not.

31 But certaine of the chiefe of Asia, which were his friends, sent vnto him, desiring him that would not preasse into the common hall.

32 Some therefore cried one thing, and some another: & the assembly was all out of quiet, and the more part knewe not wherefore they were come together.

33 And certaine of the people drewe Alexander out of the multitude, the Iewes thrusting him forwards. And Alexander beckened with the hand, and would haue giuen the people an answere.

34 But when they knewe that he was a Iew, there arose a shout almost for the space of two houres, of all men, crying, Great is Diana of the Ephesians.

35 And when the towne clarke had pacified the people, he said, Ye men of Ephesus, what man is it that knoweth not how that the citie of the Ephesians is ‖ the temple keeper of the great goddesse Diana, & of the image which came downe from Iupiter?

36 Seeing then that these things cannot be spoken against, ye ought to be quiet, and to do nothing rashly.

37 For yee haue brought hither these men, which are neither robbers of Churches, nor yet blasphemers of your goddesse.

38 Wherefore if Demetrius, and the craftsmen which are with him, haue a matter against any man, the law is open, and there are deputies, let them accuse one another.

39 But if yee enquire any thing concerning others matters, it shall be determined in a lawfull assembly.

40 For wee are in ieopardie to be accused of this dayes vprore, forasmuch as there is no cause wherby we may giue a reckoning of this concourse of people.

41 And when he had thus spoken, he let the assembly depart.

Pauls bodie, wrought miracles, and it was no superstition to attribute that vertue to them which God gaue to them in deede: nor to seeke to touch them for health, was any dishonour to God, but is much proued Christs religion to be true, and him to be the only God, whose seruants, yea whose seruants * shades & napkins could do such wonders, as S. Chrysostome* (to. 5. cont. Gentiles quod Christus sit Deus, in vit. Babylæ) sheweth in a whole booke to that purpose, against the Pagans, proouing hereby and by the like vertue of other Saincts & their Relikes, that Christ their Lord and Maister is God. for it is all one concerning the bodies of Saincts, reliques, garments, statues, bookes, or any thing that belonged to them, all which may and haue done and yet doe (when it is necessarie to our edification) the like wonders to Gods great honour: not onely in their life time, but after their death much more. for S. Pauls napkins had as great force when he was dead, as when he liued, and so much more, as his grace and dignitie with God is greater then before. Which S. Chrysostome in the place alleaged proueth at large by the shrine of S. Babylas the Martyr: and to thinke the contrarie, is the Heresie of Vigilantius, condemned so long since as S. Hieroms time, and by him refuted abundantly. Touching of Relikes, & miracles done by the same Act. 5.15.

FVLKE. 8 There was no vertue in the napkins by touching of S. Pauls bodie: the text saith plainly, the miracles were wrought of God by the hand of Paul. The napkins and handkercheſes were but outward tokens, to confirme the faith of them that were to be healed in the absence of the Apostle, that they might know that the gift of healing which he had receiued of God, was not tied to the presence of his body, but that he could (when it pleased God) dispense it being absent: not that whosoeuer touched those napkins was by and by healed. The miracles whereof Chrysostome speaketh, which were wrought at the sepulchres of Martyrs, do indeede commend the grace of Christ their maister, whose faithfull witnesses they were. But therof it followeth not, that all things which haue touched holy men, must be honored superstitiously as their reliques, or that we must looke for miracles at the tombes of euery sainct. Finally whatsoeuer Hierome in heat wrote against Vigilantius, who reproued the superstition that began to grow in honoring of saincts reliques, is nothing to defend the cartlodes of your counterfect reliques, which are such grosse impostures and cosenages of the world, as the like impudencie in faining of superstitious fables to deceiue men with idolatrie, was neuer found in the Pagans. He that hath not obserued of his owne knowledge and experience, may read in Caluins admonition concerning reliques. Which admonition if it had bene, or yet might be folowed, that an inuentary were made of all the saincts reliques that were said to be in euery church and abbey, the monsters of popish reliques would exceed Lucians true narrations. Where you say that reliques doe yet wonders amongst you, they be none other but the lying signes of Antichrist, and if they were rightly examined, they would proue to be nothing els but forgeries. But if any wonders be wrought to maintaine idolatrie and superstition (as S. Augustine saith of the miracles of the Donatists) we haue more neede to beware of them. De vnit. eccle. cap. 16. For miracles are not sufficient to commend any religion to be true, but true religion commendeth true miracles. The Montanists had miracles, as witnesseth Tertullian. lib. De anima cap. Nihil animæ. Marcus the heretike wrought wonders about the sacrament of the cup. Ireneus lib. 1 cap. 9. Vigilantius was not condemned of heresie by the Church, although Hierome did write so bitterly against him, who did write also against S. Augustine, and against Ruffinus, which yet were counted as good catholikes as he. As for Vigilantius, neither by Epiphanius, Philastrius, Augustin, Theodoret, Isidorus, Damascen, Antiochus or any other ancient writer that gathered the catalogue of heretikes and heresies that were before their time is once touched, or his opinion against the immoderate estimation of reliques condemned. Miracles. Reliques.

RHEM. 9 16 Paul I know.) *Both the said napkins taken from S. Pauls bodie, and his name also, were dreadfull and able to expell diuels. Whereby we learne that not only Christs name, which is the principall, but his seruants names also inuocated vpon the possessed, haue power ouer diuels: which is a marueilous honour to Saincts, & nothing diminisheth the glory of Christ, but exceedingly increaseth the same, not only himselfe, but his seruants also being able to do such things, and to be stronger then any diuell in hell. So we read in * S. Hierome that many did inuocate the name of S. Hilarion vpon the possessed, and the diuels straight departed, so did the diuell know * S. Babylas and other Saincts, euen after they were dead, when they could not speake for the presence of their Reliques, and when they were tormented and expelled by them: whereof all antiquitie is full of testimonies. But our Heretikes Luther and Caluin and their Scholers attempting to cast out diuels, sped much like as these good fellowes did.* The name, presence, or holy of Saincts & holy men, confound the Diuel.

In vit. Hilarionis.

Chrys. loco citato.

FVLKE. 9 Tho deuill in this place obeied neither the name of Paul nor of Iesus, therfore neither of both names vttered by coniurers were able to expell deuils. And therefore I maruell whereupon you dreamed, when you gathered this note vpon these words, Paul I know. In S. Hierome re read that many by S. Hilarion were deliuered from deuils, but that any other did cast out deuils in his name we read not. Of the miracles done at the tombs of Martyrs I haue spoken before. That Luther & Caluin attempted to cast out deuils, and sped as these Iewish coniurers, it is a popish slander inuented by a lying spirit, which possesseth many papists. Slander.

RHEM. 10 19 Curious things.) Curious and vnlawfull sciences, as Witchcraft, Necromancie, and other meanes of diuination by southsaying, figure-casting, interpretation of dreames, or any way not allowed by God and his Church, must much more be abhorred of old Christians, when these so lately conuerted were so zealous and diligent to leaue them. And by this example all that are newly reconciled to the Church, are taught, the first thing they doe, to burne their heretical and naughtie bookes. Superstitious, heretical, and hurtfull bookes must be burned away.

FVLKE. 10 If heretical bookes be confuted (as most of the popish bookes are) it is not necessarie to burne them. For by reading them with their confutations, the true Christians shall learne more and more to detest their heresies: as in the bookes confuted by S. Augustine, S. Cyrill, and others is manifest. But papists which know they can not preuaile against the truth, will haue all bookes of true doctrine (which they call heresie) to be burned and defaced: yea euen the holy scriptures, if they be not of their owne translation.

19 Bookes.)

RHEM. 19 Bookes.) A Christian man is bound to burne or deface all wicked bookes of what sort soeuer, specially Heretical bookes. Which though they infect not him alway that keepeth them, yet being furth comming, they may be noisome and pernitious to other that shall haue them and read them after his death, or otherwise. Therefore hath the Church taken order for condemning all such bookes, and against the reading of them, where danger may ensue: and the Christian Emperors, Constantinus Magnus, Valentinian, Theodosius, Martian, Iustinian, made penall lawes for the burning or defacing of them. Sozom. lib. 1. cap. 20. lib. 2. cap. 31. CHAP. XX.

Hauing visited the Churches of Macedonia and Achaia (as he purposed Act. 19.) and now about to saile from Corinth toward Hierusalem, because of the Iewes lying in waite for him, he is constrained to returne into Macedonia. 6 And so at Philippos taking boat, commeth to Troas, where vpon the Sunday, with a sermon, and a miracle, he greatly confirmeth that Church. 13 Thence comming to Miletum, 17 he sendeth to Ephesus for the Clergie of those parts, to whom he maketh a Pastorall sermon, committing vnto their charge the flocke begunne by him there, and now like to be seene of him no more, considering the troubles that by reuelation he looketh for at Hierusalem.

AND after that the tumult was ceased, Paul calling the disciples, & exhorting them, tooke his leaue, and set forward to goe into Macedonia.

2 And whē he had walked through those partes, and had exhorted them with much speech, he came to Greece:

3 Where when he had spent three moneths, the Iewes laid wait for him as he was about to saile into Syria: and he had counsel to returne through Macedonia.

4 And there accompanied him Sosipater of Pyrrhus, of Berœa: and of Thessalonians, Aristarchus, & Secundus: and Caius of Derbè, and Timothee: and of Asia, Tychicus and Trophimus.

5 These going before, stayed for vs at Troas:

6 But we sailed after the dayes of Azymes from Philippi, and came to them vnto Troas in fiue dayes, where we abode seuen dayes.

7 And in the first of the Sabboth when we were assembled to † breake bread, Paul disputed with them, being to depart on the morow, and he continued the sermon vntill midnight.

8 And there were a great number of lampes in the vpper chamber where wee were assembled.

9 And a certaine young man named Eutychus, sitting vpon the window, whereas he was oppressed with heauie sleepe (Paul disputing long) driuen by sleepe, fell from the third loft downe, and was taken vp dead.

10 To whom whē Paul was gone downe, he lay vpon him: & embracing him he saide, Be not troubled, for his soule is in him.

11 And going vp and breaking bread and tasting, and hauing talked sufficiently to them vntill day light, so he departed.

12 And they brought the lad aliue, and were not a litle comforted.

13 But we going vp into the ship, sailed to Assos, from thence meaning to receiue Paul. for so he had ordained, himselfe purposing to iourney by land.

14 And

AND after the vprore was ceased, Paul called the disciples, and tooke his leaue of them, and departed, for to goe into Macedonia.

2 And when he had gone ouer those partes, and had giuen them a long exhortation, he came into Greece,

3 And there abode three moneths: & when the Iewes laid waite for him, as he was about to saile into Syria, he purposed to returne thorow Macedonia.

4 And there accompanied him into Asia Sopater of Berœa: and of the Thessalonians Aristarcus, and Secundus, and Gaius of Derbe, and Timotheus: and out of Asia Tychicus and Trophimus.

5 These going before, taried vs at Troas:

6 And we sailed away from Philippos, after the dayes of sweete bread, and came vnto them to Troas in fiue dayes, where wee abode seuen dayes.

*7 And vpon one of the Sabboth dayes, when the disciples came together for to breake bread, Paul reasoned with them, readie to depart on the morrow, and continued the talke vnto midnight. Act. 2. 46.

8 And there were many lightes in an vpper chamber where they were gathered together.

9 And there sate in a windowe a certaine young man named Eutychus, being fallen into a deepe sleepe: and as Paul was long reasoning, he was the more ouercome with sleepe, and fell downe from the third loft, and was taken vp dead.

10 But when Paul went downe, he fell on him and embraced him, and said, Make nothing a doe: for his life is in him.

11 When he therefore was come vp againe, and had broken bread and eaten, and talked a long while, euen till the morning, so he departed.

12 And they brought the young man aliue, and were not a litle comforted.

13 And we went afore to ship, and sailed vnto Asson, there to receiue Paul: for so had he appointed, minding himselfe to goe afoote.

14 And when he had found vs in Asson, taking him with vs we came to Mitylene.

15 And sailing thence, the day folowing we came ouer against Chios: and the other day we arriued at Samos: and the day folowing we came to Miletum.

16 For Paul had purposed to saile leauing Ephesus, lest any stay should be made him in Asia. For he hastned, if it were possible for him, to keepe the day of ‖ Pentecost at Hierusalem.

17 And sending from Miletum to Ephesus, he called the [c] Auncients of the Church.

[c] πρεσβυτέρους. [c] That is, Priests, as Act. 15, 4. See the marginall annot. there. Act. 19, 1.

18 Who being come to him, and assembled together, he said to them, You know * from the first day that I entred into Asia, in what maner I haue beene with you all the time,

19 Seruing our Lord with all humilitie and teares, and tentations, that did chaunce to me by the conspiracies of the Iewes:

20 How I haue withdrawen nothing that was profitable, but that I preached it to you, and taught you openly and from house to house,

21 Testifying to Iewes and Gentils ‡ penance toward God and faith in our Lorde IESVS CHRIST.

22 And now behold, being bound by the spirit, I goe to Hierusalem: not knowing what things shall befall me in it, 23 But that the Holy Ghost through out all cities doth protest to mee, saying: that bands and tribulations abide me at Hierusalem.

24 But I feare none of these things, neither doe I make my life more precious then my selfe, so that I may consummat my course and ministerie which I receiued of our Lord IESVS, to testifie the Gospel of the grace of God.

25 And now behold I doe knowe, that you shall no more see my face all you, through whom I haue passed preaching the kingdome of God.

26 Wherefore I take you to witnesse this present day that I am cleere from the blood of all.

27 For I haue not spared to declare vnto you all the counsell of God.

28 Take heede to your selues and to the whole flocke wherein the ‡ Holy Ghost hath placed you bishops, to rule the Church of God which he hath purchased with his owne blood.

‡ Bishops or priests (for then these names were sometime vsed indifferently) gouernours of the Church of God, and placed in that roome and high function by the Holy Ghost.

29 I knowe that after my departure there will ‖ rauening wolues enter in among you, not sparing the flocke.

30 And out of your owne selues shall arise men speaking peruerse things, to drawe away disciples after themselues.

31 For

14 And when he was come to vs to Asson, we tooke him in, and came to Mitylene.

15 And we sailed thence, and came the next day ouer against Chios, and the next day we arriued at Samos, and taryed at Trogyllium: the next day we came to Miletum.

16 For Paul had determined to saile ouer by Ephesus, because he would not spende the time in Asia: for he hasted, if it were possible for him, to be at Hierusalem the day of Pentecost.

17 And from Miletum he sent to Ephesus, and called the Elders of the Church.

18 Which when they were come to him, hee said vnto them, Ye know from the first day that I came into Asia, after what maner I haue beene with you at all seasons,

19 Seruing the Lord with all humblenesse of minde, and with many teares, and temptations, which came vnto me by the layings of waite of the Iewes:

20 And how I kept backe nothing that was profitable vnto you, but haue shewed you, and haue taught you openly and throughout euery house,

21 Witnessing both to the Iewes and also to the Greekes, the repentance that is toward God, and the faith which is towarde our Lorde Iesus Christ.

22 And now beholde, I goe bound in the spirit vnto Hierusalem, not knowing the things that shall come vnto me:

23 But that the holy Ghost witnesseth in euery citie, saying that bondes and troubles abide me.

24 But none of these things moone me, neither count I my life deare vnto my selfe, so that I might fulfill my course with ioy, and the ministerie which I haue receiued of the Lord Iesu, to testifie the Gospel of the grace of God.

25 And now beholde, I am sure that hencefoorth yee all, among whom I haue gone preaching the kingdome of God, shall see my face no more.

26 Wherefore, I take you to record this day, that I am pure from the blood of all men.

27 For I haue kept nothing backe, but haue shewed you all the counsell of God.

28 Take heede therefore vnto your selues, and to all the flocke, ouer the which the holy ghost hath made you ouerseers, to rule the Church of God, which hee hath purchased with his owne blood.

29 For I know this, that after my departing, shall grieuous wolues enter in among you, not sparing the flocke.

30 Also of your owne selues shall men arise, speaking peruerse things, to draw away disciples after them.

31 There-

31 For the which cause be vigilant, keeping in memorie that for three yeeres night and day I ceased not with teares to admonish euery one of you.

32 And nowe I commend you to God and to the word of his grace, who is able to edifie, and to giue inheritance in all the sanctified.

33 No mans siluer and gold or garment haue I coueted.

34 Your selues know that for such things as were needefull for mee and them that are with me, these hands haue ministred.

35 I haue shewed you all things, that so labouring, you must receiue the weake, and remember the word of our Lord IESVS, because hee said, ‖ It is a more blessed thing to giue rather then to take.

36 And when hee had said these things, falling on his knees he prayed with all them.

37 And there was great weeping made of all, and falling vpon the necke of Paul, they kissed him.

38 Being sorie most of all for the worde which hee had sayd, that they should see his face no more. And they brought him going vnto the ship.

31 Therefore watch, and remember that by the space of three yeeres I ceased not to warne euery one night and day with teares.

32 And now brethren, I commend you to God, and to the worde of his grace, which is able to build further, and to giue you an inheritance among all them which are sanctified.

33 I haue desired no mans siluer, or gold, or vesture.

34 Yea, ye your selues know, that these hands haue ministred vnto my necessities, and to them that were with me. 1.Cor.4.12. 1.thes.2.9. 2.thes.3.8.

35 I haue shewed you all things, howe that so labouring ye ought to helpe the weake, and to remember the wordes of the Lorde Iesu (howe that he sayd) It is more blessed to giue, then to receiue.

36 And when he had thus spoken, he kneeled downe, and prayed with them.

37 And they all wept sore, and fell on Pauls necke, and kissed him,

38 Sorowing most of all for the wordes which he spake, that they should see his face no more: And they accompanied him vnto the shippe.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. XX.

RHEM. 3 16. Pentecost.) Though the Apostles might desire to come to the Iewes Festiuities, by reason of the generall concourse of people to the same, the better to deale for their saluation and to spread the Gospel of Christ, yet it is like that they nowe kept solemnly the Christian Pentecost or Whitsontide, for memorie of the holy Ghost, and that S. Paul went to that Feast of the Christians rather then the other of the Iewes. And Ven. Beda saith here, The Apostle maketh haste to keepe the fiftieth day, that is, of remission and of the holy Ghost. For, that the Christians already kept the eight day, that is, the Sunday or our Lords day, and had altered already the ordinarie Sabboth into the same, it is plaine by the Scriptures, (1. Cor.16.2. Apoc.1.10.) and by antiquitie. Iustin. Mart. Apolog.2. ad Anton. Pium in fine. *And it is as like that they changed the Iewes Paschе and Pentecost as that, specially when is is euident that * these Festiuities be kept by Apostolike tradition, and approued by the vse of all ancient Churches and Councels.* The Christian Pentecost. Sunday. Aug.ep.118.c.1.

FVLKE. 3 The Pasche and Pentecost now obserued, doe differ from the Iewes feastes: therefore the Apostles could not celebrate them both together. And the diuersitie of celebration that was immediatly after the Apostles, argueth that the Apostles, (as in a thing indifferent) decreed nothing certainly, which appeareth in the controuersie betweene Polycarpus, and Anicetus, Irenæus apud Euseb.lib.5.cap.26.

RHEM. 4 29. Rauening wolues.) The gouernours of the Church are foretold of the great danger that should fall to the people by wolues, that is to say, by heretikes, whose cruelty toward the Catholikes is noted by this terme. They be knowen by the forsaking the vnity of the Church whereof they were before, by going out and drawing many disciples after them, and by their peruerse doctrine. Such wolues came afterward indeede in diuers ages, Arius, Macedonius, Nestorius, Eutyches, Luther, Caluin, great bloodsucking wolues, and wasters of the flocke of Christ. Rauening wolues are the Heretikes of all ages.

FVLKE. 4 Caluine and Luther were no rauening wolues, nor bloodsuckers, but faithfull and diligent Pastors. Slander.

RHEM. 5 35. More blessed to giue.) Among many other infinite goodly things and speaches which Christ spake and be not written in the Gospels, this sentence is one: which S. Paul heard of some of the Apostles dayly conuersant with him, or els learned of Christ himselfe, or of the holy Ghost. And it signifieth, that whereas the world commonly counteth him happie that receiueth any benefit, as almes either temporal or spirituall, yet in deede he that giueth or bestoweth, is more happie. Which if the world did well consider, men would giue almes faster then they do, if it were but for their owne benefit. Christs speaches not written in the Gospel. Great almesmen blessed.

FVLKE. 5 This helpeth nothing your Popish vnwritten traditions, for this doctrine, though not in such forme of wordes, yet in substance of matter, is written in the Gospel, yea in the Law and the Prophets. Vnwritten traditions.

CHAP. XXI.

From Miletum going on his iourney, 4 he cannot be dissuaded neither at Tyre, 8 nor at Cæsarea (in both which places the holy Ghost reueled how he should be handled in Hierusalem, 10 the Prophet Agabus expressly foretelling that the Iewes there should deliuer him to the Gentiles) 15 but to Hierusalem he commeth: where being welcome to the the Christians, and namely vo Iames the Bishop, and to the Priests, while hee goeth about to satisfie the Christian Iewes there, who had bene misinformed of him as if he had taught it to bee vnlawfull for the Iewes to keepe Moyses Law: 27 he is inuaded by the infidel Iewes, and ready to be murdered by them, vntill the Romane souldiers doe rescue him.

AND when it came to passe that we sailed, being carried from them, with a straight course wee came to Cóos, and the day following to Rhodes, and from thence to Pátara.

2 And when wee had found a ship that passed ouer to Phœnice, going vp into it we sailed.

3 And when we were in the sight of Cypres, leauing it on the left hand, we sailed into Syria, and came to Tyre: for there the ship was to discharge her lode.

4 And finding disciples, wee taried there seuen dayes: who sayd to Paul by the Spirit, that hee should not go vp to Hierusalem.

5 And the dayes being expired, departing we went forward, all bringing vs on the way, with their wiues and children, till wee were out of the citie: and falling vpon our knees on the shore, we prayed.

6 And when wee had bid one another farewell, we went vp into the ship: and they returned vnto their owne.

7 But wee hauing ended the nauigation, from Tyre came downe to Ptolemáis: and saluting the brethren, wee taried one day with them.

8 And the next day departing, we came to Cæsarêa. And entring into the house of Act.6,5. *Philip the Euangelist, who was one of the seuen, we taried with him.

9 And he had ‡ foure daughters ‖ virgins that did prophesie.

10 And as wee abode there for certaine dayes, there came a certaine prophet from Iewrie, named Agabus.

11 He, when hee was come to vs, tooke Pauls girdle: and binding his owne handes and feete, he sayd, Thus saith the holy Ghost: The man whose girdle this is, so shall the Iewes binde in Hierusalem, and shall deliuer him into the hands of the Gentiles.

12 Which when we had heard, wee and they that were of the same place, desired him that he would not goe vp to Hierusalem.

13 Then Paul answered, and sayd, What doe you, weeping and afflicting my heart? for I am ready not onely to be bound, but to die also in Hierusalem for the name of our Lord IESVS.

14 And when wee could not perswade him, we ceased, saying, The will of our Lord be done.

15 And after these dayes, being prepared, we went vp to Hierusalem.

16 And there came also of the disciples from Cæsarêa with vs, bringing with them one Iason a Cyprian (with whom we should lodge) an old disciple.

17 And

AND when it came to passe that wee had launched foorth, and were departed from them, we came with a straight course vnto Choos, and the day following vnto the Rhodes, and from thence vnto Patara.

2 And when we had found a ship sailing vnto Phœnice, we went aboord, and set foorth.

3 Now when Cyprus began to appeare vnto vs, we left it on the left hand, and sailed into Syria, and came vnto Tyre: for there the ship vnladed the burden.

4 And when we had found disciples, we taried there seuen dayes: who said to Paul through the spirite, that he should not goe vp to Hierusalem.

5 And when the daies were ended, we departed, and went our way, and they all brought vs on our way, with wiues and children, till we were come out of the citie: and wee kneeled downe on the shore, and prayed.

6 And when we had taken our leaue one of another, we tooke ship, and they returned home againe.

7 When wee had full ended the course from Tyre, we went downe to Ptolomaida, and saluted the brethren, and abode with them one day.

*8 And the next day, wee that were of Pauls companie, departed, and came vnto Cæsarea, and we entred into the house of Philip the Euangelist (which was one the seuen) and abode Act.6,5. with him.

9 And the same man had foure daughters, virgins, which did prophesie.

10 And as wee taried there a good many of dayes, there came a certaine Prophet from Iurie, named Agabus.

11 And when he was come vnto vs, he tooke Pauls girdle, and bound his owne handes and feete, and sayd, Thus sayth the holy Ghost, So shall the Iewes at Hierusalem bind the man that oweth this girdle, and shall deliuer him into the handes of the Gentiles.

12 And when we heard these things, both we and other which were of the same place, besought him, that he would not goe vp to Hierusalem.

13 Then Paul answered, What doe ye weeping and vexing mine heart? for I am ready not to be bound onely, but also to die at Hierusalem for the name of the Lord Iesus.

14 And when we could not turne his mind, we ceased, saying, The will of the Lord be fulfilled.

15 And after those dayes we tooke vp our burdens, and went vp to Hierusalem.

16 There went with vs also certaine of the disciples of Cæsarea, and brought with them one Mnason of Cyprus, an old disciple, with whom we should lodge.

17 And

17 And when we were come to Hierusalem, the brethren receiued vs gladly.

18 And the day folowing Paul went in with vs to Iames, and all the Auncients were assembled.

19 Whom when he had saluted, he tolde particularly what God had done among the Gentiles by his ministerie.

20 But they hearing it, magnified God, and sayd to him: Thou seest (brother) howe many thousands there are among the Iewes that haue beleeued: and all are zelátours of the Law.

21 But they haue heard of thee that thou doest teach those Iewes that are among the Gentiles, to depart from Moyses: saying that they ought not to circumcise their children, nor walke according to the custome.

22 What is it then? needes must the multitude assemble: for they wil heare that thou art come.

23 Doe this therefore which we tel thee, There are with vs foure men, that haue a vowe on them.

24 Taking these vnto thee, sanctifie thy selfe with them: and bestow on them, that they may *shaue their heads: and all shall knowe that the things which they heard of thee, are false: but that thy selfe also walkest ‖ keeping the Law.

25 But concerning them that beleeue of the Gentiles, * wee haue written, decreeing that they should refraine themselues from the immolated to Idols, and blood, and suffocated, and fornication.

26 Then Paul taking the men vnto him, the next day being purified with them entred into the tẽple, shewing the accomplishment of the * dayes of the purification, vntill an oblatiõ was offred for euery one of them.

27 But whiles the seuen dayes were a finishing, those Iewes that were of Asia, when they had seene him in the temple, stirred vp all the people, and layd hands vpon him,

28 Crying, Ye men of Israël, helpe: this is the man that against the people & the Law and this place teaching al men euery where, hath also moreouer brought in Gentiles into the temple, & hath violated this holy place.

29 (For they had seene Trophimus the Ephesian in the citie with him, whom they supposed that Paul had brought into the temple.)

30 And the whole citie was in an vprore: and there was made a concourse of the people. And apprehending Paul, they drew him foorth of the temple: and immediatly the doores were shut.

31 And as they sought to kill him, it was told the Tribune of the band, That all Hierusalem is in a confusion.

32 Who forthwith taking vnto him souldiers

17 And when wee were come to Hierusalem, the brethren receiued vs gladly.

18 And on the morowe Paul went in with vs vnto Iames, and all the Elders came together.

19 And when he had saluted them, he tolde by order all things that God had wrought among the Gentiles by his ministery.

20 And when they heard it, they glorified the Lord, and said vnto him, Thou seest, brother, how many thousand Iewes there are which beleeue, and they are all earnest followers of the lawe.

21 And they are informed of thee, that thou teachest all the Iewes, which are among the Gentiles, to forsake Moses, saying that they ought not to circumcise their children, neither to walke after the customes.

22 What is it therefore? the multitude must needes come together: for they shall heare that thou art come.

23 Doe therefore this that wee say to thee: Wee haue foure men which haue a vowe on them,

24 *Them take, and purifie thy selfe with them, and doe cost on them, that they may shaue their heads: * and all shall knowe that those things which they had heard concerning thee, are nothing, but that thou thy selfe also walkest and keepest the law.* Nu.6.18.

25 *As touching the Gentiles which beleeue, * wee haue written and concluded, that they obserue no such thing, saue onely that they keepe themselues from things offered to idoles, and from blood, and from strangled, and from fornication.* Act.15.20.

26 *Then Paul tooke the men, and the next day purifying himselfe with them, entred into the temple, * declaring the accomplishment of the dayes of the purification, vntill that an offering should be offered for euery one of them.* Nu.6.13.

27 And when the seuen dayes were almost ended, the Iewes which were of Asia, when they sawe him in the temple, moued all the people, and laid hands on him,

28 Crying, Men of Israel, helpe: this is the man that teacheth all men euery where against the people, and the lawe, and this place: he hath also brought Greekes into the temple, and hath polluted this holy place.

29 (For they had seene before with him in the citie, Trophimus an Ephesian, whom they supposed that Paul had brought into the temple.)

30 And all the citie was moued, and the people swarmed together: and they tooke Paul, and drewe him out of the temple: and forthwith the doores were shut.

31 And as they went about to kill him, tidings came vnto the high captaine of the souldiers, that all Hierusalem was in an vprore.

32 Which immediatly tooke souldiers, and vnder- diers and Centurions, ranne downe to them. Who, when they had ſeene the Tribune and the ſouldiers, ceaſed to ſtrike Paul.

33 Then the Tribune comming neere apprehended him, and commaunded him to be bound with two chaines: and he demaunded who he was, and what he had done.

34 And ſome cried one thing, ſome an other, in the multitude. And whereas he could not knowe the certaintie for the tumult, hee commanded him to be led [c] into the caſtell.

[c] In caſtra. So in the places folowing.

35 And when he was come to the ſtaires, it chaunced that he was caried of the ſouldiers becauſe of the violence of the people.

36 For the multitude of the people followed, crying, Away with him.

37 And when Paul began to be brought into the caſtell, he ſaith to the Tribune, Is it lawfull for me to ſpeake ſomething to thee? Who ſayd, Canſt thou ſpeake Greeke?

38 Art not thou the Ægyptian that before theſe daies did raiſe a tumult, and didſt leade foorth into the deſert foure thouſand men, that were murderers?

Act.22,3. 39 And Paul ſayd to him, * I am a man truely a Iew of Tarſus, a citizen not of an obſcure citie of Cilicia. And I deſire thee, permit me to ſpeake to the people.

40 And when he had permitted him, Paul ſtanding on the ſtaires, beckened with his hand to the people. and great ſilence being made, hee ſpake vnto them in the Hebrew tongue, ſaying.

vndercaptaines, and ranne downe vnto them: and when they ſawe the chiefe captaine and the ſouldiers, they left ſmiting of Paul.

33 Then the chiefe captaine came neere, and tooke him, and commanded him to be bound with two chaines, and demaunded who he was, and what he had done.

34 And ſome cried one thing, ſome another, among the people: and when he could not knowe the certaintie for the rage, he commaunded him to be caried into the caſtle.

35 And when he came vpon the ſtaires, it was ſo that hee was borne of the ſouldiers for the violence of the people.

36 For the multitude of the people folowed after, crying, Away with him.

37 And when Paul began to bee caried into the caſtle, he ſayd vnto the high captaine, May I ſpeake vnto thee? Who ſaide, Canſt thou ſpeake Greeke?

*38 * Art thou not that Egyptian which before theſe dayes madeſt an vprore, and leddeſt out into the wilderneſſe foure thouſand men that were murderers?* Act.5,36.

*39 But Paul ſaied, I am a man which am a Iewe of * Tarſus, a citie in Cilicia, a citizen of noe vile citie: and I beſeech thee ſuffer me to ſpeake vnto the people.* Act.22,3.

40 And when he had giuen him licence, Paule ſtoode on the ſtaires, and beckned with the hand vnto the people: and when there was made a great ſilence, he ſpake vnto them in the Hebrew tounge, ſaying.

RHEM. 1 9. Foure daughters.) As S. Peter had a wife, but vſed her not after his calling, as it is noted els where out of S. Hierome Luk. 4,38: ſo may it be ſayd of S. Philip being Deacon.

CHAP. XXII.

Being licenced by the Tribune to ſpeake to the people, he ſheweth them that he was once as earneſt on that ſide as they now be: 6 and how ſtrange and miraculous his converſion was. 17 They heare him quietly, vntil he began to make mention of a viſion that ſent him away from them to the Gentiles. 22 Then they crie out vpon him ſo, 23 that for their crying the Tribune commaundeth him to be ſcourged. 25 Which yet by his wiſedome he eſcapeth.

MEn brethren and fathers, heare what account I doe render nowe vnto you.

Act.21,39. 3 And he ſaieth,) * I am a man a Iewe, borne at Tarſus in Cilicia, but brought vp in this citie, at the feete of Gamaliel inſtructed according MEN, brethren, and fathers, heare yee mine anſwere which I make vnto you.

2 (And when they heard that he ſpake in the Hebrewe tongue to them, they kept the more ſilence: and he ſaieth,)

3 I am verily a man which am a Iewe, borne in Tarſus a citie in Cilicia, and yet brought vp in this citie at the feete of Gamaliel, and taught according to the verity of the lawe of the fathers, an emulator of the Law as also all you are this day:

4 Who *persecuted this way vnto death, binding and deliuering into custodies men and women,

5 As the high Priest doth giue mee testimonie, and all the ancients.

6 Of whom *receiuing letters also to the brethren, I went to Damascus, that I might bring them thence bound to Hierusalem, to be punished.

7 And it came to passe as I was going, and drawing nigh to Damascus at midday, suddenly from heauen there shone round about me much light:

8 And falling on the ground, I heard a voice saying to me, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me?

9 And I answered, Who art thou Lorde? And he said to me, I am IESVS of Nazareth, whom thou persecutest.

10 And they that were with me, saw the light in deede, but the voice they heard not of him that spake with me.

11 And I saide, What shall I doe Lorde? And our Lord said to mee, Arise and goe to Damascus: and there it shall be told thee of all things that thou must doe.

12 And whereas I did not see for the brightnes of that light, being led of my companions by the hand, I came to Damascus.

13 And one Ananias, a man according to the Lawe hauing testimonie of all the Iewes inhabitants, 14 Comming to me, and standing by me, said to me, Brother Saul, looke vp. And I the selfe same houre looked vpon him.

15 But he said, The God of our fathers hath prëordained thee, that thou shouldest know his will, and see the Iust one, and heare a voice from his mouth:

16 Because thou shalt bee his witnesse to al men, of those things which thou hast seene and heard.

17 And nowe what tariest thou? Rise vp, and be baptized, and ‡ wash away thy sinnes inuocating his name.

18 And it befell me returning into Hierusalem, and praying in the temple, that I was in a trance,

19 And sawe him saying vnto me, Make haste, and depart quickly out of Hierusalem: because they will not receiue thy testimony of me.

20 And I said, Lord, they know that I did cast into prison and beat in euery synagogue them that beleeued in thee.

21 And when the blood of Steuen thy ‖witnes was shed, ‡ I stood by and consented, and kept the garments of them that killed him.

22 And taught according to the perfect maner of the law of the fathers, and was zealous towards God, as ye all are this same day.

4 And I persecuted this way vnto the death, Act.9.8.
binding and deliuering into prisons both men and women,

5 As also the chiefe Priest doth beare mee witnesse, and all the estate of the elders, of whom also I receiued letters vnto the brethren, and went to Damascus, to bring them which were there, bound vnto Hierusalem, for to bee punished.

6 And it came to passe, that as I made my iourney, and was come nigh vnto Damascus about noone, suddenly there shone from heauen a great light round about me:

7 And I fell vnto the earth, and heard a voice saying vnto me, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me?

8 And I answered, Who art thou, Lord? And he said vnto me, I am Iesus of Nazareth whom thou persecutest.

9 And they that were with me saw verily the light, and were afraid: but they heard not the voice of him that spake to me.

10 And I saide, What shall I doe Lord? And the Lorde sayd vnto mee, Arise, and goe into Damascus: and there it shall be tolde thee of all things which are appointed for thee to doe.

11 And when I saw nothing for the brightnesse of the light, being led by the hand of them that were with me, I came into Damascus.

12 And one Ananias a deuout man as pertaining to the law, hauing a good report of all the Iewes which there dwelt,

13 Came vnto me, and stood, and said vnto me, Brother Saul, receiue thy sight. And the same houre I looked vp vpon him.

14 And he said, The God of our fathers hath ordeined thee before, that thou shouldest know his will, and see that iust one, and shouldest heare the voice of his mouth.

15 For thou shalt be his witnesse vnto all men, of those things which thou hast seene and heard.

16 And nowe why tariest thou? Arise, and be baptized, and wash away thy sinnes, in calling on the name of the Lord.

17 And it came to passe, that when I was come againe to Hierusalem, and prayed in the temple, I was in a trance,

18 And sawe him saying vnto mee, Make haste, and get thee quickely out of Hierusalem: for they will not receiue thy witnesse concerning mee.

19 And I said, Lord, they know that * I prisoned, and beat in euery synagogue them that beleeued on thee. Act.8.3.

20 And when the blood of thy witnesse Steuen was shed, * I also was standing by, and consenting vnto his death, and kept the rayment of them that slew him. Act.7.58.

21 And

22 And he sayd to me, Goe, for into the Gentiles a farre I will send thee.

23 And they heard him vntill this word, and they lifted vp their voice, saying, Away with such an one from the earth: for it is not meete he should liue.

24 And when they cried out, and threwe of their garments, and cast dust into the aire,

25 The Tribune commanded him to bee caried into the castell, and to be beaten with whips, and that he should be tormented: to know for what cause they did so crie at him.

26 And when they had bound him very straight with thongs, Paul saith to the Centurion standing by him: Is it lawfull for you to whip a man that is a Romane, and vncondemned?

27 Which the Centurion hearing, went to the Tribune, and tolde him, saying, What wilt thou do? for this man is a citizē of Rome.

28 And the Tribune comming, sayd to him, Tell me, art thou a Romane? But hee sayd, Yea.

29 And the Tribune answered, I obtained this citie with a great summe. And Paul said, But I was also borne to it.

30 Immediatly therefore they departed frō him that were to torment him. The Tribune also feared after he vnderstood that he was a citizen of Rome, and because he had bound him.

31 But the next day meaning to knowe more diligently for what cause he was accused of the Iewes, hee loosed him, and commanded the c Priestes to come together, and all the Councell: bringing forth Paul, he set him among them.

c ἀρχιερεῖς.

21 And he said vnto me, Depart: for I will send thee farre hence vnto the Gentiles.

22 And they gaue him audience vnto this word, and then lifted vp their voices, and said, Away with such a fel*owe from the earth: for it is no reason that he should liue.*

23 And as they cryed, and cast off their clothes, and threw dust into the ayre,

24 The chiefe captaine commaunded him to be brought into the castle, and bade that he should be scourged, and examined: that he might knowe wherefore they cryed so on him.

25 And as they bound him with thongs, Paul said vnto the Centurion that stoode by, Is it lawfull for you to scourge a man that is a Romane, and vncondemned?

26 When the Centurion heard that, he went and told the chiefe captaine, saying, Take heede what thou doest, for this man is a Romane.

27 Then the chiefe captaine came, and said vnto him, Tell me, art thou a Romane? He sayd, Yea.

28 And the chiefe captaine answered, With a great summe obtained I this freedome. And Paul said, I was free borne.

29 Then straightway departed from him they which should haue examined him: and the chiefe captaine also was afraide after hee knewe that hee was a Romane, and because hee had bound him.

30 On the morowe, because hee would haue knowen the certaintie wherefore he was accused of the Iewes, hee loosed him from his bands, and commanded the high Priestes and all the Councel to come together, and brought Paul forth, and set him before them.

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. XXII.

RHEM. 1 17. Wash away thy sinnes.) The Sacrament of Baptisme doth it selfe wash away sinnes as here is plaine, and therefore doth not only signifie (as the Heretikes affirme) that our sinnes be forgiuen before, or otherwise by faith onely remitted. Whereby the Churches doctrine is proued to be fully agreeable to the Scriptures, that the Sacraments giue grace ex opere operato, that is, by the force and vertue of the worke and worde, done and sayd in the Sacrament.

FVLKE. 1 The text ioyneth with the Sacrament, inuocation of the name of the Lorde, whereunto saluation is promised (Rom. 10. 13. Ioel 2. 32.) to wash away his sinnes. Therefore this place maketh nothing for your Heresie, that the Sacraments giue grace, ex opere operato, of the worke wrought.

CHAP. XXIII.

As the people in the tumult, so also the very chiefe of the Iewes in their Councel shewe themselues obstinate, and wilfull persecutors of the trueth in S Pauls person. whose behauiour towards them is full of constancie, modestie, and wisedome. 11 (Christ also by a vision encouraging him, and foretelling that he shal to Rome.) 12 Yea they conspire with fourty men to kill him traiterously. 16 But the matter being detected, the Romane Tribune conueyeth him strongly to Cæsarea.

AND Paul looking vpon the Councell, sayd, Men brethren, I with al good conscience haue conuersed before God, vntill this present day.

‡ He said not this through perturbation of minde, or of a passion, but by way of prophesie, that this figuratiue high priesthood then trimmed like a whited wall, was to be destroyed, whereas now the true priestoode of Christ was come. Beda in hunc lo.

2 And the high Priest Ananias commanded them that stood by him, to smite him on the mouth.

3 Then Paul said to him, ‡God shal strike thee, thou whited wall. And thou sittest judgest me according to the lawe, and contrarie to law doest thou command me to bee smitten?

4 And

AND Paul earnestly beholding the councell, saide, Men and brethren, I haue liued in all good conscience before GOD vntill this day.

2 And the high Priest Ananias commaunded them that stood by, to smite him on the mouth.

3 Then sayd Paul vnto him, God shall smite thee thou painted wall: for sittest thou and iudgest me after the law, and commandest me to bee smitten contrary to the law?

4 And

4 And they that stood by, saide, Doest thou reuile the high Priest of God?

5 And Paul saide, ‖ I knewe not, brethren, that he is the high Priest. For it is written: The prince of thy people thou shalt not misspeake.

6 And Paul knowing that the one part was of Sadducees, & the other of Pharisees, ‡ he cried out in the Councel, Men brethren, *I am a Pharisee, the sonne of Pharisees: of the hope and resurrection of the dead am I iudged.

7 And when hee had saide these things, there rose dissension betweene the Pharisees and Sadducees, & the multitude was diuided.

8 For the ‖ Sadducees say * there is no resurrection, nor Angel, nor spirit: but the Pharisees confesse both.

9 And there was made a great cry. And certaine of the Pharisees rising vp, stroue saying, Wee finde no euill in this man, what if a spirit hath spoken to him, or an Angel?

10 And when there was risen great dissension, the Tribune fearing lest Paul should be torne in peeces by them, commanded the souldiers to goe downe, and to take him out of the middes of them, and to bring him into the castel.

11 And the night following our Lorde stading by him, said, Be constant: for as thou hast testified of mee in Hierusalem, so ‡ must thou testifie at Rome also.

12 And when day was come, certaine of the Iewes gathered them selues together, & ‖ vowed them selues, saying, that they would neither eate nor drinke til they killed Paul.

13 And they were more then fourtie men that had made this conspiracie:

14 Who came to the cheefe priestes and the auncients, and saide, By execration wee haue vowed our selues, that we will eate nothing, til we kil Paul.

15 Nowe therefore giue you knowledge to the Tribune with the Councel, that hee bring him foorth to you, as if you meant to knowe some more certaintie touching him. But wee, before he come neere, are ready for to kil him.

16 Which when Paules sisters sonne had heard, of their lying in wait, he came and entred into the castel and told Paul.

17 And Paul calling to him one of the Centurions, said, Bring this yong man to the Tribune, for he hath some thing to tel him.

18 ‘ And he taking him, brought him to the Tribune, and said, The prisoner Paul desired me to bring this yong man vnto thee, hauing some thing to say to thee.

19 And the Tribune taking him by the hand, went aside with him apart, and asked him, What is it that thou hast to tel me?

20 And he said, The Iewes haue agreed to desire thee, that to morowe thou wilt bring forth

4 And they that stood by, said, Reuilest thou Gods high Priest?

*5 Then saide Paul, I wist not brethren, that he was the high Priest: For it is written, * Thou shalt not curse the ruler of thy people.* Exo.22.28.

*6 But when Paul perceiued that the one part were Sadducees, and the other Pharisees, he cried out in the Councell, * Men and brethren, I am a Pharisee, the sonne of a Pharisee: of the hope and resurrection of the dead I am iudged.* Phil.3.5. acts.24.22.

7 And when he had so said, there arose a debate betweene the Pharisees and the Sadducees: and the multitude was diuided.

*8 * For the Sadducees say that there is no resurrection, neither angel, nor spirit: but the Pharisees confesse both.* Mat.22.23.

9 And there arose a great cry: and when the Scribes which were of the Pharisees part arose, they stroue, saying, Wee finde no euil in this man: but if a spirit or an Angel hath spoken to him, let vs not strine against God.

10 And when there arose a great debate, the chiefe captaine fearing lest Paul should haue bene plucke asunder of them, commaunded the souldiers to goe downe, and to take him from among them, and to bring him into the castle.

11 And the night folowing, the Lord stood by him, and said, Bee of good cheare, Paul: for as thou hast testified of me in Hierusalem, so must thou beare witnesse also at Rome.

12 And when it was day, certaine of the Iewes gathered themselues together, and made a vowe, saying that they would neither eate nor drinke till they had killed Paul.

13 And they were more then fourtie men, which had made this conspiracie.

14 And they came to the cheefe Priestes and elders, and saide, Wee haue bound our selues with a vow, that wee will eate nothing vntill wee haue slaine Paul.

15 Nowe therefore giue ye knowledge to the chiefe captaine, & to the Councell, that he bring him forth vnto you to morow, as though ye would know something more perfectly of him: and wee, or euer be come neere, are ready to kill him.

16 And when Pauls sisters sonne heard of their laying awaite, hee went and entred into the castle, and told Paul.

17 And Paul called one of the vnder captaines vnto him, and saide, Bring this yong man vnto the high captaine: for hee hath a certaine thing to shew him.

18 And hee tooke him, and brought him to the high captaine, and said, Paul the prisoner called mee vnto him, and prayed mee to bring this yong man vnto thee, which hath a certaine matter to shew thee.

19 Then the high Captaine tooke him by the hand, and went with him out of the way, & asked him, What is it that thou hast to tell me?

20 And he said, The Iewes are determined forth Paul into the Councel, as though they meant to inquire some more certaintie touching him.

21 But do not thou credit them, for there lie in waite for him more then fourtie men of them, which haue vowed neither to eate nor to drinke, till they kil him: and they are now ready, expecting thy promisse.

22 The Tribune therefore dimissed the yong man, commaunding that hee should speake to no man that hee had notified these things vnto him.

23 And calling two Centurions, he saide to them, Make ready two hundred souldiers, to goe as farre as Cæsaréa, and seuentie horsmen, & launces, two hundred, from the third houre of the night:

24 And prepare beasts, that setting Paul on, they might bring him safe to Felix the President,

25 (For he feared lest perhaps the Iewes might take him away, and kill him, and him selfe afterward should sustaine reproche, as though he would haue taken money)

26 Writing a letter cõteining this much. Claudius Lysias to the most excellent President Felix, greeting.

27 This man being apprehended of the Iewes, and ready to be killed of them, I comming in with the band deliuered him, vnderstanding that he is a Romane:

28 And meaning to know the cause that they obiected vnto him, I brought him down into their Councel.

29 Whom I found to be accused concerning questions of their lawe: but hauing no crime worthy of death or of bands.

30 And when it was told me of embushments that they had prepared against him, I sent him to thee, signifying also to the accusers, to speake before thee. Fare well.

31 And the souldiars according as it was commanded them, taking Paul, brought him by night to Antipatris.

32 And the next day sending away the horsemen to goe with him, they returned to the castel.

33 Who when they were come to Cæsaréa, and had deliuered the letter to the President, they did set Paul also before him.

34 And when he had read, and had asked of what prouince he was: and vnderstanding that of Cilicia:

35 I will heare thee, said he, when thy accusers are come. And he commaunded him to be kept in Herods palace.

to desire thee, that thou wouldest bring foorth Paul to morow into the Councel, as though they would enquire somewhat of him more perfectly.

21 But folow not thou their mindes: for there lie in waite for him of them moe then fourtie men, which haue bound themselues with a vowe, that they wil neither eat nor drinke, til they haue killed him: and now are they ready, and looke for a promise from thee.

22 The chiefe captaine then let the yong man depart, and charged him, See thou tel it out to no man, that thou hast shewed these things to me.

23 And he called vnto him two vndercaptaines, saying, Make ready two hundred souldiers to goe to Cæsarea, and horsemen threescore and ten, and spearemen two hundred, at the third houre of the night:

24 And deliuer them beastes, that they may set Paul on, and bring him safe vnto Felix the high deputie.

25 And he wrote a letter after this maner.

26 Claudius Lysias, vnto the most mightie ruler, Felix, sendeth greetings.

27 This man was taken of the Iewes, and should haue bene killed of them: Then came I with an armie, and rescued him, after I perceiued that he was a Romane:

28 And when I woulde haue knowen the cause wherfore they accused him, I brought him forth into their Councel.

29 Whom I perceiued to bee accused of questions of their law, but hauing nothing layd to his charge worthy of death, or of bondes.

30 And when it was shewed mee howe that the Iewes layde waite for the man, I sent him straightway to thee, and gaue commaundement to his accusers, that the things which they haue against him, they should tell before thee. Farewell.

31 Then the souldiers, as it was commanded them, tooke Paul, and brought him by night to Antipatris.

32 On the morrow, they left the horsemen to goe with him, and returned vnto the castle.

33 Which when they came to Cæsarea, and deliuered the Epistle to the deputie, presented Paul also before him.

34 And when the deputie had read the letter, he asked of what prouince he was. And when he vnderstood that he was of Cilicia:

35 I will heare thee, said hee, when thine accusers are come also. And he commaunded him to be kept in Herods iudgement hall.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. XXIII.

RHEM. 5. I knew not.) Our Lord (saith S. Cyprian) in the Gospel, when it was said to him, Answerest thou the high Priest so? teaching that the honour of Priesthood must be kept, said nothing to the high Priest, but onely purging his innocencie, said, If I haue spoken euil, beare witnes of euil: but if wel, why smitest thou me? Also the blessed Apostle when it was said to him, Doest thou assaile the high Priest so with il words? spake not any thing contumeliously against the Priest, whereas hee might haue put forth him selfe stoutly against them which had both crucified our Lord, and which had now also lost their God and Christ, Temple and Priesthod, but though in false and spoiled Priests, yet considering the very bare shadow of the name of Priestes, he said, I knewe not brethren that he was high Priest. By which words of the Apostle, either it may be thought he knew not in deed that he was in that function, because hee had not been of long time in those parts: or els that he so said in respect of the abrogation of the high Priesthood of the Iewes, whereby he knew this man not to be truly any priest, as also because at this time they came not orderly to it by succession of Aaron and Lawe of Moyses, but by the Roman Emperours fauour, * as is said before. though (as it is lawful in such a case) she lesse to irritate them, he frameth his speach so as they might not take occasion of further accusation against him. See Annot. 1o. c.11.51.

RHEM. 1 12. The Sadducees.) This was the worst Heresie among the Iewes, denying that there be any Angels or spirits, the Resurrection also of the bodies: and consequently (as it may very wel be gathered by the booke of the Machabees) they denied praier for the dead. for to offer or pray for the dead, and to thinke rightly and religiously of the Resurrection, are made there sequels one of another. Of this sect of Sadducees was (as Eusebius writeth li.2.c.22 Ec. hist.) this Ananias the High Priest, that caused Paul to be smitten. for their Priesthood had now no more the protection of God to preserue it in truth and right iudgement, the Christian Priesthood being then established. Mac.li.2.c. 12.43. The Sadducees (as it seemeth) denied praier for the dead.

FULKE. 1 Of trueth, nothing but trueth can be concluded, but of falshod not onely falshod, but sometime trueth. As this trueth, that the dead are not to be prayed for, doeth follow of the false opinion of the Sadducees, that the soule is mortall supposed to be true, and so doe many other trueths. As for example, the soules of the righteous be not in torment after their death, the soules of the wicked be not in heauen after their death, &c. Not onely Ananias was a Sadducee, but also Annas and Caiphas, before Christs death. Caiphas doeth proue himselfe to be a Sadducee by his saying, *Ioan.*11.50. wherein he spake the trueth against his meaning. Annas is shewed to be a Sadducee, *Act.*4.1.&6. And Iosephus testifieth, that the Sadducees were chiefe in dignitie, and had the gouernment many times among the Iewes, therefore it is not vnlike, but many of that vile sect by briberie aspired to the high Priests office. *Antiqu.lib.*18.*cap.*2. High Priests Sadducees.

RHEM. 2 12. Vowed them selues.) Such vowes, othes, or execrations as this, binde no man before God, yea they must in no wise be obserued. It is a great offence either to vow voluntarily, or to take any such thing vpon a man, for feare or by commandement. For example, if thou haue rashly by promes, vow, or othe, appointed to be reuenged vpon any man, thou bindest not thy selfe thereby, neither must thou keepe thy promes. If thou be put to an othe to accuse Catholikes for serusing God as they ought to do, or to vtter any innocent man to Gods enemies and his, thou oughtest first to refuse such vnlawful othes: but if thou haue not constancie and courage so to do, yet know thou that such othes binde not as all in conscience and Law of God, but may and must be broken vnder paine of damnation. For to make or take such vowes or othes, is one sinne, and to keepe them, is an other far greater. as when Herod, to keepe his othe, killed Iohn Baptist. And such vowes and othes to God as these, are vnlawful and must be broken: and not the vowes of Chastitie and religion, as our new Ministers teach by their words and workes. Vnlawful othes and vowes must not be kept. Mat.14.9.

FULKE. 3 He that voweth that which he is not able to performe, doth likewise sinne, and doth of necessitie breake that vow, which he is not able to keepe. And if any man take an oth to discouer true Catholikes, he is bound to performe it. For it is no sinne absolutely to discouer them, that may without sinne discouer themselues. And many vowes and othes, are vnlawful to be made, which when they are made, it is lawfull to keepe, as the othe made to the Gibeonites, the breach whereof was punished in Sauls posteritie, 2.*Sam.*21. And if it were sinne absolutely to discouer them, yet it is not lawfull to lye in denying or concealing of them. Wherefore your doctrine sauoureth strongly of the sect of the Priscillianists, which said: Iura, periura, secretum prodere noli, Sweare and forsweare, but bewray no secrets. Although obstinate Papists, whom you affirme to be true Catholikes, be in deed ranke heretikes and traitours. Vowes.

CHAP. XXIIII.

They prosecute him to Caesarea, bringing with them an orator, who before the President Felix accuseth him. 10 He answereth, defending him selfe from the crimes they charged him with, but confessing his religion plainly. 22 The Iudge perceiuing his religion to be irreprehensible, yeldeth not to condemne him at their pleasure, 24 yea hee oftentimes with his wife heareth his preaching, 27 but yet doth not his dutie to deliuer him out of prison.

AND after fiue daies the high priest Ananias descended, with certaine ancients and one Tertullus an orator, who went to the President against Paul.

2 And Paul being cited, Tertullus began to accuse, saying. Whereas wee liue in much peace by thee, & many things are corrected by thy prouidence:

3 We do alwaies and in al places receiue it, most excellent Felix, with all thankesgiuing.

4 But lest I hinder thee any longer, I desire thee of thy clemencie briefly to heare vs.

5 Wee haue found this man pestiferous, and raising seditions to all the Iewes in the whole world, and authour of the sedition of the sect of the Nazarenes,

6 Who also hath attempted to violat the temple, whom also being apprehended wee would haue iudged according to our law.

7 But Lysias the Tribune comming in, with great force tooke him away out of our handes,

AND after fiue dayes, Ananias the high priest descended, with the Elders, and with a certaine Orator, named Tertullus, which appeared before the deputie against Paul.

2 And when Paul was called forth, Tertullus began to accuse him, saying, Seeing that we haue obtained great quietnesse by the meanes of thee, and that many good things are done vnto this nation through thy prouidence,

3 That allowe we euer, and in all places, most noble Felix, with all thankes.

4 Notwithstanding, that I be not tedious vnto thee, I pray thee, that thou wouldest heare vs of thy courtesie a fewe words.

5 For we haue found this man a pestilent fellow, and a mouer of debate vnto all the Iewes in the whole world, and a maintainer of the sect of the Nazarites.

6 Which also hath gone about to pollute the temple: whom wee tooke, and would haue iudged according to our lawe.

7 But the high capitaine Lysias came vpon vs, and with great violence tooke him away out of our hands,

8 Commanding his accusers to come to thee, of whom thou maiest thy selfe iudging, vnderstand of all these things, whereof wee accuse him.

9 And the Iewes also added, saying that these things were so.

10 But Paul answered, (the Presidēt making a signe vnto him for to speake.) Knowing that of many yeeres thou art iudge ouer this nation, I wil with good courage answere for my selfe.

11 For thou maiest vnderstand that it is not aboue twelue dayes to mee, since I went vp to adore in Hierusalem.

12 And neither in the temple did they finde me disputing with any man, or causing concourse of the multitude, neither in the synagogs, nor in the citie:

13 Neither can they proue vnto thee the things whereof they now accuse me.

14 But this I confesse to thee, that ᵉ according to the ‡ secte, which they cal heresie, I doe serue ‖ the Father my God, beleeuing all things that are written in the Law and the Prophets:

15 Hauing hope in God, the which these also them selues expect, that there shall be a resurrection of iust and vniust.

16 In this my selfe also do studie to haue a conscience without offence toward God, and toward men alwaies.

17 And after many yeeres *I came to bestow almes vpon my nation, and oblations, and vowes.

18 In the which they found me *purified in the temple: not with multitude nor with tumult.

19 But certaine Iewes of Asia, who ought to bee present before thee and to accuse, if they had any thing against me:

20 Or, let these men them selues say, if they haue found in mee any iniquitie, forasmuch as I stand in the Councel,

21 But of this one voice only that I cried standing among them, That *of the resurrectiō of the dead am I iudged this day of you.

22 And Felix differred them, knowing most certainly of this way, saying, When Lysias the Tribune is come downe, I will heare you.

23 And he commaunded the Centurion to keepe him, and that hee should haue rest, neither to prohibite any of his to minister vnto him.

24 And after some dayes, Felix comming with Drusilla his wife, which was a Iew, called Paul, and heard of him the faith that is in Christ IESVS.

25 And he disputing of ‡ iustice & chastitie, & of the iudgement to come, Felix being terrified, answered, For this time, go thy way: but in time conuenient I wil send for thee.

26 Hoping

‡ Because Tertullus the Iewes orator called Christian religion the sect or (as it is there verse 5. in the Greeke) the heresie of the Nazarens: S. Paul answereth and sheweth that it is no heresie. And as for the word, Sect, in this place: it is in the Greeke, According to the way, which they cal heresie, as also Act 9.2.24.22. And therefore the word sect here is so taken. See Annot. c. 28,22.

‖ the God of my fathers, Ro. 15,28. Act.21,26. Act.23,6.

8 Commaunding his accusers to come vnto thee, of whom thou mayest, if thou wilt enquire, know the certaintie of all these things whereof we accuse him.

9 And the Iewes likewise affirmed, saying, that these things were so.

10 Then Paul, after that the Deputie himselfe had beckened vnto him that hee shoulde speake, answered, With a more quiet minde doe I answere for my selfe, for as much as I vnderstand that thou hast bene of many yeeres Iudge vnto this nation:

11 Because that thou maiest know, that there are yet but twelue dayes, since I went vp to Hierusalem for to worship.

12 And they neither found me in the Temple disputing with any man, neither raising vp the people, neither in the Synagogues, nor in the citie:

13 Neither can they proue the things whereof they accuse me.

14 But this I confesse vnto thee, that after the way which they call heresie, so worship I the God of my fathers, beleeuing all things which are written in the Lawe and the Prophets,

15 And haue hope towards God, that the resurrection of the dead, which they themselues looke for also, shall be both of the iust and vniust.

16 And herein study I, to haue alway a cleare conscience toward God, and toward men.

17 Now after many yeres, I came & brought almes to my nation, and offerings:

*18 * In the which they found mee purified in the Temple, neither with multitude, nor yet with vnquietnesse.* Act.21,27.

19 Howbeit, there were certaine Iewes out of Asia,

20 Which ought to bee here present before thee, and accuse me, if they had ought against me.

21 Or els let these same here say, if they haue found any euill doing in mee while I stand here in the Councell,

*22 Except it be for this one voice, that I cryed standing among them, * That of the resurrection from the dead, am I iudged of you this day.* Act.23,6.

23 And when Felix heard these things, he deferred them: for he knew very well of that way, and saide, When Lysias the Captaine is come downe, I will know the vttermost of your matter.

24 And he commanded an vndercaptaine to keepe Paul, and to let him haue rest, and that he should forbid none of his acquaintance to minister vnto him, or to come vnto him.

25 And after certaine dayes, when Felix came with his wife Drusilla, which was a Iewesse, he called foorth Paul, and heard him of the faith which is toward Christ.

26 And as hee reasoned of Righteousnesse, Temperance and Iudgement to come, Felix trembled, and answered, Goe thy way for this time, when I haue a conuenient season, I wil send for thee.

27 He

26 Hoping also withal, that money would be giuen him of Paul, for the which cause also oftentimes sending for him, he spake with him.

27 But when two yeres were ended, Felix had a successor Portius Festus. And Felix being willing to shew the Iewes a pleasure, left Paul in prison.

27 Hee hoped also that money should haue bene giuen him of Paul, that he might loose him: wherefore he sent for him the oftener, and communed with him.

28 But after two yeres, Portius Festus came into Felix roume: and Felix willing to shewe the Iewes a pleasure, left Paul bound.

MARGINAL NOTES. CHAP. XXIIII.

RHEM. 1 25. Iustice and chastitie.) The Apostolike teaching was not of onely or special faith, but of iustice, and chastitie, and iudgement, that is to say, of the terrour of Hel and other Gods iudgements in the next life answerable to our deedes in this world: by which the hearers were first terrified, and so induced to penance. How say Heretikes then that such things make men hypocrites?

FVLKE. 1 The right way to teach iustification by faith onely in Christ, is begun with mans condemnation by the Law, which requireth iustice, temperance and all vertues, most perfectly, in paine of damnation, and after men are iustified, to teach them also that all vertues are necessary fruites of faith. And therefore you may goe looke what Heretikes doe say, that vertues make hypocrites. For we say no such thing. But they that teach iustification before God by workes, or by keeping the Law, doe rather make men hypocrites then truely iust, because that of workes of the Law, no man is iustified before God. Gal. 3. 10, 11. Iustification by faith onely. Slander.

CHAP. XXV.

After two yeres emprisonment the Iewes continew their sute against him, soliciting the new President Festus, 6 first at Hierusalem, then at Cæsarea: 9 where through the Iewes partialitie he is faine to appeale vnto the Emperour: 13 and is in the meane time brought forth by Festus (giuing him good testimonie, notwithstanding the exclamation of the Iewes against him) vnto King Agrippa and his Queene Bernice.

FEstus therefore when hee was come into the prouince, after three dayes went vp to Hierusalem from Cæsaréa.

2 And the cheefe priestes, and principall men of the Iewes went vnto him against Paul: and they desired him,

3 Requesting fauour against him, that he would command him to be brought to Hierusalem, laying waite for to kill him in the way.

4 But Festus answered, that Paul is in Cæsaréa: and that he would very shortly go thither.

5 They therefore, saith he, that are of abilitie among you, going downe with mee, if there be any crime in the man, let them accuse him.

6 And hauing taried among them not aboue eight or ten daies, hee went downe to Cæsaréa, and the next day he sate in the iudgment seate: and he commaunded Paul to be brought.

7 Who being brought, there stood about him the Iewes that were come downe from Hierusalem, obiecting many and greuous [c] causes which they could not proue,

8 Paul making answere, That neither against the law of the Iewes, nor against the temple, nor against Cæsar haue I any thing offended.

9 But Festus willing to shew the Iewes a pleasure, answering Paul, said, Wilt thou goe vp to Hierusalem, and there bee iudged of these things before me?

10 And Paul said, At Cæsars iudgement seate do I stand, where I ought to be iudged: the Iewes I haue not hurt, as thou very well knowest.

THen when Festus was come into the prouince, after three dayes hee ascended from Cæsarea to Hierusalem.

2 Then enfourmed him the high Priest and the chiefe of the Iewes against Paul, and they besought him,

3 And desired fauour against him, that he would sende for him to Hierusalem, laying waite in the way to kill him.

4 But Festus answered, that Paul should be kept at Cæsarea, and that hee himselfe would depart shortly thither.

5 Let them therefore, said he, which among you are able, come downe with vs, and accuse him, if there be any fault in this man.

6 And when hee had taried among them more then tenne dayes, hee went downe vnto Cæsarea, and the next day sate downe in the iudgement seate, and commaunded Paul to bee brought.

7 Who being come, the Iewes which were come from Hierusalem, stoode about him, and laid many and grieuous complaints against Paul, which they could not proue,

8 While he answered for himselfe that neither against the Lawe of the Iewes, neither against the Temple, nor yet against Cæsar, haue I offended any thing at all.

9 But Festus willing to doe the Iewes a pleasure, answered Paul, and saide, Wilt thou goe vp to Hierusalem, and there bee iudged of these things before me?

10 Then said Paul, I stand at Cæsars iudgement seate, where I ought to bee iudged: to the Iewes haue I done no wrong, as thou very well knowest.

11 For if I haue hurt them, or done any thing worthy of death, I refuse not to die, but if none of those things be, whereof these accuse me, no man can giue me to them. ‡ I appeale to Cæsar.

12 Then Festus hauing conferred with the Councel, answered, Hast thou appealed to Cæsar? to Cæsar shalt thou goe.

13 And when certaine daies were passed, King Agrippa and Bernice came downe to Gæsaréa to salute Festus.

14 And as they taried there a good many dayes, Festus signified to the King, of Paul, saying, A certaine person was left prisoner by Felix, 15 Concerning whom, when I was at Hierusalem, the cheefe Priestes and the auncients of the Iewes came vnto mee, desiring condemnation against him.

16 To whom I answered, That it is not the Romanes custome to yeeld vp any man before that he which is accused haue his accusers present and take place to make his answer for to cleere him selfe of the crimes.

17 When they therefore were assembled hither, without any delay, the day folowing, sitting in the iudgement seat, I commanded the man to be brought.

18 Of whom, when the accusers stoode vp, they brought no cause which I thought ill of:

19 But certaine questions of their owne superstition they had against him, and of ‡ one IESVS deceased, whom Paul affirmed to liue.

20 Doubting therefore of this kinde of question, I saide, whether hee would goe to Hierusalem, and there bee iudged of these things.

21 But Paul appealing to be kept vnto the knowledge of Augustus, I commaunded him to be kept, til I send him to Cæsar.

22 And Agrippa saide to Festus, My selfe also would heare the man. To morow, saide he, thou shalt heare him.

23 And the next day when Agrippa and Bernice were come with great pompe, and had entred into the hall of audience with the Tribunes and principall men of the citie, at Festus commaundement Paul was brought.

24 And Festus saith, King Agrippa, and all ye men that are present together with vs, you see this man, concerning whom all the multitude of the Iewes called vpon mee at Hierusalem, requesting and crying out that he ought not to liue any longer.

25 Yet haue I found nothing that he hath committed worthy of death. But forasmuch as he him selfe appealed to Augustus, I haue determined to send him.

26 Of whom what to write for certaintie to my lord, I haue not. For the which cause I haue

‡ If S. Paul both to saue him selfe from whipping and from death sought by the Iewes, doubted not to cry for succour of the Romane lawes, and to appeale to Cæsar the Prince of the Romanes not yet Christened: how much more may we call for aide of Christian Princes and their lawes, for the punishment of Heretikes, and for the Churches defence against them? S. Augustine ep. 50.

11 For if I doe any wrong, or haue committed any thing worthy of death, I refuse not to die: but if there bee none of these things whereof they accuse mee, no man may deliuer mee vnto them. I appeale vnto Cæsar.

12 Then spake Festus with the Councell, and answered, Hast thou appealed vnto Cæsar? vnto Cæsar shalt thou goe.

13 And after certaine dayes, King Agrippa and Bernice came vnto Cæsarea, to salute Festus.

14 And when they had bene there a good season, Festus rehearsed Pauls cause vnto the King, saying, There is a certaine man left in bonds of Felix.

15 About whom, when I came to Hierusalem, the high Priests and the elders of the Iewes enformed mee, and desired to haue iudgement against him.

16 To whom I answered, It is not the maner of the Romanes, for fauour to deliuer any man that he should perish, before that hee which is accused, haue the accusers face to face, and haue licence to answere for himselfe, concerning the crime layd against him.

17 Therefore when they were come thither, without any delay, on the morowe I sate on the iudgement seate, and commanded the man to be brought foorth.

18 Against whom, when the accusers stood vp, they brought none accusation of such things as I supposed:

19 But had certaine questions against him of their owne superstition, and of one Iesus, which was dead, whom Paul affirmed to be aliue.

20 And because I doubted of such maner of questions, I asked him whether hee would goe to Hierusalem, and there be iudged of these matters.

21 But when Paul had appealed to bee kept vnto the knowledge of Augustus, I commanded him to be kept, till I might send him to Cæsar.

22 Then Agrippa saide vnto Festus, I would also heare the man my selfe. To morow said hee, thou shalt heare him.

23 And on the morowe when Agrippa was come and Bernice, with great pompe, and was entred into the Counsaile house, with the chiefe captaines, and chiefe men of the citie, at Festus commandement was Paul brought forth.

24 And Festus said, King Agrippa, and all men which are here present with vs, yee see this man, about whom all the multitude of the Iewes haue intreated me, both at Hierusalem, and also here, crying that he ought not to liue any longer.

25 Yet found I nothing worthy of death, that hee had committed: Neuertheless, seeing that he hath appealed to Augustus, I haue determined to send him,

26 Of whom I haue no certaine thing to write vnto my Lorde: Wherefore I haue brought him forth

I haue brought him forth to you, and especially to thee, king Agrippa, that examination being made, I may haue what to write.

27 For it seemeth to me without reason, to send a prisoner, and not to signifie [c] his causes.

forth before you, and specially before thee, O king Agrippa, that after examination had, I might haue somewhat to write.

27 For me thinketh it vnreasonable for to send a prisoner, and not to shew the causes which are laid against him.

In that honourable audience being permitted to speake, 2 he declareth to the king what he first was, 12 and how miraculously he was conuerted, 19 and that he hath preached since, as he was commanded from heauen, and as the Prophets had foretolde of Christ. 24 Which strange tale Festus the Heathen President hearing, sayth that he is mad. 25 But he answereth, and exhorteth them all to be Christians as he is. 30 They finally pronounce that he might be set at liberty, but onely for his appeale.

BVt Agrippa said to Paul, Thou art permitted to speake for thy selfe. Then Paul stretching forth his hand, began to make his answere.

2 Touching al things whereof I am accused of the Iewes, king Agrippa, I account my selfe happie for that I am to defend my self this day before thee,

3 Especially whereas thou knowest al things that are among the Iewes, customes and questions: for the which cause I beseech thee, heare me patiently.

4 And my life truely from my youth, which was from the beginning in my nation in Hierusalem, al the Iewes doe know:

5 Knowing me before from the beginning (if they wil giue testimonie) that according to the most sure [c] sect of our religion I liued a Pharisee.

6 And now for the hope of the promisse that was made of God to our fathers, doe I stand subiect to iudgement.

8 What incredible thing is it iudged with you if God raise the dead?

9 And my selfe truly had thought that I ought to doe against the name of IESVS of Nazareth many contrarie things.

10 Which also I * did at Hierusalem, and many of the saincts did I shut vp in prisons, hauing receiued authoritie of the cheefe Priests: and when they were put to death [c] I brought the sentence.

11 And thorowout al the synagogues often times punishing them, I compelled them to blaspheme: and yet more mad against them, I persecuted them euen vnto forraine cities.

3 Namely, because thou art expert in all customes and questions which are among the Iewes: wherefore I beseech thee to heare me paciently.

4 My life that I haue led of a childe, which was at the first among mine owne nation at Hierusalem, know all the Iewes,

5 Which knew me from the beginning, (if they woulde testifie) that after the most straitest sect of our religion, I liued a Pharisee.

6 And now I stand, and am iudged for the hope of the promise made of God vnto our fathers:

7 Vnto which promise our twelue tribes instantly seruing God day and night, hope to come: For which hopes sake, king Agrippa, I am accused of the Iewes.

8 Why should it be thought a thing incredible vnto you, that God raiseth the dead?

9 I also verily thought in my selfe, that I ought to doe manie contrarie things, cleane against the name of Iesus of Nazareth:

22 But aided by the helpe of God, I ſtand vntil this day, teſtifying to ſmall and to great, ſaying nothing beſide thoſe things which the Prophets did ſpeak ſhould come to paſſe, and Moyſes.

23 If CHRIST were paſſible, if the firſt of the reſurrection from the dead, he were to ſhew light to the people and to the Gentiles.

24 As he ſpake theſe things and made his anſwere, Feſtus with a loud voice ſaid, Thou art mad, Paul: much learning turneth thee to madneſſe.

25 And Paul ſayd, I am not mad, moſt excellent Feſtus: but I ſpeake wordes of veritie and ſobrietie.

26 For the king knoweth of theſe things to whom alſo I ſpeake conſtantly. for I thinke none of theſe things to be vnknowen to him. For neither was any of theſe things done in a corner.

27 Beleeueſt thou the Prophets, king Agrippa? I know that thou beleeueſt.

28 And Agrippa ſaid to Paul: A litle thou perſuadeſt me to become a CHRISTIAN.

29 And Paul ſayd, I wiſh of God, both in litle, and in much, not onely thee, but alſo all that heare this day, to become ſuch as I am alſo, except theſe bands.

30 And

13 Euen at midday, O king, I ſawe in the way a light from heauen, aboue the brightneſſe of the Sun, ſhine round about me, and them which iourneyed with me. Act 9.3.

14 And when we were all fallen to the earth, I heard a voice ſpeaking vnto me in the Hebrew tongue, and ſaying, Saul, Saul, why perſecuteſt thou me? It is hard for thee to kicke againſt the pricks.

15 And I ſayd, Who art thou, Lord? And he ſayd, I am Ieſus whom thou perſecuteſt.

16 But riſe and ſtand vpon thy feet, for I haue appeared vnto thee for this purpoſe, to make thee a miniſter & a witneſſe, both of theſe things which thou haſt ſeene, and of thoſe things in the which I will appeare vnto thee,

17 Deliuering thee from the people, and from the Gentiles, vnto whome now I ſend thee,

18 To open their eyes, that they may be turned from darkeneſſe to light, and from the power of Satan vnto God, that they may receiue forgiueneſſe of ſinnes, and inheritance among them which are ſanctified by faith that is in me.

19 Wherefore, O king Agrippa, I was not diſobedient vnto the heauenly viſion:

20 But ſhewed firſt vnto them of Damaſcus, and at Hieruſalem, and thorowout all the coaſts of Iurie, and then to the Gentiles, that they ſhould repent & turne to God, and do ſuch works as become them that repent.

21 For this cauſe the Iewes caught me in the temple, and went about to kill me.

22 Seeing therefore that I haue obteined helpe of God, I continue vnto this day, witneſſing both to ſmall and great, ſaying none other thing then thoſe which the Prophets and Moyſes did ſay ſhould come to paſſe:

23 That Chriſt ſhould ſuffer, and that hee ſhould be the firſt that ſhould riſe from the dead, and ſhould ſhewe light vnto the people, and to the Gentiles.

24 And as he thus ſpake for himſelfe, Feſtus ſayd with a loud voice, Paul, thou art beſide thy ſelfe, much learning doeth make thee madde.

25 But he ſayd, I am not madde moſt noble Feſtus, but ſpeake foorth the words of trueth and ſoberneſſe.

26 For the king knoweth of theſe things, before whom alſo I ſpeake freely, neither beleeue I, that any of theſe things are hidden from him, for this thing was not done in a corner.

27 King Agrippa, beleeueſt thou the Prophets? I wote well that thou beleeueſt.

28 Then Agrippa ſaid vnto Paul, Somewhat thou perſwadeſt me to be a Chriſtian.

29 And Paul ſayd, I would to God that not onely thou, but alſo all that heare me to day, were both ſomewhat, and alſo in a great deale ſuch as I am, except theſe bonds.

30 And

30 And the King roſe vp, and the Preſident, and Bernice, and they that ſate by them.

31 And going aſide, they ſpake among themſelues, ſaying, That this man hath done nothing worthie of death or bands.

32 And Agrippa ſaid to Feſtus, This man might be releaſed, if hee had not appealed to Cæſar.

30 And when he had thus ſpoken, the King roſe vp, and the Deputie, and Bernice, and they that ſate with them.

31 And when they were gone apart, they talked betweene themſelues, ſaying, This man doth nothing worthy of death, or of bonds.

32 Then ſayd Agrippa vnto Feſtus, This man might haue bene let looſe, if hee had not appealed vnto Cæſar.

30. Penance.) Penance often inculcated, and works agreeable to the ſame.

S. Paul preached repentance, but neuer Popiſh penance, whereof if he had ſpoken, none of that honourable audience could haue vnderſtood him. Therefore he vſeth that word in the ſame ſenſe it was commonly vnderſtood both of the Iewes and of the Gentiles, of whom this aſſembly did conſiſt. Popiſh penance.

CHAP. XXVII.

What a dangerous nauigation he had towards Rome: and that by his prediction and counſell the ſhip might haue bene ſaued. And for his ſake (as God alſo reuealed to him before) all the company was preſerued being 276. perſons.

AND after it was decreed that he ſhould ſaile into Italy, and that Paul with other priſoners ſhould be deliuered to a Centurion named Iulius, of the band Auguſta,

2 We going vp into a ſhip of Adrumétum, beginning to ſaile about the places of Aſia, looſed from the land, Ariſtarchus the Macedonian of Theſſalonica continuing with vs.

3 And the day following we came to Sidon. And Iulius intreating Paul courteouſly, permitted him to goe to his friends, and to take care of himſelfe.

4 And when we had looſed thence, we ſailed vnder Cypres: becauſe the windes were contrarie.

5 And ſailing the ſea of Cilicia and Pamphilia, wee came to ‖ Lyſtra, which is in Lycia:

6 And there the Centurion finding a ſhip of Alexandria ſailing into Italie, remooued vs into it.

7 And whereas many dayes wee ſailed ſlowly, and were ſcarſe come ouer againſt Gnidus, the winde hindering vs, wee ſailed neere Crete by Salmóne:

8 And with much adoe ſailing by it, we came into a certaine place that is called Good-hauens, nigh to the which was a citie Thalaſſa.

9 And when much time was ſpent, and whereas now it was not ſafe ſailing, becauſe the ‡ faſt nowe was paſt, Paul comforted them,

10 Saying to them, Ye men, I ſee that the ſailing beginneth to bee with hurt and much damage not only of the lading and the ſhip, but alſo of our liues.

11 But the Centurion beleeued the Gouernour and Maiſter of the ſhippe, more then thoſe things which were ſaid of Paul.

AND when it was concluded that wee ſhould ſaile into Italie, they deliuered both Paul and certaine other priſoners, vnto one named Iulius, an vndercaptaine of Auguſtus band.

*2 And we entred into a ſhip of Adramyttium, and looſed from land, appointed to ſaile by the coaſts of Aſia, one Ariſtarchus out of Macedonia, of the countrey of Theſſalonica, tarying ſtill with vs. 2.Cor.11.32.

3 And the next day we came to Sidon: and Iulius courteouſly entreated Paul, and gaue him liberty to go vnto his friends, and to refreſh himſelfe.

4 And when wee had lanched from thence, wee ſailed hard by Cypres, becauſe the windes were contrary.

5 And when we had ſailed ouer the ſea of Cilicia and Pamphylia, we came to Myra a city in Lyſia.

6 And there the vndercaptaine found a ſhip of Alexandria ſailing into Italie, and he put vs therein.

7 And when wee had ſailed ſlowlie manie dayes, & ſcarſe were come ouer againſt Gnidus, becauſe the winde withſtood vs, we ſailed hard by ‖ Candie, ouer againſt Salmone, ‖ Or, Creta, which was an high hill of Candie.

8 And with much worke ſailed beyond it, and came vnto a place which is called the Faire hauens, nigh whereunto was the citie of Laſea.

9 When much time was ſpent, & when ſailing was now ieopardous, becauſe alſo that the faſt was now alreadie paſt, Paul put them in remembrance.

10 And he ſayd vnto them, Sirs, I perceiue that this voyage will be with hurt and much damage, not of the lading and ſhip only, but alſo of our liues.

11 Neuertheleſſe, the vndercaptaine beleeued the Gouernour and the Maſter of the ſhippe more then thoſe things which were ſpoken of Paul.

12 And becauſe the hauen was not commodious to winter in, many tooke counſell to depart thence, if by any meanes they might attaine to meanes they might comming to Phœnice, winter there, a hauen of Crete looking toward the c Afrike and the Chore.

14 But not long after, a tẽpestuous winde that is called Euro-aquilo, droue against it.

15 And when the shippe was caught and could not make way against the winde, giuing vp the shippe to the windes, wee were driuen.

16 And running vpon a certaine iland, that is called c Cauda, we could scarse get the cock-boat.

c Grec. Clauda.

17 Which being taken vp, they vsed helps, girding the ship, and fearing lest they should fall into c the Syrte, letting downe the vessell, so were they caried.

c A place of quicke sands.

18 And when wee were mightily tossed with the tẽpest, the next day they cast forth,

19 And the third day with their owne hands they threw foorth the tacklings of the shippe.

20 And neither sunne, nor starres appearing for many dayes, and no small storme being toward, all hope was now taken away of our sauing.

21 And when there had beene long fasting, then Paul standing in the mids of them, sayd, You should in deed, O ye men, haue heard mee, and not parted from Crete, and haue gained this hurt and losse.

22 And now I exhort you to be of good cheere, for there shall be no losse of any soule among you, but of the ship.

23 For ‖ an Angel of the God whose I am, and c whom I serue, stood by me this night,

‖ Some read, the saies.

c Gr. λατρεύω.

24 Saying, Feare not Paul, thou must appeare before Cæsar: and beholde God hath ‡ giuen thee all that saile with thee.

‡ Some read, hath saued.

25 For the which cause be of good chere ye men: for I beleeue God, that it shal so be, as it hath bene sayd to mẽ.

26 And wee must come vnto a certeine iland.

27 But after the foureteenth night was come on vs, as wee were sailing in Adria about midnight, the ship-men deemed that there appeared some countrey to them.

28 Who also sounding, found twenty fadomes: and being parted a litle from thence, they found fifteene fadoms.

29 And fearing lest wee should fall into rough places, casting out of the sterne foure ankers, they wished that day were come.

30 But as the shipmen sought to flee out of the ship, hauing let downe the cock-boat into the sea, pretending as if they were about to cast out ankers out of the forepart of the ship, to Phœnice, and there to winter, which is an hauen of Candie, and lieth toward the Southwest and Northwest winde.

13 And when the South winde blew softlie, they supposing that they had obteined their purpose, loosed vnto Asson, and sailed past Candie.

14 But not long after, there arose against their purpose, a flaw of winde out of the Northeast, which is called Euroclydon.

15 And when the ship was caught, and could not resist the winde, we let her goe, and were driuen with the weather.

16 But we were caried into an isle, which is called Clauda, and had much worke to come by a boat, 17 Which they tooke vp, and vsed helpe, and made fast the ship, fearing least they should fall into the Syrtes: and so they let downe a ‖ vessell, and were caried.

18 The next day when we were tossed with an exceeding tempest, they lighted the ship:

19 And the third day wee cast out with our owne hands the tackling of the ship.

20 And when neither the sunne nor starres in many dayes appeared, and no small tempest lay vpon vs, all hope that we should be saued was then taken away.

21 But after long abstinence, Paul stoode foorth in the middes of them, and sayd, Syrs, ye should haue hearkened vnto me, & not haue loosed from Candie, and to haue gained vnto vs this harme and losse.

22 And now I exhort you to bee of good cheere: for there shall be no losse of any mans life among you, but of the ship.

23 For there stood by me this night the angel of God, whose I am, and whom I serue, 24 Saying, Feare not, Paul, thou must bee brought before Cæsar, and loe, God hath giuen thee all them that saile with thee.

25 Wherefore sirs, be of good cheere: for I beleeue God, that it shall be euen as it was tolde mee.

26 Howbeit, we must be cast into a certaine iland.

27 But when the fourteenth night was come, as wee were sailing in Adria about midnight, the shipmen deemed that they drew neere to some countrey:

28 And sounded, and found it twentie fadomes: and when they had gone a little further, they sounded againe, and found it fifteene fadomes.

29 Then fearing least wee should haue fallen on some rocks, they cast foure ankers out of the sterne, and wished for the day.

30 And as the shipmen were about to flee out of the ship, when they had let downe the boat into the sea, vnder a colour as though they would haue cast ankers out of the foreship,

31 Paul sayd to the Centurion and to the souldiers, ‖ Vnlesse these tary in the ship, you cannot be saued.

32 Then the souldiers cut off the ropes of the cock-boat: and suffered it to fall away.

33 And when it began to be light, Paul desired all to take meat, saying, This day is the foureteenth day that you expect and remaine fasting, taking nothing.

34 For the which cause I desire you to take meat for your health sake: for there shal not an haire of the head perish of any of you.

35 And when hee had sayd these things, taking bread, hee gaue thanks to God in the sight of them al: and when he had broken it, he began to eat.

36 And being all made of better cheere, they also tooke meat.

37 And wee were in all in the ship, soules two hundred seuentie sixe.

38 And being filled with meat, they lighted the ship, casting the wheat into the sea.

39 And when day was come, they knew not the land: but they spied a certeine creeke that had a shore, into the which they minded, if they could, to cast a land the ship.

40 And when they had taken vp the ankers, they committed themselues to the sea, loosing withal the rudder bands: and holsing vp the maine saile according as the winde blew, they went on toward the shore.

41 And when we were fallen into a place betweene two seas, they grauelled the ship: and the forepart truly sticking fast remained vnmooueable: but the hinder part was broken by the violence of the sea.

42 And the counsel of the souldiers was, that they should kill the prisoners: lest any swimming out, might run away.

43 But the Centurion willing to saue Paul, forbade it to be done: and hee commanded them that could swimme, to cast out themselues first, and escape, and goe forth to land:

44 And the rest, some they carried on boardes, and some vpon those things that were of the ship. And so it came to passe, that all the soules escaped to land.

31 Paul sayd to the vndercaptaine, and to the souldiers, Except these abide in the ship, ye can not be saued.

32 Then the souldiers cut off the rope of the boat, and let it fall away.

33 And when the day began to appeare, Paul besought them all to take meat, saying, This is the foureteenth day that ye haue taried and continued fasting, receiuing nothing at all.

34 Wherefore, I pray you to take meat, for this no doubt is for your health, for there shal not an haire fall from the head of any of you.

35 And when he had thus spoken, hee tooke bread, and gaue thankes to God in presence of them all: and when hee had broken it, hee began to eat.

36 Then were they all of good cheere, and they also tooke meat.

37 And we were altogether in the ship, two hundred threescore and sixteene soules.

38 And when they had eaten enough, they lighted the shippe, and cast out the wheat into the sea.

39 And when it was day, they knew not the land: but they spied a certeine hauen with a banke, into the which they were minded, if it were possible, to thrust in the ship.

40 And when they had taken vp the ankers, they committed ‖ themselues vnto the sea, and loosed the rudder bands, and hoised vp the maine saile to the winde, and drew to land. ‖ Or, the ship.

41 And when they fell into a place which had the sea on both sides, they thrust in the ship, and the forepart stucke fast and mooued not, but the hinder part brake with the violence of the waues.

42 And the souldiers counsell was to kill the prisoners, lest any of them when he had swomme out, should run away.

43 But the vndercaptaine, willing to saue Paul, kept them from their purpose, and commanded that they which could swimme, should cast themselues first into the sea, and escape to land:

44 And the other, some on boards, and some on broken pieces of the shippe: and so it came to passe, that they escaped all safe to land.

After their ſhipwracke hauing wintered in the Iland (now named Malta) where many miracles were wrought by Paul, they take ſhip againe, and ſo by Sicile they come to Puteoli in Italie, the Chriſtian Romans comming a great way to meet him, to his great ioy. 16 Finally being come to Rome, in his lodging he declareth to the Iewes his cauſe, 23 and on a day appointed preacheth IESVS vnto them. 25 And ſeeing their incredulity, he ſheweth how it was foretolde by Eſay: 28 but that the Gentils will not be incredulous. 30 To whom he there preacheth two whole yeres without prohibition.

5 And he indeed ‖ ſhaking off the beaſt into the fire, ſuffered no harme.

6 But they ſuſpoſed that hee ſhould be turned into a ſwelling, & that he would ſuddenly fall & die. But expecting long and ſeeing that there was no harme done on him, being changed they ſaid, that he was a God.

7 And in thoſe places were lands of the prince of the ile, named Publius, who receiuing vs, for three dayes intreated vs courteouſly.

8 And it chanced that the father of Publius lay vexed with feuers and the bloudie flixe. Vnto whom Paul entred: and when he had prayed, and impoſed hands on him, he healed him.

9 Which being done, all in the ile alſo that had infirmities, came, and were cured:

11 And after three moneths, we ſailed in a ſhip of Alexandria, that had wintered in the iland, whoſe ſigne was the Caſtors.

AND when they were eſcaped, then they knew that the iſle was called Melita.

2 And the barbarous people ſhewed vs no little kindneſſe, for they kindled a fire, and receiued vs euery one, becauſe of the preſent raine, and becauſe of the colde.

3 And when Paul had gathered a bundle of ſticks, and layed them on the fire, there came a Viper out of the heat, and caught him by the hand.

4 And when the ſtrangers ſawe the beaſt hang on his hand, they ſayd among themſelues, No doubt this man is a murderer, whom though hee haue eſcaped the ſea: yet Vengeance ſuffereth not to liue.

5 And he ſhooke off the Viper into the fire, and felt no harme.

6 Howbeit, they waited when he ſhould haue ſwollen, or fallen downe dead ſuddenly: but after they had looked a great while, and ſaw no harme come to him, they changed their windes, and ſaid that he was a God.

7 In the ſame quarters were poſſeſſions of the chiefe man of the Iſle, whoſe name was Publius, which receiued vs, & lodged vs three dayes courteouſly.

8 And it came to paſſe that the father of Publius lay ſicke of a feuer, and of a bloudy flixe, to whom Paul entred in, and prayed, and layd his hands on him, and healed him.

9 So when this was done, other alſo which had diſeaſes in the Iſle, came, and were healed:

10 Which alſo did vs great honour, and when we departed, they laded vs with ſuch things as were neceſſary.

13 Thence compassing by the shore, we came to Rhegium: and after one day the South winde blowing, we came the second day to Putéoli, 14 Where finding brethren, we were desired to tarie with them seuen dayes: and so we came to Rome.

15 And from thence, when the brethren had heard, they came to meet vs vnto Apij forum, and the Three-tauerns. Whom when Paul had seene, giuing thanks to God, hee tooke courage.

16 And when wee were come to Rome, Paul was permitted to remaine to himselfe with a souldier that kept him.

17 And after the third day hee called together the chiefe of the Iewes. And when they were assembled, he sayd to them, Men brethren, I doing nothing against the people, or the custome of the Fathers, was deliuered prisoner from Hierusalem into the hands of the Romans, 18 Who when they had examined mee, would haue released me, for that there was no cause of death in me.

19 But the Iewes contradicting it, I was compelled to appeale vnto Cæsar, not as hauing any thing to accuse my nation.

20 For this cause therfore I desired to see you and to speake to you. for, because of the hope of Israël, am I compassed with this ‖ chaine.

21 But they sayd to him, We neither receiued letters concerning thee from Iewrie, neither did any of the brethren that came hither, report or speake any euill of thee.

22 But wee desire of thee to heare what thou thinkest: for ‖ concerning this [c] sect, it is knowen to vs that it is gainsaid euery where.

23 And when they had appointed him a day, they came to him vnto his lodging very many: to whom hee expounded, testifying the kingdome of God, and vsing persuasion to them of IESVS out of the law of Moyses and the Prophets, from morning vntill euening.

24 And certaine beleeued those things that were sayd: but certaine beleeued not.

25 And whereas they did not agree among themselues, they departed, Paul saying one word: That well did the holy Ghost speake by Esay the Prophet to our fathers, 26 Saying, Goe to this people, and say to them, With the eare you shall heare, and shall not vnderstand: and seeing you shall see, and shall not perceiue.

27 For the heart of this people is waxen grosse, and with their eares they haue heauily heard, and their eyes ‡ they haue shut: lest perhaps they may see with their eyes, & heare with their eares, and vnderstand with their heart, and be conuerted, and I heale them.

13 And from thence we fet a compasse, and came to Rhegium, and after one day the South winde blew, and wee came the next day to Puteolus:

14 Where we found brethren, and were desired to tarry with them seuen dayes: and so wee came toward Rome.

15 And from thence, when the brethren heard of vs, they came to meet vs at Appij forum, and at the Three tauerns: When Paul saw them, he thanked God, and waxed bolde.

16 And when we came to Rome, the vnder captaine deliuered the prisoners to the chiefe captaine of the hoste: but Paul was suffered to dwell by himselfe, with a souldier that kept him.

17 And it came to passe, that after three dayes, Paul called the chiefe of the Iewes together. And when they were come together, he sayd vnto them, Men and brethren, though I haue committed nothing against the people or lawes of the Fathers, yet was I deliuered prisoner from Hierusalem into the hands of the Romans.

18 Which when they had examined mee, would haue let me go, because there was no cause of death in me.

19 But when the Iewes spake contrary, I was constrained to appeale vnto Cæsar, not that I had ought to accuse my nation of.

20 For this cause then haue I called for you, euen to see you, and to speake with you: because that for the hope of Israel I am bound with this chaine.

21 And they sayd vnto him, We neither receiued letters out of Iurie concerning thee, neither any of the brethren that came, shewed or spake any harme of thee.

22 But we will heare of thee what thou thinkest: for as concerning this sect, we know that euery where it is spoken against.

23 And when they had appointed him a day, there came many to him in his lodging, to whom he expounded & testified the kingdome of God, persuading them concerning Iesus, both out of the law of Moyses, and out of the Prophets, euen from morning to night.

24 And some were persuaded in the things which were spoken, and some beleeued not.

25 And when they agreed not among themselues, they departed, after that Paul had spoken one word, that is to say, Well spake the holy Ghost by Esaias the Prophet, vnto our fathers,

*26 Saying, Goe vnto this people, and say, With your eares shall yee heare, and shall not vnderstand, and with your eyes shall yee see, and not perceiue.

27 For the heart of this people is waxed grosse, and their eares are dull of hearing, and their eies haue they closed, lest they should see with their eyes, and heare with their eares, and vnderstand with their hearts, and should be conuerted, and I should heale them.

28 Be it knowen therfore to you, that this Saluation of God is ſent to the Gentiles, and they will heare.

29 And when hee had ſaide theſe things, the Iewes went out from him, hauing much queſtioning among themſelues.

30 And he taried full two yeres in his hired lodging: and he receiued all that came in to him,

31 Preaching the kingdome of God, and teaching the things that concerne our Lord IESVS CHRIST with all confidence, without prohibition.

28 Be it knowen therefore vnto you, that this Saluation of God is ſent vnto the Gentiles, and they ſhall heare it.

29 And when hee had ſayd theſe words, the Iewes departed, and had great reaſoning among themſelues.

30 And Paul dwelt two yeeres full in his owne hired houſe, and receiued all that came in vnto him, 31 Preaching the kingdome of God, and teaching thoſe things which concerne the Lord Ieſus Chriſt, with all confidence, no man forbidding him.

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. XXVIII.

RHEM. 1 1. Iland was called.) This Iland (now Malta) is the ſeat of the knights of the Rhodes, the inhabitants wherof haue a ſpeciall deuotion to S. Paul: to whom both the chiefe Church (being the Biſhops ſeat) is dedicated, and the whole Iland (as they count it) conſecrated. where the people ſhew yet to ſtrangers, his priſon and other memories of his miracles.

FVLKE. 1 If the inhabitants of Malta doe ſhew S. Pauls priſon, they ſhew a fable: for it is manifeſt by the text, that although he were a priſoner, he was not ſhut vp in a priſon. Reliques.

FVLKE. 2 The excecation of the Iewes is to be attributed to themſelues that obſtinately refuſed to ſee: and to God, who iuſtly puniſheth them with that blindneſſe that they could not ſee.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. XXVIII.

RHEM. 3 5. Shaking of the beaſt.) The promiſe of Chriſt (Mar. 16.) that venemous ſerpents ſhould not hurt them that beleeue in him, is fulfilled not in all beleeuers, but in ſuch as had the gift of miracles, as S. Paul had. Whom here a viper by nature ſo venemous, ſhat the people thought he ſhould haue died out of hand, did no whit annoy: he extinguiſhing by the power of Chriſt all the poiſon of the beaſt. Yea and (as the Chriſtian people there till this day beleeue) by S. Pauls prayers the Iland was deliuered for euer from all ſuch venemous ſerpents, inſomuch that children there play with ſcorpions euer ſince that time, and Pilgrims dayly cary with them pieces of ſtones out of the place where Paul abode, by which they affirme that they heale them which in other countreys adioyning are bitten of ſcorpions, the medicine therefore being called, S. Pauls grace. The heretikes that know not the power of God, nor the miraculous vertues giuen to his ſaints, marueil and blaſpheme, when they heare ſuch things as be proper to certaine countreyes, attributed ſometimes to Gods miracles done by his ſaints: as though that were not poſſible, or were not as much to Gods honor, & more, then things proceeding only of natural cauſes. Such profane men would not haue attributed the holeſomneſſe of waters of Iericho to Eliſeus his vertue and miracles, amending them by caſting ſalt into them, if the Scripture had not expreſly teſtified the ſame. It is the part of all faithfull men to refer ſuch things to God, when any iuſt occaſion is giuen thereunto, rather then to nature: though the incredulous do alwayes contrary, for feare of ſuperſtition and diſhonouring God. As though this eſcape of drowning, might better and more to Gods glory be referred to chance and the mariners induſtry, then to S. Pauls prayer and extraordinary working.

FVLKE. 3 Our merchants & other that haue trauelled into Malta can finde no ſuch miracle of that land. But if God haue giuen any ſuch grace to that Iſland, it is not to mainteine ſuperſtition or idolatry, but to ſhew the glory of his trueth that his Apoſtle preached. We doubt not of the power of God in working miracles, but where we haue not his word to aſſure vs, we muſt haue good proofe before we are bound to giue credit. Chriſt ſheweth (ſayth Tertullian) that the faith of ſignes and wonders which are eaſie to be done by falſe Chriſts, is raſh and vncertaine. Aduerſ. Gregory learned not of the Scriptures to ſend the filings of a chaine which he knew not whether it were S. Pauls or no to the Empreſſe. S. Paul himſelfe ſent no ſuch vaine preſents. Reliques.

RHEM. 5 22. Concerning this ſect.) The heretiks of all ſorts comfort themſelues much, when they finde here or elſwhere the Chriſtian faith called of the Iewes or incredulous perſons, a ſect or an hereſie, and ſometimes in contempt of Chriſts perſon the Maſter of the ſame, the ſect of the Nazarens: as though the Church of God might aſwell erre in naming their doctrine hereſie, as the Iewes and Pagans might and did miſſe in condemning Chriſtian religion for an hereſie: or as though the Proteſtants doctrine were as well proued & tried to be no hereſie, by the Prophets & other Scriptures, miracles, & conſent of all nations & ages, as Chriſts bleſſed doctrine is. Whereas indeed the Proteſtants doctrine is euidently conuinced to be heretical, by the ſame argumens: that Chriſts religion is proued to be the only true doctrine of ſaluation, & not an hereſie. And whoſoeuer can deduce the Chriſtian faith from Adam to this day, thorowout all the Fathers, Patriarchs, Prophets, Prieſts, Apoſtles, and Biſhops, by deſcent & ſucceſſion of all Iewes and ſtates of true worſhippers & beleeuers (which is the only or ſpeciall way to proue that the Chriſtian faith is no hereſie) he ſhall by the ſame meanes all at once proone the Proteſtants doctrine to be an hereſie and a falſe ſect. That the Iewes therfore & ill men in all places contradicted the Chriſtian religion, calling it an hereſie or ſect, as though it had a beginning of ſome certain ſect-maſter other then God himſelfe, they were deceiued: & the Church of God neuertheleſſe calling the Proteſtants doctrine hereſie in the worſt part that cā be, & in the worſt ſort that euer was doth right & moſt iuſtly. The name of Sect is well giuen to all hereſies though the Chriſtian religion at the firſt was falſely ſo called.

FVLKE. 5 As S. Paul prooued that way which they called hereſie to be the true religion, we haue bene alwayes readie to proue that which you call hereſie in vs, to be the true religion of God, namely by the holy Scriptures, Act. 24. 14. which we are ſure was the faith of Adam and all the Patriarchs, Prophets, Apoſtles, and of all true Chriſtians vnto this time. That Papiſts are able to deduce their faith from Adam &c: it is a moſt monſtrous fable, ſeeing they cannot deduce it out of the holy Scriptures, which they holde to be vnſufficient to teach all things Hereſie.

things necessary to be beleeued vnto saluation. What testimony can they haue of the faith of Adam with all the rest of the Patriarches, Prophets and Apostles, when they refuse the holy Scripture as vnsufficient? The name of sect and heresie doth as truly agree to you that falsly obiect it to vs, as it did to the Pharisees, Sadducees, and obstinate blinde Iewes, that falsely did charge the doctrine of Christ and his Apostles with it.

RHEM. 1 THE ENDE OF THE ACTES OF THE APOSTLES:

Wherunto we ioyne for the readers behalfe, two Tables of the two chiefe Apostles, and a note of the rest, as an abridgement of the sayd booke, and a supply of some things not there mentioned.

THE SVMME OF THE ACTES OF THE APOSTLES, CONTEINING

*specially the Gests of the two principall Apostles, SS. Peter and Paul, in such order of time and yeres of the Emperours, and from Christs Natiuity, and Ascension, as they were done: so farre as by holy Scriptures or Ecclesiasticall writers may be gathered. Wherein though it be not possible to set downe the precise and vndoubted time or yeere of euery thing, because neither S. Luke nor others doe note particularly and orderly the moments of euery action of the sayd Apostles: yet we follow the most probable and plaine plat that we finde in holy Scripture and ancient writers. Wherby the studious reader may easily discouer the folly of the Protestants, that can finde no time when * Peter might possibly come to Rome, be Bishop and die there: diuers things in S. Pauls acts being no lesse hard to reconcile to the course of S. Lukes narration, then any thing touching the history of S. Peter, namely his * three yeres preaching in Arabia: all which must needs be true, whether we hit the very iust time or no, and howsoeuer authours differ about the same.* See the Annot. Rom. 16, 15. Galat. 1.

FVLKE. 1 We doe not thinke it vnpossible that Peter might be at Rome, and die there, but we say it is not like to be so, because there is no mention therof in the Acts of the Apostles. And if he were at Rome, because the Scripture doth not make mention of it, we affirme that it is not necessary to be knowen that he was there. Moreouer, whereas S. Hierom affirmeth that he came to Rome the second yere of Claudius, & held the priestly chaire 25 yeres, we say it is impossible to be true, because it is confuted by the Acts of the Apostles, and the Epistles of Paul, & the Greeke writers, which affirme that he was 7 yeres bishop of Antioch before he came to Rome. Whether Peter were at Rome.

THE ARGVMENT OF THE EPISTLES IN GENERALL.

RHEM. 1 AFter the Gospels, which is a story of Christ himselfe, and after the Actes of the Apostles, which is a story of Christes Church: now follow the Epistles of the Apostles, which they wrote of such matters, as they had then occasion to write of. For being the Founders and the Doctours of the Church, they did in their time, as the Doctours that succeeded them, did after them: who from the beginning vnto this day, haue written Epistles and Bookes against heresies, euer as they arose, and of all other ecclesiasticall matters, as they had occasion ministred vnto them. Of which their doing, the Apostles first gaue here the ensample: as also S. Luke in the Actes of the Apostles, led the way to all the writers of ecclesiasticall history after him. For although there be no comparison betweene them for authority, forasmuch as these are Canonicall Scripture, and so are not any writings of their successours: yet the occasions and matters (as I haue sayd) are like.

(*) Most of these Epistles are S. Pauls Epistles: the rest are called * Catholicæ Epistolæ, the Epistles Catholike. For S. Paul writeth not any Epistle to all (howbeit euery one of them is for all the Church:) but some to particular Churches of the Gentiles, as to the Romans, to the Corinthians, to the Galatians, to the Ephesians, to the Philippians, to the Colossians, to the Thessalonians: some to particular persons, as to Timothee, to Tite (who were Bishops among the Gentiles, to wit, of Ephesus, and of Crete) and to Philemon, and then one to the Hebrewes, who were the Iewes of Hierusalem and Iurie. But the Epistles of the other Apostles, that is, of S. Iames, S. Peter, S. Iohn, and S. Iude, are not so intituled to any one Church or person (except S. Iohns two later short Epistles, which yet might not be separated from his first, because they were all of one authour) and therefore they are termed Catholike, that is, Vniuersall. For so writeth S. Iames: To the twelue tribes that are in dispersion, greeting. and S. Peter in his first Epistle, thus: To the elect strangers of the dispersion of Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Asia, and Bithynia. in his second thus: To them that haue obteined equall faith with vs. likewise S. Iude: To them that are in God the Father beloued, and in Iesus Christ preserued, and called. S. Iohns first is without title. Euseb. lib. 2. Eccl. hist. c. 22.

Now, for the occasions of their writings, whereby we shall perceiue the matters or arguments that they handle: it must be remembred (as the Story of that time in the Actes of the Apostles doth at large declare) that the Church then beginning, was planted by the Apostles not onely in the Iewes, but also in the Gentiles: yea and specially in the Gentiles. Which thing offended the Iewes many wayes. For, they could not abide to see, so much as their owne countrey to receiue him for CHRIST, whom they had reiected and crucified: much lesse, to see, them preach him to the Gentiles also, that offended euen those Iewes also, that beleeued him to be Christ. Howbeit such of them as were Catholikes, and therefore not obstinate, were satisfied when they vnderstood by the Apostles that it was Gods pleasure, as Act. 11. we reade. But others of them became heretiks, and preached to the Christian Gentiles, that it was necessary for them to receiue also the Iewes religion. Of such we reade Act. 15. Vnlesse you be circumcised, you can not be saued. And as these did so preach against the trueth, so did the vnchristened Iewes not onely themselues persecute, but also stirre vp the idolatrous Gentiles euery where to persecute the Christians: by such obstinacy prouoking God to reprobate their Nation: which yet they thought vnpossible to be done, because they were the seed of Abraham, and were circumcised, and had receiued the Law by Moyses. for such carnall respects they trusted in themselues, as though God and Christ were vnseparably bound vnto them: attributing also so much to their owne works (which they thought they did of themselues, being holpen with the knowledge of their Law) that they would not acknowledge the death of Christ to be necessary for their saluation: but looked for such a Christ, as should be like other Princes of this world, and make them great men temporally.

Hereupon did S. Paul write his Epistles, to shew both the vocation of the Gentiles, & the reprobation of the Iewes. Moreouer, to admonish both the Christian Gentiles, not to receiue Circumcision and other ceremonies of Moyses Law, in no wise: and the Iewes also, not to put their trust in the same, but rather to vnderstand, that now, Christ being come, they must cease. Againe, to shew the necessity of Christs comming and of his death: that without it, neither the Gentiles could be saued: no nor the Iewes, by no works that they could do of themselues, although they were also holpen by the Law, telling them what was good and what was bad: forsomuch as all were sinners, and therefore also impotent or infirme: and the Law could not take away sinne, and infirmity, and giue strength to fulfill that which it gaue knowledge of. but this was God onely able to do, and for Christs sake onely would he do it. Therefore it is necessary for all to beleeue in Christ, and to be made his members, being incorporate into his Body which is his Catholike Church. For so (although they neuer yet did good worke, but all ill) they shall haue remission of their sinnes, and new strength withall, to make them able to fulfill the commandements of Gods law, yea and their works after this shalbe so gracious in Gods sight, that for them he will giue them life euerlasting. This is the necessity, this is also the fruit of Christian religion. And therefore he exhorteth all, both Gentiles and Iewes, as to receiue it humbly, so also to persеuere in it constantly vnto the end, against all seduction of heresie, and against all terrour of persecution: and to walke all their time in good works, as now God hath made them able to do.

The same doctrine doth the Catholike Church teach vnto this day most exactly: to wit, that no works of the vnbeleeuing or vnbaptized, whether they be Iewes or Gentiles, can saue them: no nor of any Heretike or Schismatike, although he be baptized, because he is not a member of Christ: yea more then that, no worke of any that is not a liuely member of Christ, although otherwise he be baptized, and continue within his Church, yet because he is not in grace but in mortall sinne, no worke that he doth, is meritorious or able to saue him. The doctrine of the Cath. Church concerning good works.

This very same is S. Pauls doctrine: he denieth to the works of such as haue not the Spirit of Christ, all vertue to iustifie or to saue: neither requireth he a man to haue had knowledge of the Law, or to haue kept it aforetime, as though otherwise he might not be saued by Christ: but yet when he is Christened, he requireth of necessity, that he keepe Gods commandements, S. Pauls doctrine concerning [illegible] and good works.

by

by annyding of al ſinne, and doing good workes: and to ſuch a mans good workes he attributeth as much vertue as any Catholike of this time.

Neuertheleſſe there were certaine at that time (as alſo al the Heretikes of this our time) whom S. Peter termeth vnlearned and vnſtable, who reading S. Pauls Epiſtles, did miſconſter his meaning, as though he required not good workes no more after Baptiſme, then before Baptiſme: but helde that onely Faith did iuſtifie and ſaue a man. Therupon the other Apoſtles wrote their Epiſtles, as S. Auguſtine noteth in theſe wordes: Therefore becauſe this opinion (Ad ſalutem obtinendam ſufficere Solam fidem, that onely faith is ſufficient to obteine ſaluation) was then riſen: the other Apoſtolical Epiſtles, of Peter, Iohn, Iames, Iude, do againſt it ſpecially dire& their intention: to auouch vehemently fidem ſine operibus nihil prodeſſe, that faith without workes profiteth nothing. As alſo Paul him ſelfe did not define it to be quamlibet fidem, qua in Deum creditur, whatſoeuer maner of faith, wherewith we beleeue in God, but that holeſome and expreſſe Euangelical faith, whoſe workes proceed from loue, and the faith (quoth he) that worketh by loue. whereupon that faith, which ſome thinke to be ſufficient to ſaluation, hee ſo affirmeth to profite nothing, that he ſaith, If I ſhould haue all faith ſo that I could remoue mountaines, and haue not charitie, I am nothing.

2. Pet. 3. Aug. de fide & oper. ca. 14. Et Præf. Pſal. 31. Gal. 5. 1. Cor. 13.

He therefore that wil not erre in this point, nor in any other, reading either S. Pauls Epiſtles, or the reſt of the holy Scriptures, muſt ſticke faſt to the doctrine of the Catholike Church, which Church S. Paul termeth the piller and ground of the trueth: aſſuring him ſelfe that if any thing there ſound to him as contrary hereunto, he faileth of the right ſenſe: and bearing alwayes in his minde the admonition of S. Peter, ſaying: As alſo our moſt deere brother Paul according to the wiſedom giuen to him, hath written to you: as alſo in all his Epiſtles, ſpeaking in them of theſe things, in the which are certaine things hard to vnderſtand, which the vnlearned and vnſtable depraue, as alſo the reſt of Scriptures, to their owne perdition. You therefore brethren, foreknowing, take heed leſt ye be led amiſſe by the error of the vnwiſe, and fall away from your owne ſtedfaſtnes.

1. Tim 3. 2. Pet. 3.

FVLKE. 1

In this argument, beſide that it doeth not expreſſe ſufficiently the ſumme of the Epiſtles, the Reader muſt be admoniſhed, that it is no where written in the Epiſtles, nor in the whole Scripture: That euery member of the Catholike Church, hath ſtrength ſufficient to make him able to fulfill the Commaundements of Gods Law, in ſuch perfection as God requireth in his Law, or that his workes are made meritorious of eternall life. The contrary doctrine is manifeſt in S. Paul, Rom. 7. 18. to the ende, Rom. 6. 23. neither doeth he euer aſcribe ſuch vertue to workes, as the Papiſts doe, that they are meritorious. Hee that will not erre in reading theſe Epiſtles, muſt learne to knowe that Church to be the piller of trueth, which holdeth the doctrine of trueth taught in theſe Epiſtles, and in the whole Scripture, out of which onely, the true Church muſt be knowen from the falſe. Chryſoſt. in Matth. oper. imperf. Hom. 49. In Ioan. Hom 58. In Gen. Hom. 12. & 13. Auguſt. de vnitat. Eccleſ. Cap. 2. & 3. & 16. De paſtoribus Cap. 14. Finally, thoſe hard places to vnderſtand, whereof S. Peter ſpeaketh, are onely concerning the ſecond comming of Chriſt, and not generally all the matter of his Epiſtles: yet are there other things hard alſo, but S. Auguſtine teacheth vs, that nothing is conteined in theſe difficulties, which is not els where found vttered moſt plainely, De doctrin. Chriſt. lib. 2. Cap. 6.

None able to fulfill Gods Commandements. Merit.

THE TIME WHEN THE EPISTLE TO THE ROMANES WAS WRITten, and the Argument thereof.

RHEM. 1

THE hiſtory of S. Paul, vntil he came to Rome, S. Luke in the Actes of the Apoſtles wrote exactly: and though without any mention of his Epiſtles, yet certaine it is, that ſome of them he wrote before he came there, to wit, the two vnto the Corinthians, and this to the Romanes: and (* as is ſeemeth) before them al, the Epiſtle to the Galatians. Wherein yet becauſe he maketh mention of the foureteenth yeere after his converſion, it appeareth, that he preached ſo long without any writing.

Galat. 2.

And this order may thus briefly be gathered. Firſt he preached to the Galatians Act. 16: and paſſing through Phrygia and the countrey of Galatia. Whereof he maketh mention him ſelfe alſo, Galat. 1. Wee euangelized to you. and Gal. 4: I euangelized to you heretofore. After which the falſe Apoſtles came and perſuaded them to receiue Circumciſion. Whereupon he ſaith Gal. 1: I maruel that thus ſo ſoone you are transferred from him that called you to the grace of Chriſt, vnto an other Goſpel. and wiſheth therefore Galat 4. ſaying: And I would I were with you now. And accordingly he came vnto them afterward, as we reade Act. 18. Walking in order through the countrie of Galatia and Phrygia, confirming al the Diſciples. At which time alſo it ſeemeth, that he toke order with them about thoſe contributions to helpe the neede of the Chriſtians in Hieruſalem, whereof he ſpeaketh 1. Cor. 16: And concerning the collections that are made for the Saincts, as I haue ordeined to the Churches of Galatia, ſo doe you alſo. By which wordes alſo it is euident, that the Corinthians had not as then made their gathering. But when he wrote the Second to them (where in the 11. Chapter he maketh mention of 14. yeeres, not onely after his Conuerſion, as to the Galatians, but alſo after his Rapte, which ſeemeth to haue bene when he was at Hieruſalem Act. 9. foure yeeres after his Conuerſion, in a traunce, as hee calleth it Act. 22. 17.) then were they ready. For ſo he ſaith 2. Cor. 8: You haue begonne from the yeere paſt. and 2. Cor. 9: For the which I doe glorie of you to the Macedonians: that alſo Achaia is ready from the yeere paſt. howbeit it followeth there: But I haue ſent the brethren, that (as I haue ſaid) you may be ready: leſt when the Macedonians come with me, and find you vnready, we be aſhamed. But when he wrote to the Romanes, then was hee now come to Corinth for the purpoſe, and had receiued their contribution, and was ready to goe with it vnto Hieruſalem. For ſo hee ſaith Rom. 15. Now therefore I wil goe vnto Hieruſalem to miniſter to the Saincts. For Macedonia and Achaia haue liked wel to make ſome contribution vpon the poore Saincts that are in Hieruſalem.

Epiph. Her. 42. Irenæus. Aug. Expoſ. in cho. ad Rom.

So then, the Epiſtle to the Romanes was not the firſt that he wrote. But yet it is * and alwayes was ſet firſt, becauſe of the primacie of that Church. for which cauſe alſo he handleth in it, ſuch matters as perteined not to them alone, but to the vniuerſal Church, and ſpecially to al the Gentiles: to wit, the very frame (as it were) of the Church of Chriſt. Tanquam enim pro ipſo

The argument of the Epiſtle to the Romanes.

* 2. Cor. 5.

ipso Domino legatione fungens, hoc est, pro [b] lapide angulari, utrumque populum, tam ex Iudæis quàm ex Gentibus connectit in Christo per vinculum gratiæ. So saith S. Augustine, giuing vs briefly the argument, in English thus: As being a legate for our Lord him selfe, that is, for the corner stone, he knitteth together in Christ by the band of Grace, both peoples, as well of the Iewes as of the Gentiles. Shewing, that neither of them had in their Gentilitie or Iudaisme any workes to bragge of, or to chalenge to them selues iustification or saluation thereby, but rather sinnes they had to bee sorie for, and to humble them selues to the faith of Christ, that so they might haue remission of them, and strength to doe meritorious workes afterward. In which sort, because the Gentiles did humble them selues, therefore had they found mercie, though they neuer wist of the Lawe of Moyses. But the Iewes, because they stoode vpon their owne workes, which they did by their owne strength, with the knowledge of the Lawe (being therefore also called the workes of the Lawe,) and so would not humble them selues to beleeue in Christ crucified, they missed of mercie, and became reprobat, excepting a fewe Reliquiæ that God of his goodnesse had reserued to him selfe. Howbeit in the ende, when the fulnesse of the Gentiles is come into the Church, then shall the fulnesse of the Iewes also open their eyes, acknowledge their errour, and submit them selues to Christ and his Church in like maner. In the meane time, those that haue found the grace to be Christians, hee exhorteth to perseuerance (as it was specially needefull in those times of persecutions) and to leade their whole life nowe after Baptisme in good workes: and to bee carefull of vnitie, bearing therefore one with another, both Iewe and Gentile, all that they may, and giuing no offence to them that are weake. Thus he disputeth, and thus he exhorteth through the whole Epistle: though, if wee will diuide it by that which is principall in eth part, we may say, that vnto the 12. Chapter is his disputation: and from thence to the ende, his exhortation.

[b] Ephes. 2.

The workes of the Law.

Now, in these points of faith, and in all others (as also in example of life) the commendation that he giueth to the Church of Rome, is much to bee noted. Your faith is renoumed in the whole world. and your obedience is published into euery place. I reioyce therefore in you. And againe: you haue obeyed from the heart vnto that forme of doctrine, which hath beene deliuered to you. And thereupon againe: I desire you brethren to marke them that make dissentions and scandals contrary to the doctrine which you haue learned, and auoyde them. For such do not serue Christ our Lord, but their owne belly: and by sweete speaches and benedictions seduce the hearts of innocents. Therefore to shunne Luther and Caluine, and all their crewes, wee haue iust reason and good warrant. They make dissensions and scandales against the doctrine of the Romane Church. Let no man therefore bee seduced by their slygred wordes.

Rom. 6.
Rom. 16.

FVLKE. I Epiphanius saith, the Epistle to the Romanes is compted the first among Catholike Christians, but he saith not, it was so accompted for the primacie of the Church of Rome. By the same reason you might prooue the Church of the Iewes to be the chiefe, because the Epistle of S. Iames is placed before the rest. S. Augustine ioyneth to the wordes by you set downe. Veritas auferens omnem superbiam meritorum, & iustificandos vtrosq; per disciplinam humilitatis associans. Taking from both, that is, Iewes and Gentiles, all pride of merites, and ioyning them both together to be iustified by the discipline of humilitie. Whereby we see, that S. Augustine calleth the opinion of merites pride, and the doctrine of Iustification by faith, the discipline of humilitie, as in deede it is. For the Apostle neuer saith, that men shall haue strength to doe meritorious workes afterward, which were not to take away the pride of merites, but to change the matter of pride, the pride of merites still remaining. Finally, Luther and Caluine make no dissentions, or scandales against the doctrine of the Romane Church taught in this Epistle, but discouer the heresies and blasphemies of the Antichristian Church of Rome, which are contrary to the doctrine of this Epistle, and to the ancient faith of the Church of Rome.

Primacie of the Romish Church.

¶ THE EPISTLE OF PAVL THE APOSTLE TO THE ROMANES.

CHAP. I.

The foundation of his Apostleship being layd, 8 he highly commendeth the Romanes, and protesteth his affection towards them, and so comming to the matter, saith, our Christian Catholike doctrine (that teacheth all to beleeue) to be the way to saluation: 18 because the Gentiles (first of all) could not be saued by their Philosophie, whereby they knew God, for so much as they did not serue him, but Idoles: he therfore iustly permitting them to fall into all kinde of most damnable sinne.

The Church readeth S. Pauls Epistles at Matins from Sunday in Christmas time to Septuagesima.

THE EPISTLE vpon Christmas Eue. Act. 13, 2.

PAVL the seruant of IESVS CHRIST, called to be an Apostle, * separated into the Gospel of God,

2 Which before he had promised by his Prophetes in the holy Scriptures,

3 Of his Sonne, (who was made to him of the seed of Dauid according to the flesh,

4 Who was predestinate the Sonne of God in power, according to the Spirit of sanctification, by the resurrection of our Lord IESVS CHRIST from the dead,

5 By whom we haue receiued grace and Apostleship ‘for obedience to the faith ‡ in all Nations for the name of him,

6 Among whom are you also the called of IESVS CHRIST:)

7 To all that are at Rome the beloued of God, called to be saincts. Grace to you and peace from God our Father, and our Lorde IESVS CHRIST.

8 First I giue thanks to my God through IESVS CHRIST for all you, bebause ‖ your faith is renoumed in the whole world.

9 For God is my witnes ‘whom I serue ‖ in my spirit in the Gospel of his Sonne, that ‡ without intermission I make ‖ a memorie of you

10 Alwayes in my prayers, beseeching, if by any meanes I may sometime at the length haue a prosperous iourney by the will of God, to come vnto you.

11 For I desire to see you, that I may impart vnto you some spiritual grace, to ‡ confirme you:

12 That is to say, to be comforted together in you by that which is common to vs both, your faith and mine.

13 And I wil not haue you ignorant (brethren) that I haue often purposed to come vnto you (and haue bene staied hitherto) that I may haue some fruite in you, as also in the other Gentiles.

14 To the Greekes and the Barbarous, to the wise and the vnwise I am detter.

15 So (as much as is in me) I am ready ‖ to euangelize to you also that are at Rome.

¶ The Translation of the Church of England.

PAul the seruant of IESVS Christ, called to be an Apostle, seuered into the Gospel of God,

2 Which hee had promised afore by his Prophetes in the holy Scriptures,

3 Of his Sonne, which was made of the seede of Dauid after the flesh:

4 And hath bene declared to be the Sonne of God, with power after the Spirit that sanctifieth, by the resurrection from the dead, of Iesus Christ our Lord:

5 By whom wee haue receiued grace and Apostleship, that obedience might be giuen vnto the faith in his Name among all Heathen,

6 Among whom, yee are also the called of Iesus Christ:

7 To all that bee in Rome, beloued of God, Saincts by calling: Grace to you, and peace from God our Father, and the Lord Iesus Christ.

8 First verily I thanke my God through Iesus Christ for you all, that your faith is published thorowout all the world.

9 For God is my witnesse, whom I serue with my spirit in the Gospel of his Sonne, that without ceasing I make mention of you:

10 Praying alwayes in my prayers, that by some meane at the last, one time or other, I might take a prosperous iourney by the will of God, to come vnto you.

11 For I long to see you, that I might bestow among you some spirituall gift, that yee might be stablished.

12 That is, that I might haue consolation together with you, each with others faith, yours and mine.

13 I would that ye should know, brethren, how that I haue oftentimes purposed to come vnto you (and haue bene letted hitherto) that I might haue some fruite also among you, as among other of the Gentiles.

14 I am detter both to the Greekes, and to the Barbarous, both to the wise, and to the vnwise.

15 So that, as much as in me is, I am ready to preach the Gospel to you that are at Rome also.

16 For

16 For I am not ashamed of the Gospel. For it is the power of God, vnto saluation to euery one that beleeueth, to the Iew first and to the Greeke.

17 For ‡ the iustice of God is reuealed therein by faith into faith: as it is written: Abac.4,2. And the iust ‖ liueth by faith.

18 For the wrath of God from heauen ‖ is reuealed, vpon all impietie and iniustice of those men that deteine the veritie of God in iniustice:

19 Because, that of God which is known, is manifest in them. For God hath manifested it vnto them.

20 For his inuisible things, from the creation of the world are seen, being vnderstood by those things that are made: his eternall power also and Diuinitie: so that they are inexcusable.

21 Because, whereas they knewe God, they haue not glorified him as God, or giuen thanks: but are become vaine in their cogitations, & their foolish hart hath been darkned.

22 For, saying them selues to be wise, they became fooles.

23 And they changed the glory of the incorruptible God, into a ‘ similitude of the image of a corruptible man, and of foules and foure-footed beasts and of them that creepe.

24 (For the which cause God ‡ hath deliuered them vp vnto the desires of their hart, into vncleanesse, for to abuse their own bodies among them selues ignominiously.)

25 Who haue changed the veritie of God ‘ἠλλάξαντο. into lying: and haue worshipped and ‘serued the creature rather then the creator, who is blessed for euer. Amen.

26 Therefore ‖ God hath deliuered them into passions of ignominie. For their women haue changed the naturall vse, into that vse that is contrary to nature.

27 And in like maner the men also, leauing the natural vse of the woman, haue burned in their desires one toward another, men vpon men working turpitude, and the reward of their errour (which they should) receiuing in them selues.

28 And as they liked not to haue God in knowledge: God deliuered them vp into a reprobate sense: to doe those things that are not conuenient:

29 Repleniſhed with al iniquitie, malice, fornication, auarice, wickednes, full of enuie, murder, contention, guile, malignitie, whisperers,

30 Detractours, odible to God, contumelious, proud, hautie, inuentours of euil things, disobedient to parents,

31 Foolish, dissolute, without affection, without fidelitie, without mercie.

32 Who whereas they knewe the iustice of God, did not vnderstand that they which doe

16 For I am not ashamed of the Gospel of Christ, because it is the power of God vnto saluation to all that beleeue, to the Iew first, and also to the Greeke.

17 For by it is the righteousnesse of God opened from faith to faith: as it is written, The iust shall liue by faith.

18 For the wrath of God is reuealed from heauen, against all vngodlinesse & vnrighteousnesse of men, which withholde the trueth in vnrighteousnesse.

19 For that that may bee knowen of God, is manifest among them, because God hath shewed it vnto them.

20 For his inuisible things, being vnderstanded by his workes, through the creation of the worlde, are seene, that is, both his eternall power and Godhead, so that they are without excuse:

21 Because that when they knewe God, notwithstanding they glorified him not as God, neither were thankefull, but waxed full of vanities in their imaginations, and their foolish heart was blinded.

22 When they counted themselues wise, they became fooles:

23 And turned the glory of the vncorruptible God vnto an image, made not onely after the similitude of a corruptible man, but also of birds, and foure footed beastes, and of creeping beastes.

24 Wherefore God gaue them vp to vncleanesse, through the lustes of their owne hearts, that their owne bodies should bee defiled among themselues.

25 Which changed his trueth for a lye, and worshipped and serued the creature, more then the Creator, which is to bee praysed for euer, Amen.

26 Wherfore God gaue them vp vnto shamefull lustes, for euen their women did change the naturall vse, into that which is against nature.

27 And likewise also, the men left the naturall vse of the woman, and brent in their lustes one with another, and men with men wrought filthinesse, and receiued in themselues the reward of their errour (as it was according.)

28 And as they regarded not to know God: euen so, God deliuered them vp vnto a lewde minde, that they shoulde doe those things which were not comely.

29 Being full of all vnrighteousnesse, fornication, craftinesse, couetousnesse, malitiousnesse, full of enuie, murder, debate, deceite, euill conditioned, whisperers,

30 Backbiters, haters of God, despitefull, proude, boasters, bringers vp of euill things, disobedient to father and mother:

31 Without vnderstanding, couenant breakers, without naturall affection, truce breakers, vnmercifull.

32 The which knowing the righteousnesse of God (howe that they which commit such things, doe such things, are ‖ worthie of death: not onely they that doe them, but they also that consent to the doers.

things, are worthy of death) not onely doe the same, but also haue pleasure in them that doe them.

MARGINAL NOTES. CHAP. I.

REM. 1 17. The iustice of God.) He meaneth not Gods owne iustice in him selfe, but that iustice wherewith God endueth man when he iustifieth him. Aug. de Sp. & lit. cap. 9. whereby you may gather the vanitie of the Heretical imputatiue iustice.

YLKE. 1 These are the wordes of Augustine. Non dixit iustitia hominis, vel iustitia propriæ voluntatis, sed iustitia Dei, non qua Deus iustus est, sed qua induit hominem, cum iustificat impium. He said not the iustice of man, or the iustice of a mans owne wil, but the iustice of God, not by which God is iust, but wherewith he doeth clothe man, when he iustifieth the vngodly. For man is clothed with the iustice of Christ, when iustice is imputed to him without workes, Rom. 4. 6. And the vngodly man is not iustified by iustice that is in him, for there can be none in an vngodly man, but by iustice imputed vnto him for the merites of Christ. Wherefore this place of Augustine, maketh directly against iustification by inherent iustice, as euery man might haue seene, if you had not of hereticall malice suppressed the rest of the wordes, and falsly translated the word induit, which signifieth, hath clothed, and not endewed. Iustice not inherent.

REM. 2 23. Similitude of the image.) Loe these and the like are the Images or Idoles so often condemned in the Scriptures, and not the holy Images of Christ and his Saincts.

YLKE. 2 Such be your images of God the Father, and of the blessed Trinitie: the rest of your images also, made and set vp to be worshipped, or had in any vse of religion, are expresly forbidden by the second Commandement. Images.

REM. 3 24. Hath deliuered them vp.) Eph. 4, 19. he saith, They haue deliuered or giuen vp them selues to all vncleannesse. By which conference of Scriptures we learne that them selues are the cause of their owne sinne and damnation, God of his iustice permitting and leauing them to their owne will, and so giuing them vp into passions &c.

YLKE. 3 Both is true, that God hath deliuered them (and not barely suffered them) as a iust iudge, and they haue deliuered them selues, as following their abominable lustes. God is not autor, but punisher of sinne.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. I.

REM. 4 7. Grace to you and peace.) It is a kinde of blessing rather then a prophane salutation, proper to the Apostles, of greater vertue then the benedictions of the fathers in the old Testament. The holy fathers of the Church seemed to abstaine from it for their reuerence to the Apostles. The Manichees* (August cont. ep. funda. c. 5. 6.) and other Heretikes (as also these of our time) because they would be counted Apostles, often vse it. Apostolical salutation or blessing. The same vsed of Heretikes.

YLKE. 4 This forme of salutation or blessing was not proper to the Apostles, for it is not vsed of them all, but may with humilitie and reuerence, as a prayer, blessing, or Christian salutation, be vsed of all Christians, especially of Ministers of the Church. And although Manichæus in a certaine Epistle to Marcellus, did wish grace, mercie, and peace, yet was that neuer accompted heresie in him, but that he called him selfe (as Epiphanius recordeth) an Apostle of Iesus Christ, and as Augustine reporteth in Epist. fundamenti, an Apostle of Iesus Christ by the prouidence of God the Father, without any further salutation there. So these two Doctors are quoted in vaine, to proue it vnlawfull to vse this salutation. Apostolike blessing or salutation.

REM. 5 8. Your faith renoumed.) *The holy Doctors vpon these wordes of the Apostle, and specially by our maisters promis made to Peter, that his faith should not faile, giue great testimonie for the prouidence of God in the preseruation of the Romane faith. S. Cyprian thus: ep. 55. nu. 6. They are so bold to cary letters from prophane Schismatikes to the chaire of Peter and the principal Church whence Priestly vnitie rose: not considering the Romanes to be them whose faith (the Apostle being the commender) was praised, to whom misbeleefe cannot haue accesse. So S. Hierom Apolog. adu. Ruffin. li. 3. c. 4. to 2. Know you that the Romane faith commended by the Apostles mouth, will receiue no such deceits, nor can be possibly changed, though an angel taught otherwise, being fenced by S. Pauls auctoritie. Againe ep. 63. ad Pammach. & Oceanum. c. 4. to 2. Whatsoeuer thou be that auouchest new sectes, I pray thee haue respect to the Romane eares, spare the faith which was praised by the Apostles voyce. And in another place. Will ye know ô Paula and Eustochium, how the Apostle hath noted euery prouince with their proprieties? the faith of the people of Rome is praised. Where is there so great concourse to Churches and Martyrs sepulchres? Where soundeth Amen like thunder from heauen, or where are the temples (voide of Idols) so shaken as there? Not that the Romanes haue an other faith then the rest of the Christian Churches, but that there is in them more deuotion and simplicitie of faith. In an other place the same holy Doctor signifieth that It is all one to say, the Romane faith, and the Catholike. Apolog. 1. adu. Ruff. c. 1. So doth S. Cyprian ep. 52. num. 1. ad Antonianum: and S. Ambrose de obitu fratris, in med. Whereupon, this word Romane, is added to, Catholike, in many countries where Sectes doe abound, for the better distinction of true beleeuers from Heretikes: which in all ages did hate and abborre the Romane faith and Church, as all malefactors do their Iudges and correctors. The Romane faith highly commended. Luke 22. It cannot faile nor be corrupted. Proœm. li 2. Com in ep. ad Gal. The Romane stations, a token of greater faith and deuotion. The Catholike and Romane faith all one.

YLKE. 5 So long as the faith which the Apostle praised, did continue in the Church of Rome, the fathers had cause to praise God, and to commend it likewise. But none of them said or thought, that it could not faile, or that the Church of Rome could neuer depart from that faith. The word which you translate in S. Cyprian, misbeliefe, is Perfidia, falshood, or false dealing: for he speaketh of discipline, and not of faith, against which discipline the Romanes while they continued in the faith that was commended by the Apostle, would do nothing, as they professe in their ep. to S. Cyprian, acknowledging that it were the greatest shame for them that could be, to degenerate or goe out of kinde, from those commendations and that glory. For it is lesse shame (say they) neuer to haue come to the commendation of praise, then to haue fallen downe from the high toppe of praise. It is lesse fault not to haue bene honoured with a good testimonie, then to haue lost the honour of good testimonies. It is lesse crime for a man to haue liued basely without praise or commendation of vertues, then being disherited from faith, to haue lost his owne praises. For those things which are vttered to the glory of any person, doe swell vp into the enuie of a most grieuous crime, vnlesse they bee kept with diligens and careful labour, Epist. 31. For S. Cyprian (though in error himselfe,) yet chargeth Stephanus bishop of Rome with errour. Hierom sheweth, that Liberius bishop of Rome fel into heresie, in catal. Fortunat. Also he reproueth the custome of the Church of Rome, Ep. Euagrio, and preferreth the custome of the Catholike Church in all the world. S. Ambrose professeth, that he desired to folow the Church of Rome in al things. Sed tamen & nos, &c. But yet we also are men, and haue vnderstanding. And therefore that which is better obserued in other places, we doe rightly obserue. De sacram. li. 3. cap. 1. Wherefore you gaine nothing by these commendations but greater shame, except you prooue the Romish religion that now is Papistrie, to be the same faith that was praised by the Apostle, and the ancient Fathers. The Church of Rome may erre.

9. Seiue

RHEM. 6 9. Serue in Spirit.) Diuers Heretikes when they heare that God is a Spirit, and must bee serued and adored in spirit, imagine, that he must be honoured onely inwardly, without ceremonies and external workes: which you see is otherwise: for that the Apostle serued God in spirit, by preaching the Gospel. To serue God then in spirit, is to serue him with faith, hope, and charitie, and with al workes proceeding of them: as to serue him carnally, is, with workes external, without the said internal vertues. How God is serued in spirit.

FVLKE. 6 To serue God in spirit, doth not exclude outward workes of obedience, but requireth them to be done, not with the outward man onely, (as hypocrites doe them,) but in true affection of minde. As for ceremonies, other then such as be necessary (as those of Christes institution,) or such as be conuenient for order, decencie, and edification: are excluded by the worship in spirit and trueth: which God requireth, Iohn 4. and S. Paul practised in the Gospel. Worship in spirit.

RHEM. 9. A memorie of you.) A great example of charitie for al men, specially for Prelates and Pastors, not onely to preach, but to pray continually for the conuersion of people to Christes faith: Which the Apostle did for them whom he neuer knew, in respect of Gods honour only, and the zeale of soules. Prayer for conuersion of soules.

RHEM. 7 15. To euangelize.) The Gospel is not only the life of our Sauiour written by the foure Euangelists, nor onely that which is written in the new Testament: but their whole course of preaching and teaching the faith. Which faith commeth ordinarily of preaching and hearing, and not of writing or reading. And therefore S. Paul thought not himselfe discharged by writing to the Romanes, but his desire was to preach vnto them: for that was the proper commission giuen to the Apostles, to preach to al nations. The writing of the bookes of the Testament, is an other part of Gods prouidence, necessary for the Church in general, but not necessary for euery man in particular: as to be taught and preached vnto, is for euery one of age and vnderstanding. And therfore S. Peter (who was the cheefe of the Commission) wrote litle: many of them wrote nothing at all: and S. Paul that wrote most, wrote but litle in comparison of his preaching: nor to any but such as were conuerted to the faith by preaching before. The Gospel is not onely the written word. Mat. 28. The Apostles writing, & preaching, whether more necessary, and how.

FVLKE. 7 S. Paul did preach the Gospel also by writing, and the people did heare by reading. For if it had not bene in his commission to preach the Gospel by writing, he would not haue declared in the beginning, that he is an Apostle of Iesus Christ, whereby he procureth attention and obedience vnto his doctrine which he teacheth by writing. Peter neither in writing, nor in general preaching, shewed himselfe chiefe of the commission, yet faithfully discharged the Apostleship of the circumcision, that was committed vnto him. Gal. 2 7. Peters primacie.

RHEM. 8 17. Liueth by faith.) In the 10. to the Hebrewes, he sheweth by this place of the Prophet (Abacuc 2.) that the iust though he liue here in peregrination, and seeth not presently nor enioyeth the life euerlasting promised to him, yet holdeth fast the hope thereof by faith. In this place he applieth the Prophets words further to this sense, That it is our faith, that is to say, the Catholike beleefe (saith S. Augustine li. 3. cont. 2. ep Pelag.) Which maketh a iust man, and distinguisheth betweene the iust and vniust, and that by the law of faith, and not by the law of workes Whereof it riseth, that the Iew, the Heathen philosopher, and the Heretike, though they excelled in al workes of moral vertues, could not yet be iust. and a Catholike Christian man liuing but an ordinary honest life, either not sinning greatly, or supplying his faults by penance, is iust. And thus difference riseth by faith. not that faith can saue any man without workes, For it is not a reprobate faith that wee speake of, (as the holy Doctor saith) but that which worketh by charitie, and therfore remitteth sinnes and maketh one iust. See S. Augustines place. The Catholike or Christian faith with good workes iustifieth: and without the faith, no workes whatsoeuer.

FVLKE. 8 The faith of the Catholike Church is not the Popish faith, but the faith that apprehendeth the mercy of God in the merits of Christ: which faith worketh by loue, and obteineth remission of sinnes committed of infirmitie, whereof we are truely penitent. This is that faith whereby the iust man liueth. And without it, (saith S. Augustine) those that seeme to be good workes are turned into sinnes. For all that is not of faith is sinne. Againe, Therefore there is but one hope of all the godly, which grone vnder this burthen of corruptible flesh, and infirmitie of this life, that wee haue an aduocate with the Father Iesus Christ the righteous, and he is the propitiation for our sinnes. Cont duas Ep. Pel. l. 3. c. 5. Of supplying a mans faults by penance, he hath no word, but contrarywise he saith, Cum itaq; iusti omnes, &c. Seeing all the iust, both of the elder time, and the Apostles, liued by right faith, which is in our Lord Iesus Christ, & had such holy maners with faith, that although they could not be of so perfect vertue in this life, as in the life to come, yet what sinne soeuer hath crept vpon them of humane frailtie, it is immediatly wiped away through the pietie of the same faith. Our sinnes therfore (through faith) are freely remitted. And this saying doth proue inuincibly, that a man is iustified wholy by faith, and not partly by workes. For if a man were iustified partly by workes (as the Scripture saith) the iust shall liue by faith, we might as truely say, the iust shall liue by workes, which all Christian eares abhorre to heare. True faith. Faith only iustifieth.

RHEM. 9 18. Is reuealed.) By al the passage folowing you may see, that the Gospel and Christs law consisteth not only in preaching faith, (though that be the ground, and is first alwayes to be done:) but to teach vertuous life and good works, and to denounce damnation to al them that commit deadly sinnes and repent not. And againe wee see that not onely lacke of faith is a sinne, but al other actes done against Gods commandements. Not only the FVLKE. 9 The Lawe which is a Scholemaster vnto Christ, teacheth vs how to liue after wee be incorporate to Christ. Therefore it must be preached that men seeing their damnation by the Law, may be saued by faith in Christ, and being iustified by faith, may walke as obedient children in holines and righteousnes, and not after the former lustes in ignorance. 1. Pet. 1. 14. &c. Lacke of faith is the roote of all sinnes. And all breach of Gods commandements in the regenerate which know them, commeth through weakenes of faith. The vse of the Law.

RHEM. 10 26. Hath deliuered them vp.) As he saith here, God deliuered them vp, so to the Ephesians (c. 4. 19) he saith of the same persons and things, They deliuered them selues vp to all vncleannesse. So that it is not meant here that God doth driue, force, or cause any man to sinne, as diuers blasphemous Heretikes do holde: but only that by his iust iudgement for their owne deseruing, and for due punishment of their former grieuous offenses, he withholdeth his grace from them, and so suffereth them to fall further into other sinnes. As, for their crime of Idolatrie, so suffer them to fall into vnnatural abominations: as now for heresie, he taketh his grace & mercy from many, and so they fall headlong into al kind of turpitude. as contrariwise, for al life, he suffereth many to fall into heresie. And for Christs sake let euery one that is entangled with the idolatry of this time, that is to say, with these new sectes, looke well into his owne conscience, whether his forsaking the true God, may not come vnto him for a punishment of his former or present il life which he liueth. God is not author of sinne. God punisheth sinne by withholding his grace & further suffering them.

FVLKE. 10 God as a righteous Iudge deliuereth vp the wicked, who willingly deliuer vp themselues, not driuing nor forcing them to sinne, nor barely permitting, but willingly punishing them, in withholding his grace from them, and giuing them ouer to their owne destruction. The wickednes of vnnatural lust is no where more common, then in the mainteiners of such idolatrie (as the Apostle here condemneth) and whereof he sheweth, that it is a iust vengeance and punishment. God is not the cheefe cause of sinne.

RHEM. 11 32. Worthy of death.) Here you see why the Church taketh some sinnes to be deadly, and calleth them mortal: to wit, because al that do them, are worthy of damnation: others be venial, that is to say, pardonable of their owne nature and not worthy of damnation. Sinnes mortal and venial.

The

LVKE 11 The Scripture neither here nor any where els doeth teach, that any ſinnes are ſo veniall, that is, pardonable of their owne nature and not worthy of damnation. For the wages and worthily deſerued reward of all ſinne in generall, is death Rom 6.23. though ſome ſinnes are more heinous, and deſerue greater damnation. And to ſay, that ſome ſinnes are pardonable of their owne nature, is to ſay, that Chriſt died not for ſuch ſinnes, or that in vaine he died for them, ſeeing they are pardonable, and doe not deſerue damnation of their owne nature. But the Scripture telleth vs, that al tranſgreſſion of Gods lawe is ſinne, and deſerueth the curſe of God, and therefore damnable, 1. Ioan. 3 4. Gal. 3. 10.

Sinnes venial and mortall.

CHAP. II.

Now alſo he ſheweth that neither the Iewes could be ſaued by the knowledge of the Law, of the which they did ſo much brag againſt the Gentiles, ſeeing they did not withſtanding ſinne as the Gentiles did. 14 And therefore that the true Iewe is the Chriſtian (though he be a Gentile) who by grace in his heart doth the good workes that the Law commandeth.

FOr the which cauſe thou art inexcuſable ô man whoſoeuer ‖ thou be that iudgeſt. For wherein thou iudgeſt another, thou condemneſt thy ſelfe. for thou doeſt the ſame things which ‖ thou iudgeſt.

2 For we knowe that the iudgement of God is according to veritie vpon them that doe ſuch things.

3 And doeſt thou ſuppoſe this ô man that iudgeſt them which doe ſuch things, and doeſt the ſame, that thou ſhalt eſcape the iudgement of God?

4 Or ‖ doeſt thou contemne the riches of his goodnes, and patience, and longanimity, not knowing that the benignitie of God bringeth thee to penance?

5 But according to thy hardnes and impenitent heart, thou heapeſt to thy ſelfe wrath, in the day of wrath and of the reuelation of the iuſt iudgement of God,

6 Who will * render to euery man ‖ according to his workes.

7 To them truely that according to patience in good worke, ſeeke glory and honour and incorruption, life eternal.

8 But to them that are of contention, and that obey not the trueth, but giue credite to iniquitie, wrath and indignation.

9 Tribulation and anguiſh vpon euery ſoul of man that worketh euil, of the Iew firſt and of the c Greeke:

10 But glory and honour and peace to euery one that worketh good, to the Iewe firſt and to the Greeke.

11 For * there is no acception of perſons with God.

12 For whoſoeuer hath ſinned without the Law, without the Law ſhall periſh: and whoſoeuer haue ſinned in the Lawe, by the Law ſhall be iudged.

13 For * ‖ not the hearers of the Law are iuſt with God: but the doers of the Law ‖ ſhal be iuſtified.

14 For when ŷ Gentiles which haue not the Lawe naturally doe thoſe things that are of the Law: the ſame not hauing the Lawe, themſelues are a law to themſelues:

15 Who ſhewe the worke of the Lawe written in their hearts, their conſcience giuing teſtimonie to them, and among themſelues mutually their thoughts accuſing, or alſo defending,

THerefore art thou inexcuſable, O man, whoſoeuer thou be that iudgeſt: For in that ſame wherein thou iudgeſt another, thou condemneſt thy ſelfe. For thou that iudgeſt, doeſt euen the ſelfe ſame things.* Matt. 7. 1.

2 But we are ſure that the iudgement of God is according to the trueth, againſt them which commit ſuch things.

3 Thinkeſt thou this, O thou man that iudgeſt them which doe ſuch things, and doeſt the ſame thy ſelfe, that thou ſhalt eſcape the iudgement of God?

4 Either deſpiſeſt thou the riches of his goodneſſe, and patience, and long ſufferance, not knowing that the goodneſſe of God leadeth thee to repentance?

5 But thou, after thy ſtubbornneſſe and heart that can not repent, heapeſt vnto thy ſelfe wrath, againſt the day of wrath and declaration of the righteous iudgement of God:

*6 * Which will reward euery man according to his deedes:* Matth. 16. 27.

7 To them which by continuing in well doing ſeeke for glory and honour, and immortalitie, eternall life:

8 But vnto them that are contentious, and do not obey the trueth, but obey vnrighteouſnes, ſhal come indignation and wrath.

9 Tribulation, and anguiſh, vpon euery ſoule of man that doeth euill, of the Iew firſt, and alſo of the Greeke:

10 But glory, and honour, and peace, to euery man that doth good, to the Iewe firſt, and alſo to the Greeke.

*11 * For there is no reſpect of perſons with God.* 1. Par. 19 7. act. 10. 34.

12 For whoſoeuer hath ſinned without law, ſhal alſo periſh without law: and as many as haue ſinned in the law, ſhall be iudged by the law,

*13 (For in the ſight of God, * the hearers of the lawe are not righteous: but the doers of the law ſhall be iuſtified.* Iam. 1. 22.

14 For when the Gentiles which haue not the lawe, doe of nature the things conteined in the lawe: they hauing not the lawe, are a lawe vnto themſelues,

15 Which ſhewe the workes of the lawe written in their hearts, their conſcience bearing them witneſſe, and their thoughts accuſing one another, or excuſing.)

16 In the day when God shall iudge the secrets of men, according to my Gospel, by IESVS CHRIST.

17 But if thou be surnamed a Iew, and restest in the Law, and doest glorie in God,

18 And knowest his will, and approuest the more profitable things, instructed by the Law,

19 Presumest that thy selfe art a leader of the blind, a light of them that are in darknes,

20 A teacher of the fooliſh, a master of infants, hauing the forme of science and of veritie in the Law.

21 Thou therfore ‡that teachest another, teachest not thy selfe: that preachest, men ought not to steale, thou stealest:

22 That saiest men should not commit aduoutrie, thou committest aduoutrie: that abhorrest idols, thou doest sacrilege:

23 That doest glory in the Law, thou by preuarication of the Law, doest dishonour God.

24 (*For the name of God through you is blasphemed among the Gentiles, as it is written.)

25 Circumcision in deede profiteth, if thou obserue the Law: but if thou be a preuaricatour of the Lawe, thy circumcision is become ‡ prepuce.

26 If then the prepuce ‖ keepe the iustices of the Law: shal not his prepuce be reputed for circumcision?

27 And shall not that which of nature is prepuce, fulfilling the Law, iudge thee, that by the letter and circumcision art a preuaricatour of the Law?

28 For not hee that is in open shewe, is a Iew, nor that which is in open shewe, in the flesh, is circumcision:

29 But he that is in secret, is a Iewe: and the circumcision of the heart, ‖ in spirit, not in the letter: whose praise is not of men, but of God.

‡ It is a shamefull and damnable thing for preachers, teachers or other guides of mens life, to commit the same things themselues which they reproue in other. Es.52,5. Ez.36,20.

c It is a great sinne that by the ill life of ỹ faithfull, our Lordes name should be ill spoken of among the misbeleuers, and many withdrawen from the true religion thereby.

‡ Prepuce is the foreskinne not circumcised, and therefore signifieth the Gentiles, or the state and condition of the Gentiles: as circumcision, the Iewes and their state.

16 At the day when God shall iudge the secrets of men by Iesus Christ, according to my Gospell.

17 Behold, thou art called a Iew, and restest in the law, and makest thy boast of God,

18 And knowest his will, and allowest the things that be excellent, informed by the lawe:

19 And beleeuest that thou thy selfe art a guide of the blinde, a light of them which are in darkenesse,

20 An informer of them which lacke discretion, a teacher of the vnlearned: which hast the forme of knowledge, and of the trueth in the lawe.

21 Thou therefore which teachest another, teachest thou not thy selfe? Thou preachest that a man should not steale, yet stealest thou?

22 Thou that sayest a man should not commit adulterie, breakest thou wedlocke? Thou abhorrest idoles, and yet committest sacrilege?

23 Thou that makest thy boast of the lawe, through breaking the law, dishonorest thou God?

24 For the Name of God is euill spoken of among the Gentiles through you, as it is written.

25 For circumcision verely auaileth, if thou keepe the lawe: but if thou bee a breaker of the law, thy circumcision is made vncircumcision.

26 Therfore, if the vncircumcision keepe the ordinances of the law, shall not his vncircumcision be counted for circumcision?

27 And shal not vncircumcision which is by nature, if it keepe the lawe, iudge thee, which being vnder the letter and circumcision, doest transgresse the lawe?

28 For he is not a Iew, which is a Iew † outward. Neither is that circumcision, which is outward in the flesh.

† Or, openly.

29 But he is a Iewe, which is one † inwardly, and the circumcision of the heart, which consisteth in the spirit, and not in the letter is circumcision, whose praise is not of men, but of God.

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. II.

RHEM. 1 FVLKE. 1 6. According.) Good men also according to the merits of their good will shall haue their reward Aug. ep. 47. S. Augustines words are these, Good men also shal not receiue reward according to the merits of their good wil only, but also haue receiued euen the same good will by the grace of God. So that he ascribeth the reward wholly to the grace of God, and not to the merits or worthinesse of mens good will. For the vngodly man (saith he) is iustified without the merits of good workes by faith, In Ps. 67. Againe, Nihil es, &c. Thou art nothing by thy selfe, call vpon God, the sinnes are thine, the merits are Gods, punishment is due to thee: and when the reward shall come, he will crowne his gifts not thy merits. In Ps. 70. Con. 2.

Merite. Freewill.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. II.

RHEM. 1. Thou that iudgest.) Such as by publike authoritie either spirituall or temporall haue to punish offenders, be not forbidden to iudge or condemne any for their offences, though themselues be sometimes guiltie in their conscience of the same or greater: yet may it be matter of aggrauating sinnes before God, when they will not repent of those offences themselues, for the which they punish others, but if they be open offenders themselues, in the same sort for which they iudge other, they giue scandal, and thereby aggrauate their sinnes very much. Properly here hee forbiddeth to charge another falsly or truely with these crimes wherof himselfe is as far guilty or more then the other, as the Iewes specially did the Gentiles, to whom he speaketh here.

Iudging other men.

4. Doest thou contemne?) This proueth that God offereth his grace and mercie to many, and by long patience and sufferance expecteth their repentance, differring their punishment of purpose that they may amend, & that he is not delighted in their perdition, nor is the cause of their sinne: but contrariwise that they harden their owne hearts, and of their owne free will reiect his grace and contemne his benignitie.

Gods long ſuffering is to our repentance.

RHEM. 2 6. According to his works.) Though the holy Apostles speciall purpose be in this Epistle, to commend vnto the Gentiles that trusted so much in their morall workes, the faith in Christ: yet lest any man should thinke or gather vntruely of his wordes, that Christian mens workes were not meritorious or the cause of Saluation, he expresly writeth, that God giueth as well

Good workes meritorious, euerlasting life and glory to men, for and according to their good workes, as he giueth damnation for the contrary works. And howsoeuer Heretikes fondly flee from the euidence of these places, yet S. Augustine saith, Life euerlasting to be rendred for good workes according to this manifest Scripture, God shall render to euery man according to his workes. Li. de grat. & lib. arb. c. 8.

FVLKE. 2 The Apostle neither here nor any where teacheth, that Christian mens works are meritorious, or the cause of saluation. Neither doth he say expressly (as you most falsly affirme) that he giueth euerlasting life to men for their good workes, although he say, God shal render to euery man according to his works: Glory, honour and incorruption to euery one that worketh good. And you do as falsly slander S. Augustine, to say, life euerlasting to be rendred for good workes, according to this manifest Scripture. For thus he moueth the question. If life eternall be rendred to good workes (as the Scripture saith most manifestly, that God shall render to euery one according to his works) how is life eternall grace? seeing grace is not rendred to workes. Behold, he saith to good workes, not for good workes: and so concludeth the question, that he excludeth the merite of good workes: Itaque Charissimi &c. Therefore most dearely beloued, our good life is nothing els but the grace of God: and without doubt life euerlasting which is rendred to good life, is the grace of God: and this is freely giuen, because that is freely giuen, to which it is giuen. But that to which it is giuen, is onely grace, but this which is giuen to it, because it is the reward of it, is grace for grace, as reward for righteousnesse, that it may be true, because it is true, that God shall render to euery one according to his workes. And in the next Chapter he writeth, The Apostle saith, eternall life is the grace of God, that we might vnderstand herof, that God bringeth vs to eternall life, not by our merits, but for his owne mercie. Although the purpose of the Apostle in this place be not to shew how men may atteine to eternal life, but that none can by their owne iustice attaine to it, because no man bringeth such workes as Gods iustice requireth, to deserue eternall life, namely a perfect obseruation of the Law without any transgression. Merits.

RHEM. 3 13. Not the hearers.) This same sentence agreeable also to Christs wordes (Matt. 7, 21.) *is the very ground of S. Iames disputation, that not faith alone, but good works also doe iustifie. Therefore S. Paul (howsoeuer some peruersly construe his wordes in other places) meaneth the same that S. Iames. And here * he speaketh not properly of the first iustification, when an Infidel or ill man is made iust, who had no acceptable workes before to be iustified by (of which kinde hee specially meaneth in other places of this Epistle) but he speaketh of the second iustification or encrease of former iustice, which he that is in Gods grace, dayly proceedeth in, by doing all kind of good workes, which be iustices, and for doing of which, hee is iust indeede before God, and of this kinde doth S. Iames namely treate. Which is directly against the Heretikes of this time, who not onely attribute nothing to the workes done in sinne and infidelitie, but esteeme nothing at all of all Christian mens works toward iustification and saluation, condemning them as vncleane, sinful, hypocritical, Pharisaicall: which is directly against these and other Scripture, and plaine blaspheming of Christ and his grace, by whose spirit and cooperation we doe them.* Aug. de Sp. & lit. c. 26. to. 3. The first, iustification, without workes: the second, by workes. S. Paul speaketh of the first specially, S. Iames of the second.

FVLKE. 3 This sentence is not the ground of S. Iames disputation, that faith voide of good workes doth not iustifie, and that good workes also iustifie or declare a man to be iust. For the Apostle here speaketh not of faith, but of the Law. The Law iustifieth only the doers and perfect obseruers thereof, faith iustifieth the beleeuers. Neither doth S. Paul speake here of any meanes, whereby a man is iustified, but sheweth that no transgressor of the Law can be iustified by the Law, because the Law iustifieth none but the doers thereof, which seeing no man doth perfectly, no man is iustified by the workes of the Law, as he saith expressly, Rom. 3. 20. Gal 3. 11. As for your distinction of the first and second iustification before God, is but a new deuise, not threescore yeere olde, vterly vnheard of among the ancient fathers. For whom God iustifieth by faith without workes, hee also glorifieth. Rom. 8. 30. And that which you call the second iustification, or increase of iustice, is but the effect, and fruits of iustification before God: and a declaration before men, that wee are iust. And so meaneth S. Iames, that Abraham who was iustified or made iust before God through faith, was also iustified, or declared to be iust, before men, by workes: when he offred his sonne Isaac. So that this diuersitie of iustifications, ariseth of the diuers significations of the word iustifying, which signifieth sometime to make iust, sometime to shewe or declare to be iust: as where the Prophet saith to God, Psal. 51. That thou mayest be iustified in thy sayings, meaning, that thou mayest be declared and approued iust. So wisdome is iustified of her children, that is declared, and approued to be iust. Matth. 11. 19. The Publicanes iustified God. Luc 7. 29. Christ was iustified in the spirit. 1. Tim. 3. 16, that is, declared to bee iust, in which sense S. Iames saith, that a man is iustified of workes. Therefore where as you quote Augustine, for your distinction of the first and second iustification, there is no word in him thereof. Finally where you say, we condemne all Christian mens workes, as vncleane, sinful, hypocritical, pharisaicall, it is a most impudent slander, for we acknowledge all good workes of Christian men, to bee the gifts of God, the fruits of iustification, the notes of election, the way wherein all Christians must walke vnto saluation: but seeing they are vnperfect, they are not able to make vs iust in the sight of God. The Lawe. Faith. Iustification by faith and by workes. Slander.

RHEM. 4 13. Shall be iustified.) Of the other articles deceitfully handled by Heretikes, they vse most guile in this of Iustification: and specially by the equiuocation of certaine wordes, which is proper to all contentious wranglers, and namely in this word, Iustifie, Which because they find sometime to signifie the acquiting of a guilty man of some crime whereof hee is in deede guilty, and for which he ought to be condemned, (as by mans iudgement either of ignorance or of purpose often a very malefactor is deemed or declared and pronounced innocent) they falsly make it to signifie in this place and the like, where soeuer man is sayd to be iustified of God for his workes or otherwise: as though it were sayd, that God iustifieth man, that is to say, imputeth to him the iustice of Christ, though he be not in deede iust: or of fauour reputeth him as Iust, when in deede he is wicked, impious, and vniust. Which is a most blasphemous doctrine against God, making him either ignorant who is iust, and so to erre in his iudgement, or not good, that can loue and saue him whom he knoweth to be euill. And a marueilous pitifull blindnes it is in the Churches Aduersaries, that they should thinke it more to Gods glory, and more to the commendation of Christs iustice, merites, and mercy, to call and count an ill man so continuing, for iust: then by his grace and mercy to make him of an ill one, iust in deede, and so truely to iustifie him, or as the word doth here signifie, to esteeme and approue for iust in deede, him that by his grace keepeth his law and commandements. For, that the keepers or doers of the commandements be iust and so reputed, it is plaine by the correspondence to the former wordes, Not the hearers are iust, but the doers. Whereupon S. Augustine de Sp. & lit. c. 26. to. 3. hath these words, When it is sayd, The doers of the Law shalbe iustified, what other thing is sayd, then, The iust shall be iustified? for the doers of the Law verily are iust. Against imputatiue iustice. True inherent iustice more for Gods glory, and for the commendation of Christs merits.

FVLKE. 4 You deale not onely deceitfully, but most falsly and impudently, to say wee make the word Iustifie, in this place to signifie, acquiting him that is worthy to be condemned, or to haue the iustice of Christ, imputed to him without workes. For we say, that he which obserueth the law shall be iustified and made iust by merite of his workes, if any man can perfectly obserue it. But he that is a transgressor of the law, is no doer of the law, to be iustified thereby. But when we speake of iustice by imputation, as the Apostle hath taught vs in the 4. chapter, we affirme that God iustifieth vs, when he imputeth iustice vnto vs, without workes, by which imputation of iustice, we are not falsly accompted, but are in deede by God truely made iust, by the righteousnesse of Christ which is giuen vnto vs, and which wee apprehend by faith: So that although wee bee vniust in our Slander. Iustice imputed.

selues, we are truely iust in Christ, because Christ is truly giuen vnto vs, to be iustice, sanctification and redemption, 1. Cor. 1.30. and we are truely made the iustice of God in him. 2. Cor. 5.21. When wee are found in Christ, not hauing our owne iustice which is of the Lawe, but that which is by the faith of Christ, the iustice which is of God through faith. Phil. 3.9. So the whole glory of our iustification, is referred onely to the mercie of God in Christ. As for that you call iustice inherent, is sanctification, following iustification, no cause, but a necessary effect thereof. And therfore you wrestle in vaine, out of this place to proue iustification of a Christian man by workes, where the Apostle proueth, that no man can be iust by workes, because no man fulfilleth the Lawe. S. Augustine gathereth not hereof, that any man shall be iust by fulfilling the Law, but that the Iewes the hearers of the Lawe, had neede of the grace of the iust iustifier, that they may be doers. Or els it is so sayd (saith he) they shall be iustified, as if it were sayd, they shall be accompted iust, they shal be reputed iust. For thus he handleth the matter, Sic intelligendum est. &c. The doers of the Law shall be iustified, is for to be vnderstood, that we may know they can not otherwise bee doers of the Law, except they be iustified, that iustification doth not come to the doers, but iustification goeth before the doers of the Lawe. For what other thing is this word Iustified, but being made iust, verily by him which iustifieth the vngodly man, that of an vngodly man, he may be made iust? For if we should speake so, that we should say men shall be deliuered, this verely should be so vnderstoode, that libertie should come to them that are already men. But if wee should say, men shall be created, it should not be vnderstoode, that they should be created, which were men already, but by the very creation they sh uld be made men. So if it were sayd, the doers of the Law shall be honoured, wee should not take it rightly, but that honour should come to them, which were already doers of the Law. But when it is sayd, the doers of the Law shall be iustified, what other thing is said then the iust shall be iustified, for the doers of the Law, verely are iust, and by this it is as much, as if it were sayd, the doers of the Law shall be created not because they were, but that they may be: that the Iewes which are hearers of the Lawe, might so vnderstand, that they haue neede of the grace of the iust iustifier, that they may be doers. Thus without all shame of obstinate blindnes, you alleage S. Augustine for you, where he reasoneth purposely against you: and slander vs to thinke, that it is more to Gods glory, to call and compt an ill man so continuing for iust: then by his mercie to make of an ill one iust in deede. For wee thinke and say, that God of a wicked man, by his grace and mercie doeth make one iust in deede by the iustice of Christ, neither calling nor accompting him iust, that continueth wicked, as he was before, but giuing him also the spirit of sanctification, whereby after he is made iust by grace, hee doth the workes of iustice, and keepeth Gods commandements though not perfectly in this life, but labouring toward perfection vntill he come to the estate of happinesse, which is perfect in the life to come.

Iustice inherent.

Slander.

RHEM. 5 26. Keepe the iustices.) If a Gentile either now since Christ, by his grace and faith, or any other before Christ, not of the stocke of Abraham, through the Spirit of God keepe his iustices of the Lawe, he is iust no lesse then if hee had been outwardly circumcised, and shall condemne the circumcised Iewe not keeping the Law, without which, his outward Sacrament can not serue him, but shall be much to his condemnation, that hauing the Law and peculiar Sacraments of God, he did not keepe the Law, nor inwardly exercise that in his heart which the outward signe did import. And all this is no more but to insinuate that true iustice is not in faith only or knowledge of the Law, or in the name either of Iewe or Christian, but in doing good workes and keeping the Law by Gods grace.

True iustice both in Iew and Gentile, is by keeping the Law.

FVLKE 5 The Apostle sayth not, that any Gentile fulfilleth the iustice of the Law, but if he keepe the iustice of the Lawe, (which none doeth) the want of circumcision doeth not hinder him from being iust. Therefore hee doeth not insinuate, that true iustice is not in faith onely but in doing of good workes, and keeping the Lawe by Gods grace, for as yet, he speaketh not of Gods grace, nor of keeping the Law by his grace, but confuteth the Iewes which gloried in carnall circumcision, and kept not the Law.

Iustice by faith onely.

RHEM. 6 29. In spirit, not letter.) The outward ceremonies, Sacraments, threats, and commandements of God in the Lawe, are called the letter: the inward working of God in mens hart, and enduing him with faith, hope, and charitie, and wish loue, liking, will, and abilitie to keepe his commandements by the grace and merits of Christ, are called the spirit. In which sense, the carnall Iewe was a Iew according to the letter, and he was circumcised after the letter: but the true beleeuing Gentile obseruing by Gods grace in heart and in Gods sight, that which was meant by that carnal signe, is a Iew according to the spirit, and iustified by God. Of the spirit and letter S. Augustine made a famous worke, very necessary for the vnderstanding of this Epistle.

The letter, and the spirit.

The carnall and spirituall Iew.

De spi & lit.

FVLKE. 6 God endueth no man with sufficient strength to keepe his commandements in this life, in such perfection as his Law doeth require, yet his grace in the merites of Christ, is sufficient for vs seeing his strength is made perfect in infirmitie. 2. Cor. 12.9.

No man keepe Gods cómandements perfectly.

CHAP. III.

He granteth that the Iewes did passe the heathen Gentiles, in Gods benefits, 9 but not in their owne workes, concluding, that he hath shewed, both Iew and Gentile to be sinners: 18 and therefore (inferring) that there must be some other way to saluation, indifferent to both, which is to beleeue in IESVS CHRIST, that for his sake their sinnes may be forgiuen them.

WHAT preeminence then hath the Iewe, or what is the profit of circumcision?

2 Much by al meanes. First surely because the wordes of God were committed to them.

3 For what if certaine of them haue not beleeued? Hath their incredulitie made the faith of God frustrate?

4 God forbid. but *God is true: and *‡ euery man a lyar, as it is written: That thou mayest be iustified in thy wordes, and ouercome when thou art iudged.

Io. 3, 33. Psal. 115, 11. Psal. 50, 6.

5 But ‖ if our iniquitie commend the iustice of God, what shall we say? Is God vniust

WHat preferment then hath the Iewe? or what profit is there of circumcision?

2 Much euery way. First, for because that vnto them were committed the wordes of God.

3 What then though some of them did not beleeue? Shall their vnbeliefe make the faith of God without effect?

4 God forbid: Yea, let God be true, and euery man a lyar, as it is written, That thou mightest bee iustified in thy sayings, and ouercome when thou art iudged.

5 But if our vnrighteousnesse setteth foorth the righteousnesse of God, what shall we say? Is God iust that executeth wrath? (I speake according to man)

6 God forbid. otherwise how shall God iudge this world?

7 For if the veritie of God hath abounded in my lie, vnto his glory, why am I also yet iudged as a sinner,

8 And not (as we are blasphemed, and as some report vs to say) let vs doe euill, that there may come good? whose damnation is iust.

9 What then? doe we excell them? No, not so. For we haue argued the Iewes and the Greekes, all to be vnder sinne:

10 As it is written: That ‖ there is not any man iust,

11 There is not that vnderstandeth, there is not that seeketh after God.

12 All haue declined, they are become vnprofitable together: there is not that doeth good, there is not so much as one.

19 And wee know that whatsoeuer the Law speaketh, to them it speaketh that are in the Law: that euery mouth may be stopped, and all the world may be made subiect to God:

Gal.3.16. 20 Because * ‖ by the workes of the Law no flesh shall be iustified before him. For by the Law is the knowledge of sinne.

21 But now without the Law ‖ the iustice of God is manifested: testified by the Law and the Prophets.

22 And the iustice of God by faith of IESVS CHRIST, vnto al and vpon al that c beleeue in him. For there is no distinction.

23 For all haue sinned: and do neede the glorie of God.

24 Iustified † gratis by his grace, by the redemption that is in CHRIST IESVS, propitiator. 25 Whom God hath proposed a † propitiation, by faith in his blood, to the shewing of his iustice, for the remission of sinnes,

26 In the toleration of God, to the shewing of his iustice in this time: that he may be iust, and iustifying him that is of the faith of IESVS CHRIST.

27 Where is then thy boasting? it is excluded. by what law? of deedes? No, but by the law of faith.

28 For we account a man to bee iustified by faith without the workes of the Law.

29 Is

God vnrighteous which taketh vengeance? (I speake after the maner of men,)

6 God forbid: for how then shall God iudge the world?

7 For if the trueth of God hath more abounded though my lye vnto his glory, why am I as yet iudged as a sinner?

8 And not rather (as we be slanderously reported, and as some affirme that we say) let vs doe euill, that good may come thereof? whose damnation is iust.

9 What thē, are we better then they? No in no wise: for we haue before accused both Iewes and Gentiles, that they are all vnder sinne:

10 As it is written, * There is no righteous, Gal.3.22. no not one.

11 * There is none that vnderstandeth, there Psal.13.2. is none that seeketh after God. and 52.3.

12 They are all gone out of the way, they are all become vnprofitable, there is none that doeth good, no not one.

13 Their throte is an open sepulchre, with their tongues they haue deceiued, the poyson of Aspes is vnder their lips.

16 * Hearts griefe and miserie are in their esa.19 7. wayes: Psal.16.1.

17 And the way of peace haue they not knowen.

18 * There is no feare of God before their Psal.36.2. eyes.

19 Now we know that what things soeuer the lawe sayth, it saith it to them which are vnder the lawe: that euery mouth may be stopped, and that all the world may be endangered to God.

20 Because that by the deedes of the lawe, there shall no flesh be iustified in his sight: For by the law commeth the knowledge of sinne.

21 * But now the righteousnes of God with- Rom.2.17. out the law is made manifest, being witnessed by the law and the Prophets.

22 The righteousnesse of God commeth by the faith of Iesus Christ, vnto all, and vpon all them that beleeue. There is no difference:

23 For all haue sinned, and haue neede of the glorie of God,

24 But are iustified freely by his grace, through the redemption that is in Christ Iesu:

25 Whom God hath set foorth to bee a propitiation, through faith in his blood, to declare his righteousnesse, by the forgiuing of the sinnes that are past,

26 Which God did suffer, to shew at this time his righteousnesse, that he might bee iust, and the iustifier of him which beleeueth on Iesus.

27 Where is then thy boasting? It is excluded. By what law? Of workes? Nay: but by the law of faith.

28 Therefore, we hold that a man is iustified by faith, without the deedes of the lawe.

29 Is he God of the Iewes only? is he not also of the Gentiles? Yes of the Gentiles also.

30 For it is one God, that iustifieth circumcision by faith, and prepuce by faith.

31 Doe wee then destroy the Lawe by faith? God forbid. but wee doe establish the Law.

29 Is he the God of the Iewes onely? Is he not also of the Gentiles? Yes euen of the Gētiles also.

36 For it is one God which shall iustifie the circumcision by faith, and vncircumcision through faith.

31 Doe wee then destroy the lawe through faith? God forbid: but we rather maintaine the lawe.

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. III.

RHEM. 1 4. Euery man a lyar.) God only by nature is true, all mere men by nature may lie, deceiue and be deceiued: yet God by his grace and spirit may and doth preserue the Apostles and principall gouernours of his people, and the Church and Councels in all trueth, though they were and are mere men.

FVLKE. 1 God preserueth men from error that neglect not to followe his worde, which is the rule of trueth. Against which, if Gouernours of the Church, Councels, or any other men, will presume any thing of their owne wisedome, they are left vnto error. All men in danger of error.

RHEM. 2 22. Beleeue in him.) To beleeue in him here compriseth not onely the act of faith, but of hope and charity, as the Apostle explicateth himselfe, Galat. 5, 6.

FVLKE. 2 Hope and charitie, doe of necessitie follow true faith, by which we apprehend the iustice of God, but they are not compriſed in the word of faith, to ioine in apprehending Gods iustice. S.Paul to the Galathians, saith that faith which worketh by charitie, auaileth with God, hee saith not, that charitie with faith apprehendeth Gods iustice, or iustifieth before God, but sheweth that a liuely faith which worketh by charitie, doeth iustifie before him. Iustification by faith, RHEM. 3 24. Gratis by his grace.) No man attaineth his first iustification by the merits either of his faith or workes, but merely by Christs grace and mercie: though his faith and workes proceeding of grace be dispositions and preparations thereunto.

FVLKE. 3 S.Paul acknowledgeth but this one iustification by faith without workes, before God: in which there is nothing giuen to merits, either of faith or workes. Nor any disposition or preparation to iustification by faith and workes proceeding of grace, but as Chrysostome sayth, Quam primum &c. So soone as a man hath beleeued, he is immediatly withall iustified. In 3. ad Rom. Hom. 7. Againe, Hic virtutem &c. He sheweth here the power of God, that he hath not onely saued, but also iustified, and brought into glorification, vsing no workes hereunto, but requiring faith onely. You see that he ascribeth saluation to this iustification, wherein God vseth no preparation of works, but faith onely. One iustification before God by faith onely,

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. III.

RHEM. 4 2.Pet.3. 5. If your iniquitie.) No maruel that many now adayes deduce false and detestable conclusions out of this Apostles high and hard writings, seeing that S.Peter noted it in his dayes, and himselfe here confesseth that his preaching and speaches were then falsly misconstrued: as though he had taught that the Iewes and Gentiles ill life and incredulity had bin directly the cause of Gods more mercy, and that therfore sinne commeth of God to the aduancement of his glory, and consequently that men might or should doe ill, that good might ensue therof. Which blasphemous constructions they tooke of these and the like words: where sinne abounded, there did grace more abound. and, The Law entred in, that sinne might abound. and out of the Psalme 50. I hou mayest be iustified in thy words, and ouercome when thou art iudged. As though he meant that men do sinne, to the end that God may be iustified. And at al these and the like places of the Apostle though forewarned by S.Peter, and by the Apostles owne defence and Protestation, that he neuer meant such horrible things, yet the wicked also of this time do stumble and fall. But the true meaning is in al such places, that God can and doth when it pleaseth him, conuert those sinnes which man committeth against him and his commandements, to his glory: though the sinnes themselues stand not with his will, intention, nor honour, but be directly against the same, and therefore may not be committed that any good may fall. for, what good soeuer accidentally falleth, it proceedeth not of the sinne, but of Gods mercy that can pardon, and of his omnipotencie that can turne ill to good. And therefore against those carnall interpretations, S.Paul very carefully and diligētly giueth reason also in this place v.6, that it is impossible: because God could not iustly punish any man, nor sit in iudgement at the later day for sinne without plaine iniury, if either himselfe would haue sinne committed, or man might do it to his glory. Therfore let all sincere readers of the Scriptures, and specially of S.Pauls writings, hold this for a certainty, as the Apostles owne defence (whatsoeuer he seeme to say hereafter sounding in their sense, that sinne commeth of God, or may therfore be committed that he may worke good therof) that the Apostle himselfe condemneth that sense as slanderous and blasphemous. S.Pauls speeches mistaken of the wicked. Rom 5.20. Rom.3.4. The sense of the places that seme as if God caused sinne.

FVLKE. 4 All sinne is manifestly against the will of God reuealed in his word, although nothing come to passe, contrary to the determination and secret will of God, which is often vnknowen, but neuer vniust. Neither can sinne come of God, which is perfectly good. But as it is a demonstration of his iustice, in the punishment therof, and of his mercie in the pardoning thereof, it is not against his secret will, that there is sinne. For wee must as well take heede of the blasphemie of the Manichees that fained an euill God, because euill could not proceede from the good God, as of the impudence and blasphemie of the Libertines, that make God the author of their sinnes, which they commit of their owne wicked corruption to serue their owne lustes, and not to serue the glory of God. God is not author of sinne.

RHEM. 5 10. Not any iust.) *These generall speaches, that both Iew and Gentile be in sinne, and none at all iust, are not so to be taken, that none in neither sort were euer good: the Scriptures expresly saying that Iob, * Zachary, Elisabeth, and such like, were iust before God, and it were blasphemy to say that these words alleaged out of the 13. Psalme, were meant in Christs mother, in S.Iohn the Baptist, in the Apostles &c. For, this only is the sense, that neither by the law of nature, nor law of Moyses, could any man bee iust or auoid such sinnes as here be reckoned, but by faith and the grace of God, by which there were a number in all ages (specially among the Iewes) that were iust and holy, whom these words touch not, being spoken only to the multitude of the wicked, which the Prophet maketh as it were a seuerall body conspiring against Christ, and persecuting the iust and godly, of which ill company he sayth, that none was iust nor feared God.* How it is ord, none iust. Luke. * Luc.1.

FVLKE. 5 These generall speeches declare that none was euer void of sinne, or good of his owne strength, but onely by the grace of God, as Iob, Zacharie, Elizabeth, and all the elect of God, after they are called and iustified. And euen the virgine Marie, and Iohn Baptist, were not iust in Gods sight, but by faith in Christ. For not only in the 13. Psalme: but also in the 143.2. Psalme, the Prophet sayth, that none liuing shall be found iust in Gods sight. Therefore hee speaketh of the corruption of all mankinde, considered without the grace of God iustifying them, None voide of sinne.

them, and not of the multitude of the wicked only. For how could all the world be made guiltie before God, and euery mouth ſtopped, if onely the wicked were vnderſtood? Therefore of neceſſitie it pertaineth to all, and ſo doth Chryſoſtome expound it in ep.ad Rom.Hom.7.Theodoret.apud Oecum. and the text is plaine. Albinus in Pſal.142. Commendatio eſt gratiæ, ne vnuſquiſq; noſtrùm iuſtitiam ſuam eſſe putet qua liberatur, ſed iuſtitia Dei eſt quam vt habeat Deus ded.t. In tua enim dicimus iuſtitia exaudi me. Ad me enim vnum cùm reſpicio, nihil aliud in me niſi peccatum inuenio. Tota liberatio mea tua eſt iuſtitia.

RHEM. 6 20 By the workes of the Law.) S.Hierome and S. Chryſoſtome expound this of the ceremoniall workes only, and in that ſenſe the Apoſtle ſpecially proſecuteth this propoſition in his Epiſtle to the Galatians. but it is true alſo of all mans morall workes done without faith and the grace of God: which cannot be acceptable or auailable in Gods ſight, to iuſtifie any man. And ſo S.Auguſtine taketh it de Sp.& lit.c.8.10.3. No workes auaile without faith and grace.

FVLKE. 6 S.Auguſtine alſo often ſheweth, that good workes done of faith, doe follow him that is iuſtified, and doe not goe before to iuſtifie, and therefore cannot ioyne with faith in iuſtification. And S.Paul to the Galathians ſpeaketh expreſſely againſt them that ioyned any workes either ceremoniall or morall, with faith in the act of iuſtification. Galath.3.10.11.12. De fide & op. cap.14. In Pſ.67. Iuſtification by faith only.

IHEM. 7 22 Iuſtice of God.) Beware of the wicked and vaine commentarie of the Caluiniſtes, gloſing, the iuſtice of God to be that which is reſident in Chriſt, apprehended by our faith: and ſo that imputed to vs which we indeede haue not. Wherein at once they haue forged themſelues againſt Gods manifeſt word, a new iuſtice, a phantaſticall apprehenſion of that which is not, a falſe faith and vntrue imputation, whereas the iuſtice of God here, is that wherewith he endueth a man at his firſt conuerſion, and is now in a man, and therefore mans iuſtice: but yet Gods iuſtice alſo, becauſe it is of God. Of this iuſtice in vs, whereby we be truely iuſtified and indeede made iuſt, S.Auguſtine ſpeaketh thus: The grace of Chriſt doth worke our illumination and iuſtification inwardly alſo. And againe, He giueth to the faithfull the moſt ſecret grace of his Spirit, which ſecretly he powreth into infants alſo. And againe, They are iuſtified in Chriſt that beleeue in him through the ſecret communication and inſpiration of ſpirituall grace, whereby euery one leaneth to our Lord. And againe, He maketh iuſt renewing by the Spirit, and regeneration by grace. The Heretikes phantaſticall or imputatiue iuſtice. De pec.mer.li. 1.cap.9.10. True inherent iuſtice.

FVLKE. 7 Againſt this proud and ſcornefull ſlaunder, what wee holde of the iuſtice of Chriſt imputed to vs through faith, is declared before cap.2. ſection 4. and neede not to be repeated againe: that wee are truely iuſtified in Gods ſight, by the iuſtice and merits of Chriſt, which is giuen vnto vs of God, and wee by his ſpirit being made liuely members of his body, are truely accounted iuſt by his righteouſneſſe. And that vertue of iuſtice, wherewith God, by the ſpirit of regeneration, indewed man at his conuerſion, is an effect or fruite, not a cauſe of our iuſtification, before him. Neither doth S.Auguſtine ſay any thing to the contrary, but to the confirmation hereof. For we acknowledge, that God doth worke our illumination and iuſtification inwardly, who by his grace, doth ingraffe euen infants that are baptiſed, into his body. For he in whom all ſhall be quickned giueth the moſt ſecret grace of his ſpirit, to the faithfull, and powreth it euen into infants, which cannot follow his iuſtice in workes, but by the ſecret communication, and inſpiration of ſpirituall grace, by which whoſoeuer cleaueth to the Lord, is one ſpirit ſaith S.Auguſt. And therefore to be iuſtified in Chriſt, is to be truely iuſtified by the iuſtice of Chriſt, as all haue truly ſinned in the ſinne of Adam, and are iuſtly condemned in Adam, not only in imitation of Adam. For by the diſcourſe of S.Auguſtine, the iuſtice of Chriſt is no more inherent in vs, then the ſinne of Adam, whereby yet we are condemned, through propagation of Adams corruption, as we are iuſtified, by communication and participation of the grace of Chriſt, by his ſpirit. Slander. Iuſtice imputed. Iuſtice inherent.

RHEM. 8 28 By faith without workes.) This is the place whereupon the Proteſtants gather falſly their only faith, & which they commonly anouch, as though the Apoſtle ſaid, that onely faith doth iuſtifie. Where he both in words and meaning excepteth onely the workes of the Law done without Chriſt before our conuerſion: neither excluding the Sacraments of Baptiſme or Penance, nor hope and charitie, or other Chriſtian vertues, all which be the iuſtice of faith. as the good workes proceeding thereof, be likewiſe the law and iuſtice of faith. All which the aduerſaries would exclude by foiſting in the terme, onely. Of which kind of men S.Auguſtine vpon this place ſaith thus: Men not vnderſtanding that which the Apoſtle ſaith, (we count a man to be iuſtified by faith without the workes of the Lawe) did thinke that hee ſaide, faith would ſuffice a man though he liued ill, and had no good workes. Which God forbid the veſſell of election ſhould thinke: who in a certaine place after he had ſaid, * In Chriſt IESVS neither circumciſion nor prepuce auaileth any whit, he ſtraight added, but faith which worketh by loue. What workes are excluded from iuſtification. De grat.& lib. arb.c.7. Gal.1.

FVLKE. 8 Faith here excludeth all merite of workes, from iuſtifying a man: yet the ſacraments haue their place, as ſeales of iuſtification: and good workes as neceſſarie fruits and effects of iuſtification. And whereas you ſay, we foyſt in the terme onely, you were beſt charge all the ancient fathers, which vſe this terme, of whom wee haue receiued it, to be foiſters, and excluders of the ſacraments and good workes. Chryſoſtome (as we heard before,) ſaith, That God hath both ſaued and iuſtified vs, vſing thereto no workes, but requiring faith onely. S.Ambroſe ſaith, All that are iuſtified, are freely iuſtified, becauſe working nothing, nor recompenſing, they are iuſtified by faith onely, through the gift of God. in 3. ad Rom. Origen ſaith, God iuſtifieth by contemplation of fayth onely, Com.in Ep.ad Rom.l.3. cap.3. Theodoret vpon the text, Iuſtificati gratis, being iuſtified freely, ſaith: *For hauing brought faith onely, we haue receiued remiſſion of ſinnes. Likewiſe Cyprian hath the ſame terme, ſaying, That faith only auaileth, and that ſo much as we beleeue, ſo much we obtaine. S.Hilary in Math.can.8.& can.21. ſaith: That fayth onely iuſtifieth, Gregorie Nazianzene ſaith: To beleeue onely is iuſtice. orat. 22. S.Baſil ſaith: *This is perfect and full reioycing in God, when a man doth not boaſt of his owne righteouſneſſe, but knoweth himſelfe to be voide of true righteouſneſſe, and to be iuſtified by faith onely in Chriſt. CHAP. IIII.

That Abraham was not iuſtified by his owne power, but by Gods grace, in whom he beleeued (6 which is a way for the ſinner alſo to come to iuſtice.) 9 And that, ſeeing he was not as then circumciſed, not onely the circumciſed Iew, but alſo the vncircumciſed Gentill may by beleeuing the Chriſtian faith, come to iuſtice, as Abraham did: 11 ſpecially conſidering alſo, that Abraham was promiſed to be Father of the whole world, and not onely of the Iewes, to whom onely the Lawe was giuen: and that, not to fulfill the promiſe, but for an other cauſe.

What

WHat shall we say then that ‖ Abraham did find, our father according to the flesh?

2 For if Abraham were iustified ‖ by workes: he hath glory, but not with God.

Gen.15,6. Gal.3,6. Ia.2,23. 3 For what saith the Scripture? Abraham beleeued God, and it was reputed him to iustice.

ϛ λογίζ. 4 But ‖ to him that worketh, the reward is not ϛ imputed according to grace, but according to dette.

ϛ λογίζ. 5 But ‖ to him that worketh not, yet beleeueth in him that iustifieth the impious, his faith is ϛ reputed to iustice according to the purpose of God.

6 ‖ As Dauid also termeth the blessednes of a man, to whom God reputeth iustice without workes.

Psal.31,1. 7 Blessed are they whose iniquities be forgiuen, and whose sinnes be couered.

8 Blessed is the man to whom our Lord hath not imputed sinne.

9 This blessednesse then doth it abide in the circumcision, or in the prepuce also? For we say that vnto Abraham faith was ‡ reputed to iustice.

10 How was it reputed? in circumcision, or in prepuce? Not in circumcision, but in prepuce.

Gen.17,10. 11 And * he receiued ϛ the signe of circumcision, ‖ a seale of the iustice of faith that is in prepuce: that he might be the father of all that beleeue by the prepuce, that vnto them also it may be reputed to iustice:

12 And might be father of circumcision, not to them onely that are of the circumcision, but to them also that follow the steps of the faith that is in the prepuce of our father Abraham.

13 For not by the Law was the promise to Abraham, or to his seede, that he should be heire of the world: but by the iustice of faith.

14 For if they that are of the Lawe, be heires: faith is made voide, the promise is abolished.

15 For the Lawe worketh wrath. For where is no law, neither is there preuarication.

16 Therefore of faith: that according to grace the promise may bee firme to all the seede, not to that only which is of the Law, but to that also which is of the faith of Abraham, who is the father of vs all, (as it is written:

Gen.17,4. 17 For a father of many nations haue I appointed thee) before God, whom ‖ thou didst beleeue, who quickeneth the dead: and calleth those things that are not, as those things that are.

‖ he beleeued.

18 Who contrarie to hope beleeued in hope: that he might be made the father of many

WHat shall we say then that Abraham our father, as perteining to the flesh, did finde?

2 For if Abraham were iustified by workes, then hath hee wherein to boast, but not before God.

3 For what saith the Scripture? * Abraham beleeued God, and it was counted vnto him for righteousnesse. Gen.15.6. gal.3.6. iames 2.23.

4 To him that worketh, is the reward not reckoned of grace, but of duetie,

5 To him that worketh not, but beleeueth on him that iustifieth the vngodly, his faith is counted for righteousnesse.

6 Euen as Dauid describeth the blessednesse of the man vnto whom God imputeth righteousnesse without workes:

7 Saying,* Blessed are they whose vnrighteousnesse are forgiuen, and whose sinnes are couered. Psal.32.1.

8 Blessed is that man to whom the Lord will not impute sinne.

9 Came this blessednesse then vpon the circumcision onely, or vpon the vncircumcision also? For we say that faith was reckoned to Abraham for righteousnesse.

10 How was it then reckoned? when he was in the circumcision, or when he was in the vncircumcision? Not in the circumcision, but in vncircumcision.

11 * And he receiued the signe of circumcision as the seale of the righteousnesse of faith, which he had yet being vncircumcised: that he should bee the father of all them that beleeue, though they be not circumcised, that righteousnesse might be imputed vnto them also. Gen.17.11.

12 And that he might be father of circumcision, not vnto them only which came of the circumcised, but vnto them also that walke in the steps of the faith that was in our father Abraham, before the time of circumcision.

13 For the promise that hee should bee the heire of the world, was not to Abraham, or to his seed through the law, but through the righteousnesse of faith.

14 For if they which are of the law be heires, then is faith but vaine, and the promise made of none effect:

15 Because the law causeth wrath: For where no law is, there is no transgression.

16 Therefore by faith is the inheritance giuen that it might be by grace, that the promise might be sure to all the seede, not to that onely which is of the law, but to that also which is of the faith of Abraham, which is the father of vs all.

17 (*As it is written, I haue made thee a father of many nations) before God whom yee beleeued, which restoreth the dead vnto life, and calleth those things which be not, as though they were. Gen.17.4.

18 Who contrary to hope, beleeued in hope, that he should be the father of many nations: according many nations, according to that which was

Gen.15.5. * ſaid to him: So ſhall thy ſeed be, as the ſtarres of heauen, and the ſand of the ſea.

19 And he was not weakened in faith: neither did he conſider his owne body now quite dead, whereas hee was almoſt an hundred yeeres olde, and the dead matrice of Sara.

20 In the promiſe alſo of God he ſtaggered not by diſtruſt: but was ſtrengthened in faith, giuing glory to God.

21 Moſt fully knowing that whatſoeuer he promiſed, he is able alſo to doe.

22 Therefore it was alſo reputed him to iuſtice.

23 And it is not written onely for him, that it was reputed him to iuſtice:

24 But alſo ‖ for vs, to whom it ſhal be reputed beleeuing in him, that raiſed vp IESVS CHRIST our Lord from the dead,

25 Who was deliuered vp for our ſinnes, and roſe againe for our iuſtification.

*cording to that which was ſpoken, * So ſhall thy ſeede be.* Gen.15.5.

19 And he fainted not in the faith, nor conſidered his owne body now dead, when he was almoſt an hundred yeeres old, neither yet the deadneſſe of Saraes wombe.

20 Hee ſtackered not at the promiſe of God through vnbeliefe: but was ſtrong in faith, giuing glorie to God.

21 And being full certified, that what he had promiſed, he was able alſo to performe.

22 And therefore was it reckened to him for righteouſneſſe.

23 Neuertheleſſe, it is not written for him onely, that it was reckened to him:

24 But alſo for vs, to whom it ſhall be reckened, ſo that we beleeue on him that raiſed vp Ieſus our Lord from the dead,

25 Which was deliuered for our ſinnes, and was raiſed againe for our iuſtification.

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. IIII.

RHEM. 1 5 Reputed to iuſtice.) The word Reputed, doth not diminiſh the trueth of the iuſtice, as though it were reputed for iuſtice, being not iuſtice indeede. but ſignifieth, that as it was in it ſelfe, ſo God eſteemed and reputed it. as the ſame Greeke word muſt needes be taken v.4. next going before, and 1.Cor.4.3. and elſwhere.

FVLKE. 1 The word Reputed, ſignifieth no falſe account or eſtimation, but yet it ſignifieth, that faith is accompted for iuſtice without our merite, for the merites of Chriſt, which are not inherent in vs, but are communicated vnto vs by his ſpirit, whereby we are made members of his bodie, and partakers of his iuſtice. In this chapter the Apoſtle vſeth the terme of imputation, ten times, wherefore in this place it were conuenient (if you had any thing) to plead it againſt Imputatiue iuſtice, as you do ſcornefully call it. Whereof we haue none other doctrine then the Apoſtle in this chapter, and els where moſt plainely teacheth. But here the light was ſo cleare, that you durſt not for ſhame once mention it. Iuſtice imputed.

RHEM. 2 11 The ſigne of circumciſion.) * Our Sacraments of the new Law giue ex opere operato, that grace and iuſtice of faith which here is commended, whereas circumciſion was but a ſigne or marke of the ſame.

FVLKE. 2 Our Sacraments of the new teſtament, are ſeales of the ſame grace and Iuſtice of faith which is here commended, as circumciſion was, which was not a bare ſigne and marke thereof (as you ſay) but a ſeale of God for confirmation of faith, as the text ſaith. Sacraments.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. IIII.

RHEM. 3 1 Abraham.) The Apoſtle diſputing in this chapter as before, againſt them that thought they might be iuſtified by their workes done without the grace of Chriſt and faith in him, propoſeth Abraham for an example, and prooueth that hee had no iuſtice nor eſtimation of iuſtice before God by any workes done before he had faith, or that proceeded not of faith and Gods grace. Abrahams works before faith.

FVLKE. 3 The Apoſtle prooueth by the example of Abraham, that no man hath eſtimation of iuſtice before God, for the merite of any workes done before faith, or after faith. And ſo his arguments doe prooue euidently. For if Abraham be iuſtified by any workes, he hath to glory, but no man hath to glory. Ergo he was not iuſtified by any workes. If Abraham were iuſtified by any workes, the reward ſhould be imputed, not according to grace, but according to debt: but the reward is not imputed according to debt, but according to grace, Ergo Abraham was not iuſtified by any workes of his. Anſelmus, Certè ſola fide Abraham fertur Deo placuiſſe: & hoc quia Deo credidit ad iuſticiam illi reputatum fuiſſe. De excell. B. Virg. Mariæ. Iuſtice imputed merite.

Credidit & nudæ fidei conſenſio ſola
Plenam ad iuſtitiæ & mersti reputata coronam eſt.
Atque adeo hinc Abræ tanta mercede docemur,
Quanti ſit meriti diuino credere verbo.
Marius Victor Maſſil.

Againe, Abraham was iuſtified, as Dauid termeth the bleſſednes of man, to whom God reputeth iuſtice without works. But Dauid termeth this bleſſednes of euery one whoſe ſinnes are forgiuen: therfore of faithfull men to whom God reputeth iuſtice without workes. As it is manifeſt by the Pſalme, where he applieth the comfort of this bleſſednes to himſelfe, that had obteined remiſſion of his ſinnes. Pſal.32.3.4.5. and afterward ſaith: That euery holy man ſhall pray for it, verſ.6. The holy Ghoſt therefore, ſpeaketh not of your ſanſte, of the firſt iuſtification, wherein a man cannot ſtand one minute of an houre, but of Gods iuſtification, whereby he continueth vs in iuſtice by his onely mercie, in the merites of Chriſt apprehended by faith, vntill he bring vs to eternall glory. Rom.8.30. No iuſtification by faith onely.

HEM. 4 2 By workes.) If Abraham did any commendable workes before he beleeued, as many Philoſophers did, men might count him iuſt therefore, but in Gods ſight (who accepteth nothing without faith in him, or that proceedeth not from his grace) he ſhould neuer haue had the eſtimation of a iuſt man. Therefore God in the Scriptures reputing him as a iuſt man, giueth the cauſe thereof, ſaying, Abraham beleeued God, and it was reputed to him for iuſtice. Iuſtice before men, and iuſtice before God.

FVLKE. 4 If Abraham were iustified before God, by workes either done before faith or after, he hath to glory with God, but glorying with God, is excluded by iustification by faith. He also to whom God oweth a reward of debt, may glory with God, therefore if Abraham could claime iustification by workes, though proceeding of faith, hee might glory with God. But the reward is imputed according to grace, and not according to debt: Therefore Abraham was not iustified before God, by workes proceeding of faith. Iustification by faith onely.

RHEM. 5 4 To him that worketh.) That is to say, He that presumeth of his owne workes as done of himselfe without faith, Gods helpe and grace: and saying, that grace or iustification were giuen to him for his workes: this man doth chalenge his iustification as debt, and not as of fauour and grace. Not workes but mere grace is cause of our first iustification.

FVLKE. 5 He also that presumeth of his owne workes to be iustified, though he acknowledge, that he hath done them by the grace and helpe of God, chalengeth iustification as debt, and shall not be iustified before God. As it is manifest in the parable, that Christ told against them that trusted in themselues that they were iust, where the Pharisee ascribeth to the grace and helpe of God, all those vertues and workes of his, by which he trusted in himselfe, that he was iust: saying, God I thanke thee, that I am not as other men, &c. Luke 18.9. Therefore not onely Pelagians, but Papists rather be in the same case that the Pharisee was. Iustification by faith onely.

RHEM. 5 To him that worketh not.) He worketh not (in this place) that hath no workes or alleageth not his workes done in his infidelitie as cause of his iustification, but faith in Christ, and that proceeding of meere grace. Whereupon S. Augustine saith: Know thou that faith found thee vniust. And if faith giuen to thee, made thee iust, it found thee a wicked one whom it might make iust. If it found thee wicked, and of such an one made thee iust, what workes hadst thou being then wicked? None couldest thou haue (nor canst haue) before thou beleeuedst. Beleeue then in him that iustifieth the impious, that thy good workes may be good workes in deed. August. in Psal. 31.

RHEM. 6 6 As Dauid termeth.) The Protestants for [e] termeth, translate, describeth, for that they would haue the ignorant beleeue the whole nature and definition of Iustification to be nothing els but remission of sinnes, and no grace or inherent iustice giuen from God at all. When the Apostle would say nothing els, but that in the first iustification God findeth no good workes or merites to reward, but onely sinnes to forgiue vnto such as haue faith in him. [e] Μιμεῖται, Heretical translation.

FVLKE. 6 Your word of terming is more neere a perfect definition, then our word of describing. For a description may be imperfect, a definition is concluded in proper bondes or termes. This is therefore no heretical translation of ours, but a malicious cauillation of yours. But to the matter, we would not haue men beleeue, that iustification is nothing but remission of sinnes, for the text addeth imputation of iustice without workes: and therefore no qualitie of grace or iustice inherent in vs. And seeing you acknowledge that in the first iustification, God findeth no merites, and the Scriptures teach none other iustification before God vnto reward of eternall life and glorification, we conclude, that in iustification vnto saluation which Dauid termeth the blessednesse of man, God findeth no merites to reward, but onely sinnes to forgiue vnto such as haue faith in him, whereby ones iustified, they bring foorth good workes, as the fruites of faith, not as the meritorious cause of their iustification. Remig. in Psal. 32. Reuerâ isti soli beati, isti soli salui qui per gratiam iustificantur, & non ex meritis, nam aliȳ minimè. Per ipsam (remissionem peccatorum) gratis iustificatur impius & reputatur fides eius ad iustitiam. Fulgent. de remiss. peccat. lib. 7. cap. 4. Slander. Cauilling. Iustification.

RHEM. 7 7 Couered. 8 not imputed.) You may not gather (as the Heretikes doe) of these termes, couered, and not imputed, that the sinnes of men be neuer truely forgiuen, but hidden only. for that derogateth much to the force of Christs blood and to the grace of God, by which our offences be truely remitted. He is the Lambe that taketh away the sinnes of the world, that washeth and blotteth out our sinnes, therefore to couer them, or not to impute them, is not to charge vs with our sinnes, because by remission they be cleane taken away: otherwise it were but a feined forgiuenesse. See S. Augustine in Psal. 31. enarrat. 2. What is, Sinnes couered, or not imputed. Io. 1. 29. 2. Cor. 5. 21. Apoc. 1. 5.

FVLKE. 7 Gods curse light vpon those heretikes, that say our sinnes are neuer truly forgiuen, but only hidden. For to be couered and hidden from Gods iustice by the redemption of Christ, and not to be imputed vnto vs, is to haue them truely forgiuen vs for Christs sake, so that euen our conscience is purged and clearely discharged of them, because Christ had satisfied the iustice of God perfectly for them. But let those heretikes take heed, that they derogate not much from the force of Christes blood, and the grace of God, which affirme that Christs blood purgeth vs from the guilt, but not from the punishment due to our sinnes, which is as much to say as our sinnes are not truely forgiuen: For where there is forgiuenesse (saith Chrysostome vpon this chapter) There shall be no punishment. Hom. 8. in ep. ad Rom. Slander. Remission of sinnes. The papists.

RHEM. 8 11 A seale.) The Heretikes would proue hereby, that the Sacraments of the Church giue no grace or iustice of faith, but that they be notes, markes, and badges only of our remission of sinnes had by faith before. because Abraham was iust before, and tooke this Sacrament for a seale thereof only. To which must be answered, that it followeth not that it is so in all, because is was so in the Patriarch, who was iust before, and was therefore as it were the founder of Circumcision, or he in whom God would first establish the same: no more then it followeth that, because the holy Sacrament of the Altar remitted not sinnes to Christ nor iustified him, therefore is hath that effect in none. Looke S. Augustine De baptismo contra Donatistas, lib. 4. cap. 24. Where you shall see that (though not in Abraham) yet in Isaac his sonne, and so consequently in the rest, the Sacrament went before, and iustice followed. The Sacraments are not mere markes, but confes of iustification.

FVLKE. 8 We say not that the sacraments be notes, markes and badges only of remission of sinnes, but (as the Apostle saith) seales of God, to assure our faith of iustification by remission of sinnes. And where you say, it followeth not in all, because it was so in Abraham, you bid open battell to the Apostle, who bringeth foorth the example of Abraham, to shew how all men are iustified before God, and what is the vse of the sacraments in all men: because Abraham was iustified before he was circumcised, therefore not by circumcision, but by faith onely. And although Isaac, and many thousands were first circumcised, and after iustified, yet this is perpetuall, they were not iustified by circumcision more then Abraham, which was iustified before he was circumcised, but by faith as Abraham was. And so saith S. Augustine in the place by you quoted: In Isaac which was circumcised the eighth day from his birth: the seale of Iustice went before, and because he followed the faith of his father as he grew, iustice it selfe followed, the seale whereof went before in his infancie: so in infants that are baptized, the sacrament of regeneration goeth before, and if they holde the Christian pietie, conuersion also doth follow in the heart, the mysterie whereof went before in the bodie: Here you see plaine, the sacraments giue not grace or iustice of the worke wrought, but are seales of the iustice of faith, though they be receiued before the iustice of faith. The obiection of infants baptised that die before they haue faith, S. Augustine doth answere in the same place, shewing that God supplieth by his grace the want of faith and confession in them, as he did in the theefe, and doth in them that are martyred before they be baptized, the want of the sacrament. Slander. Sacraments. Iustification by faith onely, and not by Sacraments.

RHEM. 9 24 For vs, to whom it shall be reputed.) By this it is most plaine against our Aduersaries, that the faith which was reputed for iustice to Abraham, was his beleefe of an Article reuealed to him by God, that is to say, his assent and credit giuen *giuen to Gods ſpeaches: as in vs his poſteritie according to the ſpirit, it is here plainely ſaid, that iuſtice ſhall be reputed to vs by beleeuing the Articles of Chriſts death and Reſurrection, and not by any fond ſpeciall faith, fiducia or confidence of ech mans owne ſaluation. to eſtabliſh the which fiction, they make no account of the faith Catholike, that is, wherewith we beleeue the Articles of the faith, which onely iuſtifieth, but call it by contempt, an hiſtoricall faith: ſo as they may terme Abrahams faith, and our Ladies faith, of which it was * ſaid, Beata quæ credidiſti,* Bleſſed art thou that haſt beleeued. And ſo in truth they deny as well the iuſtification by faith, as by workes. By what faith we are iuſtified. Luc.1.45.

LVKE. 9

This place is moſt plaine, that Abrahams faith was not onely an hiſtoricall faith, that Gods ſpeeches were true, but a ſure confidence and truſt in God that his promiſes perteined to him, that he alſo ſhould be bleſſed in that ſeede, wherein all the world ſhould be bleſſed. And ſo faith ſhall be imputed to vs for iuſtice, which beleeue in him which raiſed vp Ieſus Chriſt from the dead, who was deliuered for our ſinnes, and roſe againe for our iuſtification: that is which put our truſt in God, who hath iuſtified vs by remiſſion of our ſinnes, through the merits of the death and reſurrection of Chriſt. And here I would wiſh the ſimple deceiued to conſider for what iuſtification did Chriſt die, and riſe againe: euen for that by which we are made iuſt vnto ſaluation, and that is it whereby iuſtice is imputed to vs by faith without workes. Therefore the Apoſtle ſpeaketh in all this chapter of that onely iuſtification by which we are ſaued, and not of that fantaſticall firſt iuſtification newly inuented of the Papiſts, which is loſt as ſoone as we fall into any ſinne. But where you ſay, to eſtabliſh our fiction of confidence, we make none account of the articles of the Catholike faith, it is an impudent fiction, for we affirme that we are iuſtified by none other faith but euen by that faith which is declared in thoſe articles, not by a bare knowledge of them which the deuill hath and many reprobates, but by ſtedfaſt beleeuing of them, and ſure confidence that euery Chriſtian hath in God the Father, and in Chriſt his Sonne, conceiued, borne, ſuffered, dead, buried, riſen againe, aſcended, and ſitting at Gods right hande, which alſo ſhall come to iudgement, and in the holy Ghoſt, by whom he is ſanctified and made a member of the Catholike church of Chriſt, which is the bodie of Chriſt, the communion of Saincts, whereby hee is made partaker of the merits of Chriſt, and aſſured thereby of remiſſion of his ſinnes, reſurrection of his bodie, and life euerlaſting. Venantius in ſymbolum, remiſſionem peccatorum: Nobis in hoc ſermone ſola credulitas ſufficit. Nec ratio requiritur, vbi principalis indulgentia comprobatur. This is that faith, and none other, by which we looke to be iuſtified before God: neither doe we call it in contempt an hiſtoricall faith, but when it is ſo confeſſed, as the deuill doth beleeue it. The diſtinction of faith hiſtoricall and temporall from faith ſpirituall and eternall, is not of our inuention, but learned of S. Auguſtine De vera religione. cap. 50. And whereas you ſay, we may terme Abrahams faith and the bleſſed virgins faith an hiſtoricall faith, it is falſe: for Abraham and the bleſſed virgin did not onely beleeue the word of God to be true, but to their iuſtification beleeued in God, and did put their whole truſt and confidence in him. So the virgine Mary reioyceth in God her Sauiour. At non credis in Deum (ſaith S. Cyprian) qui non in eo ſolo collocat totius fœlicitatis ſuæ fiduciam. But he beleeueth not in God which placeth not in him onely the confidence of all his felicitie. De duplici martyrio. Iuſtifying faith what it is. Slander. An hiſtoricall faith.

CHAP. V.

Hauing therefore through faith in Chriſt, obteined the beginning, he ſheweth what great cauſe we haue to hope for the accompliſhment. 12 And then he proceedeth in his arguing, and ſheweth that as by one, all were made ſinners, ſo by one, all muſt be made iuſt.

BEing iuſtified therefore by faith, ‖ let vs haue peace toward God by our Lord IESVS CHRIST:

2 By whō alſo we haue ‖ acceſſe through faith into this grace wherein we ſtande, and glorie, ‡ in the hope of the glorie of the ſonnes of God.

3 And not only this: but alſo we glorie in tribulations, knowing that tribulation, worketh patience:

4 And patience, probation: and ‖ probation, hope.

5 And hope confoundeth not: becauſe ‖ the charitie of God is powred foorth in our hearts, by ỹ holy Ghoſt which is giuen vs.

6 For why did Chriſt, when wee as yet were * weake, according to the time die for the impious?

7 For, ſcarſe for a iuſt man doth any die: for perhaps for a good man durſt ſome man die.

8 But God commendeth his charitie in vs: becauſe, when as yet we were ſinners, Chriſt died for vs.

9 Much more therefore now being iuſtified in his blood, ſhall we be ſaued frō wrath by him.

10 For if, when we were enemies, wee were reconciled to God by the death of his Sonne:

THerefore being iuſtified by faith, we are at peace with God, through our Lord Ieſus Chriſt:

*2 * By whom alſo we haue had an entrance by faith, vnto this grace wherein we ſtand, and reioyce in hope of the glory of God.* Ephe.2.13.

*3 Not that onely: * but alſo we reioyce in tribulations, knowing that tribulation worketh patience:* Iames 1.3.

4 Patience proofe, proofe hope:

5 And hope maketh not aſhamed, becauſe the loue of God is ſhed abroad in our hearts by the holy Ghoſt, which is giuen vnto vs.

6 For when we were yet weake, according to the time, Chriſt died for the vngodly.

7 Now ſcarſe will any man die for the righteous: Yet peradventure for the good, ſome man durſt die.

8 But God ſetteth out his loue toward vs, ſeeing that while we were yet ſinners, Chriſt died for vs,

9 Much more then now, we that are iuſtified by his blood, ſhall be ſaued from wrath through him.

10 For if when we were enemies, we were reconciled to God by the death of his ſonne: much more,

Sonne: much more being reconciled, shall we be saued in the life of him.

11 And not only this: but also we glorie in God through our Lord IESVS Christ, by whom now wee haue receiued reconciliation.

12 Therefore, as ‖ by one man sinne entred into this world, and by sinne death: and so vnto all men death did passe, in which all sinned.

13 For euen vnto the Law sinne was in the world: but sinne was not imputed when the law was not.

14 But death reigned from Adam ‖ vnto Moyses, euen on them also that sinned not after the similitude of the preuarication of Adam, who is a figure of him to come.

15 But not as the offence, so also the gift. for if by the offence of one, many died: much more the grace of God and the gift, in the grace of one man IESVS Christ, hath abounded vpon many.

‖ sinner. 16 And not as by one ‖ sinne, so also the gift. for iudgement in deede is of one, to condemnation: but grace is of many offences, to iustification.

17 For if in the offence of one, death reigned by one: much more they that receiue the aboundance of grace and of donation and of iustice, shall reigne in life by one, IESVS Christ.

18 Therfore as by the offence of one, vnto all men to condemnation: so also by the iustice of one, vnto all men to iustification of life.

19 For as by the disobedience of one man, many were made sinners: so also by the obedience of one, many ‡ shall be made iust.

20 But the Law entred in, that sinne might abound. And where sinne abounded, grace did more abound.

21 That as sinne reigned to death: so also grace may reigne by iustice to life euerlasting, through IESVS Christ our Lord.

more, seeing we are reconciled, we shall be saued by his life.

11 Not only so, but we also ioy in God, through our Lord Iesus Christ, by whom we haue now receiued the atonement.

12 Wherefore, as by one man sinne entred into the worlde, and death by sinne: euen so death entred into all men, insomuch as all haue sinned.

13 For vnto the Lawe was sinne in the world: but sinne is not imputed when there is no law.

14 Neuertheless, death reigned from Adam to Moses, ouer them also that had not sinned with like transgression as did Adam, which is the figure of him that was to come.

15 But not as the sinne, so is the free gift. For if through the sinne of one many be dead: much more the grace of God, and the gift by grace, which is by one man Iesus Christ, hath abounded vnto many.

16 And not as by one that sinned euen so the gift, for the sinne entred by one offence into condemnation: but the gift of many sinnes into iustification.

17 For if by the sinne of one, death reigned by the meanes of one, much more they which receiue abundance of grace and of the gift of righteousnesse, shall reigne in life by the meanes of one, Iesus Christ.

18 Likewise then, as by the sinne of one, sinne came on all men to condemnation: euen so, by the righteousnesse of one, good came vpon all men to the righteousnesse of life.

19 For as by one mans disobedience many became sinners: so by the obedience of one, shall many be made righteous.

20 But the law in the meane time entred in, that sinne should increase. But where sinne was plenteous, grace was more plenteous.

21 That as sinne hath reigned vnto death: euen so might grace reigne through righteousnes vnto eternall life, by Iesus Christ our Lord.

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. V.

RHEM. 1 2 In hope of the glorie.) Christian men do not vaunt themselues of the certaintie of their saluation, but glorie in the hope thereof onely, which hope is here insinuated to be giuen in our iustification, and is afterward to be confirmed by probation in tribulation.

FVLKE, 1 Christian men doe not vaunt in themselues, but glorie in God, in the hope of saluation which confoundeth not, therfore glory in the certeintie of their saluation. But the hope of papists is in vncerteintie: therefore it is not Christian hope which confoundeth not. The hope of papists no Christian hope.

RHEM. 2 6 Weake.) The Heretikes falsely translate, of no strength, to take away all free will. No. Test. 1580.

FVLKE. 2 The Greeke word signifieth priuation of strength, and sometime of all strength, as 1. Cor. 15 43. so doth it here. For what strength hath the impious, for whom Christ died, or what freedome of will vnto good? which is dead in sinne. Ephe. 2. 5. Cauilling, Freewill.

RHEM. 3 19 Shall be made iust.) Here we may see against the Heretikes, that they which be borne of Christ and iustified by him, be made and constituted iust in deede, and not by imputation only: as all that be borne of Adam, be iniust and sinners in trueth, and not by imputation.

FVLKE. 3 To be iustified by imputation, is to be constituted and made iust in deed, yet not by iustice inherent in vs, but by the iustice of Christ: as many are made sinners in deed by Adams sinne, which is iustly imputed to them that be his heires: and they be iniust and sinners in trueth, and worthy of condemnation, euen by the sinne which Adam committed, for which they are iustly plagued with that corruption of originall sinne, that descendeth from him by propagation. Iustice imputed

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. V.

RHEM. 4 1 Let vs haue.) Whether we read, Let vs haue peace, as diuers also of the Greeke Doctors (Chrysost. Orig. Theodor. Oecum. Theophyl) doe, or, We haue peace: it maketh nothing for the vaine securitie and infallible certainetie which our Aduersaries say, euery man ought to haue vpon his presumed iustification by faith, that himselfe is in Gods fauour, and sure to be saued: peace towards God, being here nothing els, but the sincere rest, tranquility & comfort of mind and conscience, vpon the hope he hath, that he is reconciled to God. Sure it is that the Catholike faith, by which, and none other, men be iustified, neither teacheth nor breedeth any such securitie of saluation. And therfore they haue made to themselues an other faith which they call Fiduciam, quite without the compasse of the Creede and Scriptures. Against the Heretikes speciall faith and securitie

FVLKE. 4 It is not vaine securitie, but infallible certaintie that we ought to haue by our iustification by faith. For that sincere rest, tranquilitie, and comfort of minde and conscience, vpon hope that he is reconciled to God, (which you confesse to be peace toward God) is an vnfallible certaintie, seeing hope confoundeth not, as it is in the text. vers. 5. As for vaine securitie, is that which is placed in merits of men, in Popes pardons, masses of Requiem, and such like. Certainetie of saluation.

And whereas you say our faith, which we call Fiducia, Truste or confidence, is quite out of the compasse of the Creed and scriptures: you doe wilfully blaspheme the trueth. For it is comprised in the very first words of the Creed, Credo in Deum, I beleeue in God, which is, I repose my whole trust and confidence in God. So doth Ruffinus in exposit. symboli expound the verbe Credo, as is manifest by his examples, of him that committeth himselfe to a shippe, of the husbandman, of him that is maried, of him that taketh the charge of the empire, all which trust to receiue fruit of their beleefe. But specially by the testimonie of the Apostle, which saith, He that commeth to God must beleeue that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that beleeue in him. (saith Ruffine) the text is of them that seeke him. Heb. 11.6. Where we see plainly, not only an historicall faith, that God is, but a trust and confidence, that he is a rewarder of them that seeke him. But that our trust and confidence is within the compasse of the scripture whereupon the Creed is grounded, it is manifest by these testimonies, a few of a great number. Blessed are all they that trust or haue confidence in him. Psal. 2, 12. I haue trust or confidence in the Lord, I shall not be confounded for euer. Psal 24 1. They that haue trust or confidence in the Lord, shall be as the mount Sion which shall neuer be moued. Ps. 125.1. Blessed is that man whose trust is in the Lord, and whose fiducia confidence is the Lord. Ier. 17.7. Confidite (saith Christ) be of good confidence, I haue ouercome the world. Iohn 16.33. And for the very word fiducia confidence in God, which you doe scornefully obiect vnto vs, as Senacherib by the mouth of Rabsacke obiected to Ezechias. 2. Reg. 18.22. It is found euen in your owne translation in many places, Haue confidence in the Lord with all thy heart. Pro. 3. 5. That thy confidence may be in the Lord. Prouerb. 22. 19. He that hath trust or confidence of me, shall inherite the land, and possesse my holy hill. Esay. 57.13. Thy life or soule shall be saued, because thou hadst confidence in me saith the Lord. Ier. 39. 18. In our Lord Iesus Christ we haue trust and accesse with confidence through his faith. Eph. 3.12. Let vs goe vnto the throne of grace, with confidence that we may obteine mercie. Heb. 4. 16. Finally saith S. Iohn: This is the confidence or trust that we haue in God, that whatsoeuer we shall aske according to his will, he heareth vs. 1. Iohn 5.14. Confidence or trust.

RHEM. 5 2 Accesse through faith.) Iustification, implieth all grace and vertues receiued by Christs merites, but the entrance and accesse to this grace and happie state is by faith, because faith is the ground and first foundation to build on, and port to enter into the rest. Which is the cause that our iustification is attributed to faith namely in this Epistle, though faith it selfe be of grace also. Iustification attributed much to faith as to the foundation.

FVLKE. 5 Grace signifieth the fauour of God, by which we are not iustified for a moment according to the new deuise of the Papists, but wherein we stand and glorie in the assured hope of eternall life: and from this faith proceede all vertues and fruites of obedience, not to our iustification, but to Gods glorie, and our greater reward of his mercie, not of the merit of our workes. Iustification vnto saluation.

RHEM. 6 4 Probation hope,) This refelleth the errour also of the Protestants, that would haue our hope to holde onely on Gods promises, and not a whit on our doings. Where we see that it standeth (and is strengthened also) vpon patience and constancie, and good probation and triall of our selues in aduersities: and that so grounded vpon Gods promises and our owne doings, it neuer confoundeth. Our hope is strengthened by well doing.

FVLKE. 6 You confessed in the first section, that hope is giuen in iustification, and confirmed by probation and tribulation, therfore it is not grounded vpon our doings, for probation and tribulation do not properly cause hope, but declare it, as tribulation doth not cause patience, therefore our hope is grounded only vpon Gods promises. For our faith and hope are in God, and not in our owne doings. 1. Pet 1.21. Hope in Gods promises.

RHEM. 7 5 Charitie is powred) Charitie is also giuen vs in our first iustification, and not onely imputed vnto vs, but indeed inwardly powred into our hearts by the holy Ghost, who with and in his gifts and grace is bestowed vpon vs. for this Charitie of God is not that which is in God, but that which he giueth vs, as S. Augustine expoundeth it: li. de Sp. & lit. c. 32. Who referreth this place also to the grace of God giuen in the Sacrament of Confirmation. de bapt. cont. Donat. li. 3. c. 16. Charitie is a qualitie in vs.

FVLKE. 7 The text is plaine, that he speaketh of the loue of God, wherwith he loueth vs, as it is manifest in the eigh:h verse. So doth Chrysostome expound it, in 5. Rom. hom. 9. God sheweth the heat of his loue towards vs, chiefly that he hath not honored vs a litle at once or slenderly, but at once hath powred forth his loue, as a fountaine of all good things. So doth Photius and Oecumenius vnderstand it. S. Ambrose also vpon this place. Therefore S. Augustines exposition must giue place to the trueth. And yet he saith not that it is the loue wherewith we loue God, but wherby God maketh vs louers of him. In the other place, the loue of God is secretly giuen by imposition of hands: but he is so farre from calling it the Sacrament of Confirmation, that he saith, imposition of hands may be repeated, though baptisme cannot. For what is imposition of hands but prayer ouer a man? Popish confirmation.

RHEM. 8 10 By one man sinne entred.) By this place specially the Church of God defendeth and proueth against the old Heretikes the Pelagians, that denied children to haue any originall sinne, or to be baptized for the remission thereof: that in and by Adam all be conceiued, borne, and constituted sinners. Which no lesse maketh against the Caluinists also, that affirme, Christian mens children to be holy from their mothers wombe. And the same reason which S. Augustine deduceth (li. 1. c. 8 9. de pec. meritis) out of this text, to proue against the said Pelagians, that the Apostle meaneth not of the generall imitation of Adam in actuall sinnes, serueth against Erasmus and others, inclining rather to that new exposition, then to the Churches and fathers graue iudgement herein. Conc. Mileuitanum c. 2. Conc. Trid. sess. 5. decr. de pec. orig. All by Adam borne in original sinne.

FVLKE. 8 We doe none otherwise affirme Christian mens children to be holy from their mothers wombe, then S. Paul 1. Cor. 7.14. saith: they are holy, because they be comprised in Gods couenant, and haue right to be baptised, but that they are guilty of originall sinne, we confesse and teach more soundly and substantially then you doe. Slander.

RHEM. 9 14 Vnto Moyses.) Euen in the time of the Law of nature, when men knew not sinne, and therfore it could not by mans iudgement be imputed: and in the time of Moyses Law, when the commandement taught them to know it, but gaue them no strength nor grace to auoid it, sinne did reigne, and thereupon death and damnation, euen til Moyses inclusiue, that is to say, euen till the end of his Law. And that not in them onely which actually sinned, as Adam did, but in infants which neuer did actually offend, but only were borne and conceiued in sinne, that is to say, hauing their natures defiled, destitute of iustice, and auerted from God in Adam, and by their descent from him: Christ onely excepted, being conceiued without mans seede, and his mother for his honour and by his speciall protection (as many godly deuout men iudge) preserued from the same. Christ onely not conceiued in sinne, and (as it is thought) our B. Ladie.

FVLKE. 9 This place doth manifestly conuince, that the virgin Mary also was conceiued in originall sinne: because onely Christ was conceiued by the holy Ghost of a virgine. But why doe you not boldly affirme it as an vndoubted trueth, that the blessed virgine was not conceiued in sinne? seeing that Pope Sixtus the fourth hath cleerely determined that it was so, and instituted the feast of her conception to confirme that opinion, and added to the salutation of the virgine Mary these words: Et benedicta sit Anna mater tua, de qua sine macula tua processit caro virginea. And blessed be Anne thy mother, of whom thy virgins flesh hath proceeded without spot. And condemned the Dominike Friers, charging them not to preach nor publish the contrary opinion, by his bull bearing date 1483. Here you must either confesse the Popes error, or els hold this opinion absolutely against the maister of the sentences li.3 dist.3. Thomas Aquinas and other schoolemen vpon him, yea and S. Bernard epist. 174. ad Canonicos Lugdunens. Anselmus, Cur Deus homo, lib.2.cap.16. And S. August. De Genes. ad liter. li.10. cap.18. The virgine Marie conceiued in originall sinne.

RHEM. 20 That sinne might abound.) That, here hath not the signification of causalitie, as though the Law were giuen for that cause to make sinne abound: but it noteth the sequele, because that followed thereof, and so it came to passe, that by the prohibition of sinne, sinne increased: by occasion whereof, the force of Christs grace is more amply and abundantly bestowed in the new Testament. The Law did not cause more sinne, though that were the sequele thereof.

CHAP. VI.

RHEM. 1 He exhorteth vs, now after Baptisme, to liue no more in sinne, but to walke in good workes: because there we died to the one, and rose againe to the other 14 (grace also giuing vs sufficient strength) 16 and were made free to the one, and seruants to the other, 21 and specially because of the fruits here, and the end afterward, both of the one and of the other.

FVLKE. 1 There is nothing in the text to proue that grace giueth vs strength to auoid all sinne: for if we had sufficient strength, we should neuer sinne of infirmitie.

THE EPISTLE vpon the 6 Sunday after Pentecost.

WHAT shall we say then? Shall we continue in sinne that grace may abound?

2 God forbid. For we that are dead to sinne, how shall we yet liue therein?

3 Are you ignorant that all we which are baptized in Christ IESVS, in his death wee are baptized?

4 For ‡ we are buried together with him by Baptisme into death: that as Christ is risen from the dead by the glorie of the father, so we also may walke in newnesse of life.

5 For if we be become complanted to the similitude of his death, we shall be also of his resurrection.

6 Knowing this, that our old man is crucified with him, that the body of sinne may be destroied, to the ende that we may serue sinne no longer.

7 For he that is dead, is iustified from sinne.

8 And if we be dead with Christ, we beleeue that wee shall liue also together with Christ.

9 Knowing that Christ rising againe from the dead, now dieth no more, death shall no more haue dominion ouer him.

10 For that he died, ‖ to sinne hee died once: but that he liueth, he liueth to God.

11 So thinke you also, that you are dead to sinne, but aliue to God in Christ IESVS our Lord.

12 Let not ‖ sinne therfore reigne in your mortall bodie, that you obey the concupiscences thereof.

13 But neither do ye exhibite your members instruments of iniquitie vnto sinne: but exhibite

WHat shall we say then? Shall wee continue in sinne, that grace may abound? God forbid.

2 How shall we that are dead to sinne, liue any longer therein.

3 Know ye not, that all we which haue bene baptized into Iesus Christ, haue beene baptized into his death?

4 We are buried then with him by Baptisme into his death, that likewise as Christ was raised vp from the dead by the glorie of the father: euen so, we also should walke in newnesse of life.

5 For if we be graft together by the likenes of his death: euen so shall we be partakers of the resurrection:

6 Knowing this, that our old man is crucified with him also, that the body of sinne might vtterly be destroyed, that hencefoorth wee should not serue sinne.

7 For he that is dead, is iustified from sinne.

8 And if we be dead with Christ, we beleeue that we shall also liue with him:

9 Knowing that Christ being raised from the dead, dieth no more, death hath no more power ouer him.

10 For as touching that he died, he died concerning sinne once: And as touching that he liueth, he liueth vnto God.

11 Likewise recken your selues to be dead vnto sinne: but aliue vnto God, through Iesus Christ our Lord.

12 Let not sinne reigne therfore in your mortall body, that ye should thereunto obey by the lusts of it.

13 Neither giue ye your members † as instruments of vnrighteousnesse vnto sinne: but giue †Or, weapons exhibite your ſelues to God as of dead men, aliue: and your members inſtruments of iuſtice to God.

14 For ſinne ſhall not haue dominion ouer you. for you are not vnder the Law, but vnder grace.

15 What then? ſhall we ſinne, becauſe we are not vnder the Law, but vnder grace? God forbid.

16 * Know you not that to whom you exhibite your ſelues ſeruants to obey, you are the ſeruants of him you obey, whether it be of ſinne, to death, or of obedience, to iuſtice.

17 But thankes be to God, that you were the ſeruants of ſinne, but ‡ haue obeied from the heart, vnto that ‖ forme of doctrine, into the which you haue bene deliuered.

18 And being made free from ſinne, you were made ſeruants to iuſtice.

19 I ſpeake an humane thing, becauſe of the infirmitie of your fleſh. for as you haue exhibited your members to ſerue vncleanneſſe and iniquitie, vnto iniquitie: ſo now exhibite your members to ſerue iuſtice, ‖ vnto ſanctification.

20 For when you were ſeruants of ſinne, you were free to iuſtice.

21 What fruit therefore had you then in thoſe things, for which now you are aſhamed? for the end of them is death.

22 But now being made free from ſinne, and become ſeruants to God, you haue your fruite vnto ſanctification, but the end, life euerlaſting.

23 For the ſtipends of ſinne, death. but ‖ the grace of God, life euerlaſting in Chriſt IESVS our Lord.

gine your ſelues vnto God, as they that are aliue from the dead, and your members † as inſtruments of righteouſneſſe vnto God. †Or, weapons.

14 For ſinne ſhall not haue power ouer you, becauſe yee are not vnder the lawe, but vnder grace.

15 What then? Shall we ſinne, becauſe wee are not vnder the lawe, but vnder grace? God forbid.

*16 * Knowe ye not how that to whom ſo euer yee commit your ſelues as ſeruants to obey, his ſeruants yee are to whom ye obey: whether it be of ſinne vnto death, or of obedience vnto righteouſneſſe?* Iohn.8.34.

17 But God be thanked, that ye were the ſeruants of ſinne: but ye haue obeyed with heart the forme of doctrine, into the which ye were brought vnto.

18 Being then made free from ſinne, yee are become the ſeruants of righteouſneſſe.

19 I ſpeake after the maner of men, becauſe of the infirmitie of your fleſh. For, as ye haue giuen your members ſeruants to vncleanneſſe and iniquitie, vnto iniquitie: euen ſo now giue your members ſeruants to righteouſneſſe, vnto holineſſe.

20 For when ye were the ſeruants of ſinne, ye were free from righteouſneſſe.

21 What fruite had ye then in thoſe things, whereof ye are nowe aſhamed? For the ende of thoſe things, is death.

22 But nowe yee being made free from ſinne, and made the ſeruants of God, haue your fruite vnto holineſſe, and the ende euerlaſting life.

23 For the reward of ſinne is death: but the gift of God is eternall life, through Ieſus Chriſt our Lord.

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. VI.

RHEM. 2 4 We are buried.) Remiſſion of ſinne, new life, ſanctification, and iuſtification, are giuen by baptiſme, becauſe it reſembleth in vs and applieth to vs Chriſts death and reſurrection, and engraffeth vs into him.

FVLKE, 2 Baptiſme is a ſeale of the iuſtification by faith, and therefore aſſureth vs of remiſſion of ſinne, renouation and ſanctification, that God giueth vnto vs being iuſtified. The application of Chriſts death, buriall, and reſurrection, is the proper worke of the holy ſpirit, by whom we are regenerate, which is reſembled and ratified by the externall ſeale of Baptiſme, which teſtifieth that we are ingraffed into the ſimilitude of his death and reſurrection.

RHEM. 3 17 Haue obeyed from.) Here againe is ſignified, that our diſcharge from the bondage of ſinne, is by the Chriſtian faith, and by obedience to the whole doctrine of Chriſts religion: in that the Apoſtle attributeth this their deliuerance from ſinne, to their humble receiuing of the Catholike faith.

FVLKE, 3 Obedience from the heart, vnto the forme of doctrine, is faith, by which we are diſcharged from ſinne, and haue profeſſed to leade a new life, not to continue ſeruants vnto ſinne. Therefore remiſſion of ſinnes, is not aſcribed to workes of obedience, that follow iuſtification.

RHEM. 4 19 Vnto ſanctification.) He ſignifieth that as when they were ſubiect to ſinne by continuall and often working wickedneſſe, they increaſed their iniquitie: that ſo alſo now being iuſtified, they may and ſhould by externall workes of iuſtice, increaſe their iuſtice and ſanctification.

FVLKE, 4 We may and ought to encreaſe the vertues of iuſtice and holineſſe, that are giuen vs by Gods grace, with daily exerciſing our ſelues in practiſe of them, by ſtrength of his ſpirit, without whom we can doe nothing. But hereof we gaine not a new iuſtification before God, neither adde vnto the iuſtification by faith, whereby we are made the children of God. But declare the ſame to the glorie of God, the benefite of our brethren, and to the encreaſe of our reward, according to his promiſe. Our iuſtification vnto ſaluation.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. VI.

RHEM. 5 3 We that are baptized.) That which before he chalenged from the Law of Moyſes, to faith, is now attributed to baptiſme, which is the firſt Sacrament of our faith and the entrance to Chriſtian religion, whereby it is plaine that hee meaneth not onely faith to iuſtifie, but the Sacraments alſo, and all Chriſtian religion, which he calleth the Law of ſpirit, grace, and faith. Not onely faith.

FVLKE. 5 S. Paul ascribed our iustification before, to faith without workes, therefore he doth not now make Baptisme a cause thereof: but of the end and effects of Baptisme, he proueth that sanctification and renouation is necessarie, for all that are iustified freely by the grace of God, through faith in Christ. The same argument may be drawne from circumcision, to proue, that the Iewes before Christ, ought to bring foorth the fruites of sanctification and renouation. Yet the Apostle by expresse wordes, excludeth Circumcision, from being a cause of iustification, because Abraham was iustified before he was circumcised, who is the forme of iustification of all men, as S. Ambrose saith, Com. in ep. ad Gal. Cap. 3. And Baptisme succeeding in the place of Circumcision, is a seale of iustification by faith, in all Christians, as circumcision was in Abraham, not a cause thereof. Neither can iustification before God by Baptisme, or any workes of Christian religion, be concluded out of this text. Baptisme not cause of iustification.

RHEM. 6 Old man, bodie of sinne.) Our corrupt state subiect to sinne and concupiscence, comming to vs from Adam, is called the Old man: as our person reformed in and by Christ, is named the New man. And the lumpe and masse of sinnes which then ruled, is called the corps or bodie of sinne. The old man, and the new.

10 To sinne he died.) Christ died to sinne, when by his death he destroyed sinne: We die to sinne, in that we be discharged of the power thereof, which before was as it were the life of our persons, and commanded all the parties and faculties of our soule and bodie: as contrariwise we liue to God, when his grace ruleth and worketh in vs, as the soule doth rule our mortall bodies. Dying to sinne. Liuing to God.

RHEM. 6 12 Sinne reigne.) Concupiscence is here named sinne, because it is the effect, occasion, and matter of sinne, and is as it were a disease or infirmitie in vs, inclining vs to ill, remaining also after Baptisme according to the substance or matter thereof: but it is not properly a sinne, not forbidden by commandement, till it reigne in vs, and we obey and follow the desires thereof. August. lib. de nupt. & concupisc. cap. 23. Cont. 2. epist. Pelag. lib. 1. cap. 13. Conc. Trident. Sess. 5. decret. de pec. orig. How concupiscence is called sinne.

FVLKE. 6 This is to draw the Scripture to your owne priuate opinions: not to ground your opinions vpon the Scripture. S. Paul saith, it is sinne, and afterward Chap. 6. 7. he saith it is forbidden by the Commaundement, Thou shalt not couet, and verse 17. though it doe not reigne, &c. he calleth it sinne dwelling in vs. S. Augustine De nupt. &c. Conc. lib. 1. cap. 23. denieth it to be sinne in the regenerate, because in them it is forgiuen, and not imputed, As he sheweth plainely cap. 25. of the same booke, where he saith: answering the question, how it can be sinne in the child vnregenerate, that was not sinne in the father being regenerate, when he begot the child. Ad hæc respondetur, &c. To these things it is answered, that concupiscence of the flesh, is forgiuen in Baptisme, not so that it is not, but so, that it is not imputed for sinne. And albeit the guilt thereof be loosed, or taken away, yet it remaineth till all our infirmities be healed, the renewing of the inward man profiting from day to day, when the outward man shall haue put on incorruption, for it remaineth not substantially, as a body or a spirit, but it is a certaine affection of ill qualitie, as a disease or sickenesse. Concupiscence is sinne,

By this place it is plaine, how he denieth it to be sinne, namely, as it is not imputed, yet remaineth sinne by nature, and therefore passeth by generation, from the parents to the children. In the second place by you quoted, he saith, that the guilt of concupiscence is consumed in the lauer of regeneration, so that for it, the baptized say not in their prayer, forgiue vs our debts: which is all one in effect, as though he said, it is sinne, whereof the regenerate are assured of the forgiuenesse or remission thereof. And Contr. Iul. Pel. lib. 5. cap. 3. he saith plainely: Concupiscentia carnis, &c. Concupiscence of the flesh, against which the good spirit doth lust, is sinne, because there is in it disobedience, against the gouernement of the minde. The authoritie of the Tridentine Councell alledged by Papists, is as good, as aske my fellow if I be a theefe.

RHEM. 7 17 Forme of doctrine.) At the first conuersion of euery nation to the Catholike faith, there is a forme and rule of beleefe set downe, vnto which when the people is once put by their Apostles, they must neuer by any persuasion of men alter the same, nor take of man or Angel, any new doctrine or Analogie of faith, as the Protestants call it. The doctrine of our first Apostles.

FVLKE. 7 They that are conuerted to the Christian faith by the true Apostles, and haue receiued a forme of doctrine or Analogie of faith (which also is S. Pauls words, Rom. 12. 6.) according to the trueth of the holy Scriptures, ought by no meanes to be remoued from it. But such as haue bene conuerted to the Christian profession by false Apostles, Heretikes, or men infected with any error, must not continue in the forme of doctrine which they haue first receiued, if it conteine any thing repugnant to the word of God. But must reforme their faith, and forme of doctrine also, according to the trueth.

RHEM. 8 23 The grace of God, life euerlasting.) The sequele of speech required, that as he said, death or damnation is the stipend of sinne, so life euerlasting is the stipend of iustice. and so it is, and in the same sense he spake in the last chapter: that as sinne reigneth to death, so grace reigneth by iustice to life euerlasting. but here he changed the sentence somewhat, calling life euerlasting grace, rather then reward: because the merites by which we attaine vnto life, be all of Gods gifts and grace. August. Ep. 105. ad Sixtum. Life euerlasting stipend, and is grace, FVLKE. 8 This place doth most plainely declare, that eternall life is not due to the merite of workes, but is the free gift of God. S. Augustine in the place quoted, meaneth not by the word merite, desert of mens good works, but good workes themselues, to which God giueth reward freely, as to his owne giftes and graces in vs, proceeding of faith, which is also the gift of God. And so reasoning against the Pelagian in his owne termes, by this sentence of S. Paul, doth cleerely ouerthrow him. When we finde life eternall to be called grace (saith he) we haue in the same Apostle Paul, a magnificall defender of grace, this saying, The wages of sinne is death, but eternall life is the grace of God, in Christ Iesus our Lord. See I pray thee in how great breuitie, how carefully he hath placed his wordes, which being diligently considered, the obscuritie of this question may be somewhat cleared. For when he had said, the wages of sinne is death, who would not iudge, that most agreeably and consequently, he should adde: but the wages of iustice, is life euerlasting. And it is true, that as to the merite of sinne death is rendred as wages, so to the merite of iustice, eternall life as wages. Or if he would not say to iustice, he might haue saide to faith, because the iust liueth by faith, whereof also, it is called in many places of holy Scripture, a reward: but iustice or faith is no where called a reward, because the reward is rendred to iustice or faith. And that which a reward is to him that worketh, that is as wages or stipend, to the warrior. But the blessed Apostle against presumption, which so much assayeth to creepe vpon great persons, that he saith, for it, the Angell of Sathan was giuen vnto him, by whom he was buffeted, that he should not be lifted vp in presumption: Therefore fighting most watchfully, against this pestilence of presumption: he saith, the wages of sinne is death. Hee calleth it rightly wages, because it is due, because it is worthily paied, because it is rendred to merite. Afterward, lest iustice should lift vp it selfe, of mans good merite, as mans ill merite is not doubted to be sinne: he hath not saide contrariwise: eternall life is the wages of iustice, but eternall life (saith he) is the grace of God. And lest it should be soughe any other way, then by the Mediatour, he addeth, in Christ Iesus our Lord, as though he should say: Hearing that death is the wages of sinne, what goest thou about to aduance thy selfe, O thou not iustice of man, but plaine pride, vnder the name of iustice, why goest thou about Merite.

about to lift vp thy ſelfe, and to demaund life eternall, which is contrary to death, as a wages that is due? It is true iuſtice, whereunto eternall life is due If it be true iuſtice, it is not of thee, it deſcendeth from aboue, from the father of lights, that thou mighteſt haue it, verily thou haſt receiued it. For what haſt thou, which thou haſt not receiued? Wherefore O man, if thou ſhalt receiue eternall life, it is indeed the wages of iuſtice, but to thee, it is grace, to whom euen iuſtice it ſelfe is grace. For it ſhould be rendred to thee, as due, if thou haddeſt of thy ſelfe iuſtice whereto it is due. But now, we haue receiued of his fulneſſe, not onely grace, by which we now liue iuſtly in labours, vnto the end, but alſo grace for this grace, that we may liue hereafter in reſt, without end. Our faith beleeueth nothing more holeſomely then this, becauſe our vnderſtanding findeth nothing more true.

This ſaying at large, declareth, that albeit he vſe the terme of merite, yet he acknowledgeth that there is no deſert of good workes vnto eternall life, which is the free grace of God, by which we haue true and perfect iuſtice in Chriſt through faith, according to which free gift of faith, when we labour in the workes of iuſtice, which is his grace, euen for this grace, wee receiue not the wages, but the grace of eternall life. Therefore Auguſtine acknowledgeth no merite or deſert of good workes, vnderſtanding the worde merite properly, for deſert, becauſe grace is not giuen to merite, but freely. Wherefore it is nothing but hereticall wreſtling againſt the trueth, to abuſe his termes, cleane contrary to the purpoſe of his meaning.

Chryſoſtome vpon this place, ſaith thus: He ſaith not, eternall life is the reward of your good workes, but eternall life is the gift of God, that he might ſhew, that they are deliuered not by their owne ſtrength, or vertues, and that it is not a debt, or a wages, or a retribution of labours, but that they haue receiued all thoſe things freely, of the gift of God. S. Ambroſe ſaith: As they that follow ſinne, gaine death, ſo they that follow the grace of Chriſt, that is faith which forgiueth ſinnes, ſhall haue life eternall. Theodoret likewiſe vpon this place: He ſaith not here reward, but grace, for eternall life is the gift of God. For although a man could performe the higheſt and abſolute iuſtice, yet eternall ioyes being weighed with temporall labours, are not anſwerable. Photius vpon the ſame place, ſaith: He ſaide not, the reward of good workes, but the gift of God, ſhewing, that they are not deliuered from ſinne, by workes, but by grace. The auctor of the Commentaries vnder S. Hieromes name, ſaith alſo: He ſaid not likewiſe, the wages or reward of iuſtice: becauſe it is not in vs before it be rewarded. For it is not gotten by our labour, but granted by the gift of God. Wherefore you ſee, that not onely the manifeſt wordes of the text, but alſo the conſent of the ancient Fathers, is againſt the Popiſh doctrine, of the merite of good workes.

CHAP. VII.

RHEM. 1 Our former husband (ſinne) with his law, is dead in Baptiſme: and now we are married to another husband (to Chriſt) to bring foorth children to God, that is, good workes. 7 And how the law being good, was yet to vs the law of ſinne and death, becauſe concupiſcence reigned in vs. 17 But now by baptiſme grace reigneth in vs, though alſo concupiſcence doth remaine and tempt vs ſtill.

PYKE. 1 The Apoſtle ſpeaketh not one word of Baptiſme, in all this chapter.

ARe you ignorant brethren (for I ſpeake to them that know the Lawe) that the Lawe hath dominion ouer a man as long time as he liueth?

1 Cor. 7. 39. 2 For * the woman that is vnder a husband: ‡ her husband liuing is bound to the law. but if her husband be dead, ſhe is looſed from the law of her husband.

3 Therefore her husband liuing, ſhe ſhall be called an aduoutereſſe if ſhe be with an other man: but if her husband be dead, ſhee is deliuered from the law of her husband: ſo that ſhe is not an aduoutereſſe if ſhe be with another man.

4 Therefore my brethren ‡ you alſo are made dead to the law by the body of Chriſt: that you may be an other mans who is riſen againe from the dead, that we may fructifie to God.

5 For when we were in the fleſh, the paſſions of ſinnes, that were by the Law, did worke in our members, to fructifie vnto death.

6 But now we are looſed from the lawe of death, wherein we were deteined: ‘ in ſo much we ſerue in ‡ newneſſe of ſpirit, and not in the oldneſſe of the letter.

7 What ſhall we ſay then? is the Lawe ſinne? God forbid. But ſinne I did not know, but by the Law. for concupiſcence I knewe not, vnleſſe the Law did ſay: ‖ Thou ſhalt not couet.

8 But

KNowe yee not brethren (for I ſpeake to them that knowe the Lawe howe that the law hath power ouer a man, as long as hee liueth?

2 For the woman which hath an husband, is bound by the law to her husband, as long as he liueth: but if the husband be dead, ſhe is looſed from the law of her husband.

3 So then if while her husband liueth, ſhee couple her ſelfe with an other man, ſhee ſhall be †counted a wedlocke breaker: but if her husband be dead, ſhe is free from the lawe, ſo that ſhe is no wedlocke breaker, though ſhe couple her ſelfe with another man. † Or, called.

4 Euen ſo, ye alſo my brethren, are dead concerning the lawe by the bodie of Chriſt, that yee ſhould be coupled to another, who is raiſed from the dead, that we ſhould bring foorth fruit vnto God.

5 For when wee were in the fleſh, the luſtes of ſinne which were by the Lawe wrought in our members, to bring foorth fruite vnto death.

6 But now are we deliuered from the lawe, and dead vnto it wherein wee were in bondage, that we ſhould ſerue in newneſſe of ſpirit, and not in the oldneſſe of the letter.

7 What ſhall we ſay then? Is the lawe ſinne? God forbid. Neuertheleſſe, I knewe not ſinne, but by the Lawe: For I had not knowen luſt, except the law had ſaid, Thou ſhalt not luſt.

‡ Sinne or concupiscence which was asleepe before, was wakened by prohibition, the Law not being the cause thereof, nor giuing occasiō thereunto, but occasiō being taken by our corrupt nature to resist that which was commanded.

8 But ‡occasion being taken, sinne by the commaundement wrought in me all concupiscence. For without the Lawe sinne was dead.

9 And I liued without the Lawe sometime. But when the commaundement was come, sinne reuiued.

10 And I was dead: and the commandement, that was vnto life, the same to mee was found to be vnto death.

11 For sinne taking occasion by the commandement, seduced me, and by it killed me.

1. Tim. 1, 8.

12 Therfore *the Law indeed is holy, and the commandement holy, and iust & good.

13 That then which is good, to me was it made death? God forbid. but sinne, that it may appeare sin, by the good thing wrought me death: that sinne might become sinning aboue measure by the commandement.

14 For we know that the Law is spirituall, but I am carnall, sold vnder sinne.

15 For ‖ that which I worke, I vnderstand not. for ‖ not that which I will, the same doe I: but which I hate, that I doe.

16 And if that which I will not, the same I doe: I consent to the Law, that it is good.

17 But now, not I worke it any more, but the sinne that dwelleth in me.

18 For I know that there dwelleth not in me, that is to say, in my flesh, good. For to will, is present with mee, but to accomplish that which is good, I find not.

19 For ‖ not the good which I will, that doe I: but the euill ‖ which I will not, that I doe.

20 And if that which I will not, the same I doe: now not I worke it, but the sinne that dwelleth in me.

21 I find therfore, the Law, to me hauing a will to good, that euil is present with me.

THE EPISTLE in a Votiue Masse for sinne.

22 For I am delighted with the lawe of God according to the inward man:

23 But I see an other lawe in my members, repugning to the lawe of my mind, and captiuing me in the lawe of sinne that is in my members.

24 Vnhappie man that I am, who shall deliuer me from the bodie of this death?

25 The grace of God by IESVS Christ our Lord. ☞ Therefore I my selfe ‖ with the mind * serue the lawe of God, but with the flesh, the law of sinne.

* δουλεύω.

8 But sinne taking occasion by the commaundement, wrought in me all maner of concupiscence. For without the Law sinne was dead.

9 I once liued without lawe: but when the commandement came, sinne reuiued,

10 And I was dead: and the very same commaundement which was ordeined vnto life, was found to be vnto mee an occasion of death.

11 For sinne taking occasion by the commandement, hath deceiued mee, and by the same slew me.

12 Wherefore the lawe is holy, and the commandement holy, and iust, and good.

13 Was that then which was good, made death vnto me? God forbid. But sinne, that sinne might appeare, by that which was good to worke death in me: that sinne by the commaundement might be out of measure sinfull.

14 For we knowe that the law is spirituall: but I am carnall, sold vnder sinne.

15 For that which I doe, I allow not: for what I would, that doe I not, but what I hate, that doe I.

16 If I doe nowe that which I would not, I consent vnto the law that it is good.

17 Now then it is not I that doe it: but sinne that dwelleth in me.

18 For I know, that in me (that is to say in my flesh) dwelleth no good thing. For to will is present with me: but I find no meanes to perfourme that which is good.

19 For the good that I would, doe I not: but the euill which I would not, that doe I.

20 And if I doe that I would not, then is it not I any longer that doth it, but sinne that dwelleth in me.

21 I find then by the lawe, that when I would doe good, euill is present with me.

22 For I delite in the lawe of God, after the inward man.

23 But I see another lawe in my members, rebelling against the lawe of my minde, and subduing me vnto the lawe of sinne, which is in my members.

24 O wretched man that I am: who shall deliuer me from the bodie of this death?

25 I thanke God through Iesus Christ our Lord. So then, with the minde I my selfe serue the law of God: but with the flesh, the lawe of sinne.

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. VII.

RHEM. 2 2 Her husband liuing.) Nothing but death dissolueth the band betwixt man and wife: though for fornication one may depart from anothers companie, therefore to mary againe is adultrie, during the life of the partie separated.

FVLKE. 2 S. Paul saith not, that nothing dissolueth the bond of matrimonie but death, but that although the bond of mariage continue for both their liues: yet it is dissolued by the death of the husband.

RHEM. 3 4 You also are made dead.) Being now baptized and dead to sinne, and engraffed in Christs mysticall bodie, you are discharged of the Law of Moses, and are free in Christ.

FVLKE. 3 Baptisme in the elect, is a seale of their incorporation and conformitie vnto the death, and resurrection of Christ, but not a cause thereof. For all are not incorporate to Christes mysticall bodie, but onely the true members thereof. Baptisme not cause of our incorporation in Christ.

RHEM. 4 6 Newnesse of spirit, and not.) By Baptisme we haue not Christes iustice imputed to vs, but an inward newnesse of spirit giuen vs and resident in vs.

By

FVLKE. 4 By faith we haue Chriſts iuſtice imputed vnto vs, whereof Baptiſme is a ſeale: and the newneſſe of ſpirit which is reſident in vs, is the worke of the holy Ghoſt, not of the externall act of Baptiſme: for then it ſhould be in all that are baptized, but it is onely in the elect of God. For the reprobate, though they haue the externall ſeale of baptiſme: yet they haue not renouation of the ſpirit, neither are they regenerate to bee Gods children, for if they were his children, they ſhould be his heires, Rom. 8. 17. Worke wrought.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. VII.

RHEM. 5 7. Thou ſhalt not couet.) It is not the habituall concupiſcence or infirmitie of our nature or ſenſuall deſire or inclination to euill, coueting againſt the ſpirit, that is forbidden properly in this precept: but the conſint of our reaſon and minde vnto it, to obey and follow the luſts thereof, that is a ſinne and prohibited. Actual concupiſcece forbidden, not habitual.

FVLKE 5. All concupiſcence that hindreth the perfect loue of our neighbour, is forbidden in this precept. For S. Paul could neuer be ignorant, ſince he had the vſe of reaſon, that concupiſcence with conſent, is ſinne, which the heathen men did know and confeſſe. Tullie compteth it a morall vertue, Ab alienis mentes, oculos, manus abſtinere, to refraine not only the hands, and eyes, but euen the mind from that which belongeth to other men. De oratore. lib. 1. therefore the contrary muſt needes be a vice. And that actuall concupiſcence which you ſpeake of, is forbidden in the 6. 7. and 8. commandements of the Law, according to the interpretation of our Sauiour Chriſt. Matth. 5. 22. 28. Therefore the 10. commandement forbiddeth euen habituall concupiſcence, and ſenſual deſire, and inclination to euill, and the euill fruits thereof, that is iniurious thoughts, though by the ſpirit we reſiſt them, and giue not place vnto them. In tantum natura cæca ſine lege peccat, vt peccare ſe neſciat: propter quod dicitur, Concupiſcentiam neſciebam &c. Fulgent. de incarn. & grat. cap. 16. Concupiſcence is ſinne.

RHEM. 6 15. That which I worke.) This being vnderſtood of S. Paul himſelfe or any other iuſt perſon, the ſenſe is, that the fleſh and inferiour pars ſtirreth vp diuers diſordered motions and paſſions or perturbations againſt the mind, and vpon ſuch a ſudden ſometimes inuadeth the ſame, that before it attendeth, or reaſon can gather it ſelfe to deliberate, man is in a ſort (though vnwittingly) entangled. Which aſſoone as it is perceiued, being of the iuſt condemned, reiected, and reſiſted, neuer maketh him a ſinner. Sudden inuoluntary motions are no ſinne.

FVLKE. 6 Thoſe ſudden inuoluntary motions, are ſinne in their owne nature, though pardoned to the elect, and ſo the plaine words of the text are: for els how ſhould the Apoſtle by this verſe proue, that which he ſaid in the verſe going immediatly before, that he was ſold vnder ſinne, if that which he ſo doth vnwillingly in that caſe, be not ſinne. Anſelmus de Concord. grat. & lib. arbit. Ipſos motus ſiue appetitus quibus propter peccatum Ade ſicut bruta animalia ſubiacemus, quos Apoſtolus vocat, Carnis concupiſcentiam, quam inuitum ſe tolerare manifeſtat, cùm dicit, quod odi illud facio, id eſt, nolens concupiſco, ſatis oſtendit ſacra auctoritas imputari ad peccatum. Concupiſcence in thought ſinne.

RHEM. 7 15. Not that which I will.) He meaneth not, that he can do no good that he willeth or deſireth, or that he is euer forced to doe that which his will agreeth not vnto: but that by reaſon of the forcibleneſſe of concupiſcence, whereof hee cannot rid himſelfe during life, he cannot accompliſh all the deſires of his ſpirit and minde, according as hee ſaith to the Galatians, The fleſh coueteth againſt the ſpirit, and the ſpirit againſt the fleſh, that not whatſoeuer you will, you can doe. Concupiſcence taketh not away freewill, c. 5, 17.

FVLKE 7 Concupiſcence ſheweth that the will euen of the beſt, is not altogether free from the captiuitie and bondage of ſinne, although in the regenerate, it hath ſome freedome and ſtrength againſt ſinne, which it hath not at all in them that be not regenerate. Freewill.

RHEM. 8 Bel. Aſſiſtens m. 19. Not the good which I will.) So may the iuſt alſo bee forced by the rage of concupiſcence or ſenſuall appetite, to doe or ſuffer many things in his inferiour part or externall members, which his will conſenteth not vnto. And ſo long it is ſo farre from ſinne, that (as S. Auguſtine ſaith) he neede neuer ſay to God, forgiue vs our ſinnes, for the ſame. for, ſinne is voluntarie, and ſo be not theſe paſſions. Sinne is voluntary, and otherwiſe it is no ſinne.

FVLKE. 8 There can be no force or rage of concupiſcence in the inferiour part, but the will of the outward man conſenteth vnto it, although the will of the inward man do reſiſt it. For the deſires of the fleſh are contrary to the deſires of the ſpirit, and the will of the one, to the will of the other. Therefore the Apoſtle ſaith not only, I doe not that good which I will, but I doe that euill which I will not. S. Auguſtine ſpeaketh not of ſuch inforcement, or rage of concupiſcence, but of the diſeaſe of originall ſinne, if we did neuer giue conſent vnto it. Incipit autem homo &c. A man beginneth to be renued, according to grace in the inward man, that with his mind he doth that which he loueth, neither conſenteth to the fleſh, doing that which he hateth, that is not ſo, that he doth not couet at all, but that goeth not after his concupiſcence, which truely is ſo great a maſter, that if it were brought to paſſe altogether, although the deſires of ſinne bee in vs, while we be in this mortall body, yet if we did giue conſent to none of them, there ſhould not be whereof we ſhould ſay to our father which is in heauen, forgiue vs our debts. You ſee hee ſaith not, that a iuſt man neede neuer ſay to God for theſe motions, forgiue vs our ſinnes, but if any man were throughly renewed, ſo that he neuer conſented to the deſires of ſinne, but were as Adam was in paradiſe before he fell, he had no debts to be forgiuen. But ſeeing renouation is not perfect, and we giue often conſent, though ſometime we haue the victory: it followeth of his words, that we haue neede dayly to deſire pardon, euen of thoſe ſinfull deſires: which though they bee not ſo voluntary as other ſinnes, whereunto we giue conſent, yet are they voluntarie in the originall, becauſe originall ſinne in Adam was voluntary. Aug. Ret. lib. 1. cap. 13 & 15. Freewill. First motions to euill.

RHEM. 9 19. Which I will not.) It maketh not any thing againſt freewill that the Apoſtle ſaith, that good men doe or ſuffer ſometimes in their bodies, that which the will agreeth not vnto: but it proueth plainely freewill, becauſe the proper act thereof, that is, to will or nill, to conſent or diſſent, is euer (as you may ſee here) free in it ſelfe: though there may be internall or externall force to ſtay the members of a man, that they obey not in euery act, that which the will commandeth or preſcribeth. And therefore that is neuer imputed to man which he doth in his externall or internall faculties, when will concurreth not. Yea afterward (ψ. 20.) the Apoſtle ſaith, Non ego operor, man doth not that which is not done by his will: which doth moſt euidently proue freewill.

FVLKE. 9 The will of man is alwayes free from force or conſtraint, but not from thraldome or bondage of ſinne, as this place manifeſtly declareth, that it is not perfectly ſet at libertie, no not in the regenerate. That thoſe things which are done without the conſent of the inward man, are not imputed, it is true, but that is to be vnderſtoode onely of the regenerate, in whom there is a newe man borne of the ſpirit of God. not generally of all men. Freewill.

RHEM. 10 25. With the minde, with the fleſh.) Nothing done by concupiſcence (which the Apoſtle here calleth ſinne) whereunto the ſpirit, reaſon, or mind of man conſenteth not, can make him guilty before God, neither can the motions of the fleſh in a iuſt man euer any whit defile the operations of his ſpirit, as the Lutherans doe hold: but make them often more meritorious, for the continuall combat that he hath with them. for it is plaine that the operations of the fleſh and of the ſpirit doe not concurre together to make one act, as they imagine: the Apoſtle concluding cleane contrary, That in minde he ſerueth the Law of God, in fleſh the lawe of ſinne, that is to ſay, concupiſcence. Concupiſcence defileth not a iuſt mans actions as the Lutherans ſay.

Nothing

FVLKE. 10 Nothing done by infirmitie of concupiscence, without consent of the inward man, can make the regenerate man guilty before God, because the grace of God in Iesus Christ doth discharge him in Gods sight: without the which he were a miserable and vnhappy man (as the Apostle confesseth of himselfe) and therefore guilty in Gods sight. So likewise they defile the operations of a iust man which are according to the spirit, because they hinder them from such perfection, as Gods iustice requireth, whereby we ought to loue God with all our heart, and our neighbour as our selues, which by meanes of concupiscence we cannot. For though the operations of the flesh and the spirit, doe not alwayes concurre in one act, yet doe the operations of the flesh alway hinder the operation of the spirit from perfection. And therefore it is so farre off, that they make the workes of the spirit meritorious, that for want of perfection alwayes, and most often with intermedling corruption, they make them vnable to stand before Gods iustice, if he should not in mercie behold them. Concupiscence sinne. Merite.

CHAP. VIII.

RHEM. 1 That now after Baptisme we are no more in state of damnation, because by the grace which we haue receiued, wee are able to fulfill the Law: vnlesse we doe wilfully giue the dominion againe to concupiscence. 18 Then (because of the persecutions that then were) he comforteth and exhorteth them with many reasons.

FVLKE. 1 The Apostle speaketh not of the state of all men after Baptisme, but onely of the iustified and regenerate, who are able to keepe the law in part, but not perfectly.

THere is now therefore no damnation to them that are in Christ IESVS: that walke not according to the flesh.

2 For the law of the spirit of life in Christ IESVS, hath deliuered mee from the law of sinne and of death.

3 For that which was impossible to the Lawe, in that it was weakened by the flesh: God sending his sonne in the similitude of the flesh of sinne, euen of sinne damned sinne in the flesh,

4 That ‡the iustification of the law might be fulfilled in vs, who walke not according to the flesh, but according to the spirit.

5 For they that are according to the flesh, are affected to the things that are of the flesh, but they that are according to the spirit: are affected to the things that are of the spirit.

6 For the wisdom of the flesh, is death: but the wisdome of the spirit, life and peace.

7 Because the wisedome of the flesh is ‖an enemie to God: for to the lawe of God it is not subiect, neither can it be.

8 And they that are in the flesh, cannot please God.

9 But you are not in the flesh, but in the spirit, yet if the Spirit of God dwell in you. But if any man haue not the Spirit of Christ, the same is not his.

10 But if Christ bee in you: the bodie in deede is dead because of sinne, but the spirit liueth because of iustification.

11 And if the Spirit of him that raised vp IESVS from the dead, dwell in you: hee that raised vp IESVS CHRIST from the dead, shall quicken also your mortall bodies, because of his Spirit dwelling in you.

12 ‘Therefore brethren, we are detters: not to the flesh, to liue according to the flesh.

13 For if you liue according to the flesh, you shall die. but if by the spirit, you mortifie the deedes of the flesh, you shall liue.

14 For whosoeuer ‡are led by the spirit of God, they are the sonnes of God.

15 For *you haue not receiued the spirit of seruitude againe in feare: but you haue receiued the spirit of adoption of sonnes, wherein

THere is then no damnation to them which are in Christ Iesu, which walke not after the flesh, but after the spirit.

2 For the law of the spirit of life, through Iesus Christ, hath made mee free from the lawe of sinne and death.

3 For what the law could not do, in as much as it was weake through the flesh, God hauing sent his owne Sonne in the similitude of sinfull flesh, euen by sinne, condemned sinne in the flesh:

4 That the righteousnesse of the law might be fulfilled in vs, which walke not after the flesh, but after the spirit.

5 For they that are carnal, are carnally minded: but they that are spirituall, are spiritually minded.

6 To be carnally minded, is death: but to be spiritually minded, is life and peace:

7 Because that the fleshly mind is enimitie against God: for it is not obedient to the lawe of God, neither can be.

8 So then, they that are in the flesh, cannot please God.

9 But ye are not in the flesh, but in the spirit, if so be that the Spirit of God dwell in you. If any man haue not the Spirit of Christ, the same is none of his.

10 And if Christ be in you, the body is dead because of sinne: but the spirit is life for righteousnesse sake.

11 But if the spirit of him that raised vp Iesus from the dead, dwell in you: euen he that raised vp Christ from the dead, shall also quicken your mortall bodies, because that his spirit dwelleth in you.

12 Therefore brethren we are detters, not to the flesh, to liue after the flesh.

13 For if ye liue after the flesh, yee shall die: but if ye through the spirit, doe mortifie the deeds of the bodie, ye shall liue.

14 For as many as are led by the spirit of God, they are the sonnes of God.

15 For ye haue not receiued the spirit of bondage againe to feare: but yee haue receiued the spirit wherein we crie: Abba, (father.)

‖ enimitie.

16 For ‖ the Spirit himselfe, giueth testimony to our spirit, ỳ we are ỳ sonnes of God.

17 And if sonnes, heires also: heires truely of God, and coheires of Christ: ☞ Yet if we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified with him.

18 For I thinke that the passions of this time are not ‖ condigne to the glory to come that shall be reuealed in vs.

19 For the expectation of the creature, expecteth the reuelation of the sonnes of God,

20 For the creature is made subiect to vanity, not willing, but for him that made it subiect in hope:

21 Because the creature also it selfe shall be deliuered from the seruitude of corruption, into the libertie of the glory of the children of God.

22 For we know that euery creature groneth, and trauaileth euen till now.

23 And not only it, but we also our selues hauing the first fruits of the spirit, wee also grone within our selues, expecting the adoption of the sonnes of God, the redemption of our body. ☜

24 For ‖ by hope we are saued. But hope that is seen, is not hope. for that which a man seeth, wherefore doth he hope it?

25 But if we hope for that which wee see not: we expect by patience.

26 And in like maner also the Spirit helpeth our infirmitie. For, what we should pray as we ought, wee know not: but the Spirit himselfe requesteth for vs with gronings vnspeakeable.

27 And he that searcheth the harts, knoweth what ‖ the Spirit desireth: because according to God he requesteth for the saints.

28 And we know that to them that loue God, all things cooperate vnto good, to such as according to purpose are called to bee saints.

29 For whom hee hath foreknowen, hee hath also predestinated to bee made conformable to the image of his sonne: that hee might be the first-borne in many brethren.

30 And ‖ whom he hath predestinated: thē also he hath called. & whom he hath called: them also hee hath iustified. and whom hee hath iustified: them also hath he glorified.

31 What shal we then say to these things? If God be for vs, who is against vs?

32 He that spared not also his own sonne, but for vs al deliuered him: how hath he not also with him giuen vs all things?

33 Who shall accuse against the elect of God? God that iustifieth.

34 Who is he that shall cōdemne? Christ IESVS that died, yea that is risen also againe, who is on the right hand of God, who also maketh intercession for vs.

35 Who spirit of adoption, whereby we crie, Abba, father.

16 The spirit it selfe beareth witnesse to our spirit, that we are the sonnes of God.

17 If we be sonnes, then are we also heires, the heires of God, and ioint heires with Christ: so that we suffer together, that wee may be also glorified together.

18 For I am certainely perswaded, that the afflictions of this time, are not worthy of the glory which shall be shewed vpon vs.

19 For the earnest expectation of the creature abideth, looking when the sonnes of God shall appeare:

20 Because the creature is subiect to vanity, not willing, but for him which hath subdued the same in hope.

21 For the creature it selfe shall be made free from the bondage of corruption, into the glorious libertie of the sonnes of God.

22 For we know that euery creature groneth with vs also, and trauaileth in paine with vs, euen vnto this time.

23 Not onely they, but wee also which haue the first fruits of the spirit, and wee our selues mourne in our selues, waiting for the adoption, euen the deliuerance of our bodie.

24 For we are saued by hope: But hope that is seene, is no hope. For how can a man hope for that which he seeth?

25 But and if we hope for that wee see not, then doe we with patience abide for it.

26 Likewise, the spirit also helpeth our infirmities. For wee knowe not what to desire as wee ought: but the spirit it selfe maketh great intercession for vs, with gronings, which cannot be expressed.

27 And he that searcheth the hearts, knoweth what is the meaning of the spirit: for he maketh intercession for the saints, according to the pleasure of God.

28 For we know that all things worke for the best, vnto them that loue God, to them which also are called of purpose.

29 For those which hee knew before, hee also did predestinate, that they should be like fashioned vnto the shape of his sonne, that hee might be the first begotten among many brethren.

30 Moreouer, whom hee did predestinate, them also hee called: and whom he called, them also he iustified: and whom he iustified, them also he glorified.

31 What shall we then say to these things? If God be on our side, who can be against vs?

32 Which spared not his owne Sonne, but gaue him for vs all: how shall he not with him also giue vs all things?

33 Who shall lay any thing to the charge of Gods chosen? It is God that iustifieth:

34 Who is he that condemneth? It is Christ which died, yea rather which is raised againe, which is also on the right hand of God, and maketh intercession for vs.

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. VIII.

RHEM. 2 4. The iustification.) This conuinceth against the Churches aduersaries, that the law, that is, Gods commandements may be kept, and that the keeping thereof is iustice, and that in Christian men which is fulfilled by Christs grace which by the force of the Law could neuer be fulfilled.

FVLKE. 2 The Apostle saith not that the iustice of the Law is fulfilled by vs, but in vs by Christ, which is made iustice vnto vs, which by faith are in Christ Iesus. And that inherent iustice which is begunne in vs by Christ, is a testimonie that we are in Christ, in whom we haue obteined all things needfull vnto our saluation. How is the iustification of the law fulfilled in vs (saith S. Ambrose) but when forgiuenes of all our sinnes is giuen vs, that sinnes being taken away, the iustified man may appeare seruing the Law of God with his minde, In Rom.8. Therefore this place prooueth not that the commandements of the Law may be kept of vs in this state of infirmitie, cleane contrarie to the scope of the Apostle. For the Lawe remaineth still impossible to bee kept, through the weakenes of our flesh. And therefore Christ hath satisfied the Law for vs, not giuing vs ability to keepe it. For then some should be voide of sinne: but if we say we haue no sinne (saith the Apostle) we deceiue our selues, and there is no trueth in vs. 1. Ioan. 1.8. Lex subintrauit vt abundaret peccatum, de quo nemo liberari potest, nisi per agnum Dei qui tollis peccata mundi. De corpore enim mortis huius, non liberum hominis arbitrium, neque legis sanctum, iustum, bonumq; mandatum, sed sola nos liberat gratia Dei per Iesum Christum Dominum nostrum, Lex enim spiritus vitæ &c. Fulg. de incarnat. & gratia. cap. 16.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. VIII.

RHEM. 3 16. The spirit giueth testimonie.) This place maketh not for the Heretikes special faith, or their presumptuous certaintie that euery one of them is in grace: the testimonie of the spirit being nothing els, but the inward good motions, comfort, and contentment, which the children of God do daily feele more and more in their hearts by serving him: by which they haue as it were an attestation of his fauour towards them, whereby the hope of their iustification and saluation is much corroborated and strengthened.

The testimonie of the Spirit.

FVLKE. 3 This place sheweth that Gods children haue euery one the testimony of Gods Spirit, whereby they knowe they are Gods children, therefore in his fauour, and assured of eternall life, which is the inheritance promised to his children. And this is no presumption, but true humilitie, seeing they acknowledge they haue this dignitie, only of his grace without their merits or worthines. Which it is no maruell that Papists know not, because they doe not feele it, but turne it into good motions, comfort and contentment grounded vpon their owne workes: and therefore haue the spirit of seruitude, and not the spirit of adoption. And euen that comfort and contentment that they haue in their seruing God according to mens traditions, is meere vaine and wicked presumption, and no true comfort nor peace of conscience.

Certaintie of saluation.

RHEM. 4 17. Yet if they suffer.) Christs paines or passions haue not so satisfied for all, that Christian men be discharged of their particular suffering or satisfying for ech mans owne part: neither be our paines nothing wooth to the attainement of heauen, because Christ hath done enough, but quite contrary: he was by his passion exalted to the glory of heauen: therfore we by compassion or partaking with him in the like passions, shall atteiue to be fellowes with him in his kingdome.

Notwithstanding Christs satisfaction & passion, yet ours is also required.

FVLKE. 4 Horrible blasphemie against the effect of Christs Passion, who satisfied for all, so that Christian men are discharged of all that they haue deserued to suffer, as due to the iustice of God for punishment of their sinnes. Yet must they suffer willingly to be made conformable, or like to him in suffering as they looke to be in glory. Our suffrings therefore are a condition required to our glorification, not a cause thereof or satisfaction for our sinnes.

Merite.

Satisfaction for sinne.

RHEM. 5 18. Condigne.) Our Aduersaries ground hereon, that the workes or sufferances of this life bee not meritorius or worthy of life euerlasting, where the Apostle saith no such thing, no more then he saith that Christs passions be not meritorious of his glory, which I thinke they dare not much auouch in our Sauiours actions. He expresseth onely, that the very afflictions of their owne nature, which we suffer with or for him, bee but short, momentanie and of no account in comparison of the recompense which we shall haue in heauen, no more in deede were Christs paines of their owne nature, compared to his glory, any whit comparable: yet they were meritorious or worthy of heauen, and so be ours. And therefore to expresse the said comparison, here he saith, I hey are not condigne * to ϋ glory. He saith not, of the glory, as the Heretikes falsly translate: though the Scripture speaketh so also, when it signifieth only a comparison. as Prou.3. in the greeke, Omne pretiosum non est * illa dignum, S. Augustine, illi dignum. S. Hierom, non valet huic comparari, that is, No precious thing is worthy of wisdom, or to be compared with it. See the like Eccle.26,20. Tob.9,2. But when the Apostle wil expresse that they are condigne, worthy or meritorious of the glory, he saith plainely, That our tribulation which presently is momentany and light, worketh aboue measure exceedingly an eternall weight of glory in vs. The value of Christs actions riseth not of the length or greatnes of them in themselues, though so also they passed all mens doings: but of the worthines of the person. And so the value of ours also riseth of the grace of our adoption, which maketh those actions that of their natures be not meritorious nor answerable to the ioyes of heauen in themselues, to be worthy of heauen. And they might as well proue that the works of sinne doe not demerite damnation. for, sinne in deede for the quantity and nature of the worke, is not answerable in pleasure to the paine of hell: but because it hath a departing or an auersion from God, be it neuer so short, it deserueth damnation, because it alwayes proceedeth from the enemie of God, as good workes that be meritorious, proceede from the childe of God.

nor

Whence the merite of workes riseth.

LUKE. 5 What meane you by condigne, but worthy, or comparable in respect of worthines? The glory that shalbe reuealed in Gods children, is a matter of much more excellencie then all their suffrings can deserue to be worthy of: not only in respect of the shortnes of the time in which we suffer or continue in suffring, but also in the greatnes of the reward. And it is marueilous impudencie to denie that the Apostle saith no such thing, when not only the words of the Apostle are so euident, and his purpose so plaine, to comfort and incourage the faithfull in their afflictions, by the excellent worthines of the reward, which is farre aboue the value of the labour. You say that Christs paines were of no accompt of their owne nature compared with his glory, but yet meritorious, and so are ours. What monstrous blasphemie is this? If there were no comparison betweene Christs suffrings, and the glory that he purchased by them, then his sufferings were no satisfaction to Gods iustice, who required a full and perfect recompence, both for our sinnes and for the reward of iustice, which by his Passion he procured for vs. But his Passion being the Passion of the Sonne of God, was a full satisfaction and worthy desert of the glory, which he purchased for vs, and hath giuen to vs. Therefore it is not merited nor deserued by our suffering.

Merite.

Your cauill of worthy to the glory, and worthy of the glory, is but a vaine brable of wordes: for worthy being a relatiue, must haue his correlatiue, whether it be whereof, or whereto he is worthy. And the comparison of inequalitie, is not onely in time, but also in excellencie. But our translation, and this quarell is at large discussed in my defence against Gr. Martine, cap. 9. from the first Section to the seuenth. Wherefore a good argument may be drawen out of this place against the merit of our suffrings, because there must be an equalitie or equall proportion betweene the labour and the reward, where the labour deserueth the reward: but there is no equalitie or equall proportion betweene our suffrings of this life, and the reward of eternall glory: therefore the suffrings of this life do not merit nor deserue the reward of eternall glory. But when the Apostle (say you) wil expresse that they are condigne, worthy, or meritorious of the glory, he saith: that our tribulation which presently is momentany and light, worketh aboue measure exceedingly, an eternall weight of glory in vs. Thus you say, but all the Logike of Rhemes cannot conclude in lawful forme of syllogisme out of this text, that our suffrings are condigne, worthy, or meritorious of that glory. The contrary may well be proued: where there is so great excellencie of the reward aboue the suffrings, there is no equalitie, and consequently no merit of the reward. For condigne, worthy or meritorious, wil neuer be proued out of the verbe, worketh. The tribulations of the godly, are a cause working this reward, as they be the way by which God hath appointed that they must passe to glory, not as condigne, worthy, or meritorious of the glory. A man hath a troublesome way to passe, that he may come to the possession of his inheritance which his father hath giuen him. This iouruney worketh or procureth to him the possession of the inheritance which is farre more worthy then his labour, therefore this trauell is not the cause meritorious of his inheritance. Chrysostome vpon this text, Hom. 14. alleageth this authority of 2. Cor. 4. to beate downe ỹ pride of desert. Quando enim, &c. For when he sheweth that the rewards to come are greater then the labours, he doth both exhort them more, and doth not suffer them to be high minded, and proud as conquerors are, when they haue obteined the reward of Crownes. And in another place he saith: For the momentanie lightnes of our tribulation, doth worke an eternall weight of glory in vs, exceeding measure. S. Ambrose saith, that God being as a good or prodigal giuer, seeketh occasions how he may giue to vs being vnworthy. Theodoret saith vpon this text, The crownes doe excell the battels, the rewards are not compared with the labours, for the labour is small, but great gaine is hoped for. And therefore he called those things that are looked for, not an hire or reward, but glory. The author of the Commentaries in Hieroms name, saith: In this place the Apostle wil set forth the glory to come, that we may more easily tolerate the present afflictions. And in trueth a man could suffer nothing worthy of the heauenly glory, although it were such as our life is now. For whatsoeuer hee should suffer from death, is no more then he deserued before for his sinnes. But now both his sinnes are forgiuen, and then also eternall life, fellowship with the Angels, brightnes of the Sunne, and the rest which we reade to haue bene promised, shalbe performed. Cyrillus apud Oecumenium, saith: He sheweth that the whole is in a maner of grace, because God is more abundant in rewards, neither can we suffer any thing worthy of reward that shalbe, or conferre any thing toward it.

Cauilling.

Thus the ancient fathers gather out of the inequality of the labours vnto the reward, that the labours are not worthy of the reward, and the reward is of the free grace and mercie of God. But the value of our labours (you say) ariseth of the grace of our adoption, which maketh them meritorious. The reward in deede is freely giuen by the grace of our adoption, but that grace maketh not our workes meritorious and worthy of heauen, but freely giueth reward vnto our workes, which they deserue not. For nothing can bee more contrary to grace, then merit or desert. Sinne doth deserue eternall damnation, because it is a transgression of the Law of the eternall God, whether men take any pleasure therein, or no, but eternall life is the free gift of God, for Iesus Christs sake, and not for the merite of our workes, by what fantasie soeuer you goe about to foist it in.

RHEM. 6 24. By hope saued.) That which in other place (he attributeth to faith, is here attributed to hope. for whensoeuer there be many causes of one thing, the holy writers (as matter is ministred, and occasion giuen by the doctrine then handled) sometimes referre it to one of the causes, sometime to another: not by naming one alone, to exclude the other, as our Aduersaries captiously and ignorantly doe argue: but as diuers times and in sundry places to expresse that, which in euery discourse could not, nor needed not to be vttered. In some discourse, faith is to be recommended: in others, charitie: in other, hope: sometimes, almes, mercie: els where, other vertues. One while, Euery one that beleeueth, is borne of God. 1. Io. 5, 1. Another while, Euery one that loueth, is borne of God. 1. Io. 4, 7. Sometimes, faith purifieth mans hart. Act. 15, 9. And another time, Charity remitteth sinnes. 1. Pe. 4, 8. Of faith it is said, The iust liueth by faith. Ro. 1. 17. Of charity, We know that wee are transferred from death to life, because we loue, &c. 1. Io 3, 14.

As sometime faith ouly is named, so els where onely hope, and onely charity, as the cause of our saluation.

LUKE, 6 Iustification, is neuer attributed to hope, but to faith which goeth before hope: and to faith without works, but we are here said to be saued by hope, because our saluation is not in present, but in hope or expectation of that which is promised. Not that by the merite or worthines of hope, we are saued. For hope hath relation to faith by which we are iustified freely, by the grace and mercy of God in Christ. Thereupon S. Augustine saith, Tota spes mea, non nisi magna valdè misericordia tua, &c. My whole hope is nothing, but thy exceeding great mercie, Conf. li. 10. cap. 29. And againe, The only hope of all the godly groning vnder this burden of corruptible flesh, and in the infirmitie of this life is, that we haue an aduocate with the father Iesus Christ the righteous, and hee is the propitiation or exoration for our sinnes. Cons. 2. Ep. Pel. lib. 3. cap. 5. Neither doth the Scripture ascribe our iustification before God, to any thing in vs, but onely to faith. For when it is said, that euery one that beleeueth is borne of God, and euery one that loueth is borne of God, there is no contrarietie, for both faith and loue are the fruits of our regeneration by the spirit of God, yet their offices remaine seuerall and distinct: faith to iustifie vs before God, loue to declare vs to be iustified, or to iustifie declaratiuely. But where it is said, that faith purifieth mans heart, it is neuer said that loue purifieth his heart, no, nor that charity remitteth sinnes, and therfore you falsifie the words of Scripture, which are, 1. Pet. 4. 8. Loue shall couer the multitude of sinnes: which saying declareth the nature of loue, which is to hide the sinnes of our brother, and not to vtter them to his defamation, as is the nature of hatred expressed by Salomon, Prou. 10. 11. out of whom S. Peter boroweth these words. And whereas it is said, The iust shall liue by his faith, It is neuer said the iust shall liue by his charity. But we know by charitie (which is a fruit of that faith by which we are iustified) that we are translated from death to life, as the cause is knowen by his effects.

Iustification by faith only.

RHEM. 7 27. The Spirit desireth.) Arius and Macedonius old Heretikes had their places to contend vpon, against the Churches sense, as our new Masters now haue. They abused this text to prooue the holy Ghost not to be God, because he needeth not to pray or aske, but he might command if he were God. Therefore S. Augustine expoundeth it thus, The Spirit prayeth, that is, causeth and teacheth vs to pray, and what to pray or aske. Aug. de anima & eius orig. li. 4. c. 9. & ep. 121. c. 15. Scripture abused against the Ghost.

FVLKE. 7 A simple quarrel to make vs resemble heretikes, because heretikes abuse the Scripture, vntill you can proue that we abuse the Scripture as they did, and as we proue that you doe, and not only abuse it, but plainly falsifie it, as in the Section next before, to make it serue your heretical purpose. Slander.

RHEM. 8 30. Whom he hath predestinated.) Gods eternall foresight, loue, purpose, predestination and election of his deere children, and in time their calling, iustifying, glorifying by Christ, as all other acts and intentions of his diuine will and prouidence towards their saluation, ought to be reuerenced of all men with dreadful humility, & not to be sought out or disputed on with presumptuous boldnes and audacitie. for it is the gulfe that many proud persons, both in this age and alwayes, haue by Gods iust iudgement perished in, founding thereon most horrible blasphemies against Gods mercie, nature and goodnes, and diuers damnable errors against mans free will, and against all good life & religion. This high conclusion is here set downe for vs, that we may learne to know of whom we ought to depend in all our life, by whom we expect our saluation, by whose prouidence all our graces, gifts, and workes doe stand: by what an euerlasting gracious determination, our redemption, which is in Christ Iesus, was designed: and to giue God incessable thanks for our vocation and preferment to the state we be in, before the Iewes, who deserued no better then they, before the light of his mercie shining vpon vs accepted vs, and reiected them. But this said eminent trueth of Gods eternall predestination standeth (as we are bound to beleeue vnder paine of damnation, whether wee vnderstand how or no) and so S. Augustine in all his diuine works written of the same (De gratia & lib. arb. De corrept. & gratia. Ad articulos falso impositos.) defendeth, declareth, proueth, and conuinceth, that it doth stand (I say) with mans free will and the true libertie of his actions, and forceth no man to be either ill or good, to sinne or vertue, to saluation or damnation, nor taketh away the meanes or nature of merits, and cooperation with God to our owne and other mens saluation. The doctrine of predestination, how to be vnderstood, and why it is reuealed. Gods predestination taketh not away free will.

FVLKE. 8 The eternal predestination of God, excludeth the merits of man, and the power of his will, therby to attaine to eternal life: yet forceth not a mans will to good or ill, but altereth the will of him, that is ordeined to life, from euill to good, and giueth power to chuse that which is good: and all meanes which hee hath appointed vnto saluation. And this is the doctrine of S. Augustine in all his bookes against the Pelagians, wherein he declareth the effect of Gods Predestination: as he that will reade them may easily perceiue. Let one example suffice, to shew how he defendeth, proueth, &c. that mans free wil standeth, speaking of the reprobate, which are iustly condemned either for originall sinne onely, or also for other sinnes which they haue added by freewill, Arbitrium inquam liberum, sed non liberatum, liberum iustitia, peccati autem seruum. I say freewill, but not made free, free from iustice, but slaue of sinne. De corrept. & gratia, cap. 13. Merits. Freewill.

RHEM. 9 31. I am sure.) This speach is common in S. Paul according to the latin translation, when hee had no other assured knowledge but by hope: as Ro. 15, 14. 2. Tim. 1, 5. Heb. 6, 9: Where the Greeke word signifieth onely a probable perswasion. And therefore except he meane of himselfe by special reuelation, or of the predestinate in generall, (in which two cases it may stand for the certitude of faith or infallible knowledge) otherwise that euery particular man should be assured infallibly that himselfe should be iustified, and not that onely, but sure also neuer to sinne, or to haue the gift of perseuerance, and certaine knowledge of his predestination: that is a most damnable false illusion and presumption, condemned by the Fathers of the holy Councel of Trent. Sess. 6. c. 9. 12, 13. Plenitudo. Confid. Rhem. 3. 9. ad Alleg. No sinne ordinarily is pardoned without Gods iustification, but only in hope. Certainty of Gods promises.

FVLKE. 9 The knowledge that we haue by hope grounded vpon Gods promises is so sure, that it cannot be deceiued, as it is plaine, Rom. 5, 5. The perswasion that the Apostle hath in other places, is also grounded vpon good Arguments: but here, vpon the immutable decree of God. And it is a good reason to proue that euery Christian man which is endued with faith and hope, may and ought to be infallibly assured, that hee is iustified and shalbe saued, because the word of God and his promise to all that beleeue in him, (and in faith call vpon him) cannot faile, but be most infallibly true. But that any man can bee sure neuer to sinne, it is deuilish and false presumption. For we haue no promise that we shall be preserued from all sinne, but onely from that which is irremissible. But that we shal alwaies persteuere in the fauour of God, and so consequently that we are predestinated to eternall life, the Apostle doth most plainely proue in this Chapter: wherefore by the spirit of adoption, and the effects of Gods grace agreeable, we may haue certaine knowledge that wee shall inherite Gods kingdome, which none shall doe, but they that continue vnto the ende, and were appointed vnto it before the beginning of this world. And this is true humilitie, when we presume nothing on our owne strength or worthinesse, but depend wholy vpon the trueth of Gods promises, wherefore it was a damnable presumption of the Popish Prelates of Trent, to condemne that for a false illusion, which the word of Trueth doth so manifestly leade vs vnto, and by all meanes perswade vs to acknowledge.

CHAP. IX.

With a protestation of his sorow for it (lest they should thinke him to reioice in their perdition) he insinuateth the Iewes to be reprobate, although they come of Abrahams flesh, 6 saying to be the sonnes of God, goeth not by that, but by Gods grace: 19 considering that all were one damned masse. 24 By which grace the Gentiles to be made his people: and so the Prophets to haue foretold of them both. 30 And the cause hereof to bee, that the Gentiles submit themselues to the faith of Christ, which the Iewes will not.

I Speake the veritie in Christ, I lie not, my conscience bearing me witnes in the holy Ghost,

2 That I haue great sadnesse and continuall sorow in my heart.

3 For I wished, my selfe to bee an ‖ anathema

I Say the trueth in Christ, I lie not (my conscience also bearing mee witnesse by the Holy Ghost) 1. Cor. 15.

2 That I haue great heauines, and continuall sorow in my heart.

3 For I haue wished my selfe to bee cursed from thema from Christ for my brethren, who are my kinsmen according to the flesh,

4 Who are Israelites, whose is the adoption of sonnes, and the glory, and the testament, and the law giuing, and ᶜ the seruice, and the promises:

5 Whose are the fathers, and of whom Christ is according to the flesh, who is aboue all things God blessed for euer. Amen.

6 But not that the worde of God is frustrate. For, ‖ not all that are of Israël, they be Israëlites:

7 Nor they that are the seede of Abraham, all bee children: ‖ but in Isaac shall the seede be called vnto thee:

8 That is to say, not they that are the children of the flesh, they are the children of God: but they that are the children of the promise, are esteemed for the seede.

9 For the worde of the promise is this, According to this time will I come: and Sara shall haue a sonne.

10 And not onely she, but * Rebecca also conceiuing ‖ of one copulation, of Isaac our father.

11 For when they were ‖ not yet borne, nor had done any good or euil (ẏ the purpose of God according to election might stand)

12 Not of workes, but of the caller it was said to her: That the elder shal serue the yonger.

13 As it is written, * Iacob I loued, but Esau I hated.

14 What shall we say then? ‖ Is there iniquitie with God? God forbid.

15 For to Moyses he saith, * I wil haue mercie: on whom I haue mercie, and I wil shew mercie to whom I will shew mercie.

16 Therefore it is ‖ not of the willer, nor the runner, but of God that sheweth mercie.

17 For the Scripture saith to Pharao: That ‖ to this very purpose haue I raised thee, that in thee I may shewe my power: and that my name may be renowmed in the whole earth.

18 Therefore on whom he will, hee hath mercie: and whom hee will, hee doth indurate.

19 Thou sayest therefore vnto me: Why doth he yet complaine? for who resisteth his will?

20 O man, ‖ who art thou that doest answere God? Doth the worke say to him that wrought it: Why hast thou made me thus?

21 Or hath not ‖ the potter of clay power, of the same masse to make one vessell vnto honour, and an other vnto contumelie?

22 And if God willing to shewe wrath, and to make his might knowen, ‡ susteined in much patience the vessels of wrath apt to destruction, 23 That hee might shew the riches of his glory vpon the vessels of mercie which hee prepared vnto glory.

24 Whom from Christ. for my brethren, my kinsmen as pertaineth to the flesh,

4 Which are the Israelites: to whom pertaineth the adoption, and the glory, and the conenants, and the Law that was giuen, and the seruice of God, and the promises:

5 Of whom are the fathers, and of whom as concerning the flesh Christ came which is God, in all things to be praised for euer, Amen.

6 And it cannot bee, that the word of God hath taken none effect. For they are not all Israelites, which are of Israel:

7 Neither are they all children, that are the seed of Abraham: but in Isahac shall thy seed be called.

8 That is to say, They which are the children of the flesh, these are not the children of God: but they which be the children of promise, are counted the seede.

9 For this is the worde of promise, * About this time will I come, and Sara shall haue a sonne. Gen.18.10.

10 Not onely this, but also * Rebecca was with child by one, euen by our father Isahac. Gen 25.21.

11 For before the childrē were borne, when they had neither done good, neither bad (that the purpose of God by election might stand: not by reason of workes, but by the caller)

12 It was said vnto her, The elder shall serue the yonger.

13 As it is written, Iacob haue I loued, but Esau haue I hated.

14 What shall we say then? is there any vnrighteousnesse with God? God forbid.

15 For he saith to Moses, I will shew mercie, to whomsoeuer I shewe mercie: and will haue compassion on whomsoeuer I haue compassion.

16 So then election is not of the willer, nor of the runner: but of God that taketh mercie.

17 For the scripture saith vnto Pharao, * Euen for the same purpose haue I stirred thee vp, that I might shewe my power in thee, and that my name might bee declared throughout all the world. Exod.9.16.

18 So hath he mercie on whom hee will, and whom he will he hardeneth.

19 Thou wilt say then vnto mee, Why then blameth hee vs yet? For who hath resisted his will?

20 But O man, what art thou which disputest with God? * Shall the worke say to the workeman, Why hast thou made me on this fashion? Esay 45.9.

21 * Hath not the Potter power ouer the clay, euen of the same lumpe to make one vessell vnto honour, and another vnto dishonour? Wis.15.7. iere.18.6.

22 What if God, willing to shew his wrath, and to make his power knowen, suffered with long patience the vessels of wrath ordained to destruction,

23 To declare the riches of his glory on the vessels of mercie, which hee had prepared vnto glory?

24 Whom also he hath called, vs, not only of the Iewes, but also of the Gentiles,

Os.2,23. 25 As in Osee he saith, I wil call that which is not my people, my people: and her that was not beloued beloued: and her that hath not obteined mercie, hauing obtained mercie.

Os.1,10. 26 And it shalbe, in the place where it was said to them, you are not my people: there they shal be called the sonnes of the liuing God.

Es.10,22. 27 And Esay crieth for Israel, If the number of the children of Israel be as the sand of the sea, the remaines shall be saued.

28 For, consummating a word, and abbridging it in equity: because a word abbridged shal our Lord make vpon the earth.

Es.1,9. 29 And as Esay foretolde, Vnlesse the Lord of Sabboth had left vs seede: we had bene made like Sodom, and wee had bene like as Gomorrha.

30 What shal we say then? That the Gentiles which pursued not after iustice, haue apprehended iustice, but the iustice that is of faith.

31 But Israel in pursuing the lawe of iustice, is not come vnto the law of iustice.

32 Why so? Because not of faith, but as it were of workes. for e they haue stumbled at the stone of stumbling.

e Here wee see that they are the cause of their owne damnation by infidelitie. Es.8,14. 28,16.

33 As it is written, Beholde, I put in Sion a stone of stumbling, and a rocke of scandal: and whosoeuer beleeueth in him shall not bee confounded.

24 Whom also he called, I meane vs, not of the Iewes onely, but also of the Gentiles.

25 As he saith also in Osee, * I wil call them my people, which were not my people: and her beloued, which was not beloued. Osee 2,23. 1 per.2,10.

26 * And it shall come to passe, that in the place where it was sayd vnto them, Ye are not my people, there shall they bee called the children of the liuing God. Osee 1,10.

27 And Esaias crieth concerning Israel, * Though the number of the children of Israel be as the sand of the sea, yet but a remnant shall be saued. Esa.10,22.

28 For he finisheth the worde, and maketh it short in righteousnesse: for a short word will the Lord make on earth.

29 And as Esaias said before, Except the Lord of the Sabboth had left vs seede, wee had bene made as Sodoma, and had bene likened to Gomorrha.

30 What shal we say then? That the Gentiles which followed not righteousnesse, haue obtained righteousnesse: euen the righteousnesse which commeth of faith.

31 But Israel which followed the law of righteousnes, hath not atteined to the lawe of righteousnesse.

32 Wherefore? Because they sought it not by faith, but as it were by the workes of the lawe: For they haue stumbled at the stumbling stone.

33 As it is written, Beholde, I put in Sion a stumbling stone, and a rocke of offence, and whosoeuer beleeueth on him, shall not bee confounded. Esa.8,14. 28,16.

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. IX.

RHEM. 1 22. Sustained.) That God is not the cause of any mans reprobation or damnation, otherwise then for punishment of his sinnes, he sheweth by that he expecteth all mens amendment with great patience, and consequently that they haue also free will.

FVLKE. 1 God reprobateth iustly whom he will, and condemneth the reprobate iustly for sinne, but hereof it followeth not, that the reprobate haue their will free, but from coaction, for to sinne it is thrall, and slaue, as S. Augustine saith. De cor. & gr. cap. 13.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. IX.

RHEM. 1. Anathema.) Anathema, by vse of Scripture is either that which by separation from prophane vse, and by dedication to God, is holy, dreadfull, and not vulgarly to be touched: or contrariwise, that which is reiected, seuered, or abandoned from God as cursed and detested, and therefore is to be auoided. And in this later sense (according as S. Paul taketh it 1.Cor.16. If any loue not our Lord Iesus Christ, be he Anathema, that is to say, Away with him, Accursed be he, Beware you accompany not with him) the Church and holy Councels vse the word for a curse and excommunication against Heretikes and other notorious offenders, and blasphemers. Now how the Apostle, wishing himselfe to bee Anathema from Christ to saue his Countrey men soules, did take this word, it is a very hard thing to determine. Some thinke, he desired onely to die for their saluation. Others, that being very loth to bee kept from the fruition of Christ, yet he could be content to be so still for to saue their soules. Others, he wished what malediction or separation from Christ soeuer that did not imploy the disfauour of God towards him, nor take away his loue towards God. This only is certaine, that it is a point of vnspeakable charity in the Apostles brest, and a paterne to all Bishops and Priests, how to loue the saluation of their flocke. As the like was vttered by Moyses when he sayd, Either forgiue this people, or blot me out of thy booke. Anathema. In what sense Paul wished to be Anathema. Exod.32.

6. Not all of Israel.) Though the people of the Iewes were many wayes honored and priuiledged, and namely by Christs taking flesh of them: yet the promise of grace and saluation was neither onely made to them, nor to all them that carnally came of them or their fathers: Gods election and mercie depending vpon his owne purpose, will, and determination, and not tied to any nation, family, or person. Gods promise not made to carnall Israel.

7. But in Isaac.) The promise made to Abraham was not in Ismael, who was a sonne borne only by flesh and nature: but in Isaac, who was a sonne obtained by promise, faith, and miracle: and was a figure of the Churches children borne to God in Baptisme. Isaac preferred before Ismael.

10. Of one copulation.) It is proued also by Gods choosing of Iacob before Esau (who were not only brethren by father and mother, but also twinnes, and Esau the elder of the two, which according to carnall count should haue had the preeminence) that God in giuing graces followeth not the temporall or carnall prerogatiues of men or families. Iacob before Esau.

11. Not

RHEM. 2 11. Not yet borne.) By the same example of those twinnes, it is evident also, that neither nations nor particuler persons be elected eternally, or called temporally, or preferred to Gods favour before others, by their owne merites: because God, when he made choise, and first loued Iacob, and refused Esau, respected them both as il, and the one no lesse then the other guilty of damnation for original sinne, which was a like in them both. And therefore where iustly he might haue reprobated both, hee shewed of mercie one. Which one therefore, being as il and as void of good as the other, must hold of Gods eternal purpose, mercie, and election, that he was preferred before his brother which was elder then him selfe, and no worse then him selfe. And his brother Esau on the other side hath no cause to complaine, for that God neither did nor suffered any thing to be done towards him, that his sinne did not deserue. for although God elect eternally and giue his first grace without al merites, yet he doth not reprobate or hate any man but for sinne, or the foresight thereof.

By the example of Iacob and Esau is shewed Gods mere mercie in the elect, and iustice in the reprobate.

FVLKE. 2 Gods election and reprobation is most free, of his owne will, not vpon the foresight of the merites, of either of them, for he hath mercie on whom he wil, and he hardeneth whom hee will verse 18. Yet hee condemneth none, but for sinne, either original onely, or els both original and actuall.

Merites.

RHEM. 14. Is their iniquitie?) Vpon the former discourse that of two persons equal, God calleth the one to mercy, and leaueth the other in his sinne, one might inferre that God were vniust and an accepter of persons. To which the Apostle answereth, that God were not iust nor indifferent in deede, so to vse the matter where grace or saluation were due. As if two men being Christened, both beleeue well, and liue wel: if God should giue heauen to the one, and should damne the other, then were he vniust, partial, and forgetful of his promisses: but respecting or taking two, who both be worthy of damnation (as all are before they be first called to mercy) then the matter standeth on mere mercie, and of the giuers will and liberalitie, in which case partialitie hath no place. As for example.

That God is not vniust, or an accepter of persons, is declared by familiar examples. S. Augustines example is of two debters: the one forgiuen all, and the other put to pay al, by the same creditor. Li. de prædest. & gra. cap. 4.

1 Two malefactors being condemned both for one crime, the Prince pardoneth the one and lesteth the law proceed on the other.

2 The theefe that is pardoned, can not attribute his escape to his owne deseruing, but to the Princes mercie.

3 The theefe that is executed, cannot chalenge the Prince that he was not pardoned also: but must acknowledge that he hath his deseruing.

4 The standers by, must not say, that hee was executed because the Prince would not pardon him. for that was not the cause, but his offense.

5 If they aske further, why the Prince pardoned not both, or executed not both: the answere is, that as mercie is a goodly vertue, so iustice is necessary and commendable.

6 But if it bee further demaunded why Iohn rather then Thomas was executed: or Thomas rather then Iohn pardoned: answere, that (the parties being otherwise equal) it hangeth merely and wholy vpon the Princes will and pleasure.

1 So likewise, God seeing all mankinde and euery one of the same in a generall condemnation, and masse of sinne, in and by Adam, deliuereth some, and not other some.

2 All that bee deliuered out of that common damnation, be deliuered by grace and pardon, through the meanes and merits of Christ.

3 Such as be left in the common case of damnation, cannot complaine, because they haue their deseruing for sinne.

4 We may not say that such be damned, because God did not pardon them, but because they had sinne, and therefore deserued it.

5 That some should be damned, and not al pardoned, and other some pardoned rather then al condemned, is agreeable to Gods iustice and mercie: both which vertues in Gods prouidence towards vs are recommended.

6 That Saul should be rather pardoned then Caiphas (I meane where two be equally euil and vndeseruing) that is onely Gods holy will and appointment, by which many an vnworthy man getteth pardon, but no good or iust or innocent person is euer damned.

RHEM. 3 In all this mercy of God towards some, and iustice towards other some, both the pardoned worke by their owne free wil, and thereby deserue their saluation: and the other no lesse, by their owne free will, without all necessity, worke wickednes, and them selues and only of them selues procure their owne damnation. Therefore no man may without blasphemie say, or can truely say, that he hath nothing to doe towards his owne saluation, but will liue, and thinketh hee may liue without care or cogitation of his end the one way or the other, saying, If I be appointed to be saued, be it so: if I be one designed to damnation, I cannot helpe the matter: come what come may. All these speaches and cogitations are sinfull and come of the enemie, and bee rather signes of reprobation, then of election. Therefore the good man must without search of Gods secrets, worke his owne saluation and (as S. Peter saith) make his election sure by good workes, with continuall hope of Gods mercie, being assured that if he beleeue well and doe well, he shall haue well. for example, if a husbandman should say, If God will, I shall haue corne ynough: if not, I cannot make it, and so neglect to till his ground: he may be sure that he shall haue none, because hee wrought not for it. An other man vseth his diligence in tilling and ploughing, and committeth the rest to God, he findeth the fruite of his labours.

Predestination and reprobation take not away freewil, neither must any man be retchlesse and desperate.

2. Pet. 1. 10.

FVLKE. 3 The elect worke willingly, toward their saluation, their wil by grace being made free in part, from the slauery of sinne, whereunto all are subiect by Adams fall, but they do not thereby deserue their saluation. For saluation dependeth vpon their election, which you confesse to be without all respect of merits, or workes done or foreseene, as S. Augustine sheweth most plainely. Epist. 105. ad Sixtum. Yet they must worke their saluation, walking in that way by Gods grace, which he hath appointed, for al them that attaine to saluation. And they must make sure their election, vnto themselues (which is most sure in Gods knowledge) by good workes which proceeding of faith, are the vndoubted fruits of Gods election.

Freewil. Grace. Merits.

RHEM. 4 16. Not of the willer.) If our election, calling, or first comming to God, lay wholy or principally vpon our owne wil or workes: or if our willing or endeauouring to be good, would serue without the helpe and grace of God, as the Pelagians taught, then our election were wholy in our selues, which the Apostle denieth. and then might Pharao and other indurate persons (whom God hath permitted to be obstinate, to shew his power and iust iudgement vpon them) bee conuerted when them selues list, without Gods helpe and assistance: whereas we see the contrary in all such obstinate offenders, whom God for punishment of former sinnes, visiteth not with his grace, that by no threates, miracles, nor persuasion, they can be conuerted. Whereupon we may not with Heretikes inferre, that man hath not free will, or that our will worketh nothing in our conuersion or comming to God: but this onely, that our willing or working of any good to our saluation, commeth of Gods speciall motion, grace, and assistance, and that it is the secondary cause, not the principall.

Our election or conuersion is not of our selues, but of Gods grace and mercie.

FVLKE. 4 Our election, calling, and first comming to God, lyeth wholy in Gods mercy, and not either wholy, or principally, or any thing at all in our owne wil or workes. But whom God elected before time, he calleth in time by him appointed, and of vnwilling, by his grace maketh them willing, to come to him: and to walke in good workes, vnto which he hath elected them. So that man hath no freewill, vntill it be freed, mans will worketh nothing in our conuersion vntill it be conuerted, man hath no power to change his will vnto better, except it be giuen of God. *August. retract lib. 1. cap. 22. Est liberum non tamen bonum, est liberum non tamen sanum, est liberum non tamen iustum. Et quanto magis à bonitate retitudine, sanitate, iustitiáque liberum, tanto magis malitiæ, peruersitatis, infirmitatis atque iniquitatis mortifera seruitute captiuum. RHEM. 5 17. To this purpose haue I raised.) He doth not say, that he hath of purpose raised or set him vp to sinne, or that he was the cause of the same in Pharao, or that he intended his damnation directly or absolutely, or any otherwise but in respect of his demerits: but rather (as the Apostle saith straight after in this chapter of such hardened and obstinate offenders) that he with long patience and tolleration expected his conuersion, and (as S. Chrysostome interpreteth this word, Excitaui) preserued him aliue to repent, whom he might iustly haue condemned before. In the 9. of Exodus, whence this allegation is, we reade, Posui te, I haue put or set thee vp, as here, I haue raised thee, that is to say, I haue purposely aduanced thee to be so great a King, and chosen thee out to be a notorious example both of the obdurate obstinacie that is in such whom I haue for so great sinnes forsaken, and also to shew to the world, that no obstinacie of neuer so mighty offenders can resist me to doe any thing which shal not fal to my glory. Which is no more to say, but that God often for the punishment of Nations, and to shew his iustice and glory, giueth wicked Princes vnto them, and indueth them with power and al prosperitie, and taking his grace from them vpon their deserts, hardeneth their harts so, as they withstand and contemne God, and afflict his people, in whose end and fall, either temporal or eternal, at the length God wil euer be glorified. Neither would he either raise or suffer any such, or giue them power and prosperitie in this life, whereupon he knoweth they wil be worse, but that hee can worke al that to his honour and glory. mary, that he vseth not such rigorous iustice on al that deserue it, that is his great grace and mercie. And that he exerciseth his iustice vpon some certaine persons, rather then vpon other some of equal deserts, that lieth wholy vpon his wil, in whose iudgements there be many things secret, but nothing vniust. Exod 9,16. In what sense, God raised vp Pharao &c.

FVLKE. 5 The purpose for which God set vp Pharao, is manifest in the text, that in him he might shew his power &c. God made al things for him selfe, euen the wicked man vnto the euil day. Therefore was Pharao, a vessel of wrath ordained to destruction verse 22. His reprobation therefore was for the glory of God, his condemnation most iust, for his obstinate contempt of God and his word. Reprobation.

RHEM. 6 20. Who art thou?) Here the Apostle slayeth the rashnes and presumption of such poore wormes, as take vpon them to question with God of their election or reprobation: as certaine impious Heretikes of our time haue done, setting out bookes farsed with most blasphemous and erronious doctrine concerning this high and hidden mysterie, and hauing giuen occasion to the ignorant which alwayes be curious to iangle, and perniciously to erre in these things, that are impossible to be vnderstood of any, or wel thought of, but of the obedient and humble. Heretical bookes concerning predestination.

FVLKE. 6 What bookes you meane, farsed with blasphemous and erronious doctrine I know not. But I know diuers bookes of predestination, written by learned men in this time, that open the trueth of this mysterie, as farforth as it is reuciled in the Scriptures, to the glory of God, and great comfort of his children: vpon the same principles for the most part, that you do acknowledge in these notes, wherein you confesse in effect, the substance of the doctrine, though you shew not the most comfortable vse thereof, to the glory of God, and the humbling of all flesh before him, but flie from it, as much as you can, and seeke to obscure it Slander.

RHEM. 7 21. The Potter.) This example of the pot and potter teacheth no farther but to declare, that the creature may not reason with God his maker, why he giueth not one so great grace, as an other, or why he pardoneth not one as wel as another: no more then the chamber pot may chalenge the Potter why he was not made a drinking pot, as wel as an other. And therefore the Heretikes that extend this similitude to proue that man hath no free will no more then a peece of clay, doe vntruely and deceitfully apply the example, specially when we may see expresly in the booke of Exodus, that Pharao notwithstanding his indurate hart, had free will: where both it is said, He would not dismisse the people, and He indurated his owne hart him selfe. Exo. c. 8. 15. and (in the Hebrue) v. 32. &c. 9. 35. 1. Reg. 6. 6. And this Apostle also writeth, that *a man may clense him selfe from the filthy, and so become a vessell of honour in the house of God. The example of pot and the potter. 2. Tim. 2. 21.

FVLKE. 7 I suppose there was neuer man so madde, to say, that a man hath no more freewill, then a peece of clay. But this example teacheth, that Gods election and reprobation dependeth no more of mans will, then the forme which the Potter giueth to the clay, dependeth vpon the will of the clay, which it hath not. Neither had man any more will, before he was. But being now created he hath a wil, free from coaction. And the first man, had wil free from seruitude of sinne, which by sinning he lost, as witnesseth S. Augustine Enchir. ad Lau. cap. 30. For free will, being made captiue, auaileth to nothing but to sinne: but to iustice except it be made free and holpen by God, it auaileth not, cont. duas Ep. Pel. li. 3. cap. 8. There is no doubt therefore but Pharao had his wil free from constraint, but yet slaue to sinne. Neither doeth the Apostle say 2. Tim. 2. 21. that a man may clense himselfe from the filthy, and so become a vessel of honour: but if a man doe or shal clense him selfe, which he cannot do by the strength of freewill, but by the grace of God, conuerting his will and giuing him strength to performe that he willeth. Slander. Freewill.

CHAP. X.

The Lawe was not (as the Iewes ignorant zeale supposed) for them to iustifie themselues by it (considering that they could not fulfil it:) but to bring them to Christ, to beleeue in him, and so for his sake to be iustified by the grace of God: 5 according to Moyses saying, and the Apostles preaching: 11 that so the Gentils also (according to the Prophets) hearing and beleeuing might come to iustice: the Iewes in the meane time (though inexcusably) remaining incredulous.

BRethren, the will of my heart surely and praier to God, is for them, vnto saluation.

2 For I giue them testimony that they haue zeale of God, but not according to knowledge.

3 For, not knowing ‖ the iustice of God and seeking to establish their owne, they haue not bene subiect to the iustice of God.

4 For, ‡ the end of the Law is Christ: vnto iustice to euery one that beleeueth.

5 For Moyses wrote, ‡ that, the iustice which is of the Law, the man that hath done it, shal liue in it.

‡ The Law was not giuen to make a man iust or perfect by it selfe, but to bring vs to Christ to be iustified by him.

6 But

BRethren, my hearts desire and prayer to God for Israel is, that they might be saued.

2 For I beare them record, that they haue a zeale of God; but not according to knowledge.

3 For they being ignorant of Gods righteousnesse, and going about to stablish their owne righteousnesse, haue not bene obedient vnto the righteousnesse of God.

4 For Christ is the end of the Lawe, for righteousnesse to all that beleeue.

5 For Moses writeth of the righteousnesse which is of the Lawe, howe that the man which doth those things, shall liue by them.

6 But

6 But ‖ the iuſtice which is of faith, ſaith thus, Say not in thy hart, who ſhall aſcend into heauen? that is to bring Chriſt downe.

7 Or who deſcendeth into the depth? that is to cal Chriſt againe from the dead.

8 But what ſaith the Scripture? The word is nigh, in thy mouth, and in thy hart. this is the word of faith which we preach.

9 For if thou confeſſe with thy mouth our Lord Ieſus, and in thy hart beleeue that God hath raiſed him vp from the dead, thou ſhalt be ſaued.

10 For with the heart wee beleeue vnto iuſtice: but with the mouth confeſſion is made to ſaluation.

11 For the Scripture ſaith: Whoſoeuer beleeueth in him, ſhall not be confounded.

12 For there is no diſtinction of the Iewe and the Greeke: for one is Lord of al, rich toward al that inuocate him.

13 For euery one ‡ whoſoeuer ſhall inuocate the name of our Lord, ſhal be ſaued.

14 ‖ How then ſhall they inuocate in whom they haue not beleeued? Or how ſhal they beleeue him whome they haue not heard? And how ſhall they heare without a preacher?

15 But how ſhall they preach ‖ vnleſſe they be ſent? as it is written: How beautifull are the feete of them that euangelize peace, of them that euangelize good things?

16 But all ‡ do not obey the Goſpel. For Eſay ſaith, Lord, who hath beleeued the hearing of vs?

17 Faith then, is by hearing: and hearing is by the word of Chriſt.

18 But I ſay, haue they not heard? And certes into all the earth hath the ſound of them gone forth: and vnto the ends of the whole world the wordes of them.

19 But I ſay, hath not Iſrael knowen? Moyſes firſt ſaith, I will bring you to emulation in that which is not a nation: in a fooliſh nation, I will driue you into anger.

20 But Eſay is bold, and ſaith, I was found of them that did not ſeeke me: openly I appeared to them ‖ that asked not of me.

21 But to Iſrael he ſaith, All the day haue I ſpred my handes to a people that beleeueth not, and contradicteth me.

6 But the righteouſnes which is of faith, ſpeaketh on this wiſe: Say not thou in thine heart, Who ſhall aſcend into heauen? that is, to fetch Chriſt downe from aboue.

7 Either who ſhall deſcend into the deepe? that is to fetch vp Chriſt againe from the dead.

8 But what ſaith hee, The word is nigh thee, euen in thy mouth, and in thy heart. The ſame is the word of faith, which we preach.

9 For if thou ſhalt knowledge with thy mouth the Lorde Ieſus, and ſhalt beleeue in thine heart that God raiſed him from the dead, thou ſhalt be ſaued.

10 For with the heart man beleeueth vnto righteouſneſſe, and with the mouth confeſſion is made vnto ſalmation.

11 For the Scripture ſaith, Whoſoeuer beleeueth on him, ſhall not be confounded.

12 There is no difference betweene the Iewe and the Greeke: for the ſame Lorde ouer all, is rich vnto all that call vpon him.

13 For whoſoeuer ſhall call on the Name of the Lord, ſhall be ſaued.

14 How then ſhall they call on him, on whom they haue not beleeued? How ſhall they beleeue on him, of whom they haue not heard? How ſhall they heare without a preacher?

15 And how ſhall they preach, except they be ſent? As it is written, How beautifull are the feete of them which bring good tidings of peace, and bring good tidings of good things?

16 But they haue not all obeyed the Goſpel: for Eſaias ſaith, Lorde, who hath beleeued our ſayings?

17 So then faith commeth by hearing, and hearing commeth by the word of God.

18 But (I aske) haue they not heard? No doubt, their ſounde went out into all landes, and their wordes into the ends of the world.

19 *But I demand whether Iſrael did know, or not? Firſt Moſes ſaith, I will prouoke you to Deut. 32.21.
enuie by them that are no people, and by a fooliſh nation I will anger you.

20 *And Eſaias is bolde, and ſaith, I haue Eſay 65.1.
bene found of them that ſought mee not: I haue bene made manifeſt vnto them that asked not after me.

21 *But againſt Iſrael hee ſaith, * All day long haue I ſtretched out my hands vnto a people* Eſa. 65.12.
that beleeueth not, but ſpeaketh againſt me.

MARGINAL NOTES. CHAP. X.

5. That, the iuſtice.) The iuſtice of the Law of Moyſes went no further of it ſelfe, but to ſaue a man from the temporal death and puniſhments preſcribed to the tranſgreſſors of the ſame.

The iuſtice of the Law of Moſes, if any man could keepe it perfectly, was able to iuſtifie him to eternall life, as the tranſgreſſor thereof deſerued the curſe of God vnto eternall death. So ſaith Chryſoſtome vpon this text, Hom. 17. For a man can not otherwiſe be iuſtified in the Law, but hee that hath fulfilled all things. But that as yet hath not bene poſſible for any man. Therefore that iuſtice is loſt. The auctor of the Commentaries vnder the name of Hierom ſaith: Some of this place thinke that the Iewes deſerued this preſent life onely by the works of the Lawe. which the wordes of our Lord declare not to be true, which being asked of eternall life, ſetteth foorth the Commandements of the Lawe, ſaying: If thou wilt enter into life, keepe the Commandements, whereof we vnderſtand that he which in his time hath kept the Law, had life euerlaſting. Of the ſame iudgement are Theodoret, Oecumenius, and Theophylactus, and thoſe ancient Fathers, that ſeeme to ſay otherwiſe, meane of the ceremonial Lawe, not of the morall Law, as it is plaine by S. Ambroſe in cap. 3. ad Gal.

RHEM. 2 16. Do not obey.) We see then that it is in a mans free will to beleeue or not to beleeue, to obey or disobey the Gospel or truth preached.

FVLKE. 2 We see no such thing in the text, for it is of grace and mercy that we beleeue and obey, not of the power of free will, which auaileth to nothing, but to sinne, except it be made free by the grace of God. Aug. con. 2. ep Pel. ad Boni. li. 3. cap. 8. We read (saith he) in the Apostle, I obteined mercy, that I might be faithfull: not because I was faithfull. Retract. lib. 1. cap. 23.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. X.

RHEM. 2. The iustice of God.) The iustice of God, is that which God giueth vs through Christ. the Iewes owne or proper iustice, is that which they had or chalenged to haue of them selues and by their owne strength, holpen only by the knowledge of the Law without the helpe or grace of Christ. Gods iustice, and the Iewes owne iustice.

RHEM. 6. The iustice of faith.) The iustice which is of faith, reacheth to the life to come, making man assured of the trueth of such articles as concerne the same, as, of Christs ascention to heauen, of his descending to hel, of his comming downe, to be Incarnate, and his resurrection and returne againe to be glorified: by which his actions we be pardoned, iustified, and saued, as by the Law we could neuer be. Iustice of faith.

RHEM. 3 8. The word of faith) *The word of faith is the whole Law of Christ, concerning both life and doctrine, grounded vpon this, that Christ is our Sauiour, and that he is risen againe. Which point (as all other) must both be beleeued in hart, and also be confessed by mouth. for though a man be iustified inwardly when he hath the vertues of faith, hope, and charitie from God: yet if occasion be giuen, he is also bound to cõfesse with his mouth, and by all his externall actions, without shame or feare of the world, that which he inwardly beleeueth: or else he cannot be saued. Which is against certaine * old Heretikes that taught, a man might say or do what he would, for feare or danger, so that he kept his faith in heart.* Open confession and protestation of our faith sometime necessary. Euseb. lib. 6. 31. Iustl. Epist.

FVLKE. 3 The word of faith, is the doctrine of iustification by faith, without the workes of the Law, as it is manifest by the sixth verse, out of which faith, proceedeth hope, loue, and confession, and all good workes, but the roote of all is faith onely, by which we are accompted iust, in the sight of God. S. Ambrose vpon these wordes of the text: This is the word of faith which we preach, giueth this onely interpretation. Nullum opus dicit legis, sed solam fidem dandam in causa Christi. He saith that no worke of the Law, but faith onely, is to be giuen in the cause of Christ. Theodoret giueth this exposition: Quod dixit Moses de præceptis legitimis, hoc nos de fide dicimus. That which Moses said of the precepts of the Law, the same say we of faith. Wherefore faith which iustifieth before God, is not the whole Law of Christ which conteineth both faith and workes, but faith onely, that is faith considered without workes, yet as the roote of all good workes.

RHEM. 4 14. How shal they inuocat?) This maketh not (as Heretikes pretend) against inuocation of Saincts: the Apostle saying nothing els, but that they cannot inuocate Christ as their Lord & Maister, in whom they do not beleeue, and whom they neuer heard of. For he speaketh of the Gentils or Pagans, who could not inuocate him, vnlesse they did first beleeue in him. To the due inuocation of Christ, we must know him and our duties to him. And so is it true also that we cannot pray to our B. Lady nor any Saint in heauen, til we beleeue and know their persons, dignitie, and grace, and trust that they can helpe vs. But if our aduersaries thinke that we cannot inuocate them, because we can not beleeue in them: let them vnderstand that the Scripture vseth also this speech, to beleeue in men: and it is the very Hebrew phrase, which they should not be ignorant of that brag thereof so much. Exo. 14, 31. They beleeued in God and in Moyses, and 3. Paral. 20. 20. in the Hebrew. Ep. ad Philem. v. 5. And the ancient fathers did read in the Creede indifferently, I beleeue in the Catholike Church. and, I beleeue the Catholike Church. Conc. Nicen. apud Epiph. in fine Ancorat, Hieron. contr. Lucif. Cyril Hier. of. Catech. 17. The placed. Ieagel against inuocation of Saincts answered.

FVLKE. 2 We cannot call vpon any, whom we doe not know out of Gods word, and beleeue to be both able and willing to helpe vs. Therefore Papists may haue a vaine perswasion, of the abilitie of Saincts to help them: but testimonie of the holy Scripture to assure their conscience they haue none. And further, seeing we can inuocate none, but him in whom we beleeue, and we ought to beleeue in God onely: we cannot without sacrilege, inuocate any creatures. Howbeit, you defend that you may beleeue also in creatures. And that the Scripture vseth this speech, Exod. 14. 31. They beleeued in God and in Moses, where your owne translation hath Crediderunt Domino, & Mosi seruo eius, that is, they gaue the credite to the Lord, and to Moses his seruant. In the next text 2. Paral. 20. 20, your owne translation hath Credite in Domino Deo vestro & securi eritis, Credite prophetis eius & cuncta euenient prospera. Beleeue in the Lord your God, and you shal be sure, beleeue his Prophets, or giue credite to his Prophets, and all shall fall out prosperously. But here you must forsake your owne translation though it be true, and flie to the Hebrew text, where the preposition or seruile letter, is in both alike. Whereunto I answer you, that the Hebrewes phrase ought not in Greeke, or Latine, to be translated with the preposition that ruleth an accusatiue or ablatiue case, but with a datiue case, as your vulgar Latine interpreter hath well obserued: and so hath the Greeke text, in the first place, but in the second a preposition before the datiue. But in the Epistle to Philemon, the text is Hearing of thy loue and faith which thou hast toward our Lord Iesus, and vnto all the Saincts, where euery man, that is not obstinately blinde, doth see, that faith is referred to Christ, and loue to the Saincts, which distinction and diuers relation, is obserued euen by your owne Latine interpretor, and by your selues. Therefore the Scripture vseth no such speech, that can be translated in English, whereby it should appeare, that we may beleeue in creatures, that is, put our whole trust in creatures. For as S. Cyprian saith: Non credis in Deum, qui non in eo solo collocat totius felicitatis suæ fiduciam. He doth not beleeue in God which doth not place in him alone, the trust of his whole felicitie. De duplici martyrio. Greg. Bæticus ad Gallam & Placidiam. Si creatura est filius vnigenitus, quomodo qui credit in eum non perit, sed vitam habebit æternam, cùm credere in creaturam sit diuinitatis offensio. Respice ad Apostolum Paulum, considera quæ opprobria, quas obscœnitates de his referat, qui, vt ipse ait, commutauerunt veritatem Dei in mendacio, & coluerunt & seruierunt creaturæ potius quàm Creatori. Tu si sic credis & colis & seruis vnigenito filio Dei, vt eum dicas esse creaturam, illa te mala miser expectant quibus illi puniuntur, qui commutauerunt, &c. But the Fathers (you say, further) did reade in the Creede indifferently, I beleeue in the Catholike Church, and I beleeue the Catholike Church. I graunt some did so, but in the same sense: namely, that to beleeue in the Church, was no more but to beleeue that there is a Catholike Church, as they sayd also, I beleeue in one Baptisme, I beleeue in the resurrection of the dead, and in the life to come. For that distinction in sense, must be obserued which Ruffinus sheweth, to bee also in the wordes: Non dixit in sanctam Ecclesiam, &c. Hee saide not, I beleeue in the holy Catholike Church, nor in the remission of sinnes, nor in the resurrection of the body, for if hee had added the preposition In, there should haue bene the same force of meaning, with that which went before. But now in these wordes in which is set foorth our faith of the Godhead, it is saide, In God the Father, and in Iesus Christ his Sonne, and in the holy Ghost. But in the rest where the speach is not of the Godhead, but of creatures and mysteries, the preposition In, is not added, that it should be saide, In the holy Church, but that wee should beleeue that there is an holy Church, not as God, but as a Church gathered to God. And men should beleeue that there is remission of sinnes, not in the remission of sinnes, and they should beleeue the resurrection of the body, not in the resurrection of the body. Therefore by this syllable of preposition, the Creator is distinguished from the creatures, and things Inuocation proper to God. Inuocation of Saincts improper.

pertaining to God, from things belonging to men, Ruff. in Symbolum. Agreeable to him writeth Eusebius Emissenus de Symb. hom. 2. Aliud est credere Deo, aliud in Deum credere. It is one thing to beleeue God, or to giue credit to God, another thing to beleeue in God. We ought of right to beleeue both Paul and Peter, but to beleeue in Peter and Paul, that is to bestow vpon the seruants, the honour of the Lord, we ought not. To beleeue him, that is to giue credit to him, euery one may to a man: but to beleeue in him, know that thou owest onely to the diuine Maiesty. But this also is to be marked. It is one thing Credere Deum, to beleeue that there is a God, another thing, to beleeue in God: for the deuill is found to beleeue that there is a God. But to beleeue in God, none is proued, but he which hath deuoutly trusted in him. And therefore to beleeue God, is to know naturally, but to beleeue in God, that is faithfully to seeke him, and with our whole loue, to passe into him. So likewise of the articles of the Catholike church, remission of sinnes, resurrection, &c. He sayth, Let vs beleeue in God, these things we do rehearse, we do not beleeue in them, but we do beleeue them in God, these things I say we confesse, not as God, but as the benefits of God. Primasius also obserueth this difference, Com. in Gal. cap. 3. Fides perfecta est, non solum Christum, sed etiam in Christum credere. It is perfect faith not onely to beleeue that Christ is, but to beleeue in Christ. Seeing therefore it is proper to the Diuinity to beleeue, that is (saith Cyprian) to put our whole trust in God, to beleeue in creatures is sacrilegious, and consequently to call vpon them.

HEM. 5 15. Vnlesse they be sent.) This place of the Apostle inuincibly condemneth all the preachings, writings, ordinances, innouations and vsurpations of Church, Pulpit, and whatsoeuer our new Euangelists haue intruded themselues and entred into by the window: shewing that they be euery one from the highest to the lowest, false prophets, running and vsurping, being neuer lawfully called. Which is so euident in the heretikes of our dayes that the Caluinists confesse it in themselues, and say that there is an exception to be made in them, because they found the state of the Church interrupted. Preachers not lawfully called nor sent. Confess des Egli. de France.

LUKE, 5 The Apostle speaketh not of the ordinarie calling or sending by the Church, nor of the testimonie of conscience, that euery one which is called ought to haue, that he is called and sent of God, but of the prouidence of God, by which the preachers of the Gospel are sent, whether they haue lawfull calling by men or no, to preach the Gospel to any nation, which is an argument of Gods loue vnto them, to whom the message of saluation is offered. But that no man ought to intrude themselues into the office of preaching, without lawfull calling, it is prooued sufficiently by other places of Scripture. And we (God be thanked) haue lawfull calling, howsoeuer you slander the confession of the ministers of the French church, which do not require an exception to be made in them, because they found the state of the Church interrupted, but shew that the ordinarie calling is not alwayes necessary, where the state of the Church is so corrupted, that it cannot be had of them that are counted to holde the Church, but are indeed professed enemies of the true Church. But that the ordinary calling or sending is not necessary, where either there is no Church, or the Church is so corrupted with heresie that it ceaseth to be a member of Christ: we may learne by examples of nations conuerted to the faith by them that had no calling at all of the Church. As a great nation of the Indians was by Ædesius and Frumentius. Ruff. hist. lib. 1. cap. 9. Theod. li. 1. cap. 24. And the nation of the Iberians by a captiue woman, which after shee had conuerted the King and the Queene, they both became teachers of the Gospel to the people. Ruff. li. 1. c. 10. The nation of the Immeres, a most warlike people of Persia, receiued the faith before they had any Bishop, as testifieth Niceph. lib. 16. cap. 37 And who doubteth but the same may be done in a nation infected by heresie? when euen in a Catholike and sound Church, Alexander Bishop of Ierusalem, and Theoctistus of Cæsarea, defend themselues against Demetrius Bishop of Alexandria, who reprehended them for suffering Origenes, before he was ordeined by the Church, to teach in the Church, and to interpret the Scriptures in the presence of Bishops. Yea, they charge Demetrius with a lie, because he had written that it was neuer heard of or done before, that lay-men should teach in presence of a Bishop, and bring forth notable examples of the contrary custome: namely, that Euelpius was required to teach by Neon Bishop of Larindi, Paulinus by Celsus at Iconium, Theodorus by Atticus at Synnadorum, and diuers other in other places. Yea Demetrius himselfe which reprehended them, seemeth to allow, that when no bishop was present, some other lay-man might teach, seeing he taketh occasion to reproue them, because they suffered Origen to teach in presence of the ordinary Bishop. Euseb. li. 6 cap. 20. Ruffinus concludeth hereof, in his translation of Eusebius, that there is no doubt, but many other lay-men in other places, if there be any which can set forth the worke of God in word & doctrine, are prouoked by the Bishops to do it. li. 6 cap. 11. How much more are they bound in charity, where there is no ordinary Catholike teachers, to indeuour to conuert heretikes to the Catholike faith. And yet this is vainly obiected against Luther, Caluine and others, that they lacked sending or calling, of which some, as they had baptisme, so they had calling of the Popish Church, to preach therein, other had ordinary calling of the Catholike Churches, separated from the Popish heresie, to be preachers and pastours of them

Lawfull calling.

Slander.

HEM. 6 20. That asked not.) That Christ was found of those that neuer asked after him, it proueth that the first grace and our first iustification is without merits. That God called so continually and earnestly by his Prophets and by other his signes and wonders, vpon the Iewes, and they withstood it: free will is proued, and that God would haue men saued, and that they be the cause of their owne damnation themselues. The first iustification of meere grace. Free will.

LUKE, 6 The first grace and iustification being without merits by onely faith, is sufficient to glorification, as the Apostle saith: Whom God iustifieth, he glorifieth. Neither doth the Scripture teach any grace or iustification by merits. It hath bene often answered that mans will is free from coaction, but yet thrall to sinne, vntill by grace it be enlarged. Our iustification to saluation. Free will.

CHAP. XI.

Not all the Iewes were reprobate, but some elect: and they by grace obteined iustice, the rest (according to the Prophets) being excecated. 11 Against whom notwithstanding the Christian Gentiles (to whom by that occasion Christ is come) must not insult: but rather feare euery man himselfe to be likewise cut off the tree (which is the Catholike Church) 25 and know that when all the Gentils are brought into the Church, then (about the end of the world) shall the multitude of the Iewes also come in: 33 according to the disposition of the wonderfull wisdome of God.

I Say then: Hath God reiected his people? God forbid. for I also am an Israëlite, of the seed of Abraham, of the tribe of Ben-iamin.

2 God hath not reiected his people which he foreknew. Or know you not in Elias what the Scripture saith: how he requesteth God against Israël?

3 Lord,

I Say then, Hath God cast away his people? God forbid. For I also am an Israelite, of the seed of Abraham, of the tribe of Beniamin.

2 God hath not cast away his people which he knew before. Wote ye not what the Scripture saith of Elias? how he maketh intercession to God against Israel,

3 Saying,*

3.Reg.19,10. 3 Lord, they haue slaine thy Prophets, they haue digged downe thine altars: and I am left alone, and they seeke my life.

4 But what saith the diuine answere vnto him? I haue left me seuen ‖ thousand men, that haue not bowed their knees to Baal.

5 So therefore at this time also, there are remaines saued according to the election of grace.

6 And if by grace: ‖ not now of works, otherwise grace now is not grace.

7 What then? that which Israel sought, the same hee hath not obteined: but the election hath obteined: & the rest were blinded.

Esa.6,9. 8 As it is written: ‖ God hath giuen them the spirit of compunction: eyes, that they may not see: and eares, that they may not heare: vntill this present day.

Psal.68.23. 9 And Dauid saith: Be their table made for a snare and for a trap and for a scandall and for a retribution vnto them.

10 Be their eyes darkened, that they may not see: and their backe make thou alwayes crooked.

11 I say then, haue they so stumbled, ‡ that they should fall? God forbid, but by their offence, saluation is to the Gentils, that they may emulate them.

12 And if the offence of them bee the riches of the world, & the diminution of them ‡ the riches of the Gentiles, how much more the fulnesse of them.

13 For to you Gentiles I say, as long verely as I am the Apostle of the Gentiles, I wil honour my ministery, 14 If by any meanes I may prouoke my flesh to emulation, and may saue some of them.

15 For if the losse of them be the reconciliation of the world: what shall the receiuing be, but life from the dead?

16 And if the first fruit be holy, the masse also: and if the root be holy, the boughs also:

17 And if some of the boughes bee broken, and thou whereas thou wast a wilde Oliue, art graffed in them, & art made partaker of the root and of the fatnesse of the Oliue,

18 Glorie not against the boughes. And if thou glorie: not thou bearest the root, but the root thee.

19 Thou sayest then: The boughes were broken, that I might be graffed in.

20 Wel: because of incredulity they were broken, but thou by faith doest stand: be not too highly wise, but ‡ feare.

21 For if God hath not spared the naturall boughes: lest perhaps hee will not spare thee neither?

22 See then the goodnesse & the seueritie of God: vpon them surely that are fallen, the seueritie: but vpon thee the goodnesse of God, if thou abide in his goodnesse, otherwise thou also shalt be cut off.

23 But

‡ The Iewes are not reiected wholly and incurably and for euer: but for a part, and for a time suffered to fall. Which God did turne to the Gentiles generall good.

‡ If God could and did turne their fall and sin into the good of the Gentiles, much more will he worke good of their generall cõuersion, which shalbe at length the accomplishment of ỹ church cõsisting of both the nations.

3.Reg.19.10. 3 Saying, Lord, they haue killed thy Prophets, and digged downe thine altars, and I am left alone, and they seeke my life.*

4 But what sayeth the answere of God vnto him? I haue reserued vnto my selfe seuen thousand men, which haue not bowed the knee to the marriage of Baal.

5 Euen so at this time there is a remnant, according to the election of grace.

6 If it be of grace, then is it not now of works: for then grace is no more grace. But if it be of workes, then is it now no grace, for then worke is no more worke.

7 What then? Israel hath not obteined that which he seeketh for, but the election hath obteined it, the remnant hath bene †blinded, †Or,hardned.

8 *(According as it is written, * God hath giuen them the spirit of remorse: eyes, that they should not see, and eares, that they should not heare) euen vnto this day.* Esay 29.10. mat.13.14.

9 And Dauid sayeth, Let their table be made a snare, & a trap, and a stumbling stocke, and a recompense vnto them.

10 Let their eyes be †blinded, that they see not, and bow thou downe their backs alway. †Or,darkned.

11 I say then, Haue they therefore stumbled, that they should fall? God forbidde: but through their fall, saluation is come vnto the Gentiles, for to prouoke them withall.

12 Now if the fall of them, be the riches of the world, and the diminishing of them, the riches of the Gentiles: How much more their fulnesse?

13 For I speake to you Gentiles, in as much as I am the Apostle of the Gentiles, I magnifie mine office,

14 If by any meane I may prouoke them which are my flesh, and might saue some of them.

15 For if the casting away of them, be the reconciling of the world, what shall the receiuing of them be, but life from the dead?

16 For if the first fruites bee holy, the whole lumpe also is holy. And if the root be holy, the branches also.

17 And if some of the branches be broken off, and thou being a wilde Oliue tree, wast graft in among them, and made partaker of the root and fatnesse of the Oliue tree:

18 Boast not thy selfe against the branches. For if thou boast thy selfe, thou bearest not the root, but the root thee.

19 Thou wilt say then, The branches are broken off, that I might be graft in.

20 Well: because of vnbeliefe they were broken off: and thou stoodest stedfast in faith. Be not high minded, but feare.

21 For seeing that God spared not the naturall branches, take heed lest it come to passe, that he spare not thee.

22 *Behold therefore the kindnesse and * rigorousnesse of God: on them which fell, rigorousnesse: but towards thee, kindnesse, if thou continue in kindnesse: or els thou also shalt be hewen off.* *Or,severity

23 And

23 But they also, if they doe not abide in incredulity, shalbe graffed in. for God is able to graffe them in againe.

24 For if thou wast cut out of the naturall wilde Oliue, and contrary to nature wast graffed into the good Oliue: how much more they that are according to nature, shall bee graffed into their owne Oliue?

25 For I will not haue you ignorant, brethren, of this mysterie (that you be not wise in your selues) that blindnesse in parte hath chaunced in Israel, vntill the fulnesse of the Gentiles might enter:

26 And so all Israel might be saued, as it is written: There shall come out of Sion, hee that shall deliuer, and shall auert impietie from Iacob.

27 And this to them the testament from me: when I shall haue taken away their sinnes.

28 ‖ According to the Gospell in deede enemies for you: but according to the election, most deere for the fathers.

29 For without repentance are the giftes and the vocation of God.

30 For ‖ as you also sometime did not beleeue God, but nowe haue obteined mercie because of their incredulitie:

31 So these also now haue not beleeued, for your mercie, that they also may obteine mercie.

32 For God hath concluded all into incredulitie, that he may haue mercy on all.

33 ‖ O depth of the riches of the wisdome and of the knowledge of God: how incomprehensible are his iudgements, & his wayes vnsearchable!

34 For * who hath knowen the minde of our Lord: or who hath bene his counseller?

35 Or who hath first giuen to him, and retribution shalbe made of him?

36 For of him, and by him, and in him are all things: to him be glorie for euer. Amen.

23 And they, if they bide not still in vnbeliefe, shall bee graffed in: for God is of power to graffe them in againe.

24 For if thou were cut out of a naturall wild Olive tree, and were graffed, contrary to nature, in a true Olive tree: howe much more shall these which bee the naturall branches, bee graffed in their owne Olive tree?

25 For I would not, brethren, that yee should be ignorant of this mystery, (lest ye should be wise in your owne conceits) that partly ‖ blindnesse is happened in Israel, vntill the fulnesse of the Gentiles be come in. ‖ Or, hardinesse.

*26 And so all Israel shall bee saued, as it is written, * There shall come out of Sion hee that doeth deliuer, and shall turne away vngodlinesse from Iacob.* Esa.59.20.

*27 And this is my couenant vnto them * when I shall take away their sinnes.* Esa.27.9.

28 As concerning the Gospel, they are enemies for your sakes: but as touching the election, they are loued for the fathers sakes.

29 For the free gifts and calling of God, are without repentance.

30 For as yee in time past haue not beleeued God, yet haue yee now obteined mercie through their vnbeliefe:

31 Euen so now haue they not ‖ beleeued the mercie shewed vnto you, that they also may obteine mercie, ‖ Or, obeyed.

32 For God hath shut vp all nations in vnbeliefe, that he might haue mercie on all.

33 O the deepenesse of the riches both of the wisdome and knowledge of God: how vnsearchable are his iudgements, and his wayes past finding out!

*34 For * who hath knowen the minde of the Lord? Or who hath bene his counseller?* Sap 9.13. esa. 40.13. 1. cor. 2.16.

35 Either who hath giuen vnto him first, and he shalbe recompensed againe?

26 For of him, & through him, and for him, are all things: to whom be glory for euer. Amen.

We see that he which of vaine presumption thinketh he standeth, may fall, but he that standeth by the grace of God, wherof he is assured by a liuely faith, cannot fall, though he must alwaies continue in the feare of God. Certeintie of saluation.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. XI.

4. Seuen thousand.) *The Heretikes alledge this place and example very impertinently to proue that the Church may be wholly secret, hid, or vnknowen. for though the faithfull were forced to keepe close in that persecution of Achab and Iezabel, which was onely in the kingdome of the ten tribes, that is, of Israel: yet at the very same time, in Ierusalem and all the kingdome of Iuda, the externall worship and profession of faith was open to all the world, and well knowen to Elias and the faithfull, so many, that * the very souldiers onely were numbred aboue ten hundred thousand, besides that there is a great difference betweene the Christian Church and the Iewes, ours resting vpon better promises then theirs. And we will not put the Protestants to proue that there were 7000 of their sect, when their new Elias Luther began: but let them proue that there were seuen, or any one, either then or in all ages before him, that was in all points of his beliefe. Heretikes there were before him, as Iouinian, Vigilantius, Heluidius, Wicliffe, &c. and with him, Zuinglius, Caluin, &c. who beleeued as he did in some things, but not in all.* Gods answere to Elias of 7000, maketh nothing for the Protestants inuisible Church. 2. Par. 17.

You may aswell say, that S. Paul alledgeth this example impertinently, to prooue that a remnant may be saued, which is vnknowen to men. But that the Church at other times hath bene so hidden, that there was no publike The Church hidden.

publike exercise of religion in Iuda and Ierusalem, the story of Scripture is full of examples. As in the dayes of Achas, when the altar of God was remoued, and an idolatrous altar by the high Priests consent was set vp. 2.Reg.16. And cap.17.19. it is said, that neither Iuda did keepe the Lords commandements, but walked in the errours of Israel: where was then the visible Church? Likewise when Manasses built idolatrous altars in the temple. 2.Reg.21.4. & 5. Also in the dayes of Amon which walked in all the wayes of Manasses. 2.Reg.21.22. But you haue another helpe, to say that the Church of Christ resteth vpon better promises then the Church of the Iewes. I pray you where is there any promise that the Church of Christ shall neuer be hidden? we find a prophesie that she shall flie into the wildernesse. Apoc.12. But for the perpetuall continuance of the Church of the Iewes vntill the first comming of Christ, there be as many and as good promises, as for the Church of the Gentils to continue vntill the second comming of Christ. Howbeit, you will not put vs to proue that there were seuen thousand but seuen, or any one of our beliefe when Luther began, whereas it is certaine there were many thousands (beside them that were scattered and hidden in England, France and other nations) in Calabria, Piemont, Morauia, Bohemia, and other places, which many hundred yeeres before Luther, professed the same doctrine of Christ which Luther taught in Saxonie, and were called of the Papists Waldenses, Pauperes de Lugduno, Leonistæ, Lollardi, Picardi, and by such other opprobrious names: whose doctrine in all the chiefe points to be the same, witnesseth Reinerius an inquisitour, more then three hundred yeeres agoe. And their apologie against Rochezana, and other that submitted themselues to the Councell of Basil, set out Ann. 1431. Also by the treatise of Claudius Cousord a doctour of diuinity of Paris, which professeth to confute the errours of the Waldenses, Wickleuits, and other ancient heretikes (as he calleth them) because they conteined in a maner (as he saith) all the heresies of this time long agoe by the Popish church condemned. Therefore it is a fond and ridiculous euasion to say: there was not any that did beleeue in all points as Luther did, when there is no ancient writer but hath some priuate opinions, and perhaps peculiar to himselfe: yet they that consent in the chiefe and necessary Articles of faith, notwithstanding they agree not in all points, haue beene alwayes accounted members of one true Church: as Anicetus and Polycarpus, Victor and Irenæus, Cornelius and Cyprian, Epiphanius and Chrysostome, Hierome and Augustine, Hierome and Ruffinus, Theodoretus and Cyrillus, Leo and the Councell of Chalcedon, and such other. You your selues will not refuse the Thomists and Scotists, Dominicans and Franciscans, Iesuits and other Papists, though they agree not in all points of doctrine.

RHEM. 4 6. Not now of works.) If saluation be attributed to good works done of nature without faith and Gods helpe, the same can not be of grace, for such works exclude grace, fauour, and mercy: and challenge onely of debt, and not of gift. Therefore take heed here of the heretikes exposition, that vntruely excludes Christian mens works from necessity or merit of saluation, which are done with and by Gods grace, and therefore euidently consist with the same, and be ioyned with Gods grace as causes of our saluation. Our aduersaries are like ill Potecaries, euer taking quid pro quo, either of ignorance, or of intent to deceiue the simple. What works not, and what the cause of saluation.

FVLKE. 4 The Apostle speaketh of the election by grace by which all are saued, therfore he excludeth the merit of all works aswell of the circumcised Iewes and baptised Christians, as of the vnbeleeuing Gentils: yet are Christian men bound of necessity to doe good works, not as causes meriting saluation, but as the end of their election. Ephes.1.4. Ephes.2.8.9.10. where the Apostle saieth, We were chosen before the foundation of the world, that we should be holy and vnblameable before him in loue. And, You are saued by grace through faith, and that not of your selues, it is the gift of God. Not of works, lest any man should boast. For we are his workmanship, created vnto good works in Christ Iesus, which God hath prepared that we should walke in them. Wherefore the Papists be not like ill Poticaries, that for lacke of one medecine take another as good, or at least not hurtfull, but like most venemous serpents that poison all things that they touch or come neere vnto. Mark.

RHEM. 5 8. God hath giuen.) It doth not signifie his working or action, but his permission. Chrysho.19. in ep. Ro. And S. Augustine sayth, not by putting malice into them, but by not imparting his grace vnto them, and that through their owne deserts alwayes, and their owne wils euer properly working the same. See Annot. Mat.c.13,14. Ro.c.1.24. God is not thour of sinne.

Aug. Ep.105. ad Sixtum.

FVLKE. 5 God worketh not as an euill authour of sinne, but as a iust iudge, in giuing the spirit of compunction, and sending the spirit of errour to them that haue deserued to be deceiued. God is not thour of sinne.

RHEM. 20. Because of incredulity.) He representh the pride of the Gentiles vaunting themselues of their receiuing, and of the Iewes reiection, namely in that they thought the Iewes to be forsaken for no other cause, but that they might come into their roomes: declaring that the direct and proper cause of their forsaking, was their incredulity, exhorting the Gentiles to beware of the same, because they may fall aswell as the other, and that God is as like to execute iustice against them as against the Iewes, as he hath done in many nations falling to heresie. A paraphrasticall explication of the text concerning the Iewish talk, their being falne, & against it.

28. According to the Gospel.) In respect, or as concerning beliefe in Christ and receiuing the Gospel, they are Gods enemies: by occasion of which their incredulity, the Gentiles found mercy: otherwise in respect of his speciall election of that nation, and the promises made to the Patriarchs, the Iewes are deere to him still. for God neuer promiseth but he performeth, nor repenteth himselfe of the priuileges giuen to that nation.

30. For as you.) As the Gentiles which before beleeued not, found mercy and came to faith, when the Iewes did fall: so the Iewes not now beleeuing, when all the Gentils haue obtained mercy, shall in the end of the world by Gods disposition obtaine grace and pardon as the Gentiles haue done.

RHEM. 6 33. Concluded all.) That so God taking all nations and all men in sinne (which they fell into, not by his drift or causing, but of their owne free will) may of his mercy call and conuert whom and in what order he will: and the parties haue no cause to bragge of their deseruings: but both countreys and particular men may referre their eternall election and their first calling and conuersion to Christ, and to his mercy only: no works which they had before in their incredulity, deserning any such thing, though their works afterward proceeding of faith and grace do merit heauen.

FVLKE. 6 Not only our election, first calling and conuersion vnto Christ, is to be referred vnto Gods only mercy, but also our perseuerance vnto the end, and the reward of eternall life in the end without end, (as S. Augustine saith) is of the only grace and mercy of God, and not of the merit of our works. Nam vnde mihi tantum meritum est, cui indulgentia pro corona est? For whence haue I so great merit when mercy is my crowne. Ambros. exhort. ad virgines. Geneua. Mem.

RHEM. 7 33. O depth) *The Apostle concludeth that no man ought to search further into Gods secrets and vnsearchable counsels of the vocation of the Gentils, & reiecting the Iews, otherwise then this, that all which be reiected, for their sinnes be iustly reiected: and all that be saued, by Gods great mercy & Christs grace be saued. And whosoeuer seeketh among the people to spred contagion of curiosity by seeking further after things past mans and Angels reach, they ouerreach and ouerthrow themselues. If thou wilt be saued, beleeue, obey the Church, feare God & keepe his commandements: that is thy part and euery mans els. Thou mayst not examine whether thou be predestinate or reprobate, nor seek to know the wayes of Gods secret iudgement toward thy selfe or other men. ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. XII.

RHEM. 1 A liuing host.) Lest men should thinke by the former discourse of Gods eternall predestination, that no reward were to be had of good life and workes, the Apostle now earnestly recommendeth to them holinesse of life.

1 A liuing host.) Man maketh his bodie a sacrifice to God by giuing it to suffer for him, by chastising it with fasting, watching, and such like, and by occupying it in workes of charitie and vertue to Gods honour. Wherby appeareth how acceptable these workes are to God and gratefull in his sight, being compared to a sacrifice, which is an high seruice done to him.

The bodie is fed by penance a gratefull sacrifice.

RHEM. 1 6 According to the rule of faith.) By this, and many places of holy write, we may gather, that the Apostles by the holy Ghost, before they were sundered into diuers Nations, set downe among themselues a certaine Rule and forme of faith and doctrine, conteining not onely the Articles of the Creede, but all other principles, grounds, and the whole plasforme of all the Christian religion. Which Rule was before any of the bookes of the new Testament were written, and before the faith was preached among the Gentils, by which not onely euery other inferiour teachers doctrine was tried, but all the Apostles, and Euangelists preaching, writing, interpreting (which is here called prophecying) were of Gods Church approued and admitted, or disproued and reiected. This forme, by mouth and not by Scripture, euery Apostle deliuered to the countrey by them conuerted. For keeping of this forme, the Apostle before praised the Romanes, and afterward earnestly warneth them by no mans plausible speach to be drawen from the same. This he commendeth to Timothee, calling it his Depositum. For not holding this fast and sure, he blameth the Galatians, further also denouncing to himselfe or an Angel that should write, teach, or expound against that which they first receiued, Anathema, and commanding alwayes to beware of them that taught otherwise. For feare of missing this line of trueth, himselfe notwithstanding he had the Holy ghost, yet lest he might haue preached in vaine and lost his labour, he went to conferre with Peter and the rest. for the fast keeping of this Rule of truth, the Apostles held Councels, and their successors by their example. For the holding of this Rule, and by the measure thereof, were all the holy Scriptures written. for and by the same, all the glorious doctors haue made their sermons, commentaries, and interpretations of Gods word: all writings and interpretations no otherwise admitted nor deemed to be of God, but as they be agreeable to this Rule.

c.6.17.2.16.17. 1.Tim.6.20. Gal.1.6. Gal.2,1. Act.15.6.

The Apostles rule or analogie of faith.

And this is the sure Analogie and measure of faith, set downe and commended to vs euery where for the Apostles tradition: and not the phantasticall rule or square that euery Sectmaister pretendeth to gather out of the Scriptures falsely vnderstood and wrested to his purpose, by which they iudge of Doctor, Scripture, Church, and all. Arius had by that meanes a rule of his owne, Luther had his false weightes, and Caluin his owne also. According to which seuerall measure of euery Sect, they haue their expositions of Gods word: and in England (as in other infected Countries) they kept of late an apish imitation of this prophecying which S. Paul here and in other places speaketh of, and which was an exercise in the Primitiue Church, measured not by euery mans peculiar spirit, but by the former Rule of faith first set downe by the Apostles. And therefore all this new phantasticall Prophecying and all other preaching in Caluins schoole, is iustly by this note of the Apostle condemned, for that it is not according to, but quite against the Rule of faith.

The Heretikes phantasticall rule or rather rules of faith, men of diuers contrarie one from another.

FVLKE. 1 First you translate boldly, rationem fidei, the rule of faith, which is not the proper signification of the word Ratio. Secondly, where all the auncient writers, that comment vpon the text in a maner, vnderstand the word Analogia, for the measure of euery mans faith, whereunto God giueth a gift agreeable, & not one vnderstandeth it, for such a rule of faith, as you suppose: what credite shall your interpretation haue, with any man of meane iudgement? But specially where you affirme, that it was such, as being deliuered without writing, all the writings of the new Testament were tried and approoued by it: it is horrible blasphemie against the holy Scriptures. That a rule of faith might be concluded of by the Apostles, to direct all teachers and beleeuers by it, we deny not: but that this rule was drawen out of all the holy Scriptures, and contained nothing but that which is grounded vpon them, it is manifestly prooued, because the Gospell which they preached, was grounded wholy vpon the holy Scriptures, as testifieth S. Paul Rom.1,2. Act.26,22. and by many other places of Scripture. And therefore all your wrangling is in vaine, to perswade men without argument of Scripture, that there was such a rule vnwritten that conteined more then the Scripture. The faith which S. Paul commended in the Romanes, was the faith of the Gospel, which God had promised before by the Prophets, in the Scriptures. That forme of doctrine, which was committed to Timothy, was conteined in the holy Scriptures, wherein he had beene trained vp from a child, and which were able to make him wise vnto saluation, and perfectly instructed, to all partes of his office, 2. Tim.2,15.16.17. It was the Gospell which he preached to the Galathians set forth in the Scriptures, and not a secrete tradition, but the publike doctrine of iustification by faith, without all ceremonies and workes of the law. But that he feared to misse the rule of truth, when he went vp to Ierusalem, after he had preached the Gospel 14 yeeres, what is it but blasphemous impudencie, to affirme? when he saith, he did declare to the rest of the Apostles priuately, the doctrine that he preached publikely, not for feare least he had missed himselfe, but that the rest of the Apostles, might giue publike testimonie of his doctrine, to be the same, that theirs was, against them, that to hinder the profite of his preaching, reported that he taught otherwise then the rest of the Apostles, Gal.2. Finally, the Scriptures inspired of God, were written to be the rule of trueth, for certeintie of faith: and not to mainteine such an vnwritten tradition, but to defend the truth and faith, from all heretical pretenses of secrete tradition. Therefore the Apostle either speaketh not at all, of any rule of truth in this place, or els he speaketh of the articles of the Creede, which being taken out of the Scriptures, and conteining a breefe summe of Christian faith, may be called that rule of faith, according to which all prophecying, and interpretation of the Scripture, is to be framed. Where you say, that we haue seuerall rules of faith amongst vs, it is true in forme of wordes, but not in ſubſtance of matter. For as when hereſies aroſe, the moſt auncient rule of faith, called the Apoſtles Creede, was not ſufficient, but an other forme was deuiſed in the Nicen Councell, ſo (as Epiphanius teſtifieth) when other hereſies ſprong vp, the Catholikes were driuen to ſet out other confeſſions, or rules of faith, to defend the ignorant from their diueliſh ſubtilties, and to ſift out diſſemblers, that would hide their hereſies vnder the formes of wordes, vſed in the former confeſſions. After the ſame maner, are our confeſſions now diuers, yet all agreeing in the ſubſtance of faith, as the Booke of the Harmonie of confeſſions, doth euidently declare. The forme of conference, or prophecie, vſed in the Primitiue Church, and in diuerſe Churches at this day, obſerueth euen the ſame rule of faith, that S. Paule ſpeaketh of, and that was obſerued in the Primitiue Church, howſoeuer you ſcorne it, and ſclaunder it. Lib. Anchorat. in fine.

CHAP. XIII.

To yeeld obedience and all other dueties vnto Poteſtats: 8 to loue their neighbour which is the fulfilling of the Law: 11 and ſpecially to conſider, that now being the time of grace, we muſt doe nothing that may not beſeeme day light.

LET ‖ euery ſoule be ſubiect to higher powers, for there is ‖ no power but of God. And thoſe ỹ are, of God are ordeined.

2 Therfore he that reſiſteth the power, reſiſteth the ordinance of God. And ‖ they that reſiſt, purchaſe to themſelues damnation.

3 For Princes are no feare to the good work, but to the euil. But wilt thou not feare the power? Doe good: and thou ſhalt haue praiſe of the ſame.

4 For he is Gods miniſter vnto thee for good. But if thou doe euil, feare, for he ‖ beareth not the ſword without cauſe. For he is Gods miniſter: a reuenger vnto wrath, to him that doth euill.

5 Therefore be ſubiect of neceſſitie, not onely for wrath, but alſo for conſcience ſake.

6 For therefore ‖ you giue tributes alſo. for they are the miniſters of God ſeruing vnto this purpoſe.

7 Render therefore to al men their dew: *to whom tribute, tribute: to whom cuſtom, cuſtom: to whom feare, feare: to whom honour, honour.

8 Owe no man any thing: but, that you loue one another. For he that loueth his neighbour, hath ‡ fulfilled the law.

9 For, Thou ſhalt not commit aduoutrie, Thou ſhalt not kil, Thou ſhalt not ſteale, Thou ſhalt not beare falſe witnes, Thou ſhalt not couet, and if their be any other commaundement: it is compriſed in this word, Thou ſhalt loue thy neighbour as thy ſelfe.

10 The loue of thy neighbour, worketh no euil. Loue therefore is the fulneſſe of the law.

11 And that knowing the ſeaſon, that it is now the houre for vs to riſe from ſleepe. For now our ſaluation is neerer then when we beleeued.

12 The night is paſſed, and the day is at hand. Let vs therefore caſt off the workes of darkeneſſe, and doe on the armour of light.

13 As in the day let vs walke honeſtly: not in banketings and drunkennes, not in chamberings and impudicities, not in contention and emulation.

14 But do ye on our Lord Iesvs Christ, and make not prouiſion for the fleſh in concupiſcenſes.

*LET euerie ſoule be ſubiect vnto the higher powers: For * there is no power but of God, The powers that be, are ordeined of God.* Sapi. 6.4.

2 Whoſoeuer therefore reſiſteth the power, reſiſteth the ordinance of God: and they that reſiſt, ſhall receiue to them ſelues damnation.

3 For rulers are not fearefull to good worket, but to the euill. Wilt thou not feare the power? Doe well, and thou ſhalt haue praiſe of the ſame.

4 For he is the miniſter of God for thy wealth. But if thou doe euil, feare, for he beareth not the ſword in vaine: For he is the miniſter of God, reuenger of wrath on him that doth euill.

5 Wherefore ye muſt needes be ſubiect, not onely for feare of † puniſhment: but alſo becauſe of conſcience. † Or, wrath.

6 And for this cauſe pay ye tribute. for they are Gods miniſters, ſeruing for the ſame purpoſe.

7 Giue to euery man therefore his dutie, tribute to whome tribute is due, cuſtome to whom cuſtome, feare to whom feare, honour to whome honour belongeth.

8 Owe nothing to no man, but to loue one another: (for he that loueth another, hath fulfilled the lawe.

*9 For this, * Thou ſhalt not commit adulterie, thou ſhalt not kill, thou ſhalt not ſteale, thou ſhalt not beare falſe witneſſe, thou ſhalt not luſt: * and if there be any other commaundement, it is in fewe wordes comprehended in this ſaying: Namely, Thou ſhalt loue thy neighbour as thy ſelfe.* Exo. 20.14. deu. 5.18. Leuit. 19.18. mat. 22.39. mar. 12.31. galat. 5.14. iames 2.8.

10 Charitie worketh no ill to his neighboure, therefore the fulfilling of the law is charitie.)

11 And chiefly conſidering the ſeaſon, how that it is time that we ſhould now awake out of ſleepe: for now is our ſaluation nearer then when we beleeued.

*12 The night is paſſed, the day is come nigh. Let vs therefore caſt away the deedes of darkeneſſe, * and let vs put on the armour of light.* Luke 21.34.

13 Let vs walke honeſtly, as in the day, not in ryoting and drunkenneſſe, neither in chambring and wantonneſſe, neyther in ſtrife and enuying.

14 But put ye on the Lord Ieſus Christ, and make not prouiſion for the fleſh, to fulfill the luſts thereof.

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. XIII.

RHEM. 1 9 Fulfilled the law.) Here we learne, that the Law may be and is fulfilled by loue in this life: against the Aduersaries, saying it is impossible to keepe the commandements.

FVLKE. 1 Here we learne, that he which loueth his neighbour as himselfe, hath fulfilled the Law of the second Table. But wee neuer saw the man, nor euer shall, that loued his neighbour as himselfe. Therefore vnperfect loue doth not perfectly fulfill the law: and it is still impossible to keepe the commandements, in such perfection, as the iustice of the law requireth. The Law vnpossible to be kept.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. XIII.

RHEM. 2 1 Euery soule be subiect.) *Because the Apostles preached libertie by Christ from the yoke of the Lawe and seruitude of sinne, and gaue all the faithfull both example and commaundement to obey God more then men, and withall euer charged them expresly to be obedient and subiect to their Prelates as to them which had cure of their soules, and were by the Holy Ghost placed ouer the Church of God: there were many in those daies newly conuerted, that thought themselues free from all temporall Potestates, carnall Lords, and humane creatures or powers: wherevpon the bondman tooke himselfe to be loose from his seruitude, the subiect from his Soueraine, were he Emperour, King, Duke, or what other secular Magistrate so euer, specially the Princes of those daies being Heathens and persecutors of the Apostles, and of Christes religion, for which cause and for that the Apostles were vntruely charged of their Aduersaries, that they withdrew men from order and obedience to Ciuill Lawes and Officers: S. Paul here (as S. Peter doth 1. Chap. 2.) cleereth himselfe, and expresly chargeth euery man to be subiect to his temporall Prince and Superiour: Not euery man to all that be in Office or Superioritie, but euery one to him whom God hath put in authoritie ouer him, by that he is his Maister, Lord, King, or such like: Neither to them in matters of religion or regiment of their soules (for most part were Pagans, whom the Apostle could not will men to obey in matters of faith) but to them in such things onely as concerne the publike peace and Policie, and what other causes so euer consist with Gods holy will and ordinance. for * against God no power may be obeyed.* Obedience to temporall rulers, and in what cases. Act. 4. 19. 5. 29.

FVLKE. 2 Chrysostom vpon this place saith Hom. 23. he sheweth, that these things are commaunded to all men, both Priestes and Monkes, and not to temporall men onely, which he declareth in the beginning, when he said, Let euery soule be subiect to the highest powers: although thou be an Apostle, although thou be an Euangelist, although thou be a Prophet, although thou be whatsoeuer thou art: for this subiection, doth not ouerthrow religion. And if heathen Princes are to be obeyed of all men, in all things that are not against Christian religion, how much more Christian Princes, in matters that are agreeable to Christian faith and religion. Seeing that (as S. Augustine saith) they serue God as Kings, making iust lawes, and destroying Idolatrie as Ezechias did. The same father compteth him not sober, that would say to Christian Kings: Take no care in your kingdome, of whom the Church of your Lord is defended or oppugned: it pertaineth not to you, who in your Dominion, will be religious or sacrilegious, to whom it may not be said it pertaineth not vnto you, who in your dominion will be chast or vnchast. Epist. 50. Bonifacio. Therefore it standeth with Gods holy will and ordinance, that Princes should make lawes to maintaine true religion, and to suppresse false religion, whereunto all men are commaunded to be obedient. Authoritie of Ciuill Princes.

RHEM. Chrysin op. Rom. 23. 1 No power but of God.) S. Chrysostome here noteth, that power, rule, and Superioritie, is Gods ordinance, but not eftsones al Princes: because many may vsurpe, who reigne by his permission onely, and not by his appointment. nor all actions that euery one doeth in and by his soueraine power, as Iulians apostasie and affliction of Catholikes, Pharaos tyrannical oppression of the Israelites, Achabs persecution of the Prophets, Neros excessiue of the Apostles, Herods and Pilats condemning of Christ: al which things God permitted them, by the abuse of their power to accomplish, but they were out of the compasse of his causing and ordinance. In what sense, al power or superioritie is of God.

RHEM. 3 2 They that resist.) Whosoeuer resisteth or obeyeth not his lawfull Superior in those causes wherein he is subiect vnto him, withstandeth Gods appointment, and sinneth deadly, and is worthy to be punished both in this world by his Superior, and by God in the next life. for in temporal gouernment and causes, the Christians were bound in conscience to obey their Heathen Emperours: though on the other side, they were bound vnder paine of damnation to obey their Apostles and Prelates, and not to obey their Kings or Emperours, in matters of religion. Whereby it is cleere that when we be commaunded to obey our Superiors, it is meant alwaies and onely in such things as they may lawfully commaund, and in respect of such matters wherein they be our Superiors. In things lawfully commanded it is mortal sinne not to obey our Superiors.

FVLKE. 3 If Heathen Princes commaund any thing in matters of religion that is agreeable to true religion, they are to be obeyed, euen in matters of religion. As Cyrus in the lawe which he made for building the Temple. Ezra. 1. and Darius, as well for building, as for offring of sacrifice. Exra. 6. And Artaxerxes, for reformation of the Church, by the discretion and wisedome of Ezra. Ezra. 7. And Darius the Median, for worshipping of the true God. Dan. 6. 27. Authorized of ciuill Princes in matters of religion.

RHEM. 4 4 Beareth not the sword.) That the Apostle meaneth here specially of temporal powers, we may see by the sword, tribute, and external compulsion, which he here attributeth to them. And the Christian men then had no doubt whether they should obey their spiritual powers, but now the disease is cleane contrarie. for al is giuen to the secular power, and nothing to the spiritual, which expresly is ordeined by Christ and the Holy Ghost: and al the faithfull are commaunded to be subiect therevnto, as to Christs owne word and will. There were Heretikes called Begardi, that tooke away al rule and Superiority: The Wicliffists would obey nor Prince nor Prelate, if he were once in deadly sinne. The Protestants of our time (as we may see in al Countries where the secular sword is drawne against their Sectes) care neither for the one nor for the other, though they extol onely the secular when it maketh for them. The Catholikes onely most humbly obey both, euen according to Gods ordinance, the one in temporal causes, and the other in Spiritual: in which order both these States haue blessedly florished in al Christian Countries euer since Christes time, and it is the verie way to preserue both, as one day al the world shal confesse with vs. The Apostle speaketh of temporall power. Heresies against the Supremacie. The obedience of Catholikes both to spiritual and temporal Superiours. Slanders.

FVLKE 4 We giue no more to the secular power, then is due by the word of God. Wicklef was slaundered to deny obedience to Princes, and spirituall Pastors, for he denied neither of both. But proued that the Pope was Antichrist, and his Clergie were no Pastors of the Church, but wolues. The Protestants (God be thanked) at this day, as alwaies, are obedient euen to wicked Princes vnto death and martyrdome. The Papistes conspire most horribly treason to murder Christian Princes, and to inuade their land with strangers, as it is manifest, to the reproch and shame of that murthering heresie.

RHEM. 5 Hiero. in Mat. 17. 6 You giue tributes.) Though euery man ought to be ready to serue his temporal Prince with his goods, by tributes or what other lawfull taxes and subsidies so euer: yet they may exempt by priuileges whom they think good. As in al Countries Christian: Priests for the honour of Christ, whose Ministers they be, haue by the graunts and auncient charters of Kings bene excepted and exempted. Notwithstanding they were neuer vnready to serue voluntarily their Soueraine, in al common causes, with what soeuer they had. See Annot. in Mat. 17. 26. The Clergie exempted from tribute.

The

FVLKE. 5

The old Popiſh diuinitie, was, that the Popiſh Clergie were exempt from tribute, by the law of God: where-by they may claime, as well to be exempt from obedience, by the law of God, to ciuile Magiſtrates. And Anti-chriſt their head, doth yet claime, not onely to be exempt from obedience to any Prince, but alſo to be ſuperi-or to all Princes, and to haue right of both the ſwordes, ſpirituall and temporall: and to depoſe and deprriue ciuill Princes of their moſt iuſt gouernment, as we haue a familiar example in the Bull of Pius 5. againſt our moſt gratious Soueraigne Lady, whom God long preſerue to his glorie, and the ſubuerſion of Popiſh hereſie. Auguſtine, that glorious Doctor, was by a voice from heauen directed vnto, at his firſt miraculous and happy converſion, not onely to the Catholike faith, but alſo to perpetuall continencie, by this voice comming from heauen,* Tolle, lege: Tolle, lege. Take vp and reade, take vp and read, as him ſelfe telleth. Li. 8. CHAP. XIIII.

Like a moderator and peacemaker betweene the firme Chriſtians (who were the Gentils) and the infirme (who were the Chriſtian Iewes, hauing yet a ſcruple to ceaſe from keeping the ceremoniall meates and dayes of Moyſes lawe) he exhorteth the Iew not to condemne the Gentil vſing his libertie: and the Gentil againe, not to condemne the ſcrupulous Iew: but rather to abſtaine from vſing his libertie, then offending the Iew, to be an occaſion vnto him of apoſtating.

AND him that is weake in faith, take vn-to you: not in diſputations of cogitatiõs.

2 For one beleeueth that he may ‖ eate al things: but he that is weake, ‖ let him eate herbes.

3 Let not him that eateth, deſpiſe him that eateth not: and he that eateth not: let him not iudge him that eateth. for God hath taken him to him.

4 Who art thou that iudgeſt an other mans ſeruant? To his owne Lord he ſtan-deth or falleth. and he ſhal ſtand: for God is able to make him ſtand.

5 For one iudgeth ‖ betweene day and day: and an other iudgeth euery day. let e-uery one abound ‖ in his owne ſenſe.

6 He that reſpecteth the day, reſpecteth to our Lord. And he that eateth, eateth to our Lord: for he giueth thankes to God. And he that eateth not, to our Lord he ea-teth not, and giueth thankes to God.

7 For none of vs liueth to him ſelf: and no man dieth to him ſelf.

8 For whether we liue, we liue to our Lord: or whether we die, we die to our Lord. Therefore whether we liue, or whether we die, we are our Lords.

9 For to this end Chriſt died and roſe a-gaine: that he may haue dominion both of the dead and of the liuing.

10 But thou, why iudgeſt thou thy bro-ther? or thou, why doeſt thou deſpiſe thy brother? For * we ſhal al ſtand before the iudgement ſeate of Chriſt.

11 For it is written, Liue I, ſaith our Lord, that euery knee ſhal bowe to me: and euery tongue ſhal confeſſe to God.

12 Therfore euery one of vs for him ſelf ſhal render account to God.

13 Let vs therfore no more iudge one another. but this iudge ye rather, that you put not a ſtumbling blocke or a ſcandal to your brother.

14 I know and am perſuaded in our Lord IESVS Chriſt, that nothing is ‡ common of it ſelf, but to him that ſuppoſeth, any thing to be common, to him it is common.

2 One beleeueth that he may eate euery thing: another which is weake, eateth herbes.

3 Let not him that eateth, deſpiſe him that eateth not: and let not him which eateth not, iudge him that eateth. For God hath receiued him.

4 What art thou that iudgeſt another mans ſeruant? To his owne maſter he ſtandeth or fal-leth: Yea, he ſhal be holden vp, for God is able to make him ſtand.

5 This man putteth difference betweene day and day. An other man counteth all dayes alike. Let euery man be fully perſwaded in his owne minde.

6 He that eſteemeth the day, eſteemeth it vnto the Lord: and he that eſteemeth not the day, to the Lord he doth not eſteeme it. He that eateth, eateth to the Lorde, for he giueth God thankes: and he that eateth not, eateth not to the Lord, and giueth God thankes.

7 For none of vs liueth to him ſelfe, and no man dieth to him ſelfe.

8 For if we liue, we liue vnto the Lorde: and if we die, we die vnto the Lord: Whether we liue therefore, or die, we are the Lords.

9 For to this ende Chriſt both died, & roſe, and reuiued, that he might be Lord both of dead and quicke.

*10 But why doeſt thou then iudge thy bro-ther? Either, why doeſt thou ſet at nought thy brother? * we ſhall all ſtand before the iudgement ſeate of Chriſt.* 2. Cor. 1. 10.

*11 For it is written, * I liue, ſayth the Lord, and all knees ſhal bowe to me, and all tongues ſhal giue praiſe to God.* Eſai. 45. 23. phil. 2. 10.

12 So ſhall euery one of vs giue account of him ſelfe to God.

13 Let vs not therfore iudge one another any more: but iudge this rather, that no man put a ſtumbling blocke, or an occaſion to fall, in his brothers way.

14 For I knowe, and I am perſwaded by the Lord Ieſus, that there is nothing common of it ſelfe, but vnto him that iudgeth it to be com-mon, to him it is common.

16 Let not thē our good be blasphemed.

17 For the kingdom of God is ‖ not meate and drink: but iustice, and peace, and ioy in the holy Ghost.

18 For he that in this serueth Christ, pleaseth God, and is acceptable to men.

19 Therfore the things that are of peace let vs pursue: and the things that are of edifying one toward another let vs keepe.

20 Destroy not the worke of God for meate. * All things in deede are cleane: but it is ill for the man that eateth by giuing offence.

21 It is good not to eate flesh, And not to drinke wine, nor that wherein thy brother is offended, or scandalized, or weakened.

22 Hast thou faith? ‖ haue it with thy selfe before God. Blessed is he that iudgeth not him selfe in that which he approueth.

23 But ‖ he that discerneth, if he eate, is damned: because not of faith. for ‖ all that is not of faith is sinne.

Tit.1.15.

*meate, now walkest thou not charitably: * destroy not him with thy meate, for whom Christ died.* 1.Cor.8.11.

16 Let not your good be euill spoken of.

17 For the kingdome of God is not meate & drinke: but righteousnesse, and peace, and ioy in the holy Ghost.

18 For he that in these things serueth Christ, pleaseth God, and is commended of men.

19 Let vs therfore follow those things which make for peace, and things wherewith one may edifie another.

*20 Destroy not the worke of God for meates sake: * all things are pure, but it is euill for that man which eateth with offence.* Titus 1.15.

21 It is good neither to eate flesh, neither to drinke wine, neither any thing whereby thy brother stumbleth, either is offended, or is made weake.

22 Hast thou faith? Haue it with thy selfe before God. Happy is he that condemneth not him selfe in that thing which he alloweth.

23 For he that maketh conscience, is damned if he eate, because he eateth not of faith: For whatsoeuer is not of faith, is sinne.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. XIIII.

RHEM. 1 2 Eate all things.) By similitude of wordes the simple are soone deceiued, and Heretikes make their vauntage of any thing to seduce the vnlearned. There were diuers meates forbidden in the lawe of Moyses, and for signification, made and counted vncleane, whereof the Iewe might not eate at all, as porke, hare, conny, and such like, both of fishes, foules, and beastes, a great number. Christ discharged all them that became Christians, after his passion, of that obseruance and all other ceremonies of the old Lawe: Notwithstanding, because diuers that were brought vp in the Lawe, had a religion and conscience, suddenly to forsake their former maner, the Apostle here admonisheth such as be stronger and better instructed in the case, to beare with the weaker sort, that being Christians could not yet finde in their hartes to eate and vse the meates forbidden by God in the Lawe: as on the other side he warneth the weake that would not eate, not to take offence or scandall at them that did eate without scruple, any of the irregular or forbidden meates in the lawe, nor in any wise to iudge or condemne the eater, but to commit that to God, and finally that neither nother should condemne the other for eating or not eating. Now the Protestants fondly apply all this to the fasts of the Church, and differences of meates in the same: as though the Church did forbid any meate wholy neuer to be eaten or touched, or made any creatures vncleane, or otherwise prescribed any abstinence, then for chastising of mens bodies and seruice of God. It is a great blindnesse that they can put no difference betwixt Christs fast of fourtie dayes, Math.4. Iohns abstieining from all delicate meates and drinkes, Math.3.11. the widowe Annes, Luk.2,37. the Nazarites, Num.6. the Recabites, Ierem.35,14. the Niniuites, Iona.3. S.Paules, 2.Cor. 11,27. S.Timothees, 1.Tim.5,23. Iohns Disciples and Christes disciples fast, Mat.9,14.15: (Which he said they should keepe after his departure from them:) and the ceremoniall distinction of creatures and meates, cleane and vncleane, in the olde Law, of which it is euident the Apostle treateth in all this Chapter, and of none other at all. Therefore when the Protestants by the wordes of this place would proue, that we be either made free from fasting and from obeying the Churches commaundement, or folowing Christes example in that matter, or that the obseruers of Christian fastes be weake in faith, and ought not in any wise condemne of sinne the breakers of the prescribed fastes of the holy Church, they doe abuse ignorantly or wilfully the Apostles wordes and discourse. The Apostles meaning about eating or not eating certaine meates.

The Heretikes fondly abuse this place against fastes of the Church.

Foolish Heretikes see not the difference of thing.

FVLKE. 1 We neuer went about to proue by this place, or by any other, that Christians are free from fasting, or from obeying the Churches commaundement, or Christes example in fasting without superstition. But we condemne your Antichristian forbidding of meates to some men at all times, and to all men at some times for religions sake, and for greater holinesse, which is no fasting, but a change of diet. And where you say, you forbid no meate, but for chastising of mens bodies, it is false: for you leaue them all things that may inflame the body to lust, beside flesh, as wine, spices, fruites, and all dayntie fishes in which of ancient time, was counted the greatest delicacie. And Durande sayth plainely, that fish is eaten in fasting dayes, because God hath not cursed the waters, because remission of sinnes should be by the water of baptisme: for this element is most worthy, which washeth away filthinesse, and vpon which the spirit of the Lord before the constitution of the world was caried: but he cursed the earth in the workes of man, hereof it is, that it is not lawfull to eate in the fasting dayes, any kind of flesh that liueth in the land: whereby it is plaine, howsoeuer you would cloke the matter, your prohibition of flesh is, because it was hypocritically deemed, not onely vncleane, but also accursed. Dur.lib.6.cap.de alijs Ieiunijs. Fastes.

RHEM. 2 5 Betweene day and day.) By the like deceite they abuse this place against the Holy-daies of Christ and his B. mother and Saincts, which concerneth onely the Iewes festiuities and obseruation of times, whereof in the Epistle to the Galatians cap.4.10. Distinction of dayes.

FVLKE. 2 We vse no deceite, but shewe the Christian libertie in respecting all dayes alike, that are not discerned by the commandement of God. As for the dong of your festiuities, we condemne as open idolatrie, by manifest textes of Scripture, forbidding Gods honour to be giuen to creatures: and yet the dayes appointed by the Church for exercise of religion, we obserue, and that without superstition. Popish festiuities.

RHEM. 3. 6 Euery one in his owne sense.) The Apostle doth not giue freedome, as the Churches enemies would haue it, that euery man may doe or thinke what he list. but in this matter of Iudaical obseruation of dayes and meates, and that for a time onely, The text explicated of onely, till the Christian religion should be perfectly established, he would have no restraints made, but that every one should be borne withall in his owne sense: yet so, that they should not condemne one another, nor make necessitie of salvation in the observation of the Iudaicall rites of meates, dayes, &c.

Concerning every mans conscience in Iudaicall meates and drinkes.

In things of their owne nature indifferent, the Apostle requireth, that every man certainely be perswaded, how farre Christian libertie extendeth, and how it is to be vsed.

17 Not meate and drinke.) The substance of religion or the kingdome of God standeth not in meate or drinke, and therefore the better might they vse indifferencie and toleration in that point for a time, for peace sake and to avoid scandal, but if the precept of Moyses Lawe had bound still as before, then (not for the meates sake, but for the disobedience) it had beene damnable to have eaten the vncleane meates.

Not eating, but disobedience damnable.

22 Haue it with thy selfe.) Thou that art perfect, and beleevest or knowest certainely that thou art free from the Lawe concerning meates and festivities, yet to the trouble and hinderance of the feeble that cannot yet be brought so farre, be discreete and vtter not thy selfe out of season.

23 He that discerneth.) If the weake have a conscience, and should be driven to eate the things which in his owne hart he thinketh he should not doe, he committeth deadly sinne, because he doth against his conscience, or against his owne pretensed knowledge.

To doe against our conscience, is sinne.

23 All that is not of faith.) The proper sense of this speach is, that every thing that a man doeth against his knowledge or conscience, is a sinne, for so by the circumstance of the letter, faith must here be taken, though S. Augustine sometimes applieth it also to prove that all the actions of infidels (meaning those works which directly proceede of their lacke of faith) be sinnes. But in any wise take heede of the Heretikes commentarie, who hereby would prove that the infidell sinneth in honouring his parents, fighting for his countrie, tilling his ground, and in all other workes. And no marvell that they so holde of infidels, who maintaine that Christian men also offend deadly in every good deede.

Chrysost. in epist. Rom.

What actions of infidels are sinne, and what are not. Luther.

S. Augustine applieth this text, to prove that all the actions of infidels are sinne, euen those that seeme to be vertues, and good workes, saying that vertue must be defined not by the actions but by the endes. Contra Iuli. lib. 4. Cap. 3. where he handleth the question at large and sayth. When a man doth any thing, wherein he seemeth not to sinne, if he doeth it not to that ende, for which he ought to doe it, he is convinced to sinne. Therefore though honouring of parents, and such like actions be not sinne of themselues, yet are they sinne in an infidell, because he honoureth not his parents for that ende he ought to doe. Againe, of all things which infidels doe, it is saide, all that is not of faith is sinne. Againe to the Pelagian he saith, as we may say to the Papistes. Omnia proinde cætera, &c. All the rest of theirs, that seeme among men to have some prayse, let them seeme to thee to be true vertues, let them seeme to be good workes, and to be done without all sinne. For my part I knowe this, that a good will doth them not: but an vnfaithfull and vngodly will is not good. Also contra duas epist. Pel. ad Bonifacium lib. 3, cap. 5. he sayth. Sine ipsa &c. without faith euen those which seeme to be good workes, are turned into sinnes: for all that is not of faith is sinne. Fulgent. de remiss. peccat. lib. 2. c. 19. Leo sermo. 2. de ieiunio Pentecost. Hesych. in Leuit. lib. 1. Cap. 2. Prosper cont. Cass. Cap. 22. De vita contemplat. lib. 3. Cap. 1. That which Luther sayeth of Christian mens good deedes, is true in his meaning: namely in respect of the perfection of iustice, which Gods Lawe requireth, whereunto no man can attayne in any good deede that he doeth. Therefore good deedes are rewarded according to grace, and not according to merite.

All actions of Infidels are sinne.

CHAP. XV.

He proceedeth to make peace betweene the Christian Gentiles and Iewes. 8 with this resolution, that the Iewes vocation is of promis in deede, but the Gentiles also of mercie, and foretold by the Scriptures. 14 Then drawing to an ende, he excuseth himselfe to the Romanes for writing thus vnto them. 21 hoping mowe at length to see them, after that he hath been at Hierusalem, 29 whereunto also he requesteth their prayers.

AND we that are the stronger, must susteine the infirmities of the weake, and not please our selues.

2 Let euery one of you please his neighbour vnto good, to edification.

3 For, Christ did not please him selfe, but as it is written, The reproches of them that reproched thee, fell vpon me.

4 For ‡ what things soeuer haue beene written, to our learning they are writtē: that by the patience and cōsolation of the Scriptures we may haue hope.

5 And the God of patience and of comfort giue you to be of one mind one toward an other according to IESVS Christ:

6 That of ° one minde, with one mouth you may glorifie God the Father of our Lord IESVS Christ.

7 For the which cause receiue one an other: as Christ also hath receined you vnto the honour of God.

8 For I say Christ IESVS to haue beene ‡ minister of the circumcision for the veritie of God to confirme the promises of the fathers.

9 But the Gentiles to honour God for his mercie,

VVE which are strong, ought to beare the fraileneſſe of the weake, & not to ſtand in our owne conceites.

2 Let euery man please his neighbour in that that is good to edifying.

3 For Christ pleased not himselfe, but as it is written, The rebukes of them which rebuked thee, fell on me.

4 For whatsoeuer things haue beene written aforetime, were written for our learning, that we through patience and comfort of the Scriptures, might haue hope.

*5 The God of patience and consolation, * graunt you to be like minded one towards another, after the ensample of Christ Iesu:* 1. Cor. 1. 10.

6 That ye all agreeing together, may with one mouth praise God, and the father of our Lord Iesus Christ.

7 Wherefore, receiue ye one another, as Christ receiued vs, to the glory of God.

8 And I say, that Iesus Christ was a minister of the circumcision for the trueth of God, to confirme the promises made vnto the fathers:

9 And that the Gentiles might glorifie God,

Psal.17.50. mercie, as it is written: Therefore wil I confesse to thee in the Gentiles ô Lord, and wil sing to thy name.

Deut.32.43. 10 And againe he saith, Reioice ye Gentiles with his people.

Psal.116.1. 11 And againe, Prayse all ye Gentiles our Lord: and magnifie him all ye peoples.

Esa.11.10. 12 And againe Esaie saith, There shall be the roote of Iesse: and he that shall rise vp to rule the Gentiles, in him the Gentiles shall hope.

13 And the God of hope replenish you with al ioy and peace in beleeuing: that you may abound in hope, and in the vertue of the holy Ghost.

14 And I my selfe also, my brethren, am assured of you, that you also are full of loue, replenished with all knowledge, so that you are able to admonish one an other.

15 But I haue written to you (brethren) more boldly in part, as it were putting you in remembrance: for the grace which is giuen me of God.

16 To be the minister of Christ IESVS in the Gentiles: sanctifying the Gospel of God, that the oblation of the Gentiles may be made acceptable and sanctified in the holy Ghost.

17 I haue therefore glorie in Christ IESVS toward God.

18 For I dare not speake any of those things which Christ worketh not by me for the obedience of the Gentils, by worde and deedes,

19 In the vertue of signes and wonders, in the vertue of the holy Ghost: so that from Hierusalem rounde about vnto Illyricum I haue replenished the Gospel of Christ.

20 And I haue so preached this Gospel, not where Christ was named, lest I shoulde build vpon an other mans foundation:

Esa.52.15. 21 But as it is written, They to whom it hath not been preached of him, shall see: and they that haue not heard, shall vnderstand.

22 For the which cause also I was hindred very much from comming vnto you.

23 But now hauing no longer place in these conntries, and hauing a desire to come vnto you these many yeeres now passed:

24 When I shall begin to take my iourney into Spaine, I hope that as I passe, I shal see you, and be brought thither of you, if first in part I shall haue enioyed you.

25 Now therefore I will goe vnto Hierusalem to minister to the ‡ saincts.

26 For Macedonia and Achaia haue liked well to make some contribution vpon the poore saincts that are in Hierusalem.

27 For it hath pleased them: and they are their detters. For if the Gentiles be made partakers of their spirituall things: they ought also in carnall things to minister vnto them.

28 This for his mercie, as it is written, * For this cause I will praise thee among the Gentiles, and sing vnto thy name. 1.Re.22.50. Psal.18.50.

10 And againe he saith, * Reioyce ye Gentiles with his people. Deut.32.43.

11 And againe, * Prayse the Lorde all ye Gentiles, and laud him all ye people together. Psal.117.1.

12 And againe Esaias saith, * There shall be the roote of Iesse, and he that shall rise to reigne ouer the Gentiles, in him shall the Gentiles trust. Esay 11.10.

13 The God of hope fill you with all ioy and peace in beleeuing, that ye may be rich in hope, through the power of the holy Ghost.

14 I my selfe am perswaded of you, my brethrē, that ye also are ful of goodnes, & filled with all knowledge, able also to exhort one another.

15 Neuertheless, brethren, I haue somewhat more boldly written vnto you, as putting you in remembrance through the grace that is giuen to me of God.

16 That I should be the minister of Iesus Christ to the Gentiles, † and should minister the Gospel of God, that the offering of the Gentiles might be acceptable, and sanctified by the holy Ghost. † or, facrificing

17 I haue therefore whereof I may reioyce through Christ Iesus, in those things which pertaine to God.

18 For I will not be bold to speake of any of those things which Christ hath not wrought by me, to make the Gentiles obedient with worde and deede,

19 In mightie signes and wonders, by the power of the spirit of God, so that from Hierusalem, and the coastes round about vnto Illyricum, I haue fully preached the Gospel of Christ.

20 So haue I enforced my selfe to preach the Gospel, not where Christ was named, lest I should haue built vpon another mans foundation.

21 But as it is written, * To whom he was not spoken of, they shall see: and they that heare not, shall vnderstand. Esai.52.

22 For this cause I haue been oft let, that I could not come vnto you:

23 But now hauing no more to doe in these countries, and also hauing a great desire many yeeres to come vnto you.

24 When so euer I take my iourney into Spaine, I will come to you: for I trust to see you in my iourney, and to be brought on my way thitherward by you, after that I be somewhat filled with you.

25 But nowe goe I vnto Hierusalem, to minister vnto the saincts.

26 For it hath pleased them of Macedonia & Achaia, to make a certaine commō gathering for the poore saincts which are at Hierusalem.

27 * It hath pleased them verily, and their detters are they. For if the Gentils be made partakers of their spirituall things, their dutie is to minister vnto them in carnall things. 1.Cor.9.

28 When

28 This therefore when I shall haue accomplished, and signed them this fruit, I will goe by you into Spaine.

29 And I knowe that comming to you, I shall come in abundance of the blessing of Christ.

30 I beseech you therefore brethren by our Lord IESVS Christ, and by the charitie of the holy Ghost, that you ‡helpe me in your praiers for me to God,

31 That I may be deliuered from the infidels that are in Iewrie, and the oblation of my seruice may become acceptable in Hierusalem to the saincts,

32 That I may come to you in ioy by the will of God, that I may be refreshed with you.

33 And the God of peace be with you all. Amen.

28 When I haue performed this, and haue sealed to them this fruite, I will come by you into Spaine.

29 And I am sure that when I come vnto you, I shall come with abundance of the blessing of the Gospell of Christ.

30 I beseech you brethren for the Lord Iesus Christs sake, and for the loue of the spirit, that ye helpe me in my businesse with your praiers to God for me:

31 That I may be deliuered from them which beleeue not in Iewrie, and that this my seruice which I haue at Hierusalem, may be accepted of the Saincts:

32 That I may come vnto you with ioy by the will of God, and may with you be refreshed.

33 The God of peace be with you all. Amen.

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. XV.

8 Minister of the circumcision.) Christ did execute his office and ministerie only towards the people of Circumcision, that is, the Iewes.

Christ did execute his office principally toward the Iewes, but not onely. He preached to the Samaritanes, Ioan. 4. in the partes of Tyre and Sydon, he healed the woman of Canaans daughter, Matth. 15. Finally he dyed, and rose againe as well for the Gentiles, as the Iewes.

25 Saincts.) He meaneth the holy persons that hauing forsaken all their goods for Christ, were wholy conuerted to serue our Lord with all their minde. S. Hierom against Vigilantius the Heretike reprehending the almes giuen to such, as do the Heretikes also of our time.

He meaneth all the poore Christians at Hierusalem: so doeth S. Chrysostome interprete the worde, and not of any speciall men, such as had forsaken their goods, Hom. 30. Theodoret also of all the poore faithfull, according as he was required by Peter, Iames, and Iohn, to be mindfull of the poore: and so the text is plaine.

CHAP. XVI.

He commendeth the bearer Phœbe to the Romanes, 3 and himselfe to many there by name, 17. he declareth the doctrine which the Romanes had learned, to be the touch-stone to knowe Seducers, 21 he doth vnto them the commendations of all the Churches and of certaine persons by name: 25 and concludeth.

AND I commẽd to you Phœbè our sister, who is in the ministerie of the Church that is in Cenchris:

2 That you receiue her in our Lord as it is worthy for saincts: and that you assist her in whatsoeuer businesse she shall neede you. for she also hath assisted many and my selfe.

3 ‘Salute Prisca and Aquila my helpers in Christ IESVS,

4 (Who for my life haue laid downe their neckes: to whom not I onely giue thankes, but also all the Churches of the Gentiles)

5 And their ‡domesticall Church. Salute Epænetus my beloued: who is the first fruite of Asia in Christ.

6 Salute Marie who hath laboured much about vs.

7 Salute Andrónicus & ‖Iulia my cosins and fellow captiues: who are noble among the Apostles, who also before me were in Christ.

8 Salute Ampliátus my best beloued in our Lord.

9 Salute Vrbánus our helper in Christ IESVS, and Stachys my beloued.

10 Salute Apelles ‘approued in Christ. Salute them that are of Aristóbolus house.

11 Salute

I Commend vnto you Phœbe our sister, which is a minister of the Church of Cenchrea:

2 That ye receiue her in the Lord, as it becommeth Saincles, and that yee assist her in what so euer businesse she hath neede of you: for she hath succoured many and my selfe also.

3 Greete Priscilla, and Aquila, my helpers in Christ Iesu:* Acts 18.3.

4 (Which haue for my life layde downe their owne neckes: Vnto whom, not onely I giue thankes, but also all the Churches of the Gentiles.)

5 Likewise greete the Church that is in their house. Salute my welbeloued Epænetus, which is the first fruites of Achaia in Christ.

6 Greete Mary, which bestowed much labour on vs,

7 Salute Andronicus and Iunia my cousins, and prisoners with me also, which are well taken among the Apostles, and were in Christ before me.

8 Greete Amplias my beloued in the Lord.

9 Salute Vrban, our helper in Christ, & Stachys my beloued.

10 Salute Appelles, approued in Christ. Salute them which are of Aristobulus household.

11 Salute

11 Salute Herodion my kinsman. Salute them that are of Narcissus house, that are in our Lord.

12 Salute Tryphæna and Tryphôsa: who labour in our Lorde. Salute Persis the beloued, who hath much laboured in our Lord.

13 Salute Rufus the elect in our Lorde and his mother and mine.

14 Salute Asyncritus, Phlegon, Hermas, Pátrobas, Hermes: and the brethren that are with them.

15 Salute Philólogus and Iulia, Nereus, & his sister and Olympias: and al the saincts that are with them.

16 ‖ Salute one an other in a ‖ holy kisse. Al the Churches of Christ salute you.

17 And I desire you brethren, ‖ to marke them that make dissensions & scandals contrarie to the doctrine which you haue ‘ learned, and auoid them.

‡ The speciall way that Heretikes haue euer had to beguile, was and is by sweete words and gay speaches. which their sheepes cote see before described particularly in the Annotations upon S. Matthew. c. 7. 15.

18 For such doe not serue Christ our Lord, ‖ but their owne belly: and ‡ by sweete speaches and benedictions seduce the hartes of innocents.

19 For ‖ your obedience is published into euery place. I reioyce therfore in you. But I would haue you to be wise in good, & simple in euil.

20 And the God of peace crush Satan vnder your feet quickly. The grace of our Lord IESVS Christ be with you.

21 Timothee my coadiutor saluteth you, and Lucius, and Iason, & Sosipater, my kinsmen.

22 I Tertius salute you, that wrote the epistle, in our Lord.

23 Caius mine hoste, and the whole Churches, saluteth you. Erastus the Cofferer of the citie saluteth you, and Quartus, a brother.

24 The grace of our Lord IESVS Christ be with all you, Amen.

25 And to him that is able to confirme you according to my Gospel and preaching of IESVS Christ, according to the reuelation of the mysterie from eternall times kept secret,

26 Which now is opened by the Scriptures of the Prophets according to the precept of the eternal God, to the obedience of faith knowen in all Gentiles,

27 To God the only wise through IESVS Christ, ‖ to whom be honour and glorie for euer and euer. Amen.

11 Salute Herodion my kinsman. Greet them that be of the houshold of Narcissus, which are in the Lord.

12 Salute Tryphena and Tryphosa, which labour in the Lorde. Salute the beloued Persis, which laboured much in the Lord.

13 Salute Rufus chosen in the Lord, and his mother and mine.

14 Greete Asyncritus, Phlegon, Herman, Patrobas, Mercurius, and the brethren which are with them.

15 Salute Philologus, and Iulia, Nereus and his sister, and Olimpas, and all the saincts which are with them.

16 * Salute one another with an holy kisse. 2. Cor. 13. 12.
The Churches of Christ salute you.

17 Now I beseech you brethren, marke them which cause diuision, & giue occasion of euil, contrary to the doctrine which ye haue learned, and auoyde them.

18 For they that are such, serue not the Lord Iesus Christ, but their owne belly, and with sweet and flattering wordes deceiue the hearts of the innocents.

19 For your obedience is gone abroad vnto all men. I am glad therefore on your behalfe: but yet I would haue you wise vnto that which is good, and simple concerning euill.

20 The God of peace shall treade Satan vnder your feete shortly. The grace of our Lord Iesus Christ be with you. Amen.

21 * Timotheus my worke fellow, and Lucius, Actes 16. 1. and 2. 19.
and Iason, and Sosipater my kinsman salute you.

22 I Tertius, which wrote this Epistle, salute you in the Lord.

23 Gaius mine host, and of the whole Church, saluteth you. Erastus the chamberlaine of the city saluteth you, and Quartus his brother.

24 The grace of our Lorde Iesus Christ be with you all, Amen.

RHEM. 1 3 Salute.) The onely salutation of so worthy a man is sufficient to fill him with great grace that is so saluted. Chrys. in 2. Tim. 4.

FVLKE. 1 The wordes going before, declare Chrysostomes meaning: They had no small comfort of this salutation, for it declared tokens of honour and loue, and great fellowship of grace. The comfort therefore that they tooke in the honour and loue that was shewed to them by the Apostles salutation, was a great grace to perswade them that they were partakers with him of the common grace of God.

SYLKE. 3 The common opinion was, that Peter the chiefe of the Apoſtles did firſt preach to the Romanes, which peraduenture was ſo, peraduenture not ſo. And more like it was not ſo, becauſe neither S. Luke in the Actes ſheweth it, nor the Apoſtle putteth them in minde of the credit and auctoritie of S. Peter by whom they were conuerted. Whether Peter preached at Rome.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. XVI.

RHEM. 4 16 Salute one another.) *Neuer Sectmaiſters made more foule or hard ſhifts to proue or defend falſehod, then the Proteſtants: but in two points, about S. Peter ſpecially, they paſſe euen themſelues in impudencie. The firſt is, that they hold he was not preferred before the other Apoſtles, which is againſt all Scriptures moſt euidently. The ſecond is, that he was neuer at Rome, which is againſt all the Eccleſiaſticall hiſtories, al the Fathers Greeke & Latine, againſt the very ſenſe & ſight of the monuments of his Seate, Sepulcher, doctrine, life, and death there. Greater euidence certes there is thereof and more weightie teſtimonie then of Romulus, Numas, Cæſars, or Ciceros being there: yet were he a very brutiſh man that would deny this to the diſcredite of ſo many writers and the whole world. Euſeb. li. 2. c. 14. hiſt. Ec. Some of theſe tell the time and cauſe of his firſt going thither: ſome how long he lined there: ſome, the maner of his death there: ſome, the place of his buriall: and all, that he was the firſt Biſhop there. How could ſo many of ſuch wiſedome and ſpirit, ſo neere the Apoſtles time deceiue or be deceiued? how could Caluin and his, after fifteene hundred yeeres know that which none of them could ſee? That S. Peter was at Rome. Chalced cont. act. 3. See the Annotations 1. Pet. c. 1. 15.

Some great argument muſt they needs haue to controule the credit of the whole world. This of truth is here their argumēt, neither haue they a better in any place, to wit, If S Peter had bene at Rome, S. Paul would haue ſaluted him, as he did others here in the end of his letter to the Romanes Is not this an high point to diſproue al antiquity by? Any man of diſcretion may ſtraight ſee, that S. Peter might be knowen vnto S. Paul to be out of the Citie, either for perſecutiō or buſines, whē this Epiſtle was weitten, (for he went often out as S. Epiphanius declareth) and ſo the omitting to ſalute him, can proue no more, but that then he was not in Rome, but it proueth not ſo much neither, becauſe the Apoſtle might for reſpect of his dignitie and other the Churches affaires write vnto him ſpeciall letters, and ſo had no cauſe to ſalute him in his common Epiſtle. Or how know they that this Epiſtle was not ſent incloſed to S. Peter, to be deliuered by his meanes to the whole Church of the Romanes in ſome of their aſſemblies? It is very like it was recommended to ſome one principal man or other that is not here named: and twentie cauſes there may be vnknowen to vs, why he ſaluted him not: but no cauſe why our Aduerſaries vpon ſuch friuolous reaſons ſhould reproue an approued truth. For euen as well might they ſay that S. Iohn was neuer at Epheſus, becauſe S. Paul in his Epiſtle to the Epheſians doth not ſalute him. And plaine it is, that it is the Romane ſeate and faith of Peter, which they (as all Heretikes before them) doe feare and hate, and which will be their bane: and they know that there is no argument which conuinceth in their conſcience, that Peter was neuer at Rome. Therefore to conclude, we ſay to them in S. Auguſtines wordes, Why call you the Apoſtolike chaire, the chaire of peſtilence? What hath the Church of Rome done againſt you, in which S. Peter did ſit, and from which by nefarious furie you haue ſeparated your ſelues? The Proteſtants great argument, that Peter was neuer at Rome. Epiph. har. 27. The Heretikes hatred of the Romane ſee. li. 2. con. lit. Petil. c. 51.

SYLKE. 4 In both theſe points cōcerning Peter, you paſſe your ſelues in impudencie, either when you ſay that we hold he was not preferred before the other Apoſtles, for we acknowledge that he was in primacie of order, & confeſſion the firſt: or when you defend that he was ſo preferred aboue the reſt of the Apoſtles, that they were not equal with him in honour and auctority, but he made there head and Pope, and they but his inferior Biſhops or Chaplens. In the ſecond, where as you affirme vs to hold, that he was neuer at Rome, which none did but only one Vlricus Vellenus, whoſe reaſons you haue not yet ſatisfied: whereas we only affirme, that he could not come thither ſo ſoone, nor tarry there ſo long as ſome of the ancient fathers affirme: becauſe the teſtimony of the Scripture doth proue the cōtrary. But where as you go about to conuince vs by very ſenſe & ſight of the monuments of his ſeat, and ſepulchre, it is a ridiculous matter. For how are you able to proue that Peter ſate in ſuch a Chaire, as is ſhewed at Rome? As for his Sepulchre, what mockeries haue you made of it, when halfe his body is at S. Peters in Rome, the other halfe at S Paules: and yet he hath an other head at S. Iohn Lateran. And his nether Iawe with the beard vpon it, is in Fraunce at Poyters. At Trieirs many of his bones. At Geneua was part of his braine, which was found to be a Pumice ſtone: Like as S. Anthonies arme was found to be an Hartes piſſel. And but lately at Toures in an Agate, which was worſhipped as the Image of the Virgine Mary, was graue the Image of Venus, lamenting the death of her minion Adonis that was ſlaine with a Bore. With in a ſiluer arme was found none other relike, but a baudie ſong, written in paper, and a Carde called the knaue of Pickques, wrapped in many fouldings of ſilke. Theſe and ten thouſand ſuch other monuments of Sainctes reliques, will make vs neuer to doubt, but Peter was buried, whereſoeuer you ſay his Sepulchre is. But touching Peters preaching at Rome, although the conſent of the moſt auncient writers, which you heape vp without need, argueth that there was a common opinion thereof: yet ſeeing it is not ſet forth in the Scripture, it is no article of our beliefe. Many falſe things were reported immediatly after the Apoſtles death, and of many beleeued as true. Ireneus ſaith, that it was affirmed by all the auncients of Aſia, that Iohn the Euangeliſt tolde them, that our Sauiour Chriſt was betweene fourtie and fiftie yeeres olde when he ſuffered, yea, ſome of them that had ſeene other of the Apoſtles affirmed, that they heard the ſame of their mouthes. Irenæus lib. 2. cap. 39. Yet this is proued to be moſt falſe, by the ſtorie of the Goſpell. And why might not the report of Peters preaching at Rome, come firſt from ſuch a beginning? which being once receiued, as a ſtory, by all that come after, is taken for a truth: as in matters of hiſtories many fables are. But Peter himſelfe (you ſay) teſtifieth, that he was at Rome, calling it Babylon, as diuers ancient Fathers doe iudge: A ſimple teſtimonie for the credit of Rome, that Peter writing to the Iewes that were diſperſed in ſo many nations, defamed the See of his Biſhopricke, by the name of Babylon. Why ſhould we not rather thinke, that Peter being the chiefe Apoſtle of Peuers Primacie. Slander. Reliques.

of the circumcision, was then at Babylon in Egypt: the rather, for that Marke which was Bishop of Alexandria, neere vnto him, was then with him, or else at Babylon in Assyria? Concerning the time of his comming to Rome, the ancient writers do not agree. Eusebius saith it was in the time of Claudius. But by Hierom, who saith he sate there 25. yeeres vntill the last yeere of Nero, it must follow, that he came thither the second or third of Claudius. Yet Damasus sayeth, he came to Rome in the beginning of Neroes Empire, and sate there 25. yeers where as Nero reigned but 14. yeeres. He sayeth also, that his disputation with Simon Magus, was in the presence of Nero the Emperour. Eusebius reporteth it vnder Claudius. Anterius Bishop of Rome, (as Nicephorus testifieth) did write, that Peter was translated from Antioche to Rome, and from thence he passed to Alexandria, because he might more profite the Church there. Niceph. lib. 14. cap. 39. Damasus saith, he consecrated Clemens Bishop in his place. Irenæus saith, that Linus was made Bishop by Peter and Paule, and after him Anacletus, and the third was Clemens, lib. 3. cap. 3. Tertullian saith, Clemens was the first after Peter. So that although most of the ancient writers doe make mention of Peters being at Rome, yet there is great varietie of of their reportes, as in a matter whereof they had no certaine ground. Notwithstanding, for the consent of so many writers, and the ancient receiued opinion, we are content to acknowledge that he was there, as a matter of storie, not as an article of faith. As for the fond imaginations and deuises that you haue, how he might be at Rome, and not to be saluted by the Apostle, are to no purpose. Seeing it is manifest, that this Epistle needed not to haue been written vnto them, if Peter had bene so long resident with them. Beside that, when Paule did write his Epistles from Rome, he was not there, as appeareth not onely by no salutations, sent from him, as there are from other: But also, that S. Paul writeth, that at his first appearance, all men forsooke him, which Peter would not haue done. 2. Tim. 4. 16. All men sought their owne, when he wrote to the Philippians. Phil. 2. 21. where he would haue excepted Peter, if he had then bene at Rome. Finally, when Paul was brought prisoner to Rome, Peter was not there, for he would haue giuen him enterteinement, as the rest of the brethren did. Act. 28. Where you say, that we might as well say, that S. Iohn was neuer at Ephesus, because S. Paule saluteth him not, I answere we vse not so to conclude. But we take it to be very vnlike, that S. Iohn was there at that time, when S. Paule did write. To conclude, the chaire of Peter, is Peters doctrine, which we doe most gladly embrace. The Church of Rome when it was the Church of Christ, was vniustly condemned by the Donatists. But now that the Pope sitteth in Babylon, as Antichrist, not in Peters chaire as Peters successor, because he teacheth not Peters doctrine, but in Simon Magus seate, where all things are to be sold for money, the See of Rome is iustly called the chaire of pestilence, and not the chaire of the Apostles.

RHEM. 5 16 Holy kisse.) Hereof, and by the common vsage of the first Christians, who had speciall regard of vnitie and peace among themselues, and for signe and protestation thereof, kissed one another, came our holy ceremonie of giuing the Pax. or kissing one another in the sacrifice of the blessed Masse. Orig. in 16. ad Ro. Kissing the Pax.

FVLKE. 5 Your Popish Pax, is scarce as good, as an apish imitation of the Apostles kisse: who doth not institute a ceremonie of a superstitious toy to be kissed at the masse, but willeth that the maner of salutation, (which was then vsuall, to be perfourmed with a kisse) should be reuerently vsed, in holinesse and sinceritie. And of such a kisse speaketh Origen vsed in the Church after prayers, not of the Paxe at Masse. The Popish Pax.

RHEM. 6 17 To marke them.) He carefully warneth them to take heede of seditious sowers of Sectes and dissension in religion, and this is euer to be their marke, if they should teach or moue them to any thing which was not agreeable to that which they had learned at their conuersion: not bidding them to examine the case by the Scriptures, but by their first forme of faith and religion deliuered to them before they had or did reade any booke of the new Testament. Against Sectmasters how to examine our faith.

FVLKE. 6 The forme of doctrine, that was deliuered to the Romanes, was taken out of the holy Scriptures, although there had beene neuer a booke of the new Testament, written at that time, as you say: yet Eusebius saith that S. Markes Gospel was written immediately after their conuersion. And about the same time, as Irenæus testifyeth, S. Matthewes Gospell was written when Peter and Paul founded the Churches at Rome. lib. 3 cap. 1. Yea by Eusebius, who citeth it out of Clemens, it appeareth that the Romanes not satisfied with the diuine preaching of Peter by word of mouth only without writing, intreated Marke to put it in writing for their perpetual instruction of those things which Peter preached, which when he had performed, Peter approued their deuotion, confirmed the writing, and by his auctoritie deliuered it to be read in the Church. Euseb. li. 2 cap. 14. citing Clemens Hyp. 6. Hierom in Cat. Which testimonie (if it be true,) declareth manifestly, that S. Markes Gospell containeth the forme of doctrine which S. Peter deliuered to the Romanes, and is that doctrine whereby S. Paul willeth them to examine all sectes that rise vp among them. But if that were a perpetuall and generall mark which you say he giueth, that men should admit nothing but that which they haue learned at their conuersion. Those nations which were conuerted by the Arians, should neuer haue become true Catholikes. The nations of the Russianes, Bulgarianes, and other conuerted by the Græcians since their schisme, should neuer be brought to the vnitie of the Church of Rome. And such as from Iudaisme, Paganisme, Mahometisme and ignorance, are conuerted by vs to Christianitie, might neuer become Papists. if your owne marke be a good and perpetual rule (as you say it is) being giuen by the Apostle. But we must first know by whom, and vnto what religion, men were first conuerted vnto Christianitie, and if it be certaine they were conuerted to pure and sincere Religion at the first, they must alwaies hold it. Otherwise it is no constancie, but diuilish obstinacie to continue in any error that is contrarie to the holy Scriptures, vpon any pretence whatsoeuer. The Scripture sufficient.

RHEM. 7 18 But their owne belly.) Howsoeuer Heretikes pretend in words and externall shew of their sheepes cote, in deede they seeke but after their owne profite and pleasure, and by the Apostles owne testimonie we be warranted so to iudge of them as of men that in deede haue no religion nor conscience. Heretikes giuen to vaine curiousnes.

FVLKE. 7 This note agreeth to no Heretikes that euer were more aptly then to the Pope and his Clergie.

RHEM. 19 Your obedience.) Against Heretikes and their illusions, there is no better way then in simplicitie to cleaue vnto that which hath beene taught before: for the which the Romane obedience is much commended. See Annot. vpon the first chap. vers. 8.

THE ARGVMENT OF THE FIRST EPISTLE TO THE CORINTHIANS.

HOw S. Paul planted the Church at Corinth, continuing there a yeere and a halfe together, we reade Act. 18. After that, when he was at Ephesus Act. 19, about the end of the three yeeres that he abode there, he wrote this first Epistle to the Corinthians. For euen as S. Luke there writeth, when these things were ended, Act. 19, 21. Paul purposed in the Spirit, when he had gone ouer Macedonia and Achaia, to goe to Hierusalem: so likewise doth S. Paul himselfe write here: I will come to you in Achaia, when I shall haue 1. Cor. 16, 5. gone ouer Macedonia, for I will go ouer Macedonia. but I will tarie at Ephesus vntil Penrecost.

The matter that he writeth of, is not one, as in the Epistle to the Romanes, but diuers, partly such faultes of theirs, as were signified vnto him by them that were of Chloe 1. Cor. 1. 11. partly such questions as themselues wrote to him of, And concerning the things that you wrote to me. 1. Cor. 7, 1. for so we may (as it seemeth) deuide the Epistle into these two partes. Or, to put al together, he writeth of eight things: 1 Of certaine Schismes beginning among them, by occasion of certaine preachers, whom in the Second Epistle he toucheth more plainly, as being False apostles. chap. 1. 2. 3. 4. 2 Of an incestuous fornicator, and some that went to law before infidel iudges. chap. 5. 6. 3 Of Matrimonie and continencie. chap. 7. 4 Of meates sacrificed to Idols. chap. 8. 9. 10. 5 Of his Traditions. chap. 11. 6 Of the Gifts of the Holy Ghost. chap. 12. 13. 14. 7 Of the Resurrection. chap. 15. 8 Of the Contributions that he gathered of the Gentiles, to succour the Christian Iewes at Hierusalem. chap. 16.

THE FIRST EPISTLE OF PAVL TO THE CORINTHIANS.

CHAP. I.

After salutation, 4 hauing acknowledged the graces of their Church, 10 he deborteth them from their Schismaticall boasting against one another in their baptizers (telling them that they must boast only in Christ for their Baptisme) 17 and in their preachers, who had the wisedom of words: telling them that it is the preaching of the Crosse, wherby God saueth the world, and wherein onely Christians should boast: 26 seeing God of purpose chose the contemptible, that so himselfe might haue the glorie.

The Translation of Rhemes.

PAul called to be an Apostle of IESVS Christ, by the wil of God, and Sosthenes a brother,

2 To the Church of God that is at Corinth, to the sanctified in Christ IESVS, called to be saincts, with al that inuocate the name of our Lord IESVS Christ in euery place of theirs & ours.

3 Grace to you and peace from God our father and our Lord IESVS Christ.

4 I giue thankes to my God alwaies for you for the grace of God that is giuen you in Christ IESVS,

5 That in al things you be made rich in him, in al vtterance, and ‖ in al knowledge,

6 (As the testimonie of Christ is confirmed in you,)

7 So that nothing is wanting to you in any grace, expecting the reuelation of our Lord IESVS Christ,

8 Who also wil confirme you vnto the end without crime, in the day of the comming of our Lord IESVS Christ.

9 God is faithfull: by whom you are called into the societie of his sonne IESVS Christ our Lord.

10 And I beseech you brethren by the name of our Lord IESVS Christ, that you al say one thing, and that there be no schismes among you: but that you be perfect in one sense, and in one knowledge.

The Translation of the Church of England.

PAul called to be an Apostle of Iesus Christ, through the will of God, and brother Sosthenes:

2 Vnto the Church of God which is at Corinthus, to them that * are sanctified in Christ Iesus, Saincles by calling, * with all that call on the Name of the Lorde Iesus Christ in euery place, both of theirs and ours: Actes 15. 9. Rom. 1. 17.

3 Grace be vnto you, and peace from God our father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ.

4 I thanke my God alwaies on your behalfe, for the grace of God which is giuen you in Iesus Christ,

5 That in all things ye are enriched in him, in all vtterance and in all knowledge.

6 As the testimonie of Iesus Christ was confirmed in you.

7 So that ye are destitute of no gift, waiting for the appearing of our Lord Iesus Christ.

8 Which shall also † strengthen you vnto the ende, that ye may be blameleſſe in the day of our Lord Iesus Christ. † Or, confirme.

9 * God is faithfull, by whom ye haue bene called vnto the fellowship of his sonne Iesus Christ our Lord. 1. Thess. 5. 24.

10 Now I beseech you brethren by the name of our Lord Iesus Christ, that ye all speake one thing, and that there be no dissentions among you: but that ye may be perfectly ioyned together in the same minde, and in the same meaning.

11 For

11 For it is signified vnto me (my brethren) of you, by them that are of Chloe, that there be contentions among you.

12 And I meane this, for that euery one of you saith, ‡ I certes am Paules, and I Apollos, but I Cephas, and I Christs.

‡ The beginning of al Schismes is ouer much admiring & addicting mens selues to their owne particular Maisters. Act. 18,8.

13 Is Christ deuided? Why, was Paul crucified for you? or in the name of Paul were you baptized?

14 I giue God thankes, that I baptized none of you, but * Crispus and Caius.

15 Lest any man say that in my name you were baptized.

16 And I baptized also the house of Stephanas. But I know not if I haue baptized any other.

17 For Christ sent me not to baptize, but to euangelize: not in wisdom of speach, that the crosse of Christ be not made void.

18 For the word of the crosse, to them in deede that perish, is foolishnes: but to them that are saued, that is, to vs, it is the power of God.

Es. 33, 18. 19 For it is written, I will destroy the wisdom of the wise: and the prudence of the prudent I will reiect.

20 Where is the wise? where is the scribe? where is the disputer of this world? Hath not God made the wisdom of this world foolish?

21 For because in the wisedom of God the world did not by wisdom know God: it pleased God by the foolishnes of the preaching to saue them that beleeue.

22 For both the Iewes aske signes, and the Greekes seeke wisdom.

23 But we preach Christ crucified, to the Iewes certes a scandall, and to the Gentiles, foolishnes:

24 But to the called Iewes and Greekes, Christ the power of God and the wisedom of God.

The epistle for S. Agatha. Febr. 5. 25 For that which is the foolish of God, is wiser then men: and that which is the infirme of God, is stronger then men.

26 For see your vocation brethren, that not many wise according to the flesh, not many mightie, not many noble.

27 But the foolish things of the worlde hath God chosen, that he may confound the wise: and the weake things of the worlde hath God chosen, that he may confound the strong.

28 And the base things of the world and the contemptible hath God chosen, & those things which are not, that he might destroye those things which are.

29 That no flesh may glory in his sight.

30 And of him you are in Christ IESVS, ‖ who is made vnto vs wisedom from God, & iustice, and sanctification, and redemption.

Iet. 9. 23. 31 That as it is written, He that doth glorie, may glorie in our Lord.

11 For it hath bene declared vnto me, my brethren, of you, by them which are of the house of Chloe, that there are contentions among you.

12 *This I say, that euery one of you saieth, I am of Paul, and I am of * Apollo, and I am of Cephas, and I am of Christ.* Act. 18, 24.

13 Is Christ diuided? was Paul crucified for you? either were ye baptized in the name of Paul?

14 I thanke God that I baptized none of you Act. 18, 8. *but * Crispus and Gaius:*

24 But vnto them which are called, both Iewes and Greekes, Christ, the power of God, and the wisedome of God.

25 For the foolishnesse of God is wiser then men: and the weakenesse of God is stronger then men.

26 Brethren, ye see your calling, how that not many wise men after the flesh, not many mightie, not many noble are called:

ANNO-

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. I.

5. In al knowledge.) Obserue that the Apostles neuer wrote their letters but to such as were conuerted to Christs faith before, for men can not lightly learne the Christian religion by reading Scriptures, but by hearing, & by the presence of their teachers, which may instruct them at large and particularly of euery Article, as clerely and briefely by letters they could not doe. Neither doth now any man learne his faith first, but by hearing of his parents and Masters, for if we should when we come to yeeres of discretion, be set to picke our faith out of the Scriptures, there would be a madde worke and many faithes among vs. Faith commeth by hearing rather then reading.

The ordinary way of attaining to faith, is by hearing the word of God preached, yet many haue bene conuerted by reading only. The Berhæans at their first conuersion, ioyned reading of the Scriptures, with the Apostles preaching Act. 17. 11. Timothy was not only taught by his grandmother, & mother, but euen from a yong childe, brought vp in the reading of the scriptures 2. Tim. 3, 15. And this is the right order of bringing vp of Children in Christian religion: That they be not only taught by their parents, or maisters, and pastors, but also trained vp in reading of the Scriptures. But if they that haue the charge to see children Catechised, doe neglect their duties, children comming to the yeres of discretion, being stirred vp by Gods spirit to reade the scriptures, may learne their faith out of the scriptures only, which are able to make them wise vnto saluation (as the Apostle teacheth,) through faith in Christ Iesus. And a wiser worke may be made of only reading the Scriptures, then is vsually made among Papists, where the children are brought vp in ignorance and Idolatry, in steed of Christian faith and religion. Reading of Scriptures.

30 Who is made.) He meaneth not, as our aduersaries captiously take it, that we haue no iustice, sapience, nor sanctitie of our owne, other then Christes imputed to vs: but the sense is, that he is made the author, giuer, & meritorious cause of al these vertues in vs, for so the Apostle interpreteth himself plainely in the 6. Chapter folowing, when he writeth thus, You be washed, you be iustified, you be sanctified in the name of our Lord IESVS Christ & in the spirit of our God. Christ is made our iustice, because he is the author of the iustice in vs.

If we haue iustice, sapience or sanctity of our owne, we may glory in our owne, & not in the Lord. But Christ is made to vs from God, not only the beginning, but the perfection of wisdome, iustice, and sanctification, as he is of redemption. For as rightly you may say, we haue redemption in vs of our owne, as that we haue iustice, wisedom, holines, And 2. Cor. 5, 21. the Apostle saith: That we are made the iustice of God in Christ, as Christ was made sinne for vs, which was none otherwise, then by imputing our sinnes to him, as his iustice is imputed to vs. And for the gifts of wisedom, iustice, holines, which we haue of Gods grace, they are in vs, but not sufficient to make vs wise, holy, iust, before God, that we may deserue eternall saluation, but of his mere grace, we are washed, iustified, and sanctified, in the name of our Lord Iesus, by the working of Gods spirit. Iustice inherent.

Chrysostome vnderstandeth Christ to be so the auctor of wisdom, holines, and iustice, as he is apprehended by faith: That Christ is made vnto vs wisedom, iustice, and holines. It is not (saith he) of essence or substance, but of faith. Therefore he saith in an other place, that we are made the iustice of God in him In 1. Cor. Hom. 3. Theodoret vpon this text saith: You are not named by him, or by him, but you are accompted worthy of regeneration in Christ, he hath giuen you true wisdom, he hath giuen you remission of sinnes, & vouchsafed you of iustice, & hath made you holy, being deliuered from the tyranny of the Deuil. It is meete therefore to reioice, not because of men, but of God which hath saued you. Ocumenius saith, he hath done al these things, that no man should thinke himself to be any thing, neither should glory in himself, but in God. Bede saith vpon this text: Christ the higheſt God, is the true iustice, or els he being the true God is the higheſt iustice, which truely we ought to hunger and thirst for, the same is our iustice in this peregrination, and wherwith we hope to be satisfied hereafter, the same is our ful iustice in eternitie. The same also be the wordes of S. Augustine Ep. 85. The auctor of the Comentary in Hieromes name saith, Whereas Christ is the wisdome of God, yet when one beleeueth in him, Christ is made wisedome to him. These ancient fathers, ioyne with vs in the expositiō of this place.

CHAP. II.

That his owne preaching among them, was in humble maner in the sight of man, 5. Howbeit it is most profound wisdom (as they should and would perceiue, if they were not carnall) which is taught in the Church of Christ.

AND I (brethren) when I came to you, I came not in loftynesse of speach or of wisedome, preaching to you the testimonie of Christ.

2 For I iudged not my selfe to know any thing among you but Iesus Christ, and him crucified.

3 And * I was with you in infirmitie, and feare and much trembling.

4 And my speech and my preaching was not in the persuasible wordes of humane wisedom, but in shewing of spirit & power.

5 That your faith might not be in the wisdom of men, but in the power of God. But we speak wisdom among the perfect.

6 But the wisdom not of this world, neither of the princes of this world, that come to naught.

7 But we speake the wisdom of God in a mysterie, which is hid, which God did predestinate before the worlds, vnto our glory.

8 Which none of the princes of this world did know: for if they had knowen, they would neuer haue crucified the Lord of glorie.

9 But

*AND I, brethren, when I came to you, * came not in ‖ gloriousnesse of wordes, or of wisedome, shewing vnto you the testimonie of God.*

2 For I esteemed not to knowe any thing among you, saue Iesus Christ, and him crucified.

3 And I was among you in weakenesse, and in feare, and in much trembling.

*4 And my words and my preaching * was not* 2. Pet. 1. 16. with entising wordes of mans wisedome, but in shewing of the spirit, and of power:

5 That your faith should not stand in the wisdome of men, but in the power of God.

6 And we speake wisedome among them that are perfect: not the wisedome of this world, neither of the princes of this world, which come to nought:

7 But we speake the wisedome of God in a mysterie, euen the hid wisedome which God ordained before the world, vnto our glorie.

8 Which none of the princes of this worlde knew: for had they knowen it, they would not haue crucified the Lord of glory.

Ty 9 But

Esa.64,4. 9 But as it is written, That which eie hath not seene, nor eare hath heard, neither hath it ascended into the hart of man, what things God hath prepared for them that loue him.

10 But to vs God hath reuealed by his Spirit. For the Spirit searcheth all things, yea the profundities of God.

11 For what man knoweth the things of a man, but ‖ the spirit of a man that is in him? so the things also that are of God no man knoweth, but the spirit of God.

12 And we haue receiued not the spirit of this world, but the spirit that is of God: ‖ that we may know the things that of God are giuen to vs.

13 Which also we speake not in learned wordes of humane wisdom: but in the doctrine of the spirit, comparing spiritual things to the spiritual.

14 But ‖ the sensual man perceiueth not those things that are of the spirit of God. for it is folishnes to him, and he can not vnderstand: because he is spiritually examined.

15 But the spirituall man iudgeth all things: and him selfe is iudged of no man.

Esa.40,13. 16 For * who hath knowen the sense of our Lord that may instruct him? But we haue the sense of Christ.

9 But as it is written, * The eie hath not seene, and the eare hath not heard, neither haue entred into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that loue him. Esai.64.

10 But God hath reuealed them vnto vs by his spirit: for the spirit searcheth all things, yea the deepe things of God.

11 For what man knoweth the things of a man, saue the spirit of man which is in him? Euen so the things of God knoweth no man, but the spirit of God.

12 And we haue not receiued the spirit of the world, but the spirit which is of God, that we might know the things that are giuen to vs of God.

13 Which things also we speake, not in the words which mans wisdome teacheth, but which the holy Ghost teacheth: comparing spirituall things, with spirituall things. 2.Pet.1.16.

14 But the naturall man perceiueth not the things of the spirit of God, for they are fooliſhnes vnto him: Neither can he know them because they are spiritually discerned.

15 * But he that is spiritual, discerneth all things, yet he himselfe is iudged of no man. Prou.17.19.

16 For who hath knowen the minde of the Lord, that he might instruct him? But we haue the minde of Christ. Rom.11.34. esa.40.13.

FVLKE. 1 You quote Luc.15,7. to proue, that God giueth extraordinary grace, to all Angels and Saints, to vnderstand, not onely our vocal praiers, but also our inward repentance and desires, so farre, as is conuenient to our necessitie. But first, there is no mention of Saincts, in that place, but generally, that there shalbe ioy in heauen, which is expounded in that 10. verse, to be before the Angels. Secondly there is no mention of any prayers, vocal or mentall, but of the repentance of a sinner, when God, whose onely worke it is, to conuert a sinner, doth reueile it. Thirdly neither in that place, nor in any other of the Scripture, it can be proued, that God vseth the ministerie of Saincts departed, for our necessities. Therefore that place maketh nothing to shew, how Saincts here our praiers.

Yet the whole discourse of the Apostle, proueth that he speaketh thereof, and not onely of the reuelation of knowledge to the Apostles, by whom, without testimony of the same spirit, christian men know the same. But if any man hath not the spirit of Christ (saith the Apostle) he is none of his Rom.8.9. S. Augustine so vnderstandeth this place, that it perteineth to the special reuelation of Gods spirit in euery true Christian that is made iust. We beleeued (saith he) that we may be our Lords friendes: Let vs know what our Lord doth, for he himselfe maketh vs not onely men, but also iust men, and not we our selues. And that we may know this, who maketh but he himselfe? For we haue not receiued the spirit of this world, but the spirit which is of God, that we may know those things which are giuen to vs of God. In Ioan. Tract. 85.

RHEM. 3 14. The sensual man.) The sensuall man is he specially, that measureth these heauenly mysteries by naturall reason, humane prudence, external sense, and worldy affection, as the Iew, Pagane, and Heretike do: and sometime both here and elswhere, the more infirme and ignorant sort of Christian men be called sensual or carnal also, who being occupied in secular affaires, and giuen to sensual ioy and worldlines, haue no such sense or feeling of these great gifts of God, as the perfecter sort of the faithfull haue. Who trying these high points of religion, not by reason and sense, but by grace, faith, and spirit, be therefore called spirituall. The spirituall then is he, that iudgeth and discerneth the truth of such things as the carnal can not attaine vnto: that doth by the spirit of the Church, whereof he is partaker in vnitie of the same, not onely see the errours of the carnal, but condemneth them and iudgeth euery power resisting Gods spirit and word: the carnal Iew, Heathen, or Heretike, hauing no meanes nor right to iudge of the said spirituall man. For when the spirituall is said to be iudged of none, the meaning is not that he should not be subiect or obedient to his Pastors and spirituall Powers and to the whole Church, specially for the trial or examination of al his life, doctrine, and faith: but that a Catholike man and namely a teacher of Catholike doctrine in the Church should not be any whit subiect to the iudgement of the Heathen or the Heretike, nor care what of The sensual man. The spiritual man. How the spiritual man is iudged and is iudged of none.

ignorance or infidelitie they ſay againſt him, for ſuch carnall men haue no iudgement in ſuch things, nor can attaine to the Churches wiſdome in any ceremony, myſterie, or matter which they condemne.

Therefore S. Ireneus excellently declaring that the Church and euery ſpirituall childe thereof, iudgeth and condemneth all falſe prophets and Heretikes of what ſort ſoeuer, at length he concludeth with theſe notable words: The ſpirituall ſhall iudge alſo al that make ſchiſmes, which be cruell, not hauing the loue of God, & reſpecting their owne priuate, more then the vnitie of the Church, mangle, deuide, and (as much as in them lieth) kill for ſmall cauſes the great and glorious body of Chriſt, ſpeaking peace, and ſeeking battaile. He ſhall iudge alſo them that be out of the truth, that is to ſay, out of the Church, which Church ſhal be vnder no mans iudgement, for to the Church are all things knowen, in which is perfect faith of the Father, and of all the diſpenſation of Chriſt, and firme knowledge of the Holy Ghoſt that teacheth all truth. The church is vnder no mans iudgement. Ire. li. 4. c. 62.

LKE. 3 The ſpirituall man, is he, that iudgeth and diſcerneth the truth of ſpiritual things, by the ſpirit of Chriſt bearing witneſſe to his word, and by the ſame diſcerneth the true Church from the falſe, the Church of God from the congregation of Heretikes. For the Church hath not a ſpirit, teaching otherwiſe, then the holy Ghoſt hath taught in the Scriptures, but agreable therunto, & confirming the doctrine taught in the ſcriptures, which Ireneus doth in part declare, in the next chapter, but more at large cap. 65. of the ſame booke: ſhewing by what meanes a member of the Church which is a ſpirituall man, attaineth to ſuch knowledge, namely by diligent reading and ſtudying of the Scriptures. Reliqua omnia &c. He that is a ſpiritual man in deed, ſhal interpret euery one of theſe things, that are ſpoken, whatſoeuer we haue ſhewed, that the Prophets haue ſpoken in the whole courſe of the Scripture, in what forme of our Lords diſpoſition, it is ſpoken, & ſhewing the holy body of the worke of the Sonne of God knowing alwaies the ſame God, & acknowledging alwaies, the ſame word of God, although he be now made manifeſt vnto vs, & alwaies acknowledging the ſame ſpirit of God, although in theſe laſt times he is newly powred forth vpon vs, & from the creation of the world, to the end, vpon mankind it ſelfe by whom, they that beleeue God and follow his word, obtaine that ſaluation, which is of him. But they which depart from him, and deſpiſe his commandements, and by their works do diſhonour him, that hath made them, and by their opinion do blaſpheme him, that feedeth them, do heape vnto themſelues, moſt iuſt iudgement. This man therefore trieth all men, he himſelfe is tried of no man, neither blaſpheming his father, nor making void his diſpoſitions, nor accuſing the fathers, nor diſhonoring the prophets, either ſaying that they are of another God, or againe, that the prophecies haue bin of diuers ſubſtances. And we ſay againſt all Heretikes, and firſt againſt thoſe that be of Marcions ſide, and againſt thoſe that are like to them, ſaying, that the prophets are of another God: Read yee more diligently the Goſpell which is giuen vs by the apoſtles, and read more diligently the prophets, and you ſhall finde all the doing, and all the doctrine, and all the paſſion of our Lord preached or ſet forth in them. If all the doctrine of Chriſt be ſet forth in the Scriptures, and ſo plainly that it may by diligent reading be found euen of Heretikes, the ſpirit of the Church teacheth nothing, but that which is ſet forth in the ſcriptures. The Church is vnder no mans iudgement.

CHAP. III.

EHEM. 1 If they will not be carnall ſtill, they muſt boaſt in God onely, and not in their preachers, which are but his miniſters, 10 and need to looke well how they preach: 12 becauſe not all preaching, though it be Catholike, is meritorious: but rather it buildeth matter to be purged by fire, when it is vaine and vnfruitefull (as alſo any other like workes of other Catholikes.) marie if it be hereticall, deſtroying the temple of God, then it worketh damnation. 18 The remedie is, to humble themſelues and referre all to God.

LKE. 1 The text ſpeaketh not of any preaching, or other worke that is meritorious.

AND I, brethren, could not ſpeake to you as to ſpirituall, but as to carnall. As it were to litle ones in Chriſt,

2 I gaue you ‡ milke to drink, not meat: for you could not as yet. but neither can you now verily, for yet you are carnall.

3 For whereas there is among you emulation and contention, are you not carnall, and walke according to man?

4 For when one ſaith, I certes am Paules, and an other, I Apollos: are you not ‖ men? What is Apollo then? and what is Paul?

5 The miniſters of him whom you haue beleeued, and to euery one as our Lord hath giuen.

6 I planted, Apollo watered: but God gaue the increaſe.

7 Therefore neither he that planteth is any thing, nor he that watereth: but he that giueth the increaſe, God.

8 And he that planteth & he that watereth are one. And ‖ euery one ſhal receiue his owne reward according to his owne labour.

9 For we are ‘ coadiutors: you are Gods husbandry, you are Gods building.

10 According to the grace that is giuen me, as a wiſe workemaſter haue I laied the foundation: and an other buildeth thereupon.

AND I could not ſpeake vnto you brethren, as vnto ſpirituall, but as vnto carnal, euen as vnto babes in Chriſt.

2 I haue nouriſhed you with milke, and not with meate: for ye then were not ſtrong, neither are ye as yet.

3 For ye are yet carnall: Seeing then there is among you enuying, and ſtrife, and ſects, are ye not carnall, and walke as men?

4 For while one ſaith, I am of Paul, and an other, I am of Apollo, are ye not carnall?

5 For what is Paul? what is Apollo? but miniſters by whom ye beleeued, euen as the Lord gaue to euery man.

6 I haue planted, Apollo watered: but God gaue the encreaſe.

7 So then, neither is he that planteth any thing: neither he that watereth: but God that giueth the encreaſe.

8 *He that planteth, and he that watereth, are one: * and euery man ſhal receiue his reward according to his labour.* Pſal. 63. 13. gal. 6. 5.

9 For we together are Gods labourers, ye are Gods husbandry, ye are Gods building.

10 According to the grace of God which is giuen vnto me, as a wiſe maſter builder haue I laid the foundation, and another buildeth there- on.but let euery one looke how he buildeth thereon.

11 For other foundation no man can lay,beside that which is laid: which is Christ IESVS.

12 And if any man build ‖ vpon this foundation, gold, siluer, pretious stones, wood,hay,stubble,

13 The worke of euery one ‖ shal be manifest: for ‖ the day of our Lord wil declare, because it shal be reuealed in fire: and the worke of euery one of what kind it is, the fire shal trie.

14 If any mans worke abide, which he built thereupon: he shal receiue reward.

15 If any mans worke burne,he shal suffer detriment: but himselfe shal be saued: yet so ‖ as by fire.

16 Know you not that you are the temple of God: and the Spirit of God dwelleth in you?

17 But if any violate the temple of God, God wil destroy him. For the temple of God is holy: which you are.

18 Let no man seduce himselfe: if any man seeme to be wise among you in this world, let him become a foole that he may be wise.

Iob 5,13. 19 For the wisedome of this world is folishnes with God. For it is written, I will compasse the wise in their subteltie.

Psal.93,11. 20 And againe,Our Lord knoweth the cogitations of the wise that they be vaine.

21 Let no man therefore glory in men. For al things are yours:

22 Whether it be Paul,or Apollo,or Cephas,or the world,or life,or death, or things present, or things to come, for al are yours:

23 And you are Christs,& Christ is Gods.

on.But let euery man take heed how he buildeth vpon.

11 For other foundation can no man lay then that is laid,which is Iesus Christ.

12 If any man build vpon this foundation, gold,siluer,precious stones,timber, hay, or stubble:

13 Euery mans worke shall be made manifest. The day shall declare it,because it shall be reuealed by the fire, and the fire shall try euery mans worke what it is.

14 If any mans worke that he hath built vpon,abide,he shall receiue a reward.

15 If any mans worke burne, he shall suffer losse,but he shall be safe himselfe: yet as it were through fire.

*16 * Knowe yee not that yee are the temple of God, and that the spirite of God dwelleth in you?* 1. Cor.3,16.

17 If any man ‖ defile the temple of God, him shall God destroy: for the temple of God is holy, which temple ye are. ‖ Or destroy.

18 Let no man deceiue himselfe: If any man among you seeme to himselfe to be wise in this world, let him become a foole, that hee may be wise.

*19 For the wisedome of this world,is foolishnesse with God: for it is written, * He compasseth the wise in their owne craftinesse.* Iob 5,13.

20 And againe, The Lord knoweth the thoughts of the wise,that they be vaine.

21 Therefore let no man glory in men, for all things are yours:

22 Whether Paul, or Apollo,or Cephas, either the world, either life or death, whether things present, or things to come, all are yours.

23 But yee are Christs, and Christ is Gods.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. III.

RHEM. 2 8 Euery man shall receiue according) A most plaine text for proofe that men by their labours, and by the diuersities thereof, shall be diuersly rewarded in heauen: and therefore that by their workes proceeding of grace, they do deserue or merite heauen,and the more or lesse ioy in the same. for though the holy Scripture commonly vse not this word merite,yet in places innumerable of the old & new Testament,the very true sense of merite is conteined,and so often as the word merces,*and the like be vsed,they be euer vnderstood as correlatiues or correspondent vnto it. for if the ioy of heauen be retribution,repaiment,hire,wages for works(as in infinite places of holy Scripture,) then the works can be none other but the valure,desert,price,worth,& merite of the same.And indeed this word,*reward,which in our English toong may signifie a voluntary or bountiful gift,doth not so wel expresse the nature of the Latin word,or the Greeke,which are rather the very stipend that the hired workeman or iournieman couenanteth to haue of him whose worke he doth,and is a thing equally and iustly answering to the time & weight of his trauels & works (in which sense the scripture saith,* Dignus est operarius mercede sua. the workeman is worthy of his hire) rather then a free gift. though, because faithfull men must acknowledge that their merits be the gifts and graces of God, they rather vse the word reward, then hire,stipend, or repaiment. though in deed it be all one,as you may see by diuers places of holy write. as, My mercies(reward) is with me ro render to euery one * according to his works. And* Our Lord will render vnto me according to my iustice. Psal. 17 And the very word it selfe merite(equiualent to the Greeke) is vsed thus, Mercy shall make a place to euery one * according to the merite of works. Ecclesiastici 16,15. And if you doe your iustice before men, you shall not haue reward in heauen. Matth.6,1. Where you see that the reward of heauen is recompense of iustice. And the euasion of the Heretikes is friuolous and euidently false, as the former and like wordes doe conuince,for they say heauen is our Merces or reward, not because it is due to our workes, but to the promes of God: where the wordes be plaine, According to euery mans workes or labours, vpon which workes, and for which workes conditionally, the promes of heauen was made.

Good works are meritorious, and the rewards in heauen are different according to the same.

Merces. μίσθος. 1.Tim.5,18. Apoc.22,12. Mat.16,27. Rom.2,6. κατ' ἔργα.

FVLKE. 2 Euery man shall receiue reward according to his labours, but not according to the merite of his labours. Neither doth the Scripture in the originall tongues,euer vse the wordes of meriting and deseruing, in the case of reward, nor any wordes that is correlatiue vnto it. For the word *Merces,*or μίσθος,or reward, hath relation vnto Gods promise, and not to the merite, worthinesse or desert of the worke. And where you say in the ende, that we haue a friuolous euasion,to say that the reward is not due to our workes, but to Gods promise, we Merite.

we say not so, but that the reward is due to our workes, not in respect of their merite or worthinesse, but in respect of Gods promise. As if a king should make a proclamation, that euery one which laboureth one day in his building, shall receiue a thousand pound, we say the reward is here due to the worke, but not in respect of the merite, worthinesse or desert of the labour, but in respect of the kings promise. Much more in the reward of eternall life, which is Gods free gift, and is infinitely more worth, then our labour, yet due to his promise, who also giueth will and habilitie, to worke that whereunto he repayeth reward. But you adde, that the sense of merite, is contained in the scripture, though the word be not, because the ioy of heauen is called retribution, repayment, hire, wages, workes, then the workes can be none other, but the value, desert, price, woorth, and merite of the same. First, I answere, that the ioy of heauen is neuer called in Scripture by the slauish name of hire or wages. For μίσθος, signifieth a reward of meere grace, as well as an hire or wages. And so the Apostle vseth it plainly, Rom.4.4. saying: To him that worketh, μίσθος, reward, is not reckoned according to grace, but according to debt. Therefore the word reward, doeth signifie as well that which is giuen according to grace, as that which is due in respect of desert. And so it is alwaies taken, when the ioy of heauen is called a reward, because as the Apostle saieth, we are saued of grace, and not of workes, Ephe.2.8.9. And least you should flie to your distinction of the first grace and iustification, the Apostle saieth, we are so saued by grace, that when we were dead in sinne, God hath quickened vs with Christ, and raised vs vp with him, and placed vs in heauen with Christ, and in Christ Iesus. Wherein is comprehended grace of finall perseuerance and glorification. For who shall bring vs downe, being once placed in heauen with Christ, and in Christ: he may as soone pull Christ out of heauen. Rom.10.6. Therefore, when the Scripture vseth that word, reward, for hire and wages due to the worke, it speaketh not of the reward of eternall life. As when it saith: The workeman is worthy of his hire: He meaneth the preacher is worthie of his maintenance of them to whom he preacheth, which his labour doth throughly deserue. In the second place Apoc.22. Where Christ saieth, his reward is with him, to render to euery man according to his worke: The reward is of grace, and not of merite, and so of the like places. But where Dauid saith, Psalm. 17. The Lord will render to him according to his worke, the reward is of grace, and not of merite, and so of the like places. But where Dauid saith, Psalm.17. The Lord will render to him according to his iustice, he meaneth the iustice of his cause against his persecutors. For when he hath to doe onely with God, he saith: Enter not into iudgement with thy seruant, for no flesh shall be iust in thy sight, Psalme 142.2. The place of Ecclesiasticus, (beside that it is no Canonicall Scripture) is falsly translated or corrupted in your vulgar Latine edition. For according to the Greeke it is thus: Make a place to all kinde of mercy, for euery man shall finde according to his workes. In which sentence, there is neither word nor meaning of merite. Finally, the reward due to almes is of the mercy of the rewarder, not of the merite of the almes. For Math.6. The word is almes, which your translation calleth iustice. Our Sauiour Christ sheweth Math.25.34. that the reward for almes is the inheritance of the kingdom of heauen which was prepared for the giuer, before the beginning of the world: Therefore it is not the hire or wages due to the merite of almes, but a reward of the free grace and election of God, prepared and promised to the giuers of almes. So there is no place in the Scriptures, whereupon to ground your heretical doctrine, of the value, merite or worthinesse of works to deserue the ioies of heauen.

RHEM. 3 12 Vpon this foundation.) The foundation is Christ, and faith in him working by charitie. The vpper building may be either pure and perfect matter of gold, siluer, and precious stone, which (according to the most authentical and probable exposition) be good works of charitie and al Christian iustice done by Gods grace: or els, wood, hay, stubble, which signifie the manifold actes of mans infirmitie and his veniall sinnes. Which more or lesse mixed and medled with the better matter aforesaid, require more or lesse punishmẽt or purgation at the day of our death. At which day, if by penance or other meanes in the Church, the said venial sinnes be before hand clensed, there shall need no purging at all, but they shall straight receiue the reward due to them. Building of gold, or stubble.

PVLGE. 3 The building of precious matter vpon the foundation, which the Apostle speaketh of, is manifestly to be vnderstood, of pure doctrine sincerely deliuered. The building of combustible matter, is vaine affectation of eloquence, and other like trifling matter, not taking away the foundation, but handling it vnworthily. Hesych. lib.1.cap.1. Malas actiones & doctrinas significatas. But admitting your interpretation, the Apostle speaketh not of more or lesse punishment or purgation, at the day of our death. And yet if that also were graunted, the Apostles wordes will allow no purging by penance, or other meanes of the Church. For he saith, the fire shall trie euery mans worke, he saith not, the fire shall purge euery man. So that if this fire here should signifie purgatorie, (as S. Augustine saith, expresly it cannot) and if euery man should folow his worke, no man should escape purgatorie. Purgatory. Satisfaction.

RHEM. 4 13 Shal be manifest.) Whether our life and workes be pure and neede no cleansing, now in this world is hard to iudge: but the day of our Lord, which is at our death, will make it plaine in what termes euery mans life is towards God, for then Purgatorie fire shall reueale and prooue it. for, whosoeuer hath any impure matter of venial sinnes or such other lettes, to Gods iustice paiable and purgable, must into that fire, and after due payment and cleansing, be saued through the same. Where the workes of the perfect men and such as died with all dettes paied, cleansed, or forgiuen, are quitted from the fire, & neuer incurre domage, paine, or losse thereby. The places of fathers expounding this for Purgatorie, be very many most euident, which are cited in the last Annotation folowing. Our workes shall be manifested by fire.

PVLGE. 4 The true text is, the day, and not the day of our Lord, and so doth S. Augustine read, so the sense is: Time will declare, for God hath appointed a time, to examine as it were by fire, euery mans doctrine, as S. Ambrose doth expound it. But of purgatory fire after this life, here is no mention. Purgatory.

RHEM. 5 13 The day of our Lord shall declare.) That this purgation rather signifieth the place of Gods iustice after our death, then any affliction in this life, the Apostles precise signifying of fire declareth, and of reuealing notifying the difference of mans workes by the same: which is not done euidently euer in this life: and namely the word, day of our Lord : which commonly and properly signifieth in Scripture, and namely in this Apostle (1.Cor.5,5.2.Cor.1,13. Phil.1,10.6,1.Thes. 5,2.2.Thes.2,2.) either the particular, or the general iudgement: and therefore that the trial spoken of is not properly nor litterally meant any affliction or aduersitie of this life, as Caluin also confesseth, coyning a foolish new construction of his owne. Where you may note also in that mans Commentarie, that this word, dies Domini, was so preiudiciall against him and all other expositions of the triall to be made in this world, that he would gladly haue (Domini) out, reading thus, A day shall come which shall open, &c. Where vnderstand, that if it were only Dies (*as * in the Greeke*) yet thereby also the Scripture is wont to signifie the selfe same thing: as 2,Tim.1,12.18. and 2.Tim.4,8. and Heb. 10,25. the day, as in this place, with the Greeke article onely, which is all one with Dies illa, or Dies Domini. What is signified by the day of our Lord. Caluin in hunc locum. * ἡμέραν PVLGE. 5 As I said before, that word (our Lord) is not of the Greeke text, nor in all copies of your vulgar Latine, but in Plantines print, is marked with a note of superfluitie. Secondly the text speaketh not one word of purging, Purgatory.

but of trying, and that not of the persons, but of the works. And where you say the Apostles precise specifying of fire, declareth a place of iustice after this life, it is a vaine and vnlearned collection. For fire is here taken allegorically, as all the rest of the words, foundation, gold, siluer, &c. wood, hay, stubble, &c. The texts that you quote for the day of our Lord, pertaine not to this place: where the day of the Lord is not named, but generally, a day. And yet in all those places, the day of the Lord, or the day of Christ, signifieth the day of iudgement, when Christ shall come to iudge the quicke and the dead, and not any particular iudgement before that day. Finally, let the article be taken demonstratiuely, (as sometimes it is) yet you can make none other day of it, but doomesday.

RHEM. 6 15 As by fire.) S. Augustine vpon those words of the Psalme, 37. Lord rebuke me not in thine indignation, nor amend me in thy wrath. For it shall come to passe (saith he) that some be amended in the wrath of God, & be rebuked in his indignation. And not all perhaps that are rebuked, shall be amended, but yet some there shall be saued by amending. It shall be so surely, because amending is named: yet so as by fire. but some there shal be that shall be rebuked, and not amended. to whom he shall say, Goe ye into euerlasting fire. Fearing therefore these more grieuous paines, he desireth that he may neither be rebuked in indignation by eternall fire, nor amended in his wrath. that is to say, Purge me in this life, & make me such an one as shall not need the amending fire, being for them which shal be saued, yet so as by fire. Wherefore? but because here they build vpon the foundation, wood, hay, stubble? for if they did build gold, siluer, & pretious stones, they should be set vre from both fires, not only from that eternal which shal torment the impious eternally: but also from that which shall amend them that shall be saued by fire. for it is said, he shall be safe, yet so as by fire. And because it is said, he shall be safe, that fire is contemned. Yea verily though safe by fire, yet that fire shall be more grieuous, then whatsoeuer a man can suffer in this life. And you know how great euiles the wicked haue suffered, and may suffer: yet they haue suffered such as the good also might suffer. For what hath any malefactor suffered by the lawes, that a Martyr hath not suffered in the confession of Christ? These euiles therefore that are here, be much more easie, & yet see how men, not to suffer them, do whatsoeuer thou commandest. How much better doe they that which God commandeth, that they may not suffer those greater paines? Thus farre S. Augustine. See S. Ambr. vpon this place, 1. Cor. 3. & Ser. 20. in Psal. 118. Hiero. li. 2. c. 13. adu. Iouinianum. Greg. li. 4. Dialog. c. 39. & in Psal. 3. Poenit. in principio. Origen ho. 6 in c. 15. Exod, and ho. 14. in c. 24. Leuit.

Two fires after this life: one eternall, the other temporall, that is the purging or amending fire.

Purgatorie fire paineth alike paines of this life.

FVLKE. 6 To the auctoritie of S. Augustine I oppose his owne iudgement vpon better aduise and examination of the text. Ignis de quo, &c. The fire whereof the Apostle speaketh in this place, must be vnderstood to be such, that both doe passe through it, that is, both he which buildeth vpon this foundation, gold, siluer, precious stones: and he which buildeth wood, hay, stubble. For when he had said thus, he added, The fire shall trie euerie mans worke of what qualitie it is. If any mans worke shall remaine which he hath built vpon the foundation, he shall receiue reward, if any mans worke shal be burnt, he shall suffer losse, but he himselfe shall be safe, yet so as it were by fire. Therefore the fire shall trie not the worke of one of them, but of them both. And the fire truely is the tentation of tribulation, of which in an other place it is written plainely, The fornace doth proue the potters vessels, and tentation of tribulation, iust men. This fire doth the same in this life, which the Apostle said, &c, Enchir. ad Laurent. cap. 68. And as concerning purgatorie, which opinion in his daies began to be harkened vnto, he doubteth of it, saying: Tale aliquid, &c. It is not incredible, that some such thing also is done after this life, & it may be enquired of, whether it be so: and either be found or be hidden still, that some faithfull men are saued by a certaine purging fire, so much sooner or later, by how much they haue loued corruptible goods more or lesse. Ibid. & de Dule. Quaest. q. 5. But afterward writing against the Pelagians, he vtterly denieth any third place beside heauen and hell. Primum, &c. The faith of the Catholikes vpon diuine auctority hath beleeued the first place to be the kingdome of heauen, from whence as I said, he that is not baptized, is excepted. The second place, hell, where euerie one that falleth from Christ, or is a stranger from Christ, shall finde eternall punishment. The third place we are vtterly ignorant of, yea and we finde in the holy Scriptures that there is none. Contr. Pelagian. hypogn. lib. 5. Likewise he denieth all third or middle place, De verbis Apost. Ser. 14. Purgatorie.

S. Ambrose vpon this text, vnderstanding it of doctrine, that is to be tryed by fire, saieth, that he whose euill doctrine shal perish, shal suffer the paines of fire, that being purged by fire, he may be purged. But expounding what he meaneth by the paines of fire, he saith: Semper enim, &c. For he must alwaies be ashamed, which seeth that he hath defended falshood in stead of truth, which cannot be vnderstood of popish purgatorie, but of other iudgements of God in this life, wherin he shalbe ashamed when he seeth his errour conuinced. Thereupon also, Ser. 20 in Ps. 118. he saith, after he hath cited this text. Cognoscentes itaq; &c. Knowing therfore that there be many iudgements, let vs examine all our workes, for a iust man the losse is grieuous, the burning of any worke is grieuous. So he vnderstandeth the fire to be the triall of all Gods iudgements in this life, and not purgatorie after this life. For he prayseth the death of all the faithfull. Quia deteriorem statum, &c. Because it maketh not their state worse, but such as it shall finde in euerie one, such it reserueth vnto the iudgement to come, and cherisheth them in quiet rest. De bono mortis cap. 4. Likewise in Ps. 40. he saith: Bene addidit, &c. The Prophet hath well added, In the earth, for except he be here cleansed, he cannot be cleane there. You see therefore by these testimonies, that all the faithfull are in rest after this life, and can haue no purging after they are gone from hence. Therefore he cannot be vnderstood of popish purgatory where there is so little rest, and so great necessitie of purging pretended. Hierome hath nothing that soundeth for purgatorie, whose words are these. Si is cuius opus, &c. If he whose worke is burnt & lost, and hath sustained losse of his labour, shall loose in deed the reward of his labour, but shall himselfe be saued, yet not without triall of fire, therefore he whose worke hath remayned, which he hath built vpon, shall be saued without triall of fire, so verily there shalbe some diuersitie betweene saluation and saluation. Here is trial by fire, according to the text, but no purging by fire after this life. Nay, that this triall is by tentation in this life, he sheweth in the same booke: In malis, &c. In euill workes and sins, our seeds are the incentiues and perfection of the diuell. For when he shall see vs build vpon the foundation of Christ, hay, wood, stubble, then he putteth fire to it. Let vs therefore build gold, siluer, precious stones, and he shall not be bold to tempt vs. Dicit Apostolus, Quia vnusquisque propriam mercedem secundum suum laborem. Illum scilicet in quo vnusquisque inuenitur quando de praesenti seculo transire praecipitur. Fulgent. de rem. peccato. lib. 2, cap. 8.

In the daies of Gregorie which was sixe hundred yeeres after Christ, the opinion of purgatorie had gotten some ground in the Latine church, though it was neuer receiued in the Greeke church, yet in the place by you quoted, he graunteth it, but for verie small offences. For after he had cited certaine testimonies of Scripture he addeth. Ex quibus sententijs, &c. Of which sentences it is manifest, that such as euerie man departeth hence, such he is presented in iudgement, but yet of certaine light faults it is to be deemed, that the purging fire is before the iudgement. Because the truth saieth, that if any man speake blasphemie against the holy Ghost, it shall not be forgiuen him in this world, nor in the world to come. In which sentence it is giuen to be vnderstood, that some faults may be releassed in this world, some in the world to come. For that which is denied of one Consequent, vnderstanding is open, that it is graunted of some. But yet as is said before, that must be thought to be possible to be done, of little, and of the least sinnes. As daily idle talke, immoderate laughter, or the sinne of houshold care, which is scarce done without fault, euen of them which know how to decline from fault, or the error of ignorance in no weighty matters, all which do weigh downe after death, if they be not released to men while they continue in this life. For when Paule saith that Christ is the foundation, and addeth if any man shall build vpon it &c. (although this may be vnderstood of the fire of tribulation left to vs in this life) yet if any man take it of the fire of purgation that shall be, we must carefully consider that he said: that man may be saued by fire, not which buildeth vpon this foundation, iron, brasse, or lead, that is the greater sinns, and therfore harder, and which then are insoluble, but wood, hay, stubble, that is small, and most light sinnes, which the fire may easily consume. If Gregories opinion had continued, or yet might be admitted among the Papists, purgatory would not be very gainefull vnto thē. Yet he confesseth also that this place may be otherwise vnderstood then of purgatorie, which is contrarie to your note. In ps. 3. penit. he acknowledgeth greeuous purgatorie flames, but he groundeth them not vpon this text. Remigius, who liued 200. yeeres after Gregory, vnderstandeth this fire to be God himselfe. Cum tu sis ignis consumens, fœnum aut stipula non potest tibi adhærere: Si quis enim ædificauerit supra fundamentum hoc lignum, fœnum stipulam omne hoc quale sit ignis probabit. In Psal. 5. Origen allegorising of the text after his maner, yet speaketh nothing of popish purgatorie. For in the former place he saith: Sicut furnus &c. As the furnace trieth golde, so tentation doth iust men: therefore all men must come to the fire, they must come to the melting pot. This you cannot vnderstand of purgatorie, whither you confesse that all do not come. In the second place nothing can be concluded of purgatorie, but that as there be diuers kinds of sinnes, so there be diuers qualities of punishmēts, all which the faithfull man may auoide. But that there was no purgatorie paine knowne in his time, he testifieth in these words: Nam priores &c. Men of former time did celebrate the day of birth, as they which loued this life onely, and hoped not for another after this. But now we do not celebrate the day of nativitie, seeing it is the entrance into sorrowes and tentations, but we celebrate the day of death, as that which is the putting away of all sorrowes, and the escaping of all tentations: we celebrate the day of death, because they do not die which seeme to die. Therefore we keepe memories of the saints, and of our parents, or of our friends dying in the faith, we hold a memorie deuoutly, as well reioycing of their refreshing, as also praying for a godly consummation in the faith of our selues. So therefore we do not celebrate the day of nativitie, because they that die shall liue for euer. And thus we celebrate it, we call together the deuout people with the priests, the faithfull with the clergie. Moreouer we inuite the poore and needie, and fede the fatherlesse and widowes, that our festiuitie may be made in remembrance of the rest, which is vnto the soules departed, whose memorie we celebrate, and may be vnto vs a sauour of sweetenesse in the sight of the eternall God. Heere you see that Origen acknowledged the soules of all the faithfull departed to be in rest, in refreshing, and discharging of all sorrowes, therefore not in purgatorie.

CHAP. IIII.

He requireth to be esteemed for his office, but regardeth not to be praised of man for his vertue: considering that neither his owne conscience is a sufficient iudge thereof, but onely God who seeth all. 8 He toucheth them for contemning in their pride, the Apostles themselues as miserable. 18 threatening to come to those proude False apostles who were the authors of all these schismes.

SO let a man esteeme vs as the ministers of Christ, and the dispensers of the mysteries of God.

2 Here now is required among the dispensers that a man be found faithfull.

3 But to me it is a thing of least account, to be iudged of you, or of mans day: but I iudge not my selfe neither.

4 For I am not guilty in conscience of any thing: ‖ but I am not iustified herein: but he that iudgeth me, is our Lord.

5 Therefore iudge not before the time: vntill our Lord do come, who also will lighten the hidden things of darkenes, and will manifest the counsels of the hartes: and then the praise shall be to euery man of God.

6 But these things, brethren, † I haue transfigured into my selfe and Apollo, for you: that in vs you may learne, one not to be puffed vp against an other, aboue that is written.

7 For who discerneth thee? Or what hast thou that thou hast not receiued? And if thou hast receiued, what doest thou glorie as though thou hast not receiued?

8 Now you are filled, now are you become rich: without vs you reigne: and I would to God you did reigne, that we also might reigne with you.

9 * For I thinke that God hath shewed vs Apostles the last, as it were deputed to death:

LEt a man so esteeme of vs as the ministers of Christ, and the disposers of the secrets of God.

2 Furthermore, it is required in the disposers, that a man be found faithfull.

3 With me it is but a very small thing that I should be iudged of you, either of mans iudgement: yea, I iudge not mine owne selfe.

4 For I know nothing by my selfe, yet am I not thereby iustified: but he that iudgeth me, is the Lord.

5 * Therfore iudge nothing before the time, Matt. 7. 1. rom. 2. 1.
vntill the Lord come, who will lighten the hidden things of darkenesse, and open the counsels of the hearts: and then shall euery man haue praise of God.

6 And these things brethren, I haue figuratiuely applied vnto my selfe and to Apollos, for your sakes: that ye might learne by vs, not to be wise aboue that which is written, that you swell not one against another for any mans cause.

7 For who separateth thee? And what hast thou that thou hast not receiued? If thou hast receiued it, why doest thou glory as though thou hadst not receiued it?

8 Now ye are full, now ye are rich, ye haue reigned as kings without vs, and I would God ye did reigne, that we also might reigne with you.

9 For me thinketh that God hath set forth vs which are the last Apostles, as it were men death: because [b] we are made a spectacle to the world, and to Angels and men.

10 We are fooles for Christ: but you wise in Christ. we weake: but you strong. you noble, but we base.

11 Vntill this howre we do both hunger, and thirst, and are naked, & are beaten with buffets, and are wanderers,

12 And labour working with our owne handes. we are cursed: and do blesse. we are persecuted: and sustaine it.

13 We are blasphemed: & we beseech. we are made the refuse of this world, the drosse of all euen vntill now.

14 Not to confound you, do I write these things: but as my deerest children I admonish you.

15 For [c] if you haue ten thousand pædagoges in Christ: yet not many fathers. For in Christ IESVS by the Gospell I begat you.

16 I beseech you therefore be followers of me.

17 Therefore haue I sent to you Timothee. who is my deerest sonne and faithful in our Lord: who will put you in minde of my waies that are in Christ IESVS, as euerie where in euerie Church I teach.

18 As though I would not come to you, so certaine are puffed vp.

19 But I will come to you quickly, if our Lord will: and will know not the words of them that be puffed vp, but the power.

20 For the kingdome of God is not in words, but in power.

21 What will you? ‖ in rod that I come to you: or in charitie, and the spirit of mildnesse?

10 We are fooles for Christs sake, but ye are wise in Christ. We are weake, but ye are strong: Ye are honorable, but we are despised.

11 Euen vnto this ‖time we both hunger and thirst, and are naked, & are buffeted, and haue no certaine dwelling place.

12* And labor, working with our owne hands: being reuiled, we blesse: being persecuted, we suffer it:

13 Being defamed, we pray: we are made as the filthinesse of the world, & are the offscouring of all things vnto this day.

14 I write not these things to shame you, but as my beloued sonnes I warne you.

15 For though ye haue ten thousand instructers in Christ, yet haue ye not many fathers: For in Christ Iesu I haue begotten you through the Gospell.

16 Wherefore I desire you, be ye followers of me.

17 For this cause haue I sent vnto you Timotheus, which is my beloued sonne, and faithfull in the Lord, who shall put you in remembrance of my waies which be in Christ, as I teach euerie where in all churches.

18 Some are swollen, as though I would come no more at you:

19 But I wil come to you shortly, if the Lord will, and will know, not the words of them which are swollen, but the power.

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. IIII.

RHEM. 1 15 If you haue.) So may S. Augustine our Apostle say to vs English men.

FVLKE. 1 That Augustine whom you speake of was no Apostle of Christ but of Gregorie, neither did he beget the nation of the Englishmen to Christ by the pure Gospell as S. Paule did the Corinthians, but with mixture of mens traditions. And that Christian religion which he found in the Britans, he laboured to corrupt with Romish inuentions. Augustine monke no apostle.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. IIII.

RHEM. 2 4. But not Iustified.) The Heretikes are certaine that they be in Gods grace, but S. Paul though guiltie of no crime in his conscience, durst not assure him selfe that he was iustified, neither could take vpon him to be iudge of his owne hart and cogitations, whether they were pure or no: but the triall thereof be left onely to Gods iudging day. No mans grace certaine.

FVLKE. 2 S. Paule was most sure of Gods grace, and his iustification thereby through faith: Rom.8.30. But he doth acknowledge that he is not iustified by his faithfull seruice and labor in the Gospell, therefore no man can be iustified by his works done of Grace, in as great perfection as can be done of mortall men, which yet is farre vnable to stand before the iustice of God. Certaintie of faith. Iustification by works.

RHEM. 21. In rodde.) The Apostles haue power of discipline and censures against offenders, and power of gentlenes, meeknes, and indulgence also: to vse either punishing or pardoning, according to their wisedome, and according to the occasions of time and place. Spiritual power to punish or pardon.

CHAP. V.

Sharply rebuking their Clergies negligence, 3 himselfe absent excommunicateth that publike incestuous person: 6 commanding that hereafter no Christian be so tolerated in any open crime, but excommunicated.

The second part of the Epistle: of the incestuous fornicator: & lawing before Infidels. Leu.18.8. 20.11.

THERE is plainely heard fornication among you, and such fornication, as the like is not among the heathen, so that one hath his *fathers wife.

THere goeth a common saying, that there is fornication among you, and such fornication as is not named among the Gentiles: that one should haue his fathers wife.

2 And 2 And

2 And you are puffed vp: and ‡ haue not mourned rather, that he might be take away from among you, that hath done this deede.

3 ‖ I in deed absent in body, but present in spirit, haue already iudged, as present, him that hath so done,

4 In the name of our Lord IESVS Christ, ‖ you being gathered together and my spirit, with the vertue of our Lord IESVS

5 To deliuer such an one ‖ to Satan for the destructiō of the flesh, that the spirit may be saued in the day of our Lord IESVS Christ.

6 Your glorying is not good. Know you not that a litle leauen corrupteth the whole paste?

7 Purge the old leauen, that you may be a new paste, as you are azymes. For our Pasche, Christ, is immolated.

8 Therfore ‖ let vs feast, not in the old leauen, nor in the leaue of malice & wickednes, but in the azymes of sinceritie & veritie.

9 I wrote to you in ᶜ an epistle, Not to keepe company with fornicatours.

10 I meane not the fornicatours of this word, or the couetous, or the extortioners, or seruers of Idols: otherwise you should haue gone out of this world.

11 But now I wrote to you, not to keepe compagnie, if he that is named a brother, be a fornicatour, or a couetous person, or ᶜ a seruer of Idols, or a railer, or a drunkard, or an extortioner: with such an one ‖ not so much as to take meat.

12 For what is it to me to iudge of them that are without? Do not you iudge of them that are within?

13 For them that are without, God will iudge. Take away the euill one from among your selues.

2 And ye are puffed vp, and haue not rather sorowed, that he that hath done this deed, might be taken away from among you.

3 For I verily, as absent in body, but present in spirit haue determined alreadie, as though I were present, that he that hath so done this deed,* Col.2.5.

4 In the name of our Lord Iesus Christ, you being gathered together, and my spirit with you, with the power of the Lord Iesus Christ,

5 To deliuer such* a one vnto Satan for the destruction of the flesh, that the spirit may be saued in the day of the Lord Iesus. 1.Tim.1.20.

6 *Your glorying is not good, Know ye not that a little leauen leaueneth the whole lumpe? Gal.5.9.

7 Purge out therefore the old leauen, that ye may be a new lumpe, as ye are vnleauened. For euen Christ our Passeouer is ‖ offered vp for vs. ‖ Or, is slaine.

8 Therfore let vs keepe holyday, not with old leauen, neither with the leauen of maliciousnesse and wickednesse: but with the vnleauened bread of pureneſſe and truth.

9 I wrote vnto you in an epistle, that ye should not company with fornicators.

10 I did not meane not at all with the fornicators of this world, or with the couetous, or extortioners, or with idolaters: for then must ye needs haue gone out of the world.

11 But now this I write vnto you, not to compagnie together, if any that is called a brother be a fornicator, or couetous, or a worshipper of idols, or a railer, or a drunkard, or an extortioner: with him that is such, not to eat.

12 For what haue I to do to iudge them that are without? doe not ye iudge them that are within?

13 Them that are without, God shall iudge. And ye shall put away from among you that wicked person.

Therefore another translation vseth the terme Idolaters in both places, the third hath a worshipper of Idols in the latter place. Slanderous cauilling.

VLG. 2 S. Paul sendeth no mandatum, but vseth his apostolike power in decreeing the incestuous person to be excommunicate, and requiring the same to be executed by the church. Paules mandatum.

HAM. 3 4. You being gathered.) Though he commaunded the acte should be done in the face of the Church, as such sentences and censures be at this day executed also, yet the iudgement & authority of giuing sentence was in himselfe, and not in the whole multitude, as the Protestantes and the popular Sectaries affirme. for the power of binding and loosing was not giuen to the whole Church, but as in the persons of the Prelats, and to them for the benefite of the whole. Whereupon S. Chrysostome vpon those words, Dic Ecclesiæ, Tell the Church. Mat.18. Complaine to the Church, that is, saith he, to the Prelats and Presidents thereof. The authoritie of Ecclesiasticall censures is in the Clergie only, and is executed in the name of Christ.

LYRE. 3 The authoritie of excommunication pertaineth to the whole church, although the iudgement and execution thereof is to be referred to the gouernors of the church, which exercise that authoritie as in the name of Christ, so in the name of the whole church whereof they are appointed gouernors, to auoid confusion.

HEM. 4. With the vertue.) All such great power ouer sinners, is holden & exercised in the name and vertue of CHRIST IESVS. And whosoeuer setteth light by it, despiseth our Lords name and power.

HAM. 4 5. To Satan.) To assure vs that all excommunicate persons be in the power and possession of the Diuell, and quite out of Christs protection as soone as they be separated by the Churches sentence, from her body & the Sacraments and fellowship of Christian Catholike men: it pleased God to giue power to the Apostles and Prelates in the primitiue Church, to cause the Diuell straight vpon their sentence of excommunication, so inuade the body of the excommunicate, and to torment him corporally, so Christ excommunicated Iudas, and the Diuell entred into him, and he went forth of the happy fellowship of the Apostles. The terrible sentence of excommunication. Act.5.

postles. Io. 13. 27. so this Apostle excommunicated Alexander & Hymenæus, and Satan straight tooke them: 1. Tim. 1. Yea it is thought that S. Peter excommunicated Ananias and Sapphira, and for signe of his power and terrour of the sentence, strooke them both starke dead. De mirabil. S. Scriptura li. 3. c. 16. apud D. August. Which miraculous power though it be not ioyned now to that sentence, yet as far as concerneth the punishment spirituall, which it specially appertaineth vnto, it is as before, and is by the iudgement of the holy Doctors (Cypr. ep. 62. num. 3. Chrys. in 1. Tim. 1. ho. 5. Ambros. in 1. Tim. 1. Hiero. ep. ad Heliod. c. 7. August. de cor. & gra. c. 15.) the terriblest and greatest punishment in the world, yea far passing all earthly paine and torment of this life, and being a verie resemblance of damnation, and so often called by the Fathers, namely by S. Augustine. And by this spirituall sword (saith S. Cyprian) all must die in their soules, that obey not the Priests of Christ in the new law, as that they were disobedient to the iudges of the old law, were slaine with the corporall sword. Would God the world knew what a maruelous punishment Christ hath appointed the Priests to execute vpon the offenders of his lawes, and specially vpon the disobedient, as Heretikes namely. Loci citati.

FVLKE. 4 Without such bodily tormenting by the diuell, we are sufficiently assured, that whosoeuer is diuided from the church of Christ, is in the power of Satan. That Christ did excommunicate Iudas we finde not in the scripture, nor that Peter did excommunicate Ananias and Saphira. The punishment in deed of excommunication is exceeding great, when it is iustly executed by the ministers of the true church. But the banning of heretikes is no more to be feared, then their blessing is to be desired. And if they also that be true members of the church will take vpon them to excommunicate such as be not vnder their iurisdiction, their excommunication is not to be regarded. As when Victor Bishop of Rome tooke vpon him to denounce all the churches of Asia to be excommunicate, which did not keepe the feast of Easter as the church of Rome did. The Churches of Asia did iustly despise his vniust censure. And the bishops of Asia (saith Eusebius) ἀντιπαρεκελεύοντο did countermand him (as it is to be thought) gathered in councell against his vsurped excommunication, willing him to be better affected to peace and vnitie with his brethren. Beside this many godly bishops by their letters, did sharply rebuke him for his doing, yea some of them that ioyned with him in the vse of the ceremonie: as Irenæus bishop of Lyons in the name of the brethren of France. Hist. lib. 5. c. 25. Excommunication. The bishop of Romes authoritie.

RHEM. 5 8. Let vs feast.) The Paschal lambe, which was the most expresse figure of Christ euery way, was first sacrificed and afterward eaten with azymes or vnleauened bread. So Christ our Paschall, being then newly sacrificed on the Crosse, is recommended to them as to be eaten with all puritie and sinceritie, in the holy Sacrament. Which mysterie the holy Church in these words commendeth to the faithfull euery yeere at the feast of Easter. Puritie in receiuing the B. Sacrament. Exa. 12.

FVLKE. 5 S. Augustine referreth this feasting not to the celebration of Easter, nor to the receiuing of the communion, whereunto we ought to be prepared with all sinceritie, but to our whole life. Etenim pascha nostrum, &c. Christ our Passeouer (saith he) is slaine or offered, that they might learne by example of so great humilitie, to purge out the olde leauen, that is what pride soeuer had remained in them of the olde man. Therefore (saith he) let vs keepe holy day, not for one day onely, but for our whole life, not in the olde leauen, nor in the leauen of malice and malignitie, but in the vnleauened bread of sinceritie and truth. Cont. ep. Parm. lib. 3. c. 2. Easter day.

RHEM. 6 11. Not to take meate.) It is not meant that we should separate our selues corporally from all sinners, or that we might refuse to liue in one Church or fellowship of Sacraments with them, which was the errour and occasion of the Donatists great schisme: nor that euery man is straight after he hath committed any deadly sinne, excommunicated, as some Lutherans hold: but that we should auoid them when the Church hath excommunicated them for such, though in mind, and condemnation of their faults, euery one ought to be alwaies far from them. As for the Heathen and Pagans, which be not vnder the Churches discipline, and at that time in externall worldly affaires dealt with Christians & liued amongst them whether they would or no, the Apostle did not forbid Christians their companie. We are bound to auoid, not all sinners, but the excommunicate only, and them, except in certaine cases.

FVLKE. 6 I know not any Lutherans that hold that euerie man streight after he hath committed any deadly sinne is excommunicated. But amongst papists there is for some offences excommunication, ipso facto, and de iure, and a canone, without any sentence or denunciation. Extra. de sent. Excom. Cum desideres. And further I find in your Canon law, this title, Vita non sententia, ab ecclesia aliquem eijcit, vel ad eam recipit. The life and not the sentence doth cast any man out of the church, or receiueth them vnto it. Which is thus expounded, Cum aliquis, &c. When any man goeth out from the truth, from the feare of God, from faith, from charitie, he goeth out of the camp of the church although he be not cast out by the voice of the bishop, As on the contrarie side, some is cast out by no right iudgement, but if he went not out before, that is if he did not that whereby he deserued to goe out, he is nothing hurt. For sometimes, he that is cast out, is within, and he that is without, seemeth to be kept within. Decret. causa. 24. qu. 3. c. Cum aliquis, &c. By this iudge, whether some Lutherans be iustly charged with that which is affirmed by many Papistes, as the Canon law is. Slander.

RHEM. 13. The euill one.) He concludeth that though they cannot, nor himselfe neither, cut of the Heathen that be publike offenders, yet the ill person by him excommunicated being one of their owne body, they may cut of, as is aforesaid, and auoid his company. Vpon which commaundement of the Apostle, we see that we are bound by Gods word to auoid all companie and conuersation with the excommunicate, except in cases of necessitie, and the spirituall profit of the person excommunicated.

CHAP. VI.

He rebuketh them for going to law before Iudges that were not Christians, 9 telling that extortion (as many other offences likewise (is a mortall sinne. 12 And with diuers reasons he inueigheth against fornication, bidding also to flee all occasion thereof.

DARE any of you hauing a matter against another, to be iudged before the vniust, and not before the saincts?

2 Or know you not that ‡ the saincts shal iudge of the world? And if the world shal be iudged by you: are you vnworthie to iudge of the lest things?

3 Know you not that we shal iudge Angels? how much more secular things?

4 If therefore you haue secular indgements: the contemptible that are in the Church, set them to iudge.

‡ The faithfull iudge and giue sentence with God at the later day, specially the Apostles and the perfect Christians that haue forsaken al for Christs sake.

DAre any of you, hauing busines † with another, be iudged vnder the vniust, and not rather vnder the Saincts? † Or, pleas

2 Do ye not know that the Saincts shal iudge the world? If the world shall be iudged by you, are ye vnworthie to iudge the smallest matters?

3 Know ye not how that we shall iudge the Angels? How much more, things that pertaine to this life?

4 If then ye haue iudgements of things pertaining to this life, set vp them to iudge which are least esteemed in the Church.

5 I speake to your shame. So is there not among you any wise man, that can iudge betweene his brother.

6 But brother with brother ‖ contendeth in iudgement: and that before infidels?

7 Now certes there is plainely ‖ a fault in you, that you haue iudgements among you. Why do you not rather take wrong? why do you not rather suffer fraude?

8 But your selues doe wrong and defraude: and that to the brethren.

9 Know you not that the vniust shal not possesse the kingdome of God? Do not erre, Neither fornicatours, nor ᶜ seruers of Idols, nor aduouterers, nor the effeminat, nor the liers with mankinde,

10 Nor theeues, nor the couetous, nor drunkards, nor railers, nor extortioners shal possesse the kingdome of God.

11 And these things certes you were: but you are washed, but you are sanctified, but you are iustified in the name of our Lord IESVS Christ, and in the Spirit of our God.

12 All things are lawfull for me, but all things are not expedient. All things are lawfull for me, but I will be brought vnder the power of none.

13 The meate to the belly, and the belly to the meates: but God will destroy both it and them: and the bodie not to fornication, but to our Lord, and our Lord to the body.

14 But God both hath raised vp our Lord, and will raise vp vs also by his power.

15 Know you not that your bodies are the members of Christ? Taking therfore the members of Christ, shall I make them the members of an harlot? God forbid.

16 Or know you not, that he which cleaueth to an harlot, is made one body? For they shall be, saith he, two in one flesh.

17 But he that cleaueth to our Lord, is one spirit.

18 Flee fornication. Euery sinne whatsoeuer a man doeth, is without the body: but he that doth fornicate, sinneth ‡ against his owne body.

19 Or know you not that your members are the temple of the holy Ghost which is in you, whom you haue of God, and you are not your owne?

20 For you are bought with a great price. Glorifie and beare God in your body.

5 I speake it to your shame. Is it so that there is not a wise man among you? no not one that shall be able to iudge betweene his brethren?

6 But brother goeth to law with brother, and that vnder the vnbeleeuers?

7 Now therefore, there is vtterly a †*fault among you, because you goe to law one with an other: * Why rather suffer ye not wrong? why rather suffer ye not harme?* † Or, want.

10 Nor theeues, nor couetous, nor drunkards, nor reuilers, nor †pillers, shall inherite the kingdome of God. † Or, extortioners.

11  And some such like you were: but ye are washed, but ye are sanctified, but ye are iustified in the name of the Lord Iesus, and by the spirit of our God.* Titus 3.3.

12 All things are lawfull vnto me, but all things are not profitable: all things are lawfull for me, but I will not be brought vnder the power of any.

13 Meates for the belly, and the belly for meates: but God shall destroy both it and them. Nowe the bodie is not for fornication, but for the Lord: and the Lord for the body.

14 *And God both hath raised vp the Lord, * and also shall raise vs vp by his power.* Rom.6.5.

15 Know ye not that your bodies are the members of Christ? Shall I then take the members of Christ, and make them the members of an harlot? God forbid.

16 What, know ye not that he which is coupled with an harlot, is one †body? For two (saith he) shall be one flesh. ‡ With the harlot. Gen.2.24.

17 But he that is coupled vnto the Lord, is one spirit. math.19.5. mark.10.7.

18 Flee fornication: euery sinne that a man doeth, is without the bodie: but he that committeth fornication, sinneth against his owne bodie. ephes.5.32.

19 *What, * know ye not that your bodie is the temple of the holy Ghost* which is in you, whom ye haue of God, and ye are not your owne? 1.Cor.6.16.

20  For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorifie God in your body, and in your spirit, which are Gods.* 1.Pet.1.16.

9. Seruers of Idols.) For this, the English Bible 1562 falsely translateth, worshippers of images.
All worshipping of images is idolatry, though there be spirituall Idolatry, which is not worshipping of Images. But this quarrell is sufficiently confuted in the Defense of our Translations. Cap. 3. Cauilling.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. VI.

6. Contendeth in iudgement.) To be giuen much to brabling and litigiousnes for euerie trifle, to spend a pound rather then lose a peny, the Apostle much reprehendeth in Christian men. For a Christian man to draw an other to the iudgements seates and courts of Heathen Princes (which then onely reigned) and not to suffer their controuersies and quarrels to be taken vp among themselues brotherly and peaceably, was a great fault: as, for one Catholike to draw an other for mere trifles, before secular or hereticall Officers, is a verie vnchristian part. Going to law before heathen or heretical iudges

7. A fault.) He forbade not all iudgements of controuersies, but onely signified that it was a fault, and that it proceeded of some iniuries done one to another, and imperfections, that they so molested one another: and that it had beene more agreeable to Christian perfection and charitie, rather to tolerate and suffer a small iniurie, then to draw his fellow to iudgement seates. Going to law not forbidden: but to agree otherwise, better.

CHAP. VII.

That married folke may aske their debt, and must pay it, though it be better for them to conteine, 8 as also for the vnmaried and widowes to continue single, though they may marrie. 10 That the married may not depart from one another (nor in any case marrie another, during the life of the former) 12 vnles it be from one that is vnbaptized, which yet he dissuadeth: 17 counseling also euerie one to be content with his state wherein he was Christened. 25 Virginitie is not commaunded, but counseled as the better and more meritorius then Mariage, 39 as also widowhod.

RHEM. 1 The 3. part. Of Mariage and continencie.

FYLKE. 1 Virginitie is not counsailed, as more meritorious, but as a more free state to serue God in. Merite.

AND concerning the things whereof you wrote to me: It is good for a man not to touch a woman.

2 But because of fornication let euerie man haue ‖ his owne wife, and let euery woman haue her owne husband.

3 ‖ Let the husband ᶜ render his dette to the wife: and the wife also in like maner to her husband.

ᶜ debitum reddat

4 The woman hath not power of her owne bodie: but her husband. And in like maner the man also hath not power of his owne body: but the woman.

5 Defraud not one another, except perhaps by consent for a time, ‡ that you may ‖ giue your selfe ‖ to praier: & returne againe togither, lest Satan tempt you for your incontinencie.

‖ to fasting and praier:

6 But I say this ‖ by indulgence, not by commaundement.

7 For I would all men to be as my selfe: but euerie one hath ‖ a proper gift of God: one so, and an other so.

8 ‡ But I say to the vnmaried and to widowes: it is good for them if they so abide euen as I also.

‡ Before he treated of the continencie of such as were maried, now he giueth lessons for the vnmarried also.

9 But ‖ if they doe not conteine themselues, let them marie. For it is ‖ better to marie then ᶜ to be burnt.

10 But to them that be ioyned in matrimonie, not I giue commandement, but our Lord, * that the wife depart not from her husband.

Mat. 5. 32. 19. 9. Mar, 10. 9. Lu. 16, 18.

11 And if she depart, ‖ to remaine vnmaried, or to be reconciled to her husband. And let not the husband put away his wife.

12 For to the rest, ‖ I say, not our Lord. If any brother haue a wife an infidell, and she consent to dwell with him: let him not put her away.

13 And if any woman haue a husband an infidell, and he consent to dwel with her: let her not put away her husband.

14 For the man an infidel is sanctified by the faithfull woman: and the woman an infidel ‖ is sanctified by the faithfull husband: otherwise your children shoulde bee vncleane: but now they are holy.

15 But if the infidell depart, let him depart. for the brother or sister is not subiect to seruitude in such. but in peace hath God called vs,

16 For

NOW as concerning the things whereof ye wrote vnto me: It is good for a man not to touch a woman.

2 Neuertheless, to auoid fornication, let euery man haue his owne wife, and let euery woman haue her owne husband.

3 * Let the husband giue vnto the wife due beneuolence: Likewise also the wife vnto the husband. 1. Pet. 3. 7.

4 The wife hath not the power of her owne body, but the husband: And likewise also the husband hath not the power of his owne body, but the wife.

5 Defraud you not the one the other, except it be with both your consents for a time, that ye may giue your selues to fasting and praier: and afterward come together againe, that Satan tempt you not for your incontinencie.

6 This I say †of fauour, and not of commandement. † Or, by way of sufferance.

7 For I would that all men were euen as I my selfe: but euerie man hath his proper gift of God, one after this maner, another after that.

8 I say therefore to the vnmaried and widowes, it is good for them if they abide euen as I:

9 But if they cannot abstaine, let them marie: for it is better to marie then to burne.

10 Vnto the maried commaund, not I, but the Lord, * Let not the wife depart from her husband: Mat. 5. 32. 19. 9.

11 But and if she depart, let her remaine vnmaried, or be reconciled to her husband againe: And let not the husband put away his wife.

12 But to the remnant speak I, not the Lord, If any brother haue a wife that beleeueth not, and she consent to dwell with him, let him not put her away.

13 And the woman which hath to her husband an infidel, and he consent to dwell with her, let her not put him away.

14 For the vnbeleeuing husband is sanctified by the wife, and the vnbeleeuing wife is sanctified by the husband: els were your children vncleane, but now are they holy.

15 But if the vnbeleeuing depart, let him depart. A brother or a sister is not made subiect in such things: but God hath called vs in peace.

16 For

16 For how knoweſt thou woman, if thou ſhalt ſaue thy husband? or how knoweſt thou man, if thou ſhalt ſaue the woman?

17 But to euery one as our Lord hath deuided, as God hath called euery one, ſo let him walke, and as in all Churches I teach.

18 Is any man called being circumciſed? let him not procure prepuce. Is any man called in prepuce? let him not be circumciſed.

19 Circumciſion is nothing, and prepuce is nothing: but the obſeruation of the commaundements of God.

20 Euery one in the vocation that he was called, in it let him abide.

21 Waſt thou called being a bondman? care not for it: but and if thou canſt be made free, vſe it rather.

22 For he that in our Lord is called, being a bond man, is the ‹ franchiſed of our Lord. likewiſe he that is called, being free, is the bondman of Chriſt.

23 You were bought with price, be not made the ‡ bondmen of men.

24 Euery ‖ brother wherein he was called, in that let him abide before God.

25 And as concerning virgins, a commaundement of our Lord I haue not: but ‖ counſel I giue, as hauing obteined mercie of our Lord to be faithfull.

26 I thinke therefore that this is good for the preſent neceſſitie, becauſe it is good for a man ſo to be.

27 Art thou tied to a wife? ſeeke not to be looſed. Art thou looſe from a wife? ſeeke not a wife.

28 But if thou take a wife, †thou haſt not ſinned. And ‖ if a virgin marie, ſhe hath not ſinned. neuertheleſſe ‖ tribulation of the fleſh ſhal ſuch haue. but I ſpare you.

29 This therefore I ſay brethren, the time is ſhort, it remaineth that they alſo which haue wiues, be ‖ as though they had not.

30 And they that weepe, as though they wept not: and they that reioice, as though they reioyced not: and they that bye, as though they poſſeſſed not.

31 And they that vſe this world, as though they vſed it not. for the figure of this world paſſeth away.

32 But I would haue you to be without carefulnes. He that is without a wife, is ‖ carefull for the things that pertaine to our Lord, how he may pleaſe God.

33 But he that is with a wife, is carefull for the things that pertaine to the world, how he may pleaſe his wife: and he is deuided.

34 And the woman vnmaried and the virgin, thinketh on the things that pertaine to 16 For how knoweſt thou, O woman, whether thou ſhalt ſaue thy husband? or howe knoweſt thou, O man, whether thou ſhalt ſaue thy wife?

17 But as God hath diſtributed to euerie man, as the Lorde hath called euery one, ſo let him walke, and ſo ordaine I in all Churches.

18 Is any man called being circumciſed? let him not adde vncircumciſion: Is any called in vncircumciſion, let him not be circumciſed.

19 Circumciſion is nothing, and vncircumciſion is nothing, but the keeping of the commandements of God.

20 Let euery man abide in the ſame calling wherein he was called.* Eph.4.1.

21 Art thou called a ſeruant? care not for it: neuertheleſſe, if thou mayeſt be made free, vſe it rather.

22 For he that is called in the Lord being a ſeruant, is the Lordes free man: likewiſe alſo he that is called being free, is Chriſtes ſeruant.

23 Ye are bought with a price, be not yee the ſeruants of men.* 1.Pet.1.20.

24 Brethren, let euery man wherein he is called, therein abide with God.

25 Now concerning virgins, I haue no commaundement of the Lord: yet giue I counſell, as one that hath obtained mercy of the Lord to be faithfull.

26 I ſuppoſe therefore that it is good for the preſent neceſſitie, that I ſay, it is good for a man ſo to be.

27 Art thou bound vnto a wife? ſeeke not to be looſed. Art thou looſed from a wife? ſeeke not a wife.

28 But and if thou marry, thou haſt not ſinned, and if a virgin marry, ſhe hath not ſinned: neuertheleſſe, ſuch ſhal haue trouble in the fleſh: but I† beare with you. † Or, ſpare you.

29 But this ſay I brethren, becauſe the time is ſhort: it remaineth that they alſo which haue wiues, be as though they had none:

30 And they that weepe, as though they wept not: and they that reioyce, as though they reioyced not: and they that bye, as though they poſſeſſed not:

31 And they that vſe this world, as not abuſing it: for the faſhion of this worlde goeth away.

32 I woulde haue you without care. He that is vnmaried, careth for the thinges that belong to the Lorde, howe hee may pleaſe the Lord:

33 But he that hath married, careth for the things that are of the world, how he may pleaſe his wife.

34 There is difference betweene a virgine and a wife: the vnmarried woman careth for to our Lord: that she may be holy both in body & in spirit. But she that is maried, thinketh on the things that pertaine to the world, how she may please her husband.

35 And this I speake to your profit: not to cast a snare vpon you, but to that which is honest, and that may giue you power without impediment to attend vpon our Lord.

36 But if any man thinke that he seemeth dishonoured vpon his virgin, for that she is past age, and if it must so be, let him do that he will. He sinneth not if she marie.

37 For he that hath determined in his hart being setled, not hauing necessitie, but hauing power of his owne wil, and hath iudged this in his hart, to keepe his virgin, doth wel.

38 Therefore both he that ioyneth his virgine in matrimonie, doeth well: and he that ioyneth not, doeth better.

Rom.7,2. 39 * A woman is bound to the lawe so long time as her husband liueth: but if her husband sleepe, she is at libertie: let her marie to whom she will: onely in our Lord.

* The state of widowhood more blessed, then the state of matrimonie. 40 But ' more blessed shall she be, if she so remaine, according to my counsell. and I thinke that I also haue the Spirit of God.

the thinges that are of the Lorde, that she may be holy both in bodie and in spirite: but she that is married, careth for the thinges that pertaine to the worlde, howe shee may please her husband.

35 This speake I for your profite: not that I may cast a snare vpon you, but for comelines sake, and sitting fast vnto the Lord without separation.

36 But if any man thinke that it is vncomely for his virgin if she passe the time of mariage, and neede so require, let him do what he will, he sinneth not: let them be married.

37 Neuertheless, he that standeth stedfast in his heart, hauing no neede, but hath power ouer his owne will, and hath so decreed in his heart that he will keepe his virgine, doth well.

38 So then he that gineth in marriage doeth well: but he that gineth not in mariage, doeth better.

Rom.7.1. †Or by the law of mariage. *39 The wife is bound to the †law as long as her husband liueth: but if her husband be dead, she is at libertie to be maried to whom she will, onely in the Lord.

1.Thes.4.8. *40 But she is happier if she so abide, after my iudgement: * and I thinke verily that I haue the Spirit of God.*

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. VII.

RHEM. 2 5 That you may.) If the lay man cannot pray, vnlesse he abstaine from his wife: the Priest that alwaies must offer sacrifices, and alwaies pray, must therefore alwaies be free from matrimonie. Hiero. li. 1. c. 19. aduer. Iouin.

FVLKE. 2 Hierome was an immoderate extoller of virginitie, to the reproch and dishonour of matrimonie, as appeareth by his sayings in the same booke. Si bonum est &c. If it be a good thing not to touch a woman, ergo, it is an euill thing to touch a woman: for nothing is contrary to good but euill. This was S. Hieromes logike, in his heate against Iouinian. To touch a woman and not to touch a woman, be contraries, which euery childe knoweth to be otherwise. Againe he saith in depraying the goodnesse of Matrimonie. Oro te quale &c. I pray you what good thing is that which forbiddeth to pray? which permitteth not the body of Christ to be receiued. So long as I fulfill the duetie of an husband, I fulfill not the office of a Christian. The same Apostle commandeth in an other place, that we should pray alwaies. If we must alwaies pray, ergo we must neuer serue mariage: for so often as I render debt to my wife, I cannot pray. I omit what he writeth against second and third mariages, which afterward he was driuen to retract. You see if we must stand to his auctoritie, all men must absteine from mariage, as from an euill thing: as that forbiddeth to pray or to communicate with the Lordes body: as in doing the duetie whereof, they cannot doe the dutie of Christian men. And seeing that maried men also ought alwaies to pray, euen maried men must neuer yeelde to the duetie of mariage, which causeth that they cannot pray. These opinions are farre worse then that Iouinian held, of the equall worthinesse of virginitie with mariage. Therefore leauing his authoritie, let vs examine his reason. If the lay man cannot pray vnlesse he absteine from his wife, then the priest must alwaies absteyne from mariage. This antecedent is false, for a lay man may not onely pray, but ought to pray alwaies, as Hierome also confesseth, though he do not alwaies absteine from his wife. S. Paul willeth maried men not to defraude one another, except it be for a time with consent, that they may giue themselues to fasting and prayer, which kinde of prayer with fasting, is not alwaies necessarie, but sometimes conuenient, vpon some speciall occasion, that requireth most feruent praiers, with humiliation by fasting, and abstinence from all worldly delights: and yet in such occasion, consent is necessarie for abstinence from matrimoniall companie, as it is plaine by the text. Yet it is so farre of, that the lay man cannot pray, vnlesse he absteine from his wife, that often times he praieth more quietly and purely, then he that hath no wife, or absteyneth from her, if he haue not dominion ouer bodily lust. Wherefore matrimonie shall no more hinder the priest to offer sacrifice & praier, then it doeth the lay man, who is bound alwaies to offer sacrifice and praiers as much as the priest. And therefore we must oppose against S. Hieromes auctoritie, the auctoritie of Paphnutius, and the whole Councell of Nice that condescended vnto his reason, alledging that the companie of priestes and deacons, as well as of all other Christian men with their lawfull wiues, is chastitie. Socrates lib. 1. cap. 11.

Virginitie.

Maried Priestes.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. VII.

RHEM. 3 2 His owne wife.) He sayth not as the Protestants here pretend to excuse the vnlawfull coniunction of Votaries, Let euery one mary: but, let euery one haue, keepe or vse his owne wife to whom he was maried before his conuersion. for the Apostle answereth here to the first question of the Corinthians, which was not, whether it were lawfull to mary, but whether they were not bound vpon their conuersion, to absteine from the company of their wiues married before in their infidelitie, as some did perswade them that they ought to doe. Hiero. lib. 1. cont. Iouin. c. 4. Chrys. in hunc locum hom. 19.

The Apostle deth not mary, but keepe their wiues be maried.

FVLKE. 3 The Apostles wordes are generall, that to auoide fornication, euery man and woman ought to liue chastly in holy matrimonie. Hierome in deede more iniurious to matrimonie, then a Catholike doctor ought to haue beene, beene, saith thus: Non dixit autem &c. He said not, let euery man mary a wife to auoid fornication: for then by this excuse he should haue let loose the bridle to lust, that as often as the wife dieth, so often another wife must be maried, that we doe not commit fornication: but let euery man haue his owne wife. You see plainely, if Hieromes auctoritie be good in this place, it is good to condemne second or thirde mariages, after a mans wife be dead, which is litle better then Heresie, and therefore Hierome reuoked his opinion therein. Chrysostome saieth nothing to restreyne the wordes onely to maried men, but saith, that this saying: It is good for a man, &c. is not restreyned to priestes, but extendeth to al men. For he would not vniuersally haue admonished onely priestes, if he had written these things for them, but haue said, it is good for a teacher not to touch a woman: but now he hath spoken vniuersally, when hee saith, it is good for a man. Therefore this is not saide onely to a Priest. And againe, Art thou loose from a wife, seeke not a wife: he saith not, thou Priest and Teacher, but generally, and so throughout all the Epistle, his speach goeth generally: but when he saith, for fornication let euery man haue his wife, by the very cause of indulgence, he bringeth into continencie. Priests mariage.

RHEM. 4 3 Let the husband render.) These wordes open the Apostles intention and talke to be onely of such as are already maried, and to instruct them of the bond and obligation that is betweene the maried couple for rendring of the dette of carnall copulation one to another: declaring that the maried persons haue yeelded their bodies so one to another, that they can not without mutuall consent, neither perpetually, nor for a time, defraud one the other.

FVLKE. 4 These wordes doe not restraine the vniuersalitie of the Apostles former wordes, seeing auoiding of fornication, is the same cause in them that are vnmaried to take wiues, and in them that are maried, to vse the company of their wiues.

RHEM. 5 5 Giue your selfe to prayer.) This time, and the Heretikes doctrine, and high estimation of matrimoniall actes, are farre from the puritie of the Apostolike and primitiue Church, when the Christians to make their praiers and fastings more acceptable to God, abstained by mutuall consent euen from their lawfull wiues. our new Masters not much abstaining (as it may be thought) from their wiues for any such matter. And yet S. Augustine saith, the Prelate should passe other in this case, and thinke that not to be lawfull for him, that may be borne in others, because he must daily supply Christes roome, offer, baptize, and pray for the people. So saith he li. 1. q. ex vtroque test. q. 127. in fine. See S. Hiero. li. 1. c. 19. aduers. Iouin. S. Ambr. li. 1. Offic. c. vlt. But alas for the people, whose maried Pastors are in this point farre woorse then the vulgar folke, neither teaching continencie, nor giuing good example. Continencie in maried folkes for praier sake.

FVLKE. 5 We haue none other estimation of the matrimoniall act, then the Apostle doth teach. And it may well be thought, that many of our ministers vse more continencie in lawfull mariage, then popish priestes doe that are not lawfully maried, yet vse orher wicked meanes to satisfie their vnlawfull lustes, as the world knewe too well, when they liued at ease amongst vs. That it is lawfull for a Bishop to be maried, the authoritie of the Scripture is more to be regarded then of any mortal man. S. Paul (as euen S. Hierome confesseth) describeth a Bishop, the husband of one wife, and hauing children in all chastitie, as Samuel, who was brought vp in the tabernacle, and as many priests in his time were maried: cont. Iou. lib. 1. That you cite for the contrary out of S. Augustine, lib. quæst. &c. is neither of Augustines, neither of any learned mans writing, but of a late brabler, as his barbarous phrases doe declare. in many places also, confuting that which S. Augustine doeth earnestly defend, as in the censure of Erasmus before that treatise, euery man may see. S. Ambrose for such puritie as is required of the minister saith, De castimonia &c. Of chastitie what should I speake, when one onely mariage is permitted, and not repeated? Euen in mariage it selfe, there is a lawe not to marie againe, nor to haue the coniunction of a second wife. You see therefore, that mariage with one wife in his time was compted chastitie, and lawfull for a minister of the Church: yea he addeth moreouer, that the second wife was not forbidden as a fault, but as against a lawe, which was, that he which had one wife before baptisme, and another after, was not admitted into the ministerie. In coniugio &c. In the mariage there is no fault but a lawe. Finally by the councell of Gangra, If any man make difference of a maried priest, as though through occasion of his mariage he ought not to offer, and therefore doth refraine himselfe from his oblation, he is accursed, Cap. 4. Priests mariage.

RHEM. 6 By indulgence, not commandement.) Lest some might misconster his former wordes, as though he had pretisely commanded maried persons not to abstaine perpetually from carnall copulation, or not to giue their consent one to another of continencie but for a time onely: he declareth plainely that he gaue no rule or precept absolutely therein, but that he spake all the foresaid, condescending to their infirmities onely, insinuating that continencie from carnal copulation is much better, and that himselfe kept it continually. Aug. de bon. coniug. c. 10. Enchirid. c. 78. Perpetuall continencie, euen in maried folks, better then carnall copulation.

RHEM. 6 7 A proper gift.) To such as may lawfully mary, or be already maried, God giueth not alwaies that more high and speciall gift or grace of continencie, though euery one of them all that duely aske and labour for it, might haue it: but such are not bound to endeuour or seeke for it alwaies, and therefore cannot be commaunded to abstaine further then they like. but whensoeuer a man is bound to abstaine, either by vowe or any other necessarie occasion (as if one of the parties be in prison, warre, banishment, sickneſſe, or absent perpetually by lawfull diuorce) the other must needes in paine of damnation abstaine, and cannot excuse the want of the gift of chastitie. for he is bound to aske it and to seeke for it of God by fasting, praier, and chastising his body: and so labouring duely for it, God will giue the grace of chastitie. So had S. Paul it, and so had all the holy men that euer liued chast. Therefore detest the doctrine of the Protestants in this point, that when they list not fast nor pray for it, say they haue not the gift. And it were a great maruell why so fewe of the newe Sectes or rather inne now a daies haue that gift, but that we see it is obtained by those meanes which our forefathers vsed, and they vse not at all. To liue in mariage continently without the breach of coniugall fidelitie, is a gift of God also, but men must not breake their faith of wedlocke for want of it, but must knowe that God giueth that gift to such as humbly aske it of him.* Auguſt. de grat. & lib. arbitrio. c. 4. de continent. cap. 1. Who are bound to liue continently: and that God giueth this gift to all that aske it. * See S. Augustine li. 2. c. 19. 20 de Adult. Coniug. 20. 6.

FVLKE. 6 It cannot be called a proper gift, if euery one that labour for it, may haue it. Our Sauiour Christ teacheth, that all men cannot take it, but let him (saith he) that can take it, take it and vse it, Math. 19. 11. 12. They that binde themselues by a rash and vnaduised vow, before they were sure of the gift, haue no promise to be heard in their praier for continencie. But where there is such necessitie, as they neither are cause of themselues, nor can otherwise auoid, as in long or perpetual sicknes, it is certaine, that God will giue the gift, being sought for by such meanes as it is conuenient, because he hath promised al things necessary for our saluation: as for imprisonment, banishment, warre, &c. I doe not take to be such necessitie, but the husband is bound to followe his wife in them, & the wife her husband. As for absence by lawfull diuorce, which is onely for fornication, doth not restraine mattimonie, seeing that case is excepted by our Sauiour Christ, and there is no reason but that the exception should extend as well to the second mariage, as to the diuorce. There is no cause therefore to detest the Protestants doctrine, when they say they haue not the gift of continencie, but rather to detest both the doctrine, and the doings of the papists, which say they haue the gift, and teach that all men may haue it if they will, and yet leade a filthy and abominable life out of mariage. Whether we vse praier and fasting, to trie All cannot haue the gift of continencie.

whether it will pleaſe God to giue that gift, it is vnknowne to you. Some I am ſure haue vſed it, and many among vs, both in the miniſterie, and out of it, haue the gift of continencie, though they make no raſh vowes of it, nor deſpiſe them that haue it not. How well you keepe your vowes that liue abroad, we know not, but your forefathers the popiſh Clergie, that liued here amongſt vs, we know, that as fewe of them liued chaſtly, as of vs doe liue out of mariage continently.

RHEM. 7 9 If they conteine not.) He meaneth of ſuch as be free: for if they marry after they haue made vowe or promes to God of chaſtitie, they are worthely damned, ſuch being bound to conteine, and ſo may conteine if they liſt. Auguſt de bono viduit. c. 8. 9 & de adul. coniug. li. 1. c. 15. & de fide ad Petrum c. 3. in fine. Ambroſ. ad virg. lapſam. c. 5. The Apoſtle permitteth mariage to them that be free, not to vowed perſons.

FVLKE. 7 He ſpeaketh generally, and therefore his precept extendeth alſo to them that haue made raſh vowes of continencie, if they doe not conteyne: and if they may conteyne if they liſt, the fault of many popiſh prieſtes is the greater, that they doe not conteyne. S. Auguſtine de bono viduitatis, although he compt it a ſinne, to forſake continencie in them that haue vowed it, yet he condemneth not the mariage of ſuch as haue vowed. Non quia ipſæ nuptiæ vel talium &c. Not that the mariage it ſelfe, euen of ſuch perſons, is iudged to be condemned Cap. 9. and in the next Chapter he proueth, that ſuch mariages are not to be diſſolued: for though he condemne the breaking of that vow to be euill, yet he affirmeth the mariage to be good. S. Ambroſe in the place quoted, although he affirmeth, that ſuch as haue vowed, ought not to marry, yet he compteth it more intollerable for ſuch to commit fornication. Epiphanius teſtifieth what the iudgement of the Church was in his time. Contra apoſtolicos, Hær. 61. Melius eſt itaq; &c. It is better to haue one ſinne, and not many: It is better for him that is fallen from his courſe, openly to take vnto him a wife according to the law, and to repent a long time from his virgintie, & ſo to be brought againe vnto the Church, as he that hath wrought euill, as he that is fallen and broken, and hath neede to be bound vp, and not to be daily wounded with ſecret dartes of that improbitie, which is offered to him by the diuel: ſo knoweth the Church to preach. Theſe are the medicines of healing &c. Contrary to this doctrine, ſome papiſtes haue preached, that it is leſſe ſinne for a vowed prieſt to keepe many concubines, then to marrie a wife: and as you affirme in the next Section. Vow of continencie.

RHEM. 8 9 Better to marry.) *It is better to marry for the ſaid perſons that be free, then to be ouerthrowen and fall into fornication. for, to burne, or, to be burnt, is not to be tempted onely (as the Proteſtants thinke that picke quarels eaſily to marry) but it ſignifieth * to yeelde to concupiſcence either in mind or externall worke. We ſay alſo, for ſuch as be free. for concerning others lawfully made prieſtes, and ſuch as otherwiſe haue made vow of chaſtitie, they can not marry at all, and therefore there is no compariſon in them betwixt mariage and fornication or burning. for their mariage is but pretenſed, and is the worſt ſort of incontinencie and fornication or burning.* Theodoretus hunc locum.

FVLKE. 8 By Epiphanius iudgement, it is better for vowed perſons to marrie, then to burne: which is not onely to be tempted, as you faſly ſlander vs to thinke, but to be ſo continually inflamed with luſt, that the will doth conſent, and deſire quenching, which cannot be auoided in them that haue not the gift of continencie, whether they be vowed or free from vowes. That you affirme the mariage of vowed prieſtes to be but pretenſed, and to be the worſt ſort of incontinencie, and fornication, and burning, you are contrary to Auguſtine de bono viduitatis Cap. 9. who ſaith, That the mariage euen of ſuch is not to be condemned. And moreouer he ſaith. Damnantur tales &c. Such are condemned, not becauſe they haue entred into the faith of mariage afterward, but becauſe they haue made voide the firſt faith of continencie, which thing that the Apoſtle might briefly inſinuate, he would not ſay, that thoſe widowes haue damnation which marry after the purpoſe of greater holines, not becauſe they are not condemned, but leaſt the mariage it ſelfe in them might be thought to be condemned. And in the 10. chapter he ſaith. Therefore they which ſay, that the mariage of ſuch is no mariage, but rather adulteries, ſeeme to me, not to conſider throughly & diligently what they ſay: for a ſimilitude of truth doth deceiue them. Againe, Fit autem &c. There commeth to paſſe by this inconſiderate opinion (whereby they thinke that the mariage of women that are fallen from their holy purpoſe, if they be maried, to be no mariage) no ſmall euill, that wiues are ſeparated from their husbands, as though they were adultereſſes, and not wiues. And when they will reſtore them to continencie after they be ſeparated, they make their husbands adulterers, when they mary other women, while their owne wiues are aliue. Wherefore I cannot ſay, that if women that are fallen from a better purpoſe do mary, that they are no mariages but adulteries: But plainly I would not doubt to ſay, that their fallings and ruines, from more holy chaſtitie, which is vowed vnto God, are worſe then adulteries. Mariage of votaries. Slander.

You ſee therefore by his hard iudgement, that the mariage is true and not pretenſed, ſuch as cannot be diſſolued, though the breach of the vow be a grieuous ſinne, and more grieuous then adulterie.

Epiphanius alſo is cleane contrarie to your filthy cenſure againſt marying, as is ſhewed before: and further he ſaith againſt thoſe apoſtolike Heretikes, that profeſſed continencie and kept it not, as many popiſh prieſts doe and haue done. Qui virginitatem &c. He that hath corrupted virgintie, is reiected out of that courſe, and deprined of crowne and reward: but yet iudgement is better then condemnation. For they that commit fornication priuily, leaſt they ſhoulde be aſhamed before men, and exerciſe filthy luſt vnder ſhewe of ſolitarineſſe and continencie, haue not confeſſion before men, but with God, which knoweth all ſecrets, and reproueth all fleſh at his comming, as euery man hath ſinned. Therefore it is better to haue one ſinne, and not many, &c. as in the former ſection, and in the end concludeth. Theſe be the medicines of healing, theſe be the ſpices for confection of the oyntment, this is the preparation of the holy oyle in the Lawe, this is good faith giuing ſmell of ſweete odours, binding indeed the champion to his battell, and preaching vnto him to continue his courſe that he may be crowned. This is Gods marchandize, gathering all men to his royall ordinance, both purpule out of the ſea, and wooll from the ſhepe, and flaxe from the earth, and fine linnen, and ſilke, and ſkins died redde, and the precious Emeralde, and the pearle, and the Agate, ſtones differing in colours, but equall in price: But yet not reiecting golde, and ſiluer, wood that rotteth not, braſſe and yron, no nor Goates haire. And this was then the tabernacle, but now the building of the tabernacle is eſtabliſhed in God, and the foundation in truth. And let all Hereſie ceaſe, which is raiſed vp againſt the truth, or rather which chateth it ſelfe from the truth. Thus it is manifeſt by the iudgement of the Church in Epiphanius time, that that was accounted Hereſie, which you deliuer for wholeſome doctrine.

RHEM. 9 11 To remayne vnmarried.) Neither partie may dimiſſe the other and marry an other for any cauſe. for though they be ſeparated for fornication, yet neither may marry againe. Auguſtine de adulte. coniug. lib. 1. cap. 8. 9. and lib. 2. cap. 5. 19. See Annotations Math. 19. and S. Auguſtine in his whole bookes de adulter. coniugiis. tom. 6. After ſeparation not to marie.

FVLKE. 9 It is manifeſt, that the Apoſtle ſpeaketh of ſuch departings as were not lawfull diuorces; and ſo doeth S. Ambroſe vnderſtand the place ſaying, Subauditur autem excepta fornicationis cauſa. You muſt vnderſtand except this departure be for the cauſe of fornications, Quia viro licet &c. Becauſe it is lawfull for the husband to mary a wife, if he haue put away his wife offending. In which place although he thinketh the woman haue not the like right, if ſhe forſake her husband for adulterie, yet in deed the caſe is all one. Chryſoſtome vnderſtandeth the text of ſuch departings, as are not for the cauſe of fornication, and ſo doth Theodoret. Mariage diuorce.

REM. 10 12 I say not our Lord.) By this we learne, that there were many matters ouer and aboue the things that Christ taught or prescribed, left to the Apostles order and interpretation: wherein they might, as the case required either command or counsell, and we bound to obey accordingly. The Apostles precepts.

VLKE.10 The Apostles had not particular precepts for euery case, but they had generall rules in Christes doctrine, which they were bound to follow in their precepts and counsels. The precepts of the Apostles, REM. 11 14 Sanctified.) When the infidell partie is saide to be cleane or sanctified by the faithfull, or the children of their mariage to be cleane, we may not thinke that they be in grace or state of saluation thereby, but onely that the mariage is an occasion of sanctification to the infidel partie and to the children. for S. Augustine (lib. 3. de pec. mer. & remiss. c. 12.) concludeth against the Pelagians, as we may do against the Caluinists, holding Christian mens children to be holy from their mothers wombe. and not to need baptisme, that what other sanctification soeuer it be that is here meant, it cannot be ynough to saluation without faith, Baptisme, &c. How the infidell, or infidels childe, are sanctified by the Christian. Hiero. l. 1. c. 5. aduers. Iouin.

VLKE.11 It is an impudent slander, that the Caluinists holde Christian mens children to be so holy from their mothers wombe, that they need not Baptisme. For Caluine cleane contrariwise doeth argue against the Anabaptists vpon S. Pauls words: They are holy, ergo they are to be baptized. And the Sacrament is not to be denied vnto them that are therefore called holy, because they are comprehended in Gods couenant: where he saith, I will be thy God, and the God of thy seed after thee. Gen. 17. 7. Slander.

REM. 19 But the obseruation.) Neither to be Iewe nor Gentile, bond or free, maried or single, nor the faith it selfe which is proper to Christian men, will serue to saluation, without good workes and keeping the commandements, S. Hierome adu. Iouin. lib. 1. cap. 16.

REM. 12 25 Counsell I giue.) A counsell is one thing, a commaundement is an other. To do that which is counselled, is not necessarie, because one may be saued notwithstanding, but he that will do that which he is counselled vnto, shal haue a higher degree of glory. He that fulfilleth not a commandement, except he do penance, cannot escape punishment. August. lib. de virg. cap. 13. & 14. The difference of counsels and precepts.

VLKE.12 Damascen vnderstandeth the worde to signifie Exhortation, παράκλησιν. de fide orthod. lib. 3. cap. 14.

REM. 13 28 If a virgine marie.) He speaketh not of that virgine which had dedicated her selfe to God, (for if any such mary, she shal be damned for breaking her first vowe) but onely of yong maides vnmaried in the world. Hiero. adu. Iouin. lib. 1. cap. 7. Chrysostome Hom. 20. Theodoret, Photius, and the other Greeke Doctors vpon this place apud Oecum. Epiph. li. 2 ref. 61. A professed virgin may not marie.

VLKE.13 If a virgine, or any other that is vowed marry, she sinneth not in mariage, as S. Augustine saith, De bono vid. Cap. 9. 10. but in breaking her vowe. So meane the rest of the Doctors, and we agree thereunto, if she be able to liue continently, she sinneth grieuously to breake her vowe: but if she be not able to conteine, then that hath place which I cited before out of Epiphanius, Hæres. 61. And that which S. Hierome writeth ad Demetr. Sanctum virginum propositum &c. The name of certaine women, which behaue not themselues well, doeth defame the holy purpose of virgins, and the glory of the heauenly and angelike familie: to whom it must be said openly, that either they should marry, if they cannot conteine, or conteine if they will not marry. Mariage of votaries.

REM. 14 28 Tribulation of the flesh.) They are maruelously deceiued (saith S. Augustine lib. de virg. cap. 13.) that thinke the Apostle counselleth virginitie rather then mariage, onely for that mariage hath many miseries and molestations ioyned vnto it, which by virginitie shalbe auoided. and not in respect of the greater reward in heauen. for the Apostles prouident counselling to virginitie, is for the next life, and he alleageth these troubles of mariage in that sense specially as they be a hinderance from the seruice of God heere, and therefore an impediment to vs toward the next life, and the more ample ioies thereof. Virginitie counseled as more meritorious.

VLKE.14 S. Augustines wordes, if they were graunted to be as true as the Gospel, yet proue not, that virginitie is counselled as more meritorious. Merite.

REM. 29 As though they had not.) He exhorteth that such as haue wiues, should not wholy bestow themselues in the vaine transitorie pleasure and voluptuousnesse of the flesh, but liue in such moderation, that their mariage hinder them as litle as may be, from spirituall cogitations. Which is best fulfilled of them that by mutuall consent doe wholy conteine, whether they haue had children or none, contemning carnall issue for the ioies of heauen. And these mariages be more blessed then any other, saith S. Augustine de Ser. Do. in monte lib. 1. cap. 14. The continencie of maried folke. Their perpetuall continencie, best.

REM. 15 32 Carefull for the things of our Lord.) The Protestants might here learne if they list, first that virginitie is not onely preferred before mariage, for that it is a more quiet state of life in this world, but for that it is more conuenient for the seruice of God. Secondly that virginitie hath a gratefull puritie and sanctitie both of body and soule, which mariage hath not. Thirdly, they may learne the cause why the Church of God requireth chastitie in the clergie, and forbiddeth not only fornication, but all carnall copulation euen in lawfull wedlocke: Which is not onely to the ende that Gods Priestes be not diuided from him by the clogges of mariage, but also that they be cleane and pure from the fleshly actes of copulation. Virginitie preferred, and why. Why continencie is required in the clergie.

VLKE.15 We acknowledge, that virginitie in them that haue the gift, is more conuenient for the seruice of God, then mariage: but hereof it followeth not, that mariage which God hath permitted to all ministers of the Church, should be forbidden them by the popish Church, as clogges and prophanation of sacred orders: for so doth Gregorie Martin terme it, Discou. cap. 15. sect. 11. This is not with the Apostle to counsaile virginitie as conuenient, but to commaund it as necessarie, and to forbid mariage as prophane, which is the doctrine of deuils, and a right badge of Antichristian apostasie. 1. Tim. 4. Mariage of priestes.

CHAP. VIII.

He rebuketh the learned who in pride of their knowledge did eate Idolothyta, that is things offered to Idols, vsing (as they said) their libertie: but not considering that the ignorant tooke their doing as an example for them to frequent such meats so, as they did before in their Paganisme, with opinion that they did sanctifie the eaters. The 4 part. Of meates sacrificed to Idols.

AND concerning those things that are sacrificed to Idols, we know that ‖ we al haue knowledge. ‡ Knowledge puffeth vp: but charitie edifieth.

2 And if any man thinke that he knoweth something, he hath not yet knowen, as he ought to know.

3 But if any man loue God, the same is knowen

AS touching things offered vnto idols, wee know that we all haue knowledge. Knowledge maketh a man swell: but charitie edifieth.

2 If any man thinke that he knoweth anie thing, hee knoweth nothing yet as hee ought to know.

3 But if any man loue God, the same † is † Or, taught.

knowen of him.

4 But as for the meates that are immolated to Idols, we know that an Idol is nothing in the world, & that there is no God, but one.

5 For although there be that are called gods either in heauen, or in earth (for there are many gods, and many lordes)

6 Yet to vs there is one God, the Father, of whom all things, and we vnto him: and one Lord, IESVS Christ, by whom al things, and we by him.

7 But there is not knowledge in all. For ‖ some vntil this present with a conscience of the Idol, eate as a thing sacrificed to Idols: & their conscience being weake, is polluted.

8 But meate doeth not commend vs to God. For neither if we eate, shal we abound: nor if we eate not, shal we lacke.

9 But take heede lest perhaps this your libertie be an offense to the weake.

10 For if a man see him that hath knowledge, sit at table ‖ in the Idols temple: shall not his conscience, being weake, be edified, to eate things sacrificed to Idols?

11 And through thy knowledge shall
Ro.14,15. the *weake brother perish, for whom Christ hath died?

12 But sinning thus against the brethren, and striking their weake conscience: you sinne against Christ.

Ro.14.21. 13 Wherefore if *meate scandalize my brother: I wil neuer eate flesh, least I scandalize my brother.

knowen of him.

4 As concerning therefore the eating of those things that are offered in sacrifice vnto idols, we knowe that an idol is nothing in the worlde, and that there is none other God but one.

5 And though there be that are called gods, whether in heauen or in earth (as there be gods many, and lords many:

6 Yet vnto vs is there but one God, which is the father, of whom are al things, and we in him, and one Lorde Iesus Christ, by whome are all things, and we by him. Iohn 13.13. 1.cor.12.3.

7 But there is not in euery man that knowledge: for some hauing that conscience of the idol vnto this houre, eate as a thing offred vnto idols, and their conscience being weake, is defiled.

8 But meate doth not commend to God. For neither if we eate, haue we the more: neither if we eate not, haue we the lesse.

9 But take heed least by any meanes this libertie of yours become a stumbling to them that are weake.

10 For if any man see thee which hast knowledge, sit at meate in the idols temple: shal not the conscience of him which is weake, be boldened to eate those things which are offered to idols?

11 And through thy knowledge shall the weake brother perish, for whom Christ died?

12 But when ye sinne so against the brethren, and wound their weake conscience, ye sinne against Christ.

13 Wherefore, if meate offend my brother, I will eate no flesh while the world standeth, least I should offend my brother. Rom.14.21.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. XVII.

RHEM. 1 We al haue knowledge.) The spirituall and perfectly instructed Christians knew no meates, now to be vncleane, neither for signification, as in the Law of Moyses: nor al waies by nature and creation, as the Manichees thought, nor by any other pollution, as in that they were offered to Idols: and therefore they did eate boldly of such meates as were sacrificed, contemning and condemning their Idols as mere nothing, and the worship of them as the honour of things imaginarie, which their fact, for their want of discretion and charitie, and for the vse of that their libertie to the offense and scandal of the weake, the Apostle doth here reprehend. No meate vncleane.

RHEM. 1 7 Some with a conscience.) The perfecter mens fault was, that they gaue offense by their eating, to the weaker Christians, who seeing them whom they reputed wise and learned, to eate the meates offered to Idols, conceiued that there was some vertue and sanctification in those meates, from the Idol to which they were offered: and thought that such things were or might be eaten with the same conscience and deuotion as before their conuersion.

Therefore the case standing thus, and the Apostles discourse of eating or not eating meates being so as is declared (a thing so euident that it admitteth no other interpretation) if the Protestants apply any of this admonition against our fastes in the Cath. Church, they be to ridiculous. Giuing of scandal reprehended. The heretikes ridiculously apply S. Pauls words against the Churches fastes and abstinence.

FVLKE. 1 Your Popish fasts, which are abstinence from flesh as accursed, and for Religions sake, we condemne as antichristian apostasie, by the plaine testimonie of the Apostle, 1. Tim. 4. and not as meat offered to Idoles, although there is in your superstitious fasting, that, which in some cases hath resemblance to the Apostles words in this place. Popish fastes.

RHEM. 2 10 In the Idols temple.) Like as now, some Catholikes haue said, they know that Caluins communion is but as other bread and wine. But yet the ignorant seing such go to the Communion, thinke that it is a good act of Religion. Yea whatsoeuer they pretend, it must needes seeme an honour to Caluins Communion, when they are seene in the Idols temple solemly sitting or communicating at the abominable table. Going to the Communion, what it seemes to Catholikes.

FVLKE. 2 Thankes be to God, our temples are purged from Popish Idols, wherewith by you they were stuffed. Our table is the Lords table, and our Communion his holy Supper, according to his owne institution. And therefore your blasphemous railing is meete for your owne idol seruice and sacrifice, and sacriledge which hath no word of holy Scripture to warrant it, but hath bene lately deuised, to ouerthrow the onely and singular sacrifice of Christs death, which is the price of our full redemption. Slander.

CHAP. IX.

RHEM. 1. To them that so vaunted their libertie about Idolothyta, he bringeth his owne example, to wit, that he also had libertie to liue by the Gospel, but yet that he vsed it not, so to auoide scandal of the infirme, and because it was more meritorious.

24 Declaiming against their securitie, and shewing them by similitudes and examples, 24 both of himselfe, 1 And of the Israelites, that saluation is not so lightly come by: 14 and so concludeth againe against eating of Idolothyta, because it is also to commit idolatrie, 22 and not onely to giue ill example to the infirme.

S. Paul

S. Paul abstained not to liue by the Gospell because it was more meritorious, but to auoid offence, and to declare that he did it freely, and not as an hireling. Merits.

AM I not free? Am I not an Apostle? Haue I not seene Christ IESVS our Lord? Are not you ‖ my worke in our Lord?

2 And if to others I be not an Apostle, but yet to you I am. for you are the seale of my Apostleship in our Lord.

3 My defense to them that examine me is this:

4 Haue not we power to eat and drinke?

5 Haue we not power to lead about ‖ a woman a sister, as also the rest of the Apostles, & our Lords brethren, and ‡ Cephas?

6 Or I onely and Barnabas haue not we power to do this?

7 ‖ Who euer plaieth the souldier at his owne charges? who plāteth a vine, & eateth not of the fruit therof? who feedeth a flock, and eateth not of the milke of the flocke?

8 Speak I these thing according to man? Or doth not the law also say these things?

9 For it is written in the law of Moyses, Thou shalt not moosel the mouth of the oxe that ‡ treadeth out the corne. Why, hath God care of oxen?

10 Or for vs certes doth he say it? For they are written for vs. because he that eateth, ought to eat in hope: and he that treadeth, in hope to receiue fruit.

11 If we haue sowen vnto you spirituall things, is it a great matter if we reape your carnall things?

12 If other be partakers of your power: why not we rather? howbeit we haue not vsed this power: but we bear al things lest we should giue an offese to the gospel of Christ.

13 Know you not that they which work in the holy place, eate the things that are of the holy place: and they that serue ‘ the altar, participat with the altar?

14 So also our Lord ordained for them that preach the gospel, to liue of the gospel.

15 But I haue vsed none of these. Neither haue I writtē these things, that they should be so done in me: for it is good for me to die rather, then that any man should make my glorie void.

16 For and ‖ if I euangelize, it is no glory to me: for necessitie lieth vpon me: for woe is to me if I euangelize not.

17 For if I doe this willingly, I haue reward: but if against my wil, a charge is committed to me.

18 What is my reward then? That preaching the gospel, I yeld the Gospel without cost, that I abuse not my power in the gospel.

19 For whereas I was free of all, I made my selfe the seruant of al: that I might gaine the moe.

20 And I became to the Iewes as a Iew, that I might gaine the Iewes.

AM I not an Apostle? am I not free? haue I not seene Iesus Christ our Lord? Are not you my worke in the Lord?

2 If I be not an Apostle vnto other, yet doubtlesse am I vnto you: for the seale of mine Apostleship are ye in the Lord.

3 Mine answer to them that aske me, is this,

4 Haue we not power to eate and to drinke?

5 Haue we not power to lead about a sister a wife, as well as other Apostles, and as the brethren of the Lord and Cephas?

6 Is the liberty of not labouring † taken from me and Barnabas onely? † With the hands.

7 Who goeth a warfare any time at his owne cost? who planteth a vineyard, and eateth not of the fruit thereof? or who feedeth a flock, and eateth not of the milke of the flocke?

8 Say I these things after the maner of men? or saith not the law the same also?

9 For it is written in the law of Moses, Thou shalt not moosell the mouth of the oxe that treadeth out the corne. Doth God take care for oxen?

10 Either saith he it not altogether for our sakes? For our sakes no doubt this is written: that he which eareth, should eare in hope: and that he which threseth in hope, should be partaker of his hope.

11 If we haue sowen vnto you spiritual things, is it a great thing if we shall reape your carnall things?

12 If others be partakers of their power ouer you, wherfore are not we rather? Neuertheles, we haue not vsed this power: but suffer al things, least we should hinder the Gospel of Christ.

13 Do ye not know that they which minister about holy things, eate of the things of the temple? and they which waite at the altar, are partakers with the altar?

14 Euen so hath the Lord ordained, that they which preach the gospel, should liue of the gospel.

15 But I haue vsed none of these things. Neuertheless, I wrote not these things, that it should be so done vnto me: For it were better for me to die, then that any man should make my † reioycing vaine. † Or, boasting.

16 For if I preach the Gospel, I haue nothing to † reioyce of: for necessitie is laide vpon me. But woe is vnto me if I preach not the Gospell. † Or, boast of.

17 For if I doe this thing with a good will I haue a reward: but if against my wil, the dispensation is committed vnto me.

18 What is my reward then? Verily that when I preach the Gospell, I may make the Gospell of Christ free, that I misuse not mine authoritie in the Gospell.

19 For though I be free from all men, yet haue I made my selfe seruant vnto all men, that I might winne the more.

20 Vnto the Iewes, I became as a Iewe, that I might winne the Iewes: to them that are vnder

21 To them that are vnder the Law, as though I were vnder the Law (whereas my selfe was not vnder the Law) that I might gaine them that were vnder the Law. to thē that were without the Law, as though I were without the Law (whereas I was not without the Law of God, but was in the Law of Christ) that I might gaine them that were without the Law.

22 To the weake I became weake, that I might gaine the weake. To all men ‡ I became all things, that I might saue all.

‡ Not by fiction or simulation, but by compassion of the infirmities of all sorts. Aug. ep. 9.

23 And I doe all things for the Gospell, ‖ that I may be made partaker thereof.

The Epistle vpon the Sunday of Septuagesme.

24 Know you not that they that runne in the race, all run in deed, but one receiueth the price? ‖ So runne that you may obteine.

25 And euerie one that striueth for the maistrie, refraineth himselfe from al things: & they certes, that they may receiue a corruptible crowne: but we an incorruptible.

26 I therefore so runne, not as it were at an vncertaine thing: so I fight, not as it were beating the aire:

27 But ‖ I chastise my body, & bring it into seruitude, ‖ lest perhaps when I haue preached to others, my selfe become reprobate.

the lawe as vnder the lawe, that I might winne them that are vnder the lawe:

21 To them that are without lawe, as without lawe (when I was not without law as pertaining to the lawe of God, but was in the lawe of Christ) that I might winne them that are without lawe.

22 To the weake became I as weake, that I might winne the weake: I haue beene made all things to all men, that I might by al meanes saue some.

23 And this I doe for the Gospels sake, that I might be partaker thereof.

24 Know ye not, that they which runne in a race, runne all, but one receiueth the reward? So runne, that ye may obteine.

25 Euery man that prooueth masteries, abstaineth from all things: and they do it to obteine a corruptible crowne, but we to obteine an incorruptible crowne.

26 I therefore so runne, not as at an vncertaine thing: so fight I, not as one that beateth the aire:

27 But I tame my body, and bring it into subiection: least by any meanes that when I haue preached to other, I my selfe should be a castaway.

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. IX.

RHEM. 2 5 Cephas?) He nameth Cephas (that is Peter) to proue his purpose by the example of the chiefe and Prince of the Apostles. S. Ambro. S. Chrys. Oecum vpon this place.

FVLKE. 2 We do acknowledge that Cephas was in order and promptnesse chiefe of the Apostles, but not in auctoritie or dignitie. Primacie of Peter.

RHEM. 3 13 The altar.) The English bible (1562) here and in the next chapter, saith thrise for altar, temple: most falsely and heretically, against holy alters, which about the time of that translation were digged downe in England.

FVLKE. 3 This was no corruption of the translators, but a fault of the Printers. For the translatour, (as in the Bible Printed in King Henries time, is to be seene) did say altars, not temple. And why should we not suffer the Iewish altar to stand, as well in this place, as in an hundreth places of the Bible beside. Therefore it is a vaine and ridiculous slander to say, we corrupted the text, because Popish altars were in digging downe when the Bible was in printing. Cauillers. Slaues.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. IX.

RHEM. 4 1 My worke.) As he called himselfe before Gods coadiutor, so here he boldly also chalengeth the Corinthians conuersion to be his handie worke in our Lord: nothing derogating thereby from Christ, as the Protestants rudely charge the Fathers and Catholike men (vnder pretense of Gods honor) for vsing such phrases or speeches in the Apostles sense, of the Saincts or Sacraments. The Heretikes fonde pretense Gods honor.

FVLKE. 4 The Protestants doe not charge the fathers, for vsing of any such speech of the Saincts and Sacraments as doe signifie no more, but that they be appointed ministers and instruments of Gods working to our benefite.

RHEN. 5 5 A woman a sister.) The heretikes peruersely (as they doe all other places for the aduantage of their Sect) expound this of the Apostles wiues, and for, woman, translate, wife, *all belles sounding wedding to them. Where the Apostle meaneth plainely the deuout women that after the maner of Iewrie * did serue the preacher of necessaries, of which sort many followed Christ, and sustained him and his of their substance. So doth S. Chrysostome, Theodorete, and all the Greekes* (Oecu. in collect super hunc lo.) take it. So doth S. Augustine De op. Monach. c. 4. and S. Hierom li. 1. adu. Iouinianum c. 14. both disputing and prooning it by the verie words of the text. S. Ambrose also vpon this place. And the thing is most plaine, for to what ende should he talke of burdening the Corinthians with finding his wife, when himselfe (c. 7, 7. 8.) clerely saith that he was single? Heretikall translation. New Test. 1580. Mat. 15.5.

FVLKE. 5 Our translation is according to the plaine words and meaning of the Apostle. For first, the word is not γυναῖκα ἀδελφὴν a woman sister, but ἀδελφὴν γυναῖκα a sister a wife, for no man would say, a sister a woman, because the word sister implyeth a woman. Therefore of necessitie, the latter word signifieth a wife specially, and not a sister generally. Chrysostome whom you cite impudently, saith neuer a word of the matter in controuersie, onely rehearsing the wordes of the text. Theodoret saith: Some doe interpret it so, that as certaine faithfull women followed our Lord, ministring necessarie foode to his disciples, so some shewing more feruent faith, followed some of the Apostles, depending of their doctrine, and helping their diuine preaching. This interpretation he doth neither allow, nor disallow, and therefore you say falsly, that he among the rest doth take it so. But Oecumenius in deed, doth so take it. S. Augustine although he allow this 1. interpretation, yet he sheweth that some did interpret the word γυναῖκα uxorem a wife, and rehearsing the text he saith, not as your vulgar Latine hath mulierem sororem, a woman a sister, but sororem mulierem, a sister a woman, which if he had obserued, he had not The Apostles wiues.

beene so lightly deceiued, to reprehend the true interpretation of them that did translate it sororem vxorem a sister a wife. S. Ambrose leaueth out the word sister, & readeth mulieres in the plurall number, women: By which corrupt reading, he might more easily be deceiued in the true meaning. As Hierom, who also readeth mulieres, being readie to take any thing that soundeth neuer so little against mariage. And yet against Heluidius he citeth this text, Nunquid non habemus potestatem vxores circumducendi sicut & cæteri apostoli? Adde here vnto, that Tertullian to defend his heresie of Monogamy, doth so take it, against the Catholike doctors of his time. And yet he confesseth according to this text, Exhort. ad Cast. Licebat & Apostolis nubere & vxores circumducere. Licebat & de euangelijs viuere. But Clemens Alexandrinus before him, by this text, doth proue that the Apostle had wiues, and did lead them about, in these words: Doe they also reiect the Apostles? For Peter and Philip did beget children, Philip also did giue his daughters in mariage, and Paul feareth not in a certaine Epistle, to speak to his yokefellow, which he did not lead about with him, because he had no neede of great seruice. Therefore he saith in a certaine Epistle: Haue we not power to lead about a sister a wife, as the rest of the Apostles? But they truely as it was meete, because they could not spare their Ministerie, attending to preaching, ledde them not about as wiues, but as sisters, which should minister together with them among the women, which kept the houses, by whom also without any reprehension or euill suspition, the doctrine of our Lord might enter into the closet of women. Stromat. lib. 3. And who would not thinke it agreeable to reason, that the Apostles which had wiues, would not leade them about, rather then strange women, at least wise in the company of strange women?

Againe, the word of leading about, declareth that they were their wiues that were ledde about, for the Apostles had no authoritie to lead other women about with them. We read that certaine women did follow our Sauiour Christ, we reade not that he did leade them about. The word signifying the auctoritie of the husband ouer his wife, or of the Master ouer his maide. Finally, the scope of the text, is against the exposition of riche women, which should minister of their substance to the Apostles necessitie, for by them the Church should not haue beene charged, but their dutifull charge releeued. Whereas by the Apostles wiues that were poore as their husbands, the Church was charged. But it is a pithie reason that is contemned in that your question, What should he talke of burdening the Corinthians with finding his wife, when himselfe clearly saith, he was single? As though he might not declare what was lawfull for him to do, namely, to haue a wife as well as other Apostles, and to charge the Church with finding of her, although he meant not to vse that libertie. Our interpretation therefore, is not so heretical as yours in the next verse is ridiculous, who playeth the souldier, as though to goe a warfare were a play.

HEM. 7 Who playeth the souldier?) He prooueth by the Scriptures and naturall reasons that Preachers and Pastors may chalenge their finding of their flocke, though himselfe for causes had not, nor intended not to vse his right and libertie therein. Pastors and preachers due.

HEM. 6 16 If I Euangelize.) If I should preach either of compulsion and seruile feare, or meere necessitie, not hauing otherwise to liue and sustaine my selfe in this world, I could not looke for reward in heauen. but now doing it, not onely as enioyned me, but also as of loue and charitie, and freely without putting any man to cost, and that voluntarily and of verie desire to saue my hearers, I shall haue my reward of God, yea and a reward of Supererogation, which is giuen to them that of abundant charitie doe more in the seruice of God then they be commaunded, as S. Augustine expoundeth it. De op. Mon. c 5. Worke of Supererogation.

LUKE. 6 S. Augustine hath no such words as you faine, neither doeth he name a rewarde of Supererogation, but he saith, Paul did bestow more then was necessarie for him to doe, when he warred at his owne finding, according to the saying of the Samaritane to the Inne keeper, Whatsoeuer thou shalt bestowe more. But that S. Paules abstinence of his libertie was his duetie in this case, (though generally he might vse that libertie) his owne wordes are manifest, when he sheweth. He abstained that he should giue no offence, which was necessarie for him to auoide, that hee should not abuse his power in the Gospell. Therefore this refrayning of his libertie in this case, was of duetie, and not of Supererogation, more then duetie. And of Supererogation of more then we haue receiued grounded vpon the words of the Samaritane, S. Augustine saith in his Confessions to God: Superogatur tibi vt debeas, &c. There is giuen more to thee, that thou mayest be a debter, and who hath any thing, which is not thy owne, By which he sheweth, that God is not properly brought in debt by any superogation, when no man hath any thing but that which is Gods owne, and therefore is due to him. Supererogation.

HEM. 7 23 That I may be partaker.) A singular place to conuince the Protestants, that will not haue men worke well in respect of reward at Gods hand: the Apostle confessing expresly, that all this that he doth either of duetie or of Supererogation aboue duetie (as to preach, of freecost, and to worke with his owne hands to get his owne meate and his fellowes, and to abstaine from many lawfull things) all is, the rather to attaine the reward of heauen. Doing well in respect of reward.

LUKE. 7 This place doth rather proue, that the Apostle did willingly abstaine from vsing his libertie, because it was his duty in this case, for otherwise, he could haue no part of the Gospel. Although you slander the protestants, that they will not haue men worke well in respect of reward at Gods hand: for they would haue men worke well, not onely in respect of reward, but also for feare of punishent, due to them that worke not well, yet not onely for these respects, nor chiefly, but principally of louing obedience, and duetie as becommeth children to the glorie of God their father, and not only for reward, as hirelings, nor only for feare, as slaues. Supererogation. Slander.

HEM. 24 So runne.) If such as runne for a price, to make themselues more swift, and to winne the game, abstaine from many meates and pleasures: what should we do or suffer to winne the crowne of glorie, purposed and promised to none but such as runne, trauell, and endeuour for it? Running for the game.

HEM. 8 27 I chastise.) The goale of euerlasting glorie is not promised nor set foorth for only faith-men for such runne at random: but it is the price of them that chastise and subdue their bodies and fleshly desires by fasting, watching, voluntarie, penuritie, and other afflictions. Lord, how far is the carnall doctrine of the Sectaries and the maners of these daies from the Apostles spirit. Wherein euen we that be Catholikes, though we doe not condemne with the Protestants these voluntarie afflictions as superfluous (much lesse as superstitious or iniurious to Christs death,) but much commend them, yet we vse nothing the zeale and diligence of our first Christian auncestors herein, and therefore are like to be more subiect to Gods temporall chastisements, at the least in the next life then they were. Penance meritorious.

LUKE. 8 This impudent rotten slander commeth so often, that it would make a man cast his gorge, to heare it so lothsomly repeated. We cry out as loud as we can: That faith which only iustifieth, is not alone, but accompanied with good workes, is not idle, but worketh by loue. But that the goale of euerlasting glory, is merited by chastising our body, & the Apostle doth not teach. It is a reward, infinitly aboue the value of all mens works, therefore giuen of grace not deserued of merit. Another impudent slander it is to say, that we condemne voluntarie chastising of the body to such end, and in such maner, as the Apostle speaketh, as superfluous and superstitious: As though the Apostle spake, of the counterfeit chastising of Popish hypocrites to merite, or satisfie Slander. Onely faith. Merits Slander

Gods

Gods iustice by them, which we condemne as iniurious to Christs death, and not watching to prayer, fasting, labouring in good exercises, to subdue the lusts of the flesh and to serue God in the Gospell.

RHEM. 9 27 Least perhaps.) Here may we lambes tremble (saith a holy father) when the ramme, the guide of the flocke, must so labour and punish himselfe (besides all his other miseries adioyned to the preaching of the Gospell) least perhaps he misse the marke. A man might thinke: S. Paul should be as sure and as confident of Gods grace and saluation as we poore wretched caitiues: but the Heretikes vnhappy securitie, presumption, and faithles persuasion of their saluation is not fides Apostolorum but fides dæmoniorum, not the faith of the Apostles, but the faith of Diuels.

Aug. apud Pet. Lomb. in hunc locum

S. Paul had not the Protestants securitie of saluation.

Certeinte of saluation. Slander

FVLKE. 9 S. Paule did not presume of the ende without the meanes and waies by which God bringeth vs vnto it. Yet did he not doubt of his saluation, which had beene to doubt of Gods promises. Our securite of saluation, is no vaine presumption, but an assurance vpon the word of God, that through faith in God, and walking in the way that God hath appointed vs, we shall vndoubtedly come to the ende of eternall life.

14 For the which cause, my deerest, flee from the seruing of Idols.

15 I speake ‖ as to wise men: your selues iudge what I say.

16 The chalice of benediction ‖ which we do blesse: is it not the comunication of the bloud of Christ? and the bread which we breake, is it not ‖ the participation of the body

BRethren, I would not that ye should be ignorant, how that all our fathers were vnder the cloude, and all passed thorow the sea.

2 And were all baptized ‖ vnto Moses in the cloude, and in the sea.

3 And did all eate the same spirituall meate.

4 And did all drinke the same spirituall drinke: For they dranke of that spirituall rocke that followed them, and that rocke was Christ.

5 But in many of them had God no delight: for they were ouerthrowen in the wildernesse.

6 These things verily are our ensamples, that we should not be lusters after euill things, as they also lusted.

7 Neither be ye Idolaters, as were some of them, as it is written, * The people sate downe to eate and drinke, and rose vp to play. Exod.32,6.

8 Neither let vs commit fornication, as some of them committed ‖ fornication, and fell in one day three and twentie thousand.

9 Neither let vs tempt Christ, as some of them tempted, and were destroyed of Serpents.

10 Neither murmure yee, as some of them murmured, and were destroyed of the destroyer.

11 All these things happened vnto them for ensamples: but they are written for our admonition, vpon whom the ends of the world are come.

12 Wherefore, let him that thinketh hee standeth, take heed least he fall.

13 There hath no temptation taken you, but such as followeth the nature of man: but God is faithfull, which shall not suffer you to be tempted aboue that you are able: but shall with the temptation make away to escape, that ye may be able to beare it.

14 Wherefore my dearly beloued, flee from idolatrie.

15 I speake as vnto them which haue discretion: iudge ye what I say.

16 The cup of blessing which we blesse, is it not the partaking of the blood of Christ? The bread which we breake, is it not the partaking of

the body of our Lord.

17 For being ‖many, we are ‖one bread, one body, all that participate of one bread.

18 Behold Israel according to the flesh: ‖they that eate the hostes, are they not partakers of the altar?

19 What then? do I say that that which is immolated to Idols, is any thing? or that the Idol is any thing?

20 But the things that the heathen doe immolate, to deuils they do immolate, and not to God: And ‖I will not haue yon becom fellowes of deuils.

21 You cannot drinke the chalice of our Lord, and the chalice of deuils: you cannot be ‖partakers of the table of our Lord, and of the table of deuils.

22 Or do we emulate our Lord? Why, are we stronger then hee? ‖All things are lawfull for me, but all things are not expedient.

23 All things are lawfull for me, but all things do not edifie.

24 Let no man seeke his owne, but another mans.

25 All that is sold in the shambles, eate: asking no question for conscience.

26 The earth is our Lordes, and the fulnes thereof.

27 If any inuite you of the infidels, and you wil goe: eat of all that is set before you, asking no question for conscience.

28 But if any man say, This is immolated to Idols: do not eat for his sake that shewed it, and for conscience.

29 Conscience I say not thine but the others. For why is my libertie iudged of an other mans conscience?

30 If I participate with thanks, why am I blasphemed for that which I giue thankes for?

31 Therefore whether you eat or drink, or doe any other thing: doe all things vnto the glorie of God.

32 Be without offence to the Iewes and to the Gentiles, and to the Church, of God:

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. X.

The old figures of our Sacraments. We receiue greater benefits of our sacraments then the Iewes did by theirs.

3 The same.) The red sea and the cloud, a figure of our Baptisme: the Manna from heauen & water miraculously drawen out of the rocke, a figure of the holy Sacrament of Christs body and blood: our Sacraments containing the things and graces in truth, which theirs only signified. And it is an impudent forgerie of the Caluinists, to write vpon this place, that the Iewes receiued no lesse the truth and substance of Christ and his benefits in their figures or Sacraments, then we doe in ours; ours: and that they and we all eate and drinke of the selfe same meat and drinke: the Apostle saying only, that they among themselues did all feed of one bread, and drinke of one rocke: which was a figure of Christ, therein especially, that out of Christs side pearced vpon the Crosse, gushed out blood and water for the matter of our Sacraments.

FVLKE. 2 The red sea, the cloud, and Manna, were not onely figures of Baptisme and the Lords Supper, but baptisme in deede and the sacramentall Communication of the body and blood of Christ, in deed. Therefore the Apostle saith, they were all baptised, they dranke of the spiritual rocke, which was Christ. And the argument of the Apostle, were of no force to prooue his purpose, if the Israelits were not in the Sacraments equall vnto vs, both in signes, and in the things signified. S. Cyprian Ep. 76. saith, Mare illud, &c. That the sea was the sacrament of baptisme, the Apostle declareth saying: I would not, &c. Where you say it is an impudent forgerie of the Caluinists, to write, that the Iewes receiued no lesse the truth and substance of Christ, and his benefits in there sacarments, then we do in ours, and that they and we eate and drinke, of the selfe same meate, and drinke, it is impudent malice, against the truth to denie it: which the Apostle doth so plainely affirme. For what do we eate and drinke but Christ? so did they, for the Apostle saith, they dranke of the spirituall rocke which followed them, and that rocke was Christ. But you haue a shift to say, they among themselues, did feed of one bread & drinke of one rocke, which was a figure of Christ: that is true, and so do we, but they did eate the same spiritual meate & drinke the same spirituall cup that we do. And so saith S. Augustine expressly. Eundem inquit cibum spiritualem &c. The same spiritual meate (saith the Apostle) what meaneth the same? but the same which we do eat. Againe. They did eate the same spiritual meate (saith he) It had sufficed to haue said, they did eate a spirituall meate, but he saith the same, I cannot find how I should vnderstand the same, but the same that we do eat? De vulitate Pænitent. Cap. 1. why do you not say, it is an impudent forgerie of S. Augustine, so to write? yet he is bold to write it more at large Cap. 2. of the same booke. Quicunque &c. Whosoeuer in Manna vnderstood Christ, did eat the same spiritual meat that we do. But whosoeuer sought only to fill their bellies of Manna, which were the fathers of the vnfaithful, they haue eaten and are dead, so also the same drinke, for the rocke was Christ. Therefore they dranke the same drinke that we do, but spiritual drinke, that is which was receiued by faith, not which was drawen in with the body. The same iudgment he declareth in Psal. 77. In Ioan. Tr. 26. and in many other places of his works, by which the grosse maner of eating, of the naturall body of Christ defended by the Papists is vtterly ouerthrowen: and consequently the sacrifice for which you fight so stoutly in this Chapter, is declared to be none such as you would haue it, but a sacrifice of praise, and thankesgiuing.

The fathers eate the body of Christ.

RHEM. 3 15 As to wise men.) To cause them to leaue the sacrifices and meats or drinks offered to Idols, he putteth them in mind of the only true Sacrifice and meate and drinke of Christs body and blood: of which and the sacrifice of Idols also, they might not be in any case partakers. Vsing this terme. vt prudentibus loquor, in the same sense (as it is thought) as the Fathers of the primitiue Church did giue a watch word of keeping secret from the Infidels and vnbaptized, the mysterie of this diuine Sacrifice, by these words, Norunt fideles, norunt qui initiati sunt. August. in Ps. 39. & 33. Conc. 1. 2. & Ps. 109 Ho. 42. c. 4. in lib. 50. hom. Orig. in Leuit. ho. 9. Chrys. ho. 27. in Gen. in fine. ho. 58. ad po. Antioch. ho. 5. in 1. Tim. S. Paul saith, I speake to you boldly of this mysterie as to the wiser and better instructed in the same.

The Apostle ancient fathers speake couertly of the B. Sacrament.

FVLKE. 3 The Apostle speaketh not one word, of the sacrifice of the body and blood of Christ in the sacrament, but sheweth, that it is the nature of all ceremonies, to declare them that vse them, to be partakers of that religion, whereof they be ceremonies, as the sacrifices of the Iewes, the sacraments of Christians, and the execrable sacrifices & ceremonies of the Gentiles, declared the seuerall vsers of them, to be partakers of these seueral religions. Therfore the christians, which were consecrated to Christ, ought to haue nothing to do, with the wicked ceremonies of the Gentiles, Wherby they should partake with deuils, & not with Christ. Because no man can be partaker of Christ that is partaker of the deuils. The fathers in their admonition, Norunt fideles &c. The faithfull know &c. speake not of the sacrifice of the Masse, but of the mysterie of the Lords Supper, which they called a sacrifice, because therein is offered a sacrifice of praise and thankesgiuing not of the natural body of Christ. Hoc est &c. This is saith S. Augustine) the sacrifice of the Christians, we being many are one body in Christ, which thing also in the sacrament of the Altar, knowen vnto the faithfull, the Church doth frequent, where it is shewed vnto her, that in that oblation which she offreth, she her selfe is offred. De ciuit. lib. 10. ca. 6. In the same Chapter, he intreateth of spiritual sacrifices of praise and thankesgiuing which are the workes of mercie and mortification of our bodies, vnto which he referreth this sacrifice of the Christians, wherin the church is offred. In the 20. Chap. of the same booke, he writeth, speaking of the sacrifice of Christs death and of the sacrament therof. Per hoc, &c. By this he himselfe is the priest that offreth and he himselfe is the oblation. A sacrament of which thing he would haue the daily sacrifice of the church to be, seeing he is the head of his owne body, and she is the body of her owne head, aswel she by him, as he by her, being accustomed to be offred. Here we see, the sacrifice of the Church is a sacrament of the death of Christ, in which Christ is none otherwise offred by the Church, then the Church is offered by Christ, that is spiritually and figuratiuely, in praise and thanksgiuing, not properly or propitiatorily. So saith Chrysostom. We offer the same sacrifice alwaies, or rather, we celebrate the remembrance of that sacrifice. In Ep. ad Heb. cap. 10. Hom. 17. Againe Iesus died. If Iesus did not die, whereof or of whom is this sacrifice a signe or token? In Math. Ho. 83. As for Origen, he doth not so much as name the sacrament a sacrifice, but speaketh of it, as a memoriall of the death of Christ, by which we are redeemed, like as the sacrifices of the law were figures of the death of Christ before he suffred.

Sacrifice of the Masse.

RHEM. 4 16 Which we blesse.) That is to say, the Chalice of Consecration which we Apostles & Priests by Christs commission do consecrate, by which speech as wel the Caluinists (that vse no consecration of the cuppe at all, blaspemously calling it magicall murmuration, and peruersly referring the benediction to thankesgiuing to God) as also the Lutherans be refuted, who affirme Christs body and blood to be made present by receiuing and in the receiuing onely. For the Apostle expresly referreth the benediction to the chalice, and not to God, making the holy blood and the communicating thereof the effect of the benediction.

The Apostle blesse the Chalice, and hallow it, and consecrate.

FVLKE. 4 We confesse, that to blesse signifieth here, to sanctifie or to consecrate, and that the cup is blessed or consecrated by vs, to be a sacrament of the blood of Christ, not by magicall murmuration of wordes ouer it, but by the whole action according to Christs institution, in which receiuing is a necessarie part. Therefore Chrysostome saith. He called it the cup of blessing, because, when we haue it in our hands, with admiration and a certaine horror of that vnspeakable gift, we praise and blesse him, because he hath shed his blood, that we should not remaine in error & hath not only shed it, but made vs al partakers of it. So did Photius and Oecumenius expound this word: Which we blesse, which hauing in our hands, we blesse him, which hath graciously giuen vs his bloud, that is we giue him thanks, or which we prepare, when we blesse or giue thanks. You see therefore, by the iudgement of the ancient fathers, how the Apostle referreth the benediction to the cuppe and to God also, when they shew that by giuing praise and thankes to God, and receiuing it accordingly, the cuppe is blessed, and not by saying, the words of consecration (as you terme them) ouer it. Where you say, the Caluinists vse no consecration of the cuppe at all, it is an impudent slander, which is true of you, when you minister the cuppe to the lay people.

Consecration

RHEM. 5 16 The participation of the body.) The holy Sacrament and Sacrifice of Christs body and bloud being receiued of vs, ioyneth vs in soule and body and engraffeth vs into Christ him selfe, making vs partakers and as a peece of his body and bloud. For not by loue or spirite onely (saith S. Chrysostome) but in very deede we are vnited in his flesh, made one body with him, members of his flesh and bones. Chrys. ho. 45. in Io. sub finem. And S. Cyril, Such is the force of mysticall benediction that it maketh Christ corporally by communicating of his flesh to dwell in vs. Cyril. li. 10. in Io. c. 13. Our vniting to Christ by the B. Sacrament.

FVLKE. 5 The sacrament worthily receiued by faith, ioyneth vs with Christ, in soule and body, and engraffeth vs vnto him, after a spiritual maner of coniunction. Therefore the words of Chrysostome be these: vt autem non solum &c. But that not only by loue, but in very deed, we be turned into that flesh, it is brought to passe, by that meate which he hath giuen vs. For when he would declare his loue towards vs, he hath mingled him selfe vnto vs by his body, and brought him selfe into one with vs, that the body might be vnited with the head. These words must needs be vnderstood of a spirituall coniunction, whereby we are made members of Christes body, for we are not corporally turned into the substance of Christ his flesh, neither doth Christ corporally mingle himselfe to vs by his body, but spiritually after an vnspeakable maner. So meaneth Cyrillus that Christ dwelleth in vs corporally by participation of the flesh of Christ, that is, by the meane that Christ hath giuen his flesh to be in deed our nourishment vnto eternall life, whereof we are made partakers in the holy sacrament, not after a carnall maner, but after a diuine and spirituall maner of participation. Communion of Christ.

RHEM. 6 17 One bread and body.) As we be first made one with Christ by eating his body and drinking his bloud, so secondly are we conioyned by this one bread which is his body, and cup which is his bloud, in the perfect vnion and fellowship of all Catholike men, in one Church which is his body Mystical. Which name of body mystical is specially attributed and appropriated to this one common wealth and Societie of faithfull men, by reason that all the true persons and true members of the same, be marueilously knit together by Christes owne one body, and by the self same bloud in this diuine Sacrament. See S. August. li. 21, c. 25. de ciu. Dei. Hilar. li 8. de Trin. circa med. Our vnion among our selues by the B. Sacrament.

FVLKE. 6 Our mysticall vnion with Christ, and with his Church is testified and sealed vnto vs by this Sacrament, not first made or wrought by receiuing this Sacrament, but by the spirite of God, whereby also in baptisme, we are made one with Christ, and doe verily eate and drinke the flesh and bloud of Christ, and are incorporated into his mysticall body the Church. And this place sheweth plainely, that the maner of our communication with the naturall body of Christ, is spirituall, as it is of our participation with the mysticall body of Christ. S. Augustine in the place by you quoted, prooueth and plainely affirmeth, that wicked men although they receiue the Sacrament, yet receiue not the body and bloud of Christ. Because they be not members of his body. Nec isti duo, &c. Neither are these two sortes of men to be said to eate the body of Christ, because they are not to be accompted the members of Christ. For that I speake not of other things, they cannot at once be both the members of Christ, and the members of an harlot. Finally he himselfe saying: He which eateth my flesh and drinketh my bloud, dwelleth in me, and I in him, sheweth, what it is not onely in a Sacrament, but in very deede, to eate the body of Christ and to drinke his bloud, that is, that he may dwell in Christ, and Christ may dwell in him. For so he spake it, as though he had said, he that dwelleth not in me, and in whom I dwell not, let him not say or thinke, that he eateth my body or drinketh my bloud. This saying of S. Augustine, being contrary to your heresie (which affirmeth that wicked men eate the body of Christ, and drinke his bloud) doeth also ouerthrow your doctrine of transubstantiation by which you are driuen to this absurd error. Communion with Christ & his Church. Spiritual communication of the body of Christ. The wicked eate not the body of Christ in deede. Transubstantiation.

To the same effect sayeth Hilari, De Trinit. lib. 8. That we doe truly receiue the flesh of Christes body vnder a mysterie, and thereby we shall be one with him: but the wicked shall neuer be one with him, therefore they neuer truly eate the flesh of Christ vnder a mysterie.

RHEM. 18 They that eate the hostes.) It is plaine also by the example of the Iewes in their Sacrifices, that he that eateth any of the hoste immolated, is partaker of the Sacrifice, and ioyned by office and obligation to God, of whose sacrifice he eateth.

RHEM. 7 20 I will not haue you.) I conclude then (saith the Apostle) thus: that as the Christian which eateth and drinketh of the Sacrifice or Sacrament of the altar, by his eating is participant of Christes body, and is ioyned in fellowship to all Christian people that eate and drinke of the same, being the hoste of the new Law: and as all that did eate of the hostes of the sacrifices of Moyses Law, were belonging and associated to that state and to God: to whom the Sacrifice was done: euen so who soeuer eateth of the meates offered to Idols, he sheweth and professeth himselfe to be of the Communion and Societie of the same Idols. Participation in Sacrament or sacrifice, sheweth of what societie we are.

FVLKE. 7 The Apostle saith not, that the Sacrament is the sacrifice or host of the new law, for then he would haue said. The cuppe which we offer, and the bread which we offer, but now he saith, which we blesse, which we breake. And although some of the fathers call it an oblation of the bread and cup, yet they speake figuratiuely, and vnproperly, meaning an oblation of praise and thankesgiuing, in remembrance of the onely sacrifice of Christ his body and bloud once offred on the Crosse, and neuer to be repeated: seeing by that one oblation once offred, he hath made perfect for euer, them that are sanctified. Heb. 10. 14. Sacrifice of the Masse.

RHEM. 8 21 You cannot drinke.) *Vpon the premisses he warneth them plainely, that they must either forsake the sacrifice and fellowship of the Idols and Idolaters, or else refuse the sacrifice of Christs body and bloud in the Church. In all which discourse we may obserue that our bread and chalice, our table and altar, the participation of our host and oblation, be compared or resembled point by point, in all effects, conditions, and proprieties, to the altars, hostes, sacrifices and immolations of the Iewes and Gentils. Which the Apostle would not, nor could not haue done in this Sacrament of the Altar, rather then in other Sacraments or seruice of our religion, if it only had not beene a Sacrifice and the proper worship of God among the Christians, as the other were among the Iewes and Heathen. FVLKE. 8 The Apostle speaketh not of refusing the sacrifice of Christes body and bloud in the Church, but of the cuppe of the Lord, and of the table of the Lord. Neither doth he in all this discourse, speake of our altar, hoste, or oblation, or compare our Sacrament in any point, effect, condition or propertie, to the altars, hostes, sacrifices or immolations of the Iewes or Gentiles, which is proper or peculiar to altar, hoste, sacrifice or immolation: but onely in that there is a feast in those sacrifices of the Iewes and Gentiles, as there is in our Sacrament: and in that point which is common to all ceremonies, to declare them that vse them, to be partakers of that religion, whereof they be ceremonies. And therefore the Apostle might in this respect haue vsed the example of our other Sacrament, which is baptisme, by which also we haue partitipation with Christ and his Church, but he did rather choose the Sacrament of the Lords Supper, because it being a spirituall feast of our religion, doth more resemble the cursed feasts of the Gentiles, from which he doth dissuade them. Whereas if this Sacrament had beene also a sacrifice, he would not haue spared to enforce the comparison also in that respect, which thing seeing he hath not done, there is no reason to gather a sacrifice out of this discourse. In deed many of the fathers doe call it by the name of a sacrifice or oblation figuratiuely, as I haue said before. But where you say all the fathers doe acknowledge it, calling it onely and continually almost by such names as signifie a sacrifice, it is false. For Iustinus, Clemens Alexand. Origen, Tertullian, Epiphanius, Hilarius, Basilius, and diuers other doe not at all, or else very seldome call it a sacrifice. That the fathers call this Sacrament as they doe none other Sacrament or ceremonie of Christian religion, what maruaile is it? seeing it hath a proper difference, as euery thing hath, whereby it is distinguished from all other things.

The councell of Nice saith not, that the very naturall body of Christ is offered vpon the aultar, but that the Sacrament which is figuratiuely called the Lambe of God, (as it is called the body of Christ) is laid on the table. And therefore they say also, that Christ is sacrificed, without sacrifice, because Christ is not properly sacrificed, but the remembrance of his sacrifice celebrated in the Sacrament. The councell of Ephesus saith: We celebrate in the Churches the vnbloudy seruice of sacrifice, But how, they declare in the words going immediately before, Shewing or preaching the death according to the flesh, of the onely begotten sonne of God, that is of Iesus Christ, and likewise confessing his resurrection and ascension into heauen. By which wordes, they shew plainely that the seruice of the sacrifice, which they did celebrate, was onely a memoriall of the death, resurrection and ascension of Christ. Dionysius calleth it τελετὴν τελετῶν, that is, the mysterie of mysteries, or the chiefe mysterie, or the chiefe ceremonie, for so doth the word signifie any mysterie or ceremonie of religion, and not sacrifice properly.

So doeth Pachimere expound it, comparing this Sacrament with baptisme, which hee calleth also τελετὴν. Therefore this terme is vnlearnedly alleaged out of a partiall translation, for to prooue this Sacrament to be called a sacrifice. That which you cite out of Cyrill. Anath. 11. is an impudent forgerie: For there is no word of quickning holy sacrifice, vnbloudy host, or victime. But when you haue so notably past the bonds of modestie, what marueile, if you passe your selfes in greater impudencie? As when you say, it is called the propitiatorie sacrifice for the quicke and the dead, by Tertullian, Chrysostome, Cyprian, Augustine, which is so monstrous a lie, as none but such as had sold themselues to maintaine falshood, durst for shame affirme vnto the world. First Tertullian De corona mil. hath nothing that soundeth toward such a matter, but oblationes pro defunctis, pro natalitijs annua die facere, to make oblations for the departed, for the birthday on the yeerely day. He saith not, that the Sacrament, or Christ in the Sacrament was offered. But what oblations were offred, it is easie to gather, by that he saith, They were offred for mens birth daies, which could be none other but praise and thanksgiuing, both for the departure of men out of the world, and for their birth into the world.

Chrisostome in the first place saith, That prayer was made for all that sleepe in Christ, at the celebration of the mysteries, which was the error of his time, but that the Sacrament is a sacrifice propitiatorie, he saieth not, one word. He sayeth that some comfort may come to them that sleepe if we offer for them. But how he would haue vs to offer for them, he expresseth, saying: Offring prayers for them, prayers are the common sacrifice of the whole world. In the second place he nameth the Sacrament a sacrifice, and speaketh of prayer for the dead, vsed at the celebration thereof, but a sacrifice propitiatorie, or offred for the dead, he calleth it not. In the third place, he doth not once speake of the Sacrament or sacrifice. But how he doth vnderstand the terme of sacrifice, which he vseth diuers times, he declareth in Ep. Heb. Hom. 17. saying: This sacrifice is an exemplar of that sacrifice. And againe, This that we doe, is in remembrance of that which was done. For doe ye this (saieth he) in remembrance of me. We offer not another sacrifice, as the high Priest, but the same we doe alwaies, but rather we celebrate the remembrance of a sacrifice. Cyprian Ep. 66. speaketh not a word of the Sacrament, but sayth that forasmuch as Geminius Victor, had made a Priest his executor contrarie to the decree of a councell, there should be no oblation celebrated for his falling a sleepe, which is meant of praise and thanksgiuing. For if they had held the popish opinion of purgatory, it had beene to extreme punishment, to deny him prayers, or the sacrifice of the Masse. But in what sense he called the Sacrament a sacrifice, he doth best expound himselfe. Because we make mention of his passion in all our sacrifices, for the sacrifice which we offer, is the passion of our Lord, we ought to doe nothing but that which he did. The Sacrament is called a sacrifice, as it is called the passion of Christ, which it is not properly, but figuratiuely: because we celebrate a memory of his passion and sacrifice in it. And because the Sacrament being receiued woorthily, is a sure seale and pledge of the vertue of Christes sacrifice, once offered to be continually applyed vnto vs by faith for remission of our sinnes. Therefore saith Cyprian, When we doe these things we doe not prepare our teeth to bite, but with sincere faith we breake and deuide the holy bread. De cœna Dom.

S. Augustine

S. Auguſtine Enchir. cap. 110. calleth the Sacrament the ſacrifice of our mediator, and ſaieth that it was offered for the dead, as almes were, meaning onely prayers and thankſgiuing that were offered at the celebration of the Sacrament, and at the gathering of almes, and that he declareth in few lines after, when he ſaieth, Cum ſacrificia, &c. when ſacrifices either of the aultar, or of any almes, are offered for all the departed that are baptiſed, for very good perſons they be thankeſgiuing, for not very euill perſons, they be propitiations or prayings of mercie: for very euill perſons, although they be no helpe of the dead, yet are they ſome comfort of the liuing. You ſee that he matcheth the ſacrifices of almes, with the ſacrifices of the aultar, both in name and in effect. Therefore he meaneth not that the body of Chriſt is a ſacrifice propitiatorie offered in the Sacrament: which were no waies to be matched with almes. Qu. 2. ad Dulcit. he hath the ſame words that are before ſet downe out of Enchir. and in the ſermon De verbis Apoſt. The like of prayer for the dead in the celebration of the ſacrifice. What you meane by lib. 9. cap. 13. I know not, but lib. 3. c. 19. De Baptiſm. S. Auguſtine ſaieth, That our Sauiour Chriſt, did ſend thoſe whom he cleanſed of leaproſie, to the ſacraments of the olde law, that they ſhould offer a ſacrifice for them, to the prieſts, becauſe as yet there had not come in their place, that ſacrifice, which afterward he would haue to be offred for them all.

In theſe wordes, he ſpeaketh doubtleſſe of a ſacrifice of thankſgiuing, as that was, which the lepers by the law were bound to offer for their cleanſing. But to make this matter moſt cleare, that he meaneth not a ſacrifice propitiatory, but a Sacrament of remembrance for praiſe and thankſgiuing, he writeth thus Cont. Fauſt. Manichæum, lib. 20. c. 21. Sed quid agam, &c. But what ſhall I doe, and when ſhall I ſhew to ſo great blindneſſe of theſe heretikes, what force that hath which is ſung in the Pſalmes? The ſacrifice of praiſe ſhall glorifie me, and there is the way where I ſhall ſhew my ſaluation, The fleſh and bloud of this ſacrifice was promiſed before the comming of Chriſt by ſacrifices of ſimilitudes, in the paſſion of Chriſt it was giuen in the very trueth it ſelfe, after the aſcenſion of Chriſt it is celebrated by a Sacrament of remembrance. Likewiſe epiſt. 23. he ſaieth. Was not Chriſt offered once in himſelfe? and yet in a Sacrament, not onely at euery ſolemnitie of Eaſter, but alſo euery day he is offered to the people. And he that being asked, doth anſwere that he is ſacrificed, doth not lye. For if Sacraments had not a certaine likeneſſe of thoſe things whereof they be Sacraments, they ſhould be no Sacraments at all. Theſe places are ſufficient to ſatisfie any reaſonable man, that the auncient fathers in calling the Sacrament a ſacrifice, did not meane that Chriſt was properly and really ſacrificed: but in a figuratiue ſpeach. as Sacraments are called by the names of thoſe things whereof they be Sacraments.

And therefore Gratian doth well conclude this matter out of S. Auguſtine, as he ſaith, Sicut ergo, &c. Therefore as the heauenly bread, which is the fleſh of Chriſt, is called after the proper maner thereof, the body of Chriſt, when in deed and trueth it is the Sacrament of the body of Chriſt, of that body, I ſay, which being viſible, which being palpable and mortall, was put on the croſſe, and the ſame oblation of the fleſh, which is made by the hands of the prieſt, is called the paſſion, death, and crucifying of Chriſt, not in trueth of the thing, but in a ſignifying myſterie, ſo the Sacrament of faith, which is vnderſtood to be baptiſm, is faith. De conſ. diſt. 2. c. Hoc eſt.

Cyprian de cœn. Num. 2. doth not call this Sacrament The onely inconſumptible victime, without which there is no religion, but ſpeaketh of the groſſe imagination of the Capharnaites, who thought, That if the fleſh of Chriſtes perſon, were cut in peeces, it could not ſuffice all mankind, which being once conſumed, it might ſeeme that religion were loſt, to whome remained no more any ſacrifice. But in ſuch cogitations, fleſh and bloud profiteth nothing, for as the maſter himſelfe hath expounded, theſe wordes are ſpirite and trueth, neither doth carnall ſenſe pearce to the vnderſtanding of ſo great depth, except faith come to it. In theſe wordes is nothing for your propitiatory ſacrifice, but rather againſt it. How Chryſoſtome vnderſtandeth the Sacrament to be a ſacrifice. Homil. 17. ad Heb. I haue ſhewed before by his owne wordes out of the ſame homilie. Now we come to the ſacrifice prefigured by Melchiſedech, and prophecied by Malachie: which the fathers doubtleſſe doe vnderſtand of a ſacrifice of praiſe and thankes giuing, and not of the naturall body of Chriſt. Firſt Cyprian ſaieth, Epiſt. 63. That Chriſt offered the ſame thing which Melchiſedech had offered, that is bread and wine, that is to ſay, his body and bloud. If Chriſt offered bread and wine, which is the ſame thing that Melchiſedech offered, he offered not his naturall body and bloud, but a type thereof in bread and wine. But according to your hereſie he offered not bread and wine, but his body and bloud.

In the ſame epiſtle Cyprian ſaieth, The ſacrifice which we offer is the paſſion of Chriſt. Againe, He ſpeaketh againſt them which thought that onely water was to be offered in the Lords cuppe. Againe, We finde that the cuppe was mixed which our Lord offered, and that it was wine which he called his bloud. Againe, That the cuppe which is offered in remembrance of him, be offered mixt with wine. For when Chriſt ſaieth, I am the true vine, the bloud of Chriſt, is not water but wine. What can be more euident, to declare? that he vſeth the terme offering figuratiuely, in reſpect of the ſacrifice of praiſe and thankſgiuing which is offered in the celebration of the ſupper, in remembrance of the onely ſacrifice of Chriſt. And when he ſaith ſo often, that Chriſt offered wine, and that his bloud is wine, it is manifeſt that the Sacrament is called by the name of that whereof it is a ſigne, not properly but figuratiuely.

Iuſtinus dial. Cum Tryphon. ſpeaketh yet more plainly to prooue that the Church in his time knew no ſacrifice, but the ſacrifice of thankeſgiuing, which he ſaith was offered by all Chriſtians, that are ſpirituall prieſts in the celebration of the Lords Supper. Ἡμεῖς, &c. So we, which by the name of Ieſus (as all ſhall be one man in God the worker of all things) being ſtript out of our filthy garments, that is our ſinnes, by the name of his firſt begotten ſonne, and being ſet on fire by the word of his calling, are a right kinde of high prieſts of God, as God himſelfe doth witneſſe. That in all places among the Gentiles, acceptable and pure ſacrifices, are offered to him. But God receiueth no ſacrifice of any, but of his prieſts. Wherefore God ſheweth before hand, that he doth accept all them that offer by this name, the ſacrifices which Ieſus Chriſt hath deliuered to be made, that is in the Euchariſt or thankes giuing of the bread and the cuppe, which are done in euery place of Chriſtians. Againe, As concerning thoſe ſacrifices which are offered to him by vs Gentiles in euery place, that is, of the bread of thankeſgiuing. and likewiſe of the cuppe of thankeſgiuing, he foreſheweth, then ſaying: that we doe glorifie his name, and that you doe profane it. And yet more plainely following the ſame matter, he ſaith: Ὅτι αἱ, &c. For I my ſelfe doe affirme, that prayers and thankeſgiuing, made by worthy perſons, are the onely perfect and acceptable ſacrifices to God. For theſe are the onely ſacrifices that Chriſtians haue receiued to make, to be put in minde by their dry and moyſt nouriſhment, of the paſſion which God, the ſonne of God, is recorded to haue ſuffered for them. Thus Iuſtinus by theſe words, hath acquited himſelfe and all the Catholike fathers, that call the Sacrament by the name of a ſacrifice, of the ſacrifice propitiatory wherewith you vniuſtly burden them. Irenæus alſo, lib. 4. c. 32. ſpeaketh manifeſtly of a ſacrifice of thankeſgiuing, wherein the bread and wine are dedicated to God, to become the Sacrament of the body and bloud of Chriſt, his wordes are theſe. Giuing counſaile to his diſciples, to offer to God the firſt fruites of his creatures, not as though he had need, but that they themselues should neither be vnfruitfull nor vnthankfull, he tooke that bread which is of the creature, and gaue thankes, saying, this is my body. And the cup likewise which is of the creature, that is with vs, he confessed to be his bloud, and taught the new oblation of the new Testament, which the Church receiuing from the Apostles, offereth in all the world to God the first fruits of his gifts in the new Testament, euen to him which giueth nourishment vnto vs, of which in the twelue Prophets, Malachie foreshewed, &c. And in the next chapter expounding that incense and pure sacrifice, which the Prophet nameth, he saith: Seeing therefore the name of the sonne pertaineth to the father, and the Church offereth in God almightie by Iesus Christ, he said well in respect of both: In euery place incense is offered to my name and a pure sacrifice. But the incense saith Iohn in the Apocalypse, are the prayers of the saincts. And chap. 34. he saith, That these sacrifices, do not sanctifie a man, because God hat no need of sacrifice, but the conscience of him that offereth, being pure, doth sanctifie the sacrifice and causeth God to accept it, as of a friend. You see therefore most clearely, he speaketh not of the body of Christ sacrificed, but of prayers and thankesgiuing, and of bread and wine offered to be the Sacrament of thankesgiuing. S. Augustine as we haue shewed already, vnderstandeth the name of sacrifice, for a Sacrament of remembrance, when he calleth the celebration of the Lords supper a sacrifice of the new Testament, after the order of Melchisedech, that succeeded the sacrifices of the old law, as he doth, lib. 17. cap. 20. De Ciuitate & lib. 10. c. 5. he saieth: The visible sacrifice is a Sacrament, that is an holy signe of the inuisible sacrifice. That which he writeth, lib. 1. Cont. aduer. leg. & Proph. cap. 18. of the only true and singular sacrifice, signified by many figures of sacrifices in the law, is the sacrifice of Christes death: but that which followeth, of the sacrifice of praise and thankesgiuing out of the 50. Psalme, he referreth to the Sacrament, as appeareth in these wordes. Of the saluation of God, that it is Christ himselfe, I haue made mention and shewed before, But what sacrifice of praise is more holy then in thankesgiuing? And for what are greater thankes to be giuen to God, then for his grace by Iesus Christ our Lord. All which matter, the faithfull doe know in the sacrifice of the Church, whereof all those former kindes of sacrifices were shadowes. See you not plainely, that the sacrifice of the Church, is the sacrifice of praise and thankesgiuing for the saluation of God by Christ? who offered that onely true and singular sacrifice, whereby he redeemed vs from our sinnes. Thus without iudgement, you quote as well that which is directly against you, as that which seemeth to haue some shew for you. The next place lib. 3. De Bap. cap. 19. We haue declared already what it is. Leo. ser. 8. De pass. speaketh of the sacrifice of Christ his body and bloud vpon the crosse, as I haue shewed plainely vpon Luke 22. sect. 25.

The name of Masse.

Now for the name of Missa, although it be not greatly materiall what it was called when we know what was meant by that name: First you quote S. Ambrose in the margent, epist. 33. where he writeth, that as he was instructing certaine persons that desired baptisme in the baptizing place of the Church, word was brought him that a certaine Church in the citie was taken by the heretikes, for which he had had great strife: whereupon he saith: Ego tam in manse in munere, missam facere cœpi, which is in English, Yet I taried in my office, I began to let it goe, for that signifieth Missam facere: or else you must say, to make masse, which is absurd. Therefore the name of masse is not so auncient as S. Ambrose. Next to him you quote two counterfeict sermons vnder the name of S. Augustine, which the phrase sheweth to be of much later time, and the matter also, As that Serm. 251. he saith: That the mightie men of the world, when they come to Church, compell the priest to make short his masse, which maner agreeth not with S. Augustines age. In the 91. sermon, the auctor speaketh of a lesson that was to be read ad Missas, in the plurall number, masses. Neuertheless, about S. Augustines time, the name of Misse began to be in vse as it seemeth by Concil. Milcuitan. Can. 12. signifying rather praiers then sacrifices. But howsoeuer the name was afterward receiued and vsed for the celebration of the Lordes Supper, the auncient fathers knew no sacrifice of Christ naturall body and bloud, offered really in the Sacrament, but onely a sacrifice of prayer, of praise and thankesgiuing, in remembrance of the sacrifice of Christes death, which is the onely true singular and vnsacrificable sacrifice, as it is called by S. Augustine, contr. aduers. leg. & Prophet. lib. 1. cap. 18 and by Gregor. Nazianz. in sanct. pasc. orat. 4. See Luc 22. sect. 5. Therefore in all your quotations, you haue gained nothing but a little drosse out of Chrysostome and Augustine, touching prayer for the dead: which errour being first brought in by the Montanists, although it had gotten some liking in those times, yet was it far from the superstition and blasphemie of purgatory, which in later times as Antichrist drew neerer to his full manifestation, preuailed in the Romish Church, without all ground or warrant out of the holy Scriptures.

RHEM. 9 21 Partakers of the table.) *Though the faithfull people be many waies knowen to be Gods peculiar, and be ioyned both to him and among themselues, and also seuered and distinguished from al others that pertaine not to him, as well Iewes and Pagans, as Heretikes and Schismatikes, by sundry other externall signes of Sacraments, doctrine and gouernment: yet the most proper and substantiall vnion or difference consisteth in the Sacrifice and Altar: by which God so specially bindeth his Church vnto him, and himselfe vnto his Church, that he acknowledgeth none to be his, that is not partaker of his one onely Table and Sacrifice in his Church: and acquitteth himselfe of all such as ioyne in fellowship with any of the Heathen at their Idolatry, or with the Iewes at their Sacrifices, or with Heretikes and Schismatikes at their prophane and detestable table. Which because it is the proper badge of their separation from Christ and his Church, and an altar purposely erected, against Christes Altar, Priesthood, and Sacrifice, is in deede a very sacrifice, or (as the Apostle here speaketh) a table and cuppe of Diuels, that is to say, wherein the Diuel is properly serued, and Christes honour (no lesse then * by the altars of Ieroboam or any prophane superstitious rites of Gentility) defiled. And therefore all Catholike men, if they looke to haue fellowship with Christ and his members in his body and bloud, must deeme of it as of Idolatrie or sacrilegious superstition, and abstaine from it and from all societie of the same, as good Tobie did from Ieroboams calues and the altars in Dan and Bethel: and as the good faithfull did from the Excelses, and from the temple and sacrifices of Samaria. Now in the Christian times we haue no other Mols, but heresies, nor Idolathytes, but their false seruices shifted into our Churches in steede of Gods true and onely worship.* Cypr. de vnit. Ec. nu. 2. Hiero. in 11. Osee. & 8. Amos. & in 2. Habac. Aug. in ps. 10. De Ciu. Dei li. 18. c. 51.

The difference of Christian Catholikes from the rest, is by not communicating with them, specially in their sacrifices, and at the communion table.

The heretikes Communion is the very table and cup of Diuels.

3. reg. 12. Tob. 1. 3. reg. 12.

FVLKE. 9 In the popish sacrifice of the masse consisteth no vnion of Christian men, neither doth the most proper and substantiall vnion or difference consist in the sacrament of the Lordes supper. But there is as proper and as substantiall difference of true Christians from other sects, and vnion with Christ and his Church in baptisme: or els they that are baptised should not be properly and substantially Christians. For although baptisme as the other sacrament may be receiued out of the church, yet haue they no vertue but in the church. Where you blaspheme the celebration of the Lords supper, which we keepe after the institution of Christ most purely, saying it is an altar erected against Christes altar, priesthood and sacrifice, beside that it is most impious, it is most ridiculous that you say. For we haue none altar, sacrificing priesthood, or sacrifice propitiatory, but onely the altar of the crosse, the eternall priesthood of Christ, the only sacrifice of his death once offered by himselfe, and vnpossible to be repeated by any other. Whereas you to ouerthrow that altar haue erected many thousands thousands of popish altars, consecrated infinite priests after the order of Melchisedech, which is proper onely to Christ: and blasphemously affirme that euery priest may dayly offer vp Christ to his father. Further, where you say we haue a table and cuppe of diuels, wherein the diuell is properly serued: what colour of truth hath this blasphemous slander? seing there is nothing done about our table and cuppe (that is the table and cuppe of the Lord) but that which Christ himselfe commanded to be done, & to that end he appointed it to be done: whereas your masse neither obserueth the forme nor the end of his institution, but peruerteth both, not onely by your idol of transubstantiation, but also by robbing the people of the cuppe of the Lords bloud, and by turning the sacrament of remembrance to a sacrifice of propitiation. And how can it be said that we serue the deuill properly in our celebration? when all things are done according to the word and commandement of Christ, without adding or detracting any thing from his holy institution. What resemblance haue we with Ieroboams calues and altars, or any heathenish idolatrie which are expressly forbidden by Gods commandement? which doe square all our forme of celebration and worship of God according to the streight line of Gods word and commandement. Where you say that now in the Christian times you haue none other idols but heresies, nor idolothites but their false seruices, it is to make your ignorant adherents beleeue, that your grosse worshipping of images (contrarie to the expresse commandement of God) is no idolatry. And how impudently you doe quote the fathers, to proue that there can be none other idols nor idolothites, but heresies and their seruices, it may be manifest to your owne consciences, when in Cyprians time the world was full euen of these idols and idolothytes of the Gentils that were in the Apostles time, beside heresies and their heretical seruices. S. Augustine also condemneth professors of the Christian name, that were worshippers of pictures, of superstition and idolatrie, and voide of true religion. De mor. eccles. cath. lib. 1. c. 34. S. Ambrose saith, it is heathenish error and vanitie of the vngodly to worship the crosse whereon Christ died: De obitu Theodos. What would he haue said if he had seene creeping to an idoll of the crosse? Epiphanius saith, it is a diuelish attempt to make images of the virgin Mary or other saincts departed, and to worship them: as the Collyridian heretikes did their image of the virgine mary. Hær. 79.

Sacrifice of the masse.

meates offered to Idols, seeme plainely to condemne their fact as Idololatrical, or as participant and accessary to Idolatry, and not onely as of scandal giuen to the weake brethren: and so no doubt it was in that they went into the very temple of the Idols, and did with the rest that serued the Idols, eate and drinke of the flesh and libaments directly offered to the idol, yea and feasted together in the same bankets made to the honour of the same idols? which could not but defile them and entangle them with Idolatrie: not for that the meate it selfe was iustly belonging to any other but to God, or could be defiled, made noisome or vnlawful to be eaten, but for and in respect of the abuse of the same and detestable dedicating of that to the diuel, which belonged not to him, but to God alone. Of which sacrilegious act they ought not to be partakers, as needes they must, entering and eating with them in their solemnities. to this end hath S. Paul hitherto admonished the Corinthians. clareth that otherwise in prophane feastes it is lawfull to eate without curious doubting or asking whether this or that were offered meates, and in markets to bye whatsoeuer is there sold, without scruple and without taking knowledge whether it be of the Idolothytes or no. with this exception first, that if one should inuite him to eate, or bye this or that as sacred and offered meates, that then he should not eate it, lest he should seeme to approue the offering of it to the Idol, or to like it the better for the same. Secondly, when the weake brother may take offence by the same. For though it be lawfull in it selfe to eate any of these meates without care of the Idol: yet al lawful things be not in euery time and place expedient to be done.

FYLKE. 1 S. Paules traditions which he deliuered, were either concerning matters of doctrine and faith, which are perpetuall, and they be all expressed in the scriptures, or els of ceremonies which are mutable by auctoritie of the church, according to time, places, and persons, obseruing the generall rules prescribed by the Apostle, that all things be done in order and comlinesse, and to edification.

BE ye folowers of me, as I also of Christ.

2 And I praise you brethren, that in al things you be mindeful of me: and as I haue deliuered vnto you, you keep ‖ my ᶜ precepts.

3 And I wil haue you know, that the head of euery man, is Christ: and the head of the woman, is the man: and the head of Christ, is God.

4 Euery man praying or prophecying with his head couered: dishonesteth his head.

5 But ‖ euery woman praying or prophecying with her head not couered: dishonesteth her head: for it is all one as if she were made balde.

6 For if a woman be not couered, let her be polled. but if it be a foule thing for a woman to be polled or made balde: let her couer her head.

7 The man truly ought not to couer his head,

Gen.2.21. 9 For * the man was not created for the woman, but the woman for the man.

10 (Therefore ought the woman to haue power vpon her head for the Angels.)

11 But yet neither the man without the woman: nor the woman without the man, in our Lord.

12 For as the woman is of the man, so also the man by the woman: but all thinges of God.

13 Your selues iudge: doth it become a woman not couered to pray vnto God?

14 Neither doth nature it selfe teach you, that a man in deede if he nourish his heare, it is an ignominie for him:

15 But if a woman nourish her heare, it is a glorie for her, because heare is giuen her for a veile?

16 But if any man seeme to be contentious, we haue no such custome nor the ‖CHVRCH of God.

17 And this I commaund: not praising it that you come together not to better, but to worse.

THE Epistle vpon maundy Thursday.

18 First in deede when you come together into the Church, I heare that there are schismes among you, and in part I beleeue it.

19 For ‖there must be heresies also: that they also which are approued, may be made manifest among you.

20 When you come therfore together in one, it is not now to eate ‖our Lordes supper.

21 For euery one taketh his own supper before to eate. And one certes is an hungred, and another is drunke.

22 Why, haue you not houses to eate and drinke in? or contemne ye the Church of God: and confound them that haue not? What shal I say to you? praise I you in this? I doe not praise you.

THE Epistle vpon CORPVS Christi day. Mat.26.26. Mar.14.22. Luc.22.19.

23 For I receiued of our Lord that which also ‖I haue deliuered vnto you, ‡ that our Lord IESVS ‖ in the night that he was betraied, ‖ tooke ‖ bread:

24 And giuing thankes brake, and said: Take ye and eate ‖ THIS IS ‖ MY BODY VVHICH SHAL BE DELIVERED FOR YOV: ‖this do ye for the cõmemoratiõ of me.

25 In like maner also the chalice after he had supped, saying, THIS CHALICE IS THE NEVV TESTAMENT IN MY BLOVD. this doe ye, as often as yee shall drinke, for the commemoration of me.

26 For as often as you shall eate this bread, and drinke the chalice, ‖you shall shew the death of our Lord, vntill he come.

27 Therefore whosoeuer shall eate this bread, or drinke the chalice of our Lord vnworthily, as much as he is the image and glory of God: but the woman is the glory of the man.

8 For the man is not of the woman: but the woman of the man.

*9 * Neither was the man created for the woman: but the woman for the man.* Gen.2.23.

10 For this cause ought the woman to haue power on her head, for the Angels sakes.

11 Neuertheless, neither is the man without the woman, neither the woman without the man, in the Lord.

12 For as the woman is of the man, euen so is the man also by the woman, but all thinges of God.

13 Iudge in your selues, whether it be comely that a woman pray vnto God bare-headed?

14 Doth not nature it selfe teach you, that it is a shame for a man, if he haue long heare?

15 But if a woman haue long heare, it is a praise for her: for her heare is giuen her for a couering.

16 If any man lust to striue, we haue no such custome, neither the churches of God.

17 This I warne you of, and commend not, that ye come together not for the better, but for worse.

18 For first of all, when ye come together in the church, I heare that there be dissentions among you, and I partly beleeue it.

19 For there must be also heresies among you, that they which are ‖ approued among you, might be knowen. ‖ Or tried.

20 When yee come together therefore into one place, † you cannot eate the Lordes supper † Or, this is not to eate.

21 For euery one preuenteth other, in eating his owne supper: and one is hungrie, and an other is drunken.

22 What, haue ye not houses to eate and to drinke in? Or despise ye the church of God, and shame them that haue not? What shall I say vnto you, shall I praise you? in this I praise you not.

23 That which I deliuered vnto you, I receiued of the Lord, that the Lord Iesus the same night in which he was betrayed, tooke bread:

*24 And when he had giuen thankes, he brake it, and said, * Take ye, eate ye, this is my body which is broken for you: this doe ye in remembrance of me.* Mat.26.26. mar.14.22. luke 22.19.

25 After the same maner also he tooke the cup when he had supped, saying, This cup is the new Testament in my bloud: this doe yee, as oft as yee drinke it, in remembrance of me.

26 For as often as ye eate this bread, and drinke this cup, ye doe shew the Lords death till he come.

27 Wherfore, whosoeuer shal eate this bread, and drinke this cuppe of the Lord vnworthily worthily, he shal be ‖ guilty of the body and of the bloud of our Lord.

28 But let a man proue him self: and so, let him eate of that bread, and drinke of the chalice.

29 For he that eateth and drinketh vnworthily: eateth and drinketh iudgement to him self, ‖ not discerning the body of our Lord.

30 Therfore are there among you many weake and feble, and ‖ many sleepe.

31 But if we did ‖ iudge our selues: we should not be iudged.

32 But whiles we are iudged, of our Lord we are chastised: that with this world we be not damned.

33 Therefore my brethren, when you come together to eate, ‖ expect one another.

34 If any man be an hunged, let him eate at home: that you come not together vnto iudgement. And the rest ‖ I wil dispose, when I come.

ly, shall be guiltie of the bodie and bloud of the Lord.

28 But let a man examine himselfe, and so let him eate of this bread, and drinke of this cuppe.* 2.Cor.13.1.

29 For hee that eateth and drinketh vnworthily, eateth and drinketh damnation vnto himselfe, making no difference of the Lordes bodie.

30 For this cause many are weake and sicke among you, and many sleepe.

31 For if we would iudge our selues, we should not be † iudged. † Or, punished.

32 But when we are † iudged, we are † chastened of the Lord, that we should not be damned with the world. † Or, punished. † Or, instructed.

33 Wherefore my brethren, when ye come together to eate, tarie one for another.

34 If any man hunger, let him eate at home, that ye come not together vnto condemnation. The rest will I set in order, when I come.

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. XI.

CHEM. 2 23 That our Lord.) The Apostles drift in al that he saith here of the Sacrament, is against vnworthy receiuing (as S. Augustine also noteth Ep.118.c.3.) and not to set out the whole order of ministration, as the Heretikes do ignorantly imagine.

LUKE.2 The Apostles drift being against vnworthy receiuing, and to teach men how to receiue worthily, he could not otherwise attcme to his drift and purpose, except he did set downe whatsoeuer is necessarie to be obserued in the administration of this sacrament, according to Christs institution, after which he reformeth their abuse, and teacheth how all abuses may likewise be reformed. S. Augustine noting that the Apostle teacheth in this place who receiueth vnworthily, doth not denie but that he setteth forth the whole order of ministration in all necessarie and substantiall parts of Christes institution. Chrysostome saith: How doth he say that he receiued it of the Lord? for he was not then present, but he persecuted Christ, that thou maist vnderstand, that this table had nothing more afterward, for euen at this day it is he that worketh all things and deliuereth as he did then. S. Cyprian reproueth the error of them that vsed only water in the cup by the institution of Christ: saying that in the celebration of this mysterie we ought to do nothing els, but that which he did. For the scripture saith, as often as you shall eate this bread, and drinke this cuppe, you shall shew the Lords death vntill he come. Therefore so often as we offer the cuppe in remembrance of our Lord and his passion, let vs doe that which it is certaine that our Lord did. Againe he saith, that our Lord by his example and institution hath taught vs what to doe, ep.63.Cecilio. S. Ambrose saith, That they might correct their errour and know that to be true which they learned at the first, he repeteth the forme which was giuen by our Sauiour in this matter. Therefore the whole order of ministration for the substance of the sacrament, is expressed in the institution of Christ, described by three Euangelists, and the Apostle Paul. As for matters of ceremonie and circumstance, which are not materiall or essentiall parts of the sacrament, they are neither all expressed, nor all that be expressed are necessarie to be obserued. The institution of the Sacrament expressed in the scriptures.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. XI.

CHEM. 3 2 My precepts.) Our Pastors and Prelates haue authoritie to command, and we are bound to obey. And the Gouernors of the Church may take order and prescribe that which is comely in euery state, as time and place require, though the things be not of the substance of our religion.

LUKE.3 In things that be of the substance of religion, the gouernors of the church may command nothing but that which hath warrant of Gods word. In matters of ceremonie, which be not of the substance of religion, they must also haue respect that they be agreeable to order, decencie, and edification, and so they are to be obeyed. And though they doe somewhat decline from these rules, yet so long as the substance of religion remaineth whole, no schisme must be made for matters of ceremonie and externall rites. Authoritie of the Church.

CHEM. 5 Euery woman) What gifts of God so euer women haue, though supernatural, as some had in the Primitiue Church, yet they may not forget their womanly shamefastnes, but shew them selues subiect and modest, and couer their heads with a veile.

CHEM. 4 16 Custome.) If women or other, to defend their disorder and malipertnes, dispute or alleage Scriptures and reasons, or require causes of their preachers why and by what authoritie they should be thus restrained in things indifferent, make them no other answere but this, This is the customs of the Church, this is our custome. Which is a goodly rule to represse the saucinesse of contentious ianglers, which being out of al modestie and reason, neuer want wordes and replies against the Church. Which Church if it could then by prescription of twenty or thirty yeres, and by the authority of one or two of their first preachers, stoppe the mouthes of the seditious: what should not the custome of fiftene hundred yeres, and the decrees of many hundred Pastors, gaine of reasonable, modest, and humble men? The Custome of the church, is a good answer against al wranglers.

LUKE.4 S. Paul saith the Apostles and Church haue no such custome to be contentious. (Chry. hom.27. in ep.1.Cor.) for matters of externall order, yet doth he giue reasons for that order of couering womens heads. By whose example the preachers are likewise to endeuour to satisfie by reason both men and women, that humbly desire their resolution for quiet of their conscience, and not to beat them downe with the clubbe of custome onely. For so the Apostle doth not. As for the prescription of 1500 yeeres that you bragge of, for your popish ceremonies and customes, it is vaine and false. For either you haue nothing of that antiquitie, or if you haue, you haue cleane peruerted the vse of it. Custome.

RHEM. 5 16 There must be heresies.) When the Apostle saith, Heresies must be: He sheweth the event, and not that God hath directly so appointed it as necessarie. for, that they be, it commeth of mans malice and free wil: but that they be converted to the manifestation of the good and constant in faith and the Churches vnitie, that is Gods special worke of providence that worketh good of euil. And for that there should fal Heresies and Schismes, specially concerning the Article and vse of the B. Sacrament of the Altar, whereof he now beginneth to treat, it may make vs maruel the lesse, to see so great dissensions, Heresies, and Schismes of the wicked and weake in faith concerning the same. Such things then wil be, but wo to him by whom scandals or Sects do come. Let vs vse Heretikes, saith S. Augustine, not to that end to approue their errors, but that by defending the Catholike doctrine against their deceites, we may be more watchful and warie: because it is most truely written, There must be heresies that the tried and approued may be manifested or discouered from the holow hartes among you. Let vs vse this benefite of Gods prouidence, for Heretikes be made of such as would erre or be naught, though they were in the Church: but being out, they profite vs exceedingly, not by teaching the truth which they know not, but by stirring vp the carnal in the Church to seeke truth, and the spirituall Catholikes, to cleere the truth. for there be innumerable holy approued men in the Church, but they be not discerned from other among vs, nor manifest, so long as we had rather sleepe in darknes of ignorance, then behold the light of truth. therfore many are raised out of their sleepe by Heretikes to see the day of God, and are glad therof. August. c. 8. de vera relig. That heresies shal come, and wherfore. What commoditie we may make of heresies.

FVLKE. 5 Though God be not auctor of heresies, which are contrarie to his reuealed will, yet they are according to his secret ordinance and appointment, for the vse and end mentioned in the text. And seeing the Apostle not onely foreshewed that there should be heresies concerning the B. sacrament, but also hath shewed the meanes how they should be confuted and beaten downe, namely by the pure and sincere institution of Christ, as he doth the schisme and abuse of the Corinthians: we maruell not that papists continue so obstinate, because there must be heresies, but we maruell they are so impudent to defend them against so plaine and manifest institution of Christ. Institution of Christ.

RHEM. 6 20 Our Lords supper.) The Christians at or about the time of the Churches only Sacrifice and their communicating thereof, kept great feasts: which continued long, for that the reliefe of the poore vpon the common charges of the richer sort, and the charitie and vnitie of al sortes were much preserued thereby, for which cause they were called ἀγάπαι, that is, Charities, of the auncient Fathers, and were kept commonly in Church houses or porches adioyning, or in the bodie of the Church (whereof see Tertullian Apolog. c. 39. Clemens Alexand. S. Iustine, S. Augustine cont. Faust. li. 20. c. 20.) after the Sacrifice and Communion was ended, as S. Chrysostom ho. 27. in 1. Cor. in initio iudgeth. Those feasts S. Paul here calleth Cœnas Dominicas, because they were made in the Churches, which then were called Dominicæ, that is, Our Lordes houses. The disorders therfore kept among the Corinthians in these Church-feasts of Charitie, the Apostle seeketh here to redresse, from the foule abuses expressed here in the text. And as S Ambrose in hunc locum, and most good authors now thinke, this which he calleth Dominicam cœnam, is not meant of the B. Sacrament, as the circumstances also of the text doe giue, namely, the reiecting of the poore, the rich mens priuate deuouring of al, not expecting one an other, glottony and drunkennesse in the same, which can not agree to the holy Sacrament. And therfore the Heretikes haue smal reason, vpon this place, to name the said holy Sacrament, rather, the Supper of the Lord, then after the maner of the Primitiue Church, the Eucharist, MASSE, or Liturgie. But by like they would bring it to the supper againe or Euening seruice, when men be not fasting, the rather to take away the old estimation of the holines thereof. Agape or liuing of charitie. Conc. Gang. can. 11. Conc. Laodic. can. 27. 28. Whether the Apostle meant by our Lords supper, the B. Sacrament.

FVLKE. 6 The feastes of loue, that were vsed after the celebration of the Lordes Supper, were abused to matter of schisme, and to the prophanation of the Lordes Supper, which ought to be celebrated of all the Church together, according to Christs institution. As for Church houses, porches, or bodies of Churches, there was no such distinction in the Apostles time, nor long after, before Churches were builded, but they were kept in the same place, where the Lords Supper was celebrated, but yet after the celebration where they were rightly kept, as Chrysostome affirmeth Hom. 27. in 1. Cor. And it may be gathered out of Tertullian, Apologetico, where he sheweth, that the Christians were defamed, after the murthering of an infant to keepe a riotous feast. By murthering of the infant, they meant the celebration of the Sacrament of the body and bloud of Christ. Photius also sayth, they were after the participation of the holy mysteries. Neither doth S. Paul call those feastes, the Lordes Supper, but sayth, that their comming together in that schismaticall maner, was not to eate the Lordes Supper, which was no feast of the belly, but of the soule, as he proueth by the institution. Therefore S. Paule calleth the Sacrament the Lords Supper, as we doe. Neither doth S. Ambrose say, that the Sacrament is not called the Lords Supper, but vpon the institution, he saith, the Apostle sheweth that the mysterie of the Eucharist, which was celebrated at supper, is not a supper, but a spiritual medicine. That is, it is not a prophane supper to feede the body, but the Lords Supper, to heale the soule. The Censure on rightly cal the Lordes Supper.

Chrysostome vpon this place, vnderstandeth the Lords Supper to be spoken of the holy Sacrament, saying: The Apostle teacheth them farre more terribly, in these wordes: This is not to eate the Lordes Supper, referring them to that night in which our Lord deliuered those wonderfull mysteries. Therefore he called it by the name of the best Supper, for that Supper comprehended all in generall. Theodoret saith: He calleth the Lords Sacrament the Lords Supper. Photius apud Oecumenium, agreeth hereunto, saying: He calleth it the Lords Supper, according to the imitation of that fearfull and mysticall Supper, when our Lord did eate together with his Disciples: as if he should say, that which was instituted and ordeined by our Lord. You come together to eate our Lordes Supper, but you doe it not. Hetych. lib. 2. Cap. 8. Hoc ideo vt illic absolutè mystica Cœna deberet celebrari. The like writeth Theophylact: He calleth the Lordes Supper, a common feast, where many eate together, as an imitation of that fearfull and wonderfull Supper, in which our Lord did eate together with his Disciples. Hierome, or the auctor of the Comment vnder his name, sayth: The Lordes Supper ought to be common to all, because he deliuered the Sacraments equally, to all his Disciples, that were present. Beda vpon this text, sayth: He calleth the receiuing of the Eucharist the Lordes Supper. So doth S. Augustine Ep. 118. Et de ser. Dom. in mont lib. 2. Eligius Homil. 8. Sciendum est quia apostolus ipsam acceptionem eucharistiæ dominicam cœnam vocat. Finally, S. Cyprian, or the auctor of that worke, in time not much inferiour to Cyprian, by entituling his booke of the Sacrament, De Cœna Domini, of the Supper of the Lord, declareth, that it was so taken and called in his time. And therefore you see what newfangled vanitie occupieth the Papists heads at this time, to quarell with vs for vsing that terme, and to say we haue small reason, to name the blessed Sacrament, the Lordes Supper, when we haue both the auctoritie of the Apostle, and the consent of the ancient Fathers, which so called it. As for the names of Eucharist and Liturgie, because they be Greeke, and not vnderstood of the people, we vse not in English speach. And your horrible sacrilege of the Masse, is the cause why we vse not that terme, which also but lately in a maner, came into the Church.

RHEM. 7 23 I haue deliuered.) As al other partes of religion were first deliuered by preaching and word of mouth to euery Nation conuerted, so this holy order and vse of the B. Sacrament was by S. Paul first giuen vnto the Corinthians by tradition. Tradition out of writing tion. Vnto which as receiued of our Lord he reuoketh them by this Epistle, not putting in writing particularly all things pertaining to the order, vse and institution, as he afterward saith: but repeating the summe and substance thereof, and leauing the residue to his returne. But his wordes and narration here written we wil particularly prosecute, because the Heretikes make profession to follow the same in their pretended reformation of the MASSE.

Whether the Catholikes or Protestants do more imitate Christs institution of the B. Sacrament.

FVLKE. 7 The Apostles did not deliuer their doctrine, only by word of mouth, but deliuered the holy Scriptures also, of the old Testament, and added their owne writings, conteining that which they had preached. So doth S. Paul in this place by your owne confession, deliuer the summe and substance of Christes institution, as for other variable orders and circumstances, so the summe and substance be reteined, and so there be obserued in those orders, the rule of edification and decencie, we would not greatly contend, but in your Masse there is neither of both obserued, for the end and vse, (which is of the summe and substance) is altogether peruerted, and your forme of celebration vtterly void of edifying.

Tradition of Apostles.

RHEM. 8 23 In the night.) *First the Aduersaries may be here conuinced that all the circumstances of time, person, and place which in Christes action are noted, neede not to be imitated. As, that the Sacrament should be ministred at night, to men onely, to onely twelue, after or at supper, and such like: because (as S. Cyprian ep. 63. nu. 7. and S. Augustine ep. 118. c. 6. note) there were causes of those accidents in Christ that are not now to be alleaged for vs. He instituted then this holy act: we doe not, he made his Apostles Priests, that is to say, gaue them commission to do and minister the same: we do not, he would haue this the last act of his life and within the bounds of his passion: it is not so with vs. he would eate and make an end of the Paschal to accomplish the old law: that can not be in our action, therfore he must needes doe it after the supper and at night: we may not doe so. he excluded al women, al the rest of his Disciples, al lay men: we inuite al faithful, men and women. In many circumstances then, neither we may imitate Christes first action, nor the Heretikes as yet do: though they seeme to encline by abandoning other names sauing this (calling it Supper) to haue it at night and after meate, though (as is before noted) they haue no iust cause to cal it so vpon Christs fact, seeing the Euangelists do plainely shew * that the Sacrament was instituted after Supper, as the Apostle him self here recordeth of the later part in expresse speach. And must men thinke, a long sermon and the washing of the Apostles feete came betweene, yea and that the supper was quite finished, and grace said. But in al these and such like things, the Catholike Church onely, by Christes Spirit can tel, which things are imitable, which not, in al his actions.*

Al circumstances in our Saiours action about the B. Sacrament, neede not be imitated.

Io. 13. 2.

FVLKE. 8 We were neuer so madde, to thinke, that all circumstances of Christs action, were necessary to be followed, or conuenient to be vsed at all times, and in all places. And yet by this example we learne, that the Sacrament may be ministred at night, if iust occasion require, and after supper, and to men alone, if no women be present, &c. Although you can not proue, that only twelue were present, or that no women were present: seeing it was ministred in such an house, wherein were other men and women, which were doubtles partakers of the Paschall Lambe. For a sheepe of a yeare old, could not be eaten of 13. persons, and another supper also (as appeareth by the broth, wherein the soppe was dipped) whom there is no reason to exclude from the institution of the Sacrament, seeing they were Christs disciples. Where you say, we seeme to incline, by calling it Supper, to haue it at night, and after meate, it is a vaine conceite, when you see our vsuall and ordinarie practise, to the contrarie. Where you say, we abandon other names, suing this. you declare what conscience you haue to lye, when we doe commonly vse, the name of Communion of the body and bloud of Christ, which the Apostle also teacheth vs, 1. Cor. 10. 16. and in our sermons and writings, the Sacrament of the body and bloud of Christ, the Eucharist, and such like. What iust cause we haue to call it the Lords Supper, I haue shewed before. And it is a vaine argument, to proue, that it is not called the Lordes supper, because it was instituted after supper: seeing there were three suppers that night: the first of the Paschall Lambe, the second, for a free supper to satisfie the body, and the third, the Lords supper, which was the holy Sacrament, to feede the soule, instituted after that supper, wherein the body was fed. Now what is to be followed of necessitie, and what not, the Church knoweth by the spirit of Christ, and by his word. For to challenge his spirit without his word, is plaine Antichristian arrogance.

Circumstances not necessary.

Authoritie of the Church.

RHEM. 9 23 Tooke.) *Christ tooke bread into his hands, applying this ceremonie, action, and benediction to it; and did blesse the very element, vsed power and actiue word vpon it, * as he did ouer the bread and fishes which he multiplied: and so doth the Church of God: and so do not the Protestants, for they folow their owne booke and doctrine, but they let the bread and cup stand a loofe, and occupy Christes wordes by way of report and narration, applying them not at al to the matter proposed to be occupied: and therfore howsoeuer the simple people be deluded by the rehersal of the same wordes which Christ vsed, yet consecration, benediction, or sanctification of bread and wine they professe they make none at al. At the first alteration of religion, there was a figure of the Crosse at this word, He blessed: and at the worde, He tooke, there was a glosse or rubrike that appointed the Minister to imitate Christs action, and to take the bread into his hands: afterward that was reformed and Christes action abolished, and his blessing of bread turned to thankes giuing to God.*

Luc. 9. 16.

The Protestantes imitate not Christ in blessing the bread and wine.

FVLKE. 9 Christ tooke bread into his handes, and did blesse or consecrate the same element, to the vse of this holy mysterie. So doe we. But you say, we let the bread and cup stand a loofe, whereas we take it and deliuer it as Christ did: You say, we occupy Christs words, by way of report and narration, applying them not at all to the matter proposed to be occupied, which is vtterly false: for we pray, that we receiuing these creatures of bread and wine, according to Christs holy institution, which is rehearsed in these words of the Euangelist, in remembrance of his death and passion, may be partakers of his most blessed body and bloud: which is a manifest applying of them, to the matter proposed to be occupied. Againe, it is a monstrous lie, when you say we professe that we make no consecration, benediction, or sanctification of the bread and wine at all, for we professe the contrary: that by praise and thanks giuing, for the death of Christ, and by prayer vnto God, that we may be partakers of the body and bloud of Christ, we consecrate, blesse, and sanctifie the bread and wine, to be the holy and blessed Sacraments of the body and bloud of Christ. Neither had the first alteration, any other meaning, though there was a Crosse vsed, and a rubricke appointed the Minister, to take the bread into his hand when the words of institution were read, which needles ceremonies are altered, seeing Christ vsed not the one, and the other is sufficiently imitated, when we take bread, breake it, and deliuer it, as Christ did.

REM. 10 23 Bread.) Christ made the holy Sacrament of vnleauened bread, and al the Latin Church imitateth him in the same, as a thing much more agreeable to the signification both in in it self and in our liues, then the leauen. Yet our Aduersaries neither follow Christ, S. Paul, nor the west Church, in the same: but rather purposely make choise of that kind that is in it self more vnseemely, and to the first institution lesse agreeable. In the other part of the Sacrament they contemne Christ and his Church much more impudently and damnably. For Christ and al the Apostles and al Catholike Churches in the world haue euer mixed their wine with water, for great mysterie and signification, specially for that water gushed together with bloud out of our Lords side. This our Lord did (saith S. Cyprian Ep. 63. ad Cæcilium. nu. 4. 7.) and none rightly offereth, that followeth not him therein. Thus Irenæus (li. 5. c. 1.) Iustine (Apol. 2. in fine.) and al the Fathers testifie the Primitiue Church did, and in this sort it is done in al the MASSES of the Greekes, S. Iames, S. Basils, S. Chrysostoms: and yet our Proteſtants pretending to reduce all to Chriſt, wil not do as he did, and all the Apoſtles and Churches that euer were.

FVLKE. 10 Chriſt vſed vnleauened bread, becauſe it was the vſuall bread at that time: ſo doe we vſe that, which is the vſual bread in our time. S. Paul ſpeaketh of that bread, which was vſuall among the Gentils, when he ſaith: The bread which we breake, and in this chapter: As often as you eate of this bread, &c. which ſeeing it was the ſame bread, which was vſed in the feaſts of loue, it was doubtles leauened bread. And although you ſay, all the Latin Church imitateth Chriſt in vnleauened bread, it is true perhaps of the Popiſh Church, but not of all the Weſt Church, nor of the Latin Church of old time, who in their celebration did not vſe ſuch thinne wafer cakes, as you doe. Greg. lib. Dial. 4. Cap. 55. ſheweth, that they were loaues or cakes of great quantitie, ſeeing two of them were giuen to a poore man (as it was ſuppoſed by the Prieſt that gaue them) in almes, and for rewarde of his ſeruice in diuers daies. Epiphanius in anchorato, teſtifieth, that they were of a long ſhape, as it were rolles of bread, that were vſed in the Greeke Church. And the Greeke Church hath alwaies vſed leauened bread, as doubtles the Apoſtles did, out of the time of vnleauened bread preſcribed by the lawe, and when they were among the Gentiles. But it is a greater matter, wherein you ſay, we doe impudently and damnably contemne Chriſt and his Church, in that we mixe no water with the wine. Whereto I anſwere, we finde no ſuch mixture vſed by Chriſt, and therefore as not neceſſarie, we vſe it not. In the Primitiue Church, it appeareth by Iuſtinus, Irenæus, & Cyprian, that they vſed to mingle water with their wine: becauſe they vſed commonly ſo to drinke it, ſpecially in hot countries, where their wines are ſtrong. Cyprian alſo maketh a myſterie of the water, to ſignifie the people, vnited to the bloud of Chriſt: But that is beſide the word of God, and therefore we are not to receiue it vpon his auctoritie. Chryſoſtome ſaith: That when Chriſt deliuered this myſterie, he deliuered wine, and after his reſurrection in the bare table of the myſterie, he vſed wine, which truly bringeth forth wine, and not water. By which wordes, it ſeemeth becauſe of thoſe Heretikes, which in Cyprians time vſed only water, in Chryſoſtoms time the Church ordeined, that water ſhould no more be mixed with the wine: and ſo the Armenians, which of ancient time miniſtred without water, did vnderſtand him, as appeareth by a Canon of the 6. Councell of Conſtantinople, Can. 32. Theodorus Balſamon teſtifieth alſo, that the Church of the Iberians, being ſound in al pointes of religion, vſed not to put water into the cup in their miniſtration. The Maſter of the ſentence thinketh, that the water is not of neceſſitie of the Sacrament, for if any man of forgetfulnes, or ignorance, doe omit it, the Sacrament is not fruſtrate. For the Church of the Greekes, doth not put water into the cup, (li. 4. diſt. 11.) before the ſanctification, but after, and then they put hot water, as Balſamon teſtifieth, in Can. 32. Concil. Conſt 6. And ſo the Doctors of the Canon law hold. De conſec. Diſt. 2. in gloſſa, That water is to be mingled in the cup, De honeſtate tantum, of decencie onely, and not of neceſſitie. The ſame opinion holdeth Scotus in 4. ſent. Diſt. 11. queſt. 6. That to put water to the wine, is not ſimply neceſſary of the neceſſitie of the Sacrament. Whereas you alledge all the Greeke Liturgies of S. Iames, S. Baſil, S. Chryſoſtome, the Councell of Conſt. 6. doth the ſame. But Balſamon Patriarke of Antioch, ſaith, that the Liturgie of S. Iames was not extant in his time, but vtterly worne away. Theſe that we haue at this day, vnder the names of Chryſoſtome, and Baſill, bewray them ſelues not to be of ſuch antiquitie, as thoſe Fathers. In the Liturgie that beareth the name of Chryſoſtome, as it was ſet forth by Claudius du Sanctes, there is a praier for Pope Nicholas, and the Emperour Alexius, whereof the one was neare 500. yeeres, the other 700. yeeres after Chryſoſtome. The Liturgie bearing the name of S. Baſill, ſheweth it ſelfe to be none of his, becauſe it obſerueth not that forme of Doxologie, that is, giuing praiſe to the holy Ghoſt, with the Prepoſition σὺν, which S. Baſil doeth ſo earneſtly defend to haue come from the Apoſtles tradition, and to haue bene the forme vſed in the Church in his time. De ſpirit. ſanct. Cap. 27. 28. 29. Againe Petrus Diaconus and the reſt that were ſent from the Eaſt to Rome, in their booke to Fulgentius and other biſhops of Africa, cap. 8. doe rehearſe a praier of Baſils Liturgie, which they ſay almoſt the whole Eaſt frequented, that is not found in that which now beareth the name of Baſils Liturgie. And whereas they ſay that the whole Eaſt Church in a maner doth vſe Baſils Liturgie, it is not like that Chryſoſtome would abrogate a Liturgie ſo late made by ſo reuerend a father, ſo vniuerſally obſerued, to ſet vp a new one of his owne. Wherefore in not mingling water, which we neither read that Chriſt did, and diuers Churches of ancient time did not vſe, we depart not from Chriſtes inſtitution, but come neerer to it then they which mingle water, and are not able to proue, that it was mingled by Chriſt. Although (ſo the opinion of neceſſitie be taken away) we count it an indifferent thing, to mingle water, or to miniſter with wine alone.

Auguſtine ſaith) when the wordes come, that is to ſay, actuely and preſently be applied to the elements of the ſame. Therefore the Proteſtants neuer applying theſe wordes more then the whole narration of the inſtitution, nor reciting the whole (as is ſaid) otherwiſe then in hiſtorical maner, (as if one would miniſter Baptiſme and neuer apply the wordes of the Sacrament to the childe, but onely read Chriſtes ſpeaches of the ſame) make no Sacrament at al. And that theſe proper wordes be the onely forme of this Sacrament, and ſo to be ſpoken ouer or vpon the bread and wine, S. Tract. 80. in Io.

The wordes of conſecration be ſaid ouer the bread and wine, the which the Proteſtants do not.

FVLKE. 11 We rehearſe theſe wordes, which Chriſt vttered, when he inſtituted this Sacrament, not as a magicall charme, to be ſaid ouer the bread and wine, to conuert their ſubſtances, but as they import indeede, to declare what the bread and wine are made to vs, by Chriſtes inſtitution of this Sacrament, namely, his body & bloud. Neither doth S. Auguſtine meane, your fantaſie of the wordes of conſecration, when he ſaith: The worde muſt come to the element, that it may be a Sacrament: but that the element muſt haue the word of God, for the inſtitution of it, which maketh it a Sacrament, as appeareth plainly, by his whole diſcourſe, in that place. Quare non ait, &c. Why doth he not ſay, you are cleane for Baptiſme, wherewith you are waſhed? but he ſaith, for the word which I haue ſpoken vnto you, but that euen in the water, the word doth cleanſe. Take away the word, and what is water but water? The word commeth to the element, and it is made a Sacrament, euen it ſelfe being a viſible word. For this verely he ſaid, when he waſhed his Diſciples feete, he that is waſhed, hath no need, but that he waſh his feete, but is all cleane. Where is this ſo great vertue of the water, that it toucheth the body, and waſheth the hart, but by the word which cauſeth it? Not becauſe it is ſaid, but becauſe it is beleeued, for euen in the word it ſelfe, the ſound that paſſeth away, is one thing, the vertue which remaineth, is another thing. This is the word of faith, ſaith the Apoſtle, &c. In this ſaying, S. Auguſtine is directly againſt you, that the word ſayd ouer the element, is the forme of the Sacrament and word of conſecration. Where you ſay, we neuer apply the wordes to the elements, it is falſe, though we apply them not, after your magicall fantaſie, for we ſo apply the wordes of Chriſtes inſtitution, to confirme our faith, that we following the commaundement of Christ, giuen vs in his institution, are assured, that the elements of bread and wine, which are before vs, shall be the same to vs, that they were to the Apostles, and that our Sauiour Christ by those wordes declareth, that they were. And therefore, as we apply the wordes of Baptisme to the childe, so doe we apply the wordes of the supper, to the Communicants. But if the wordes should be so applied to the elements, as the wordes of Baptisme are to the childe, we should not say, This is my bodie, this is my bloud, but this is the body of Christ, this is the bloud of Christ. But that the wordes of the text, be the onely forme of this Sacrament, and to be spoken ouer, or vpon the bread, you will beare vs downe, with a multitude of quotations. First S. Ambrose De sacr. lib. 4. Cap. 4. who sayth no such thing, but that the Sacrament is made by the worde of Christ, which we confesse. By what wordes then, and by whose speaches is the consecration? of our Lord Iesus. For all the rest that is sayde, prayse is giuen to God, prayer is made for the people, for Kings, for the rest, when we come to that, the reuerende Sacrament is to be made: now the Priest vseth not his owne wordes, but the wordes of Christ. Therefore the word of Christ, doeth make this Sacrament. which worde? namely, that whereby all things were made. The Lorde commaunded, and the heauen was made. The Lorde commaunded, and the earth was made. The Lorde commaunded, and the sea was made. The Lorde commaunded, and euery creature was brought forth. Doest thou see therefore, how effectuall the worde of Christ is? If therefore there was so great force in the wordes of our Lorde Iesus, that those things should beginne to be, which were not, how much more effectuall is it, that those things which were, should be, and be changed into another thing. How can it be proued, out of this saying? that these wordes onely, (this is my body, this is my bloud,) should be the onely forme of the Sacrament, and to be said ouer the bread and wine: when the wordes of Christ are more then these: namely, take, eate, drinke ye all of this, Doe this in remembrance of me, This cup is the new Testament in my bloud. Ambrose therefore was ignorant of your forme of Consecration, but sheweth, that by the commaundement of Christ (which is expressed in the wordes of the institution) whereby all things were made, when they were not: the bread and wine are the same that they were before in substance, and yet are changed into another thing, namely into the Sacrament of the body and bloud of Christ. In the second place, De iis qui myst. Cap. 9. he hath no more but that. This Sacrament is made by the worde of Christ, and therefore is verely a Sacrament of his flesh. Our Lord Iesus himselfe crieth out, this is my body, Before the blessing of the heauenly wordes, it is named another kinde, after consecration, the body of Christ is signified. He himselfe saith, it is his bloud, before consecration it is called another thing, after consecration, it is called bloud. Thus Ambrose proueth not your purpose, for saying of the wordes ouer the creatures, nor, that those onely wordes, are the forme of consecration, but sheweth what force the wordes of Christ haue, to make of common bread and wine, the Sacraments or mystic all tokens and signes, of his bodie and bloud.

Iustinus Apol. 2. hath as litle, or lesse, for your purpose. His wordes are these. The foode for which thankes are giuen by the word of praier, which is from him, by which foode our flesh and bloud by change are nourished, we are taught to be the flesh and bloud of Iesus, which was incarnate: you see here, that by the word of praier, the consecration is made, and not by saying the words of Christ only, ouer the bread and wine. And describing the very forme of their administration, he speaketh of nothing, but praier and thankes giuing. Cyprian De Cœna Domini, is directly against you, saying: Before those wordes, that common meate was profitable onely to nourish the body, and did minister aide of corporall life, but after it was said of our Lord, Doe this in my remembrance, this is my flesh, and this is my bloud, so often as it is done, with these wordes, and with this faith, that substantiall bread and cuppe being consecrated with solemne benediction, doth profit to the life and saluation of the whole man.

Cyprian therefore, requireth all the wordes of Christ, and that to be done, which Christ commaunded, and with that faith: therefore, he is cleane contrary to your Popish forme of Consecration. S. Augustine saith litle to the matter, Ser. 28. De verb. Dom. sec. Matth. Before the wordes of Christ, that which is offred is called bread, after the wordes of Christ are vttered, now it is not called bread, but his body. Why should we not thinke, that he meaneth as Cyprian sayth? after the wordes of Christ: Doe this in remembrance of me, &c? and yet here is neither the forme of Consecration described, nor the words sayd ouer the bread and cuppe. Tertullian cont. Marcion. Lib. 4. sayth, that Christ made the bread which he tooke and distributed to his Disciples his body, saying: This is my body, that is to say, a figure of my body. Here you see, he rehearseth briefly the whole action of Christ, and not those wordes onely, then he doth so interprete those wordes, as they can make litle for Popish consecration.

Chrysostome in 2. Tim. Hom. 2. hath these wordes. The holy oblation, whether Peter or Paule doe offer it, or any other Priest of what worthines soeuer he be, is the same which Christ gaue to his Disciples, and which the Priestes doe nowe make. This hath nothing lesse, then that: why so? Because men doe not sanctifie this, but Christ, which did consecrate that before. For as the wordes which Christ spake, are the same which the Priestes doe nowe pronounce, so the oblation is the same, and the same reason is of Baptisme, so all things consist of faith. By these wordes of Chrysostome, you can neuer conclude your purpose, but contrary to your doctrine, he sayth, that the Priest doeth not consecrate nowe, but Christ, as he did at the first: and by the wordes which then he vttered. As also in the Hom. de prod. Iud. And now Christ is also present, which garnished that table, he also doth consecrate this table. For it is not man, which doth make those things, that are set forth of the consecration of the Lordes table, the body and bloud of Christ, but euen the same Christ that was crucified for vs. Wordes are vttered by the mouth of the Priest, and by the power of God and grace they are consecrated. This (saith he) is my body, by this word, the things set forth, are consecrated. And as that voice which saith: Growe and multiply, and till the earth, was spoken but once, but hath alwaies effect, nature working to generation, so that voice was once spoken, but it performeth continuance to the sacrifice, throughout all tables of the Church, vnto this day, and vnto his comming againe. By these wordes of Chrysostome, Christ did consecrate, by pronouncing those wordes once for all, and not the Priest so often as he vttereth them ouer the bread. Although we must vnderstande a Synecdoche, in Chrysostomes speach, whereby naming a part, he meaneth the whole: or else we may as well exclude the consecration of the cuppe, as the rest of the wordes of Christes institution. The oration of Greg. Nyss. hath many things foysted in, by Heretikes, as Nicephorus writeth Lib. 11. Cap. 19. Among which, we may number that which in the 37. Chapter, is so often repeated of the transmutation of the bread, which is not found in many ancient copies, and yet he saith, it is sanctified by the worde of God, and by praier. Damascen. lib. 4. Cap. 14. hath these wordes cleane contrarie to your position. God said in the beginning, let the earth bring forth greene hearbes, and euen till this time, being watered with raine, it bringeth forth branches, being aided and strengthened by Gods commaundement. God said, this is my body, and this is my bloud, and do yet this in my remembrance: and by his Almightie commaundement, it is brought to passe vntill he come. For so he said vntill I come: and the ouershadowing vertue, by inuocation of the holy spirit, is made raine to this new husbandrie: for as all things which God hath made, he hath made by operation of the holy Ghost: so he worketh these things, by operation of the holy Ghost, aboue nature, which faith onely can conceiue. Againe he saith: The bread, wine, and water, that are set forth, by inuocation and comming to of the holy Ghost, are supernaturally changed into the body and bloud of Christ. Thus not one of the Fathers whome you haue quoted, saith, that the wordes are to be spoken ouer, or vpon the bread or wine, not one of them saith, that those onely words that you meane, are the onely forme of this Sacrament. I know not also how you agree with the elder sort of your sect, which define not these words to be the onely forme of the Sacrament, except they be pronounced by a priest, with one breath, and with intention of consecration, which if it be lacking, though he say the wordes neuer so often, he maketh no consecration. In so much that if a priest intending to consecrate only twelue singing cakes, there chance to be a thirteenth, they determine that none of them all be consecrated, because none can be consecrated without his intention, and seeing his intention extendeth not to one, & it is not knowen which that is, seeing any one of the thirteene is no more consecrated then an other of them, they are all vnconsecrated. The intention being therefore so necessarie to the being, it is marueile how you leaue it out of the forme: but with your owne inuentions, you may doe what you list, and euery day haue a new deuise, as the maner of Heretikes is.

Fathers

RHEM. 12 24 My body.) When the wordes of Consecration be by the said impietie of the Protestants, thus remoued from the elements: no marueil if Christes holy body and blood be not there, or that it is now no more a Sacrament, but common bread and wine. So they that vniustly charge the Cath. Church with defrauding the people of one peece of the Sacrament, haue in very deede left no part nor spice of Sacrament, neither following Christ, as they pretend, nor S. Paul, nor any Euangelist, but their owne detestable Sect, hauing boldly defaced the whole institution, not in any accident all indifferent circumstances, but in the very substance and all. The right name is gone, the due elements both gone, no blessing or consecration, or other action ouer them, the formes be gone: and consequently the body and blood, the Sacrament and the Sacrifice. The Protestants haue taken away the B. Sacrament altogether.

FVLKE. 12 This note conteyneth nothing but impudent slanders, for we reteyne the wordes of Christ, the name of the sacrament, the due elements, the right forme of Consecration, and therefore are partakers of the very body and blood of Christ, after a spirituall maner of eating and drinking, to assure vs of our perpetuall dwelling in Christ, and Christ in vs. Slander.

RHEM. 13 24 This doe.) By these wordes, authoritie and power is giuen to the Apostles, and by the like in the Sacrament of Orders, to all lawfull Priestes onely. No marueil then that the new heretical Ministers being lay men, giue the people nothing but bare bread and wine, prophane, naked, and naturall elements voide of Sacrament and all grace. See the Annotation vpon S. Luke chap. 22, 19. The power to consecrate is giuen to priestes onely.

FVLKE. 13 Popish priestes are ordeined to sacrifice for the quicke and the dead, which order is not of Christes institution, but we by lawfull calling are ordeined to be ministers of Christ, and dispensers of the mysteries of God, whereby we doe as lawfully administer the sacraments, as the Apostles that were of Christes onely election and ordeyning. Lawfull ministers of the sacrament.

RHEM. 14 24 Take and eate.) This pertaineth to the receiuing of those things which by consecration are present and sacrificed before: as when the people or Priestes in the olde Lawe did eate the hostes offered or part thereof, they were made partakers of the sacrifice done to God before. And this is not the substance, or being, or making of the Sacrament or Sacrifice of Christes body and blood: but it is the vse and application to the receiuer, of the things which were made and offered to God before. There is a difference betwixt the making of a medicine or the substance and ingredience of it, and the taking of it. Now the receiuing being but a consequence or one of the endes why the Sacrament was made, and the meane to apply it vnto vs: the Aduersaries vnlearnedly make it all and some, and therefore improperly name the whole Sacrament and ministration thereof, by calling it the Communion. Which name they giue also rather then any other, to make the ignorant beleeue that many must communicate together: as though it were so called for that it is common to many. By which collusion they take away the receiuing of the priest alone, of the sicke alone, of reseruing the consecrated Host and the whole Sacrament. Against which deceite, knowe that this part of the MASSE is not called Communion, for that many should concurre together alwaies in the externall Sacrament: but for that we doe communicate or ioyne in vnitie and perfect felowship of one body, with all Christian men in the world, with all (we say) that eate it through the whole Church, and not with them only which eate with vs at one time. And this fellowship riseth of that, that we be, euery time we receiue either alone or with companie, partakers of that one body, which is receiued throughout all the world. It is called Communion (saith S. Damascen) and so in deed it is, for that by it we communicate with Christ, and be partakers of his flesh and diuinitie, and by it doe communicate and are vnited one with another. onely let vs take heede that we doe not participate with Heretikes. And when the Apostle saith, that all be one bread and one body that are partakers of one Bread, he meaneth not of them onely that communicate at one time and place: but that all be so, that communicate in vnitie through the whole Church. Then the name Communion is as ignorantly vsed of them, as the name of Supper. The Sacrament consisteth not in the receiuing. Why the Protestants call it the Communion. Communion, which is a part of the MASSE what it signifieth. Like a crab on a stock.

FVLKE. 14 The receiuing is as necessarie, as the washing in Baptisme to the essence of the sacrament: for not the water, although it be consecrated by prayer, nor the pronouncing of the wordes, I baptise thee &c. doth make the sacrament of Baptisme, except there be one that is baptized. Therefore it is not rightly compared, to the sacrifices that were offered to God, which consisted both of oblation to God, and of participation of that which was offered. But in Christes institution, he did not offer the sacrament to God, but to his disciples: therefore your argument of comparison, concludeth nothing. And although there be difference betwixt the making of a medicine, and the taking of it, yet can it not be truely called a medicine, but when it being receiued doeth heale: for of healing, it is called a medicine. And yet this similitude is vnsufficient to declare your purpose: for (except it be by petition of principle) you cannot proue that the elements of the sacrament, haue vertue of healing in them, although they be not receyued, as medicine hath though it be neuer taken: for to the participation of the body and blood of Christ, faith of the receiuer is necessarie, which is not required in a medicine. Therefore your similitude holdeth not in the very point for which it is brought. Where you say, we doe vnlearnedly make the receiuing, all and some, you doe vnshamefastly belie vs: for as we count it necessarie for the perfection of the sacrament, so we doe acknowledge other things also, as necessarie vnto it. As for learning whereof you bragge so much, condemning vs so often of vnlearnednes, thankes be to God, we shall be found in triall nothing inferiour to the best of you in any kinde of knowledge, that euer was taken for good learning: whereas a great number of you, that make a great sound of learning like emptie vessels, when you are gaged, will be found to haue more winde of vaine boasting, then substance of good literature within you. One high point of your learning you shew, when you say, we vnproperly name the whole sacrament and ministration thereof, by calling it the Communion. And why doe we call the sacrament vnproperly, the Communion of the body and blood of Christ, when the Apostle calleth it so? But we call it so you say, to make the ignorant beleeue, that many must communicate together. Verely S. Paul doth giue that reason, why it is called communion: because wee being many, are made one bread, and one body: for wee are all partakers of one bread, 1. Cor. 10. 17. and that excludeth both your sole receiuing, and reseruation. But you haue a more learned exposition of communion, that it is so called in your Masse, because you communicate with all that eate it, and not with them onely which eate with you at one time. If this be graunted, yet onely they that eate it, doe so communicate. Receiuing is necessarie. The sacrament of communion.

municate: for how are they partakers of the body of Christ, which doe not eate it? And if the priest onely doe eate it, as it is vsuall among you, where is the communion that S. Paul speaketh of? when he saith: for wee being many are one bread, one body, for we are all partakers of one bread. after he had said, the bread which we breake, is it not the communion of the body of Christ, declaring plainely that he speaketh of sacramentall communion, which is onely of them that pertake the sacrament, and not of the generall communion, which all the members of the church haue one with another, by the spirit of Christ: yea many that neuer receiued the sacrament, and they also that haue receiued it, not onely while they receiue it, but alwaies communicate with the whole Church. Which spiritual communion, whether you doe ignorantly, or malitiously confound, with the sacramental communion, let God iudge, & all good men learne to beware of you. The saying of Damascen, maketh nothing for your vaine confusion, but against it (if you rightly waygh him) for he admonisheth vs, neither to receiue the sacrament of Heretikes, nor to giue the sacrament to Heretikes, which he saith, is voluntarily to communicate with them, therefore he speaketh manifestly of sacramental communion, and so doe all the ancient fathers vnderstand the text of all them that communicate at one time. Theodoret vpon that text saith: We which receiue the holy mysteries, doe we not communicate with our Lord himselfe, whose bodie and blood we say that they are? seeing we all are partakers of one bread. Chrysostome saith, What is the bread? the body of of Christ. And what are they made, which receiue the body of Christ? not many bodies, but one body. You see then, these fathers vnderstand the text of sacramentall communion, whereof they onely are partakers which receiue the sacrament, hauing a spirituall communion beside with all the Church, whereof the sacramentall is a seale. Oecumenius and the rest of the Greeke fathers with him, consent in the same matter and wordes, so doth Theophylact. Bede out of S. Augustine, vnderstandeth the communion here spoken of, to be of them that receiue the sacrament together &c. In sacramento. In the sacrament it is so done, and the faithfull knowe howe they eate the flesh of Christ. Euery one receiueth his part. Againe S. Augustine saith ser. ad infant. apud Bedam. Let vs heare the Apostle himselfe. Therefore when he spake of this sacrament he saith, we being many are one bread one body, vnderstand ye, and reioyce ye. Againe vpon the same text saith Bede out of Augustine. By his mercy, we are that which we receiue. Therefore they onely which receiue together, doe communicate in sacramentall communion at that time, and not all other that communicate with the body of Christ in spirituall communion. And this difference of sacramentall communion, and spirituall communion of the body of Christ. S. Augustine in the same sermon ad infantes, doth plainely set foorth in these words. Qui accipit &c. He that receiueth the mysterie of vnitie, and keepeth not the bond of peace, receiueth not the mysterie for himselfe, but a testimonie against himselfe. No man ought to doubt any thing, that euery man is then made partaker of our Lords body and blood, when in Baptisme he is made a member of Christ, and that he is no stranger from that bread and cuppe, although before he eate of that bread and drinke of that cuppe, he depart out of the worlde in the vnitie of the body of Christ. For he is not depriued of the participation and benefite of that sacrament, when he hath found the same thing, which the sacrament doth signifie. The same doth Cyprian de cœno Dom. So often as we doe these things, we doe not whette our teeth to bite, but with syncere faith we breake and diuide the holie bread, while we distinguish and separate that which is diuine, and that which is humane, and likewise ioyning together that we haue distinguished, we confesse one God and man. And we our selues being made his body, are knit and vnited to our head, both by the sacrament, and by the matter of the sacrament, being euery one the members of another, shewing foorth the ministerie of loue one for another, we communicate in charitie, we pertake in mutuall carefulnesse, eating the same meate, and drinking the same cuppe, which issueth and floweth from the spirituall rocke, which is meate and drinke, our Lord Iesus Christ. We see therefore most cleerely, that the fathers making a difference of communion in sacrament, from communion in spirit, that is in the matter of the sacrament, did vnderstand communion in sacrament, to be of all them that receiued the sacrament together, of whom some perhaps did not communicate in spirit. And spirituall communion to be generall of all them, that by the spirit of Christ, were vnited togither, although they neuer receiued this sacrament. Dionysius also, after he hath shewed that this sacrament is called communion, because it doth most specially testifie our participation with Christ and his Church, doth very often call it communion, of the common distribution thereof to all that are present. Hierarch. Eccles. cap. 3. in that part which is called the mysterie of the collection or communion. The Bishop, after he hath praised the holy workes of God, he consecrateth those things that are most diuine, and bringeth into sight, those things that haue beene praised, by the signes which are set foorth after an holy maner. And after he hath shewed foorth the giftes of the diuine workes he himselfe commeth to the holy communion of them, and exhorteth the rest thereunto. And after he hath receiued and distributed the diuine communion, he ordeth in holy thankesgiuing. This was the forme of celebration of the holy communion in the ancient time, and thus that ancient father vseth the name of communion. The same auctor in that part of the Chapter which is called the contemplation neere the beginning, hath these wordes. That diuine, common, and peaceable distribution of one and the same bread and cuppe, doth prescribe and decree a diuine agreement of maners, to them that are so fedde together, and bringeth to holy remembrance, that most diuine supper and first paterne of those things which are done: in which the auctor himselfe of those signes, most iustly depriueth him of his portion, which at the supper receiued with him, the holy things, not holily, nor charitably, teaching purely and diuinely, that the comming to the diuine things which is true in deede, doth giue the communion to them that come to it, like vnto themselues. Georgius Pachymer the Greeke interpreter of Dyonisius, in the very beginning of the exposition of this Chapter saith. Hee calleth this sacrament the communion, because at that time, all that were woorthy, did communicate, or were partakers of the mysteries. Therefore whether we doe ignorantly and vnlearnedly vse the names of the communion, and the Lords supper, let them that be learned iudge, when we vse them as the ancient fathers vsed them, and vnderstand them according to the holy Scriptures.

EM. 15 26 You shall shewe.) Vpon this word the Heretikes fondly ground their false supposition, that this sacrament can not rightly be minisired or made without a sermon of the death of Christ: and that this and other sacraments in the Church, be not profitable, when they be minisired in a strange language. As though the grace, force, operation, and actiuitie togither, with the instruction and representation of the things which they signifie, were not in the very substance, matter, forme, vse, and worke it selfe of euery of the sacraments: and as though preaching were not one way to shewe Christes passion, and the Sacraments an other way: namely this Sacrament, conteyning in the very kinds of the elements and the action, a most liuely representation of Christes death. As wisely might they say, that neither Abels sacrifice nor the Paschal lambe coulde signifie Christes death without a sermon.

How Christes death is shewed by the B Sacrament it selfe, without sermon or otherwise.

XE. 15 We hold no such supposition, that this sacrament cannot be rightly ministred without a sermon of the death of Christ, (as you vnderstand a sermon) but we doe rightly conclude out of this place, that the sacrament cannot be rightly ministred, except there be a declaration of the Lordes death, vntill he come againe. Not only in the visible action of breaking & distributing of the elements, but also in shewing the end of Christs death out of the worde of God, to stirre vp the remembrance of his benefites to confirme the faith of the receiuers, in the participation of the same, and to exhort to thankfulnes to God, and vnitie and agreement with our fellow members. For which causes principally the sacrament was ordeyned, as is manifest by the verie words of the institution, where it is not onely said, that Christ tooke bread and brake it, and gaue it &c. but that he gaue thankes and said, take, eate, this is my body which is broken for you, drinke you all of this: this is the cuppe of the new testament in my bloud which is shed for you, and for many, to the remission of sinnes, do this in remembrance of me. Therefore we must not separate the preaching of the word, from the sacrament which is a seale of the doctrine, which were as absurd, as if a man should deliuer a seale without any writing: for the word may be preached without the sacrament, but the sacrament may not be administred without the word. Wherefore though there be not a long sermon alwaies preached, when the sacrament is ministred, yet there ought to be shewing of the Lords death, at the leastwise briefly & summarily declaring the institution & vse of the sacrament, and that is alwaies obserued in our Church, though there be not alwaies (as it were to be wished) a sermon, or more large explication thereof. Where you say we might as wisely say, that neither Abels sacrifice, nor the paschall lambe could signifie Christes death without a sermon, we answere, that the cleare sacraments of the new testament in this point, of cleare declaration of Christs death are falsly compared with the obscure figures of the old testament. And yet they had according to their institution, not onely a diuine action, or silent ceremonie, but also a preaching or declaration of Christes death and the benefite thereof. For although there be no expresse mention of the forme of Abels sacrifice, yet seeing the scripture testifieth that Abels sacrifice was offered and accepted by faith: and faith hath alwaies relation to the word and promise of God, there is no doubt but Abel presented his sacrifice with such wordes, as declared his faith in worde, whereby he was taught to sacrifice, and in the seede which was promised to breake the serpents head, and to destroy the workes of the deuill. As for the paschall lambe, hath an expresse commandement, that the Israelities shoulde declare to their children, the institution and vse of the sacrifice, whereby (though obscurely) yet according to the institution thereof, the Lords death was preached, before he came in the flesh. And therefore according to Christes institution and expresse commandement, his death ought to be preached most clearely and plainely, to all that pertake this sacrament to their edification, which cannot be in a strange tongue, which they vnderstand not: therefore this sacrament ought not to be ministred in a strange language, nor any thing else ought to be done in the congregation, but to edifying. Chrysostome vpon this text saith, there must be a commemoration of the death of Christ, according to his commaundement, who declared the cause why he gaue this mysterie. For when thou shalt vnderstand (saith he) what our Lorde suffered for thee, thou shalt be made wiser. He that sheweth the Lordes death (saith Oecumenius vpon this text) sheweth all his gift, all his gentlenesse and kindnesse, and all our saluation togither. S. Hierome on the same text saith. When we receiue this sacrament, we are admonished by the Priestes, that it is the body and bloud of Christ, that we should not be vnthankefull for his benefites. Primasius saith, God our Sauiour gaue example, that so often as we doe this, we shoulde haue in minde, that Christ died for vs all. Therefore it is saide vnto vs, The body of Christ, that when we remember this thing, we should not be vnthankefull to his grace. Againe, you shall shew the Lords death in your harts when you heare the body of Christ. Therefore according to the iudgement of the fathers, the Lords death must be shewed, not onely by the action, but also by wordes that may be vnderstood, and sturre vs vp to the remembrance of Christes death, and the benefites thereof, and to thankfulnesse in the same. To that effect speaketh S. Basil, gathering vpon this text De Baptismo. What then doe these wordes profite vs? that eating and drinking, wee should alwaies call to remembrance, him that died and rose againe for vs, and so should be instructed of necessitie, to obserue before God & his Christ, that lesson which is deliuered by the Apostle, where he saith: For the loue of Christ doth constraine vs, iudging this, that if one haue died for all, then all are dead &c. Wherefore instruction is needefull aswell as the action.

RHEM. 16 27 Guiltie of the body.) First hereupon marke well, that ill men receiue the body and bloud of Christ: be they infidels or ill liuers. For in this case they could not be guiltie of that which they receiue not. Secondly, that it couldne not be so heinous an offense for any man to receiue a peice of bread or a cuppe of wine, though they were a true Sacrament. For it is a deadly sinne to receiue any Sacrament with will and intention to continue in sinne, or without repentance of former sinnes: but yet by the vnworthy receiuing of no other Sacrament is man guiltie of Christes body and blood, but here, where the vnworthy (as S. Chrysostom saith) doth vilanie to Christs owne person, as the Iewes or Gentiles did, that crucified it, Chrys. ho. de non cõtemn. Ec. &c. ho. 60. & 61. ad po. Antioch. Which inuincibly proueth againſt the heretikes that Christ is really present.

The wicked receiue the body and bloud.

The real presence is proued by the heinous offence of vnworthy receiuing.

Wicked men receiue not the body and bloud of Christ.

FVLKE. 16 It followeth not of the text, that wicked men receiue the body and bloud of Christ, which vnworthely eate of this bread, and drinke of this cuppe. He that contumeliously receiueth the princes seale, is guiltie of the maiestie of the prince, not which he receiueth, but which he despiseth. And we see how heynous an offence it is, to receiue a princes seale contemptuously, although in substance, it be but printed waxe: so we may see, that he which eateth this bread, and drinketh this cuppe vnworthely, being the seale of Christes passion, cõmitteth an heynous offence, although in earthly substance, they be but bread and wine. And is not he guiltie of the blood of Christ, which despiseth Baptisme, that he hath receiued as a seale of his washing in the bloud of Christ, although he were washed with water? Doth not the Apostle say of wicked men that fall from Christian religion, that they crucifie againe vnto themselues the sonne of God, and make a scorne of him? Heb. 6. 6. That they treade vnder their feete the sonne of God, and accompt his bloud wherewith they haue been sanctified as vncleane? Heb. 10. 29. Can this be saide onely for receiuing the sacrament vnworthely? yet doe those vilanie to Christes owne person, as the Iewes or Gentiles did that crucified him. Not that his person suffereth any thing of them in deede, for he is now impassible, but that their malice is as great, and their wickednesse as heynous in offence against him, as that the Iewes or Gentiles did to his body when he suffered. And therefore this doth nothing in the world make for the popish reall presence. Neither doth Chrysostome in any place of his writings affirme, that wicked men receiue the body of Christ really, as you meane: yea he saith expresly Hom. 60. ad pop. Antioch. Let no Iudas stand to, no couetous person, if any be a disciple, let him be present: for this table receiueth not such persons: for Christ saith, I keepe my passouer with my disciples. Nowe it is certaine, that the Lords table receiueth many wicked men to the partitipation of the outward sacrament, but not to the matter or heauenly substance of the sacrament, which is the body and bloud of Christ. And because the outward sacrament is called the body of Christ, euen the wicked in some sense, may be said to eate the body of Christ, but in proper speach, and according to your meaning, Chrysostome doeth no where say, that infidels do eate the body of Christ. Chrysostome in Math. hom. 83. saith, that the wicked which receiue vnworthely, according to the saying of the Apostle, doe tread Christ vnder feete, and esteeme the bloud of the couenant vncleane: yet he meaneth not that the naturall body of Christ is troden vnder the feete of men: no more doth he meane, that it entreth into the mouth and body of wicked men, that receiueth the sacrament thereof. Againe in the same homily he saith:

saith: Let none communicate, except he be of the disciples, let no man with impure minde as Iudas, take the bread, lest hee suffer the like punishment. Euen this multitude also is the body of Christ: wherefore thou that doest minister these mysteries, must take heed, that thou prouoke not the Lord by not purging this body, lest thou deliuer a sharpe sword in steade of meate. You see Chrysostome chargeth the negligent minister, to be guiltie of the body and bloud of Christ, that purgeth not the multitude cõmitted to him, which are the body of Christ, deliuering not the body of Christ, which is the spirituall meate of our soules, but a sword for their destruction. Orige. in 15. Math. saith expresly, that No euill man can eate the worde made flesh. But S. Augustine in many places is most plaine in this case, that wicked men receiue not the body of Christ, and that no man receiueth the body of Christ to his damnation. Ep. 50. ad Bonifac. he saith of the wicked. They haue the sacrament of the body of Christ outwardly, but the thing it selfe, whereof that is a sacrament, they hold not within, and therefore they eate and drinke their owne iudgement, In Ioan. T. 26. He that abideth not in Christ, and in whom Christ abideth not, out of doubt eateth not spiritually his flesh, nor drinketh his bloud, although carnally and visibly he presse with his teeth, the sacrament of the body and bloud of Christ: but rather he eateth and drinketh the sacrament of so great a thing vnto his iudgement. Againe in the same treatise. The sacrament of this thing, is prepared on the Lords table, and is receiued from the Lords table of some vnto life, of some vnto destruction, but the thing it selfe whereof it is a sacrament, is receiued of euery man to life, and of no man to destruction, whosoeuer shall be partaker of it De ciuit. Dei. lib. 21. cap. 25. It is not to be said that he receiueth the body of Christ, which is not in the body of Christ. Againe. They are not to be said to eate the body of Christ, because they are not to be compted among his members. To omit other things they cannot be at one time the members of Christ, & the members of an harlot. Finally he himselfe saying, he that eateth my flesh, and drinketh my bloud, abideth in me, and I in him, sheweth what it is, not as in a sacrament onely, but in very deed to eate the body of Christ, and to drinke his bloud. This is Saint Augustines iudgement vttered expresly, distinctly, and dogmatically, not in rhetoricall amplifications or figuratiue formes of speaking: that infidels and wicked men receiue not the body of Christ, much lesse brute beasts, as many do papists hold.

RHEM. 17 28. Let him proue.) A man must examine his life diligently, whether he be in any mortall sinne, and must confesse himselfe of euery offence which he knoweth or feareth to be deadly, before he presume to come to the holy Sacrament. For so the Apostles doctrine here, with the continuall custome of the Cath. Church and the Fathers example, binde him to do. Cypr. de lapsi nu. 7. Aug. Eccl. dog. c. 53. — Confession before receiuing the B. Sacrament.

FVLKE. 17 S. Augustine willeth euery man to examine himselfe, he biddeth him not to shew himselfe to the priest. Neither is the necessitie of confession laide vpon euery man by the Apostles doctrine, or the practise of the primitiue Church, for many hundred yeeres after Christ. S. Cyprian de lapsis, speaketh manifestly of them that were to make open confession, because they had openly fallen in time of persecution, or els of them that of their owne accord, vncompelled, accused their owne purpose of shrinking, though they did not fall in deede. The booke de Dogmat. Eccles. is none of Augustines, & yet in the place quoted, the author speaketh of publike confession, & not of priuate or auriculer shrift. Chrysostome vpon this text saith. He doth not command that one should be examined of an other, but euery man of himselfe, not making a publike iudgement, but an action without witnesse. To the same effect writeth Theodoret: but of confession see more, Math. 2. sect. 3. — Shrift.

RHEM. 18 29 Not discerning the body.) That is, because he putteth no difference nor distinction betwixt this high meate and others, and therefore S. Augustine saith ep. 118. c 3. that it is he that the Apostle saith shall be damned, that doth not by singular veneration or adoration make a difference betweene this meate and all others. And againe in Psal. 98. No man eateth it before he adore it. And S. Ambrose lib. 3. c. 12. de Sp. San. We adore the flesh of Christ in the Mysteries S. Chrysostome ho. 24. in 1. Cor. We adore him on the altar, as the Sages did in the manger. S. Nazianzene in Epitaph. Gorgoniæ. My sister called on him which is worshipped vpon the altar. Theodorete Dial. 2. In conf. Augustine saith) receiuing it fasting. Thus doe we Catholikes and the Church of God discerne the holy body and bloud by S. Pauls rule, not onely from your prophane bread and wine (which not by any secret abuse of your Curats or Clerkes, but by the very order of your booke, the Minister, if any remaine after your Communion, may take home with him to his owne vse, and therefore is no more holy by your owne iudgement then the rest of his meates) but from al other either vulgar or sanctified meates, as* * the Catechumens bread, and our vsual holy bread. Ep Iuda. Holy bread.

FVLKE. 18 S. Augustine speaketh not of adoration of the Sacrament, such as is vsed in Popery, with kneeling & holding vp of hands to it, as though Christ were conteined within the compasse of that which is seene, but of a reuerent estimation, especially due to the Sacrament aboue al other meates, because it is a seale and pledge of our spiritual nourishment by the body and bloud of Christ. The like reuerent estimation is to be had of Baptisme, aboue all other washings, because it is a seale and pledge of our spiritual washing by the bloud of Christ, and of our regeneration by the spirite of God. S. Augustine therefore speaking of two, whereof one (according to the custome of the Church where he lued) receiued the Sacrament euery day, Another following likewise the custome of his Church, receiued only at certaine times in the yeere. Neither of both (saith he) dishonoureth the bodie and bloud of our Lord, if they striue which of them may most honour the most holsome Sacrament. For Zachaus and the Centurion did not cõtend one with the other, or the one of them preferre himselfe before the other, when the one with ioy receiued the Lord into his house, the other said, I am not worthy that thou shouldest enter vnder my roofe. Both of them honouring our Sauiour after a diuers, and as it were contrary maner, both being miserable through sinnes, both obteined mercie. It auayleth also vnto this similitude, that in the first people Manna did taste in euery mans mouth according to his owne will: so in the mouth of euery Christian man, that Sacrament is to be esteemed as it is taken. For the one in honouring it, dare not take it — The Sacrament not to be adored euery day, and the other in honoring it, dare not pretermit any day. Only contempt that meate cannot abide, as Manna loth-ſomnes. For hereof the Apoſtle ſaith, that it is vnworthily receiued of them, which did not diſcerne it from other meates, (Veneratione ſingulariter debita) by reuerence ſpecially due vnto it. For immediately after he had ſaid: he eateth and drinketh iudgement to himſelfe, he addeth and ſaith, Not diſcerning the body, &c. The Sacrament therefore is to be honoured, reuerenced & highly eſteemed, as a certaine and vndoubted pledge of the body and bloud of Chriſt giuen and ſhed for vs, and to vs, but not to be adored or worſhipped as Chriſt were perſonally preſent in it. But by this verſe it is inuincibly proued, that wicked men eate not the body of Chriſt. For the Apoſtle ſaith: That which they eate and drinke is iudgement to themſelues. The body of Chriſt is not iudgement to any, but life to all that receiue it, Therefore that which they eate and drinke, is not the body & bloud of Chriſt. The ſame Auguſtine in Pſal. 98. plainly ſheweth, that the naturall body of Chriſt is not in the Sacrament, and therefore the Sacrament is not to be adored as Chriſt were preſent there, but the fleſh of Chriſt (that is the humanitie of Chriſt,) is to be adored and acknowledged, as ioyned in perſonal vnion with the Sonne of God, of euery Chriſtian man before he can eate the fleſh of Chriſt, either in the Sacrament or otherwiſe by faith. Quæro, &c: I enquire what is his footeſtoole, and the Scripture ſaith vnto me, The earth is my footeſtoole. Wauering, I conuert my ſelfe to Chriſt, becauſe I ſeeke him here, & I finde how without impietie earth may be adored, his footeſtoole may be adored without impietie. For of the earth he tooke earth, becauſe fleſh is of the earth, and of the fleſh of Mary he tooke fleſh. And becauſe he walked here in the ſame fleſh, and gaue vs the ſame fleſh to be eaten vnto ſaluation, and no man eateth that fleſh, except hee firſt adore it, it is found out how ſuch a footeſtoole of the Lord may be adored, and we do not only not ſinne in adoring, but we ſinne in not adoring it. In theſe wordes he ſheweth that the naturall body of Chriſt is to be adored. Now that the ſame is not really preſent in the Sacrament, he ſheweth in theſe wordes: After he had ſhewed how vniuſtly the Capernaites were offended, he declareth how Chriſt inſtructed his diſciples that remained with him, when he ſaid. It is the ſpirit which quickeneth, the fleſh profiteth nothing. The words which I haue ſpoken to you, be ſpirit and life. Vnderſtand ye ſpiritually, that which I haue ſpoken. You ſhall not eate this body which you ſee, and drinke this bloud, which they ſhall ſhed which ſhall crucifie me, I haue commended to you a certaine Sacrament, which being ſpiritually vnderſtoode ſhall quicken you. And albeit it be neceſſarie that the ſame be celebrated viſibly, yet it muſt be vnderſtood inuiſibly. There can nothing be ſpoken more plainely and directly againſt the groſſe and carnall maner of preſence, which they call the reall preſence of Chriſts body and bloud in the Sacrament, then that which Auguſtine here affirmeth, as in the perſon of Chriſt. We eate not that body which his diſciples ſaw, nor drinke that bloud which the Iewes did powre out, but that was the naturall body and bloud of Chriſt, therefore we do not eate the naturall body and bloud of Chriſt really, but Sacramentally, ſpiritually, in a myſterie by faith, not corporally with our mouth. Whereof it followeth, we ought not to worſhip the ſacrament, but Chriſt which is ſignified and repreſented by the Sacrament. S. Ambroſe ſaith in effect, as S. Auguſtine of adoring the footeſtoole, We adore the fleſh of Chriſt in the myſteries, which he ſpeaketh not onely of this Sacrament, but of all the myſteries of Chriſtian Religion, as it appeereth plainly within three lines after, where he gathereth of that he ſaid before. Cum igitur incarnationis adorandum ſit Sacramentum. Therefore ſeeing the Sacrament of his incarnation is to be adored, &c. Therefore S. Ambroſe ſpeaketh not of adoration of the Sacrament, as Chriſt and God, no more then the myſterie of the incarnation is God and Chriſt in proper ſpeach, but of worſhipping Chriſt in the myſteries of his ſupper, of Baptiſme, of his incarnation, of his death and reſurrection, &c. Chryſoſtomes words Hom. 24. in Cor. 10. are both falſified and wreſted cleane from his meaning, for he exhorteth his hearers to come reuerently and worthely to the participation of the body and bloud of Chriſt, by example of the ſages, and not to adore the Sacrament, but Chriſt himſelfe in heauen. As we receiue the greater benefit (ſaith he) ſo much more we ſhalbe puniſhed, when we ſhall appeere vnworthy. This body the wiſe men did reuerence in the manger, being both vngodly men and barbarous men, after they had taken a long iourney, they adore him with feare and trembling. Therefore at leſt let vs which are citizens of heauen, follow theſe barbarous men. For they when they ſaw that manger and cottage onely, and ſaw none of theſe things which thou doeſt now beholde, came to him with great reuerence and trembling. But thou ſeeſt it not in the manger but in the altar, not a woman which holdeth him in her armes, but the Prieſt preſent, and the ſpirit myſt abundantly powred out vpon the ſacrifice, which is ſet forth. Neither doeſt thou behold his ſimple body as they did, but alſo his power, and knoweſt all his adminiſtration, and art ignorant of none of thoſe things which were done by him, and art diligently inſtructed in all things. Let vs be ſtirred vp therefore and tremble, and ſhewe greater pietie then thoſe barbarous men, that we come not barely and coldly, and ſo offer our head to a more vehement fire.

Real preſence.

Theſe wordes (as euery man may ſee plainely) make nothing for adoration of the Sacrament, but for ſpiritual reuerence to be giuen to Chriſt, of them that come to receiue the Sacrament, by which we are aſſured (if we come worthely) that we are made partakers of the very body and bloud of Chriſt, after a ſpiritual maner, by faith on our behalfe, and by the working of the holy Ghoſt, on the behalfe of Chriſt. I omit other emphatical ſpeaches which Chryſoſtome vſeth, of aſcending vp to the gates of heauen, & of ſhewing Chriſt him ſelfe to be ſeene, handled, eaten, &c. Which declare manifeſtly, that he ſpeaketh of a ſpiritual and myſticall beholding, handling, eating by faith, not of a carnal ſight, handling, eating with the eyes, handes and mouth. Gregory Nazianzenes words are likewiſe falſified, and racked out of ioynt, for he ſaith: When his ſiſter had any reſpit from her ſickenes in the night, ſhe fel downe before the altar with faith, calling vpon him which is honoured at it. He ſaith not that ſhe praied to the Sacrament, but to God which was worſhipped at the altar or Communion table: for ſuch one it was, made of bords, and ſo placed, as men might ſtand round about it. And concerning the Sacrament, he ſheweth further how ſhe behaued her ſelfe toward it. καὶ εἴτε &c. And if her hand had layd vp any where any part of the figures of the precious body, or of the bloud, that ſhe mingled with teares, O marueilous thing! And immediatly departed feeling health. You ſee ſhe came not to the altar to worſhip the Sacrament hanging ouer it, or lying on it, but ſhe brought theſe fragments of the Sacrament with her, and ſue vſed them to ſtirre vp her zeale in praier: ſuperſtitiouſly (I graunt) and ſo I thinke wil you. For you will not ſuffer women to touch your Chalice with their hands, much leſſe the Sacrament it ſelfe, and to blubber it with their teares, which behauiour of hers was nothing like Popiſh adoration. To omit, that Gregory calleth the Sacrament not the very body and bloud of Chriſt, but the figures and tokens thereof.

Theodoret ſaith: The myſtical ſignes after ſanctification, do not depart from their nature. For they remaine in their former ſubſtance, forme and ſhape, they may both be ſeene and touched as before. But they are vnderſtood to be thoſe things which they are made to be, and are beleeued & reuerenced, as thoſe which are the ſame things that they are beleeued to be. Compare therfore the image with the exemplar or paterne. For the figure ought to be like the truth. In theſe words Theodoret denieth both tranſubſtantiation and the real preſence. Therefore you may eaſily vnderſtand what kind of reuerence or eſtimation, he would haue to be giuen to the outward Sacrament, namely ſpiritual and by faith. Not that the ſubſtance of bread and wine which is the image not the paterne, the figure not the trueth of Chriſt, ſhould ſhould be adored as Chriſt himſelfe.

S. Denis an ancient writer, (though no immediate ſcholer of S. Paul) is impudently ſlandered to haue made ſolemne inuocation of the Sacrament after conſecration. For if you reade the whole Chapter (in which he ſheweth all the forme of celebration of the Communion in his time) you ſhall neuer finde that the ſymboles or tokens were adored as Chriſt, but according to Chriſts inſtitution diſtributed and receiued. That which hath any ſhew of your ſlander, is neither before nor after conſecration, but in the contemplation of the myſterie of the Lords Supper, which he vndertaking by the helpe of Ieſus to ſet forth more at large, breaketh out into a Rhetorical exclamation (or if you wil ſo haue it) an inuocation of the myſterie which is Chriſt himſelfe: ſaying, ἀλλὰ ὦ θειότατη, &c. But thou, (O moſt diuine and holy myſterie, reueyling or laying open the couerings of darke ſpeaches, which are compaſſed about thee by ſignes,) ſhew thy ſelfe cleerely vnto vs, and fill the eies of our minde with that ſingular light which cannot be hidde. You ſee hee doth manifeſtly diſtinguiſh the moſt diuine myſterie, which is Chriſt himſelfe, from the ſignes which are the outward elements, to whom he maketh no prayer, but to Chriſt himſelfe: ſo doth Pachymeres expound him ſaying, He ſpeaketh to the myſterie it ſelfe, as to a liuing thing, and worthely. Euen as the great diuine Gregorie. But thou, O great and holy Paſſeouer. For our Paſſeouer, & ſo ſuch an holy myſterie, is Ieſus Chriſt our Lord himſelfe, and to him the holy man maketh his ſpeach, that he would vncouer the couerings, and fill him with ſingular light. Therefore this ſpeach of Dionyſe doth no more proue that he prayed to the Sacrament, then the like of Gregory, that he prayed to the Paſchal lambe. And although the Popiſh Church doe commit moſt deteſtable idolatrie in praying to it, yet the Church of Chriſt did neuer make any ſuch prayer to the Sacrament, but onely to God through Ieſus Chriſt, whoſe Sacrament it is. Where you adde further, that for diſcerning of Chriſts body, you are called from prophane houſes to Churches, from tables to altars, from vulgar apparel to holy veſtments to Corporals & chalices, from mariage to chaſtity, &c. You offer heinous iniurie to our Sauiour Chriſt himſelfe, and to his Apoſtles and to the Primitiue Church for many hundred yeres after Chriſt, who knew none of theſe meanes, to diſcerne the Lords body, nor any ſuch preſcribed or vſed. But let vs examine them particularly. For better diſcerning of this diuine meate (you ſay) you are called from common prophane houſes, to Gods Church. Who hath called you for ſuch end? or who hath taught you to cal thoſe, common and prophane houſes, in which Chriſt miniſtred, and his Apoſtles and to the Primitiue Church for many hundred yeeres, and where Chriſt himſelf is preſent? Mat. 18. 20. Who hath taught you to diſcerne the Lords body better thē Chriſt, then his Apoſtles, then the Primitiue Church? We are called by S. Paul from priuate houſes, to the place of publike aſſembly, for order, comlines, & more conuenience to edifying, but for better diſcerning of the Lordes body, or for any greater holines of the place, we are neuer called by Chriſt, nor his ſpirit in his Apoſtles and Euangeliſts. You adde further, That for this, you are forbidden to make it in the vulgar apparel, and are appointed ſacred ſolemne veſtments. From whom came this prohibition? By whom are you appointed? You quote Hiero. in ep. Nepot. where there is no ſuch matter, nor any thing ſounding toward ſuch a matter, except you meane thoſe words, which Nepotianus ſpake immediately before his death, to his Vncle, ſaying, Send this coate which I did weare in the ſeruice of Chriſt, to my beſt beloued father by age &c. Which coate by the circumſtance of the place could be no other, then ſuch as he then ware at that inſtant, or had preſent before him, peraduēture his hearen coate, whereof Hierome ſpake before, that he ware it vnder his cloke and white linnen, while he was a Courtier. What garment ſoeuer it was, you ſhal neuer proue that it was your maſking veſtments, except you can proue that Tunica ſignifieth an Albe, a Cheſeble, and ſuch like trumpery, and moreouer that there is none other miniſterie or ſeruice of Chriſt, but ſaying of Maſſe. In the ſecond place: Hierom ſaith, The Prieſts of the myſticall temple, which is interpreted the Church, the ſonnes of Sadoch go not forth vnto the people with the garments of their miniſtery, leſt being ſanctified, they ſhould be defiled with humane conuerſation. And thou in the midſt of the common people, and one of the people, doſt thou beleeue that thou art cleane? Who is ſo blinde not to ſee that all true Chriſtians are Prieſtes of the myſtical temple, which is the Church, and muſt haue care not to defile their garments? Therefore Hierome ſpeaketh nothing of apparell worne by the Miniſters of the Church in the celebration of this Sacrament, but ſheweth by the charge giuen to the Prieſt, Ezech. 44. that no man liuing in this worlde can be cleane. In the Epiſtle of Paulinus, I know not what you imagine ſhould make for your purpoſe, except it be two verſes written ouer a certaine Cloſet, that was in the great Church or minſter of Nola.

Hic locus eſt veneranda penus qua conditur, & qua
Promitur alma ſacri pompa Miniſterij.

This is the place where the venerable ſtore is laied vp, and from whence the reuerend pompe of the holy Miniſtery is brought forth. This you imagine to be the Veſtrie where all Popiſh veſtments are kept. But Paulinus meaneth, that all ſuch things as were occupied about the holy Miniſterie, except bookes (for they were in another cloſet) were kept and brought out of this place: as bread and wine and veſſels for both, and ſuch other things as they occupied in their ceremonies, among which if there were any garments appointed for the celebration of the Lords ſupper, it foloweth not that they were ſo many, and ſuch maner of Veſtments as you vſe in your Maſſe. By Chryſoſtome it may be gathered, they had none other apparel in his Church but a white veſture. In Matt. Hom. 85. nor in the Church of Rome, by Hierom cont. Pelag. li. 1. But it will neuer be prooued that they vſed any garments to diſcerne the Lords body by them, as you pretend. As for the fables of Iohn Diacon, that wrote the life of Gregorie almoſt 900. yeeres after Chriſt, deſerue ſmall credite with wiſemen, to proue what garments and for what end, were worne in the Primitiue Church, fiue hundred yeeres before he was borne.

But you proceed and tell vs, that for this, namely, for diſcerning our Lords body, is the hallowing of Corporals and chalices, calling to witneſſe Ambroſe Off. 2. c. 28. who ſpeaketh neuer a word of Corporals, but of golden veſſels dedicated to the miniſterie of the Sacrament, which as he himſelfe had broken and melted to redeeme captiues, ſo he iudgeth that it is the beſt vſe that they can be put to: If they be giuen to the poore, if they be employed for redeeming of Captiues, or for building of churches and enlarging the burial places. In theſe three kindes (ſaith he) it is lawfull to breake, melt, and ſell the veſſels of the Church, euen after they be dedicated. It is needfull that the forme of the myſtical cup go not out of the Church, leſt the Miniſterie of the holy cup be transferred to wicked vſes. Therefore within the Church firſt there were ſought out veſſels that were not dedicated: then being broken, &c. laſt of all melted, they were diſpenſed to the poore by ſmall portions, alſo they helped for the redemption of captiues. But although there want new veſſels, and ſuch as ſeeme not to be dedicated, I thinke they may be al conuerted with pietie to ſuch vſes, as I haue ſaid before. The Church in his time therefore had golden veſſels dedicated for the holy vſe of the Sacrament, but not to diſcerne the Lords body, which might be diſcerned ſufficiently without them, and neuer a whit by them. Exuperius biſhop of Tholoſa, is commended by Hierom to be ſo rich, as no man was richer then he, which caried the Lords body in a wicker basket, and his bloud in a glaſſe, becauſe he beſtowed all vpon reliefe of the poore: Yet there is no doubt, but he discerned the Lords body better with his wicker basket and brittle glasse, then Papists doe with their golden Corporals and chalices.

Diſcerning of Chriſtes body.

Nazianzen purging himselfe of prophaning the mysteries of Christian religion, allegorically alludeth to the prophanation of the vessels of the Iewish temples by Nabuzardan and Balthasar, as his wordes doe plainely declare: saying, What ministring vessels not to be touched of many, or the multitude, haue I deliuered to the hands of the wicked, either to Nabuzardan or to Balthasar, which rioted wickedly in holy things, & suffred punishment worthy of his madnes? Where is hallowing of Corporals and chalices for discerning of the Lords body? Optatus lib. 1. speaking against the rage of the Donatists, saith, that beside their breaking & scraping of the Communion tables or altars, which were tables of wood, You haue doubled your wickednes, while you haue broken also the Cuppes, the cariers of the bloud of Christ. What hallowing of cups or Corporals (to such end as you affirme) can be cõcluded out of these wordes? We know they had Cuppes specially appointed, (or if you will) consecrated, as we haue to the vse of the holy Sacrament, but without any Popish hallowing, or as necessarie to discerne the Lords body and bloud by them. The auctour of the imperfect worke vnder the name of Chrysostome Hom. 11. saith: If it be a sinne, and danger to transferre the sanctified vessels vnto priuate vses, as Balthasar doth teach vs, who drinking in the hallowed Cups, was deposed out of his kingdome and his life. If therefore it be so dangerous to transferre to priuate vses, these sanctified vessels, in which not the true body of Christ but a mysterie of his body is conteined, how much more the vessels of our body, which God hath prepared for an habitation for himselfe, we ought not to giue as a place for the diuel, to doe what he will with them. You see they had sanctified vessels, and yet confessed that the true body of Christ was not in them. The Realpresence.

But you proceede and say, For this prophane tables are remooued, and altars consecrated. Christ and his Apostles were to blame (if it be as you say,) to minister vpon prophane tables, without consecrating of altars. But who shall beare witnes for consecration of altars? Who but S. Augustine Sermo. 255. de tempore? And who shall warrant vs that this Sermon is not falsly intituled to S. Augustine, (as a great number of those Sermons are?) But admit it be Augustines owne auctoritie, yet he speaketh onely of consecrating of altars, not for this ende to discerne the Lords body and bloud. For that their tables and altars were dedicated to the holy vse of ministration, it is not the matter we stand vpon, but whether they were consecrated for this end. They were called altars vnproperly, as the Sacrament was called a Sacrifice, the Ministers sacrificing priests & Leuites, yet were they neither in matter, forme, nor vse, like vnto your popish altars of stone, that were set against a wall. For they were tables of wood, and so commonly were called, as it is manifest by S. Augustine, Ep. 50. Bonifacio. And Optatus li. 6. both speaking of the rage of the Donatists, which brake, or shaued, or scraped the boardes of the altar or table. It stood in the middest, that the people might stand round about it. Euseb. lib. 10. c. 4. ad Paulin. Tyr. ep. Aug. de verb. Dom. secund. Ioan. ser. 46. It was remoueable and caried by the clearkes. August. Quæst. vet. & noues. Qu. 101. Or otherwise, as appeareth by Optatus lib. 6. Therefore it was nothing like Popish altars. Altars.

But you goe on, and say: That for this, the very Priests themselues, are honourable, chast, sacred. The Lords body may be discerned of the receiuers, though the Priest be a very varlet, vnchaste, and vnholy. For the dignitie of the Sacrament, dependeth not vpon the worthines of the Minister. We confesse that the Minister ought to be chaste, and holy, that in respect of himselfe, he may discerne the Lords body, and that his Ministerie is honourable, both in this Sacrament, and in the other. And so saith Hierome ad Heliodorum. Farre be it from me, that I should speake any thing amisse of them, which succeeding the order of Apostles, doe make the body of Christ with their holy mouth, by whom also we are made Christians. By making the body of Christ, he meaneth the celebration of the Sacrament of his body, as by making vs Christians, the Sacrament of Baptisme. For otherwise in proper speach, they neither make the body of Christ, nor vs Christians, but onely Minister the Sacraments, whereby the bodie of Christ is represented vnto vs, and by vse of them we are assured that we are by Gods grace and spirituall regeneration, become Gods children, that is, Christians. In the other place against Iouinian, Hierome in deede and Ambrose in 1. Tim. 3. thinketh it most conuenient, that Ministers of the Sacraments should be continent, either vnmarried or abstaining from their wiues. But the Councel of Nice that decreed the contrary, is of greater auctoritie. Socrat. lib. 1. Cap. 11. And Athanasius ad Dracontium. Yet S. Ambrose denieth not, but that it is lawfull to haue wife and children, as the Apostle saith: For these are the singes (saith he) of Bishoplike dignitie. But if any man following better things, and hath dedicated both his body and soule to God, that he couple not himself in Matrimonie, he shal be made so much the more worthy. And in the 2. Corinth. 11. He saith, that All the Apostles except Iohn and Paul had wiues. Chastitie of Priestes.

Yet you proceede and say, For this the people is forbidden to touch it with their common handes. Nazianzen. Or. ad Arianos. What Gregorie saith of the vessels of the Iewish temple, I haue shewed before. But that the people were not forbidden to touch the Sacrament, it is manifest by that which he writeth of his sister Gorgonia, which did not onely touch it with her handes, but also bewette it with her teares. And by that which S. Basile of the same time writeth vnto Cæsarea Patritia of the very case of the people handling the Sacrament, and putting it to their owne mouthes. And Cyrill Hier. Mystag. 5. biddeth them take it in the hollow of their hand. That care is had that no part fall to the ground, it is of reuerence to the holy mysteries, not as though the Sacrament were the naturall body and bloud of Christ, for no part can fall to the grounde from his body and bloud, though crums of bread and drops of wine may fall. Cyrill Hieros. saith: Take heede leste any part of it fal from thee. For whatsoeuer thou shouldest loose, (as it were a part of thine owne member,) thou shouldest leese it. For if any man should giue thee graines of golde, wouldest thou not holde them with great diligence, taking heede leaste any part of them should be lost, and thou shouldest suffer damage? And wilt thou not prouide much more diligently for this which is more precious then golde or precious stones, that no crumme of it do fall away? Touchinge the Sacrament. Falling of the or drops.

These wordes declare, that although the Sacrament was highly esteemed by him, yet not taken to be the very bodie and bloud of Christ, for then he woulde haue said, that euery crumme is a part of his body, or his whole body. The like is to be saide of that superstitious consecrating of their eies, forehead, and organes of their senses, with the moysture that remayneth on their lippes, after they haue drunke of the Cuppe, which he prescribeth, declaring that he tooke it not for the naturall bloud of Christ, as you perswade men.

Origen also saith: In 27. Ex. I will admonish you by examples of your Religion, You know that are accustomed to be present at the diuine mysteries, how when you receiue the Lords body, with al heede and reuerence you keepe it, that neuer so small a piece fall from it, leste any part of the consecrated gift doe fall away. For you thinke you are blame worthy, and you thinke rightly if any part fall from it by negligence. And if you vse, and worthely vse so great heed to keepe his body, how doe you thinke it is a matter of lesse heinous offence, to neglect his word then his body? Thus the neglect of the word (by Origens iudgement) is as great an offence, as the neglect of the Sacrament. But that he esteemed not those parts that by negligence might fall to be the naturall body of Christ (although he called it the body of Christ, which is a Sacrament thereof) hee declareth most plainely in his Commentarie vpon Mathew Chap. 15. Where he affirmeth, that the material part of the Sacrament, goeth into the belly, and is cast foorth into the draught:

draught: Quod ſi, &c. If whatſoeuer enter into the mouth goeth into the belly, & is caſt out into the draught, euen the meat alſo which is ſanctified by the word of God and by prayer, according to that which it hath materiall, goeth into the belly, & is caſt out into the draught: but according to prayer which is added vnto it, according to the portion of faith it is made profitable, cauſing that the minde is made of cleere ſight, looking to that which is profitable. Neither doth the matter of bread, but the word that is ſaid vpon it, profit him which receiueth it not vnworthily. And theſe things are ſaid of the figuratiue or ſignificatiue body. Many things alſo may be ſaid of the word himſelfe which was made fleſh and verie meat, whom whoſoeuer ſhall eate, he ſhall doubtleſſe liue for euer, whom no euill man can eate. For if it could be that he which continueth ſtill an euill man, might eate the word made fleſh, (ſeeing he is the word and bread of life,) it ſhould not haue been written, Whoſoeuer ſhall eate this bread ſhall liue for euer. You ſee therefore how Origen and other fathers meane, when they call the Sacrament the body of Chriſt, (as our Sauiour himſelfe doth) namely, that it is the typicall, ſymbolicall, that is, figuratiue and ſignificatiue body of Chriſt, not his true and naturall body in deed, but onely by faith to the worthie receiuer.

But ſtill you goe on and ſay: For this ſacred proviſion is made, that if any hoſtes or parts of the Sacrament do remaine vnreceiued, they be moſt religiouſly reſerued, with all honour and diligence poſſible. Here come in all cauels & prouiſions of the Maſſe, if it be eaten by a mouſe, a dog, an hog, if a ſpider or a flie fall into the cup, if it be poyſoned, if it be vomited vp by a Prieſt, or a lay man: if it be mouldie and corrupt (ſo that wormes breed of it,) with an hundred like caſes, which Chriſt and his Apoſtles did not prouide for, nor the Primitiue Church did know, there is ſacred prouiſion made by the Church of Antichriſt, who as in all things aduanceth himſelfe aboue Chriſt, ſo in wiſe and holy prouiſion, farre exceedeth Chriſt and his ſpirit in the Goſpel. As for examination of conſciences, confeſſion of ſinnes, continence from vncleane luſts, we confeſſe ought to be preparations, for men to receiue worthily, but no Popiſh excarnification of conſciences, auricular confeſſion, and a more ſcrupulous preſcription of continence in maried perſons, then the ſcripture doth require, As for receiuing faſting, is a thing indifferent, of conuenience according to the order of the Church, but not of neceſſitie, neither doth S. Auguſtine teach otherwiſe. Ep. 118. For euen in his time, on the day of the inſtitution of the Supper, the cuſtom of the Church was to receiue after dinner, as he ſheweth in that Epiſtle, and it appeareth by the councell of Carthage 3. C. 29. Matiſcon. 2. C. 6.

Reſeruation.

Receiuing faſting

But now after you haue ſhewed, how you Papiſts diſcerne the Lords body, you wil prooue, that we diſcerne it not, becauſe after the order of our booke, if any thing remaine after our Communion, the Curate or clarke may take it home to his owne vſe. A ſubſtantiall argument, I promiſe you. But we diſcerne the Lords body, as the Apoſtle hath here taught vs. Let a man therefore examine himſelfe &c. not by making ſuperſtitious prouiſions, for the bread and wine, which remaineth after the communion: whereof there is no greater account, to be made, then of the water after baptiſme, for the conſecration extendeth to no more bread and wine, then is beſtowed according to Chriſts inſtitution. Therefore Euagrius teſtifieth, that by an olde cuſtome of the Church of Conſtantinople, that which remained after the Communion, was giuen to yoong children that went to ſchoole. In the Church of France by the Matiſcon 2. Councell Cap. 6. it was decreed, that the remnants of the ſacrament, on wedneſday or friday ſhould be giuen to yong children faſting, ſprinkled with wine. And the Church of England by as good auctoritie, hath appointed, for auoiding of ſuperſtition, and all other inconueniences, that the miniſter, ſhall haue the bread and wine to his priuate vſe. As for the ceremonie of bread, that was giuen to the Catechumeni in S. Auguſtines time, we haue no more to doe with it, then you, and leſſe with your ſuperſtitious holy bread.

That which remaineth after the communion.

Holy bread.

But ſeeing in our celebration of the Lords ſupper, we haue all things materiall and eſſentiall, according to the inſtitution of Chriſt, and the doctrine and practiſe of his Apoſtles, and you do manifeſtly peruert the end of his inſtitution, by your blaſphemous ſacrifice, and Idolatrous worſhipping of the creatures, by not ſhewing the Lords death, by your ſacrilegious depriuing of the people of the one halfe of the ſacrament, and other your ſuperſtitious prophanations, if any of you, that gathered theſe notes, pertaine to Gods election, I beſeech him in his good time, to call you to his knowledge and acknowledging of his truth. To the reſt I ſay with the Apoſtle, the Lord reward you according to your workes.

REM. 19 30 Many ſleepe.) We ſee here by this, it is a fearefull caſe and crime to defile by ſinne (as much as in vs lyeth) the body of Chriſt in the Sacrament, ſeeing God ſtrooke many to death for it in the Primitiue Church, and puniſhed others by grieuous ſickneſs. No maruell that ſo many ſtrange diſeaſes and deaths fall vpon vs now in the world.

Vnworthy receiuing.

VLKE. 19 The body of Chriſt, is not ſo in the ſacrament, that it can be defiled by any mans ſinne, or otherwiſe be abuſed, by any act of man or beaſt. For Chriſt is now in heauen glorified, and can ſuffer no more of wicked men. Yet it is an heynous offence, to defile by ſinne, the Sacrament of the body and blood of Chriſt.

Defiling of Chriſts body.

REM. 20 31 Iudge your ſelues.) We may note here that it is ynough, only to ſinne no more, or to repent lightly of that which is paſt: but that we ſhould puniſh our ſelues according to the weight of the faults paſt and forgiuen; and alſo that God will puniſh vs by temporall ſcourges in this life or the next, if we do not make our ſelues verie cleane before we come to receiue his holy ſacrament, whoſe heauie hands we may eſcape by puniſhing our ſelues by faſting and other penance.

Penance and ſatisfaction.

VLKE. 20 : He that ſinneth no more, doth not lightly, but earneſtly repent of his ſinnes paſt. As for Popiſh ſatisfaction by puniſhment of our ſelues, otherwiſe then by hartie ſorrow for our ſinnes, (which yet is no ſatisfaction for them) there can none be concluded out of this text. Nor that God doth puniſh his children, in the next life, although he chaſtiſe them with temporall ſcourges in this life to bring them to repentance and amendment, not to make ſatisfaction for there ſinnes forgiuen. By true and faithfull repentance therefore, with prayer, faſting, almes and other works by God allowed, as the fruits of repentance and faith, we may auoide Gods heauie iudgement which our ſinnes haue deſerued, through the merits of Chriſt, and not by the merit or ſatisfaction of our workes but by meere mercie of God.

Satisfaction.

HEM. 21 33 Expect one another.) Returning now to their former fault and diſorder for the which he tooke this occaſion to talke of the holy Sacrament, and how great a fault it is to come vnworthily to it: he exhorteth them to keepe their ſaid ſuppers or feaſts in vnitie, peace, and ſobrietie the rich expecting the poore &c.

VLKE. 21 The wordes that follow, (If any be an hungred, let him eate at home,) do declare moſt manifeſtly, that this expectation, and tarying one for another, is to receiue the communion of the Lords ſupper together, & not to the eating of there loue ſuppers: which were chiefly to relieue the poore, that were hungrie. Photius vpon theſe words ſaith. Tary one for another. Wherefore? leſt you be proued to receiue the Lords body and blood vnworthily, leſt partaking vnworthily, being made guiltie of the murder of his body, and ſhedding of his blood, you receiue iudgement vnauoidable. S. Ambroſe vpon this text ſaith, He ſaith that they muſt tarrie one for another, that the oblation of many be celebrated together, and that all may be ſerued, and if any be impatient, he may be fed with earthly bread at home. That you come not together to iudgement, that is that you keepe not the myſterie ſo, as you be worthie to be reprehended,

Communion of the Church together not priuat maſſe.

with

with offence. S. Hierome or the auctor of the coment in his name, vpon this place saith. Because none taried for other, that the offrings might be made in common, therefore they came together, not vnto sanctification but vnto iudgement. To the same effect writeth Primasius. Because it was offered to him which came first, and he did eate and went his way, they came together vnto iudgement and not to sanctification. Chrysostome and Theophylact refer it, both to the sacrament, and to the loue supper. So that a communion can by no meanes be auoided, nor a priuate masse established.

The Masse is agreeable to the Apostles vse and tradition the Communion is not.

RHEM. 22 34 I will dispose.) Many particular orders and decrees, moe then be here or in any other booke of the new Testament expressly written, did the Apostles, as we see here, and namely S. Paul to the Corinthians, set downe by tradition, which our whole ministration of MASSE *is agreeable vnto, as the substance of the Sacrifice and Sacrament is by the premisses prooued to be most consonant: Caluins supper and communion in all points wholy repugnant to the same. And that it agreeth not to these other not written traditions, they easily confesse. The * Apostles deliuered vnto the Church to take it only fasting: they care not for it. The Apostles taught the Church to consecrate by the wordes and the signes of the Crosse, without which* (saith S. Augustine tract. in Io. 118. Ser. 55. in append. Chrys. ho. 55. in 16. Mat.) *no Sacrament is rightly perfited: the Protestants haue taken it away. The Apostles taught the Church to keepe * a Memorie or inuocation of Saincts in this Sacrifice: the Caluinists haue none. The Apostles decreed that in this sacrifice there should be speciall praiers for the dead.* Chrys. ho. 3. in ep. ad Philip. Aug de cur. pro mort. c. 1. they haue none. Likewise that water should be mixed with the wine, and so forth. See Armot. in c. 11. v. 23. Bread. Therefore if Caluin had made his new administration according to all the Apostles writte words, yet not knowing how many things beside, the Apostle had to prescribe in these words, Cætera cum venero disponam (the rest I will dispose, when I come) he could not haue satisfied any wise man in his new change. But now seeing they are fallen to so palpable blindnes, that their doing is directly opposite to the very Scripture also, which they pretend to follow onely, and haue quite destroyed both the name, substance, and all good accidents of Christs principall Sacrament we trust all the world will see their folly and impudencie.

Aug. ep. 118. a

Aug. tract. 84. in Io. & Chrysost. 21. in Act.

FVLKE. 22 If your last note be true, he speaketh not here of matters pertaining to the celebration of the Sacrament, but concerning ordering of the feasts of loue. And in deed S. Ambrose, Chrysostome, Photius, Theophylact, do vnderstand these matters generally of other things, to be reformed, and which needed his presence rather then wordes. But admit that he speaketh specially, of the order of celebration of the sacrament, how can you prooue any part of your Popish masse to haue beene set downe, by tradition from the Apostles. Greg. confesseth, that it was the custome of the Apostles to consecrate the host of oblation, at the onely saying of the Lords prayer Lib. 7. Ep. 63. And yet you are not ashamed to say, the whole administration of your masse, is agreeable thereto, and ours wholy repugnant vnto the same. Yet you say, we doe confesse, that it doth not agree vnto these vnwritten traditions. In deede wee acknowledge, that we are not bound to anie vnwritten traditions, but that the forme of your masse, commeth from the Apostles tradition, we doe vtterly denie, and your owne auctors doth testifie, that euery patch of it, was thrust in, by Popes of later time then the Apostles. But let vs see what you can confirme out of the auncient writers, to haue beene of the Apostles tradition, which we obserue not. First to take it onely fasting. August. Ep. 118. Wherein I haue discouered your falshood before. For it was not in Augustines time, nor long after, appointed to be taken onely of them that were fasting. Secondly we haue taken away consecration, with the signe of the crosse, without which S. Augustine saith, no sacrament is rightly perfited. In deede S. Augustine in Io. Tr. 118. saith, that the signe of the crosse, was a ceremonie vsed in all the sacraments, which if it were not vsed, nihil eorum rite perficitur, nothing is performed or done according to rite or custome, but that this signe, was necessarie vnto the consecration, or that it was of the Apostles tradition, he saith not. Chrysostome likewise saith that the signe of the crosse, was vsed to put men in minde of the death of Christ, but neither that it was necessarie to consecration, or that it was taught by the Apostles to be vsed in such maner. And the forming of it with the finger in the bodie, he accounteth little worth, except it be formed in the minde, with great faith. Therefore that which Chrysostome requireth, we haue in our administration, the shewing of the Lordes death and passion, though we haue not that which in his time, was vsed as a bare singe, to put men in remembrance of it. Thirdly you say, the Apostles taught to keepe a memorie or inuocation of Saincts in this sacrifice, which we haue not, for which you quote Aug. tract. 84. in Ioan & Chryso. Hom. 21. in act. of which neither of both saith, that the Apostles taught the Church to keepe any such memorie: and Chrysostome saith neuer a worde of inuocation of Saincts. They both in deed say, that at the celebration of the Supper, they kept a memorie of Martyres. Chrysostome saith, they offred for them, and that was no dishonour to them. But what should they offer, but thankesgiuing? S. Augustine saith: We do not so make mention of them at the verie table it selfe, as we doe for other that rest in peace, so that we also pray for them, but rather that they might pray for vs, that we may followe their steppes. Not that they did properly inuocate the Saincts, but that this commemoration of the Martyres, might mooue them, to pray for them. For the ancient memorie, or commemoration as appeereth by Epiphanius Cont. Aerium hær. 79. was both for iust men and for sinners, for the Patriarkes, Prophets, Apostles, Martyres, Confessors, &c. as he saith, to separate or distinguish Christ from the order of men: as S. Augustine saith, to offer thankes for them Ench. C. 110. In which although, there were neither expresse prayers for the dead, nor to the Saincts, but a memorie and rehersall of their names, yet by little and little the errors of prayer for the dead and inuocation of Saincts, gathered strength, and increase.

Last of all you say, the Apostles decreed, that in this sacrifice, there should be speciall prayers for the dead, we haue none. Witnes of this decree Chryso. In Phil. Hom. 3. Aug. de cur. pro. mort. Chrysostome in deed saith, That it was not in vaine decreed by the Apostles, that in the celebration of the reuerend mysteries, memorie or mention should be made of them which are departed from hence. Which he doth interprete, to haue beene for that ende, men should pray for them, to procure some little helpe for them, for so he saith in his exhortation. Let vs procure them some helpe, small in deede, but let vs helpe them. S. Augustine alledgeth do decree of the Apostles, but the custome of the Church in this time. That in the prayers of the priest, which are powred forth to the Lord God, at his altar, the commendation of the dead, also hath his place. Thus haue you but one witnes, who also without any good ground, affirmeth this memorie to be of the Apostles decree. Iustinus Martyr neerer to the Apostles times by 200. yeers reherseth the order of celebration according to the Apostles writings, hath no memorie or mention of the dead. Dionysius, of whom it is vncertaine in what time he liued, yet certaine it is, he is ancient and of some thought to be that Dionyse Bishop of Alexandria, of whom Eusebius maketh often mention in the 6. and 7. bookes of his hystories, declareth that there was none other memory of the dead in his time, but of the saincts only. whose commendation was set forth, to the praise of God, and to the imitation of the liuing. Eccl. Hier. Cap. 3. part. 3. who if he were the Apostles immediate scholler, as you contend, giueth sentence flatly against you, touching inuocation of Saincts, and prayer for the dead, to be the doctrine and tradition of the Apostles: when when handling the whole forme of administration of the Lords supper, so diligently and particularly, he can tel vs nothing either of inuocation of the dead, or prayer for the dead, but onely of memorie or mention, for such ends as I haue shewed before. Yea euen in the 7. Chapter where he treateth of burial of the dead, and the ceremonies vsed about that office. He denieth, that any prayers for the dead are profitable to them, but onely such as being made by the Bishop or minister of the church in faith, grounded vpon Gods promises, as by the interpreter of Gods wil, do rather declare what God hath already granted to them that depart in the faith of Christ, then desire any thing to be performed, as their censure in pardoning and retayning of sinnes, in binding and losing of sinners is an interpretatarion & declararation of the iudgement of God, not that God is minister of the corrupt iudgement of men, but that men which are appointed by Gods spirit, to interpret Gods will, do separate those that are iudged of God, according to their worthines. Therefore in such sort. The diuine Bishop (saith he) doth aske those things, that are promised by God, and are acceptable to God, and shall doubtlesse be granted, both shewing to God which loueth the good, his owne disposition resembling the good, and declareth as an interpreter, or by way of interpretation, to them that are present, those rewards, which shall be to them that are holy. And this is the resolution of that question, which he mooueth, whether prayers are auaileable for the dead, and in what respect they may be profitable. Whereby we see, that this error was very yoong in his time, and had not yet obtained strength, when prayers for the dead, were not taken simply for prayers, but rather as declarations of the performance of Gods promises, to all his elect after this life, namely, that they are pardoned of all their sinnes committed of frailtie, and are placed in rest with Abraham, Isaac and Iacob. For these things onely were required in those prayers, which were vttered by the Bishop, for them that were buried. Concerning the mixing of water with wine, I haue answered before in the notes of this Chapter, Sect. 10. That it is neither of Christes institution, nor of the generall practise of the Church, but a thing indifferent so it be vsed without superstition. Caluine therefore and the reformed Churches in these daies made no new administration according to the Apostles vnwritten wordes, but reformed the new administration of the Popish Church according to the most auncient institution, and practise of Christ and his Apostles, and of the Primitiue Church, in all necessary and essentiall points set forth in the word written. And as for those things which the Apostle did dispose at his presence, we know, that either they pertained not to the administration of the sacrament. or else they were accidentall orders, meete for the Church of Corinth, which are not necessarie to be the same, in all times and places. How agreeable our doctrine and practise of this sacrament, is to Christs institution, set forth in the scripture, in name, substance, and all essentiall points, let the world see, and God iudge.

CHAP. XII.

They must not make their diuersitie of Gifts an occasion of Schisme, considering that al are of one Holy Ghost, & for the profit of the one body of Christ which is the Church: 12 Which also could not be a body, without such varietie of members: 12 Therefore neither they that haue the inferiour gifts, must be discontent, seeing it is Gods distribution: nor they that haue the greater, contemne the other, considering they are no lesse necessarie: 25 but all in all ioyne together: 28 And euerie one know his owne place.

AND concerning spirituall things, I will not haue you ignorant, brethren.

2 You know that when you were heathen, you went to dumme Idols according as you were ledde.

3 Therfore I do you to vnderstand that no man speaking in the Spirit of God, saith Anathema, to IESVS. And no man can say, Our Lord IESVS: but in the holy Ghost.

4 And there are diuisions of graces, but one spirit.

5 And there are diuisions of ministrations: but one Lord.

6 And there are diuisions of operations, but one God, which worketh all in all.

7 And the manifestation of the Spirit is giuen vnto euery one to profit.

8 To one certes by the spirit is giuen ‡the word of wisedome: and to another, the word of knowledge according to the same Spirit.

9 To another‖, faith in the same spirit: to another, the grace of doing cures in one Spirit.

10 To another, the working of miracles: to another, prophecie: to another, discerning of spirits: to another, kinds of toongs: to another, interpretation of languages.

11 And all these things worketh one and the same Spirit, diuiding to euery one according as he will.

12 For

CConcerning spirituall gifts, brethren, I would not haue you ignorant.

2 Ye know that ye were Gentils, caried away vnto dumbe idols. euen as ye were led.

*3 Wherefore I declare vnto you, that no man speaking by the spirit of God †defieth Iesus: also no man can say †that Iesus is the Lord, but by the holy Ghost.

† Or calleth Iesus accursed. Mar. 9. 39. Ro 13. 13. Phil. 2. 10.

4 There are diuersities of gifts, but it is the selfe same spirit.

5 And there are differences of administrations, but it is the selfe same Lord.

6 And there are diuers maners of operations, but it is the selfe same God, which worketh all in all.

7 The manifestation of the spirit, is giuen to euery man to profit withall.

8 For to one is giuen by the spirit the word of wisedome, to another the word of knowledge by the same spirit.

9 To another is giuen faith by the same spirit, to another the gift of healing by the same spirit.

10 To another power to do miracles, to another prophecie, to another discerning of spirits, to another diuers kindes of tongues, to another the interpretation of tongues.

*11 But these all worketh euen that one and the selfe same spirit, diuiding to euery man seuerally euen as he will. Ro. 12. 3. Ephe. 4. 7.

12 For * as the body is one, and hath many members, and all the members of the bodie whereas they be many, yet are ‡ one body: so also Christ.

‡ A maruelous vnion betwixt Christ and his Church and a great comfort to all Catholikes being members thereof, that the Church and he, the head and the body, make and be called one Christ. Aug. de vnit. Ec.

13 For in one Spirit were we all baptized into one, whether Iewes, or Gentiles, or bondmen, or free: and in one Spirit we were all made to drinke.

One body

14 For the body also is not one member, but many.

15 If the foote should say, because I am not the hand, I am not of the body, is it therfore not of the body?

16 And if the eare should say, because I am not the eie, I am not of the body: is he therefore not of the body?

17 If the whole body were the eie: where is the hearing? If the whole were the hearing where is the smelling?

18 But now God hath set the members, euery one of them in the body as he would.

19 And if all were one member, where were the body?

20 But now there are many members in deed, yet one body. And the eie can not say to the hand: I need not thy helpe, or againe the head to the feete, You are not necessarie for me.

21 But much more those that seeme to be the more weake members of the body, are more necessarie:

22 And such as we thinke to be the baser members of the body, vpon them we put more aboundant honor: and those that are our vnhonest parts, haue more aboundant honestie.

23 And our honest parts need nothing: but God hath tempered the body, giuing to it that wanted, the more aboundant honour.

24 That there might be no ‖ schisme in the body, but the members togither might be carefull one for another.

25 And if one member suffer any thing, all the members suffer with it. or if one member do glorie, all the members reioice with it.

26 And you are the body of Christ, and members of member.

Eph.4,11.

27 And * some verily God hath set in the Church first Apostles, secondly prophets, thirdly doctors, next miracles, then the graces of doing cures, helpes, gouernements, kinds of tongues.

28 Are all Apostles? are all prophets? are all doctors?

29 ‡ Are all miracles? haue all the grace of doing cures? do all speake with tongues? do all interpret?

30 But pursue the better gifts. And yet I shew you a more excellent way.

14 For the body is not one member, but many.

15 If the foote do say, Because I am not the hand, I am not of the body: is it therefore not of the body?

16 And if the eare doe say, Because I am not the eie, I am not of the body: is it therefore not of the body?

17 If all the body were an eie, where were then the hearing? If all were hearing, where were the smelling?

18 But now God hath set the members, euerie one of them seuerall in the body, as it hath pleased him.

19 If they were all one member, where were the body?

20 Now are there many members, yet but one body.

21 And the eie cannot say vnto the hand, I haue no need of thee: nor againe, the head to the feet, I haue no need of you.

22 Yea rather a great deale those members of the body which seeme to be more feeble, are necessarie:

23 And vpon those members of the bodie which we thinke to be lesse honourable, we bestow more honour: and our vncomely partes haue more comelinesse.

24 For our comely members need it not: but God hath tempered the body together, hauing giuen the more honour to that part which lacked.

25 That there should be no strife in the bodie: but that the members should haue the same care one for another.

26 And if one member suffer, all the members suffer with it. If one member be honoured, all the members reioice with it.

27 Ye are the body of Christ, and members in part.

REM. 1 8 The word of wisedome.) All these gifts be those which the learned call Gratias gratis datas: which he bestowed often euen vpon ill liuers, which haue not the other graces of God whereby their persons should be gratefull, iust and holy in his sight.

LKE. 1 This is an vnlearned distinction of the popish learned, which sheweth no difference betweene things of diuers natures. For all Gods graces be freely giuen, as well those that are bestowed vpon the elect, as vpon the reprobate, neither are men gratefull, iust, and holy in Gods sight, by any gifts of iustice or holinesse inhærent, but onely by Iesus Christ. Eph. 1. 6. Eph. 2. 7. 8. Dividing to euerie man as he will, (saith Ambrose) He saith as he will not as it is due. Exhort. ad virg. Iustice inherent.

REM. 2 29 Are all miracles?) S. Augustine ep. 137. giueth the same reason, why miracles and cures be done at the memories or bodies of some Saincts more then at others: and by the same Saincts in one place of their memories rather at other places.

LKE. 2 S. Augustine saith not, that any miracles are done by any Saincts, at any place of their memories, but by God where it pleaseth him. Is not Africa (saith he) full of the bodies of the holy Martyrs? And yet we know not that any such things are done here in any place. For as that which the Apostle saith: all the Saincts haue not the gifts of healing, neither haue all the discerning of spirits: So neither in all memories of the Saincts it is not his will, that these things should be done, which diuideth his owne to euery man as he will. Therefore when it is certaine, that God hath or doth worke miracles in any place, we must not call him to account, why he doth not the same in all places. But hereof it followeth not, that fained and lying miracles of poperie, be wrought by God or by his Saincts, but seeing they tend to maintaine heresie and Idolatry, we must say still with S. Augustine. Away with these fained miracles of lying men, or wonders wrought by deceiuing diuels. De vnit. Eccl. c. 16. Miracles.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. XII.

REM. 3 9 Faith in the same) This faith is not another in substance then the common faith in Christ, but is of another accidentall quality onely, that is, of more fernor, deuotion, zeale, and confident trust, specially for doing of miracles. Zealous faith.

LKE. 3 Faith of doing miracles may be in wicked men as you confesse, sect. 1. therefore differeth in substance, from iustifying faith, which worketh by loue. He calleth faith here, not this common faith, but that whereof he speaketh a little after: If I haue all faith, so that I can remoue mountaines. Theodoret vpon this place. Photius and Oecumenius say: Abusiuely he calleth the effect, by the name of the thing.

REM. 13 Ifthe foote.) The Church is of exceeding great distinction of members, gifts, orders, and offices: yet of great concord, concurrence, mutuall communion and participation in all actions of her members among themselues, and with Christ the head of the body. Vnitie.

25 Schisme in the body.) As Charitie and vnitie of spirit, is the proper bond and weale of the common Body: so is diuision or Schisme, which is the interruption of peace and mutuall Societie betweene the parts of the same, the speciall plague of the Church, and as odious to God as rebellion to the temporall Soueraigne. Schisme.

CHAP. XIII.

That aboue all other Gifts they should seeke after Charitie: as that without which nothing profiteth, 4 and which doth all as is to be done, and remaineth also in heauen.

IF I speake with the tonges of men and of Angels, and haue ‖not charitie: I am become as sounding brasse, or a tinkling cymbal.

2 And if I should haue prophecie, and knew all mysteries, and all knowledge; and if I should ‡ haue all faith so that I could remoue mountaines, and haue not charitie, I am nothing.

3 And if I should distribute al my goods to be meat for the poore, and if I should ‖deliuer my body so that I burne, and haue not charitie, it doth profit me nothing.

4 Charitie is patient, is benigne: Charitie enuieth not, dealeth not peruersly: is not puffed vp,

5 Is not ambitious, seeketh not her own, is not prouoked to anger, thinketh not euill:

6 Reioyceth not vpon iniquitie, but reioiceth with the truth:

7 Suffereth al things, beleeueth al things, hopeth all things, beareth all things.

8 Charitie neuer falleth away: whether prophecies shall be made void, or tongues shal cease, or knowledge shall be destroied.

9 For in part we know, and in part we prophecie.

10 But

THough I speake with the tongues of men, and of angels, and haue not charitie, I am as sounding brasse, or as a tinckling Cymbale.

2 And though I haue prophecie, and vnderstand all secrets, and all knowledge: yea if I haue all faith, so that I can remoone mountaines, and haue not charitie, I am nothing.

3 And though I bestow all my goods to feed the poore, and though I giue my body that I should be burned, and haue not charitie, it profiteth me nothing.

4 Charitie suffereth long, and is curteous: Charitie enuieth not, charitie doth not frowardly †swelleth not, † Or, is not puft vp.

5 Dealeth not dishonestly, seeketh not her owne, is not bitter, thinketh not euill,

6 Reioyceth not in iniquitie, but reioyceth in the truth:

7 Suffereth all things, beleeueth all things, hopeth all things, endureth all things.

8 Though that prophecyings faile, either, tongues cease, or knowledge vanish away, yet charitie falleth neuer away.

9 For our knowledge is † vnperfect, and our prophecying is vnperfect: † Or, in part

10 But

10 But ‡when that shall come that is perfect, that shall be made voide that is in part.

11 When I was a little one, I spake as a little one, I vnderstood as a little one, I thought as a little one. But when I was made a man, I did away the things that belonged to a little one.

12 We see now by a glasse in a darke sort: but then face to face. Now I know in part: but then I shall know as also I am knowen.

13 And now there remaine, faith, hope, charitie, ‖these three. but the ‡greater of these is charitie.

10 But when that which is perfect is come, then that which is vnperfect shall be done away.

11 When I was a childe, I spake as a childe, I vnderstood as a childe, I imagined as a childe: but as soone as I was a man, I put away childishnesse,

12 Now we see in a glasse, euen in a darke speaking: but then shall we see face to face. Now I know vnperfectly: but then shall I know, euen as I am knowen.

13 Now abideth faith, hope, and charitie, these three, but the chiefe of these is charitie.

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. XIII.

RHEM. 1. 2 Haue all faith.) This proueth that faith is nothing worth to saluation without workes, and that there may be true faith without charitie.

FVLKE. 1 That faith which is void of good workes, is nothing worth vnto saluation. Yet a man is iustified by faith without workes, but yet by such a faith as worketh by loue, Rom. 3. for a iustifying faith cannot be without charitie. Good life (saith S. Augustine) is inseparable from faith, which worketh by loue. De fide & oper. c. 23. S. Ambrose vpon this text saith: To worke wonders, and to cast out diuels by faith, is nothing worth, except a man be an earnest follower of good conuersation. Leo speaking of true faith & charitie, saith Tunc verum nomen ac vere, est fructus amborum cum insolubilis manet vtriusque connexio. vbi enim non simul fuerint simul desunt. Sine fide non diligitur, & sine dilectione non creditur Ser. 7. de quadr. Gennadius apud Oecumenium, saith: He doth not now speake of that faith of the beleeuers which is common and generall, but of the gift of faith. For there was a certaine kinde of gifts, that was called by the same name of faith, which was giuen to many at that time, for the manifestation of the presence of the spirit. Of this gift also, our Lord saith in the Gospell, If you shall haue faith, as a graine of mustard seed, you shall say to the mountaine, remoue and be cast into the sea and it shall be done vnto you. For our Lord spake not of the common faith, to them as vnbeleeuers, but his speach was to his disciples: that is, if you shall haue the gift of faith: And that which our Lord in the Gospell said, to be the greatest, namely, to remoue mountaines, the Apostle saith, is nothing without charitie. Iustification by faith only.

RHEM. 2 10 When that shall come.) By this text S. Augustine li. 22. Ciu. c. 29. proueth that the Saincts in heauen haue more perfect knowledge of our affaires here, then they had when they liued here.

FVLKE. 2 S. Augustine speaketh in that place neuer a word of the Saincts that are in heauen knowing our affaires here in earth, but of the perfect knowledge, that all the Saincts shall haue after the resurrection. If the Prophet Helizæus being absent in body, saw his seruant Giezi, taking the gifts which Naaman the Syrian, whom the Prophet had cleansed from his leprosie, gaue him, which the wicked seruant thought to haue done closely, because his master saw him not: How much more in the spirituall body (saith he) the Saincts shall see all things, not onely if they shall shut their eies, but also if they be absent in body. For then shall that be perfect whereof the Apostle speaketh, &c. Therefore either ignorance or impudencie, was the auctor of this note. Saincts in heauen know not our affaires.

RHEM. 3 13 Greater of these.) Charitie is of all the three the greatest: How then doth onely faith, being inferiour to it, saue and iustifie, and not Charitie?

FVLKE. 3 Charitie is greatest, because it is of longest continuance. Iustification is attributed to faith onely, because faith onely doth apprehend the mercie of God promised in Christ, and not charitie, though it continue, when faith and hope cease, because that is obtayned which is beleeued and hoped. And that in respect of continuance, the Apostle saith, that charitie is greatest, the ancient fathers do consent. Chrysostome saith vpon this text. The greatest of these is charitie, namely in this point, because they passe away. Charitie continueth, In 1. Cor. Hom. 34. Primasius saith: In this present life, there are three, in the life to come onely the loue of God and his Angels, and of all Saincts. Therefore that is greater which is alwaies needfull, then that which shall once haue an end. S. Augustine De doct. Christ. lib. 1. cap. 39. saith vpon this text. The greatest of these is charitie, because when euerie one shall come to eternall life, the other two departing, charitie shall continue more encreased, and more certaine. Iustification by faith.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. XIII.

RHEM. 1 Not Charitie.) Without Charitie, both toward euerie particular person, and specially toward the common body of the Church, none of all the gifts and graces of God be profitable. Charitie RHEM. 4 3 Deliuer my body.) Beleeue (saith S. Augustine) assuredly and hold for certaine, that no Heretike and Schismatike, that vniteth not himselfe to the Catholike Church againe, how great almes so euer he giue, yea or shed his blood for Christs name, can possibly be saued. For, many Heretikes by the cloke of Christs cause, deceiuing the simple, suffer much. But where true faith is not, there is no iustice, because the iust liueth by faith. So it is also of Schismatikes, because where charitie is not, iustice can there be none: which if they had, they would neuer plucke in pieces the body of Christ which is the Church. August. seu Fulg. de fid. ad Pet. c. 39. So saith S. Augustine in diuers places, not onely of Heretikes that died directly for defence of their heresies, as the Anabaptists and Caluinists now a daies doe (for that is more damnable:) but of some Heretikes and Schismatikes that may die among the Heathen or Turkes for defence of truth or some Article of Christs religion. Aug. de verb. Do. ser. 50. c. 2. & in Ps. 34. conc. 2. prope finem. Cypr. de vnit. Ec. nu 8. False Martyrs.

FVLKE. 4 But in Papists, in stead of Caluinists, and this note is true. Adde also, that papists suffring death for treason against their prince and countrey, are no martyrs though they should repent at their death, and renounce their false faith: much lesse continuing Antichristian heretikes. Martyrs.

RHEM. 5 13 These three.) These are the three vertues Theologicall, each one by nature and definition distinct from an other, and faith is by nature the first, and may be and often is before, and without Charitie: and truely remaineth in diuers after The 3. vertues Theologicall they haue by deadly ſinne loſt Charitie. Beware therefore of the Heretikes opinion, which is, that by euery mortall ſinne faith is loſt no leſſe then charitie.

they

Charitie is loſt by mortall ſinne, not faith. Iuſtifying faith.

The gift of faith to doe miracles, ſpoken of in the beginning of the chapter, may be without charitie, but a iuſtifying faith which worketh by loue, cannot poſſibly be without loue. A good life (ſaith Auguſtine) is inſeperable from faith. De fid. & oper. c. 13. Bede vpon this text, out of S. Auguſtine, ſaieth: Pia fides, &c. A godly faith will not be without hope and without charitie? And therefore though all ſinne be againſt faith and charitie, yet we doe not hold that either faith or charitie in them that are iuſtified, is vtterly loſt by deadly ſinne, though both be much weakened and diminiſhed thereby.

CHAP. XIIII.

Againſt their vaine childiſhneſſe, that thought it a goodly matter to be able to ſpeake (by miracle) ſtrange languages in the Church, ‖ preferring their languages before prophecying, that is, opening of Myſteries: he declareth that this Gift of languages is inferior to the Gift of prophecie. 26 Giuing order alſo how both giftes are to be vſed, to wit, the Prophet to ſubmit himſelfe to other Prophets: and the Speaker of languages not to publiſh his inſpiration, vnleſſe there be an interpreter. 34 Prouided alwaies, that women ſpeake not at all in the Church.

‖ Much like to ſome fond Linguiſts of our time, who thinke themſelues better then a Doctor of Diuinitie that is not a Linguiſt.

FOlow Charitie, earneſtly purſue ſpirituall things: but ‖ rather that you may prophecie.

2 For he that ſpeaketh with tongue, ſpeaketh ‖ not to men, but to God: for no man heareth. But in ſpirite he ſpeaketh myſteries.

3 For he that prophecieth, ſpeaketh to men vnto edification, and exhortation, and conſolation.

4 He that ſpeaketh with tonges, edifieth himſelfe: but he that prophecieth, edifieth the Church.

5 And I would haue you al to ſpeake with tongues, but rather to prophecie. For greater is he that prophecieth, then he that ſpeaketh with tongues: vnleſſe perhaps he interprete that the Church may take edification.

6 But now brethren ‖ if I come to you ſpeaking with tongues: what ſhall I profite you, vnleſſe I ſpeake to you either in reuelation, or in knowledge, or in prophecie, or in doctrine?

7 Yet the things without life that giue a ſound, be it pipe or harpe, vnleſſe they giue a diſtinction of ſoundes, how ſhall that be knowen which is piped, or which is harped?

8 For ‖ if the trumpet giue an vncertaine voice, who ſhal prepare himſelfe to battell?

9 So you alſo by a tongue vnleſſe you vtter manifeſt ſpeach, how ſhall that be knowen that is ſaid? for you ſhall be ſpeaking into the aire.

10 There are (for example) ſo many kindes of tongues in this world, and none is without voice.

11 If then I know not the vertue of the voice, I ſhall be to him to whom I ſpeake, barbarous: and he that ſpeaketh, barbarous to me.

12 So you alſo, becauſe you be emulators of ſpirites: ſeeke to abound vnto the edefying of the Church.

13 And therefore he that ſpeaketh with the tongue, ‖ let him pray that he may interpret.

14 For

FOlow after charitie, and couet ſpirituall giftes: but moſt chiefly that ye may prophecie.

2 For he that ſpeaketh with an vnknowen tongue, ſpeaketh not vnto men, but vnto God: For no man heareth him: Howbeit, in the ſpirit he ſpeaketh myſteries.

3 But he that prophecieth, ſpeaketh vnto men to edifying, and exhortatiou, and comfort.

4 He that ſpeaketh with an vnknowen tongue edifieth himſelfe: but he that prophecieth, edifieth the Church.

5 I would that ye all ſpake with tongues, but rather that ye prophecied: For greater is he that prophecieth, then he that ſpeaketh with tongues, except he expound it, that the Church may receiue edifying.

6 Now brethren, if I come vnto you ſpeaking with tongues, what ſhall I profite you, except I ſhall ſpeake to you either by reuelation, or by knowledge, or by propheciyng, or by doctrine?

7 And euen thinges without life, giuing ſound, whether it be a pipe, or an harpe, except they giue a diſtinction in the ſounds, how ſhall it be knowen what is piped or harped?

8 For if the trumpet giue an vncertaine ſound, who ſhall be prepared to the warre?

9 So likewiſe you, except ye vtter words by the tongue eaſie to be vnderſtood, how ſhall it be knowen what is ſpoken? For ye ſhall ſpeake in the ayre.

10 There are happily ſo many kindes of voyces in the world, and none of them are without ſignification.

11 Therefore if I know not the meaning of the voice, I ſhall be vnto him that ſpeaketh an aliant, and he that ſpeaketh ſhall be an aliant vnto me.

12 Euen ſo ye, for as much as ye couet ſpirituall gifts, ſeeke that ye may excell, vnto the edifying of the Church.

13 Wherefore, let him that ſpeaketh with tongue, pray that he may interpret.

14 For if I pray with the tongue, ‖ my spirit praieth, but my vnderstanding is without fruit.

15 What is it then? I will pray in the spirite, I will pray also in the vnderstanding: I will sing in the spirite, I will sing also in the vnderstanding.

16 But if thou blesse in the spirit: he that supplyeth the place* of the vulgar how shal he say, Amen, vpon thy blessing? because he knoweth not what thou sayest.

17 For thou in deed giuest thanks well: but the other is not edified.

18 I giue my God thankes, that I speake ‖ with the tongue of you al.

19 But in the Church I will speake fiue wordes with my vnderstanding that I may instruct others also: rather then tenne thousand words in a tongue.

20 Brethren, be not made children in sense, but in malice be children: and in sense be perfect.

21 In the Law it is written, That in other tongues and other lippes I will speake to this people: and neither so will they heare me, saith our Lord.

22 Therefore languages are for ‖ a signe not to the faithfull, but to infidels: but prophecies, not to infidels, but to the faithfull.

23 If therefore the whole Church come together in one, and al speake with tongues, and there enter in vulgar persons or ‖ infidels, will they not say that you be madde?

24 But if al prophecie, and there enter in any infidel or vulgar person, he is conuinced of al, he is iudged of al.

25 The secrets of his hart are made manifest, and so falling on his face he will adore God, pronouncing that God is in you in deede.

26 What is it then brethren? when you come together, euery one of you hath ‖ a psalme, hath a doctrine, hath a reuelation, hath a tongue, hath an interpretation: let al thinges be done to edification.

27 Whether a man speake with tongue, by two, or at the most by three, and ‖ in course, and let one interpret.

28 But if there be not an interpreter, let him hold his peace in the Church, & speake to himselfe and to God.

29 And let prophets speak two or three, and let the rest iudge.

30 But if it be reuealed to an other sitting, let the first hold his peace.

31 For you may al prophecie one by one: that al may learne, and al may be exhorted.

32 And the spirites of prophets are subiect to prophets.

33 For God is not the God of dissention, but of peace: as also in all the Churches of the saincts I teach.

34 ‖ Let

* By this word are meant all rude vnlearned men, but specially the simple which were yet vnchristened, as the Catechumens, which came in to those spirituall exercises, as also infidels did at their pleasure.
* idiotæ.
‖ with tongues more then you all.

Es.28.11.

14 For if I pray with an vnknowen tongue, my spirit prayeth, but my vnderstanding is vnfruitefull.

15 What is it then? I will pray with the spirite, and will pray with the vnderstanding also: I will sing with the spirit, and will sing with the vnderstanding also.

16 For when thou shalt blesse with the spirit, how shall he that ‖ occupieth the roome of the vnlearned say Amen, at thy giuing of thankes, seeing he vnderstandeth not what thou sayest? ‖ Or, filleth.

17 Thou verily giuest thankes well, but the other is not edified.

18 I thanke my God, I speake with tongues more then ye all.

19 Yet had I rather in the Church to speake fiue wordes with my vnderstanding, that by my voyce I might teach other also, then tenne thousand wordes in an vnknowen tongue.

20 Brethren be not children in vnderstanding: howbeit, as concerning ‖ naughtinesse be ye children, but in vnderstanding be perfect. ‖ Or, malice.

21 In the Law it is written, * With men of sundry tongues and sundry lips, will I speake vnto this people: and yet for all that, will they not heare me, saieth the Lord. Es.28.11.

22 Wherefore tonges are for a signe, not to them that beleeue, but to them that beleeue not: but prophecying serueth not for them that beleeue not, but for them which beleeue.

23 If therefore all the Church be come together into one place, and all speake with tongues, and there come in they that are vnlearned, or they which beleeue not, will they not say that ye are mad?

24 But if all prophecie, and there come in one that beleeueth not, or one vnlearned: he is rebuked of all men, he is iudged of all men.

25 And so are the secrets of his heart made manifest, and so hauing fallen downe on his face, he will worship God, saying that God is in you of a truth.

26 How is it then brethren? When ye come together, euery one of you hath a Psalme, hath a doctrine, hath a tongue, hath a reuelatiõ, hath an interpretation: Let al things be done vnto edifying.

27 If any man speake with tongue, let it be by two, or at the most by three, and that by course, and let one interpret.

28 But if there be no interpreter, let him keepe silence in the Church, and let him speake to himselfe, and to God.

29 Let the Prophets speake two or three, and let the other iudge.

30 If any reuelation be made to another that sitteth by, let the first hold his peace.

31 For ye may all prophecie one by one, that all may learne, and all may be comforted.

32 And the spirits of the Prophets are subiect to the Prophets.

33 For God is not the authour of confusion, but of peace, as in all Churches of the saincts.

34 * Let

1.Tim.2,12. Gen.3,16.

34 ‖ Let *women hold their peace in the Churches: for it is not permitted them to ſpeake, but to be ſubiect, as alſo *the Lawe ſaith.

35 But if they learne any thing, let them aske their owne husbands at home. For it is a foule thing for a woman to ſpeake in the Church.

36 Or did the word of God proceede from you? came it vnto you onely?

37 If any man ſeeme to be a prophet, or ſpirituall, let him know the things that I write to you, that they are the commaundements of our Lord.

38 But if any man know not, he ſhal not be knowen.

39 Therefore, brethren, be earneſt to prophecie: and to ſpeake with tongues prohibite not.

40 But let al things be done honeſtly and according to order among you.

34 Let your women keepe ſilence in the Churches: for it is not permitted vnto them to ſpeake, but they are commaunded to be vnder obedience, as ſaith the law.* 1.Tim.2.12. Gene.3.16.

35 If they will learne any thing let them aske their husbands at home: For it is a ſhame for a woman to ſpeake in the Church.

36 Sprong the word of God from you: either came it vnto you onely?

37 If any man thinke himſelfe to be a Prophet, either ſpirituall, let him know that the things that I write vnto you, are the commandements of the Lord.

38 But if any man be ignorant, let him be ignorant.

39 Wherefore brethren, couet to prophecie, and forbid not to ſpeake with tongues.

40 Let all things be done ‖ honeſtly, and in order. ‖ Or, comly.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. XIIII.

RHEM. 1 Rather prophecie.) The gift of prophecying, that is, of expounding the hard points of our religion, is better then the gift of ſtrange tongues, though both be good. A paraphraſticall expoſition of this Chapter concerning vnknowen tongues.

RHEM. 1 2 Not to men.) To talke in a ſtrange language, vnknowen alſo to him ſelfe, profiteth not the hearers, though in reſpect of God who vnderſtandeth all tongues and things, and for the myſteries which he vttereth in his ſpirite, & for his owne edification in ſpirit and affection, there be no difference: but the Prophet or Expoſitor treating of the ſame matters to the vnderſtanding of the whole aſſemblie, edifieth not him ſelfe alone but all his hearers.

FVLKE. 1 The Apoſtle by occaſion of the abuſe of the gift of tongues, ſheweth that in the congregation, all things that are preached, prayed, or ſong, muſt be vttered in a language knowen vnto the people, that they may vnderſtand and be edified by that which is preached, prayed and ſong. But where you ſay, to talke in a ſtrange language, vnknowne alſo to himſelfe, profiteth not the hearers, Chryſoſtome ſaith, Such an one profiteth not himſelfe, nor his heares, and that the Apoſtle in this place ſpeaketh of him that vnderſtandeth what he ſaith in a tongue vnknowne to others. In ep.1.Cor.Hom.35. Thou wilt ſay then doth the tongue edifie no man? not ſo. For he ſaith, He that ſpeaketh with tongues edifieth himſelfe, which verily cannot be, except he know what he ſpeaketh. And hitherto he ſpeaketh of them which vnderſtand what they ſpeake, they vnderſtand themſelues, but they are not able to vtter them vnto others. So ſaith Photius, when the Apoſtle ſaith, he that ſpeaketh with the tongue edifieth himſelfe. He ſpeaketh of them which vnderſtand thoſe things which they ſpeake, but cannot interpret them to other. S. Ambroſe ſaith vpon the ſame words: By that he perhaps alone knoweth what he ſpeaketh, he edifieth himſelfe alone. Whereby it is manifeſt that he which ſpeaketh in a tongue which he vnderſtandeth not himſelfe, doth not edifie himſelfe, much leſſe others. But if there were any that ſpake myſteries in a tongue which they themſelues vnderſtood not (as ſome of the fathers thinke) therefore they ſpake to God myſteries in the ſpirit, becauſe they vttered to God their ſpeech according to their ſpirituall gift, yet was this gift (if any ſuch were) both to themſelues and to others vnprofitable, without interpretation, and ought not to be vſed in the Church, where all things are to be done vnto edification. Wherefore, theſe words are no protection for him which hath not the ſpirituall gift of tongues, to pray or ſing in a tongue which he vnderſtandeth not, whereby he cannot be edified himſelfe, much leſſe ought to be tolerated in the Church, where others are not edified by him. Prayer in an vnknowen tongue.

RHEM. 2 6 If I come.) That is, if I your Apoſtle and Doctor ſhould preach to you in an vnknowne tongue, and never vſe any kinde of expoſition, interpretation, or explication of my ſtrange words, what profite could you take thereby?

FVLKE. 2 What if he read to them the ſcriptures, and the interpretation and exhortations of the Doctors vpon them as the Papiſts doe often times in their nine leſſons? Is it not all one caſe, and as little profit to be taken by the one as by the other? Reading in an vnknowen tongue.

RHEM. 3 8 If the trumpet.) As the Trumpeter can not giue warning to or from the fight, vnleſſe he vſe a diſtinct and intelligible ſound or ſtroke knowen to the ſouldiers: euen ſo the preacher that exhorteth to good life, or dehorteth from ſinne, except he doe it in a ſpeach which his hearers vnderſtand, can not attaine to his purpoſe, nor doe the people any good.

FVLKE. 3 Euen ſo, he that readeth the ſcriptures of the olde or new teſtament, the homilies of the auncient fathers, conteining exhortation to good life, and dehortation from ſinne, except he doe it in a ſpeech which his hearers vnderſtand (if he meane that his people ſhould profit thereby) cannot atteine to his purpoſe, nor doe the people any good at all: ſuch is the reading of popiſh ſeruice which hath any good matter in it, the reſt doth leſſe hurt, becauſe it is not vnderſtood. Reading in an vnknowne tongue.

RHEM. 13 Let him pray that.) He that hath onely the gift of ſtrange tongues, let him pray to God for the gift of interpretation: that the one may be more profitable by the other. for, to exhort or preach in a ſtrange tongue was not vnlawfull nor vnprofitable, but glorious to God, ſo that the ſpeach had beene either by him ſelfe, or by an other, afterward expounded.

RHEM. 4 14 My ſpirit praieth.) Alſo when a man prayeth in a ſtrang tongue which himſelfe vnderſtandeth not, it is not ſo fruitfull for inſtruction to him, as if he knew particularly what he prayed. Neuertheleſſe the Apoſtle forbiddeth not ſuch praying neither, confeſſing that his ſpirit, hart, and affection prayeth well towardes God, though his minde and vnderſtanding be not profited to inſtruction, as otherwiſe it might haue beene if he vnderſtood the worde. Neither yet doth he appoint ſuch an one to get his ſtrange prayers tranſlated vnto his vulgar tongue, to obtaine thereby the foreſaid inſtruction. See the Declaration following of this Chapter.

FVLKE. 4 If a man pray in a tongue which he himselfe vnderstandeth not, (as I haue prooued before) it is nothing fruitfull to his owne instruction, he edifieth not himselfe: no although he had a miraculous gift to pray in the tongue which he vnderstandeth not: for if such person doe vtter words of prayer, his spirit, that is, his spirituall gift prayeth, and not he. But if a man haue not the gift, neither he nor his spirite prayeth: for the spirit heere signifieth the spirituall giste of tongues: as witnesseth S. Chrysostome vpon this text, in 1. Cor. hom. 35. My spirit prayeth, that is, the gift granted to me, and mooning my tongue. The same words hath Theophylact. So saith Theodoret vpon this place: He calleth the gift, the spirit. Photius saith vpon these words: My spirit prayeth, that is, my spirituall gift to speake with tongues. Then, what prayeth in them that are void of this gift, if they pray in a tongue that they vnderstand not? not their spirit which they haue not. Therefore these wordes are no approbation of such prayers as are vttered in a tougue unknowne to him that vttereth them. But you say, the Apostle forbiddeth not such praying, confessing that his spirit, hart and affection prayeth well toward God, though his minde and vnderstanding be not profited to instruction. Verely God himselfe abhorreth such praying, where men come neere him with their lips, when their hart is farre from him, and the Apostle forbiddeth in the church all that is not edifying or instructing, both him that prayeth, and the church that is present. And where you say the Apostle confesseth that his spirit, hart, and affection, prayeth well, without his minde and vnderstanding: it is false. For he speaketh not of his spirit, hart, and affection, but of his spirituall gift, as I haue prooued by the interpretation of the ancient fathers, and the text is plaine, that the word spirit in this place so signifieth, and not the heart or affection. Albinus in Ps. 101. Orabo spiritu orabo & mente, psallam spiritu, psallam & mente. Tunc enim à Deo accepta est oratio canentis si pura mens idem gerit quod explicat, &c. You adde further most impudently, that he doth not appoint such an one to get his strange prayer translated into his vulgar tongue, to obtaine thereby the foresaid instruction. But yet he willeth such one that hath the gift of tongues, to pray that he may interpret his strange tongue himselfe, or that some other should interpret what he saith, or if neither he nor any other be present that can interpret it, he willeth him to keepe silence in the church. ver. 13, 28. And if spirit were to be taken for hart and affection, without minde and vnderstanding (as you doe newly and absurdly expound it) the Apostle willeth such to pray not only with spirit, but also with minde and vnderstanding, ver. 15. therefore he willeth them to get the interpretation of their prayer. Therefore Chrysostome, vpon this place, sheweth that prayers not vnderstood, of him that vttereth them, are altogether vnprofitable, although he vtter them by a miraculous gift. Hom. 35. Thou seest (saith he) how by little and little, he is come to this point, that he declareth him to be vnprofitable, not onely to others, but euen also to himselfe, seeing the minde of such a man (saith he) is voide of fruite. For if a man speake onely in the Persians language, or in any other strange tongue, and doe not vnderstand those things which he speaketh, he shall be euen to himselfe a stranger, as he which vnderstandeth not the meaning of the voice. For there were many of olde time which had the gift of praying and of the tongue ioyned together, and they prayed and sounded, vsing the tongue of the Persians or the Romans, but with their minde they did not vnderstand what they had said. Therefore (saith he) if I pray with the tongue, my spirit, that is the gift granted to me, and mooning my tongue, prayeth, but my minde is voide of fruite. What then is best and most profitable to be done? yea what ought he to doe, and what things to pray for? he ought to pray both with spirit and minde. I will pray (saith he) with spirit, I will pray with minde, I will sing with spirit, I will sing also with minde. Also he teacheth here, that he ought to speake with the tongue, and that his minde also ought to vnderstand the words. For except that be done, another confusion must needs rise of it. This saith Chrysostome of them that had the gift of tongues (as he supposeth) without vnderstanding of that they spake: what would he haue said, if he had heard the vnlearned Papists, both men and women, babling on their beades and primars, that which they vnderstand not? and for want of vnderstanding, are not able to vtter it, but miserably, shamefully, and ridiculously choppe and change, clip and mangle the words, the accents, the quantitie, the distinction of those things which they sound in their barbarous tongue, so that they haue either no sense at all, or sometime contrarie or ridiculous sense. The clearke of S. Michaels is not yet out of remembrance in Cambridge, who sounded a dirge lesson after this maner: Homo natus de mulhère breui ninens tempore repeletur multis misterijs. Peccam, peccais, peccani, peccain, peccani. Not the priest in Cambridge shire that read the Gospell Rundit for Respondit, Bumpizes for Baptizat. Is it not so notorious but as true that an vnlearned olde woman said her Aue Marie, after this sound: Aui mari gratia plinam damsticum, beneditta tu in mulabs yeth baned: Elus fructus frentri tui sweete Iesus Amen. And although some women hitte better vpon the sound of the words, yet you shall hardly heare any one that is vnlearned, which readeth, and much lesse which saith by roate their ordinarie prayers aright. Therefore if you were not past all shame, and void of remorse of conscience, you would neuer say that the Apostle alloweth such lip labor for prayers.

Prayer in an vnknowen tongue.

RHEM. 22 A signe.) The extraordinarie gift of tongues was a miraculous signe in the primitiue Church, to be vsed specially in the Nations of the heathen for their conuersion.

RHEM. 5 23 Infidels.) In the primatiue Church, when Infidels dwelt neere or among Christians, and oftentimes came vnto their publike preaching and exercises of exhortation and exposition of Scriptures and the like: it was both vnprofitable and ridiculous to heare a number talking, teaching, singing Psalmes and the like, one in this language, and another in that, all at once like a blacke saunts, and one often not vnderstood of an other, sometime not to themselues, and to strangers or the simple standers by, not at all. Where otherwise if they had spoken either in knowen tongues, or had done it in order, hauing an expositor or interpreter withall, the Infidels might haue beene conuinced.

FVLKE. 5 Although it appeareth by the text, that there was some disorder in the Church of the Corinthians, yet you doe leudly charge the Primitiue Church generally with this disorder. Also by your blacke saunts, you charge the Corinthians with greater disorder then you are able to prooue them guiltie of. But if I euer heard a blacke saunts in the Church, it was in Paules Church on S. Paules day, when in time of Procession, a great multitude of hornes blowing the death of the bucke, which the hunters brought into the Church with them, and the great Organes playing together with the confuse showting of the people, made a noyse meete for the triumph of the Popish Church. What edifying the vnlearned, faithfull or vnfaithfull may haue by your Latine seruice, your owne tongue confesseth while you describe the disorder of the Corinthians.

Slander.

RHEM. 6 26 A Psalme.) We see here that those spirituall exercises consisted specially, first, in singing or giuing foorth new Psalmes or prayers and laudes: secondly, in Doctrine, teaching or reading lectures: thirdly, in Reuelation of secret thinges either present or to come: fourthly, in speaking Tongues of strange Nations: lastly, in translating or interpreting that which was said, into some common knowen language, as into Greeke, Latine, &c. All which gifts they had among them by miracle from the holy Ghost.

Of what spirituall exercise the Apostle speaketh.

FVLKE. 6 Whether the Psalme were new or olde, the conclusion is that all things in the church must be done to edifying. And so were Psalmes and hymnes sung in the Primitiue Church, by the whole congregation together. In olde time (saith Chrysostome) they sung Psalmes altogether, so doe we. In Cor. Hom. 36. The same testifieth Dionysius

Singing of Psalmes by the whole Church.

Dyonysius Hier. cap.3.par.2. The whole fulnesse of the Church (saith he) sing a generall confession of praise. The Bishop beginneth to sing the Psalmes, and all the orders of the Church sing with him.

RHEM. 7 27 In course.) All these things they did without order, of pride and contention they preached, they prophecied, they prayed, they blessed, without any seemely respect one of an other, or observing of turnes and entercourse of uttering their Gifts. Yea women without cover or veile, and without regard of their sexe or the Angels or Priests or their owne husbands, malepartly spake tongues, taught, or prophecied with the rest. This was then the disorder among the Corinthians, which the Apostle in this whole Chapter reprehendeth and sought to redresse, by forbidding women utterly that publike exercise, and teaching men, in what order and course as well for speaking in tongues, as interpreting, and prophecying, it should be kept. The disorders in the same.

FVLKE. 7 It was not onely against order, but against edifying, that some of them prayed, blessed, sung Psalmes in a tongue which the people did not vnderstand. And so much worse it is in the Popish church, where praying, blessing, cursing, singing, saying, reading, and all other rites of the Church are done in a strange language, whereunto the people cannot say Amen by S. Paules doctrine, because they know not what is said or sung. But the Papists wiser then the Holy Ghost, haue inuented how they may not onely say Amen where they vnderstand not, but also pray in a tongue that they vnderstand not, namely of intention proceeding of faith implicit, of I cannot tell what spirite, heart, and affection, though his minde and vnderstanding be not profited to instruction. Popish Latine seruice.

A MORE AMPLE DECLARATION OF THE sense of this 14. Chapter.

RHEM. 8 This then being the scope and direct drift of the Apostle, as is most cleere by his whole discourse, and by the record of al antiquitie: let the godly, graue, and discrete Reader take a tast in this one point, of the Protestants deceitfull dealing, abusing the simplicitie of the popular, by peruerse application of Gods holy word, vpon some small similitude and equiuocation of certaine termes, against the approoued godly vse and truth of the vniuersall Church, for the seruice in the Latin or Greeke tongue: which they ignorantly, or rather wilfully, pretend to be against this discourse of S. Paul touching strange tongues. Know therefore, first, that here is no word written or meant of any other tongues but such as men spake in the Primitiue Church by miracle, & that nothing is meant of those tongues which were the common languages of the world or of the faithful, vnderstood of the learned and ciuil people in euery great city, and in which the Scriptures of the Olde or new Testament were written, as the Hebrew, Greeke, & Latin, for though these also, might be giuen by miracle & without study, yet being knowen to the Iewes, Romans, or Greekes in euery place, they be not counted among the differences of barbarous and strange tongues here spoken of, which could not be interpreted commonly, but by the miraculous gift also of interpretation. And therefore this Apostle (as the Euangelists also & other did their bookes) wrote his Epistles in Greeke to the Romans & to all other Churches. Which when he wrote, though he penned them not in the vulgar language peculiar to euery people, yet he wrote them not in Tongue, that is, in any strange tongue not intelligible without the gift of interpretation, whereof he speaketh here: but in a notable knowne and learned speach interpretable of thousands in euery country. No more did S. Augustine our Apostle, speaking in Latin, & bringing in the Scriptures and Seruice in Latin, preach and pray in Tongues according to the Apostles meaning here, for the Latin was not, nor is not, in any part of the West, either miraculous or strange, though it be not the National tongue of any one countrie this day. And therefore S. Bede saith, (li.1.hist.Angl.c.1.) that being then foure diuers vulgar languages in our country, the Latin was made common to them all. And in deed of the two (though in truth neither sort be forbidden by this passage of S. Paul) the barbarous languages of euery seuerall province in respect of the whole Church of Christ, are rather the strange Tongues here spoken of, then the common Latin tongue, which is vniuersally of all the West Church more or lesse learned, and pertaineth much more to vnity and orderly coniunction of all Nations in one faith, Seruice, and worship of God, then if it were in the sundry barbarous speaches of euery Prouince. Wherein al Christians that trauell about this part of the world or the Indes either, where so euer they come, shall finde the selfe same Masse, Mattins, and Seruice, as they had at home. Where now, if we goe to Germanie, or the Germans or Geneuans come to vs, eche others Seruice shal be thought strange and barbarous. Yea and the seruice of our owne language within a few hundreth yeeres (or rather euery age) shall wholy become barbarous and vnknowen to our selues, our tongue (as all vulgar) doth so often change. That S. Pauls place maketh nothing against the seruice in the latine tongue. By strange tongues the Apostle meaneth not the Latin, Greeke, or Hebrew. S. Augustine our Apostle brought in the Latin tongue. The Latin seruice one and the same in al countries and strange to none. The seruice in vulgar tongue strange and barbarous to euery stranger.

FVLKE. 8 What consent you haue of antiquitie, that prayers not vnderstood of him that vttereth them, are profitable to edifie him, I haue shewed by the testimonie of ancient writers, whereas you haue not so much as one blinde and dumbe quotation for your assertion. And let the indifferent Reader in Gods name examine our dealing, in applying the authoritie and argumenrs of the Apostle against popish Latin seruice, which is not vnderstood of the common people. And where you say it is the approued godly vse of the vniuersall Church, for the seruice in the Latine or Greeke tongue, you vtter many vntrueths together. For the Primitiue Church for more then sixe hundred yeeres after Christ, neuer approoued any vse of seruice in a tongue vnknowen to the common people. Origen cont. Cels. lib.8. num.13. answering the blasphemer which charged the Christians to call the angels by barbarous names in their publike prayers: Forgetting (saith he) that he hath to doe with Christians which offer their prayers to God onely by Iesus, he mingleth strange matter, rather confounding them with the affaires of Christians, and saying (whom if a man call by barbarous names they haue vertue, if by Greeke or Latine names they haue not.) For whom doe we call vpon by a barbarous name? wherefore let all men be persuaded, that Celsus doth obiect these things to vs vndeseruing, and let them know that true Christians doe not vse in their prayers the name of God, which are vsed in the holy Scripture, but Greekes doe vse Greeke names, Romans vse Latine names, and men of euery nation doe pray and praise God with all their might in their owne mother tongue. And the Lord of all tongues doth heare them praying in all tongues, vnderstanding them that speake so diuerslie none otherwise then if they were men of one speach or language. This testimonie of Origen doth plainly declare what was the approued vse of the vniuersal church in his time, that all nations had their publike prayers in their mother tongue, and also that their prayers were not made to Angels or Saincts, but onely to God by Iesus Christ. Popish Latine seruice. Prayers to angels & saints.

Basil in ep.62. to the clergie of Neocæsarea speaking of the vigils and publike exercise of prayers and singing of Psalmes in true faith, saith: While it is yet night, the people riseth early with vs vnto the house of prayer, and in labor and affliction, and continuall teares, making their confession to God: at last rising from their prayers, they come to singing of Psalmes. And one while being diuided into two parts, they sing by course, one side ouer against another, confirming thereby their meditation of the diuine sentences together, and also seruing one another for attention, and intention of the hart separated from other things. Then againe suffering one to begin the song, the rest doe follow, and so in diuersitie of singing of Psalmes, and praying betweene: after they haue passed ouer the night, when the day beginneth to shine, altogether as it were out of one mouth, and one heart doe offer to the Lord a Psalme of confession, euery one of them making proper, or applying to himselfe the words of repentance. Therefore, if for these things ye flee from vs, you shall flie from the Egyptians, from both the Lybians, the Thebanes, the Paleſtines, the Arabians, the Phœniceans, the Syrians, and thoſe that dwell by Euphrates, and generally from all them that haue watchings and prayers, and common ſinging of Pſalmes in honor. This teſtimony of Baſil proueth that all nations, of what language ſoeuer they were, had their common prayers and ſeruice in their vulgar tongue: for els they could not apply vnto themſelues the words of repentance that were in the pſalmes, nor meditate vpon the diuine ſentences. And it cannot be thought that all nations vnderſtood the Latine or Greeke tongues, ſpecially the Arabians, Syrians, Phœnicians, and inhabiters of Euphrates. Of ſuch ſinging of Pſalmes by the people through the whole church, teſtifieth Victor Vticenſis lib. 2. S. Hierome teſtifieth that at the buriall of Paula, whereunto the whole multitude of the cities of Paleſtine reſorted. The Pſalmes were ſong in order, in the Hebrue, Greeke, Latine, and Syrian languages. In Epitaph. As there were people of theſe diuerſe nations and languages preſent. So he ſaith in Epitaph. Nepotiani: Now both the voyces and letters of all nations doe ſound the paſſion of Chriſt, and his reſurrection. I ſpeake not of the Hebrues, Greeks, and Latins, which nations our Lord hath dedicated in the title of his croſſe. The ſauage nature of the Beſſes, and the multitude of people that weare skinnes, which ſometime offered men in ſacrifice to the ghoſts of the dead, haue now broken their harſh language into the ſweete ſong of Chriſt. So that there was no nation ſo barbarous which did not in their naturall language praiſe God, and ſing Pſalmes to Chriſt. Bonfinius teſtifieth, that there is a nation of the Sclauonians inhabiting the region called Lipna, to whom S. Hierom framed an order of ſeruice, wherein they continue to this day, although Ludouicus 2. laboured to bring them from it. Dec 2. lib. 10. Nicholas the firſt allowed the Sclauonians that were conuerted to haue their ſeruice in their mother tongue. Aene. Syl. hiſt. Boem. c. 13.

The Armenians, Ruſſians, Syrians, Aethiopians, at this day haue their Seruice in their ſeuerall languages, as their ſeuerall Churches and ſtories declare. Yea the Pope alloweth ſome of them in Rome, to celebrate in their owne language. The Councell of Laterane vnder Innocentius the third, decreed cap. 9. That for as much as in many places, within the ſame City and Dioceſſe, there be nations mingled of diuers tongues, hauing diuers rites and maners, vnder one faith, we ſtraightly command, that the Biſhops of ſuch Cities or dioceſſes, prouide meete men, which according to the diuerſitie of their rites and tongues, may celebrate the diuine ſeruice vnto them, and miniſter the Sacraments of the Church. It is not long therefore, ſince euen the Church of Rome approued Seruice in other languages, then the Greeke and Latine, and ſo doth the Pope him ſelfe this day at Rome. And this diſcourſe of S. Paul, touching ſtrange tongues, toucheth alſo the Greeke and Latine tongues, vſed in ſuch aſſemblies, where the people do not vnderſtand them. But let vs heare, what reaſon you haue to the contrarie. Firſt you ſay, we muſt know, that here is no word written or meant, but onely of ſuch tongues, as men ſpake by miracle. That graunted, it followeth more ſtrongly, vpon S. Paules arguments, that ſtrange tongues not ſpoken by miracle, nor vnderſtoode of the people, ought not to be vſed in the Church, when ſuch as were ſpoken by miracle, might not be vſed, becauſe they did not edifie. Secondly you ſay, that nothing is meant of the common languages of the world, or of the faithfull, vnderſtoode of the learned, or ciuill people in euery great Citie, and in which the Scriptures were written, as Hebrue, Greeke, and Latine. I anſwere, the Apoſtles wordes and meaning are manifeſt, of all tongues not vnderſtood of the vnlearned in the Congregation, verſ. 16. 23. 24. Where the vulgar by your owne note, ſignifieth all rude and vnlearned men: which in Corinth vnderſtood neither Hebrue, nor Latine, although the Greeke language was their mother tongue. The Scriptures alſo were firſt written, moſt in Hebrue and Greeke, and ſome part in Chaldee, but in Latine, no part was firſt written. But they were tranſlated, aſwell into the Syrian, Arabike, Aethiopian, and other tongues, as into Latine. Wherefore, euen the Latine, and Hebrue tongues, were forbidden to be ſpoken in the Corinthian Church, except they were interpreted, that the Congregation might be edified. And therefore you ſay impudently, that onely ſuch tongues are ſpoken againſt here, as could not commonly be interpreted, but by the miraculous gift of interpretation. For although, ſome had the miraculous gift of interpretation, yet if any could interprete without that gift, it was ſufficient for S. Paules purpoſe, that all thinges in the Church might be done to edification. Therefore he ſaith, let one interpret, but if there be not an Interpreter, let him holde his peace in the Church. For what skilleth it, whether he interprete by miraculous gift, or by learning in that tongue, in reſpect of the edifying and inſtruction of them that vnderſtand not the tongue? Therefore S. Paule, and the reſt of the Euangeliſtes, and Apoſtles, did write in the Greeke tongue, which was moſt vniuerſally vnderſtoode, not of euerie Romane, Arabian, Aegyptian, &c. but becauſe there were in all thoſe places, either men that had the miraculous gift of interpretation, or that by learning, and common vſe, vnderſtanding the Greeke tongue, could expound their writings to men of all languages. And yet euen the Greeke tongue, to him that vnderſtoode it not, was barbarous and ſtrange, as the Apoſtle ſaith: for of all tongues that be in the world, generally, and of euerie one of them, he ſaith: If I vnderſtand not the vertue of the voyce, I ſhall be to him to whome I ſpeake barbarous, or ſtrange, and he that ſpeaketh barbarous to me, verſ. 10. 11. Whereupon Primaſius ſaith: Euery language, that is not vnderſtoode, is barbarous or ſtrange, to him that heareth it. Therefore euen the Hebrue, Greeke, and Latine tongues, are barbarous and ſtrange to them which heare them, and vnderſtand them not. So Greeke Seruice and Latine Seruice, muſt needes for all your wrangling, be barbarous and ſtrange, to them that vnderſtand them not, and therefore forbidden by the Apoſtle. And if Auguſtine brought in the Latine Seruice, (as you ſay without proofe,) to the Saxon nation that vnderſtoode it, it was not barbarous or ſtrange to them. But to them that vnderſtand it not, it is ſtrange and barbarous. And though in ſtudie and meditation of the Scriptures, as Bede ſaith, the Latine tongue was made common to all the foure tongues of this Iſland, yet to the Saxons, Britanes, Pictes, and Scots, which vnderſtoode it not, it was ſtrange and barbarous, according to the ſaying of S. Paule, and Primaſius. Therefore aſwell learned tongues, as barbarous tongues, that are not vnderſtood, are forbidden by the Apoſtle to be vſed in the Church, not becauſe they were miraculous, but becauſe the Church was not edified by them: and ſuch tongues are commanded to be vſed, as ſerue to edifying. Let all be done to edification, therefore the barbarous tongues of euery nation, in the Church of that nation where they ſerue to edifying, are commanded to be vſed. For this rule is perpetuall, Let all things be done vnto edification, as well as this: Let all things be done decently, and according to order: and is not to be reſtreined to miraculous tongues, more then the other. Therefore your vaine reaſons, of vnitie and orderly coniunction of all nations in one faith, muſt giue place to the expreſſe commaundement of the Holy Ghoſt. Although it is a wretched ſignification of the coniunction of all nations in one faith by ſeruice in one tongue, ſeeing you allow Seruice in Greeke alſo, and perhaps in Hebrue, as your Comperes doe, which by the ſame Logike, muſt argue, the vnitie of all nations in two or three faithes, rather then in one faith. And what if the Seruice of the Germaines, or French men, be as barbarous to vs, as our Engliſh, Welſhe, & Iriſhe Seruice is to them? The Seruice of euery nation, is framed to the vnderſtanding and edifying of the Church of the ſame nation: and it is ſufficient, if it be not barbarous to them, for whome it is ordeined. And I pray you, what is Latine Seruice to Græcians, or Greeke and Hebrue Seruice, to Papiſtes that vnderſtand them not? And if after certaine hundred yeeres our Engliſh tongue be altered, (as it is not ſo eaſily altered, when religion is continued in it, example of the Syrian tongue, which is now the ſame vulgar language, that it was one thouſand fiue hundred yeeres agoe) yet I ſay, if it be altered, our Seruice may eaſily be reduced, to any Dialect or alteration, that our tongue can receiue.

Whether the ſeruice in vulgar tongue doe more edifie.

RHEM. 9 And for edification, that is, for increaſe of faith, true knowledge, and good life, the experience of a few yeeres hath giuen al the world a ful demonſtration whether our forefathers were not as wiſe, as faithful, as deuout, as feareful to breake Gods lawes, and as likely to be ſaued, as we are in all our tongues, tranſlations, and Engliſh prayers. Much vanitie, curioſitie contempt of Superiors, diſputes, emulations, contentions, Schiſmes, horrible errors, profanation and diuulgation of the ſecrete Myſteries of the dreadful Sacraments, which of purpoſe were hidden from the vulgar (as S. Denys Eccl. Hier. c. 1. and S. Baſil de Sp. Sanct. c. 27. teſtifie) are fallen by the ſame, but vertue or ſound knowledge none at all.

See Annot. 1. Cor. 10. 15.

Seruice in a knowne tongue doth edifie.

FVLKE. 9 That ſeruice in a knowne tongue doth not edifie, you goe about to proue, by the great vertues of our forefathers vſing Latine ſeruice, and the manifold vices of theſe times, vſing praiers and tranſlations in Engliſh, as though the vices of theſe times, were the effects of Engliſh tranſlations and praiers, and the former vertues were the effects of Latine ſeruice or ignorance. Which if it were true, S. Paul did amiſſe, to require vnderſtanding in praiers and Pſalmes, that they might ſerue to edifying, ſeeing better edification vnto faith and good life, commeth by praiers and Pſalmes not vnderſtoode, and all vices proceede of prayers and Pſalmes and tranſlations of the Scriptures, that are vnderſtood. Are not theſe perilous learned Clearkes of Rhemes, that thus doe argue? Although, (God be thanked,) there ſhineth more vertue in the life and conuerſation of true Chriſtians that haue knowledge, then in the ignorant of former times, who, as they knew not God, and his lawes, ſo they could not truely ſerue him according to his will, though many o f them were ſuperſtitiouſly religious, and ciuilly honeſt, as many are among the Turkes and Pagans. The vices, errors, and enormities, that are riſen ſince knowledge hath bene enlarged, proceede not of knowledge, but of the wickednes of men that abuſe knowledge, as they doe all other good giftes of God. Where you cite Dionyſe and Baſill, to proue that the myſteries of the Sacraments, were of purpoſe hid from the vulgar or common people, you doe ſhamefully abuſe both their names. For Dionyſe chargeth Timothy, not to communicate the myſteries of Chriſtian religion, to vnholy perſons, that were heathen men, or vnperfect Chriſtians, that were not yet baptiſed. But it appeareth by his whole booke, that all perfect Chriſtian men of the common people, were preſent, and did ſee and heare, whatſoeuer was ſayd or done, about either of the Sacraments, and al rites vſed in the Church in his time. S. Baſill ſaith, that many things are vſed in the Church, which are not expreſſed in the Scriptures, naming diuers ceremonies, that are not neceſſary, and formes of praiers, confeſſions of faith, and praiſes, which yet are grounded on the Scripture, but are deliuered by vſe and tradition. In which diuers things are not eaſie to be vnderſtoode, for what cauſe they be vſed, as praying toward the Eaſt, praying ſtanding, and not kneeling one Sunday and in Pentecoſt, &c. But that the myſteries of the Sacrament were hidden from the common people, by vttering them in a ſtrange tongue, or otherwiſe of purpoſe, that they ſhould not be knowne. S. Baſill ſayth not.

The vertue of the Sacrament and Seruice conſiſteth not in the peoples vnderſtanding.

RHEM. 10 Wherein this alſo is a groſſe illuſion and vntruth, that the force and efficacie of the Sacraments, Sacrifice, and common praier, dependeth vpon the peoples vnderſtanding, hearing, or knowledge: the principall efficacie of ſuch thinges and of the whole miniſterie of the Church, conſiſting ſpecially of the very vertue of the worke, and the publike office of the Prieſts, who be appointed in Chriſtes behalfe to diſpoſe theſe Myſteries to our moſt good: the infant, innocent, idiote and vnlearned, taking no leſſe fruite of Baptiſme and al other diuine offices, meete for euery ones condition, then the learneſt Clerke in the Realme: and more, if they be more humble, charitable, deuout, and obedient, then the other, hauing leſſe of theſe qualities and more learning.

Sacraments not to be miniſtred in an vnknowne tongue.

FVLKE. 10 This is both a groſſe illuſion, petition of principle and falſe coniunction of things not to be matched together. For firſt we acknowledge no ſuch ſacrifice, as you vſurpe. Secondly, the force or efficacie of the Sacrament, and of common praiers, or the forme of adminiſtration of the Sacraments, is vnfitly and ſophiſtically matched together. For though the force of the Sacraments, depend not vpon the peoples vnderſtanding, yet the forme of adminiſtring them, and of common praiers, requireth the peoples vnderſtanding, or els it edifieth them not by S. Paules doctrine. For although we ſhould yet grant another beggerly principle, that the effect of the Sacraments, conſiſteth eſpecially of the worke wrought, & the office of the Prieſt, as it doth not, but of the grace and worke of Gods ſpirit: yet it followeth not, that praiers do edifie, by the vertue of the worke wrought, and the publike office of the Prieſt, though they be not vnderſtood. S. Paule ſaith, that praiers and Pſalmes vttered by him ſelfe, in a tongue not vnderſtood, ſhould not profite a whit, by vertue of the worke wrought, or of his publike office, verſ. 6. 11. 14 15. 16. for of theſe fine points of Popiſh diuinitie, S. Paul was ignorant, or els forgetful, by which it might be replied vnto him, that his praying and praiſing of God, yea his preaching alſo, might be profitable to edifying, by vertue of the worke wrought, & his publike office, though neuer a word that he ſpake were vnderſtood of his hearers. But although the vertue of the Sacraments, conſiſteth not in the peoples vnderſtanding, yet the Sacraments ought to be miniſtred in a tongue that the people vnderſtandeth, that they may be taught, what is the vertue of them, and wherein it conſiſteth, that being edified and inſtructed in faith, they may be ſtirred vp to be thankeful, & bleſſe God with the Miniſter, for thoſe his benefites, & to ioine in praier to God with the Miniſter, that the outward ſignes, by his grace, may be effectual to the receiuers, and ſo may ſay Amen, to that which the Miniſter ſaith, which S. Paule ſayth, they can not doe, except they vnderſtand what he ſayeth. verſ. 16.

The people is to be taught the meaning of Sacraments and ceremonies, and are taught in al Catholike countries.

RHEM. 11 Which we ſay not, as though it were inconuenient for the people to be wel inſtructed in the meaning of the Sacraments and holy ceremonies and Seruice of the Church (for, that to their comfort and neceſſarie knowledge, both by preaching, Catechizing, and reading of good Catholike bookes, Chriſtian people do learne in al Nations much more in thoſe countries where the Seruice is in Latin, then in our nation, God knoweth:) But we ſay that there be other waies to inſtruct them, and the ſame leſſe ſubiect to danger and diſorder, then to turne it into vulgar tongues. We ſay, the ſimple people and many one that thinke them ſelues ſome body, vnderſtand as litle of the ſenſe of diuers Pſalmes, Leſſons, and Oraiſons in the vulgar tongue, as if they were in Latin: yea and often take them in a wrong, peruerſe, and pernitious ſenſe, which lightly they could not haue done in Latin. We ſay, that ſuch as would learne in deuotion and humilitie, may and muſt rather with diligence learne the tongue that ſuch Diuine things be written in, or vſe other diligence in hearing ſermons and inſtructions: then for a few mens not neceſſary knowledge, the holy vniuerſall order of Gods Church ſhould be altered. For if in the kingdom of England onely, it be not conuenient, neceſſarie, nor almoſt poſſible, to accommodate their Seruice booke to euery prouince and people people of diuers tongues: how much leſſe ſhould the whole Church ſo do, conſiſting of ſo many differences? Neither doth the Apoſtle in al this Chapter appoint any ſuch thing to be done, but admoniſheth them to pray and labour for the grace of vnderſtanding and interpretation, or to get others to interprete or expound vnto them. And that much more we may doe concerning the Seruice in Latin, which is no ſtrange nor miraculouſly gotten or vnderſtood tongue, but common to the moſt and cheefe Churches of the world, and hath bene ſince the Apoſtles time, daily with all diligence throughout all theſe partes of Chriſtendom, expounded in euery houſe, ſchoole, Church, and pulpit: and is ſo wel knowen for euerie neceſſarie part of the diuine Seruice, that by the diligence of parents, Maiſters, and Curates, euery Catholike of age almoſt, can tel the ſenſe of euery ceremonie of the Maſſe, what to anſwere, when to ſay Amen at the Prieſtes benediction, when to confeſſe, when to adore, when to ſtand, when to kneele, when to receiue, what to receiue, when to come, when to depart, and al other dueties of praying and ſeruing, ſufficient to ſaluation. And thus it is euident that S. Paul ſpeaketh not of the common tongues of the Churches Seruice.

Catholike people in euery Countrie, vnderſtandeth euery ceremonie, and can behaue themſelues accordingly.

FVLKE. 11 You thinke it not inconuenient, that the people ſhould be wel inſtructed in the meaning of the Sacraments, & ſeruice, & yet that which is the cheefe & moſt neceſſary meane to inſtruct them, you wil deny them. Your principles & practiſe in this caſe, are ſo monſtrous to be heard in Chriſtian religion, that you cannot tell which way to turne you. For in the next ſentence before, (ſaue one,) you complained of maruelous inconueniences, that came of diuulgation of the myſteries of the Sacraments, which you ſay, were of purpoſe hidden from the vulgar. And ſo would you haue all profitable knowledge, by your old principle, Ignorance is the mother of deuotion, taken away from the people, that you might exerciſe your old tyranny ouer their blind ſuperſtition. But becauſe you are halfe aſhamed, euen among your owne fauorites, in this cleare light of knowledge, to maintaine that helliſh principle of darkenes, now you gather your ſelfe in againe, and ſay not this, as though it were inconuenient, that the people ſhould be well inſtructed. And yet you dare not ſay, it is conuenient, it is neceſſarie to ſaluation, that the people ſhould be well inſtructed. What Papiſtes doe learne commonly, in other nations by preaching, catechizing, and reading, pardon vs, if we beleeue not your report, for we know you lie without ſhame. For albeit in ſome few cities, where the conuerſion of the people vnto the Goſpell, is feared, there is more paines taken in teaching the people, then hath beene accuſtomed in the daies of deepe Ignorance, and a few in compariſon of the multitude, are more inſtructed in the myſteries of Popiſh religion, then they were wont to be in times paſt, yet in moſt places, both of cities and countrie, where the Goſpell is not preached, the vulgar people are as blinde and ignorant, as euer they were, I ſay not of the trueth, but euen of the meaning of Popiſh ceremonies, Sacraments, and ſeruice. If you were the onely farre trauelled men in the world, you would tell vs of great wonders. But it is well, that other haue ſeene Fraunce, Flanders, Spaine, and Italie, as wel as you. But you ſay, there be other waies, to inſtruct the people, leſſe ſubiect to danger and diſorder, then to turne the ſeruice into vulgar tongues. O that you had liued in the Apoſtles time, and could haue taught him thoſe other waies. For he commaunded the Pſalmes, praiers, and prophecie, which men had euen by miracle and gift of the holy Ghoſt in ſtrange tongues, to be turned into the vulgar tongue, for inſtruction of the people, or els to be remoued from the publike ſeruice, verſ. 26. 27. 28. No marueile, for he knew not what danger and diſorder, that interpretation was ſubiect vnto, as the great profound learned Doctors, of the Popes Seminary of Rhemes doe. And therefore you ſay, there be other waies, and this way is ſubiect to danger, & diſorder. But what ſayth the Scripture? read the text, for it is plaine, whatſoeuer you ſay, and muſt haue credite in Gods Church, though you ſay nay. And yet you proceede to ſay, that the ſimple people, and many that thinke themſelues ſome body, vnderſtand as litle of the ſenſe of diuers Pſalmes, leſſons, and Oraiſons, in the vulgar tongue, as if they were in Latine. What an impudent ſaying is this? For albeit they vnderſtande not the whole ſenſe of ſome hard and obſcure places, by only reading or hearing, yet is there no Pſalme, nor Leſſon, that is read vnto them, in which many things are not plaine and manifeſt to euery mans vnderſtanding. Whereas to them that are ignorant in the Latine tongue, no word is knowne, nor any one ſentence, of the Pſalme or Leſſon. And as for Oraiſons, or praiers, we haue none in our Seruice, that are not plaine, and eaſie to be vnderſtood, of euery one that heareth them. Nay but oftentimes, the ſimple people doe take the Pſalmes and Leſſons in a wrong, peruerſe, and pernicious ſenſe, which lightly they could not haue done in Latine. In deede, this is a learned reaſon why they ſhould not be in Engliſh, euen as this is. Many abuſe their meate and drinke, by ſurfetting, dronkennes, gluttony, which they could not lightly do, if they did neuer eate, nor drinke, therefore it were good, that to auoide ſurfetting, dronkennes, and gluttony men did neuer eate nor drinke. But I pray you Sirs, doe not learned men alſo, that vnderſtand the Scriptures both in Greeke and Latine, often take them in a wrong, peruerſe, and pernicious ſenſe, which they could not lightly doe, if they neuer read them? Therefore it were good, to auoide all hereſies, and errours, that no man either learned or vnlearned, did reade the Scriptures. O you ciuill Papiſtes of England, are you not aſhamed to heare theſe learned concluſions of your learned Fathers of Rhemes? If you ſend your children to them to be inſtructed, they ſhall learne ſuch Logicke, as they could neuer haue learned in our vniuerſities of Cambridge and Oxford. But as though you had ſaide litle yet, as you haue proued nothing, you ſay againe, that ſuch as would learne in deuotion and humilitie, may and muſt rather learne the Latine tongue, or vſe other diligence in hearing Sermons and inſtructions. A harde peece of worke, for all men and women, olde and yongue, of the Citie and of the Countrie, Maiſters, and Seruants, one and other, that knowe not the Latine tongue, to bee nowe ſet to Schoole to learne it, rather then the Seruice to be turned into Engliſh, which is but one meanly learned mans eaſie labour. Yet you ſay, they both may, and muſt with diligence learne that tongue: which if it bee true, you may or muſt ſet vp at leaſt a thouſand more Grammar Schooles, then be in England. Beſide a great many other caſes that you muſt prouide for, while ſo many hundred thouſand people, giue their diligence to learne the Latine tongue. And if it once be brought to paſſe, that all men and women be learned in that tongue, as you ſay they may and muſt, then will the Latine tongue alſo be as vulgar vnto them, as the French is to many in Flanders, and the Engliſh to many in Wales and Ireland. And as for hearing of Sermons and inſtructions, whereunto you remit ſuch as will not learne Latine, (for all you ſay, may learne) will neuer bring them to the vnderſtanding of all prayers in the Seruice, whereunto they ſhoulde ſay, Amen. But ſuch knowledge, you ſay, is not neceſſarie, and there are but fewe, that can haue any vſe of it. For you ſay, The holy vniuerſall order of Gods Church, muſt not bee altered, for a fewe mens not neceſſarie knowledge. But where was this holy order taken? For the Primitiue Church vſed it not, yea the Romiſh Church in Generall Councels, as I haue prooued before, tooke a contrarie order: and thought ſuch knowledge neceſſarie for all men. But ignorance is more for your profite, then knowledge. And compt you all men and women, that vnderſtande not the Latine tongue, to be but a fewe? or are there but a fewe Papiſtes, that woulde in deuotion and humilitie learne. Verely I feare, that if the Goſpell be now hidden in England, it is hidden from them that periſh, whoſe eies the God of this world, hath blinded the vnderſtanding of the vnbeleeuers, that the brightnes nes of the glorious Goſpel of Chriſt doth not ſhine vnto them. But to returne to your reaſon, from the leſſe to the more, I ſay it is both conuenient, neceſſarie, and poſſible, and is alreadie performed, that the ſeruice booke of England, is accommodated to the ſufficient vnderſtanding of all the people of England, and ſo may and ought the ſeruice of euery nation, throughout the whole church of God, to be framed to the vnderſtanding of euery nation, in ſuch language as the people may be edified by their vnderſtanding: although there were ten times as many differences as there are. For this commaundement of God, muſt alwaies ſtand. Let all things in the Church be done to edifying. And therefore you ſay moſt vntruly, that the Apoſtle in all this chapter, doth not appoint any ſuch thing, when it is the whole ſcope of the chapter. For hee that commaundeth or appointeth the ende, commandeth and appointeth all things that are neceſſarie to bring vs to that ende. And what other thing doth he meane, when he admoniſheth them to pray for the grace of vnderſtanding, and interpretation, or to get others to interprete or expound vnto them? but that you ſay may be obteined without tranſlating of the ſeruice into Engliſh, becauſe the Latine tongue is not ſtrange or miraculouſly gotten. Very wel. Then by S. Paules doctrine, the Prieſt that ſaith it, muſt either expound it in Engliſh himſelfe, if he be able, or ſome other body for him. But if there be no Interpreter, the Prieſt muſt hold his peace in the Church. But why doth the Apoſtle allow any ſtrange tongue, which is not to edifying, to be ſpoken in the church with interpretation? Verily, becauſe thoſe ſtrange tongues were giuen of God miraculouſly. And therfore when they were interpreted, ſerued to the edifying of the people, that ſaw and heard the wonderfull worke of Gods ſpirit, ſpeaking in thoſe tongues. But ſeeing the Latine tongue in theſe daies, is no miraculous gift, it were but loſſe of time, and deluſion of the Church, to ſay the ſeruice firſt in Latine, and then in the vulgar tongue. And therefore, if a marchant or other man learned in the tongues, by ſtudie and practiſe, would haue offered to pray or ſing in a ſtrange tongue, and afterwarde haue expounded it him ſelfe, the Apoſtle would neuer haue ſuffred, ſuch a vaine and vnprofitable exercise. That you ſay the Latine ſeruice, hath beene expounded in euery houſe, ſchoole, Church, pulpit, ſo that the people know all partes of the ſeruice ſufficient to ſaluation, it is vtterly falſe and vntrue, for although the people in Poperie, by long vſe and cuſtome, haue learned to performe certaine dumbe geſtures, and to vtter certaine ſpeaches not vnderſtood, like Pies and Popingayes, yet if S Paul be more to be credited then you, how can they that occupie the place of the vnlearned, ſay Amen to the Prieſtes benediction, ſeeing they know not what he ſayth? And therefore, though you burſt for malice, S. Paule ſpeaketh againſt any tongue, vſed in the Church ſeruice, which is not vnderſtood of the vnlearned.

Ignorance.

RHM. 12 Secondly, it is as certaine, that he meaneth not nor writeth any word in this place of the Churches publike Seruice, prayer, or miniſtration of the holy Sacrament, wherein the office of the Church ſpecially conſiſteth: but onely of a certaine exerciſe of mutual conference, wherein one did open to an other and to the aſſemblie, miraculous giftes and graces of the Holy Ghoſt, and ſuch Canticles, Pſalmes, ſecreete Myſteries, ſortes of Languages, and other Reuelations, as it pleaſed God to giue vnto certaine both men and women in that firſt beginning of his Church. In doing of this, the Corinthians committed many diſorders, turning Gods gift to pride and vanitie, and namely that gift of tonges: which beeing in deede the leaſt of al giftes, yet moſt puffed vp the hearers, and now alſo doth commonly puffe vp the profeſſors of ſuch knowledge, according as S. Auguſtine writeth thereof. This exerciſe and the diſorder thereof was not in the Church (for any thing we can read in antiquitie) theſe foureteene hundreth yeeres: and therfore neither the vſe nor abuſe, nor S. Paules reprehenſion or redreſſing thereof, can concerne any whit the Seruice of the Church. Furthermore this is euident, that the Corinthians had their Seruice in Greeke at this ſame time, and it was not done in theſe miraculous tonges. Nothing is meant then of the Church Seruice. Againe the publike Seruice had but one language: in this exerciſe they ſpake in many tonges. In the publike Seruice euery man had not his owne ſpecial tongue, his ſpecial Interpretation, ſpecial Reuelation, proper Pſalmes: but in this they had. Againe, the publike Seruice had in it the miniſtration of the holy Sacrament principally: which was not done in this time of conference. For into this exerciſe were admitted Catechumens and Infidels and whoſoeuer would: in this women, before S. Pauls order, did ſpeake and prophecie: ſo did they neuer in the Miniſtration of the Sacrament, with many other plaine differences, that by no meanes the Apoſtles wordes can be rightly add truely applied to the Corinthians Seruice then, or ours now. Therfore it is either great ignorance of the Proteſtants, or great guilefulnes, ſo vntruely and peruerſly to apply them.

Aug. doct. Chr. li. 2. c. 15.

That he ſpeaketh not of the Churches ſeruice, is proued by inuincible arguments.

VLER. 12 It is certaine, that he writeth and meaneth, that all things in the Church, are to be done to edification, verſ. 26. and that there can be no edification, where the tongue is not vnderſtood, verſ. 16. 17. Therefore he writeth, and meaneth, that the Churches publike ſeruice, praiers, and miniſtration of the Sacraments, ought to be done vnto edification, in a tongue that is vnderſtoode of the vnlearned. And it is intolerable impudencie, to reſtraine that general ſentence: (Let all things be done to edifying) to any ſpeciall exerciſe, that was peculiar to the Church at that time. Seeing the Apoſtle by neceſſitie of that generall rule of edification, conuinceth the abuſe of that particular exercise of the gift of tongues. And yet where he ſpeaketh expreſſely of prayers, and Pſalmes, vttered openly in the Church, what madnes is it to thinke, he ſpeaketh not of publike praiers, ſeruice, and adminiſtration of Sacraments, ſeeing the people came together ſpecially, for thoſe endes, and for hearing the word of God preached? And you may as well ſay, that it is lawfull to preach vnto the people in Latine, and Greeke, as to haue the publike praiers, & adminiſtration of the Sacraments in Latine or Greeke, ſeeing preaching is not now, as it was then, a miraculous gift, but an exerciſe gotten by ordinary means of ſtudy, and learning. But ſeeing you note in the margent, that S. Paul ſpeaketh not of the Churches ſeruice, it is proued by inuincible arguments, let vs view theſe victorious arguments. Firſt, this exerciſe was not in the Church theſe 1400. yeeres, that you know of, and therefore neither the vſe, nor abuſe, nor S. Paules reprehenſion or redreſſing thereof, can concerne any whit, the ſeruice of the Church. I denie this inuincible argument. For who would graunt, that which ſhould be the propoſition or maior, if this concluſion ſhould ſtand? What exerciſe ſoeuer is out of vſe, neither the vſe, nor abuſe, nor any reprehenſion, or redreſſing thereof vttered in the Scriptures, can concerne any whit the ſeruice of the Church. For hereof I might conclude. The exerciſe of Iewiſh ſacrifice, hath not beene in the Church this 1500. yeeres, ergo neither the vſe nor abuſe, nor any reprehenſion or redreſſing thereof by the Prophets, or our Sauiour Chriſt and his Apoſtles, can any whit concerne the Church ſeruice, although the ſame vſe, or like abuſe be in the Church ſeruice, which was in the exerciſe of ſacrifice: which concluſion none but a two-footed aſſe will affirme. The ſeconde inuincible argument is, It is euident that the Corinthians had their ſeruice in Greeke at this ſame time, and it was not done in theſe miraculous tongues: Nothing is meant then of the Church ſeruice. I deny this miſhapen argument. It is euident, the Corinthians ought to haue their ordinarie and publike ſeruice onely in Greeke at that time, becauſe their vulgar tongue was Greeke: but whether they had any ſet forme of ſeruice, it cannot be proued. And it is manifeſt by the text, that they which abuſed the gift of miraculous tongs, exerciſed the ſame in publike praiers, and ſinging of Pſalmes, which was a part of the Church ſeruice: therefore ſome thing is ſpoken and meant of the Church ſeruice. The third inuincible reaſon, The publike ſeruice had but one language, in this exerciſe they ſpake many tongues. Firſt it is not certaine, whether they had any ſet forme of of Liturgie. Secondly if they had any, the ſame ought to haue beene in one tonge ordinarily: though extraordinarily, while the gift of tongues continued, ſome place might be giuen to the exerciſe of that gift, if there were interpretation. And therefore they might ſpeake two or three at the moſt in the gift of ſtrange tongues, ſo there were one to interprete, that the Church might be edified: and this euen in the publike ſeruice. The fourth inuincible argument. In the publike ſeruice euery man had not his owne ſpeciall tongue, his ſpeciall interpretation, ſpeciall reuelation, proper Pſalmes, but in this they had. I denie firſt the minor: for euery ſingular man had not all theſe giftes, euery man had not his interpretation, at leſt, when the Apoſtle willeth ſome to pray, that they might interprete, but ſome had one gift, and ſome an other, and the ſame they had in the publike ſeruice, therefore the maior alſo is falſe. The fifth inuincible argument: The publike ſeruice had in it the miniſtration of the holy Sacrament principally: which was not done in this time of conference, becauſe Infidels and Catechumens were admitted. I denie this argument, which is as good, as if a Papiſt would reaſon thus: Maſſe is publike ſeruice principally, ergo Mattens and Euenſong, Dirge and Compline, Prime and Houres, and generall Proceſſion, is no publike ſeruice at all. The ſixt inuincible reaſon: In this exerciſe, women before S. Pauls order, did ſpeake and prophecie: ſo did they neuer in the miniſtration of the Sacrament. This minor may be doubted of, but admit it to be true, and the concluſion alſo, that this exerciſe was not the adminiſtration of the Sacrament, doeth it therefore folow, that it was no publike ſeruice? And if it were no publike ſeruice in which S. Paul reprehended and redreſſed this diſorder of women ſpeaking in the Church, then for any thing that S. Paul hath ſaide, women may ſpeake in the Church ſeruice, and at high Maſſe alſo: for if you ſaide true before, Neither the vſe nor abuſe of that exerciſe, nor S. Pauls reprehenſion or redreſſing, can concerne any whit the ſeruice of the Church. Shall I ſay this is ignorance of the Papiſtes thus to peruert the Scriptures? I woulde it were not Antichriſtian impudence and plaine Atheiſme, ſhadowed vnder the name of popiſh religion.

RHEM. 13 Neither is here any thing meant of the priuate prayers which deuoute perſons of all ſortes and ſexes haue euer vſed, ſpecially in Latine, as well vpon their Primars as Beades. For, the priuate prayers here ſpoken of, were Pſalmes or Hymnes and Sonnets newely inſpired to them by God, and in this conference or prophecying, vttered to one an others comfort, or to them ſelues and God onely. But the praiers, Pſalmes, and holy wordes of the Chriſtian people vſed priuatelie, are not compoſed by them, nor diuerſely inſpired to them ſelues, nor nowe to be approued or examined in the aſſemblies: but they are ſuch as were giuen and written by the Holy Ghoſt, and preſcribed by Chriſt and his Church for the faithfull to vſe, namely the Pater noſter, the Aue Maria, and the Creede, our Ladies Mattins, the Litanies, and the like. Therefore the Apoſtle preſcribeth nothing here thereof, condemneth nothing therein, toucheth the ſame nothing at all. But the deuoute people in their auncient right may and ought ſtill vſe their Latin Primars, Beades and Prayers, as euer before. Which the wiſedome of the Church for great cauſes haue better liked and allowed of, then that they ſhould be in vulgar tongues, though ſhe wholy forbiddeth not, but ſometimes graunteth to haue them tranſlated, and would gladly haue all faithfull people in order and humilitie learne, as they may, the contents of their prayers: and hath commaunded alſo in ſome Councels, that ſuch as cannot learne diſtinctly in Latine (ſpecially the Pater noſter and the Creede) ſhould be taught them in the vulgar tongue. And therefore as we doubt not but it is acceptable to God, and auaileable in all neceſſities, and more agreeable to the vſe of all Chriſtian people euer ſince their conuerſion, to pray in Latine, then in the vulgar, though euery one in particular vnderſtand not what he ſaith: ſo it is plaine that ſuch pray with as great conſolation of ſpirit, with as litle tediouſneſſe, with as great deuotion and affection, and oftentimes more, then the other: and alwayes more then any Schiſmatike or Heretike in his knowne language.

The apoſtle ſpeaketh not of the peoples priuate prayer in Latine, as vpon primars, beades, or otherwiſe.

Latine prayers tranſlated, or the people taught the contents thereof.

The peoples deuotion nothing the leſſe for praying in Latine.

FVLKE. 13 The apoſtle ſpeaketh of prayers, and yet by your expoſition he ſpeaketh neither of publike prayers, nor priuate prayers. In deede of prayers vpon Popiſh Primars and Beades, he ſpeaketh not: for there were none ſuch in any vſe, or abuſe in his time. But againſt all prayers not vnderſtood, ſpecially publike prayers, he ſpeaketh expreſſely, and by conſequence againſt priuate prayers, not vnderſtood of him that vttereth them. For he ſayeth. The vnlearned cannot ſay Amen, that is, giue his conſent to an other mans prayer, which he vnderſtandeth not, becauſe he knoweth not what it is, becauſe he is not edified by it, therefore much leſſe can hee pray him ſelfe in ſuch a tongue as he vnderſtandeth not, and is not him ſelfe edified by his prayer. But let vs examine your argument. The Apoſtle (ſay you) ſpeaketh not of popiſh priuate prayers in Latine: for the priuate prayers here ſpoken of, were Pſalmes, Hymnes and Sonets newely inſpired, theſe are not newly inſpired, but written by the Holy Ghoſt, and preſcribed by the Church, therefore the Apoſtle preſcribeth nothing of them, condemneth nothing therein, toucheth the ſame nothing at all. Admitting your minor as true, which is not true of all popiſh prayers, as of the Aue Marie and Creede, which are no prayers, nor of your Latine Mattens and Liturgie, which are full of idolatrous and ſuperſtitious prayers: yet your concluſion is a groſſe paralogiſme, becauſe it conteyneth much more then is in the maior or minor. For the Apoſtle findeth no fault with thoſe Hymnes, Pſalmes, and Sonettes in reſpect of their inſpiration, but becauſe they were not vſed to the right ende, namely, to edification, therefore hee preſcribeth generally, that all prayers ſhoulde be vſed to the edifying of the Church, and priuate prayers, to the edifying of him that vttereth them, and condemneth in all priuate prayers, want of vnderſtanding and edifying: therefore toucheth and condemneth popiſh prayers pronounced in Latine, not vnderſtoode of him that pronounceth them. Therefore the people haue no right to vſe any ſuch priuate prayers, as they doe not vnderſtand: whereby they edifie not them ſelues, they ſpeake no myſterie in the ſpirite which they haue not, they cannot bleſſe well, nor ſpeake to God, nor themſelues. For the babling in an vnknowen tongue, is no more to be called ſpeaking, then the prating of a Dawe, a Pie, or Popingaye, which are taught to vtter the ſounde of ſome wordes, but yet cannot iuſtly be called ſpeaking: for that ſpeaking is an expreſſing of the inward conceipt of the minde, whether it be true or falſe. Therefore the popiſh Church, which taketh vpon her greater wiſedome, then the holy Ghoſt hath reueiled by the Apoſtle, to like of that which he condemneth, ſheweth her ſelfe plainely to be the Church of Antichriſt, and not of Chriſt. But yet you ſay, ſhe doth not wholy forbid, but ſome times graunteth to haue them tranſlated. The Church of Chriſt is more conſtant in her doctrine, and doth not ſome times denie, and ſome time graunt the knowledge of faith to her children. But the popiſh Church in the laſt blinde dayes (as you cannot altogether denie) hath not permitted the arricles of the faith, the tenne commaundements, and the Lordes prayer to be knowen of the people in their mother tongue. And yet you ſay, your Church would haue all faithfull men knowe the contents of their prayers, which is not poſſible for them, nor meant by you, ſo long as you will not ſuffer them to learne them in that tongue which they doe vnderſtande. But the Church (you ſay) hath commaunded in ſome Councels, that they which cannot learne them diſtinctly in Latine, ſhould be taught them in their vulgar tongue. In deede when the knowledge of the Latine tongue among the common people beganne to decay, in the Weſt Churches of Germanie and Fraunce, there was ſome care to ſupply that defect by inſtruction, and therefore it was decreed Conc. Tur. 3. cap. 17. That euery Biſhop ſhoulde haue Homilies, and Popiſh prayers.

prouide that they be plainly translated into the rusticall Latine tongue, or into the Dutch tongue, that all men may more easily vnderstand those things that were saide. Also in the Councell of Magunce. Cap. 2. it was decreed, That there should neuer want a man on the Lordes dayes, and on holy dayes, which should preache the worde of God, and so as the common people may vnderstand them. And in the 45. Chapter of the same Councell it was decreed, that hee which cannot otherwise, should learne the Creede, and the Lordes prayer in his owne tongue. That men were willed to send their children to learne in the schoole, in Monasteries, of priestes, it was because many did then vnderstand the plaine and rude Latine, as appeareth by the Canon of Turon. before mentioned, and also by the 43. of this Councell of Magunce: where it is saide, that no Priest (as we thinke) can rightly sing Masse alone: For how shall he say, The Lorde be with you, or admonish men to lift vp their heartes, and many other things like these, when there is none other present with him? By this Canon you see, not onely priuate Masses condemned, but also that the people did vnderstand the Latine which was spoken in the Masses, or else it was all one to say these wordes alone, or in the hearing of them that vnderstand them not. As you doe in your Masse, turne about and say: Orate &c. Pray for me brethren and sisters: when there is none present, but a seely boy that helpeth you to Masse, and perhaps at that time is in the Churchyard or vestrie.

Yea euen in the Councell of Rhemes, from whence you sende the contrarie doctrine: it was thus decreed in the yeere of our Lorde eight hundred and thirteene: The first Chapter is of the reason of faith, that euery man according to the vnderstanding of such his capacitie as the Lord giueth, should learne and vnderstand it, and in his workes fully obserue it. The seconde Chapter, that they learne and vnderstande in sense and meaning, the prayer which our Lorde Iesus Christ taught his Disciples to pray, because it is lawfull for no Christian man to bee ignorant of it. And that their people all this while vnderstood the Latine tongue, beside these Canons, it may appeare by the Councell of Aquisgran Cap. 133. Where such are appointed to reade and sing in the Church, as more desire in reading and singing, the edifying of the people then most vaine popular flattering. For more then 600. yeeres after Christ the people in France (rustici & rusticanæ) vnderstood the Latine seruice, as appeareth by Cæsarius Arelatensis H. 13. Nemo dicat, non possum aliquid de hoc quod in ecclesia legitur retinere, sine dubio enim si velis, poteris. It is manifest also by Raban. Maiur. who liued 855. yeeres after Christ, that the publik prayers & lessons read in the Church were vnderstood of the people. Inst. Cler. lib. 2. cap. 52. Est autem lectio non parua audientium ædificatio: vnde oportet, vt quando psallitur, psallatur ab omnibus; cum oratur, oretur ab omnibus; cum lectio legitur facto silentio æquè audiatur à cunctis, &c. Pronunciantur autem lectiones in Christi ecclesijs de scripturis sanctis. Cap. 53. Therefore the people vnderstoode that which was sung or saide in Latine: for without vnderstanding there coulde bee no edifying. So that although prayer in Latine was alowable when men vnderstoode Latine, yet when Latine is not vnderstoode, it is not tolerable to pray in Latine, by the elder Churches iudgement, and specially by the doctrine of the Scripture. Wherefore they that pray in a tongue vnknowen, can haue no comfort of spirite, no true zeale or affection of prayers (though they haue neuer so great superstition, and blinde deuotion) when it is not possible for the heart to thinke, that which the tongue soundeth.

XIIII. 14 Such holy Oraisons be in maner consecrated and sanctified in and by the Holy Ghost that first inspired them, and there is a reuerence and Maiestie in the Churches tongue dedicated in our Sauiours Crosse, and giueth more force and valure to them saide in the Churches obedience, then to others. The children cried * Hosanna to our Sauiour, and were allowed, though they knewe not what they saide. It is well neere a thousand yeeres that * our people which could nothing els but barbarum frendere, did sing Alleluia, and not, Prayse ye the Lord. and longer agoe since the poore husbandmen sang the same at the plough in other Countries. Hiero. tom. 1. Prayers are not made to teach, make learned, or increase knowledge, though by occasion they sometimes instruct vs. but their speciall vse is, to offer our hartes, desires, and wants to God, and to shew that we hang of him in all things: and this euery Catholike doeth for his condition, whether he vnderstand the wordes of his prayer or not. The simple sort cannot vnderstand all Psalmes, nor scarse the learned, no though they be translated or read in knowen tongues: men must not cease to vse them for all that, when they are knowen to conteyne Gods holy praises. The simple people when they desire any thing specially at Gods hand, are not bounde to know, neither can they tell, to what petition or part of the* Pater noster their demaund pertaineth, though it be in English neuer so much. they cannot tell no more what is, Thy kingdome come, then Adueniat regnum tuum. nor whether their petition for their sicke children or any other necessitie, pertaine to this part, or to Fiat voluntas tua, or Ne nos induc as, or to what other part els. It is ynough that they can tell, this holy Oraison to be appointed to vs, to call vpon God in all our desires, more then this, is not necessarie. And the translation of such holy things often breedeth manifolde danger and irreuerence in the vulgar (as to thinke God is auctor of sinne, when they reade, Leade vs not into tentation) and seldome any edification at all. For, though when the prayers be turned and read in English, the people knoweth the wordes, yet they are not edified to the instruction of their minde and vnderstanding, except they knew the sense of the wordes also and meaning of the Holy Ghost. For if any man thinke that S. Paul speaking of edification of mans minde or vnderstanding, meaneth the vnderstanding of the wordes onely, hee is fouly deceiued. for, what is a childe of fiue or sixe yeeres olde edified or increased in knowledge by his Pater noster in English? It is the sense therefore, which euery man cannot haue, neither in English nor Latine, the knowledge whereof properly and rightly edifieth to instruction. and the knowledge of the wordes onely, often edifieth neuer a whit, and some times buildeth to errour and destruction: as it is plaine in all Heretikes and many curious persons besides. finally both the one and the other without charitie and humilitie maketh the Heretikes and Schismatikes with all their English and what other tongues and intelligence so euer, to be as Sonans & Cymbalum tinniens, sounding brasse and a tinkling cymbal. 1. XIII. 14 If the holy Ghost did euer consecrate and inspire holy praiers in any language, they are prophaned and abused by them that pronounce them, and doe not vnderstand them, as these of the Cormthians, which were inspired doubtles by the holy Ghost, yet were prophanely abused, when they were vttered of pride and ambition, and not interpreted for the Churches edification. But there is a great reuerence (you say) in the Churches tongue dedicated in our Sauiours Crosse. But why should there not be as great reuerence and Maiestie in all languages, that were sanctified by the holy Ghost, to expresse the great prayses of God? Act. 2. As for the dedication vpon the Crosse, is a friuolous reason grounded vpon Pilates auctoritie, who set vp that inscription in three most notorious languages. And yet for the Hebrue tongue that is there named, it is most like it was the Syrian tongue, which in the newe Testament is often called the Hebrue tongue, because it was the vulgar tongue of the Iewes that were Hebrues, Act. 22. 2. and twise in the 19. of S. Iohn verse 13. 17. And where you pretend pretend the Churches obedience, to giue force and valure to ſuch prayers, it is vaine. For the Church hath no power graunted of Chriſt, but to edification, 2. Cor. 10. 8. Therefore can require no obedience, where edification is not ſought but hindred. But yet you will not giue ouer the matter ſo: for the children cried Hoſanna to our Sauiour, and were allowed, though they knewe not what they ſaid. How dare you affirme they knewe not what they ſaid? for firſt they ſpake in their owne tongue. Secondly they expreſſe plainely, that they did acknowledge our Sauiour Chriſt and his kingdome, and praiſed God for the ſame, and prayed to God in the higheſt to proſper the ſame. Howe then are you not aſhamed to ſay, they knewe not what they ſaid? becauſe they were children? doth not our Sauiour Chriſt acknowledge that they were inſpired of God? what? like Parates to ſound thoſe wordes? or to acknowledge in heart alſo that which they ſpake with their tongues? Moreouer you ſay, it is wel neere a thouſand yeeres ſince our people which could nothing elſe but bray barbarouſly, did ſing Alleluia, and not, Prayſe ye the Lord. That the Saxons ſung Alleluia, it was when they vnderſtood it to be, prayſe ye the Lord, as we doe nowe vnderſtand Amen, to be all one with, So be it. If I ſhould ſtand in contention with you, whether all the Saxons were then altogether ignorant of the Latine tongue, and void of Chriſtianitie, notwithſtanding Gregories authoritie, I might trouble you to anſwere all that I could obiect, but I will not ſtand vpon that point. But long before that (you ſay) the husbandmen ſung the ſame at the plough in other countries. Hierome telleth you in what countrie, namely in Paleſtine, about Bethlehem, where it was in maner the vulgar tongue of the countrie. And Gregorie telleth you, it was brought from the Church of Hieruſalem, firſt by Hierome in the daies of Damaſus lib. 7. ep. 63. That Surſum corda, and the Pſalmes were ſung in Latine in the Weſt Church where they were vnderſtood, becauſe the Latine tongue was then vulgar to all the nations of Italie, Spaine, France, Africa &c. you neede not haue brought ſo many quotations: for we doe eaſily graunt it, as alſo that Hieromes tranſlation was read in Africa, for then the Latine tongue was commonly ſpoken and vnderſtood in all ſuch places as the ſeruice was in Latine. S. Auguſtine confeſſeth, that he learned the Latine tongue from his infancie among the flatterings and playing of his nurſes, not teaching him, but ſpeaking to him. Conf. lib. 1. cap. 14. The vulgar people therefore ſpake Latine in Africa, no marueile then if they had Latine ſeruice. And although ſome Biſhops and miniſters of the Church vſed ſoleciſmes and barbariſmes, it was either of purpoſe, as S. Auguſtine himſelfe did, that the people might vnderſtand him the better, who though they ſpake Latine, yet not ſo finely as Cicero, or other learned Romanes, but vnderſtood beſt ſuch barbarous termes and phraſes, as they were beſt acquainted withall, as witneſſeth S. Auguſt. in pſ. 123. 128. de Doct. Chriſt. li. 2. cap. 13. Or if they vſed any ſoleciſmes or falſe Latin of ignorance, ſo that they did not vnderſtand ſome words, which they pronounced and kept not right diſtinctions, S. Auguſtine ſaith: they were to be reformed, that the people may ſay Amen, to that which they vnderſtand plainely. De Catech. Rud. cap 9.

Now for Kyrieleiſon and Chriſteleiſon, which are Greeke wordes ſignifying, Lorde haue mercie vpon vs, Chriſt haue mercie vpon vs: Gregorie acknowledgeth that he was the firſt that brought them into the Latine Church, more then ſixe hundred yeeres after Chriſt, to be ſaid by the Clerkes onely, and not by the people. Yet it is not to be thought but the people did ſufficiently vnderſtand the meaning of theſe wordes, which was eaſily learned. But prayers were not made (you ſay) to teache or increaſe knowledge, but their ſpeciall vſe is to offer our hearts, deſires, and wantes to God. S. Paul requireth in praiers, that they ſhould teach and inſtruct others, if they bee publike, and our ſelues at leſt if they be priuate: for wee can no more ſay Amen to a praier pronounced by our ſelues, then we can to a prayer pronounced by an other, if we vnderſtande it not. Neither is it the ſpeciall vſe of prayers, to offer our heartes, deſire, and wantes to God, who knoweth them before we pray, but to ſtirre vp our ſelues in true faith and obedience, to depend vpon Gods promiſes, and to acknowledge his infinite benefites towardes vs: which can not bee by any wordes of prayer, that is not vnderſtood of vs. For as for offering our heartes, deſire, wantes &c. the ſpirite maketh interceſſion for vs with gronings that can not be vttered. You adde moreouer, That the ſimple ſort can not vnderſtand all Pſalmes, nor the learned alwayes in the vulgar tongue. What then? there are pſalmes ynough that they may vſe as prayers, and ſtudie to vnderſtande the reſt at more leaſure: yet againe you preſſe vs. The ſimple people when they deſire any thing of God ſpecially, are not bounde to knowe, neither can they tell to what petition of their Pater noſter, their demaunde perteyneth. At the leſtwiſe they are bound to knowe, that all things meete for them to demaund, and God to graunt, are comprehended in that forme of prayer, becauſe Chriſt hath taught them when they pray, to ſay: Our father, &c. And they can according to their owne want and meaning ſay. Lord graunt this or that, although they can not alway tell to which petition their demaund pertaineth: for it may pertaine to diuers petitions. But where you ſay: They can tell no more what is, Thy kingdome come, then Adueniat regnum tuum. I thinke the ſimpleſt Papiſtes in England, that hath any loue of trueth, will ſay you ſpeake vntruely. For though they knowe not ſo well as learned men, ſpecially if they be not any thing inſtructed wherein the kingdome of God doth chiefly conſiſt: yet common ſenſe teacheth them, that there is great glory, power, and maieſtie wiſhed vnto God by the very worde of kingdome: whereas they can haue no true and certaine concept of the Latine wordes which they doe not vnderſtand. Whether the requeſt for their ſicke children perteine to) Thy will be done, or leade vs not into temptation:) you woulde make them very ignorant that knowe not. Our people (God be thanked) are taught, that all things pertaining to this life, are contained in daily bread, with the condition of Gods will in all things, which goeth before. But whereas you ſay: There is no more neceſſarie for them to know, but that this Oraiſon is appointed to vs to call vpon God in all our deſires: you affirme boldly as your maner is, without all proofe or reaſon. For our Sauiour Chriſt deliuered this forme of praier, to teach vs what things we ſhould aske at Gods hands, and what not. How we ſhould aske them in faith at our heauenly fathers hands, what things chiefely, namely, ſuch things as perteine to Gods glory, and what thoſe be: ſuch things as be neceſſarie for our ſelues, and what they be. Theſe and ſuch things by Chriſtes inſtitution, that taught this forme of praier, are neceſſarie to bee knowen, and not onely to knowe, that this oraiſon is appointed vs to call vpon God in all our deſires. For we are not ſo bound to this forme of praier, that we muſt alwaies vſe it, and onely, but we may vſe other formes by the example of the Apoſtles, but this is appointed to be the paterne of all other formes of prayers: therefore there is more neceſſitie for all men to knowe that ſhall pray aright, or vſe this principall forme of prayer rightly, then that it is appointed to vs to call vpon God in all our deſires. Further you ſay, the tranſlation of ſuch holy things often breedeth manifold dangers and irreuerence in the vulgar, as to thinke God is author of ſinne, when they reade, Leade vs not into temptation, and ſeldome any edification at all. You may as truely ſay, the teaching of theſe holy things by Chriſt, to his vnlearned diſciples, might breede ſuch dangers and irreuerence, as the tranſlation of them, and ſo you ſhould blaſpheme directly, as you doe now couertly. But neither the teaching, nor the tranſlation, breedeth any ſuch danger, but rather keepeth men from ſuch inconueniences: and breedeth properly edification of Gods children: though wicked men both learned and vnlearned, peruert all that good is, to their condemnation.

nation. Where you say, the people to their right edification, must aswell know the sense, as the words, I agree with you: but first they must know the wordes, and after they must be taught the sense and meaning, if any thing be obscure, or hard to be vnderstood in the wordes. And S. Paule speaking of the edification of mens mindes, will haue both the wordes, and the sense to be vnderstood, but you by your will, would haue neither: for it is not possible to vnderstand the sense of wordes, before the wordes be vnderstood. But to haue the words vnderstood, you haue no care, nor thinke it necessary, how should then the sense of those words be vnderstood? Children with vs are first taught to speake, and then learne to vnderstand, because the wordes must needes be knowen before the sense. And therefore the learning of the Scripture euen from infancie, is commended by S. Paul, though you would malingely cauill and say: what? was Timothie being a childe of fiue or sixe yeeres olde, edified or increased in knowledge, by knowing the holy Scriptures? We confesse therefore, that the sense is necessary to be had, by teaching of parents and pastors: but the vnderstanding of the wordes must be had before there can any meaning of them be taught, and both in charitie, humilitie, and faith must be practised, that men may learne to pray rightly. 1. Tim. 3. 15.

THEM. 15 To conclude, for praying either publikely or priuately in Latin which is the common sacred tongue of the greatest part of the Christian world, this is thought by the wisest and godliest to be most expedient, and is certainely seene to be nothing repugnant to S. Paul. If any yet will be contentious in the matter, we must answere them with the same Apostle, The Church of God hath no such custome, and with this notable saying of S. Augustine, ep. 118. c. 5. Any thing that the whole Church doth practise and obserue throughout the world, to dispute thereof as though it were not to be done, is most insolent madnesse. 1. Cor. 11. 16. A notable rule of S. August.

THERE IS Your conclusion therefore, is a most beggerly and shamelesse petition of the whole matter in question. That it is thought by you (which are the wisest and godliest) that prayers priuate or publike in Latin, be most expedient and nothing repugnant to S. Paul. For that the wisest and godliest in the Primitiue Church, yea of the later Church for 800. or 900. yeeres after Christ, were of a contrary iudgement, I haue prooued before sufficiently. And by the very wordes of S. Paul. I haue shewed, that publike prayer expressly and principally, and priuate prayer consequently in a tongue not vnderstood, is repugnant to S. Paul. I haue also shewed, that the Latin tongue is no more holy then any other tongue, seeing God by sending his Spirit in fierie tongues, hath consecrated all tongues to speake the great and worthie praises of God. Act. 2. Therefore for Gods trueth, and the edifying of his Church, it is the custome of Gods Church, to striue euen to the death. And the saying of S. Augustine doth nothing touche this case, seeing prayers in an vnknowen tongue, was neuer practised nor obserued of the whole Church through the whole world, as I haue proued before.

THEM. 16 34 Let women hold their peace.) There be, or were, certaine Heretikes in our Countrie (for such euer take the Scriptures diuersly for the aduantage of time) that denied women to hold lawfully any kingdome or temporall Soueraintie: but that is false and against both reason and the Scriptures. This onely in that sexe is true, that it is not capable of holy orders, spirituall Regiment or Cure of soules: & therefore can not do any function proper to Priests and Bishops: not speake in the Church, & so not preach, nor dispute, nor haue or giue voyce either deliberatiue or definitiue in Councels and publike Assemblies, concerning matters of Religion, nor make Ecclesiasticall lawes concerning the same, nor binde, nor loose, nor excõmunicate, nor suspende, nor degrade, nor absolue, nor minister Sacraments, other then Baptisme in the case of mere necessity, whẽ neither Priest nor other man can be had: much lesse prescribe any thing to the Cleargie, how to minister them, or giue any man right to rule, preach, or executo any spirituall function as vnder her and by her authoritie: no creature being able to impart that whereof it selfe is incapable both by nature and Scriptures. This Regiment is expressly giuen to the Apostles, Bishops, and Prelates: they onely haue authoritie to binde and loose, Mat. 18. they onely are set by the Holy Ghost to gouerne the Church. Act. 20: they onely haue cure of our soules directly, and must make account to God for the same, Heb. 13. Women may haue any temporall Soueraintie, but no Ecclesiasticall function.

THERE 16 The errour of them that did write against the Regiment of women, is easily confuted by the fifth Commandement, where ciuill auctoritie and gouernment is established as well to the Mother, Mystres, Lady, and Queene, as to the Father, master, Lord and King, the naturall order of sexe, neuertheles obserued. But the sexe of woman kinde is not capable of spirituall gouernment, and therefore may not ordinarily exercise any Ecclesiastic all function of auctoritie in the Church, as preaching, ministring the Sacraments, excommunication, &c. And yet the Scripture alloweth a ministerie or seruice of women to the Church, Namely to comfort and helpe the poore, as we read Rom. 16. 1. Phœbe a minister of the Church of Cenchris: and 1. Tim. 5. The Widowes that serued the Church in the same office. But when you exclude them from all spirituall regiment, Ecclesiasticall function, and cure of soules, I marueile whether the office of an Abbesse, or Prioresse among you, be compted meere ciuill and temporall functions, and haue no cure of soules directly pertaining to them. But howsoeuer they are accompted with you, in the Church of God, to whomsoeuer God committeth auctoritie and gouernment, he committeth also directly and specially the care of soules, and not of bodies only, yet this cure to be exercised according to the distinct and seuerall limites of Ecclesiasticall and ciuill functions. Therefore the father and mother, master and mistres, Lord and Lady, King and Queene, haue care of the soules of their children, schollers, seruants and subiectes, and not of their bodies onely. Parents are commanded to bring vp their children in the discipline and instruction of the Lord, Ephes. 6. 4. Whereby it is manifest they must haue care of their soules, and so must all other gouernours, as masters, Magistrates and Princes, euery one in his calling, and according to his auctoritie. Therefore Princes (be they men or women) ought to haue care of their subiects soules, and to prouide for the same by making Ecclesiasticall lawes, and compelling their subiects to serue God according to his lawes. Therefore to deny vnto women all care of soules, and to say they haue no auctoritie to make Ecclesiasticall lawes, by which their subiects shall be compelled to serue God according to his word, is in effect to deny them all auctoritie and gouernment, and not spirituall gouernment onely. S. Augustine compteth him madde that will denie that Princes ought to haue no care of their subiects soules. Ep. 50. Bonifacio. Quis mente sobrius? &c. Who being in his right wittes would say to Kings, Take you no care by whom in your kingdome the Church of your Lord God is defended or oppugned, let it not pertaine vnto you who in your kingdome will be religious or sacrilegious, to whom it cannot be said, Let it not pertaine vnto you, who in your kingdome will be chaste or vnchast. The gouernment of women, and of ciuill Princes.

And concerning their auctoritie and dutie in making Ecclesiasticall lawes, He saith likewise: Aliter enim seruit, &c. The Prince serueth otherwise as a man, and otherwise as he is a King. Because he is a man he serueth God liuing faithfully, but because he is a King, he serueth God by making lawes in conuenient strength, which command iust things, and forbid the contrary, as Ezechias serued God in destroying the groues & temples of Idols. Therfore Princes without confusion of the functions ciuill and Ecclesiastical, may command and prescribe Ecclesiastical persons to execute any spiritual function (according to the word of God) and punish the neglect of their dueties in them. And this may a Queene doe by her Soueraigne auctoritie, though she may not execute any of those functions in her owne person. Dauid, Salomon, Iosaphat, Ezechias, &c. commanded the Priestes to execute their office according to the Law of God, yet was it not lawfull for them to execute any thing that was proper to the Priestes office in their owne persons. So did Constantine, Theodosius, Martianus, Iustinianus, make Ecclesiasticall lawes to compel Ecclesiasticall persons to doe their dueties, and called generall Councels to decide questions of Religion, and gaue order how to proceede in them according to the Scriptures. Constantinus spake thus in the Nicen Councell: The bookes of the Gospels and Apostles, and the Oracles of the ancient Prophets (saith he) doe plainely instruct vs in the vnderstanding of God. Therefore setting all hatefull discord aside, let vs take out of the sayings of God the explication of the questions. Theod. hist. lib. 1. cap. 1. Theodosius in the Councel of Constantinople the first, elected Nectarius Bishop of that See Sozom. lib. 7. c. 8. Also when the Councell had decreed among other things that the See of Constantinople should be in dignitie next to the See of Rome, and in priuileges and auctoritie equall. The Emperour gaue his voyce of assent and made a lawe, that the faith of the Nicene Councell should prewaile. Sozom. lib. 7. cap. 9. Theodosius the yonger (saith Euagrius lib. 1. cap. 12.) made a lawe, whereby he condemned the Nestorian heretikes, and made other lawes accommodated, or made fit for our Religion. Valentinianus called the Councel of Chalcedon, where Martianus himselfe was present, and appointed Iudges and a Senate to order the Councel, by whose auctoritie Dioscorus bishop of Alexandria, was commanded to sit in the Councell, (contrary to the commaundement of Leo bishop of Rome giuen to his Legates and there vttered,) vntill good cause was shewed, why he ought not to sit in Councell. Conc. Chal. Action 1. The same Iudges with the Councell decreed, that the bishop of Constantinople should haue the same honour and auctoritie that the bishop of Rome hath, notwithstanding the contradiction of the bishop of Romes Legates. Act 16. And the Emperour confirmed the same. Liberat c. 13. S. Augustine testifieth, that an Ecclesiasticall cause was committed to the hearing of Melchiades bishop of Rome, by the commandement of Constantinus the Emperour. De vnico baptismo, cap. 16. Socrates witnesseth that he comprehendeth in his storie the Romane Emperours: Because vpon them (since they began to be Christians) the Ecclesiasticall matters doe depend, and the greatest Councels by their decree, haue beene gathered and are gathered, Lib. 5. in præm.

Now let vs see what substantial reasons you bring, to proue that a woman (being a Prince) may not prescribe any thing to the Cleargie how to minister the Sacraments, or giue any man right, to rule, preach, or execute any spiritual function, as vnder her, and by her auctoritie. First you say, No creature is able to impart that whereof it selfe is incapable, both by nature and Scriptures. I answere, First a woman being a Prince, hath as great auctoritie as a man. But I haue shewed before, that godly Kings of the Israelites commanded and prescribed the Priests to minister the Sacrifices, and Sacraments of the old Testament, which it was not lawful for them to doe themselues. And although the auctority of ordeinmg Ecclesiastical Ministers, perteineth not to ciuill Magistrates, yet may they command meete persons to be ordeined, (and being ordeined) to execute all parts of their function according to the word of God, vnder their auctoritie, and by their auctoritie: although the spirituall vertue of their office doe depend vpon an higher auctoritie of Christ, which is not subiect to men. The Prince may command a bishop or minister to baptise a person, whom by Gods word it is lawfull for them to baptise. But the vertue of regeneration is not subiect to the Princes commandement, and so of all other partes of their office.

Your second reason is: This regiment is expresly giuen to the Apostles, bishops and prelates, they only haue auctority to binde and loose. I answere, The auctoritie of ciuill Magistrates doeth giue them nothing that is peculiar to Ecclesiasticall ministers, yet is it of power to commande them to doe and execute all those things, as they ought to doe by the word of God, and not after the corrup affection of the Prince. Thirdly you say: They only are set by the holy Ghost to gouerne the Church, Act. 20. I answere, Their gouernment doth not exclude the auctority of the Christian Magistrate, which is no way contrarie to their spirituall gouernment, but is appointed to mainteine it. and to see it to be exercised, as it ought to be. Fourthly you say: They onely haue cure of soules directly, and must make accompt to God for the same, Heb. 13. The text saith not, That they onely haue cure of soules, but Princes also haue cure of soules in their office, and must giue accompt to God for the same, as parents, masters, and all that haue any auctoritie commited by God vnto them, haue it for the benefite of mens soules, more specially then for their bodies.

CHAP. XV.

The 7. part. Of the resurrection of the dead.

He proueth the Resurrection of the dead by the Resurrection of Christ, and with many other arguments: and 31 answereth also obiections made against it. 49 And then exhorteth in respect of it, vnto good life.

THE Epistle vpon the 11. Sunday after Pentecost.

AND I doe you to vnderstand, brethren, the Gospell which I preached to you, which also you receiued, in the which also you stand,

2 By the which also you are saued, after what maner I preached vnto you if you keepe it, vnles you haue beleeued in vaine.

3 For[c] I deliuered vnto you first of all which I also receiued: that Christ died for our sinnes * according to the Scriptures:

4 And that he was buried, and that he rose againe the third day, * according to the Scriptures:

5 And that he was * seene of Cephas: and after that of the eleuen.

6 Then was he seene of moe then fiue hundred brethren together: of which many remaine vntill this present, and some are a sleepe.

7 Moreouer

Es. 53. 8. Dan. 9. 26. Ps. 5, 10. Ion 2, 2. Lu. 24.

*MOreouer * brethren, I declare vnto you, the Gospell which I preached vnto you, which also ye haue receiued, and wherein ye haue †continued,* Galat. 1. 11.

† Or, stoode.

2 By the which also ye are saued, if ye keepe the doctrine which I preached vnto you, except ye haue beleeued in vaine.

3 For I deliuered vnto you first of all, that which also I receiued, how that Christ died for our sinnes, according to the Scriptures:

*4 * And that he was buried, and that he arose the third day, according to the Scriptures:* Ion. 2. 1.

*5 * And that he was seene of Cephas, then of the twelue:* Iohn 20. 19.

6 After that he was seene of moe then fiue hundred brethren at once: of which, the more part remaine vnto this day, and some are fallen asleepe.

7 And

7 Moreouer he was ſeen of Iames, then of al the Apoſtles.

8 And laſt of al, as it were of ‘ an abortiue * he was ſeen alſo of me.

9 For I am the leaſt of al the Apoſtles, who am not worthy to be called an apoſtle, becauſe I perſecuted the Church of God.

10 But by the grace of God I am that which I am: and his grace in me hath not been ‡ void, but I haue laboured more aboundantly then al they: yet not I, but the grace of God ‖ with me.

11 For whether I, or they, ſo we preach, and ſo you haue beleeued.

12 But if Chriſt be preached that he is riſen againe from the dead: how doe certaine among you ſay, that there is no reſurrection of the dead?

13 And if there be no reſurrection of the dead, neither is Chriſt riſen againe.

14 And if Chriſt be not riſen againe, then vaine is our preaching, vaine alſo is your faith.

15 And we are found alſo ‡ falſe witneſſes of God: becauſe we haue giuen teſtimonie againſt God, that he hath raiſed vp Chriſt, whom he hath not raiſed vp, if the dead riſe not againe.

16 For if the dead riſe not againe, neither is Chriſt riſen againe.

17 And if Chriſt be not riſen againe, vaine is your faith, for yet you are in your ſinnes.

18 Then they alſo that are aſleepe in Chriſt, are periſhed.

19 If in this life onely we be hoping in Chriſt, we are more miſerable then al men.

20 But now Chriſt is riſen againe frō the dead, the * firſt fruits of them that ſleepe:

21 For * by a man death: and by a man the reſurrection of the dead.

22 And as in Adam al die, ſo alſo in Chriſt al ſhal be made aliue.

23 But * euery one in his owne order: the firſt fruits Chriſt, then they that are of Chriſt, that beleeued in his comming.

24 Then the ende, when he ſhall haue deliuered the kingdome to God and the Father, when he ſhall haue aboliſhed all principalitie and authoritie and power.

25 And he muſt reigne, Vntil he put al his enimies vnder his feete.

26 And the enimie death ſhalbe deſtroied laſt. For he hath ſubdued al things vnder his feete. And whereas he ſaith, 27 Al things are ſubdued to him: Vndoubtedly, except him that ſubdued al things vnto him.

28 And when al things ſhal be ſubdued to him: then the Sonne alſo himſelf ſhal be ſubiect to him that ſubdued al things vnto him, that God may be all in al.

29 Otherwiſe what ſhal they do that are baptized

7 And after that he was ſeene of Iames, then of all the Apoſtles.

8 * And laſt of all hee was ſeene of me, as of one borne out of due time. Act 9.4. cph.3.8.

9 For I am the leaſt of the Apoſtles, which am not worthy to be called an Apoſtle, becauſe I perſecuted the Church of God.

10 * But by the grace of God, I am that I am, and his grace which is in me, was not vaine: but I laboured more aboundantly then they all, yet not I, but the grace of God which is with mee. Eph.3.7.

11 Therefore, whether it were I or they, ſo we preach, and ſo haue ye beleeued.

12 If Chriſt be preached, howe that he roſe from the dead: howe ſay ſome among you, that there is no reſurrection of the dead?

13 If there be no riſing of the dead, then is Chriſt not riſen.

14 If Chriſt be not riſen, then is our preaching vaine, and you faith is alſo vaine.

15 Yea, and we are found falſe witneſſes of God, becauſe we haue teſtified of God, how that he raiſed vp Chriſt: whom he raiſed not vp, if ſo be that the dead riſe not.

16 For if the dead riſe not, then is not Chriſt riſen.

17 If it be ſo that Chriſt is not riſen, then is your faith vaine, ye are yet in your ſinnes:

18 But alſo they which are fallen aſleepe in Chriſt, are periſhed.

19 If in this life onely we haue hope in Chriſt, then are we of all men moſt miſerable.

20 But now is Chriſt riſen from the dead, he is become the firſt fruits of them that ſlept.

21 For ſince by man came death, euen ſo by man came the reſurrection of the dead.

22 For as by † Adam all die, euen ſo † by Chriſt ſhall all be made aliue, † Or, in Adam. † Or, in Chriſt.

23 But euery man in his owne order. The firſt fruites is Chriſt, afterward, they that are Chriſts at his comming.

24 Then commeth the ende, when he ſhall haue deliuered vp the kingdome to God the father, when he ſhall haue put downe all rule, and al auctoritie, and power.

25 *For he muſt reigne till he ſhall haue put all his enimies vnder his feete. Pſal.110.1. actes 2.34. heb.1.13.

26 The laſt enimie that ſhall be deſtroied, is death.

27 * For he hath put downe all things vnder his feete: But when he ſaith, All things are put vnder him, it is manifeſt that he is excepted which did put all things vnder him. Pſal.8.7. heb.2.8.

28 When all things ſhall be ſubdued vnto him, then ſhall the ſonne alſo himſelfe be ſubiect vnto him that put all things vnder him, that God may be all in all.

29 Els what ſhall they do which are baptized baptized for the dead, if the dead rise not a-gaine at al?

30 Why also are they baptized for them? why also are we in danger euery houre?

31 I die daily by your glorie brethren, which I haue in Christ Iesvs our Lord.

32 If (according to man) I fought with beastes at Ephesus, what doth it profite me, if the dead rise not againe? Let vs eate and drinke, for to morow we shal die.

Esa.22.

Menander.

33 Be not seduced, Euil communications corrupt good manners.

34 Awake ye iust, and sinne not. for some haue not the knowledge of God, I speake to your shame.

35 But some man saith, How do the dead rise againe? and with what maner of body shal they come.

36 Foole, that which thou sowest is not quickened, vnlesse it die first.

37 And that which thou sowest, not the body that shal be, doest thou sow: but bare graine, to wit, of wheate, or of some of the rest.

38 And God giueth it a body as he wil: and to euery seede his proper body.

39 Not al flesh is the same flesh: but one of men, an other of beasts, an other of birdes, an other of fishes.

40 And bodies celestial, and bodies terrestrial: but one glorie of the celestial, and an other of the terrestrial.

41 One glorie of the sunne, an other glorie of the moone, and an other glorie of the starres. For ‡ starre differeth from starre in glory.

42 So also the resurrection of the dead. It is sowen in corruption, it shall rise in incorruption.

43 It is sowen in dishonour, it shal rise in glorie. It is sowen in infirmitie, it shal rise in power.

44 It is sowen a natural body: it shal rise a ‡ spiritual body. If there be a natural body, there is also a spiritual,

Gen.2,7.

45 As it is written, The first man Adam was made into a liuing soul: the last Adam into a quickening spirit.

46 Yet that is not first which is spiritual, but that which is naturall: afterward that which is spiritual.

47 The first man of earth, earthly: the second man from heauen, heauenly.

48 Such as is the earthly, such also are the earthly. and such as the heauenly, such also are the heauenly.

‡ Flesh and bloud signifie not here the substance of those things, but the corrupt qualitie incident to them in this life by the fall of Adam.

49 Therefore as we haue borne the image of the earthly, let vs beare also the image of the heauenly.

50 This I say brethren, that ‡ flesh & bloud can not possesse the kingdom of God: neither shall corruption possesse incorruption.

51 ♭ Behold

for the dead, if the dead rise not at all? Why are they then baptized for the dead?

30 And why stande we in ieopardie euery houre.

31 I protest by our reioycing which I haue in Christ Iesu our Lord, I die daily.

32 If I haue fought with beastes at Ephesus, after the manner of men, what aduantageth it me, if the dead rise not? * Let vs eate and drinke, for to morowe we die. Esa.22,14.

33 Be not deceiued: Euill wordes corrupt good maners.

34 Awake to righteousnesse, and sinne not: for some haue not the knowledge of God, I speake this to your shame.

35 But some man will say, How are the dead raised vp? With what body do they come?

36 Thou † foole, that which thou sowest, is not quickend, except it die. † Or malicious man.

37 And that which thou sowest, thou sowest not that body that shalbe, but bare corne, it may chaunce of wheate, or of some other corne.

38 But God giueth it a body, as it hath pleased him, and to euery seede his owne body. †† Or one maner of flesh.

39 All flesh, is not † the same flesh, but there is one maner of flesh of men, another flesh of beastes, another of fishes, and another of birdes.

40 There are also celestial bodies, and bodies terrestrial: but the glory of the celestial is one, and the glory of the terrestrial another.

41 There is one glory of the Sunne, and another glory of the Moone, and another glory of the starres: For one starre differeth from another starre in glory.

42 So is the resurrection of the dead. It is sowen in corruption, it riseth in incorruption.

43 It is sowen in dishonour, it riseth in honour. It is sowen in weakenesse, it riseth in power.

44 It is sowen a naturall body, it riseth a spirituall body: There is a naturall body, and there is a spirituall body.

45 And so it is also written: The first man * Adam was made a liuing soule, and the last Adam was made a quickening spirit. Gen.2,7.

46 Howbeit, that is not first which is spiritual, but that which is naturall, and then that which is spirituall.

47 The first man is of the earth, earthy, the second man is the Lord from heauen:

48 As is the earthy, such are they that are earthy: and as is the heauenly, such are they also that are heauenly.

49 And as we haue borne the image of the earthy, we shall also beare the image of the heauenly.

50 This say I brethren, that flesh and blood can not inherite the kingdome of God: neither doeth corruption inherite incorruption.

51 Beholde,

51 [b] Behold I tell you a myſterie. We ſhall all in deed riſe againe: but we ſhall not all be changed.

52 In a moment, in the twinkling of an eie, at the * laſt trompet (for * the trompet ſhall ſound) and the dead ſhal riſe againe incorruptible: and we ſhall be changed.

53 For this corruptible muſt doe on incorruption and this mortall doe on immortalitie.

54 And when this mortall hath done on immortalitie, then ſhall come to paſſe the ſaying that is written, Death is ſwallowed vp in victorie.

55 Death where is thy victory? death where is thy ſting?

56 And the ſting of death, is ſinne: and the power of ſinne is the Law.

57 But thanks be to God that hath giuen vs the victory by our Lord IESVS Chriſt.

58 Therefore my beloued brethren, be ſtable and vnmoueable: abounding in the worke of our Lord alwaies, knowing that your labour is not vaine in our Lord.

51 Beholde, I ſhew you a myſterie. We ſhall not all ſleepe, but we ſhall all be changed.

52 *In a moment, in the twincklyng of an eye, * at the laſt trumpe (for the trumpe ſhal blow) and the dead ſhall riſe incorruptible, and we ſhall be changed.* Mat.24.31. 1.Theſ.4.16. Ioan.5.28.

53 For this corruptible muſt put on incorruption, and this mortall muſt put on immortalitie.

54 When this corruptible ſhall haue put on incorruption, and this mortall ſhall haue put on immortalitie, then ſhall be brought to paſſe the ſaying that is written, Death is ſwallowed vp in victorie.

55 * O death, where is thy ſting? O hell, where is thy victorie?

56 The ſting of death is ſin, and the ſtrength of ſinne is the law.

57 But thankes be vnto God, which giueth vs the victorie through our Lord Ieſus Chriſt.

58 Therefore my beloued brethren, be ye ſtedfaſt, vnmoueable, alwaies abounding in the worke of the Lord, for as much as ye know that your labour is not in vaine in the Lord.

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. XV.

RHEM. 1 3 I deliuered vnto you.) This deliuerie in the Latine and Greeke importeth tradition, ſo by Tradition did the Apoſtles plant the Church in al truth, before they wrote any thing.

FVLKE. 1 The text is plaine, which I maruaile not, if your blinde eyes cannot ſee, that S. Paul deliuered the doctrine of Chriſtes death and reſurrection, according to the ſcriptures, he deliuered no vnwritten verities. Vnwritten verities.

RHEM. 2 10 Void, but I.) In him Gods grace is not void, that worketh by his free will according to the motion and direction of the ſame grace.

FVLKE. 2 It hath beene often anſwered, mans will is free from conſtraint, but not from the thraldome vnto ſinne. Therefore I may ſay, with S. Auguſtine. Why doe men preſume ſo much of the poſſibilitie of nature? it is wounded, it is maymed, it is vexed, it is loſt, it hath neede of a true confeſſion, and not of a falſe defence. De nat. & grat. Cap. 53. Free will made captiue or thrall auaileth to nothing but to ſinne, to iuſtice (except it be deliuered and holpen by God) it auaileth not. Cont. 2. ep. pel. lib. 3. Cap. 8. Freewill.

RHEM. 3 15 Falſe witnes of God.) So may we ſay, If the Cath. faith in al points be not true, then our firſt Apoſtles were falſe witneſſes, then hath our Countrie beleeued in vaine all this while, then are all our fathers dead in their ſinnes and periſhed, which (preſuppoſing Chriſt to be God) were the greateſt abſurditie in the world.

FVLKE. 3 Our firſt Apoſtles, were the Apoſtles of Chriſt and not of Gregorie. But although Gregorie, and Auguſtine, in all pointes did not teach the true faith to the Saxons, yet ſeeing they taught the true faith, in all pointes neceſſarie to ſaluation, our Countrey hath not beleeued in vaine, nor all our forefathers are dead in their ſinnes. True Apoſtles.

RHEM. 4. 41 Starre differeth.) The glorie of the bodies of Saincles ſhall not be all alike, but different in heauen according to mens merits.

FVLKE. 4 As the ſtarres differ in glorie, not according to their merites, but according to Gods gift in their creation: So the bodies of ſaincts ſhall differ in glory, not according to their merites, but according to Gods free gift in the reſurrection. Merits.

RHEM. 5 44 Spiritual body.) As to become ſpiritual doth not take away the ſubſtance of the body glorified: no more when Chriſtes body is ſaid to be in ſpirituall ſort in the Sacrament, doth it import the abſence of his true body, and ſubſtance.

FVLKE. 5 We acknowledge the true body and bloud of Chriſt, to be eaten, and drunke of the worthy receiuer after a ſpiritual maner. But your hereticall deuiſe of the preſence of his body carnally, and corporally in the Sacrament, deſtroyeth the truth and ſubſtance of his naturall body, which though it be now ſince his reſurrection a ſpirituall body, yet it reteyneth all eſſentiall properties of a true body, and ſo ſhall our bodies after the reſurrection, being made comformable to his glorious body. Phil. 3. 21. not be incircumſcriptible, inſenſible, without quantity, and dimenſion, and extenſion of place, or in many places at once, as you are inforced to affirme the body of Chriſt to be. Therefore as our bodies, being made ſpirituall, ſhall notwithſtanding be circumſcriptible, ſenſible, reteyning quantitie, and dimenſion, or ſpaces of place, and be in one oncly place at once, ſo is the body of Chriſt now glorified. The real preſence. The body of Chriſt.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. XV.

RHEM. 6 11 With me.) God vſeth not man as a brute beaſt or a blocke, but ſo worketh in him and by him that free will may concurre in euery action with his grace, which is alwaies, the principal. The heretikes to auoide this concurrence in working and labouring, tranſlate, which is with me, where the Apoſtle rather ſaith, which laboureth with me. Free will with grace. Heret. tranſlation.

FVLKE. 6 We acknowledge the concurrence of mans will, free from conſtraint, but not free to conſent to God, before it be enlarged by Chriſt. For our tranſlation, (beſide the right conſtruction, according to the phraſe,) S. Hierome is a warrant, which tranſlateth it Gratia dei quæ in me eſt. The grace of God which is in me lib. 2. adu. Iouinianum, and in Hier. Cap. 13. which alſo Rab. Maur. followeth in Hier. c. 13. lib. 6. and Gratia dei qua mecum eſt. Freewill. Caueling.

The grace of God which is with me, lib. 2. aduers. Pelag. & Ep. ad Principiam. The rest of your vaine cauils, are confuted in my defence of our translations. Chap. 10. sect. 1. 2. 3. 4. 5. 6.

RHEM. 7 32 Let vs eate and drinke.) S. Ambrose applyeth these words to our Christian Epicurians that takes away fasting and denie the merite thereof. How can we be saued (saith he) if we wash not away our sinnes by fasting, seeing the Scriptures say, fasting and almes deliuer from sinne? What are these new masters that exclude all merite of fasting? is not this the very voice of the heathen saying. Let vs eate and drinke to morrow we shall die? li. 10. Epist. ep. 82. Fasting is meritorious.

FVLKE. 7 An impudent slander, we take not away fasting, nor derogate any thing from the due estimation thereof, which S. Ambrose calleth merite. But that he acknowledgeth no merite, or desert of our works, to stande before Gods iudgement, his words are plaine, Exhort. ad virg. Every one is iustified by the Lord, not of workes, but of faith, for as the euent of destinie is not in our power: but such as chance hath brought, so the grace of our Lord is giuen, not as of merite of hire, but as of his will. Againe, Vnde mihi tantum meriti est &c. whence haue I so great merite, when mercy is my Crowne. And in the same Epistle ad Vercellenses, he saith, that vnto Gods iudgement, Onely faith shall accompany you. Iustice also shall be your companion, if faith goe before you. These places are sufficient to declare, that he speaketh of the fruites of faith and repentance, not of the proper causes of iustification and saluation, when he saith, we wash away our sinnes by fasting &c. Slander. Merits.

CHAP. XVI.

He prescribeth an order for their contributing to the Christians at Ierusalem, 3 promising to come vnto them. Of Timothee and of Apollos comming thither. 13 and so with exhortation, and diuers commendations, he endeth.

The 8. part Of the contributions.

AND concerning the collections that are made for the saincts, as I haue ordei ned to the churches of Galatia, so do ye also.

That is Sunday Hiero. q. 4. Hedibia. So quickly did the Christians keepe Sunday, holiday, and assembled, to Diuine Seruice on the same.

2 In the first of the Sabboth let euery one of you put a part with him selfe, laying vp what shall well like him: that not when I come, then collections be made.

3 And when I shall be present: whom you shall approoue by letters, them will I send to carie your grace into Hierusalem.

4 And if it bee worthie that I also goe, they shall goe with me.

5 And I will come to you, when I shall haue passed through Macedonia. for I will passe through Macedonia.

6 And with you perhaps I will abide, or will winter also: that you may bring me on my way whithersoeuer I goe.

7 For I will not now see you by the way, for I hope that I shall abide with you some litle time, if our Lord will permit.

8 But I will tary at Ephesus vntill Pentecost.

9 For a great doore and euident is opened vnto me: and many aduersaries.

10 And if Timothee come, se that he be without feare with you, for he worketh the worke of our Lord, as also I.

11 Let no man therefore despise him, but conduct ye him in peace: that he may come to me. for I expect him with the brethren:

12 And of brother Apollo I doe you to vnderstand, that I much intreated him, to come vnto you with the brethren: [c] and at all it was not his minde to come now, but he will come when he shall haue leisure.

[c] πάντως.

13 Watch ye, stand in the faith, do manfully, and be strengthened.

14 Let all your things be done in charity.

15 And I beseeche you brethren, you know the house of Stephanas, and of Fortunatus, that they are the first fruits of Achaia, and haue ordained them selues to the ministerie of the saincts:

16 That

C *Oncerning the * collection for the saincts, as I haue ordained in the Churches of Galatia, euen so doe ye,* * Or, gathering. Act. 11. 29.

2 Vpon the first of their Sabbothes, let euery one of you put aside by himselfe, laying vp as God hath prospered him, that then there be no gatherings when I come. ‖ Or, euery first day of the weeke.

3 When I am come, whomsoeuer ye shall allow by your letters, them will I send to bring your liberalitie vnto Hierusalem.

4 And if it be meete that I goe also, they shall goe with me.

5 I will come vnto you, after that I shal haue gone ouer Macedonia, (For I doe now passe thorough Macedonia.)

6 And it may be that I will abide, yea, or winter with you, that ye may bring me on my way, whithersoeuer I goe.

7 For I will not see you now in my passage, but I trust to abide a while with you, if the Lord suffer me.

8 I will tarry at Ephesus vntill ‖ Whitsuntide. ‖ Or Pentecost.

9 For a great doore and effectuall is opened vnto me, and there are many aduersaries.

10 If Timotheus come, see that ye may be without feare with you: for he worketh the worke of the Lord, as I doe.

11 Let no man therefore despise him, but conuey him foorth in peace, that he may come vnto me: for I looke for him with the brethren.

12 As touching our brother Apollo, I greatly desired him to come vnto you with the brethren, but his will was not at all to come at this time: but he wil come when he shall haue conuenient time.

13 Watch ye, stand ye fast in the faith, quite you like men, be strong.

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. XVI.

REM. I ‘ Pentecoſt.) The Heretikes and other new fangled ſtriue among them ſelues, whether Pentecoſt ſignifie here the terme of fiftie daies, or elſe the Iewes holy day ſo called. But it commeth not to their mindes that it is moſt like to be the feaſt of Whitſontide kept and inſtituted euen then by the Apoſtles, as appeareth by the Fathers. See S.Aug. ep.119. c.15. & 16. Ambr. in c.17.Lucæ.

VLLE. I That the feaſt of Pentecoſt, was not inſtituted and kept by the Apoſtles, as it was in the later time, it is manifeſt by the diſſention, that aroſe betweene Anicetus and Polycarpus, Victor and the eaſt churches, about the celebration of Easter, for whitſontide, followeth the accompt of Easter. If the Apoſtles had kept and inſtituted thoſe feaſtes, they ſhould haue beene vniformely kept of all, but there was no certaine order, of keeping theſe feaſtes, before the councel of Carthage 4.C.65. Neither do Ambroſe or Auguſtine ſay, that theſe feaſtes were inſtituted by the Apoſtles, as they were obſerued afterwarde. By this place, it can no more be proued, that Whitſontide was inſtituted & obſerued by the Apoſtles, then that the feaſt of vnleauened bread, was inſtituted and obſerued by them, of that which is written Act.20. 6. or the Iewiſh faſt Act.27.9. But the matter of feſtiuities, is not ſo great, that we wil ſtriue, one with another for them, as Victor did with the Biſhops of the Eaſt, and was countermaunded by them, and ſharply rebuked by other Biſhops of the Weſt, for his contention about matters vnneceſſarie. Euſeb. lib.5.C.25.26. The feaſt of Pentecoſt.

THE ARGVMENT OF THE SECOND EPISTLE TO THE CORINTHIANS.

HIM. I FOR the time when this Epiſtle was written, looke the Argument of the epiſtle to the Romanes: to wit, about the eighteenth yeere after his conuerſion, and our Lords paſſion, becauſe in the 11 Chapter he maketh mention of 14 yeeres, not onely after his Conuerſion, as to the Galathians, but alſo after his rapte, which ſeemeth to haue bene when he was at Hieruſalem Act.9.26. foure yeeres after his Conuerſion (Gal.1.18.) in a trance or exceſſe of mind, as he calleth it, Act.22.17. It was written at Troas (it is thought) and ſent by Titus, as we reade Chap.8. 1.Cor.11.2. Gal.2.1.

It is for the moſt part againſt thoſe faiſe Apoſtles whom in the firſt part of the firſt to the Corinthians, he noted, or rather ſpared, but now is conſtrained to deale openly againſt them, and to defend both his owne perſon which they ſought to bring into contempt, making way thereby to the correption of the Corinthians, and withall to maintaine the excellencie of the Miniſterie and Miniſters of the new Teſtament, aboue which they did magnifie the Miniſterie of the old Teſtament: bearing themſelues very high becauſe they were Iewes.

Againſt theſe therefore S Paul auoucheth the preeminent power of his Miniſterie, by which power alſo he giueth a pardon to the inceſtuous fornicator whom he excommunicated in the laſt Epiſtle, ſeeing now his penance, and againe threateneth to come and excommunicate thoſe that had greeuouſly ſinned and remained impenitent. Two chapters alſo he interpoſeth of the contributions to the Church of Hieruſalem, mentioned in his laſt, exhorting them to doe liberally, and alſo to haue all in a readines againſt his comming.

LKE. I The text is playne, that he conſenteth, that the Church ſhould pardon him, that was excommunicated 2. Cor.2.10. Pardon.

THE SECOND EPISTLE OF PAVL TO THE CORINTHIANS.

CHAP. I.

By his troubles in Aſia he comforteth them, and (againſt his aduerſaries the falſe Apoſtles of the Iewes) alledgeth to them the teſtimonie of his owne and alſo of their conſcience. 17 anſwering them that obiected lightnes againſt him, for not comming to Corinth according to his promis.

The tranſlation of Rhemes.

PAVL an Apoſtle of IESVS Chriſt by the wil of God,& Timothee our brother: to the Church of God that is at Corinthe, with all the ſaincts that are in al Achaia.

2 Grace vnto you and peace from God our father,and from our Lord IESVS Chriſt.

THE Epiſtle for a Martyr that is a Biſhop.

3 Bleſſed be the God and father of our Lord IESVS Chriſt,the father of mercies, & God of al comfort.

4 Who comforteth vs in al our tribulation: that we alſo may be able to comfort thē that are in al diſtreſſe, ᶜ by the exhortation wherewith we alſo are exhorted of God.

ᶜ διὰ τῆς παρακλήσεως ἧς παρακαλούμεθα.

5 For as the paſſions of Chriſt abound in vs: ſo alſo by Chriſt doth our cōfort abound.

6 And whether we be in tribulation: for your exhortation and ſaluation,whether we be exhorted,for your exhortation and ſaluation, which worketh the toleration of the ſame paſſions which we alſo do ſuffer.

7 And our hope is firme for you:knowing that as you are partakers of the paſſions, ſo ſhal you be of the conſolation alſo.

8 For we wil not haue you ignorant brethren : concerning our tribulation, which hapened in Aſia,that we were preſſed aboue meaſure aboue our power, ſo that it was tedious vnto vs euen to liue.

9 But we in our ſelues had the anſwer of death: that we be not truſting in our ſelues, but in God who raiſeth vp the dead.

10 Who hath deliuered and doth deliuer vs out of ſo great dangers: in whom we hope that he wil yet alſo deliuer vs.

11 You helping withal in praier for vs, that by many mens perſons, thanks for that gift which is in vs,may be giuen by many in our behalfe.

12 For our glorie is this, the teſtimonie of our conſcience, that in ſimplicity and ſinceritie of God, and not in carnal wiſedom, but in the grace of God we haue conuerſed in this world : and more aboundantly towardes you.

13 For we write no other things to you then that you haue read and knowe. And I hope that you ſhal know vnto the end.

14 As alſo you haue knowen vs in part, that we are your glory, as you alſo ours in the day of our Lord IESVS Chriſt.

15 And

The tranſlation of the Church of England.

PAul an Apoſtle of Ieſus Chriſt,by the will of God, and brother Timotheus, vnto the Church of God, which is at Corinthus,with all the ſaincts which are in al Achaia.

2 Grace be with you,and peace from God the father,and from the Lord Ieſus Chriſt.

3 * Bleſſed be God the father of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt, which is the father of mercies, and the God of al comfort: Ephe.1.3. 1.pet.1.3.

4 Which comforteth vs in al our tribulation, that we may be able to comfort them which are in al maner trouble,with the comfort wherewith we our ſelues are comforted of God.

5 For as the afflictiōs of Chriſt are plenteous in vs:euen ſo is our conſolation plenteous by Chriſt.

6 *Whether we be troubled,*it is for your conſolation & ſaluation,which ſaluation is wrought by the ſuffering of the ſame afflictions which we alſo ſuffer : or whether we be comforted it is for your conſolation and ſaluation, and our hope of you is ſtedfaſt :

7 Knowing that as ye are partakers of the afflictions, ſo ye ſhalbe partakers alſo of the conſolation.

8 For we would not,brethren,haue you ignorant of our trouble which came vnto vs in Aſia, that we were grieued out of meaſure, paſſing ſtrength, in ſo much that we were in great doubt,euen of life.

9 But we receiued the ſentence of death in our ſelues, that we ſhould not put our truſt in our ſelues,but in God,which raiſeth the dead.

10 Who deliuered vs from ſo great a death, and doeth deliuer:in whom we truſt that hereafter alſo he wil deliuer vs.

11 * You alſo helping together by prayer for vs, that for the benefites beſtowed vpon vs by the meanes of many perſons : thankes may be giuen of many on our behalfe. Rom.15.30.

12 For our reioicing is this, the teſtimony of our conſcience,that in ſimplicitie and godly pureneſſe, not with fleſhly wiſedome, but by the grace of God, we haue had our converſation in the world,and moſt of all to youwards.

13 For we write none other things vnto you then that ye read,and alſo that ye acknowledge: and I truſt you ſhall acknowledge vnto the end.

14 Euen as ye haue acknowledged vs partly, that we are your reioycing,euen as ye are ours in the day of the Lord Ieſus.

15 And

15 And in this confidence I would first haue come to you, that you might haue a second grace:

16 And by you passe into Macedonia, & againe from Macedonia come to you, and of you be brought on my way into Iewrie.

17 Whereas then I was thus minded, did I vse lightnes? Or the things that I mind, do I mind according to the flesh, that there be with me, It is and It is not?

18 But God is faithfull, because our preaching which was to you, there is not in it, ‖ It is, and It is not.

19 For the Sonne of God IESVS Christ, who by vs was preached among you, by me and Syluanus and Timothee, was not, It is, and It is not, but It is, was in him.

20 For all the promises of God that are, in him It is: therefore also by him, Amen to God, vnto our glorie.

21 And he that confirmeth vs with you in Christ, and that hath annointed vs, God:

22 Who also ‖ hath sealed vs, and giuen the pledge of the Spirit in our harts.

23 And I call God to witnesse vpon my soule, that sparing you, I came not any more to Corinth, 24 ‖ Not because we ouerrule your faith: but, we are helpers of your ioy. for in the faith you stand.

15 And in this confidence was I minded first to haue come vnto you, that he might haue had †one pleasure more:

† Or, the second time.

16 And to passe by you into Macedonia, and to come againe out of Macedonia vnto you, and to be led forth of you into Iurie.

17 When I therefore was thus minded, did I vse lightnesse? or mind I carnally those things which I minde, that with me should be yea, yea, and nay, nay?

18 Yet God is faithfull, for our preaching to you, was not yea, and nay.

19 For Gods sonne Iesus Christ, which was preached among you by vs, euen by me, and Syluanus and Timotheus, was not yea and nay, but in him it was yea.

20 For all the promises of God in him are yea, and are in him, Amen, vnto the glorie of God through vs.

21 And he which stablisheth vs with you in Christ, and hath annointed vs, is God

22 Which hath also sealed vs. and hath giuen the earnest of the spirit in our harts.

23 I call God for a record vnto my soule, that to spare you, I came not as yet vnto Corinthus.

24 Not that we be Lordes ouer your faith, but are helpers of your ioy: For by faith ye stand.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. I.

RHEM. 1 5 Passions of Christ.) All the afflictions of the faithfull be called Christs owne passions, not onely because they be suffered for him, but for that there is so straite coniunxion and communion betwixt him being the head, and euery of the liuing members of his body, which is the Church, that whatsoeuer is suffered by any one of the same, is counted as a piece of his owne passion. As likewise whatsoeuer good works be done to any of them or by any of them, be accepted as done to or by Christ himselfe. Which thing if the Protestants well weighed, they would not maruell that the Catholike Church attributeth such force of merite and satisfaction to the worke of holy men.

All our afflictions be Christs afflictions, for the coniunction betweene the head and the body.

FVLKE. 1 The communion betweene Christ and his members being rightly weighed prooueth not that any force of merite or satisfaction, is to be attributed to the works of holy men. It onely prooueth that such works are accepted of God for the righteousnes of Christ, which is imputed to all his members, not that their workes merite, iustice or satisfie.

Merite and satisfaction.

Merite.

Satisfaction.

RHEM. 2 5 The comfort abound.) Worldly men that see onely the exterior miseries and afflictions that Catholikes doe suffer being persecuted by the Heathen or Heretikes, deeme them exceeding miserable. but if they felt or could conceiue the abundance of consolation which Christ euer giueth according to the measure of their affliction, they would neuer wonder at the voluntarie toleration of what torments soeuer for Christs sake, but would wish rather themselues to be in any dungeon in England with the comfort that such haue from God, then to liue out of the Church in all the wealth of the world.

Worldly men feele not the comfort of afflicted Catholikes.

FVLKE. 2 The cause and not the punishment maketh Martyrs of God, and therefore the Papists suffering in England for horrible treason and rebellion, or for their heresie, may be brought into a fooles paradise, but neuer can haue the true comfort of spirit, that Gods children haue, which suffer for the truth, and for righteousnes.

Popish Martyrs, traitors.

RHEM. 3 11 You helping in prayer.) S. Paul knew that the helpe of other mens praiers was nothing derogatory to the office of Christs mediation intercession for him, nor to the hope that he had in God: and therefore he craueth the Corinthians aide herein as a support and succours for himselfe in the sight of God. With what reason or Scripture then, can the Protestants say that the praiers of Saincts be iniurious to Christ, or not to stand with the confidence we haue in him? As though it were more dishonour to God that we should vse the aide of Saincts in heauen, then of sinners in earth: or that the intercession of these our fellowes beneath, were more auailable then the prayers of those that be in the glorious sight of God aboue.

Intercession of Saincts or holy men for vs, no derogation to Christ. Hiero. cont. Vigil.

FVLKE. 3 The prayers of the faithfull in this life, haue testimony and warrant of the scripture, and therefore ought of charitie to be desired, and granted. So haue we not for inuocation of saincts, which is a sufficient reason, why we ought not to call vpon them. And it is iniurious to Christ, to make any more mediators in heauen, then Christ. For we haue but one mediator (saith S. Paul) the man Iesus Christ, when he speaketh expresly, of praiers and intercession, 1. Tim. 2. 5. Againe, they stand not with our confidence in Christ, seeing we cannot call vpon them, in whom we beleeue not, Rom. 10. 14. And our faith ought to be only in God by Christ, 1. Pet. 1. 21. By prayer to Saincts in heauen, we should ascribe vnto them, that which is proper to the diuinitie, to know our harts, and to heare so many mens prayers at once. Whether they pray for vs, because the Scripture doth not teach vs, we cannot define, we know the mediation, aduocation, and intercession of Christ, is sufficient for vs.

Inuocation of Saincts.

RHEM. 4 11 By many mens.) He meaneth that as the praiers of many ioyned together for him, shall be rather heard, then of any alone: so their common thanks giuing to God for granting their request, shall be more acceptable and glorious to God, then Publike prayers and fastes.

then any one mans thankes alone. Which thing doth much commend the holy Churches publike prayers, processions, stations, and pilgrimages, where so many meet and vniformely ioyne their prayers and lauds together vnto God.

FVLKE. 4 The thankesgiuing of many in the Church, is acceptable to God, but hereof it followeth not, that Idolatrous processions, stations and pilgrimage of Papists, be acceptable any more, then the like solemnities of Paganes and Turkes. — Processions, Stations, Pilgrimage.

RHEM. 5 14 Your glorie.) The Apostles, teachers and preachers that conuert countries or particular persons to Christ, and the peoples or parties by them conuerted, shall in the day of iudgement haue much mutuall ioy and glorie of and for eath other, one giuing to the other great matter of merite in this life, and of reward in the next. See. 1. Thess. 2. v. 19. — Their glorie in heauen that conuert other.

FVLKE. 5 The trauell of teachers, and the obedience of their hearers, giueth matter of reward, according to Gods mercifull promise, but not merite of worke, or reward in respect of merite. — Merite.

RHEM. 6 18 It is, it is not.) As he dischargeth himselfe of all other leuitie touching his promise or purpose of comming to them, so much more of all inconstancie in preaching Christs doctrine and faith. Wherein, one day to affirme, another day to denie, to dissent from his fellowes or from himselfe, to change euery yeere or in euery epistle the forme of his former teaching, to come daily with new deuises repugnant to his owne rules, were not agreeable to an Apostle and true teacher of Christ, but proper to false prophets and Heretikes. Whereof we haue notorious examples in the Protestants: who being destitute of the spirit of peace, concord, constancie, vnitie and veritie, as they vary from their owne writings which they retract, reforme or deforme continually, so both in their preachings and forme of Seruice, they are so restles, changeable, and repugnant to themselues, that if they were not kept in awe with much a doe, by temporall lawes or by the shame and rebuke of the world, they would coine vs euerie yeere or euery Parliament, new communions, new faiths, and new Christs, as you see by the manifold endeuours of the Puritans. And this to be the proper note of false Apostles and Heretikes, See in S. Irenæus, lib. 1. c. 18. & Tertul. de præscript. S. Basil. ep. 82. — The Protestants inconstancie in changing their writings, translations, seruice bookes, &c.

FVLKE. 6 They are not voyd of the spirit of peace, constancie, and veritie, that retract some of their writings, in which they perceiue, that they haue declined from the trueth. But seeing they confesse themselues to bee men that may be deceiued, they are indued with the spirit of humilitie, that retract their owne writings, and submit them to the trueth. So did S. Augustine writing speciall bookes of retractations. But concerning the substance of doctrine necessary to saluation, God be praised, the Protestants continue constant without any alteration or change. As for ceremonies and formes of seruice, they may be changed so often as the Church shall see cause. Yet haue we made no great alteration these fortie yeeres: and therefore our doctrine being alwaies the same, agreeable to the Scriptures, the note of false Apostles and Heretikes, doth by no meanes agree to vs, but rather to Papists. Who as their doctrine is contrarie to the Scriptures, so are they driuen daily to inuent new shifts of descant to couer their shame, as their new doctrine of merite of condignitie, of the first and second iustification, of the shedding of Christs blood in the sacrifice of the Masse, and many other like fantasies, vnknowen or vnallowed of their teachers the Schoole men, beside the olde controuersies of the Schoole men themselues, and of the Diuines and Canonists, among which, that famous Question is not yet decided: whether the Councell be aboue the Pope, or the Pope aboue the Councell. And whether of them cannot erre, to omit your new Portoises, Primars, Callenders, and alteration of the whole course of the yeere, whereby it is manifest, that in chaunges and alterations you goe farre beyond vs. — Constancie in faith. Change in forme and ceremonies.

RHEM. 7 22 Hath sealed.) The learned Diuines proone by this place, and by the like in the fourth to the Ephesians, that the Sacrament of Baptisme doth not only giue grace, but imprinteth and sealeth the soule of the baptized, with a spirituall signe, marke, badge or token, which can neuer be blotted out, neither by sinne, heresie, apostasie, nor other waies, but remaineth for euer in man for the cognisance of his Christendome, and for distinction from others which were neuer of Christes folde, by which also he is as it were consecrated and deputed to God, made capable and partaker of the rights of the Church, and subiect to her lawes and discipline. See S. Hierome in Ephes. 4. S. Ambrose Lib. 1. de Sp. sancto, cap. 6. S. Cyrill Hierosol. Catechesi. 17. at the ende, and S. Dionysius Areopag. cap. 2. Eccl. Hierarch. The which fathers expresse that spirituall signe by diuers agreeable names, which the Church and most Diuines, after S. Augustine, call the character of Baptisme. by the truth and force of which spirituall note or marke of the soule, he specially conuinceth the Donatists, that the said Sacrament though giuen and ministred by Heretikes or Schismatikes, or who else so euer, can neuer be reiterated. See ep. 57. & lib 6. cont. Donatist. cap. 1. & lib. 2. cont. Parmenianum cap. 13. As the like indeleble characters giuen also by the Sacraments of Confirmation and orders, doe make those also irreiterable and neuer to be receiued but once. Whereas all other Sacraments sauing these three, may be often receiued of the selfe same person. And that holy orders cannot be iterated. See S. Augustine lib. 2. cont. Parmen. c. 13 li. de bono coniug. c. 24. and S. Gregorie lib. 2. Regist. ep. 32. The like of Confirmation is decreed in the most ancient Councell Tarracon, cap. 6. Finally that this character is giuen onely by these said three Sacraments, and is the cause that none of them can be in any man repeated or reiterated, see the decrees of the Councels Florentine and Trent. Which yet is no new deuise of them, as the Heretikes falsly affirme, but agreeable (as you see) both to the Scriptures and also to the ancient fathers and Councels. — Eph. 4. 30. The indeleble character of Baptisme, Confirmation, Holy Orders. See Conc. Tarrac. 2. Concil.

FVLKE. 7 The Apostle speaketh manifestly of the spirituall and inward seale of Gods spirit, whereof baptisme is an outward seale in our bodies, and giueth not grace of the worke wrought. for then the baptisme of Heretikes out of the Church should giue the grace of regeneration, before the baptised come into the Church, which is a foule absurditie. August. ep. 50. And although the baptisme of Christ is not to be repeated, being giuen in the Church, or out of the Church, yet hauing no vertue but in the Church: yet the popish fantasie of the indeleble character, hath no ground in the Scripture. And it were a monstrous absurditie, to hold that hee that hath vtterly, maliciously, and aduisedly, renounced Christianitie, blasphemed Christ, and circumcised himselfe to be a Iew, or a Mahometist, should still retaine this character of baptisme, as a cognisance of his Christendome. In deed there is a difference of him from one that was neuer baptized, for his case is more damnable and vnrecouerable, Heb. 6. And in that he was once consecrated to God, and hath not ignorantly nor of infirmitie, but wilfully and maliciously reiected his profession, he hath no interest in the right of the Church, neither can he be renewed by repentance. — The worke wrought. Indeleble character. Apostasie.

FVLKE. 7 S. Hierome in 4. ad Ephes. doth not referre the seale of the spirit to baptisme. In the short Comment. that goeth vnder his name, he saith: You haue receiued the seale of the holy ghost, in the day of your baptisme you began to haue a new seale, but that this seale is indeleble, he saith not. S. Ambrose proueth, that we are sealed not onely in body by the water, but also in heart by the holy Ghost, but that the seale of baptisme by water is indeleble, he saith not, nor any thing to that effect. Cyrillus hath words sounding to the contrarie. If thou doest counterfeit, nauerthelesse, men do baptise thee, but the spirit doth not baptise thee. But if thou commest of faith, men truly do minister that which may be seene, and with all the holy ghost doth worke great things inuisible. Againe, Thou shalt receiue armour, terrible to the diuels, which armour if thou shalt not cast away, thou shalt haue a seale vpon thy soule, vnto which the the diuell will not come. Dionyse hath nothing to the purpose. Thus you delude your Reader commonly with blinde quotations.

S. Auguſtine in deede doth righdly conuince the Donatiſtes, that the ſacrament of Baptiſme ought not to be reiterated, becauſe it is the ſeale or character of regeneration, which being once giuen, by Gods ordinance is not to be repeated, the like he ſayth of ordination. But the generall Councell of Nice, decreed contrary to his opinion, of them that came from the Nouatians, that they ſhould be ordeyned againe, and ſo continue in the Clergie, Can. 8. Likewiſe of them that were Clerkes among the Paulianiſtes and Cataphryges, if they were found blameleſſe and vnreprooueable, that they ſhould be ordained agayne by a Biſhop of the Catholike Church. Can. 19. As for confirmation by impoſition of hands, S. Auguſtine doubteth not, but it might be reiterated, becauſe it was no Sacrament, but prayer ouer a man. De baptiſm. cont. Donatiſt. lib. 3. cap. 16. Neither hereof doth follow, nor of any thing that he ſayth, the indeleble character, which a man cannot looſe by any apoſtaſie and wilful renouncing of Chriſtian religion. For confirmation, you quote the Councell of Tarracon which is of good antiquitie, yet not moſt ancient, for it was holden about 500. yeeres after Chriſt, & yet there is no ſuch matter in the acts of that Councell. Gratian indeed citeth ſuch a decree which is not there to bee found, therefore it is either forged, or els taken out of ſome other Councell of Tarracon of later tyme. And therefore as your conceipt of indeleble character, hath no iote in the Scriptures to maintaine it, ſo hath it no teſtimonie of the ancient fathers and Councels to auow it.

RHEM. 8 24 Not becauſe we ouerrule.) Caluin and his ſeditious Sectaries with other like which deſpiſe dominion, as S. Iude deſcribeth ſuch, would by this place deliuer themſelues from all yoke of ſpirituall Magiſtrates and Rulers: namely, that they be ſubiect to no man touching their faith, or for the examination and trial of their doctrine, but to God and his word only. And no maruel that the malefactors and rebels of the Church would come to no tribunal but Gods, that ſo they may remaine vnpuniſhed at leaſt during this life. For though the Scriptures plainely condemne their hereſies, yet they could writhe themſelues out by falſe gloſes, conſtructions, corruptions, and denials of the bookes to be Canonical, if there were no lawes or iudicial ſentence of men to rule and repreſſe them.

The Caluiniſte will be ſubiect to no tribunall in earth, for tuitall of their religion.

Notwithſtanding then theſe words of S. Paul, whereby only tyrannical, inſolent, and proud behauiour and indiſcrete rigour of Prelates or Apoſtles towards their flocke is noted, as alſo in the firſt of S. Peter. c. 5. (the Greeke word in theſe places, and in the Goſpel, Mt. 20. 25. Mr. 10. 42 ſignifying lordly and inſolent dominion: yet he had and exerciſed iuſt rule, preeminence and prelacie ouer them, not onely for their life, but alſo and principally touching their faith. for he might and did call them to account for the ſame, and excommunicated heretikes for forſaking their faith. 1. Cor. 4, 5. 2. Cor. 10, 4. 13, 10. 1. Tim. 1, 20. FVLKE. 8 This is nothing els but a lewd and ſenſeleſſe ſlander of Caluin and vs, that we deſpiſe lordſhip, becauſe we wil not be ſubiect to the tyranny of Antichriſt: that would be Lord of our faith, and arrogateth vnto himſelfe auctoritie, to make new articles of fayth, which haue no ground or warrant in the word of God. But Caluine did willingly acknowledge all auctoritie of the miniſters of the Church, which the Scripture doth allow vnto them, and both practiſed, and ſubmitted himſelfe to the diſcipline of the Church, and the lawfull gouernours thereof, although he would not yeeld vnto the tyrannicall yoke of the Pope, who is neither ſoueraigne of the Church, nor any true member of the ſame. Yea, Caluin and we ſubmit our ſelues, not only to the auctoritie of the Church, but alſo of the Ciuile magiſtrates to be puniſhed, if we ſhal be found to teach or doe any thing contrary to the doctrine of fayth, receyued and approoued by the Church, where as the Popiſh clergy, in cauſes of religion, will not be ſubiect to the temporal gouernors, iudgement, and correction.

CHAP. II.

Proſecuting the true cauſe which in the laſt chapter he gaue of his not comming, 6 he pardoneth now after ſome part of penance him that for inceſt he excõmunicated in the laſt epiſtle, requiring them obediently to conſent thereunto. 12 Then, of his going from Troas into Macedonia, God euery where giuing him triumph.

AND I haue determined with my ſelfe this ſame thing, not to come to you agayne in ſorow.

2 For if I make you ſorie: and who is it that can make me glad, but he that is made ſorie by me?

3 And this ſame I wrote to you: that I may not, when I come, haue ſorow vpon ſorow, of the which I ought to reioyce: truſting in you all, that my ioy is the ioy of you all.

4 For of much tribulation and anguiſh of hart I wrote to you by many teares: not that you ſhould be made ſory: but that you may know what charitie I haue more aboũdantly toward you.

5 And if any man hath made ſorowfull, not me hath he made ſorowfull, but in part, that BVT I determined this in my ſelfe, that I would not come agayne to you in heauineſſe.

2 For if I make you ſory, who is he that maketh me glad, but the ſame which is made ſorie by me?

3 And I wrote this ſame vnto you, leſt when I came, I ſhould take heauines of them of whom I ought to reioice, hauing confidence in you al, that my ioy, is the ioy of you all.

4 For in great affliction and anguiſh of heart I wrote vnto you with many teares: not that yee ſhould be made ſory, but that ye might perceiue the loue which I haue moſt aboundantly vnto you.

5 But if any man hath cauſed ſorow, the ſame hath not made me ſory, but partly, leaſt I ſhould ouer-that I burden not all you.

6 To him that is such a one, ‖ this rebuke sufficeth that is giuen of many:

7 So that contrarywise you should rather pardon and comfort him, lest perhaps such an one be swallowed vp with ouer great sorow.

8 For the which cause ‖ I beseech you that you confirme charitie toward him.

9 For therfore also haue I written that I may know the experiment of you, whether in all things you be ‖ obedient.

10 And whom you haue pardoned any thing, ‖ I also. For, my selfe also that which ‘I pardoned, if I pardoned any thing, ‖ for you ‖ in the person of Christ.

11 That we be not ‖ circumuented of Satan, for we are not ignoraunt of his cogitations.

12 And when I was come to Troas for the Gospel of Christ, and a doore was opened vnto me in our Lord, 13 I had no rest in my spirit, for that I found not Titus my brother, but bidding the farewel, I went forth into Macedonia.

14 And thanks be to God, who alwayes triumpheth vs in Christ IESVS, and manifesteth the odour of his knowledge by vs in eucry place.

15 For we are the good odour of Christ vnto God in them that are saued, & in them that perish.

16 To some in deed the odour of death vnto death: but to others the odour of life vnto life. And to these things who is so sufficient?

17 For we are not as very many, ‖ adulterating the worde of God, but of sinceritie, and as of God, before God, in Christ we speake.

ouergrieue you all.

6 It is sufficient vnto the same man that he was rebuked of many.

7 So that now contrarywise ye ought rather to forgiue him, and comfort him, least that same person should bee swallowed vp with ouer much beauinesse.

8 Wherefore, I pray you, that you would confirme your loue towards him.

9 For to this ende also did I write, that I might know the proofe of you, whether ye be obedient in all things.

10 To whom ye forgiue any thing, I forgiue also: for if I forgaue any thing, to whom I forgaue it, for your sakes forgaue I it in the sight of Christ,

11 Least we should be circumuented of Satan: for we are not ignorant of his deuises.

12 Furthermore, when I came to Troada, to preach Christes Gospell, and a doore was opened vnto me of the Lord,

13 I had no rest in my spirite, because I found not Titus my brother, but when I had taken my leaue of them, I went away into Macedonia.

14 Now thankes be vnto God, which alwaies causeth vs to triumph in Christ, and openeth the sauour of his knowledge by vs in euery place.

15 For we are vnto God the sweete sauour of Christ in them that are saued, and in them which perish.

16 To the one are we *the sauour of death, vnto death: and vnto the other, the sauour of life, vnto life: * And who is meete vnto these things?* Rom.11.16.

17 For we are not as many are, which chop and change with the word of God: but as of pureneſſe, but as of God, in the sight of God, speake we ‖ in Christ. ‖ Or, of Chri.

MARGINALL NOTES. CHAP. II.

RHEM. 1 10 ‘I pardoned.) Κεχάρισμαι. Though he did great Penance (saith Theodoret) yet he calleth this pardoning, χάριν, a grace, because his sinne was greater then his penance.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. II.

RHEM. 2 6 This rebuke sufficeth.) This Corinthian for incest was excommunicated and put to penance by the Apostle, as appeareth in the former Epist. c. 5. And here order is giuen for his absolution and pardoning. Wherein first we haue a plaine example and proofe of the Apostolike power, there of binding, and here of loosing: there of punishing, here of pardoning: there of retaining sinnes, here of remission. Secondly we may hereby prooue that not onely amendment, ceasing to sinne, or repentance in hart and before God alone, is alwaies ynough to obtaine ful reconcilement, whereas we see here his separation also from the faithful, and the Sacraments, and from al companie or dealing with other Christian men, besides other bodily affliction: al which called of the Apostle before interitus carnis, the destruction of the flesh, and named here Rebuke, *or (as the * Greeke word also importeth) mulct, penaltie, correction, chastisement, were enioyned him by the Apostles commandement in the face of the Church, and by the offender patiently susteined so long. Thirdly we see that it lieth in the handes of the Apostle, Bishops, and spirituall Magistrates, to measure the time of such penance or discipline, not onely according to the weight of the offence committed, but also according to the weakues of the persons punished, and other respectes of time and place, as to their wisedom shal be thought most agreeable to the parties good, and the Churches edification. Lastly by this whole handling of the offenders case, we may refute the wicked heresie of the Protestants, that would make the simple beleeue, no punishment of a mans owne person for sinnes committed, nor penance enioyned by the Church, nor any paines temporall or satisfaction for our life past, to be necessarie, but al such things to be superfluous, because Christ hath satisfied ynough for all. Which Epicurian doctrine is refelled, not onely hereby, but also by the Prophets, Iohn the Baptistes, Christes, and the Apostles preaching of penance and condigne workes or fruites of repentance, to euery man in his owne person, and not in Christes person onely: and by the whole life and most plaine speaches and penitential canons of the holy doctors and Councels prescribing times of penance, commending penance, enioyning penance, and continually vsing the word satisfaction in this case throughout al their workes, as our Aduersaries themselues can not but confesse.*

This

FVLKE.2 This Corinthian was excommunicated vntill his repentance ſhould appeere, which when it was ſufficiently declared to the ſatisfaction of the Church, the Apoſtle taketh order for his abſolution and reſtitution, reuerſing the band of excommunication wherein he ſtood bound. And this in deede is a plaine example of the power of the Apoſtles, and of the church, in binding and looſing, reteining and remitting of ſinne, which is puniſhing and pardoning, according to the diſcipline of the Church. We acknowledge alſo, that in ſuch open and notorious ſinnes, whereby the Church is offended, inward repentance is not ſufficient for reconcilement, but after ſharpe diſcipline, the penitent muſt in outward behauiour of ſorrow and humble confeſſion, make ſome peece of ſatisfaction to the Church. For bodily puniſhment or pecuniarie mulct, whereby you ſet the diſcipline of the Church to ſale, it may be laid on by the diſcretion of the Chriſtian magiſtrate, but it is not proper to the diſcipline of the Church, neither can it be gathered by the word ἐπιπλήξ, which ſignifieth rebuke, reprehenſion, chiding, &c. as the text is plaine. Satisfaction of the church.

Thirdly, we acknowledge that the gouernours of the Church are to meaſure the time of correction, as it may be moſt agreeable to the parties good, and the Churches edification. But your laſt collection of the whole handling of this offenders caſe is an impudent and malicious ſlander of the Proteſtants, that all eccleſiaſticall diſcipline is ſuperfluous, becauſe Chriſt hath ſatisfied enough for all. We affirme in deede, that no puniſhment laid vpon any mans perſon, either by himſelfe, or by the Church, is any ſatisfaction to the iuſtice of God for his ſinnes, becauſe Chriſt onely hath and was able to make ſuch ſatisfaction: yet temporall puniſhment for chaſtiſement, eccleſiaſticall diſcipline, for ſatisfaction of the Church, and amendment of open offenders are neceſſarie by the ordinance of Gods word, and in our Church are practiſed by vs. Slander. Satisfaction to God.

The doctrine of the Prophets, Iohn Baptiſt, Chriſt, and the Apoſtles, of repentance to be ſhewed by euerie man in his owne perſon, we acknowledge: but not to ſatisfie the iuſtice of God, which was performed onely by Ieſus Chriſt, who in his owne perſon hath purged vs from our ſinnes, and is ſet downe at the right hand of magnificence in the higheſt, Heb. 1. 3. and from thence ſhall come to iudge all them, that vnder hypocriticall colour, goe about to derogate from the glorie of his perfect redemption.

That which the ancient fathers and councels doe ſpeake and preſcribe of times of repentance, and enioyning of penance, perteineth to the diſcipline of the Church, which we acknowledge. And the word ſatisfaction which they vſe, ſignifieth the performance of the ſame to the ſatisfaction of the Church, and not to the iuſtice of God: as though all puniſhment due for our ſinnes were not ſatisfied by Chriſt, who was ſmitten for our ſinnes, and wounded for our tranſgreſſions, and by whoſe ſtripes we are healed. Eſa. 53. 1. Pet. 2. 24.

RHEM. 8 I beſeech you.) They which at the beginning did beare to much with the offender, and ſeemed loth to haue him excommunicated in ſo auſtere manner: yet through their obedience to the Apoſtle became on the otherſide ſo rigorous, and ſo farre deteſted the malefactor after he was excommunicated, that the Apoſtle now meaning to abſolue him, was glad to intreat and command them alſo to accept him to their companie and grace againe. Zeale againſt the excommunicate.

RHEM. 3 9 Obedient.) Though in the laſt chapter he diſcharged himſelfe of tyrannical dominion ouer them, yet he chalengeth their obedience in al things as their Paſtor and Superior, and conſequently in this point of receiuing to mercie, the penitent Corinthian. Whereby we ſee, that as the power and authoritie of excommunicating, ſo of abſoluing alſo was in S. Paules perſon, though both were to be done in the face of the Church: elſhe would not haue commanded or required their obedience. The Apoſtle chalengeth their obedience to his Eccleſiaſticall authoritie.

FVLKE.3 The Apoſtle chalengeth their obedience in all things that were agreeable to the commandement of God, and not abſolutely in any thing that he ſhould command of his owne will. For if I my ſelfe (ſaith he) preach an other goſpell, let me be holden accurſed. Gal. 1. Obedience.

RHEM. 4 10 I alſo.) The Heretikes and others not wel founded in the Scriptures and antiquitie, maruel at the Popes pardons, counting them either fruitles or vnlawful or no elder then S. Gregorie. But in deede the authoritie, power, and right of them is of Chriſtes owne word and commiſſion, principally giuen to Peter, and ſo afterward to al the Apoſtles, and in their perſons to all the cheefe Paſtors of the Church, when it was ſaid, Whatſoeuer you looſe in earth ſhal be looſed in heauen. By which commiſſion the holy Biſhops of old did cut of large peeces of penance enioyned to offenders, and gaue peace, grace, or indulgence, before they had accompliſhed the meaſure of their appointed or deſerued puniſhment. and that is to giue pardon. And ſo S. Paul here did towardes the Corinthian, whom he abſoiled of meere grace and mercie, as the word donare or condonare doth ſignifie, when he might longer haue kept him in penance and temporal affliction for his offence. Whereof though he had alreadie before God inwardly repented, yet was he iuſtly holden vnder this correction for ſome ſatisfaction of his fault paſt, during the Apoſtles pleaſure. To remit then the temporal puniſhment or chaſtiſement due to ſinners after the offence it ſelfe and the guilt thereof be forgiuen of God, is an indulgence or pardon. which the principall Magiſtrates of Gods Church by Chriſtes warrant and the Apoſtles example, haue euer done, being no leſſe authoriſed to pardon then to puniſh, and by imitation of our Maiſter (who forgaue the aduoutereſſe and diuers other offenders, not onely their ſinnes, but alſo often the temporal puniſhments due for the ſame) are as muchgiuen to mercie as to iuſtice. The authoritie of Indulgences whereupon it is grounded. Mat. 18. 18. Cypria. ep. 13. 14. 15. χαρίσασθαι. See Theodoret in hunc loc. What is a pardon or indulgence. Io. 8, 11.

FVLKE.4 Al men may worthily maruell at the high pride of Antichriſt, that preſumeth by his buls to giue pardons of ſo many thouſands yeeres, or els plenarie for all ſinnes a pœna & culpa both from the paine and the fault, which is not ſo ancient as S. Gregories time by many hundred yeeres. For the firſt inſtitutor of Iubely pardons was Boniface the eight, Anno 1300. And not long after, the councell of Vienna, found many abuſes in pardoners, & made orders for them which tooke little place, becauſe their occupation was ſo greatly for the popes profit. But becauſe you goe about to eſtabliſh them by auctoritie of ſcripture: firſt it is manifeſt that the auctoritie of binding and looſing, remitting and reteining of ſinnes, perteineth generally to all the apoſtles alike, and to euery paſtor in his cure: And therefore Allen himſelfe confeſſeth, that the pope hath no more power to remit ſinnes then euery ſimple prieſt. Yea we attribute a great deale more power (ſaith he) to any ſimple and baſe prieſt in this caſe, and by the force of the ſacrament of penance, then we doe to the higheſt pope or patriach in the world out of the ſacrament in his booke of pardons. cap. 2. Secondly, concerning the power of binding and looſing in diſcipline, we acknowledge that the church hath power to releaſe or remit and pardon ſuch exerciſe of humiliation and penance, as is appointed by the ſame, for trial of the repentance of notorious offenders. So did Cyprian and the churches of Affrica with him, when they ſawe it moſt conuenient for the edifying of the church, and confirming of the parties to endure perſecution that was at hand. But this maketh nothing for the popes pardons that are bought and ſolde for money, beſide his vſurpation of pardoning not onely the penalties, but alſo the ſinnes, as I haue prooued ſufficiently againſt Allen in my confutation of his booke before named. But where you ſay S. Paul might longer haue kept this offender in temporall puniſhment, when his repentance was ſufficiently prooued and declared, you ſpeake beſide the booke. As alſo, when you ſay (he Pardons. Iubelies.

was iustly holden vnder correction for some satisfaction of his fault past during the apostles pleasure) you would ascribe vnto him a tyrannicall power, from which he was most free, to holde men in punishment during his pleasure. But he acknowledgeth that his power was to edifie, and not to destroy, and therefore fearing least he should be preuented by Satan, to the destruction of him whom he desired to saue, he sheweth that it is high time to reconcile the offender: and saith this rebuke is sufficient that was giuen of many, therefore the church ought to be satisfied therewith. Wherefore here is not properly any pardon of longer time appointed, but release and loosing of the censure and bond of excommunication. Yet you will say that the apostle for his pleasure, notwithstanding any doubt of Satans preuention, notwithstanding this rebuke was sufficient, might still haue kept him in temporall affliction, which were as great tyranny as any could be. As for satisfaction to Gods iustice for his fault past, the Scripture knoweth no such, neither doth Theodoret once mention any such matter, but rather the contrarie, as appeareth by his wotds vpon the sixt verse, which I haue set downe sect. 1. He sheweth that his repentance (though it were great) was no satisfaction to God, seeing his reconciliation which was in the name of God is called grace, which must be free and without all respect of merit or satisfaction. Therefore a Christian indulgence and pardon is not a remission and pardon of temporall punishment due to the iustice of God for sinnes by God forgiuen: but either a declaration and assurance of Gods remission of sinnes, most freely for Christes sake, to all them that are truely penitent: or els a release of the censure of the church to them that haue shewed tokens of repentance and sorrow for their sinnes, sufficient for the satisfaction of the church, that by the euill example was offended. As for sickenesse and other temporall scourges, wherewith God chastiseth his children for their reformation, and not for satisfying of his iustice, all the popes pardons that euer were, are not able to release one fitte of an ague, much lesse any thing due to Gods iustice not satisfied by Christ. Where you say Christ forgaue the adulteresse, not onely her sinnes, but also temporall punishment due for the same: first it is vnfitly gathered that he forgaue the punishment due by the law for adulterie, because he did not condemne her, being not appointed to execute such ciuill and temporall punishment. He forgaue the theefe vpon the crosse, but he did not deliuer him from execution. Secondly, it is fondly collected of that extraordinarie example, what the seruants of Christ must doe, or may doe at their pleasure, hauig a rule whom to cast out, and whom to receiue, whose sinnes to binde, and whose to loose. Satisfaction.

RHEM. 5 10 For you.) *Theodoret vpon this place saith that the Apostle gaue this pardon to the Corinthian at the intercession of the blessed men Timotheus & Titus. And we may read in sundrie places, of S. Cyprian namely, that Indulgences or remissions were giuen in the primitiue Church by the mediation of holy Confessors or Martyrs, and by communicating the satisfactorie workes of one to an other, to which end they gaue their letters to Bishops in the behalfe of diuers their Christian brethen, a thing most agreeable to the mutual entercourse that is betweene the members of Christes mystical body, and very answerable to Gods iustice, which by supply of the one sort that aboundeth, standeth entire in respect of the other sort also that wanteth. In which kinde the Apostle confesseth that himselfe by his suffering and tribulations, supplieth the wantes of such passions as Christ hath to suffer, not in his owne person, but in his body, which is his Church. Whereupon we inferre most assurely, that the satisfactorie and penal workes of holy Saincts suffered in this life, be communicable and applicable to the vse of other faithfull men their fellow-members in our Lord, and to be dispensed according to euery mans necessitie and deseruing, by them whom Christ hath constituted ouer his familie, and hath made the dispensers of his treasures. Indulgences or pardons in the primitiue church. Cypr. ioca ciuan. 2. Cor. 8. Col. 1. 24.

FVLKE. 5 That remissions were granted in the Primitiue church sometimes at the request of the Confessors and Martyrs, it is true, yet so, that they were admonished also, not to be too pitiful in making such requests whereby the rigor of the discipline without iust cause might be weakened, as appeereth by Cyprian. Ep. 11. where he writeth to the Martyrs and Confessors for the same purpose. But where you say those remissions and indulgences were granted by communicating the satisfactorie workes of one to another, citing the Epistles of Cyprian, it is an impudent forgerie, as many other you commit, for there is no such thing in these epistles. And where you say they gaue their letters to that end to Bishops in the behalfe of diuers their Christian brethren: the truth is, they gaue their letters of request for the restitution of such as had fallen, but not to communicate the satisfactorie workes of one to an other. Ancient pardons and remissions. Communicating of satisfaction and merits.

Cyprian writing to the Martyrs about their letters, saith: Whereas you directed your letters vnto me, in which you required that your desires might be examined, and that peace might be giuen to certaine that had fallen, when after the persecution should be ended, we should begin to be gathered togither againe with the Clergie, they contrarie to the law of the Gospel, and also contrary to your honourable petition before repentance performed, before confession made of a most greeuous and extreme offence, before hand was laid on by the bishop and the clergie vnto repentance, were bold to offer peace to them that were fallen, and to giue them the Eucharistie, that is, to prophane the holy body of our Lord. Ep. 11. You see plainelie their letters were of petition and desire, and not of communicating their satisfactorie workes. Or if you will needes say, without warrant, they were of communicating their satisfactorie workes, you cannot be ignorant what Cyprian writeth of these letters in Ep. 15. which you cite: that without discretion and examination of euerie person, thousands of letters were daily giuen contrary to the law of the gospell, by the Martyrs and Confessors which were corrupted and drawen to giue them by the ambitious and importunate intreatie of such as had polluted themselues with wicked sacrifices. That such communication of satisfactorie works is agreeable to the intercourse of Christs members, and the iustice of God, you cite 2. Corinth. 8. Where the apostle speaketh of the mutuall communication of Gods graces and gifts, not of satisfactorie works, as we shall declare more at large when we come to that text and your note vpon it. But where the Apostle confesseth the want of such passions as Christ had to suffer in his members, he is farre from that blasphemie that Christ should want the satisfactorie workes of his seruants to supplie the want of his passion. And therefore you can neuer in anie lawfull forme or argument inferre either that any works of men are satisfactorie to Gods iustice, or that they are communicable or applicable to others, or that the pope or any other hath the dispensing or application of them. Make your syllogismes when you dare, you blasphemous heretiks, and the world shall see how assuredly you inferre these things.

RHEM. 6 10 In the person of Christ.) For that many might of ignorance or pride reproue the practise of Gods Church and her Officers, or deny the Apostles authoritie to be so great ouer mens soules as to punish & to pardon in this sort, S. Paul doth purposely and precisely tell them that he doth giue pardon as Christes Vicar, or as bearing his person in this case: and therfore that no man may maruel of his power herein, except he thinke that Christes power, authoritie and commission is not sufficient to release temporal punishment due to sinners. And this to be the proper meaning of these wordes, In the person of Christ, and not as the Protestants would haue it (the better to auoide the former conclusion of the Apostles giuing indulgence) In the face or sight of Christ, you may easily vnderstand by the Apostles like insinuation of Christes power, when he committed this offender to Satan, affirming that he gaue that sentence in the name and with the vertue or power of our Lord IESVS Al pardon remission the vertue name of Ch & ye 2 Cor. 5. 1. Cor. 5.

IESVS CHRIST. In all which cases the Protestants blindnes is exceeding great, who cannot see that this is not the way to extoll Christes power, to deny it to his Priests, seeing the Apostle chalengeth it by that that Christ hath such power, and that himselfe doth it in his name, vertue, and person. So now in this, and in no other name, give Popes and Bishops their pardons. Which pertaining to releasing only of temporall punishment due after the sinne and eternall punishment be forgiuen, is not so great a matter as the remission of the sinne it selfe: which yet the Priests by expresse commission do also remit.* Hereticall translation.

FVLKE. 6 It is well that you confesse that Christ hath more vicars in earth then S. Peter and his successors. But as for our translation, the circumstance of the text doth rather require that the Apostle did pardon, not of any priuate corrupt affection, but sincerely in the sight of Christ: yet doe we neither condemne your translation, or mislike the sense. That the ministers in the person of Christ doe binde and loose, remit and retaine sinnes. But that our translation is not hereticall, the ancient fathers doe testifie which approoue it. Theodoret expounding these wordes, saith, I doe this (saith he) Christ beholding and ratifying that which is done. Chrysostome saith in 2. Corinth. Hom. 3. What is in the face of Christ? either after God, or vnto the glorie of Christ. Oecumenius vpon this place saith? Doing this according to Christ, and doing this as it were in the sight of Christ, or vnto the glorie of Christ, that his name and person may be glorified, seeing the benignitie of his disciples is the glorie of Christ. These fathers of the Greeke Church were as like to vnderstand the Greeke phrase as any other, at leastwise they discharge vs of hereticall translation. That Popes pardons release not onely temporall punishment, you shall be conuicted by the Popes pardons themselues. Pope Boniface the eight in his grand and first Iubilee pardon that euer was granted, doth grant, Non solum plenam &c. Not onely full and large pardon, but a most full pardon of all their sinnes. And many other pardons doe testifie that the Pope doth grant pardon not onely of many thousand yeeres and lents of penance, but also remission of the seuenth part, or the third part of all their sinnes, yea the full remission of all their sinnes. As is to be seene in a printed pardon granted by Pope Leo the tenth Anno 1513. to the hospitall of S. Spiritus in saxia almæ vrbis. In whose name he presumeth those things it is not materiall, but who gaue him the auctoritie. As for the power to remit all sinnes granted to euery priest, by Allens confession, perteineth nothing to the Popes pardons. Christes vicars. Cauillings. Popish pardons.

RHEM. 7 11 Circumuented of Satan.) We may see hereby, that the dispensation of such discipline, and the releasing of the same, be put into the power and handes of Gods ministers, to deale more or lesse rigorously, to pardon sooner or later, punish longer or shorter while, as shal be thought best to their wisdom. for the end of al such correction or pardoning must be the saluation of the parties soul, as the Apostle noted 1. Cor. 5, 5. Which to some, and some certaine times, may be better procured by rigour of discipline then by indulgence, to some others, by lenitie and humane dealing (so pardoning of penance is called in old Councels) rather then by ouermuch chastisement. for consideration whereof, in some ages of the Church, much discipline, great penance and satisfaction was both enioyned and also willingly sustained, and then was the lesse pardoning and fewer indulgences, because in that voluntarie vse and acceptation of punishment, and great zeale and feruor of spirit, euery man fulfilled his penance, and few asked pardon. Now in the fall of deuotion and lothsomnes that men commonly haue to do great penance, though the sinnes be far greater then euer before, yet our holy mother the Church knowing with the Apostle the cogitations of Satan, how he would in this delicate time, driue men either to desperation, or to forsake Christ and his Church and al hope of saluation, rather then they would enter into the course of canonicall discipline, enioyneth smal penance, and seldome vseth extremitie with offenders as the holy Bishops of the primitie Church did, but condescending to the weaknes of her children, pardoneth exceeding often and much, not onely al enioyned penance, but also al or great part of what punishment temporal soeuer due or deserued, either in this world or in the next. As for the Heretikes which neither like the Churches lenitie and pardoning in these daies, nor the old rigor of the primitiue Church, they be like to the Iewes that condemned Iohn the Baptist of austeritie, and Christ of too much freedom and libertie: not knowing nor liking in deed either Christs ordinance and comission in binding or loosing, or his prouidence in the gouernment of the church.* All binding and loosing must be vsed to the parties saluation. Conc. Nic. can. 12. Ancyran. can 2. & 5. The great penance in the primitiue church. Why more pardons and Indulgences now then in old time. Mat. 11, 18.

FVLKE. 7 By the circumstance of the text it is manifest, that the earnest and heartie repentance of the partie bound, being sufficiently knowne, is the cause that should moue the Church to release the bond of excommunication. So decreeth the councell of Nice. Can. 11. That chiefly their mindes and fruites of repentance must be obserued, and they that shew their repentance, not onely in wordes, but also in truth, the bishop is appointed to deale more gently with them, then that they should tarie the time of trial enioyned them. So by the second Can. of the Ancyran councell, the bishop being priuie to the labour, humilitie, and mildenes of such Deacons as had fallen in persecution, may remit somwhat of the seueritie of the discipline toward them. In the first Canon it is said: That the bishop must haue his libertie, that considering the conuersation of euery one of them that had eaten in the idols temples, he appoint vnto them a forme and rule of conuersation, that is, that he deale more gently, appointing to some according to the maner of their life, a shorter time of repentance, to other a longer, as shall be necessary for their correction: and let their former conuersation, and their later of all these to be considered, and let the gentlenesse of the priest moderate it selfe about them. By these Canons it appeereth, that the heartie repentance and speedie reformation of the offenders is the onely cause that should moue them to deale more gently, and to grant remission. Christian absolution and pardon.

Therefore the practise of the Popish church is preposterous, and contrarie to the ancient discipline of the Church, which confessing the sinnes of this time to be farre greater, with the fall of deuotion, and lothsomnesse that men commonly haue to doe great penance, is so free of her pardons in this time to all that will pay for them, and sometime offereth them when no man will desire them, nor pay for them. Whereas the generall councell of Nice decreed, that they which made no great accompt of their sinne, and thought it sufficient for them that they came into the Church, should in any wise fulfill the times appointed, and not bee receiued except it were at their death. Can. 11. & 12. It is not therefore the wisedome of the popish Church, but the couetousnesse of the Pope, that in latter daies haue granted such monstrous pardons for thousands and hundred thousands of yeeres, and lents, beside full remission of all sinnes. Whose insatiable symonie, seeing the popish church approoueth she sheweth her selfe to be rather a baud vnto sinne, then a fauorable mother, who if she spare the rodde, by Salomons iudgement, hateth her children. But all this glosse is nothing els but a shameles shift to colour the pride, couetousnesse, and tyranny of Antichrist, who if hee were a bishop, as he is a bitesheepe, should not arrogate more auctoritie in pardoning then his fellow bishops. But hee limiting them to their fortie daies pardons, is lauish himselfe of his tenne thousands of yeeres, by what Scripture? by what example of the primitiue Church doth hee either restraine them, or grant such libertie to himselfe? seeing it was said to all Apostles of the discipline of the Church, whatsoeuer you shall binde or loose, shall be bound and loosed in heauen. Mat. 18. Popish pardon.

As for our allowing of ancient rigor, or present lenitie, it is according to the scripture, and the practise of the Primitiue Church whatsoeuer you fallsly auow to the contrary. For that moderation must be obserued, that neither men by too much remission be emboldened to sinne, nor by ouermuch seueritie be swallowed vp of sorrow, and so become a pray for the deuill. But of pardons, who would require at my handes a larger discourse, I remit him to my confutation of Allens booke of pardons. Slander.

RHEM. 8 17 Adulterating.) The Greeke word signifieth to make commoditie of the word of God, as vulgar Vintners doe of their wine. Whereby is expressed the peculiar trade of al Heretikes, and exceeding proper to the Protestants, that so corrupt Scriptures by mixture of their owne phantasies, by false translations, glosses, colourable and pleasant commentaries, to deceiue the tast of the simple, as tauerners and tapsters doe, to make their wines salable by manifolde artificial deceits. The Apostles contrariwise, as all Catholikes, deliuer the Scriptures and vtter the word of God sincerely and entirely, in the same sense and sort as the fathers left them to the Church, interpreting them by the same spirit by which they were written or spoken. καπηλεύοντες. The Heretikes corrupting of the Scripture.

FVLKE. 8 That you slander vs with all, is most true of your selues, as in my defence of our translation, and in the confutation of these your slanderous and heretical notes, I haue shewed abundantly. That we follow, (beside the euident wordes of the text) the interpretation of the ancient writers in all places almost of difference betwixt vs, it is a good argument that we doe interpret the Scriptures by the same spirit by which they were written. When you doe nothing else but choppe and change, to deceiue the ignorant with your vaine glosses and heretical annotations, cleane contrarie both to the wordes and meaning of the holie Scriptures. Slander. Interpretation of the scripture.

CHAP. III.

Lest the Iudaical false Apostles should obiect againe that he praiseth himselfe, he saith that the Corinthians are his commendation: and they in their harts being iustified by his ministerie, he thereof inferreth that the ministers of the new Testament are farre more glorious then they of the old, 12 and our people more lightned then theirs.

BEGIN we againe to commend our selues? or do we neede (as certaine) Epistles of commendation to you, or from you?

2 Our Epistle you are, written in our hartes, which is knowen and read of al men:

3 Being manifested that you are ‖ the epistle of Christ, ministred by vs, and written not with inke, but with the Spirite of the liuing God: not in tables of stone, but in the tables carnall of the hart.

The Epistle vpon the 12. Sunday after Pentecost.

4 And such confidence we haue by Christ to God.

5 Not that we be sufficient to thinke any thing ‖ of our selues, as of our selues: but our sufficiencie is of God.

6 Who also hath made vs meete ministers of the new Testament: not in the letter, but in the Spirit. For ‖ the letter killeth: but the Spirit quickneth.

7 And if the ministration of death with letters figured in stones, was in glorie, so that the children of Israël could not behold the face of Moyses for the glorie of his countenaunce, that is made voide:

8 How shal not the ministration of the Spirit be more in glorie?

9 For if the ministration of damnation be in glorie: ‖ much more the ministerie of iustice aboundeth in glorie.

10 For neither was it glorified, which in this part was glorious, by reason of the excelling glorie.

11 For if that which is made void, is by glorie: much more that which abideth, is in glorie.

12 Hauing therefore such hope, we vse much confidence:

13 And

DO we begin to commend our selues againe? Or neede we, as some other, Epistles of commendation vnto you? or letters of commendation from you?

2 Ye are our Epistle written in our heartes, † vnderstoode and read of all men: † Or, known.

3 For as much as ye are manifestly declared that ye are the Epistle of Christ ministred by vs, written not with inke, but with the spirit of the liuing God, not in stony tables, but in fleshy tables of the hart.

4 Such trust haue we through Christ to Godward.

5 Not that we are sufficient of our selues, to thinke any thing, as of our selues: but our sufficiencie is of God:

6 Which hath made vs able ministers of the new testament, not of the letter, but of the spirit: for the letter killeth, but the spirit giueth life.

7 But if the ministration of death in letters figured in stones, was with glory, so that the children of Israel could not stedfastly behold the face of Moses for the glorie of his countenance, which glory is done away:

8 How shall not the ministration of the spirit be much more in glory?

9 For if the ministration of condemnation be glorie: much more doeth the ministration of righteousnesse exceed in glorie.

10 For euen that which was glorified, was not glorified in this behalfe, because of the exceeding glory.

11 For if that which is put away was glorious: much more that which remaineth, is glorious.

12 Seeing then that we haue such hope, we vse great boldnes of speach:

13 And

Exod.34.33. 13 And *not as Moyſes put a vele vpon his face, that the children of Iſraël might not behold his face, which is made voide,

14 But their ſenſes were dulled. For vntil this preſent day, ‖the ſelf ſame vele in the lecture of the old teſtamēt remaineth vnreuealed (becauſe in Chriſt it is made voide)

15 But vntil this preſent day, when Moyſes is read, a vele is put vpon their hart.

16 But when we ſhal be conuerted to our Lord, the vele ſhal be taken away.

Ioh.4.24. 17 And * our Lord is a Spirit. And where the Spirit of our Lord is, there is ‖ libertie.

18 But we al, beholding the glorie of our Lord with face reuealed, are transformed into the ſame image from glorie vnto glorie, as of our Lords Spirit.

13 And not as Moſes, which put a vaile ouer his face, that the children of Iſrael ſhould not ſtedfaſtly looke into the ende of that which is aboliſhed.

14 But their mindes were † blinded: for vntill this day remaineth the ſame vaile vntaken away in the reading of the old teſtament, which vaile is put away in Chriſt.

15 But euen vnto this day when Moſes is read, the vaile is laid vpon their heart.

16 Neuertheleſſe, when it ſhall turne to the Lord, the vaile ſhall be taken away.

17  The Lord is the ſpirit: and where the ſpirit of the Lord* is, there is libertie. Iohn 4.24.

18 But we all beholding as in a myrrour, the glory of the Lorde, with his face open, are changed vnto the ſame image from glory to glorie, euen as of the ſpirite of the Lord.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. III.

RHEM. 1 3. The Epiſtle of Chriſt.) S. Paul and other holy writers of Scriptures did ſet downe many things in writing, by penne, inke, and paper, al which be of the Holy Ghoſt: but the ſpecial and proper booke of Chriſtes truth and Goſpel, is not the external writing in thoſe dead creatures, but in the hartes of the faithful, being the proper ſubiecte of theſe truthes and graces preached in the new Teſtament, and the habitacle of the Holy Ghoſt. In the which booke of faithful mens hartes S. Paul wrote diuers things not vttered in any Epiſtle: as ſundry of the Apoſtles wrote the Chriſtian religion in the hartes of their hearers onely, and in other material bookes not at al. Whereof S. Irenæus li.3.c.4. ſaith, What and if the Apoſtles alſo had left no Scriptures, ought we not to folow the order of the tradition, which they deliuered vnto them to whom they committed the Churches? to the which ordinance many nations of thoſe barbarous people that haue beleeued in Chriſt, do conſent, without letter or inke, hauing ſaluation written in their hartes, and keeping diligently the tradition of the elders. And S. Hierom, (cont. Io. Hieroſ. c.9. ad Pam.) In the Creede of our faith and hope, which being deliuered by tradition from the Apoſtles, is not written in paper and inke, but in the tables carnal of the hart. And this is the Churches booke alſo, whereby and wherein ſhe keepeth faithfully al truth written in the hartes of thoſe to whom the Apoſtles did preach, with the like diligence as ſhe keepeth and preſerueth the other booke which is of holy Scriptures, from al corruption of Heretikes and other iniuries.

The Apoſtles wrote the Goſpel in mens hartes much more then in paper.

Scripture written, and Tradition vnwritten.

PVLKE. 1 The Corinthians were Chriſtes teſtimoniall letter, of S. Paules ſinceritie and trauell, in their conuerſion vnto the faith, which was the word of Gods ſpirit, by his miniſterie. But may we thereof conclude, that the writings of the Apoſtles, are not the ſpecial and proper Booke of Chriſtes trueth and Goſpel? O horrible blaſphemie. Verely the doctrine of trueth, and the Goſpel of Chriſt, is truely and perfectly conteined in them. And although the ſame doctrine be not effectuall to ſaluation, neither as it is read, nor as it is preached, but when it is beleeued, yet the trueth thereof, is preſerued in all ages of the Church, in the certaine Canon of the holy Scriptures, and not in the ſlipperie memorie of men onely. Neither are you euer able to proue, that S. Paule did write any thing in any mans heart, which is not written in the holy Scriptures. And though diuers of the Apoſtles did write no Bookes at all, yet they preached nothing, but that which was and is conteined in the Scriptures of the olde and new teſtament. For that which they then preached (ſayth Irenæus) afterward, by the will of God, they deliuered to vs in the Scriptures, which ſhould be the foundation and piller of our faith, lib.3.c.1. Therefore he meaneth not by the other ſaying, Cap 4. that either the Scriptures are needles, or that the Church had any tradition, beſide the Scriptures. For although ſome beleeued, that knew neuer a letter of the boooke, yet they were inſtructed by them that learned the trueth out of the Scriptures. And although the Creede, whereof Hierom ſpeaketh, be not written in that forme of wordes, yet the doctrine of the whole, and of euery article, is moſt cleerly conteined and expreſſed in the holy Scriptures, and writings of the Apoſtles. Therefore the Church of Chriſt hath no doctrine written in mens hearts by Gods ſpirite, but that which is written in the Scriptures by Gods ſpirite, by which, all that men beleeue, muſt be examined and tried, whether it be the doctrine of the ſpirite of God or no. So did the Berhæans daily examine the doctrine of the Apoſtles by the Scriptures, which they coulde not haue done, if the Apoſtles had taught any doctrine, which was not conteined in the Scriptures. Act. 17.11.

The Apoſtles writings are the proper booke of Chriſt.

Sufficiencie of the Scriptures.

RHEM. 2 5 Of our ſelues.) This maketh firſt againſt the Heretikes called Pelagians, that hold our meritorious actions or cogitations to be of free wil onely, and not of Gods ſpecial grace. Secondly againſt the Proteſtants, who on the contrary ſide referre al to God, and take away mans freedom and proper motion in his thoughts and doings: the Apoſtle confeſſing our good cogitations to be but owne, but not as comming of our ſelues, but of God.

Gods grace and free wil both muſt concurre.

PVLKE. 2 This maketh againſt the Papiſtes, which defend their preparations, without the grace of God. But againſt vs, it maketh no whit, who referre all to God, as the Apoſtle doth, and take away all freedom of mans will vnto good, vntill it be enlarged by the ſpirit of God. Yet doe we acknowledge mans will to be free from compulſion, and his cogitations to be his owne, but all goodnes in them, to be of Gods meere gift and grace, Iam. 1.17. Chryſoſtome vpon this text ſaith: I ſpeake not this as hauing confidence, that to thinke any good, it is partly ours, and partly Gods, but I doe attribute and aſcribe the whole to him. In 2. Corinth. Hom. 6.

Preparatory workes. Freewil.

RHEM. 3 6 The letter killeth.) As the letter of the old law not truely vnderſtood, not referred to Chriſt, commaunding and not giuing grace and ſpirit to fulfil that which was commaunded, did by occaſion kil the carnal Iew: ſo the letter of the new Teſtament not truely taken or expounded by the Spirit of Chriſt (which is onely in his Church) killeth the Heretikes: who alſo being carnal and void of ſpirit, gaineth nothing by the externall precepts or good leſſons of the Scriptures, but rather taketh hurt by the ſame. See S. Auguſtine to. 10. Serm. 70. & 100. de tempore. & li. de Sp. & lit. c. 5.6. & ſeq.

The letter killeth both Iew and Heretike.

PVLKE. 3 Although it be true, that the Scripture of the new Teſtament and the preaching alſo, to the reprobate is the sauour of death, yet the Apostle meaneth not by the letter, the Scripture, either of the old or newe Testament, but the Law or commaundement written, without power to keepe it: and by the spirite, the grace of Gods spirite, exhibited in the new Testament, effectuall to all, that beleeue the doctrine of the Gospell. The Scripture is not the letter that killeth.

RHEM. 4. 9 Much more.) The preeminence of the new Testament and of the priesthood or Ministerie thereof before the old, is, that the new, by al her Sacraments and priests as ministers immediate of grace and remission of sinnes, doth so ex opere operato giue the spirit of life and charitie into the hartes of the faithfull, as the old did giue the letter or externall act of the Law. The preeminence of the new Testament Sacraments, &c.

FVLKE. 4 That the Sacraments of the new Testament, of the worke wrought doe giue the spirite of life and charitie, it can not be concluded out of the text, more then that preaching of the Gospell doth giue grace or the spirite of life, of the worke wrought. But the spirite of God, by the ministerie of preaching, and the Sacraments, doth most freely giue life and grace in Gods elect, and in none other. For if this preeminence were in the Sacraments, Ex opere operato, S. Paul neglected a great part of this preeminence, whereof he glorieth, in that he baptized so few, among the Corinthians. 1. Cor. 1. Therefore S. Luke saith, that at the preaching of the Apostles, so many beleeued as were before ordeined vnto life Act. 13. 48. The worke wrought.

RHEM. 5 14 The selfe same vele.) As the Iewes reading the old Testament, by reason of their blindnes (which God for the punishment of their incredulitie suffereth to remaine as a couer vpon their eies and hartes) can not see Christ in the Scriptures which they daily heare read in their Synagogs, but shal, when they beleeue in him and haue the couer removed, perceiue all to be most plainly done & spoken of him in their law & Scriptures: euen so Heretiks hauing (as S. Augustine noteth) a farre greater couer of blindnes and incredulitie ouer their hartes in respect of the Catholike Church which they impugne, then the Iewes haue concerning Christ, can not see, though they read or heare the Scriptures read neuer so much, the maruelous euidence of the Catholike Church and truth in all points: but when they shall returne againe to the obedience of the same Church, they shall finde the Scriptures most cleere for her and her doctrine, and shall wonder at their former blindnes. The Heretikes more blinde in not seeing the Church, then the Iewes in not seeing Christ.

Aug. in Psal. 30. Conc. 2.

FVLKE. 5 No maruaile, though the Papistes can see neither Christ nor his Church, in the Scriptures, because they seeke neither of both in the Scriptures, but as the Donatists did in their owne presumptions, and slander the Scriptures of insufficiencie and imperfectnes, as the Valentinians did, saying, they cannot be vnderstoode of them that know not their tradition. Lib. 3. Cap. 2. The sufficiencie of the Scriptures RHEM. 17 Libertie.) The spirit and grace of God in the new Testament dischargeth vs of the bondage of the Lawe and sinne, but it is not a warrant to vs of fleshly licence, as S. Peter writeth: nor dischargeth Christians of their obedience to order, law, and power of Magistrates spirituall or temporall, as some Heretikes of these daies do seditiously teach. True Christian libertie. 1. FVLKE. 1 In the text is neuer a worde to prooue that persecutions are meritorious, either of increase of grace in this life, or of glory in the life to come.

Tribulations meritorious of glorie.

In Pſ. 93. Expoſit. num. 1. 13.

FVLKE. 4 You are not able to bring one of the ancient Fathers interpreting this place, which gathereth of it, that the perſecutions of the godly, are meritorious. Neither doth S. Auguſtine ſay, that tribulation is the meritorious cauſe of eternall life or reſt, when he ſaith, that it is ſalable, or to be bought thereby, but cleane contrarie, as when God by the Prophet, calleth men to buy without money, Eſay. 55. 1. Thou heareſt (ſaith Auguſtine) that thou haſt labour here, but hearken, what kinde of reſt he promiſeth: canſt thou conceiue it? If thou couldeſt conceiue it in thy minde, thou ſhouldeſt ſee, that thou laboureſt nothing vnto compenſation, or to the valew of that which is giuen thee. Heare him which in part did ſee it, in part which ſaid, I know now in part, what ſaith the Apoſtle? The preſent temporall lightnes of our tribulation &c. Againe, when he talketh of the ſale you ſpeake of: that you may know he ſpeaketh not of the merite of condignitie, he ſaith. What labor is worthie of eternall reſt? if thou wilt compare the truth and iudge the truth, eternall reſt is rightly bought with eternall labour. This is true, but be not afraide, God is merciful. In the end repeating this text, he ſaith. Behold how great a price we giue, as it were one graine, or one ſhale, to receiue eternall treaſures. A graine, or ſhale of labour, to incredible reſt, as it is ſaid: it worketh an incredible and exceeding great weight of eternall glorie. Therefore this working is not of the merite of the labour, but of the infinite mercie of him, that giueth eternall life, to all them whom he iuſtifieth freely by faith. And therefore S. Auguſtine ſaith alſo

Merite.

Small pieces of coine ſo called.

also in the same treatise of the persecutions of the iust. Toleret &c. Let the iust tolerate the vniust, let the temporall labour of the iust, tolerate the temporall impunitie of the vniust, but yet the iust man liueth by faith. For there is none other iustice of a man in this life, but to liue by faith which worketh by loue: for if he liue by faith, let him beleeue also, that he shall haue rest after his labor, and they shall haue eternall torments after their present ioy. What faces haue these men to say, that S. Augustine maketh these tribulations, the meritorious cause of eternall life? when he acknowledgeth none other iustice of a man in this life, but to liue by faith: where as if tribulations so suffered, should be the meritorious cause of eternall life, they should be the iustice of a man in this life, but that are they not, but faith onely which worketh by loue, as S. Augustine iudgeth. That which you cite out of Sap. 10. chap. though it be no canonicall scripture, yet it is falsely translated. For whether it be God or wisedome, that hath rendred to iust men the reward of their labours (meaning the deliuerance of the children of Israel out of Egypt) he rewarded the labors of his children as of mercie, not of hirelings, as of merite.

CHAP. V.

That after death of the body the soule may to heauen: therefore, although naturally we abhorre death, by grace he desireth it rather: 9 in considering of Christs iust iudgement, liuing as in the sight of God, yea & of their consciences. 12 Which he speaketh not to praise himselfe, but because of his Aduersaries who did glorie in carnall respects: but he and the other Apostles regard nothing but their reconciliation vnto God by Christ, and to reconcile others also, as being his legates for that purpose.

FOR we knowe that if our earthly house of this habitation be dissolued, that wee haue a building of God, a house not made with hand, eternall in heauen.

2 For in this also doe we grone, desirous to be ouerclothed with our habitation that is from heauen:

3 Yet so, if wee be found clothed, not naked.

4 Eor we also that are in this tabernacle, grone being burdened: because we would not be spoiled, but ouerclothed, that that which is mortall, might be swallowed vp of life.

5 And he that maketh vs to this same, is God, who hath giuen vs the pledge of the Spirit.

6 Being bolde therefore alwaies, and knowing that while we are in the bodie, we are pilgrimes from God,

7 (For wee walke by faith and not by sight)

8 But we are bold, and haue a good will to be pilgrimes rather from the body, and ‡to be present with our Lord.

9 And therefore we endeuour, whether absent or present, to please him.

10 For *wee must all be manifested before the iudgement seat of Christ, that euerie one may receiue ‖the proper things of the body, according as he hath done, ‖either good or euill.

11 Knowing therefore the feare of our Lord we vse persuasion to men: but to God we are manifest. And I hope also that in your consciences we are manifest.

12 We commend not our selues againe to you, but giue you occasion to glory for vs: that you may haue against them that glorie in face, and not in hart.

13 For whether we exceed in minde, to God: or whether we be sober, to you.

14 For the charitie of Christ vrgeth vs: iudging this, that if one died for all, then all were dead.

15 And

‡ This place proueth that the Saints departed now since Christ, sleepe not till the day of iudgemẽt, and that they be not holden in any seuerall place of rest from the fruition of God till the resurrection of their bodies, but that they be present with God in their soules. Rom.14.10.

FOR we knowe that if our earthly house of this tabernacle were destroyed, wee haue a building of God, euen an habitation not made with hands, but eternall in heauen. Apoc.16.15.

2 For therefore sigh we, desiring vpon our clothing to be further clothed with our house which is from heauen.

3 *If so be that we being clothed shall not be found naked. Apoc.16.15.

4 For we that are in this tabernacle, sigh, being burdened, because we would not put off our clothing, but vpon the same put on more, that mortalitie might be swallowed vp of life.

5 He that hath ordeined vs for the selfe same thing, is God, which hath also giuen vnto vs the earnest of the spirit.

6 Therfore we are alway of good cheare, and know that as long as we are at home in the body, we are absent from the Lord.

7 (For we walke by faith, not after outward appearance.)

8 Neuertheless, we are of good comfort, and had rather to be absent from the body, and to be present with the Lord.

9 Wherefore, whether it be at home, or from home, we endeuour our selues to be accepted vnto him.

10 For we must al appeare before the iudgement seate of Christ, that euery man may receiue the workes of his body, according to that he hath done, whether it be good or bad.* Rom.14.10.

11 Knowing therfore the feare of the Lord, we perswade men, for we are knowen wel ynough vnto God: I trust also that wee are knowen in your consciences.

12 For wee commend not our selues againe vnto you, but giue you an occasion to glory on our behalfe, that ye may haue somwhat against them which glory in the face and not in the hart.

13 For if we be too feruent, to God are we too feruent: Or if we keepe measure, for your cause keepe we measure.

14 For the loue of Christ constraineth vs, because we thus iudge, that if one died for all, then were all dead.

15 And

15 And Christ died for al: that they also which liue, may not now liue to themselues, but to him that died for them and rose againe.

16 Therefore we from henceforth know no man according to the flesh: And if wee haue knowen Christ according to the flesh: but now we know him more.

17 If then any be in Christ a new creature: the old are passed, behold * all things are made new.

Esa.43.19. Apoc.21.5.

18 But all of God, who hath reconciled vs to himselfe by Christ: and hath giuen ‖ vs the ministerie of reconciliation.

19 For God in deede was in Christ, reconciling the world to himselfe, not imputing to them their sinnes, and hath put in vs the word of reconciliation.

20 For Christ therefore we are legates, God as it were exhorting by vs. For Christ we beseech you, be reconciled to God.

21 Him that knew no sinne, for vs he made ‘sinne: that wee might be made ‖ the iustice of God in him.

‘That is to say, a sacrifice and an host for sinne. See the last annot. of this chapter.

15 And he died for all, that they which liue, should not henceforth liue vnto themselues, but vnto him which died for them, and rose againe.

16 Wherefore henceforth know we no man after the flesh: Insomuch though we haue knowen Christ after the flesh, now yet henceforth know we him no more.

17 Therefore if any man* be in Christ, he is a new creature: Old things are passed away, behold, all things are become new. Esa.43.19. Apoc.21.5.

18 And all things are of God, which hath reconciled vs vnto himself by Iesus Christ, & hath giuen to vs the ministerie of reconciliation.

19 For God was in Christ, reconciling the world to himselfe, not imputing their sinnes vnto them, and hath committed to vs the preaching of the atonement.

20 Now then are we messengers for Christ, euen as though God did beseech you through vs: so pray we you in Christs steade, that ye be reconciled vnto God.

21 For he hath made him to be sinne for vs, which knew no sinne, that we should be made the righteousnes of God in him.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. V.

RHEM. 1 10 The preper things of his body.) S. Augustine (Enchirid. c.110) obiecteth this speach of the Apostle, as in the person of such as deny the prayers, almes, and sacrifices of the liuing to be auaileable for the dead, and he answereth as followeth. This practise (saith he) of Gods Church in the commendation of the dead, is nothing repugnant to the sentence of the Apostle, where he saith, that we shall all stand before the iudgement seate of Christ, that euerie one may receiue according to his deserts in the bodie, either good or euill. For, in his life and before death he deserued this, that these workes after his death might be profitable vnto him, for in deede they bee not profitable for all men. and why so? but because of the difference and diuersitie of mens liues whiles they were in the flesh. The like he hath in diuers other places. August. lib. de Præd. Sanct. cap. 12. & ad Dulcit. q. 2. And so hath S. Denys. c. 7. Ec. Hierarch. The obiection against prayers for the dead, answered by S. Augustine.

FVLKE. 1 S. Augustine holding that errour without auctoritie of Scripture, that prayers were profitable to the dead, is driuen to inuent a distinction, how they may seeme to stand with this text, and not be contrarie to the Scriptures. But you falsifie his wordes in translating this text: for hee saith not: that euery one may receiue according to his deserts in the body, but vt referat vnusquisq; secundum ea quæ per corpus gessit, that euerie man may receiue according to those things which he hath done in his body. But euen as S. Augustine in the place by you quoted de prædest. sanct. cap. 10. (where he speaketh nothing of prayers for the dead) vrgeth the wordes of this text against the Palagianes which said, that infantes were iustified not by meere grace, but by workes, which God foreseeth that they should haue done, if they had liued longer. Gessit inquit, non adiungit vel gesturus fuit. The Apostle saith which he hath done, he addeth not which he would haue done: So we may vrge the wordes of the text against prayers, almes, or any other workes done for the dead. The Apostle saith, euery man shall receiue according as he himselfe hath done, he addeth not, as other men shall doe for him. But S. Dionyse Hier. Ec. cap 7. proueth by this text, that no prayers for the dead are auaileable, but such as are made by the minister of the Church in faith, and doe rather declare what God hath done according to his promises, then desire any thing which he hath not done alreadie, as in the sentence of excommunication and absolution: where the minister is but an interpreter of Gods iudgement. Therefore the godly Bishop (saith he) asketh those things which God hath promised, and which are acceptable to him, and which doubtlesse are to be granted, wherein he both declareth to God the good disposition of his mind, resembling the goodnesse of God, who loueth them that are good, and to them that are present, declareth as an interpreter, the gifts which shall be vnto the holy. So also the Bishops haue auctoritie of separation, as iiiterpreters of Gods iudgements, not that the most wise Godhead (that I may vse a gentle terme) doth follow as a minister, their vnreasonable affections, but that they doe separate those which according to their worthines, are iudged already of God, by that spirit which is the auctor of the mysteries, moning them as interpreters. This was his iudgement of prayers for the dead in that time, when the error was not yet confirmed. The effect of them is also so set forth by S. Augustine, that they which should seeme to haue most neede of them, haue least helpe by them: that they auaile no further, then a mans good works deserued while he liued: secondly they auaile (saith he) either that there may be full releasse, or that their damnation may be more tolerable. But whether there be any purgatorie paines after this life, S. Augustine saith, it may be doubted, and either be found, or be still hidden. De octo quæst. dulc. quæst. 1. But in his latter daies writing against the Pelagianes, he vtterly denieth any third place to be found in the Scripture cont. Pel. Hyrac. lib. 3. So he writeth de verb. apost. ser. 14. This he calleth the kingdome, this damnation with the deuill: there is no middle place left, where you may set infants. Iudgement shalbe of the quicke and the dead, some shalbe at the right hand, some at the left hand, I know none other. Thou that bringest in the midd. place, get thee from the middest, let not him offend thee which seeketh the right hand, & admonisheth thee to depart from the middest, but goe not to the left hand. If therefore there shalbe the right hand and the left hand, and we know no middle place in the Gospell, behold in the right hand is the kingdome of heauen. That which he speaketh against the middle place inuented by the Pelagians for infants, may as truely be said of Purgatorie inuented for them, to whom prayers should be profitable. In the Scriptures we finde no third place: in the Gospell we know no middle place, but Heauen and hell. Seeing therefore Prayers for the dead. Purgatorie.

therefore neither the place, nor the prayers haue any ground in the Scriptures, mans auctoritie is vnsufficient to perswade so great a matter.

RHEM. 2 10 Either good or euill.) Heauen is as well the reward of good workes, as Hell is the stipend of ill workes. Neither is faith alone sufficient to procure saluation, nor lacke of faith the onely cause of damnation: by good deeds men merite the one, and by ill deeds they deserue the other. This is the Apostles doctrine here and in other places, how so euer the Aduersaries of good life and works teach otherwise. Works meritorious and demeritorious.

FVLKE. 2 Heauen is the reward of good works, not due by the merite of them, but by the grace & mercie of God, who hath promised to giue it freely to them that beleeue in him by Christ, and bring forth the fruits of a liuely faith. It is the free gift of God in Christ Iesus (saith S. Paule) Rom.6.23. You are saued by grace through faith, and that not of your selues, it is the gift of God, not of works, least any man should boast, Ephes.2.8.9. But hell is the stipend of ill workes, deserued by the merite of sinne. That faith void of works, is sufficient to procure saluation, none of vs affirmeth. But that onely lacke of faith is sufficient to damnation, the scripture is plaine, because it is not possible to please God without faith Hebr.11. And where faith lacketh, there can be no good workes: for what so euer is not of faith is sinne. Therefore though wicked men by ill deeds, deserue dammation, yet the Apostle saith not here, nor any where else, that men by good deedes merite saluation, but the contrarie, howsoeuer the enimies of Gods grace, of faith and of good workes, renewing the old heresie of the Pelagians teach otherwise. For what could Pelagius speake more blasphemously against the grace of God, then to say: Heauen is as well the reward of good works, as hell is the stipend of ill works. Merite. Slander. Pelagianisme.

RHEM. 3 18 The ministerie of reconciliation.) Christ is the chiefe Minister, according to his manhood, of all our reconcilement to God: and for him, as his ministers, the Apostles and their successers the Bishops and Priests of his Church, in whom the word of reconcilement, as well by ministring of the sacrifice and Sacraments for remission of sinnes, as by preaching and gouernment of the world to saluation, is placed. And therefore their preaching must be to vs, as if Christ himselfe did preach: their absolution and remission of sinnes, as Christs owne pardon: their whole office being nothing else (as we see by this passage) but the Vicarship of Christ. Bishops and Priests vnder Christ ministers of our reconciliation.

FVLKE. 3 The Apostles and their successours, haue no word of reconcilement committed to them by ministring the sacrifice, but that is proper to Christ, whose sacrificing priesthood passeth not from himself to any other by succession Heb.7.24. He hath offred himself once for euer, & found by that one oblation eternal redemption, Heb. 9.12.&10.14. Therefore in offering the sacrifice propitiatorie, he hath no Vicars, but performed all himselfe. Sacrifice propiatorie.

RHEM. 4 21 The iustice of God.) Euen as (saith S. Augustine) when we reade, Saluation is our Lords, it is not meant that saluation whereby our Lord is saued, but wherby they are saued whom he saueth: so when it is said, Gods iustice, that is not to be vnderstood wherewith God is iust, but that wherewith men are iust whom by his grace he iustifieth. See S. August de Sp.& lit.c.18,& ep.120.ad Honorat. and abhorre Caluins wicked and vnlearned glose on this place, that teacheth iustice no otherwise to be in man, then sinne in Christ. Whereas the Scriptures call man iust, because *he doth iustice; but not so call they Christs sinne, because he doth sinne, but because he taketh away sinne, & is a sacrifice for sinne, as the Heretiks know very well, that know the vse and signification of the Hebrew word in all the old Testament, namely Psa.39,8. and in the booke of Leuiticus very often, c.5.6.9.12.14.16. and Num.c.29. Gods iustice, wherewith he maketh vs iust. 1.Io.3.7. חטאת

FVLKE. 4 This text inuincibly proueth, that we are not iustified in Gods sight by iustice inherent in vs, but by the iustice of Christ, imputed to vs through faith. And that is the iustice whereof S. August speaketh, wherewith men are iust, whom God by his grace doth iustifie through faith: and therfore he saith expressly in the same chapter. Hanc ministrationem &c. The Apostle saith, that this ministration of iustice is not of our merits, but of the mercy of God. Againe he saith vpon the Palme which the same Apostle citeth for testification of this grace. Blessed is he to whom the Lord imputeth not sinne, neither is there guile in his hart. This is the confession of humble Saincts, which boast not themselues to be that they are not. Againe. When the Apostle commending the same grace more abundantlie in our Lord Iesus Christ, commeth to the same clothing of the iustice of faith wherewith being clothed, we shall not be found naked &c. See what he addeth. He which hath made vs (saith he) vnto the same end: is God, which hath giuen vs the pledge of his spirite, and after a few words he inferred, that we might be the iustice of God in him. This is that iustice of God, not whereby he is iust, but whereby we are made iust by him. And ep.120.Honorato. He expoundeth these wordes. That we might be made the iustice of God in him, that is, in his body, which is his Church whereof he is head. We are the iustice of God, which they not knowing, & willing to set vp their owne, that is as it were glorying of their owne works, are not subiect to the iustice of God. Againe he saith. To this iustice of God pride is contrarie, whereby men haue trust, as in their owne workes: therefore it followeth there, let not the foote of pride come vpon me. This is the iustice of God, whereby they are iust by his faith, which liue now of faith. Againe. De verbis Apostoli Ser.6. expounding this text, he saith. Videte duo &c. See these two things, that is, the iustice of God, not our iustice, in him, not in vs. Therefore Caluines collection of the manifest wordes of the text, that a man is iust in Gods sight, by imputation of the iustice of Christ, as Christ was sinne, by imputation of our sinne, doth plainely agree with S. Augustines doctrine. As for the iustice whereof S. Iohn speaketh, is in deede inherent, and is a fruit and effect of iustification by faith, not a cause thereof. Therefore S. Augustine saith, *That good or iust workes do follow him that is iustified, they go not before him that is to be iustified. De fide & operibus Cap.*14. That Christ was made sinne for vs, because he was a sacrifice for sinne wee confesse, but therefore he was a sacrifice for sinne, because our sinne was imputed to him, and punished in him. And therefore the sacrifices of the law that were for sinne, were called by the name of sinne, because the sinne of the offender, was sacramentally imputed to the sacrifice which was slaine, as though it had deserued, that which the offender had merited, for whom it was offered. Therefore also Christ was made a curse for vs, Galat.3.13. because the curse which we had deserued, was imputed to him, that the blessing of Abraham might be vpon vs. And that the auncient fathers confirme this interpretation of Caluine, you shall heare by their owne wordes, First Chrysostom vpon this text, Hom.11.in 2.Cor. That we should be made the iustice of God in him (saith he) what speach, what mind, can set forth these things worthily? For him that was iust (saith he) he made a sinner, that he might make sinners iust: but rather he said not so, but that which was much more: for he named not the qualitie, but the essence, he said not a sinner, but sinne it selfe, not onely him which sinned not, but him which knew no sinne, that we might be made, he said not iust, but iustice it selfe, and the iustice of God. For this is the iustice of God, when iustification commeth not of works, seeing it is necessarie that no spot be found, but by grace: by this meanes all sinne vanisheth cleane away. In the meane time he suffereth them not to be extolled, seeing God performeth all, and sheweth the greatnesse of the giuer: that former iustice was of the lawe and of workes, but this is the iustice of God. Primasius vpon this text saith. God the father made his sonne sinne for vs, that is, a sacrifice for sinne for vs, The sacrifice offered for sinne, was called sinne in the law, although it did not sinne at al, as it is written. And he shall lay his hand vpon the head of his sinne: by the blood of these sacrifices, that bloud which was shed for vs was prefigured, so Christ being offered for our sinnes, was called by the name of sinne, that we might be made the iustice of God, not our iustice, in him, not in vs. Theodoret vpon this text saith. For when he was free from sinne, he suffe- Iustification by imputation, not by iustice inherent.

red the death of sinners, that he might loose the sinne of men, and being called that which we were, made vs that which he was: for he gaue vs the riches of his iustice. S. Ambrose vpon this text saith. He which did no sinne, was slaine as a sinner, that sinners might be iustified before God in Christ. Oecumenius saith. He made him sinne, that as a sinner he should be condemned, that we might be made the iustice of God in him: he said not, that we might be made iust, but that which was more, iustice it selfe, and the iustice of God. And that is the iustice of God which is not of works, but that we might be iustified in him, that is, by him, forgiuing and pardoning vs. Theophylacte saith. What is this that God gaue his Sonne, which knew no sinne, that is, which was iustice it selfe to death for vs, and caused him to die as a sinner and wicked man? for accursed is he that hangeth on the tree, & he was reputed among the vniust. He saith, Not that he made him a sinner, but sinne it selfe, which is more: why was this done? that we might be iustified not of workes, and the Lawe, but of the grace of God. For this is the iustice of God, when a man is iustified by grace, so that no blemish or small spot is found in him: for therefore he said not, that we might be made iust, but the iustice of God, shewing the excellencie of grace. I will conclude with S. Augustine, that your impudencie in citing him for the contrarie sense, may be more manifest. Enchir. Chapter 41. expounding this text, he saith. God made Christ sinne for vs, to whom we are to be reconciled, that is, a sacrifice for sinnes, by which we might be reconciled. He therefore was made sinne, that we might be made iustice, not our iustice, but Gods iustice, neither in vs, but in him, as he declared sinne, not to be his, but ours, not placed in him, but in vs, by the similitude of sinfull flesh in which he was crucified. Therefore you must not abhorre Caluines interpretation, as wicked and vnlearned, except you will abhorre the iudgement of all the ancient Fathers, as wicked and vnlearned: for his iudgement is their iudgement vpon this text, and none other.

ANNOTATIONS. CHAP. VI.

RHEM. 1 Helping.) For that he declared before the Ministers of the new Testament to be Christs deputies, and that when they preach or do any function, God as it were speaketh or doeth it by them, he boldly now saith, Helping therefore: that is to say, ioyning or working together with God, we do exhort. Gods Ministers are his coadiutors.

RHEM. 2 1 Grace in vaine.) The grace of God worketh not in man against his will, nor forceth any thing without his acceptation & consent: and therfore it lieth in mans wil to frustrate or to follow the motion of God, as this text plainly proueth. συνεργοῦντες. Gods grace forceth no man against his will.

FVLKE. 2 It lieth not in mans free wil to follow the motion of God, except God by his grace of vnwilling do frame it to be willing. It is in the power of man to change his will into better, but this power is none at all, except it be giuen of God. August. retract. lib. 1. c. 22. For man vsing amisse his free will, lost himselfe and it. Enchir. c. 30. Free will.
